Editor-in-Chief

FAREWELL TO . . .

the earliest months of this new life when dreams were of the future and hopes were for achievement. Early college life is infiltrated with moments, days, and even months when the foremost question in the mind is "How will life be after this?" Most who undertake a college career have their sights set on some high goal. Reaching this
"life's desire" requires endless hours of toil so that the achievement made may be satisfactory. This situation is what makes higher learning a unique and challenging life. Often, people are amazed at themselves. Feats are accomplished otherwise thought quite impossible. In a nutshell, this way of living creates a desirable situation.
It enriches with age, and brings out the best in man.

Registration is a madhouse.

Our future dreams are far away.

Classes and study increase our hope of success.

Hail TO . . .

later years when former dreams break forth into vivid and longed-for reality. The motivating power behind those who spend a fourth of their lives in institutions of learning is the realization that someday their endeavors will result in a vocation which will be both challenging and rewarding for the rest of life. To the truly dedicated person this motivation is always sufficient to overcome all obstacles and barriers.

The personnel at Austin Peay strive to prepare students for this different life. Expert advice from those who have experienced the change helps in the transition. Sometimes this advice comes to students outside the classroom, but more often than not it is incorporated in the lecture. A familiar phrase frequently falling on student ears referring to advice given is "That didn't cost you anything."

that special portion of life the past year has offered which, though unnoticeable at the time, was quite unlike all others experienced. A class under a certain professor, an unusual assembly program, a particular date, the meeting of a special new friend, an unexpected rewarding experience—all these incidents cling to the walls of the mind and roll out into conscious thought when thinking is turned to the good old school days. These small morsels of student life are the essence of one's memory of his studying years.

a richer bright vision of life in a new world of business and professions. Progression in college brings that dream profession closer to a radiant reality. Evidence supports the fact that professional and business men and women are not born; they are made. The uncertainty involved in choosing a vocation often brings discouragement. This discouragement is held to a minimum at Austin Peay because of the excellent counseling program promoted by the college and by the ever present interest on the part of the Deans in locating jobs for the graduates.

FAREWELL TO . . .

those particular moments of the past year when students assembled to elect leaders and those who would receive popularity honors. Probably anticipated more than any other contest is the student council election held each spring. The candidates and campaign managers go all out to win. Banners fly; car stickers are placed on bumpers; campaign buttons are pinned; honor parties are thrown; and when the big day arrives, the entire assembly program is devoted to the candidates and their speakers. Feeling often runs high and occasional "mud" is thrown as those who are running for office lay down the planks of their platform to the student body.

Our student life has helped us understand government.

responsibilities anew as adult years demand a voice in city, state, and county government affairs. Choosing the right man for the office is difficult for the person who is endeavoring to do his best for his country and state.

Democracy, that government which all Americans enjoy and none dare to define, is preserved only by loyalty on the part of citizens. Labor spent in poring over a ballot and seriously considering each candidate is rewarded by good clean government under which one is proud to live.

the aged and tired landmarks that have served their purpose so well. The loss of old Stewart-Waddell probably gave rise to more talk, reminiscing and poetry than any other single incident on the Austin Peay campus. As wrecking crews laid waste her walls, energetic freshmen looked on with joy and anticipation. Yet, a graying professor saw it through eyes reflecting that certain emptiness which makes itself felt when something one has associated with for many years suddenly is plucked from existence. This stalwart building which stood "eyeless in Gaza" during its last days was for those who looked through empty eyes, the Samson of yesterday at APSC.

those fresh and modern structures that make the college blossom with youth. No sooner is the last old and faded brick lifted from its crumbling bed than the first gleaming new one is put in fresh mortar in its place. The Clement Fine Arts Building, which stands in the shadow of the old Stewart building, is but a beginning of what is to follow in the building program. A court of modern apartments for married couples and a new dormitory for men and one for women are under construction. Sights such as these on a school campus are sure signs of progress and growth—growth in interest, enthusiasm and student body.

those special social gatherings, formal and informal, that remain so vivid in memory. Seldom a week goes by on the Austin Peay campus that books aren't forgotten and a dance is called. Also, not to be overlooked, is the highly treasured informal situation to be found in the Student Center. Taking time out from the hustle and bustle of classroom life, students and professors find their way here to delve into matters of the metaphysical realm.

future dances and parties that are anticipated with much anxiety. He, who truly desires to educate himself in such a way as to realize the greatest benefit from daily living, cannot look at social functions and see them as wasted time. Life is more than intellectual exercise. What does it avail a man if he learns everything and is not able to share it with others?

Part of our life will be centered on the church.

the wonderful moments said good-bye to but never forgotten. Seldom is the depth and richness of a college life realized in the scramble of classroom lectures, ball games, and extracurricular activities. Often one must take time from this mass activity and in some way take stock. Those fond recollections of former times housed in the mind for a number of years break through the subconscious with renewed joy and pleasure. It has been said that "memories of events, not the events themselves, are the greatness of living."

At last—Our dreams come true.

HAIL TO . . .

that new, yet familiar existence that prevails when one finishes study and leaves Austin Peay. It is interesting and satisfying to learn upon passing from the realm of studenthood into the role of parent or business man that life is not radically different. At this time many matters which formerly appeared as simple and minor on one's value scale find their way to the top. This great, yet desirable, transition brings to mind at least one fact if no more: Education is not a way of life; it is life.

PRESIDENT

Harvill

President Halbert Harvill has served Austin Peay State College fourteen fruitful years as President with unfailing interest and inspiration to our finest ideals. A comparison of the curricula and campus of 1946 and 1960 will show the solid and steady march of progress.

He began his distinguished record of service to the College in 1929 when he accepted the position of Professor of History. Later he became Dean Registrar.

Active in high-level educational positions, he was selected by Governor Buford Ellington as one of the outstanding educators to represent Tennessee in The White House Conference on Children and Youth with the President of the United States in April 1960.

In spite of his many activities, he is never too busy to confer with any student on a problem and always has their interests at heart.

DEANS

In each and every college there is a special group of people whose time and effort is of unestimatable value to the students and faculty. These people are officially known as the deans. Their jobs are many and varied, ranging from handling the filing and grades and transcripts to hearing with sympathy the sad stories orated by students. As a rule the deans are rather close to the student body, thus making their facilities readily available to those in need. Austin Peay's family of deans leaves little to be desired when it comes to dependability and efficiency.

F.G. Woodward

A familiar face in almost every assembly held at the college is that of Dean Woodward. Serving as the Dean of the Faculty, he also presides over assemblies of the student body. Dean Woodward has been a helping hand to many graduates who desired jobs immediately upon graduation and his vital concern for education qualifies him as a necessity to the college.

Women who attend classes at Austin Peay are no doubt familiar with Miss Mable Meacham. Miss Meacham serves as the Dean of Women and when not in her office she is generally found in a classroom teaching mathematics. Outside of her duties at the college, Miss Meacham is probably happiest when she is at her Woodlawn home.

A person who must really be watched and obeyed is the Dean Registrar. He holds the goods on everyone for in his office are all the grades that any student at the school has ever made, either at Austin Peay or any other college. Dean

Mable Meacham

Mr. Bowman

Mr. Shasteen

Tom K. Savage

Bowman commands everyone's attention when he takes the floor in assembly at least once a year and discusses to some great length the importance, significance, and meaning of such seeming obscurities as blue, yellow, and even "Golden-rod" forms.

One of the first faces seen at the campus by freshmen is that of Dean Tom K. Savage. Dean Savage is Dean of Students. He first presents himself to new students at the college when the freshmen assemblies are held. Advice given by this man, both in the privacy of his office during a counseling session or in the noisy atmosphere of an assembly is always of value to those who heed.

The man whom all students meet near the end of registration and many times with a sour expression on their face, is the college Bursar, Mr. Shasteen. He is the man who gets everyone's money. It is reported and without a doubt is true, that Austin Peay in Mr. Shasteen has one of the best CPA's in the business. No matter how hard they try, the officials cannot seem to catch him in as much as a penny mistake. The college is certainly proud of such an asset.

In Memoriam

On March 12, 1960, Austin Peay and the students of the college and of the demonstration school lost a dear and very close friend—Dr. Byrns L. Darden. He had presided over the college's demonstration school since 1949 with splendid success. Dr. Darden was one of the finest educators ever known to our town and was well known in many other cities as well.

The memory of Dr. Darden will linger with us for many years to come.

HOW THEY WERE CHOSEN

Campus achievements of outstanding students are in evidence from fall until spring. Classmates and faculty happily honor students academically and socially in recognition of their abilities.

To frost the social side of the gridiron season, the football team chooses a coed to reign over the homecoming festivities. Each class does its part in glamorizing the pageant by electing an attendant to the Queen.

Then Cupid flutters a shaft into the hearts of the members of the Alpha, Beta and Omega clubs at Harned Hall. These girls sponsor the Valentine Ball and select the King and Queen of hearts and their attendants.

A flurry of voting by the student body takes place in early spring to honor an Iris Queen and her court. Now, too, the students make known their choice for the following: Governor and First Lady are chosen from the senior class on the basis of leadership, scholarship, and service to the college. Bachelor of Ugliness and Miss A.P.S.C. are the best all-around personalities to be selected from the sophomore, junior, or senior classes.

Farewell to the experiences but not the memories of this year.

Each year at commencement, since 1950, one student from the graduating class has his or her college career climaxed by receiving the Drane Award. This highly desired honor is bestowed on the basis of character, leadership, scholarship and service to the college.

The Drane Award, in memory of the late William McClure Drane, a Clarksville patron of education, is a striking bronze plaque.

Miss Lynda Clement of Dickson, Tennessee, received the Drane Award last year. While attending Austin Peay, Lynda majored in English. She was active in the Student Council, cheerleading, Aqua Bells, Omega Club and S.N.E.A. Lynda participated as president of the English Club and secretary of Kappa Delta Pi. She was elected Iris Queen, Sophomore Class Queen, First Lady, and was chosen to be in Who's Who.

Now Miss Clement is working toward her Master's Degree in English at Washington University in St. Louis, Missouri.

PERSONALITIES

Each quarter brings new faces to help the seasons brighten the Austin Peay campus. Time must also carry these personalities away from the college world to other areas of life.

People and places abound in our memories. They creep back in moments of solitude or leap into consciousness when something has sparked recollections. From the sophomore and junior classes the staff of the FAREWELL AND HAIL has tried to choose the best liked persons in those classes.

We hope that the years in later life will find these people possessing the same wonderful personalities as in these days as students.

FAVORITES

Every student has his favorites. There are those spots on campus that everyone seems to have a special liking for—the shady bench in a bowl, a quiet carrel in the library, a secluded corner to escape from the world.

There are people, too, who give college days a special ring. As the academic year closes, a great many students who have become part of the college will be leaving it. The entire college has favorites among the graduating seniors and the staff of the FAREWELL AND HAIL have endeavored to choose those people.

A reward to enhance the honor of graduation for any high school senior is the receipt of a scholarship to a college or university. Regardless of the type of scholarship, it is received with pride and joy.

Generally, the students who receive scholarships are those who would be forced to work their way through college. However, sometimes they are won in competition or are given to the students on the prospect of their future success.

A scholarship is something not taken lightly, but rather something appreciated and used. There is a deep devotion of service which accompanies each scholarship.

During the college year, one day in the spring is set aside for honoring academic excellence in students. At a special assembly, which is declared Academic Honors Day, the students who have maintained a 3.65 ratio throughout their college studies are recognized by the school administration.

Also presented on this day are awards for superiority in writing for the "Tower," a student anthology, and in mathematics and business. These awards are presented to Seniors. The Outstanding Freshman student chosen for leadership, scholastic ability and outstanding citizenship is also singled out at this time.

Last year President Halbert Harvill entertained at a luncheon with the students on the Academic Honors Day program as his guests.

The students who have really worked to make their education a success find out that they are rewarded.

Campus Life

CAMPUS

Life

Mother Nature has blessed Austin Peay State College by making the campus one of her scenic products. The golden leaves of September, the clean snows of January, and the blossoming red bud trees of spring, make the campus bowls a lovely sight throughout the year.

The "Big Red" football season and homecoming are exciting events for all to enjoy in the fall. The Christmas dance and gayly decorated dorms prepare students for happy Christmas holidays. These students return in January to see the "winning" Governors basketball team go into action. Cupid's arrows fill the air as February brings on the Valentine dance. The Iris Ball, rich in tradition and sweet from the smell of flowers, holds many memories for many couples. Speed becomes all important as the track team begins to practice for their spring events. And then the books begin to close as that final big day of graduation rolls around.

As you ponder and reminisce on these memorable occasions—we hope this Campus Life section will become your diary—September 1959—June 1960.

You find help moving in.

What is that in your face?

Students returning to the Austin Peay Campus in September, return to enjoy a year of excitement... of good times... of unforgettable memories.

For the Freshman, a new world lies before him as he opens the door to college life.

"Moving in" is an exciting new experience for some as they inherit, for the price of three dollars, a key which fits the door of their new home; one room within a place that holds the thinking, the memories, and the laughter of yesterday and adds each day's contribution as the twenty-four hours roll around.

The returning student renews old friendships by reminiscing, by questions of summer, and by planning initiation for the freshmen. Initiation—the honored service that makes each "greenie" a part of the college.

September brought these and other events.

Students compare pink, yellow, blue registration slips.

Mr. Ford says, "Howdy Earl!!"

Registration is a tiring ordeal.

REGISTRATION AND NEW FRIENDS

"Rabbit" was an outstanding freshman.

And after registration.

The professor "looms" before you.

September also brings confusion, anxiety, and multi-colored slips as registration falls like a bomb. But somehow, everyone survives and finds himself sitting in class the following day. Perhaps it's not the right class, but it is a class.

A figure looms before you and you wonder if it bites but just at this moment it speaks and you are surprised to find that the professor is gentle, kind and helpful. A new friend has been found.

Many new friends are found. A boy finds a girl that he can shuffle through the orange, brown and red leaves with. A roommate that will listen with helpful ears to a problem. A picnic where a professor becomes real and human.

Knowledge is also gained during this month when registration takes place, when new friends are met and when a new world is opened up.

We find these words written in our diary on the last day of September, "Austin Peay is a wonderful place and I hope October will mean as much as September has."

New friends are found.

A boy finds a girl.

OCTOBER . . .

The "Go-Govs-Go" of the cheerleaders; the tenseness in the stands as that "winning" touchdown is made; the fun, the laughter of students in an old warehouse as they stuff napkins in chicken wire that will make a beautiful float in tomorrow's parade; and the excitement that homecoming brings, are only a few experiences which make October a busy and worthwhile month for teacher and student on the Austin Peay campus.

Led by the stately Queen, the homecoming parade, with its gayly decorated floats and cars, is the first in a series of events which greet the alumni who have returned from distant places to re-establish old acquaintances and marvel at the new structures and changes made at "dear-ole" Austin Peay.

The rival football game; the crowning of the Queen; and the homecoming dance climax the festivities that send both alumni and students back to their varied occupations where they hold onto the thought of returning next year.

FACULTY AND STUDENTS RELAX

With mid-term examinations and homecoming past, students relax and settle down to the simple task of studying. Students may choose to enjoy the quiet library, the friendly atmosphere in the classroom, or the studying and cramming in the dormitories until the early morning hours, for study areas are varied at Austin Peay and offer a wide choice.

The three dormitories, Men's Residence Hall, McReynolds Hall, and Harned Hall, provide not only a place for studying but a place to "really" get to know your fellow classmates. The jam sessions or philosophy parties on such important matters as love life, lessons, and the latest gossip, plant in the mind many unforgettable memories that will bear fruit in the years to come.

As the Thanksgiving season approaches, many students make their way home with a suitcase packed with dirty clothes and a hungry stomach to fill. After the holidays, students return to the Austin Peay campus to join their fellow students in the preparation for final exams and Christmas.

DECEMBER . . .

Moving-in with December came the first snow of the season. The soft, white blanket transformed the campus into a scenic wonderland of beauty. Building snowmen and snowwomen in the campus bowls, making tasty snowcream in Harned Hall, and snowball battles added extra spice to the December curriculum.

Although scholastic achievement is very important, students found time to take part in the traditional social life on the campus. The Christmas dance with the magnificence and splendor of the Christmas tree, mistletoe, and lovely girls, transformed the gymnasium into a place of Christmas cheer and good tidings.

Another traditional highlight of this season is the Christmas tree, singing of Christmas carols, and the telling of the Christmas story which all takes place in the lobby of Harned Hall.

As the sun rises in the morning and sets in the evening—another winter day becomes a part of the past. Nearer and nearer we come to final exams. While some are prepared, others aren't, but we all take a sharpened pencil and enter the classroom with one main thought in mind; that of going home for Christmas, leaving books, studies, and friends behind to meet again next quarter.

Too bad you had to give it up!

It seems like a dream and yet it is true. Registration has landed once again with its usual passengers, confusion and turmoil. The students return to the campus in January with enthusiasm and new year's resolutions to make 1960 their best college year.

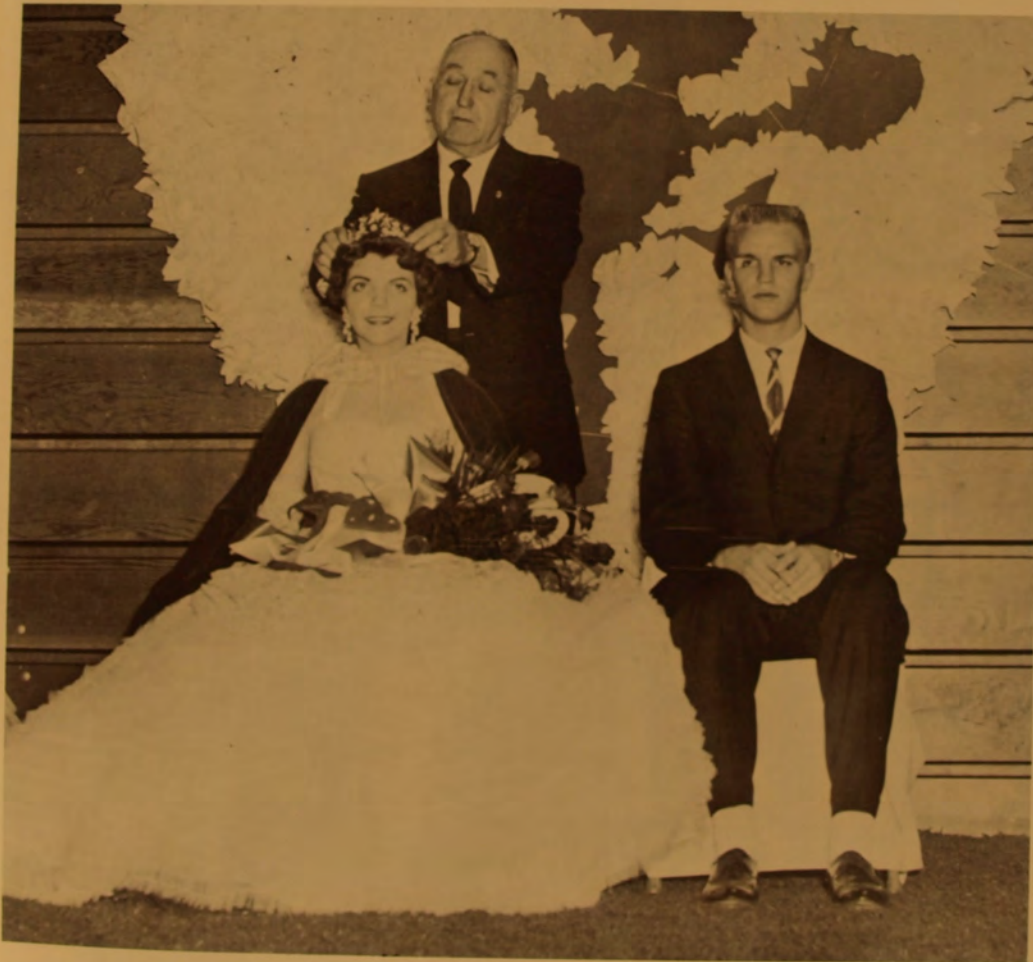

In a short time many of such resolutions have melted and vanished just as the snow has on the campus. Students follow the successful, hardworking basketball team and studies become secondary. The informal dances after the "Torch Game" and other winning games heighten school spirit to a maximum at Austin Peay.

As February moves onto the scene, it brings cupids and valentines for sweethearts. The King and Queen of Hearts reign over the formal Valentine Dance to enhance the mood of romance and beauty.

February ticks rapidly by as students are busily attending the basketball tournaments and promising to study later. Yes, it has been an exciting and wonderful two months to remember on the Austin Peay campus for many days, months, and years to come.

HIGHLIGHTS OF MARCH AND

Free ammunition!

March roared in like a lion.

Students enter Austin Peay at an early age.

APRIL

With March came the quiet, soft, falling of snow which slowed the budding of the trees, the singing of the birds, and the increase in romances. Finals and spring vacation caused the month to be a short one with little activity. But as students returned for registration, they returned with renewed energy looking for the happiness of spring.

As April brought showers for the May flowers, it brought energy, dreams, and romance to the campus.

Speeding feet, co-ordinated muscles, and keen eyesight became important as track and baseball came into their own.

Flowers scented the air as the Iris Ball was held with all the tradition, magnificence, and splendor of such an event.

The annual Easter sun-rise service caused students to pause and appreciate their Creator.

But even as April began to fade into May, all of the dreams and realities of yesterday became memories; memories that will yield much of the happiness of later years.

April showers bring more than flowers.

Spring has sprung!

Just thinking?

Would you give me the time please?

MAY AND JUNE . . . THE DIARY

President Peanut serves banquet.

May is a busy month packed with exciting, good times for everyone on the Austin Peay campus. The local clubs close their active year in May with banquets, picnics, and parties.

With book in one hand and suntan lotion in the other, the girls of Harned Hall spend every spare moment between classes on the balcony of the dorm trying for a tan which usually results in the red "Indian Look."

As the month of May draws to a close, students take time to study for final exams and prepare reports and term papers.

The long anticipated time has finally arrived. Graduate students, graduating seniors, and students march into the candle-lighted bowl for the impressive and beautiful Farewell and Hail Ceremony with a thought of the next day, June 3—GRADUATION!

With feelings of mixed emotions students pack their suitcases, trunks, and boxes and leave for home with many wonderful memories to recall in years to come.

COMMUNITY CONCERT

Lupe Serrano

The Community Concert is a non-profit organization in the Clarks-ville area interested in more and better musical entertainment for its people.

Austin Peay State College makes a contribution to the Community Concert and this entitles all students of Austin Peay to attend the concerts on their student-identification card, free of charge.

This season Community Concert sponsored such performers as Andre Eglevsky Co. with a ballet, a harpist, Mildred Dilling and Bernard Izzo, a bass baritone in February. Also during the month of February the Oberlin Wind Ensemble entertained with a symphony. The Spivakovsky Duo performed with violin and piano for the last concert of the season in March.

Student Body

Our time at Austin Peay is always packed with things to do. These time-consuming projects include ball games, dances, student center "gabs," socials, club meetings, and occasionally—classes.

In our classes we meet our fellow students with a cheery smile and usually some slang expression meaning "Hello." We stay in each class either fifty or seventy-five minutes. During this time we dream and ponder over the days to come. We feature ourselves in a beautiful office or some other position of esteem. Of course, the professor is under the impression that he has put us in a trance with his intelligent lecture.

The only question that remains in our minds at the close of each year is, "Will we still be dreaming in days to come, or will we be successful in spite of ourselves?"

T H E S E N I O R C L A S S

The graduating class of 1960 is the thirty-first in the young history of Austin Peay State College. June 3 will mark the date when ambitious seniors travel their various ways to encounter a new life along with a new decade.

The year started as usual with some of the more competent seniors assisting with Freshmen Orientation. Soon, the traditional Homecoming was celebrated and senior attendant, Miss Joy Hall, rode the prize-winning float. Many hours of hard labor had gone into the completion of "The Tub" and all the seniors rejoiced to see their masterpiece win the blue ribbon.

Jerre Nichols, class president and a native of Indiana, guided the senior program throughout the year with Mack Jordan assisting him in the vice-president's role.

Juniors!

Being responsible for some of the outstanding activities on campus, the Juniors are busy throughout the entire year. This class is well represented in all worthwhile and honorary societies on campus.

The Farewell and Hail Ceremony, which takes place the night before graduation, is planned by the Juniors. They spend many hours in preparation of this sad, but lovely and impressive ceremony by candlelight, which gives the campus bowl a cloak of dignity each June. Immediately following this event, the Juniors also sponsor the Aloha Ball. This dance, held outside, gives quite a different atmosphere to our tennis courts.

Marty Chambliss was featured on their amusing homecoming float which placed third in the parade.

THE SOPHOMORE CLASS

Sun Valley at Austin Peay!

Sophomore year in college is one of the most enjoyable in one's higher education. Several reasons are apparent. First, the tensions and scares of freshman life are somewhat overcome and an adulthood is anticipated with anxiety. Second, a closer relationship has been acquired with the faculty.

It is agreed by many, and justifiably so, that the second year in college is the time students find out what the whole business is about. Studies become of prime importance to those who think seriously in terms of a future in the vast and ever-moving business world.

Under the capable leadership of president Bobby Atkins, the sophomore class this year has been one of the greatest in the history of Austin Peay State College.

On September 22, 1959, a group of scared young people appeared on the scene at Austin Peay State College. These people, who came in assorted sizes, shapes, sexes, and types, became known as the Freshman Class. For a week they were known as "Slime" and during that week they were very cordial and greeted upperclassmen as "Sir" or "Mam." Later they met and elected their officers for 1959-60. As their President they elected Steve Deaver of Chattanooga, Tennessee. David Mason became the Vice-President and Ann Comperry was elected Student Council Representative, both being from Clarksville. Helen Tharp of Madison was chosen Secretary-Treasurer.

Several of the class members are in the Band, Governettes, and Glee Club, and a number play football and freshman basketball. The class is well represented on the FAREWELL AND HAIL and All-State staffs.

Don't throw it at the camera, Helen!

Sportsmanship

Austin Peay competes in five major intercollegiate sports, football, basketball, baseball, track and field, and golf.

Dave Aaron, athletic director, and his coaching staff composed of Earl Gartman, Howard Foote, George Fisher and Leon Sandifer, direct the various teams through each action packed season.

The "Govs" are members of three well known organizations, the NCAA, NAIA, and the VSAC, the latter of which they are basketball champions, as they have been for the past four consecutive years.

The pigskin crew finished with one win and nine losses, while the roundballers finished with the best school mark ever, twenty-two and five. Aside from being the VSAC champs, the Govs placed second in the regional NCAA small college basketball tourney.

The 1959 baseball team ended with a 6-6 record, while the golf team won two matches and lost four. The track team won one and lost six, and finished third in the VSAC.

THE 1959 SEASON

When the final horn sounded ending the 1959 football season, the governors had a one victory, nine lost record, thus making it six seasons in succession we've had a losing season.

It's almost certain that Austin Peay has nothing to lose, but all to gain in 1960 football.

We now have a new head coach in Art Van Tone, replacing Earl Gartman and Howard Foote. Working with him will be end coach George Fisher, the only 1959 coach returning.

Giving credit where credit is due, our team is highly capable and sincere in working to better the 1959 record. Never look back—look ahead.

The Gobs were completely out-manned and overpowered. In the statistics, we had only five first downs compared to twenty-one for the Raiders. Just the fact that we lost the first game wasn't all we lost, Rudy Argenti was lost on a reinjury of his knee. It was a bad start, but many of the new, inexperienced boys had a taste of what to expect.

The big red and white marched ninety-eight yards in nine plays to score the winning touchdown on a pass from Busby to Sims and to edge Eastern Illinois on their first victory. The T.D. came with only thirty-six seconds remaining on the scoreboard. Aside from Busby who completed passes for sixty-six of the ninety-eight yards, Dan Burden also starred in the backfield with several outstanding runs. In the line, Foster, Alexander, and Utez played outstanding games.

Austin Peay's scoring was done by Dan Burden's two yard plunge, and a beautiful forty yard punt return by Bert Simpson. Simpson's run put the Gavs only five points behind late in the fourth quarter, but an intercepted pass ended the Gavs' scoring threat and Western Kentucky ran out the clock.

The Gavs were leading 14-0 in the third quarter when the Gamecocks began a rally which included some questionable fourth down plays. A three yard plunge and a kick spelled defeat. The Governor touchdowns came on a 49 yard pass play from Busby to Deaver and a two yard plunge by Burlison. McKinney added two extra points. Overstreet and Simpson also starred for the Gavs.

Once again it was a last quarter surge that defeated the Gavs. We had a 7-6 lead into the final period. Defeat can be mostly attributed to the fact that we totaled a net of only seven yards on the ground. Our points came on an eighty-two pass play from Burlison to Baumgartner. Ronny McKinney added the final point.

Homecoming at A.P. A look at the scoreboard after Queen Nancy Ann was crowned at half time saw the affair scoreless. Within a five minute interval during the third period the Trojans hit pay dirt twice and that was it! With about a minute left to play the Freshman team entered—all fresh, and proceeded to march eighty-one yards with Moore and Medley leading the way. Medley scored on a one-yard plunge and Sowell added the conversion.

Same story; different game. The Govs ran up against one of the nation's best teams in small college pass defense. The Red men passed fourteen times and completed only two for a total of eleven yards. The Gov line men, especially Bushofsky, Ingram, and Sims, played tremendous games. Homer Sowell booted a thirty-three yard field gol, and Ted Potter returned a punt for seventy-two yards and Sowell kicked the point after touchdown to complete the A.P. scoring.

The best Austin Peay could do in this sixth annual Charity Bowl was to have Bud Coley named the best A.P. lineman in the game and Ted Potter named as the best A.P. back. The Govs were held to a minus thirty-seven yards on the ground, and there lies the story. This concluded the 1959 football season with all eyes looking forward.

The Govs invaded Johnson City, the den of a powerful East Tenn. team and played them practically on even terms throughout the first half. Once again the final half spelled defeat. The Big Red and White scored on a three-yard run by Burden, a two-point pass from Moore to Sims, and a seventeen-yard run by Bert Simpson.

Let's cut the game to two quarters! Early in the third quarter the Govs were leading by an 8-7 score with an eighty-one yard run by Simpson and a two-point pass play from Moore to Deaver. Then the roof caved in. Aside from the play of Simpson, Walt Davic and Jack Bushofsky played superbly in the line.

Queen Nancy escorted by co-captain Sid Ingram and Ted Potter. Ring bearer, Rust Aaron.

Head Coach

David B. Aaron is the head coach of the Governor basketball team that has won the Volunteer State Athletic Conference championship for a total of four consecutive years. Coach Aaron recently celebrated his fourteenth anniversary as head coach of the Austin Peay Governors.

During his fourteen years as "kingpin", he has piloted teams that have won a total of two hundred twenty-four games for him.

Aside from being the head coach of the basketball team, Coach Aaron is also the Athletic Director for Austin Peay.

Coach Aaron can be quoted as saying, "I don't like to compare teams, but if I'm cornered, I have to say this is my greatest team." Of course, he is referring to the 1960 Governor basketball team that compiled a season record of 22 victories and just 5 defeats. The Gobs also had the most valuable player in the conference in Howard Gorrell. Also the big red and white placed four men on the All VSAC team—including were Bob Bradley, Jim Stewart, Roger Davis and Howard Gorrell.

Aaron's crew was invited to the NCAA small college tournament in Owensboro, Kentucky, and lost to Kentucky Wesleyan in the region finals after defeating Belmont Abbey in the first round. Howard Gorrell and Bob Bradley were picked for the All Tournament team.

Coach David B. Aaron has the honor of coaching the only undefeated team in VSAC history. Right he is in saying it's his greatest team.

And a most deserving congratulations to you, Coach Aaron.

T O R C H G A M E

The "Torch Game" is Austin Peay's traditional annual basketball game with David Lipscomb College located in Nashville, Tennessee, some forty-eight miles southeast of Clarksville.

Each year the school which won the "Torch Game" the season before must carry the torch to the other school's campus via runners. Since Lipscomb won the 1959 duel, they were responsible for running the torch to "The Big Red Barn" this year—oddly enough, they made it!

The Bisons brought the torch to Clarksville and that's exactly where it stayed after the game. The rampaging red hot Governors of Austin Peay were highly keyed along with the entire student body. David Lipscomb arrived in town with a chance to move into undisputed first place in the Eastern Division of the Volunteer State Athletic Conference. When they left they were supporting a mere 2-1 record while the high riding Govs were now undefeated in the conference with a 4-0 mark.

The game was nip and tuck until the last four minutes of play when the Govs widened their victory margin to ten points. The final score was Austin Peay 73, David Lipscomb 63. Leading the Governors before a fully packed house was Roger Davis with twenty-two points. Bob Bradley and Howard Gorrell added thirteen each.

After the game, Bison Coach Charles Morris surrendered the torch to Coach Dave Aaron. Both coaches gave brief speeches.

Next season we will have the honor of running the torch to Nashville with high hopes of bringing it back to the A.P. trophy case immediately after the game—by car!

Bob Bradley hooks for 2!

Much can be said about the Austin Peay Governors in 1960. To begin with, the Gavs compiled the finest school record in history with a total of 22 wins and only 5 defeats. Each team that defeated the Gavs was beaten later in the season, marking revenge. This was true in all but one game, Kentucky Wesleyan, a team they played only once.

The Gavs were led by Captain Howard Gorrell and his running mate at guard, Jim Stewart, Bob Bradley, Roger Davis, and Jim Henderson also led the team.

Actually, the Governors were divided into two sections. Each team carried about an equal amount of "punch", therefore giving us tremendous bench strength to which we can attribute much of our success.

Aaron's crew was the first team in VSAC history to finish the conference undefeated. This is quite an honor!

During the season, Coach Dave Aaron celebrated his fourteenth anniversary as head coach of the Governors. He now has 224 victories to his credit since becoming head coach fourteen years ago.

The Gavs started out rather slowly but gradually picked up steam. By the time the VSAC Tournament rolled around we were at our peak. In the first game of the tournament we set a school all-time scoring record by defeating Union University by a score of 108-97. The old school mark was 106 points.

After we won the VSAC Tournament, four of our players were chosen to the All-Tournament team. They were: Jim Stewart, Bob Bradley, Roger Davis, and Howard Gorrell. Gorrell was also named the most valuable player in the entire VSAC. Howard finished fifth in the nation in small college free throw percentage.

Shortly after the tournament we were invited to the small college basketball tournament being played in Owensboro, Kentucky. We won our first regional game with Belmont Abbey, 74-63, and advanced to the regional finals opposed by mighty Kentucky Wesleyan. The Govs were defeated after a long battle by fourteen points, 83-60. This closed the 1960 season.

Aaron's men had succeeded in reviving the school spirit after the hard football season.

This year we lose only two men, Howard Gorrell and Ray Justice. The future looks extremely bright as the Freshman team, coached by George Fisher, compiled a fine overall record of 21-4. Some of the boys will be brought up to replenish the varsity which will be extremely strong.

Several new school records were set. Best field goal percentage, Jim Henderson with .500. Most free throws, Howard Gorrell, 141. Most points, 108. Most field goals, 45 against Union University. Best field goal pct. for the season, 411 in 27 games. Best field goal pct. for a game, 60% against Union University. Best free throw team pct., .737. Best free throw pct. in one game, 93.8% against Florence State.

Yes, the men on the 1960 Governor team should be proud and deserve our congratulations. Let's hope the years to come are just as great!

The "Baby Gavs," coached by George Fisher, turned in an outstanding seasonal performance and finished the campaign with a remarkable overall record of 21 victories and only 4 defeats.

The Freshman squad was led with the playing of Don Claxton, John Briggeman, Jim Sugg, and Herschel Smith. Briggeman and Sugg are guards, while Smith is a forward and Claxton a center.

Aside from their tremendous offensive play, Herschel Smith and Jim Sugg can be commended for their fine defensive work.

With men like Claxton, Briggeman, Sugg, and Smith coming up to replenish the varsity squad, the future looks sunny and bright.

Fisher's men marked up victories against such teams as several Fort Campbell teams, numerous local independent teams, and many of the high school varsity teams in the area. The four defeats came at the hands of Vanderbilt, twice, and one each to Middle Tennessee State, and Bethel Junior College.

1960 BASEBALL

Leading the way for Austin Peay during the 1960 season will be seven lettermen returning to the squad, Bobby Atkins, Arvel Atkins, Pat Webb, Dan Owsley, Jim Stewart, Gerald Lyle, and Jerry Vaughn.

Coach Leon Sandifer will have veteran men at all positions except pitchers and catchers and possibly first base.

While the 1960 Governor team will possess plenty of power at the plate, their pitching staff will be new, composed of five boys that have never played for Austin Peay. Roger Davis and Jim Beshears are two transfer students, while Ronnie Bibb, Ken Conley, and Herschel Smith are freshman boys.

The Gobs have a stiff schedule which includes such teams as the University of Illinois, and the University of Notre Dame, along with Central Michigan University. The remainder of the schedule is composed mainly of other VSAC teams.

With some good pitching from the new staff, the 1960 Governor baseball team has a great chance to win their division championship.

1960 TRACK

The Governor 1960 Track and Field team lacks experience. This fact coupled with a new coaching staff and the absence of their number one 1959 point maker could easily indicate an off year.

Coach George Fisher and assistant coach Leon Garrett point out that the strong points throughout the season will be the entry of Tommy Phillips in the broad and high jumps, Charles Rheinhardt in the high and low hurdles, and possibly entries in the distances.

Billy Phillips, Freddie Overton, and Bobby Winders run the distances for Austin Peay. Other hopefuls on the squad include Pratt Busby, Jim Henderson, Jim Sugg, Richard Green, Joe Nichols, Earnest Woodson, and Leonard Forte.

The Govs will be weak in the dashes and other running events.

The 1960 season can well be tabbed as a rebuilding year and especially a year for the younger boys on the squad to gain experience.

This year's golf team is under the leadership of Coach James Cotham. The team includes Bill Christian, Don Sargent, Phil Cleaveland, Preston Russell, and Fred Alexander.

The team has scheduled six events for the coming season. Also the boys will compete in the 1960 Volunteer State Athletic Conference Tournament and also the T.I.A.C. meet.

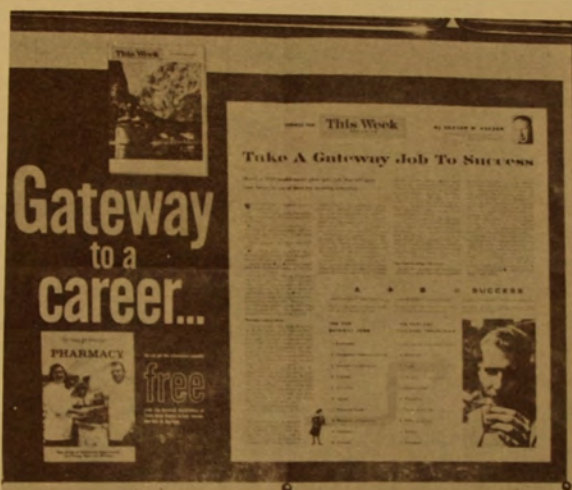

SHERWIN CLIFT
Austin Peay Athletic Publicity Director

Finally, last but not least, the work that Sherwin Clift has donated to the Athletic Department of Austin Peay cannot be overlooked. Aside from being a campus stand-out, Sherwin is Austin Peay's fine Athletic Publicity Director. To him, hearty congratulations for his desire in promoting Austin Peay.

Participation

College life is full of traditions, new ideas, hard work and fun too. The Austin Peay campus is no exception to any of these things. We are blessed with many clubs and organizations which tend to induce a better college spirit and atmosphere. The various clubs, fraternities, honor societies, and special groups all afford us the opportunities to gather with friends who have like interests and to execute our ideas on these interests to the fullest.

Being a college student should mean more than just study and work. Granted, they are important, but social life is important also. Our social life is composed mostly of club memberships. Of course, good times are had at dances and ball games and just plain bull sessions with a group. Clubs tend to give groups of people the stimulus needed to do better work and come up with good ideas. Consequently, the more clubs we have, the more our school will grow in tradition, new ideas, hard work and fun.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Student government means more than just meetings. The representatives who make up the council have been very effective for the student cause this year. Student council is the means for voicing opinions which need to be discussed. The council also talks with students who have low grades and tries to persuade them to improve. Many campus activities, such as dances, are sponsored by the council.

THE 1960 FAREWELL & HAIL

Now then . . . let's just change this and . . .

The staff of the FAREWELL AND HAIL this year takes great pride in presenting this annual to you. Ours is a growing college and each year the students are striving for quality in all forms of their work. It is apparent here in our annual, and it is hoped that in years to come this will serve as a pleasant diary of some of your most eventful days during your college career at Austin Peay State College.

Our theme, "Farewell and Hail," is traditional here. The ceremony at the end of the year is in honor of the graduating seniors, and is participated in by volunteers of the student body.

Farewell is a parting event in which we wish those leaving us good welfare in the future. Hail is a salute to them in respect and honor of their achievement. The seniors say "Farewell" to memories both pleasant and harsh, "Hail" to freshmen and upper classmen who still have a portion of the weary trail to travel.

Maybe our efforts to combine the past year into a simple form will be eventful for most of you, sad for others, and the epitome of hard labor on the staff's part.

Here in the following pages is recorded for you a condensed version of all the activities participated in by you. In years to come it is hoped that you will return to this book for reminders of the pleasant past, or better yet, return personally to visit your Austin Peay Campus.

THE ALL STATE

REPORTING STAFF: C. Fay Matlock, Tom Mannes, Meredith Haddock, Joyce Pardue, Pat Parker.

If "experience is the best teacher," the students interested in journalism at Austin Peay have the best teacher in the All State. The All State, a semi-monthly newspaper, is written and edited by the students. It contains all the news on campus, including all the organizations' clubs', and individuals' current events.

The All State awards a trophy each year to the club on campus that has contributed the most to campus life during the current year. This honor was first awarded in 1959, and has shown stimulation in campus spirit.

The Austin Peay student body is usually controlled by the actions of the student council. In turn, the occupants of the residence halls have their own control in the form of special councils for each dorm. The officers of these councils are elected by the resident students.

Any problems that the students may have concerning privileges or the maintenance of the dorms are taken to the council. Here they are discussed and a plan of action is prepared. In this way, things are given a great deal of thought before a solution is attempted.

The members of the Harned Hall House Council deserve much credit. With the assistance of Miss Meacham, Dean of Women, and Mrs. Gamble, Dorm Mother, the girls try to encourage and enforce good relations between the residents and the administration.

Carrying the responsibility of a punishing power, the council also strives to gain more privileges for the students.

The boys' governing bodies in both McReynolds and Main dorm do essentially the same thing as the girls' house council. They are a controlling body.

Once again we see the example of the democratic way of life on our campus.

The purpose of Beta Beta Beta includes encouraging scholarly attainment in the field of biological sciences. It desires to cultivate intellectual interest in the natural sciences.

Such outstanding personalities as Dr. Royal E. Shanks, Botanist at University of Tennessee, Dr. Dietrich Bodenstein, Insect Endocrinologist and Invertebrate Embryologist, and Jack Moore, Southern Research Institute, were featured for the enlightenment of Austin Peay students through the Beta Beta Beta Club.

Dr. Shanks was one of many outstanding speakers.

KAPPA DELTA PI

The Eta Rho Chapter of the Kappa Delta Pi was established on this campus on May 23, 1953. It is an international organization composed of teachers, faculty, and students in elementary and secondary education, being an honorary society in education.

Sponsored by Dr. Tom K. Savage, the organization strives to promote the interest of education as a profession, and strengthen the bond of students in education. Originally there were only thirteen charter members; however, the group has grown with members who are scholastically, professionally, and intellectually equipped to serve in the best interests of education.

There are regular monthly meetings held in which speeches are made by members of the faculty and by local teachers, addresses by prominent people, and many other worthwhile activities.

CIRCLE "K" CLUB

The Circle "K" Club is a great credit to the campus of Austin Peay State College. The members do everything from selling candy to sponsoring basketball tournaments each year to raise money. With this money they grant two scholarships of two years duration each year to worthy and needy students of schools that participate in the Christmas tournament.

The Club's efforts are always directed toward being of service to Austin Peay. Last year the club received the All State Trophy award for being the most outstanding club on campus.

STUDENT NATIONAL EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

The Claxton Chapter of the Student National Education Association is composed of students who are majoring in either elementary or secondary education. The club, sponsored by Dr. Fred Bunger, offers its members opportunities to gain insight into the voluntary organization which teachers have developed in order to improve the schools of today and of tomorrow.

Monthly meetings are held by this group consisting of panel discussions, guest speakers, and various types of educational programs. Each member receives a regular copy of the National Education Association publication which is enlightening in all courses of interest to the student.

ENGLISH CLUB

Grise's printing press!

Composed of English majors and minors, the English Club tries to promote better usage and understanding of English. The club attempts to increase participation in speech, dramatics, and creative writing.

Each year the club members edit and sponsor the Tower, an anthology of student writings. The proceeds from its sale are used to provide a scholarship for a beginning English major each year.

In the fall of each year the club also has a picnic at the home of Dr. George C. Grise, sponsor. Stationery sales highlighted by Christmas cards at Christmas are sponsored by the English Club.

The Home Economics Club, open to all majors and minors in Home Economics, promotes enthusiasm about careers in applying science in foods and nutrition, textiles, economics in management and family spending, achieving beauty in furnishings, and understanding young children and relationships in families. Mrs. Doris Milton, advisor, is assisted by Miss Dora Deane DePriest and Miss Patty Lake.

Twice-a-month meetings include one for business, the other for programs that have featured interesting speakers on Camp Counseling, American Home Economics Association, and other related subjects. Orientation Week, the members serve refreshments to new students at a get-acquainted party. A trip to Fort Campbell to tour the Dietetics organization appealed to all.

Winning club float in the homecoming parade once again went to the Agriculture club! Could become a habit!

The primary objective however, is not float building but to encourage and acquaint its members with better and more advanced agriculture methods. The club had as its project this year the selling of automobile stickers to better advertise our school and community.

In cooperation with the Home Ec club, these Ag club members have blended fellowship with scholarship in having hamburger fries, informal socials and wholesome entertainment.

BUSINESS CLUB

The word "ham" almost came to mean Business Club member this year as the club set out in a vigorous campaign to raise funds for a scholarship project by means of a ham raffle.

The chief purpose of this club, composed of business majors and minors is to promote the professional interest of the members by providing opportunities exposing them to actual problems they will encounter in the business world.

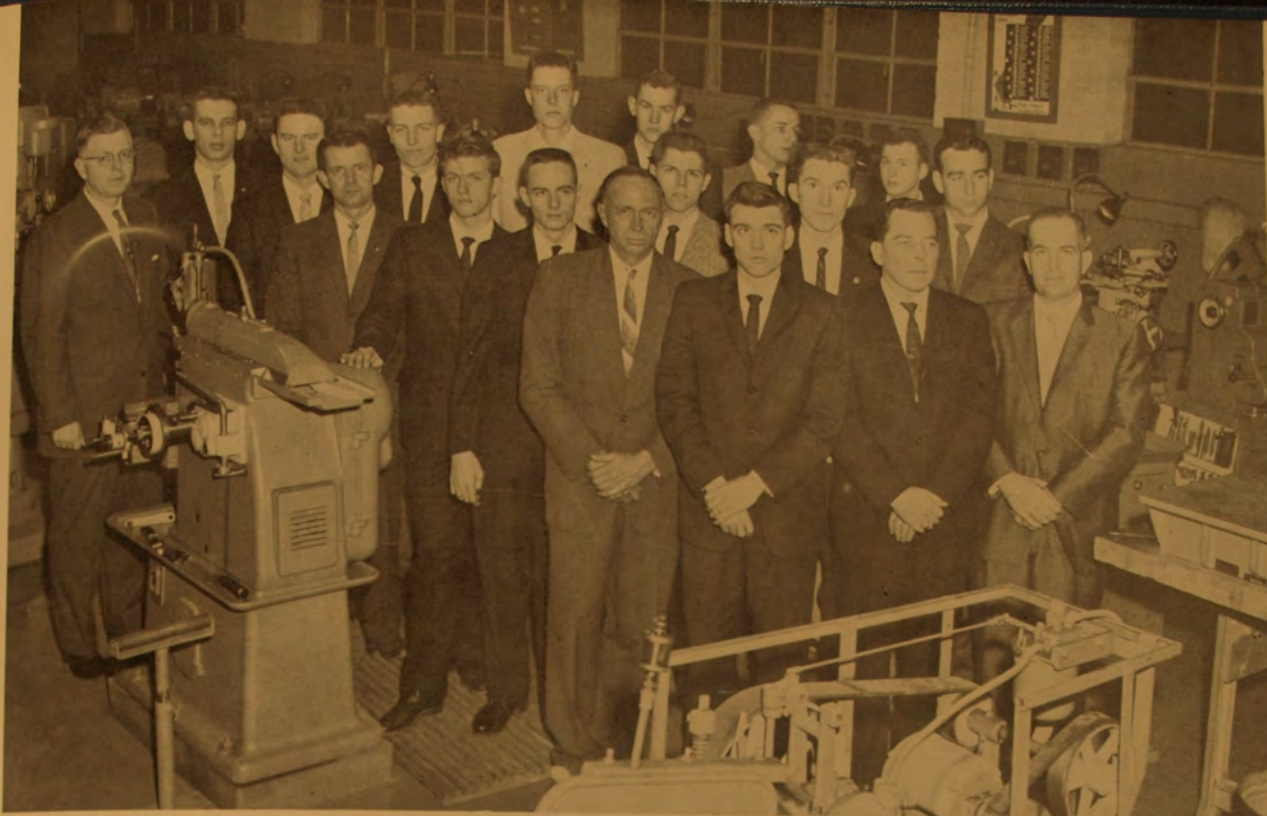

The club provides a scholarship which is given on a one quarter basis each year to a graduating high school student.

The Industrial Arts Club of Austin Peay is famous for two things; its prize winning floats and numerous socials.

The purpose of I.A. is to promote interest in Industrial Arts and future engineering, to develop a better understanding of technical subjects, and make Austin Peay a more progressive institution.

Epsilon Pi Tau, Beta Eta Chapter was established April 11, 1959, at Austin Peay. Its purpose is the promotion of outstanding scholastic achievement in Industrial Arts Education. Membership is extended to all Industrial Arts majors with a high academic standing and who are classified as third quarter sophomores, or higher, Membership is open to all majors and minors who are interested in the purpose and ideals of health, physical education, and recreation.

The organization has been chartered by the American Association of Health and Physical Education. Several of the members will attend the Southern District Conventions.

The purposes are to awaken a wide and intelligent interest in health, physical education, and recreation; acquire and disseminate accurate information concerning this program; advance the standards of teaching and leadership; cooperate with the State and National Education Departments to obtain the above objectives; promote greater social and professional cooperation among all physical education, health, and recreation majors, faculty and alumni.

Would you like to see the seasons unfold to waltzes in water? The Aqua Belles do this as they swim in rhythm to the splendor of music and as nymphs with the grace of dancers and the precision of troupes on parade.

Membership is open to anyone interested in precision swimming, who is anxious to improve his swimming ability, and who enjoys swimming just for the sake of swimming.

During the fall and the winter the members devote much time to making up and practicing of the routines which are presented in the spring. 1959 was the first year for the Aqua Belles and a small number of girls were involved in the production "Far Away Places." This year a larger group will present "The Four Seasons." Miss Patsy Dykes is the coordinator of the routines and dances.

The Wesleyans is an organization of Methodist students on campus. The club provides a warmth of Christian fellowship with the purpose of promoting religious activities in the college setting.

The variety of this year's interesting activities has included a serious study of the world's three major religions, featuring outside speakers. Films were included in these studies. Also, other social activities included a chili supper, two weekend retreats, and an inter-denominational Christmas caroling party.

Active and helpful sponsors of the Wesleyans are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boehms and Mrs. James Crockarell.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

B.S.U. brings Santa to these orphans.

It has been said that Southern Baptists have a program for everything. This statement has some truth to it. The B.S.U. is Southern Baptist's way of keeping in touch with the many Baptist students who go to college each year and to promote the spiritual life of the students while they are away from home.

Activities of B.S.U. are wide and varied. The pre-school retreat opens things up and the State Convention follows in the fall. In April the BSU members attend the Spring Retreat. Social activities penetrate the year at various times and provide memories never to be forgotten.

Theta Tau chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia Fraternity of America was installed on the Austin Peay campus on May 23, 1959.

The fraternity is open, by invitation, to male students who are interested in music and who are participating in some college music organization. These students must have and maintain a 2.0 scholastic standing.

The aims of the fraternity are: advance the cause of music in America, foster the mutual welfare and brotherhood of students of music; develop fraternal spirit among its members; and encourage loyalty to the alma mater.

Homecoming blast.

This club is made up of music majors and minors and others who are interested in music education.

This year the club constructed a float for homecoming, sponsored a hayride, and the M.E.N.C. dance.

One of the most important projects of the local chapter is that of trying to promote better relationships between the individual state chapters, a project which is centered around the organization of a state student membership convention.

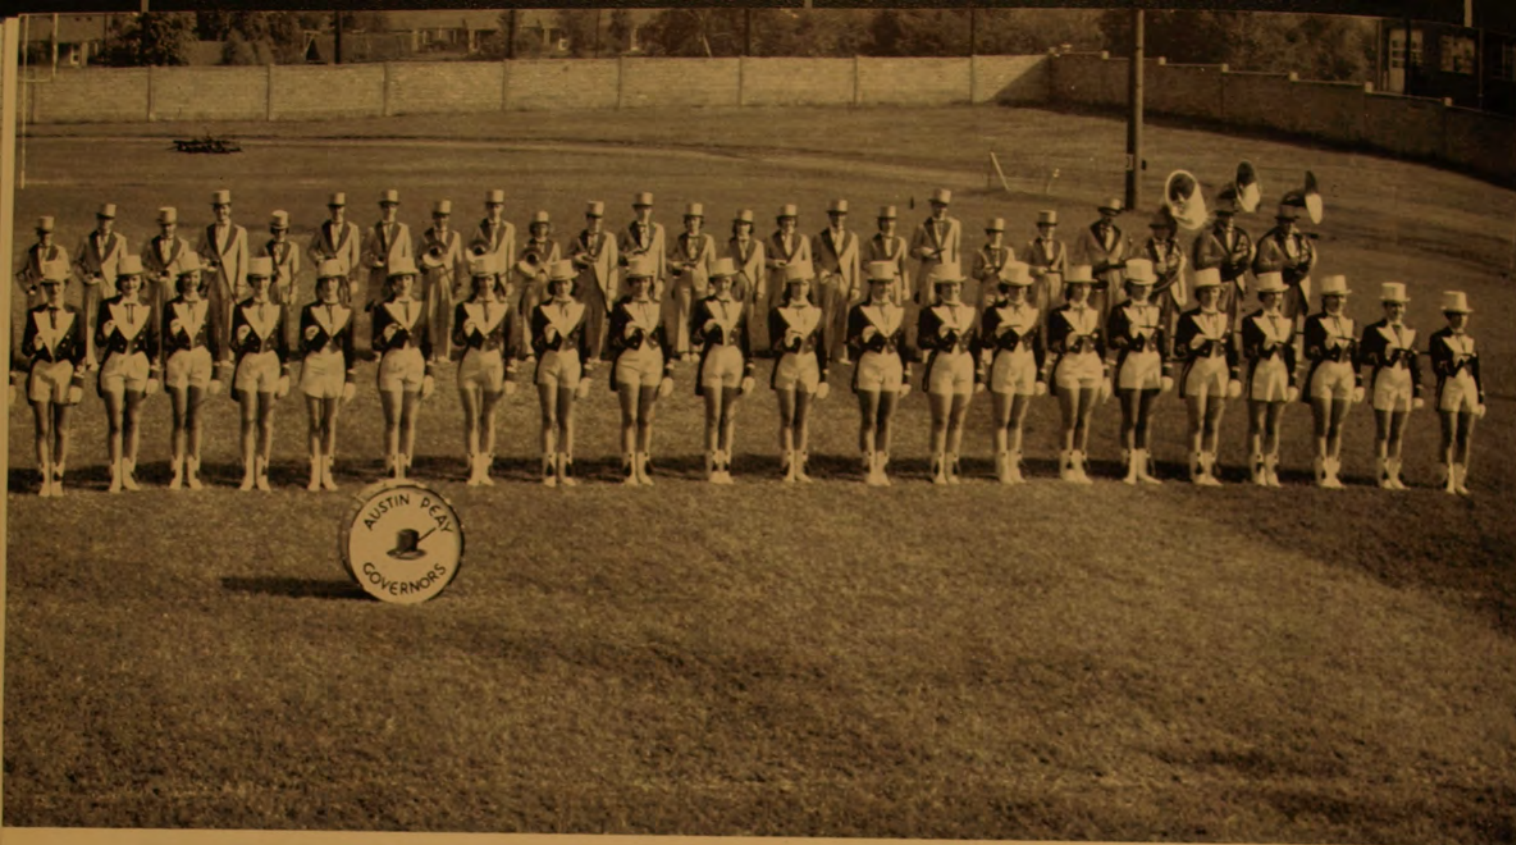

The club sponsor is Dr. Tom Cowan.

GOVERNETTES

Halftime at the big game . . . four quick whistles by the band director and on come the famous Marching Governors! This group does precision drills, without the aide of a drum major, and memorizes all music, playing only good old Southern tunes. The flashing horns and the almost hypnotic effect of the white shoes and high hats keep the crowd spell-bound until the last routine has been carried off the field.

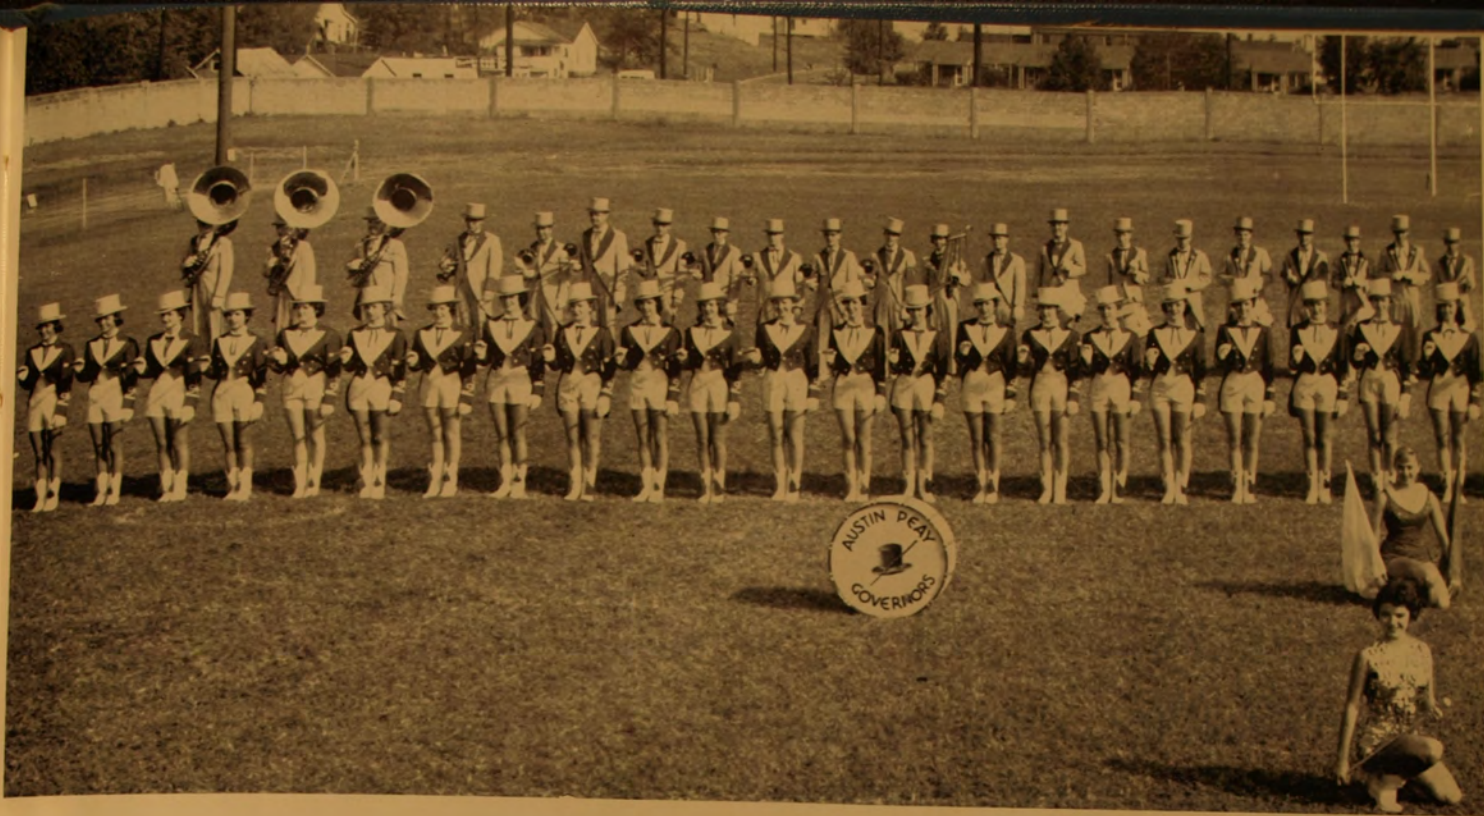

The Marching Governors become the background now and provide the music for those Austin Peay State College Governettes! Fifty girls with canes, white top hats, and rhythmic movements now come onto the field. The girls do several numbers and march off the field with the crowds yelling for more. The governettes went to Clemson, South Carolina, this year and the praises they brought A.P.S.C. are still heard.

THE CHOIR AND COLLEGIANS

The choir is one of several groups in the music department that appears before the public in order to help advertise Austin Peay. The choir sings at churches, at assembly, and at public appearances.

Under the very capable direction of Mr. Jack Hurt and Dr. Tom Cowan, the choir produces many sounds equal to those of a trained professional group.

The Collegians is a group of talented musicians who enjoy playing good jazz. This group goes on tour every spring to the surrounding high schools of the area to show some of the versatility of the Austin Peay State College music department.

This year the Collegians presented a jazz concert featuring Don Jacoby, famous trumpet virtuoso.

This group is a "spare time" group and they seldom receive any pay for the many appearances they make. The group is directed by Mr. Aaron Schmidt.

“ A ” CLUB

Every fall a visitor to the campus might conclude that the Indians have jumped the reservation when they see the number of big, husky, outdoor type boys with little or no hair left. This is nothing to be alarmed about; they're the new additions to the "A" Club.

This club is made up of only those athletes who have earned a varsity letter in football, basketball, baseball or track.

A. P. CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

The Austin Peay Christian Fellowship, an interdenominational group, attempts to promote fellowship, understanding, and co-operation between the different denominations.

The Fellowship advocates that each student take time out of his busy schedule each day for prayer and meditation. The Fellowship sponsors Religious Emphasis Week each year, and holds a brief devotional each Wednesday.

We could not have one-tenth of the life of ease, safety and health without the aid of science. Neither could we have the aid of science without dedicated scientists.

The Science Club is made up of those students on campus who have that scientific curiosity and thirst for knowledge of the "why's" and "how's" of things taken for granted by others.

Besides the monthly meetings, the club holds a science contest for students of surrounding high schools and awards prizes to the winners.

Having trouble with your math? Then the Galois Mathematics Club offers hope for you. These students offer remedial help for people who just naturally have trouble with numbers, and coaching for those who need just that one additional explanation.

Besides the math clinic, the club sponsors the annual mathematics contest at Austin Peay for the high schools of the area. They help devise the exercises, administer the tests, and assist in grading the papers. This is all under the direction of the Tennessee Collegiate Teachers of Mathematics.

Let's have a math contest . . . figures? No!

This is the college . . . these are students?

This year there came to our campus another new club. The Austin Peay Playhouse has been organized under the sponsorship of Mr. Griffin for any student interested in drama in any phase. The Playhouse has contributed several plays for the enjoyment of the student body. One of the most outstanding performances was "Stalag 17," although all were excellent. The Austin Peay Playhouse presents at least one play per quarter. Much hard work and valuable spare time is spent in preparation for the show. The Playhouse sponsored a masquerade dance this year as one of its undertakings.

. . . AND SO Farewell AND Hail

Annuals are always jammed packed with memories and sentiment of days of old. "Parting makes the heart grow stronger," is one of the most appropriate quotations that can be applied to any school. During the years spent here at Austin Peay State College, with the never ceasing pressure of studies, sports, activities, and just plain procrastinating, students often lose sight of the tradition and meaning of the overall experience of "college life." Here, for you are recorded some of the more outstanding moments of your college career. Maybe some of the disappointing days when your aspirations were quenched will fade from memory, and as you move on to other goals, you will realize how great a time college was, and through all the worry, joy, disappointment, and satisfied relief are these pleasant memories.

So, here to you, from the staff of your FAREWELL AND HAIL, is our attempt to preserve the wonderful experience of "college life." We say Farewell to the seniors and other members of the student body that are leaving us, and to the stimulating experiences of this year, realizing none shall ever be the same again. We say Hail to anxious freshmen who will adorn our campus soon, knowing their fears, expectations, and anticipations; and Hail to the new experiences of the coming year in a new environment, or returning here to our Alma Mater.
