SGA approves Homecoming election rules

The election rules for the selection of the 1980 Homecoming Queen and her Court were approved last Thursday by the Student Government Association Senate.

An explosive issue for the past several years, the rules did not come before the body unchallenged.

According to Bobby Jones, election board chairman, "The main concern is to straighten out the election. Our purpose was to make it as simple as possible, to make it work, and make it fair." The rules are a radical departure from former homecoming traditions. "Bobby Jones and the election board have done a great deal with the election rules," SGA President Duane McDowell said. "They are innovative. They offer a new approach," he added.

Among the innovations of the rules is the concept of one election. In previous years, there was a primary election, then a run-off to choose the members of the homecoming pageantry. The recently approved rules allow for only one election. The candidates with the three top vote total will be the homecoming pageantry. The student with the highest total of votes will be the queen.

A second innovation was also outlined by Jones. "Another thing we thought would help," he said, "would be not to announce the members of the court until the parade Saturday morning. The queen will be announced at halftime at the football game. No one," Jones stressed, "will know who the queen is until then, except the election board and the SGA president."

Dr. Bob Nettles, who attended the meeting, expressed concern at this approach. "I don't think this has ever been done," he said. He expressed concern about the appearance of such a system.

The acceptance of the rules was stalled by active debate centered upon one section of the rules.

Section 405 originally read as follows: "If vote totals are too close to pick either a queen or court or both, so in the case of a tie, then a run-off election will be held between the six candidates with the most total votes, (See Article VI), or if that number exceeds six, then the total number of candidates involved."

The section was criticized as "too vague" and "unfair" by several members present. After several abortive attempts, the section was deleted and replaced with an amendment submitted by Senator Garnett Ladd.

Ladd's amendment provided that in the case of a tie in the top three positions, there will be a run-off election between the candidates who are in fact tied, with the exception of a tie between the second and third place candidates if only 2 people are involved.

"The election rules provide for one election that will elect a queen and court. It's now in the hands of the election board to handle whatever comes up. Personally, I have mixed emotions about the rules," Marable said. He continued to point out that "regardless of the rules we pass, we will have controversy. The SGA, the Election Board, the Homecoming Committee can't do anything about it."

The amendment passed 8-2-1.

After accepting minor amendments by Senators Shearon Weems and Mike Latham, which were for purposes of clarification, the body accepted the regulations by voice vote.

After the gavel fell on the meeting, Vice-President Tony Marable had some comments about the rules and the conduct of his senate.

Marable, however, had no reservations about the conduct of the senate. "The senate handled themselves very well. They are getting better and better," he stated. He singled out Senators Laura Risser, Mike Latham, Shearon Weems and proxy David Colvin as "excellent." Marable also commended Senator Garnett Ladd for his participation in the night's debate.

Marable said the senate as a body is becoming more aggressive while acquiring the skills to channel their concern to helping the student body.

Faculty members discuss Arts

By Joe Gillespie

The All State has examined the College of Arts and Sciences over the last few weeks. Some people involved in the arts have expressed concern that the college is on the decline. A survey of the department heads in the College of Arts and Sciences, which appeared in last week's The All State, showed mixed opinions about the state of the arts.

"The recurrent budgetary crisis and the perceived need to expand remedial and vocational courses are resulting in a significant weakening of traditional liberal arts programs," Dr. Richard Gildrie, professor of history, recently said in a letter to the Leaf-Chronicle.

An examination of the percentage of the budget allocated the College of Arts and Sciences shows that the college has received about a fourth of the total general and educational budget over the last five years. Recent budget impoundments may pose a threat to the funding, however.

The following chart shows the total general and educational budgets and the Arts and Sciences budgets from 1975-1980.

Fiscal Year	Arts and Sciences	Total	%
75-76	1,464,631	6,963,948	22
76-77	1,863,699	7,254,530	26
77-78	1,860,570	8,306,561	23
78-79	2,116,840	9,297,162	23
79-80	2,291,705	9,996,452	23
*80-81	2,471,387	10,600,300	23

*The 80-81 figures may be inaccurate because of the state impoundment of higher education funds. The total educational and general budget does not include the auxiliaries: food services, bookstores, etc.

The state cut the total budget by five percent this year after an initial cut of nearly one quarter of a million dollars. The total budget cuts, including the five percent, come to nearly $650 thousand dollars. Instruction and academic support was cut by $189,500 after the five-percent cut.

Several vacant positions in the College of Arts and Sciences were left unfilled to help balance the budget. As a result, some instructors are having to carry more hours this quarter.

"The impoundment requires that each fraternity member will have to teach one extra course. People will teach at Ft. Campbell, Waverly, Dickson, and here. Money will be saved."

"I want to compliment the faculty for their cooperation. The faculty has come through to do this and they are to be complimented," Dr. James Nixon, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, said recently.

While some vacancies have gone unfilled, the university has hired 21 new faculty members. Five of the instructors are in the College of Arts and Sciences. One source said that cuts in faculty may occur after a retrenchment committee is formed to examine the number of faculty, however.

President Robert O. Riggs said in a recent interview that his philosophy is that every student who receives a degree should have a strong background in the arts and that the university needs to build its professional programs.

"My philosophy is that everyone who receives a baccalaureate degree should have a strong background in the arts. Our students need a strong exposure to liberal arts."

"We can do this and expand our professional courses as well. So many students want exposure to professional programs too and we will build our professional programs along with a strong liberal arts base," Riggs said.

Bill to benefit students

By Ken Knapp

John Bratcher, director of financial aid at Austin Peay, said that he was very pleased with the Higher Education Bill that was recently passed by the House and Senate, and then signed by the President.

"The passing of this bill is the best thing that has happened to the financial aid program since I've been involved with financial aid. It's almost overwhelming," Bratcher said.

Bratcher said that many organizations were involved in the final shaping of the bill, and that after one and one-half years of re-shaping, the bill has finally been passed.

"We were not even sure if financial aid (on a national basis) would be continued for next year," Bratcher commented.

Bratcher noted that the new bill will make it easier for students to become eligible for financial aid next year, and that more money will be available.

"The new bill causes a relaxation of financial aid eligibility requirements," Bratcher said, "and this means that more students will be eligible to receive financial aid in 1981."

Another change under the new bill is that of the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant.

"The Basic Educational Opportunity Grant will now be called the Pell Grant, in honor of Senator Claiborne Pell of Rhode Island, the originator of the BEOG program," Bratcher said.

According to Bratcher, there will also be a change in the administrative allowances.

Democrats, Republicans

Youth parties organize

By Joni Thomas

There are two campus organizations geared toward the interests of the politically aware students: The Young Democrats and the Young Republicans. Both groups have begun, or are currently beginning, their seasons and are now accepting new members.

The Young Republicans took the opportunity to encourage political participation among young adults by organizing a voter registration session on Thursday, October 2. The event took place in the University Center.

"This is an area of Tennessee where you could walk around for days and not meet another Republican. We are few and far between—but we are mighty," said senior Philosophy major, Jill Brinkley, who is a staunch Republican and a member of the organization.

As Brinkley stated, there does appear to be a great many active student Republicans. The Young Republicans' current membership is five, but new members are expected to join.

The five current members of the group are Cathy Ailsup, Diana Boyd, Jill Brinkley, Carol Johnson and Tim Miller. The faculty sponsor is Dr. David Kanervo of the Political Science Department.

Although the Young Republicans have not yet formulated a definite agenda for the year, the members have established certain goals.

"We would just like everyone to go out and vote—hopefully for Reagan, but at least to vote," club member Cathy Ailsup said.

"I'm very pleased with Reagan. As far as I'm concerned, he's the only rational choice. I do not want Jimmy Carter to get back in—the country cannot stand four more years," said Brinkley, explaining that the main intention of the group is to support the party candidate.

The Young Democrats' group has not yet made definite plans for the school year. Information on that group will be provided when it becomes available. The faculty sponsor for the Young Democrats will be Dr. Thomas Pickney. Dr. Pickney can be reached in the Political Science Department at 7515.

Simple, yet easily understood

Board uses good judgement on rules

The election rules for the selection of the 1980 Homecoming Queen and her court were passed by the Student Government Senate last Thursday night. These rules represent the product of good thinking and judgement.

In the past years, the election of the Homecoming Queen and the court have been dominated by vague rules and controversy that stemmed from misunderstanding.

A system that was simple enough to be understood by everyone involved was desperately needed. The 1980 Election Board committee has constructed this type system.

The one man, one vote, system will be used. Instead of voting for the top five choices, as done in past years, each student will cast one vote for his first choice for queen. This alleviates block voting by large groups, so that each of their candidates would advance to the second ballot. The second ballot has also been done away with.

According to Bobby Jones, election board chairperson, the second ballot was "such a political move." With only five women to choose from, a large organization whose candidate was not in the run-off would pair with another large organization who was still represented on the second ballot.

The type of election now approved will put the pressure back on the candidates themselves to solicit votes from outside their representative groups. The votes of the group that each girls represents will not be large enough to insure the candidate a crown. The independent vote has become important.

The matter of ties will also be handled in a systematic manner. If there is a tie within the top three positions, with the exception of the second and third place candidate, a run-off election between those two women will be held.

Along with simplicity and fairness, suspense has been added to this year's election. The Homecoming court will not be announced until the Saturday morning parade. The Queen will not be announced until halftime of the football game. Jones said that the women in the court would be notified of their position in advance, in case they needed to make special arrangements. But not even the three candidates in the court would know which woman was queen.

Arguments over the rules and methods of choosing a Homecoming queen have taken away much of the glory of Homecoming in preceding years. The new election system will help greatly in putting this glory back.

letters to the editor

Staff receives congratulations

Dear Editor:

I wish to congratulate the 1979-80 newspaper staff for its repeated achievement as an "All American" newspaper.

This rating reflects the highest of all honors granted to college newspapers by the Associated Collegiate Press. The All State has earned this rating through its competition with college and university newspapers varying in size, circulation, and frequency of publication. The All State accumulated one of the highest ratings in the Southeast during the past two years. Its marks of distinction total nineteen of twenty possible merits in categories ranging from graphics and writing to editorial leadership and opinion features.

Also, I want to note that The All State has been nominated for two consecutive years for a Pacemaker Award. These nominations illustrate recognition of the newspaper as one of about fifty newspapers (of roughly 4,500 U.S. college newspapers) which exemplified the best in college newspaper journalism.

The All State's willingness to encourage diversified opinion, comment and criticism is to be commended. In response to Mary Law's letter, I note this observation. Although I am now employed by another university, I am extremely "proud" of my past association with The All State. Mary Kay Hinton, Bobby Jones, and Billy Fields have dignified themselves as All American editors.

When reviewing their "old habit," they should keep in mind a quote from Michael Sessler, a judge for the National Scholastic Press Association/Associated Collegiate Press: "The All State is a formidable student newspaper that is continually building a strong journalistic foundation." This is one "old habit" that I would not try to break. Editors, "ignorant" you are not.

Fraternity images changing

By DeWayne Wilson

Fraternity: 1. the state or quality of being brothers; fraternal relationship or spirit 2. a group of men joined together by common interests, for fellowship. This is the definition of "fraternity" given by Webster's Collegiate Dictionary. But what is a fraternity?

Many people believe that fraternities are prankish, beer-drinking cliques and fraternity hazing are part of the process. The image of fraternities has changed greatly over the past few years, doing away with these and other stereotypes.

There are seven fraternities at Austin Peay State University. They differ on many points, but they all have the same foundation on which they base their organizations.

The most common benefit of fraternities is the brotherhood. Other benefits are the academic help, the leadership and fellowship qualities learned, and the new awareness and understanding of college and people. There is also a party atmosphere that helps to relieve some of the tension and pressure of college classes.

The responsibility of being in a fraternity separates those at Austin Peay from one another. Alpha Gamma Rho, the only social-professional fraternity, requires that its members major in an Agriculture or Ag related field and have a 2.0 GPA. The members must be willing to do farm work.

The members of Alpha Phi Alpha must have a 2.0 GPA and one quarter prerequisite and be a full-time student. Alpha Phi Alpha aids college students, the community and in campus functions. Alpha Tau Omega members must have a 2.0 GPA and must live by the Creed. There is also a financial responsibility of being in this fraternity.

Kappa Alpha Psi requires a 2.0 GPA for membership. The members of Omega Psi Phi must pledge the fraternity and pay fees for membership. Pledges for Pi Kappa Alpha have parties and meetings and must do a community project. The members have meetings and help the Big Brothers and Little Brothers of Clarksville.

To pledge Sigma Chi, one must be issued a bid. There is a six-week pledge period in which the pledges have conference with each active brother. There is then a national test that one must pass. The pledges meet as a group and elect officers. After being accepted, there are meetings each Sunday and financial responsibilities.

Membership is up this year in all of the fraternities. Most of the fraternities have had their pledge periods, but any interested male students may contact the fraternities for more information. The presidents of the fraternities are: Alpha Gamma Rho - Kevin Wilson/Rex Bracey; Alpha Phi Alpha - James Jones; Alpha Tau Omega - Michael Bailey; Kappa Alpha Psi - Louis Burnett; Omega Psi Phi - James Lester Shelley; Pi Kappa Alpha - Al Proctor and Sigma Chi - Clatter Mottinger.

Fraternities are very important to the lives of many students at Austin Peay. Their aid to the college and the community many times goes unnoticed. The image of fraternity life is making dramatic changes, from one of absurdity to one of high achievement and dignity.

FM vs. AM

Editor's note: These "pro" and "con" opinions are those of the writers and do not necessarily reflect the opinions of The All State.

Pro

Support your local AM radio station. Support three-minute slices of post-pubescent lust carefully packaged and orchestrated and broadcast six to ten times daily.

By supporting AM radio, you're supporting the kind of music that has made America great.

While AM radio plays only the hits, is crass, commercial, and frankly attached to the ephemeral trappings of pimply teenage music, so is FM radio.

FM radio tries to be suave about it.

Sure, AM announcers and disc jockeys talk over the introductions of the records they spin, timing their spiels so that they quit talking just as the singer begins singing. But FM jocks always seem to talk as if they just discovered marijuana.

After all, what would you rather have—good old American entertainment for entertainment's sake and good pop music, or a lot of jaded nonsense designed to sell you stereo systems made by our overseas competitors, or maybe even a waterbed? Support AM radio.

Con

The saccharin-sweet sound of AM radio is causing a national diabetes epidemic. It is time for the USA to return to the mild lifestyle of FM radio that is California's greatest export to Middle America.

Commercially for waterbeds. Payola. Abortion clinic announcements. These things have made FM radio great.

FM jocks, generally convicts from the Nebraska region of the Midwest, tend to come across as somewhat dull personages. Unlike AM jocks, FM DJs do not have 13-year-old nymphets as groupies. It is hard to be congenial when dried-out scuzzes from the Sixties are the only groupies you have.

Middle America abandoned FM after the election of Richard Nixon. Only California always in step with the times, remained in the FM column. This is what preserved the national tradition of "non-commercial" sound. And the invention of multimillion-dollar sound systems.

Support FM radio.

Thurber play exemplifies 'brains vs. brawn'

The AP Playhouse will open its 1980-81 theatre season with James Thurber's and Elliot Nugent's The Male Animal. A comic rendition of the classic "brains versus brawn" theme, The Male Animal will open Oct. 29 and run through Nov. 1.

The action, which takes place at Mid-Western University on the weekend of the "big" Michigan game, is highlighted by several intricate sub-plots. Tommy Turner, a rising English professor, is faced with feelings of doubt and jealousy upon the return of his wife Ellen's ex-boyfriend, Joe Ferguson, who is also a former former football All-American.

Simultaneously, Ellen's little sister, Patricia Stanley, finds herself choosing between Michael Barnes, brains extraordinaire, and Wally Myers, a talented athlete. To complicate matters more, Tommy is also faced with the ethical decision to either read a Vanzetti composition (while the Chairman of the board is screaming "Red Commie") and lose his job, on to succumb to Keller's demands that total intellectual freedom be stifled in the classroom. Tommy's decision, as well as the suspense of "who gets the girls" make The Male Animal appealing for an evening of entertainment.

Cast by veteran director John Griffin, the leading roles include: Randy Sullivan as Tommy Turner and Barbara Hughes as Ellen Turner.

Supporting roles include: Annelise Beekman (Brigitte); Robin Cole (Patricia Stanley); Jim Townsend (Wally Myers); Freddy Doty (Dean Damon); Lynn Waggoner (Blanche Damon); Danny Armitage

(Michael Barnes); Glen Pafford (Joe Ferguson); Mike Lynch (Ed Keller); Lisa Mayes (Myrtle Keller); Joe Shumaker (Nutsie Miller); and Darrell Osborne (The Reporter).

Reservations for all performances may be made by calling 648-7378 between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Tickets are $1.50 per person and one dollar per person in groups of ten or more.

Poet Ray reads tomorrow

David Ray, poet and the editor of New Letters magazine, will give the first poetry reading of the 1980-81 year at Austin Peay State University.

Ray will read from his own work at the Wesley Foundation, 510 College Street, at 8 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 16. The reading is free and open to the public.

Ray's work as a writer and as an editor has had great influence on contemporary poetry. New Letters is one of the most highly regarded literary magazines in the world, and Ray's series of radio programs about poets and poetry, "New Letters on the Air," is a showcase for the best current poetry.

The author of six books of poetry, Ray was awarded the prestigious William Carlos Williams Prize in 1979 for his latest collection of poems, The Trump's Cup. The critic G. E. Murray called this book, "his most ambitious, combining historical perspectives, contemporary insights, and literary acumen."

Reviewer Ken Fifer says, "The Trump's Cup is a hauntingly human collection of poems, turning grief into song, unfolding the heart, calling us to witness the dailyness of fear and love. Ray is a mature and powerful poet who cherishes our 'small and exquisite gestures,' but who reaches beyond mere gesture to achieve a convincingly human reality. These are truth-telling lyrics."

A member of the English Department of the University of Missouri at Kansas City, Ray has read his poetry at universities here and abroad, and he regularly publishes in magazines and journals such as The Atlantic Monthly, The New Yorker, and The Paris Review.

Students, faculty to perform

"Sing Hallelujah," a musical show featuring Austin Peay students and faculty, will be presented tomorrow night at 8 p.m. in the University Center Ballroom.

The show, which is to feature Broadway and contemporary tunes such as "Zip-A-Dee-Do-Dee," "One Kiss," Pat Waller's "Ain't Misbehavin'," and others, is the idea of the group will present a musical spoof on the events and personalities here at Austin Peay. This spoof was written by Mabry especially for the faculty.

George Mabry, former director of entertainment at Opryland.

Faculty members Pat Woliver, Anne Glasse, and George and Susan Mabry will be joined by students Kathy Bearden, Evelyn White, Mary Wyatt, Loretta Robinson, Randy McGee, and Charlie King.

In addition to the regular musical numbers

Admission is $3.00 for adults and $2.00 for students. You can reserve tickets by calling the Austin Peay music department at 648-7818.

Special Olympics growing

Any person interested in volunteering to assist with Special Olympics in the Clarksville area should attend a meeting today at noon here in the Library basement in room 12. Specific responsibilities will be given at this meeting.

Special Olympics will meet again this year. Approximately 200 mentally retarded athletes, both children and adults, are expected to participate.

The games will be held here in Clarksville at East Gate Lanes, which has been provided free of charge. The event will be held on Oct. 22, from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. All athletes will receive medals as there are no losers in Special Olympics. Lunch will be provided for the athletes, too.

Some of these athletes will go to the State Special Olympics Bowling Tournament to be held in Cookeville Nov. 16-18.

Special Olympics is growing in Clarksville according to Glenn Carter, area director. This year they are adding two new skills. They are Soccer skills and Run, Dribble and Shoot Basketball skills. They are also adding two new counties—Chatham and Humphreys—to their four-county area. Dickson county will be added in January, Carter said.

Due to this growth, the budget for the Special Olympics in Clarksville is $6,500 this year. All funds come through voluntary contributions and are tax deductible. If any organization or individuals are interested in contributing and would like a copy of the budget, contact Carter at APSU Sociology/Social Work Department, 648-7730.

Williams resigns; leaves state

Dr. Fred L. Williams, Vice-President of Administration and Finance, resigned effective on Sept. 30, 1980.

In a story in the Sunday, Oct. 5 Leaf-Chronicle, President Riggs stated that Williams resigned because of his desire to return to his native state of Arkansas and because of financial management problems.

"He (Williams) was interested in returning to Arkansas, his native state—that was one consideration.

"We brought in a business manager who reported to me instead of him; it altered his role and that resignation was another consideration," Riggs said.

The university is searching for a replacement for Williams. In the interim, Dr. Robert Riggs will assume responsibility for athletics. Dr. Bill Lewis will assume responsibility for the computer center, and Dr. William Ellis will assume responsibility for the Ft. Campbell contract and the physical plant and capital construction.

Riggs stated that the vice-president's position will be restructured before another person is appointed to fill it.

Recreation is fun

Student involvement crucial

Because recreational activity seems to be something most APSU students are interested in and involved with, the coordination of the recreational program is a vital area of student service.

Coordinating this aspect of student involvement is no small task—especially since the positions of University Director and Intramural Director were combined when Mike Carrier, who served as director of the Joe Morgan University Center for over two years, resigned.

Buddy Bumgardner, who served last year as the director of the Intramural Program, assumed the additional responsibilities of the post left empty upon Carrier's resignation. He now heads up the comprehensive recreation program, serving as director of both the University Center and the Intramural program.

"I have four super people: Chris Catalano, Artie Manning, Marsha Reynolds and Drew Simmons," said Bumgardner, explaining that although the combination of the two programs caused a considerable increase in his workload, the burden is made lighter by his staff.

Chris Catalano works in the university center as the nighttime manager. Reynolds serves as the daytime manager of the center; she is responsible for scheduling campus facilities.

The other two members of Bumgardner's four-man team, Artie Manning and Drew Simmons, center their activities around the Recreation Center and the Intramural Program. Manning is in charge of the Recreation Complex and special events such as the Miller Closest-To-The-Hole contest that was held during registration. Simmons is in charge of all intramural activities.

One of the chief responsibilities that Bumgardner cites among those of his position is getting the students involved in campus activities. He says that he feels that the intramural program is the "nucleus of everything" and says that special events are like the "gravy on the potatoes."

"We have good potential and a great student body. All we need is student input," said Bumgardner. He explained that in order to find out exactly what the students want, a USAB meeting has been planned for Thursday, Oct. 16. Tony Thompson chairman of the University Student Activity Board, will preside over the meeting.

The unavailability of student opinion is something that Bumgardner says slows down the decision making process on areas of entertainment and recreation. He said that students wishing to speak their opinions on such topics as concert performer decisions should direct their statements toward someone who can act on those expressions.

ROTC program sees national growth

by Carol Pickel

The Austin Peay State University ROTC program turned from Advanced Camp in Fort Riley, Kansas, in summer with a number three position among 67 schools from an eight state region.

Army ROTC (Reserve Officer's Training Corps) is a program that provides college-trained individuals to become officers in active duty in the U.S. Army, and duty in the National Guard and the Army Reserve.

One hundred and eighty-nine students are enrolled in the program at Austin Peay, with 17 seniors and 21 juniors making up the Advanced Course and the rest being freshmen and sophomores.

Nationwide, ROTC currently enrolls over 59,000 men and women. Although ROTC programs at major universities across the country have taken an upsurge in enrollment, Austin Peay's program has not recorded any major enrollment increases.

Major Ben Adams explained that the four-year ROTC program is divided into two parts: the Basic Course and the Advanced Course. The Basic Course is usually taken during the freshmen and sophomore years, with no military commitment. The second part of the program, the Advanced Course, is taken during the junior and senior years and usually invitation only, to those Cadets who have demonstrated officer potential and meet physical and scholastic standards.

At this second level, the cadets sign a contract for a commission as a second lieutenant, obligating his services to the Army. Scholarship students are obligated for four years active duty and two years reserve. Non-scholarship students serve three years active duty and three years reserve.

Adams said that during the Basic Course, the program attempts to evoke interest in the Army. The curriculum this fall includes classes on rifle marksmanship, survival and ranger techniques, and map reading and orienteering. The Advanced Course curriculum stresses training for officer leadership skills through courses such as advanced military operations and tactical leadership.

Recently Majors Ben Adams and Sam Jones discussed the ROTC program and its benefits with The All State.

Adams stressed 3 factors that an officer must deal with: people, resources, and equipment. He said that ROTC provides an opportunity for learning leadership, managing resources, managing equipment, and providing a background for management related fields.

Another benefit is the representation ROTC gives the university. "Our name is well known in ROTC summer camps," Adams said, and he cited pride in the fact that the program ranked third of 67 at the Fort Riley summer camp.

Drill and rifle teams also represent Austin Peay in competition. The drill team will be representing the ROTC program and Austin Peay at the Mardi Gras in New Orleans in February.

Jones noted that the program includes a cross section of students with diverse majors, and he feels any increase of student interest brought in is a definite advantage to Army ROTC.

"We've had good student support and support from the University itself," Adams added. "Everyone I've been in contact with has bent over backward to help us any way they could."

Bill

"There will be a $25,000 increase of the administrative funds," he said.

The College Work/Study Program has also been altered.

Under this new bill, students who work for CWSP just receive minimum wage. Bratcher said, adding that this year's CWSP student receives only $2.65 per hour.

"The new bill is rather complex," Bratcher said, "and contains many, far-reaching changes. The supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant and the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant have both been revised. Instead of being available to students for only our years, the SEOG and the BEOG will be available to students until they receive their first Bachelor's degree.

"Of course," Bratcher said, "there are limitations, but the revised programs are much more flexible."

"A new program, called the Parent Loan Program, will begin next year under this new bill," said Bratcher. "This allows parents to borrow money at a low interest rate for their children's college education. This is a brand new program, and we are expecting a large response to it."

Bratcher, although pleased with the new bill, said that it may cause the Financial Aid workers to have more work.

"The work may be a little tougher," said Bratcher, "but the new bill has a completely positive effect on the students. The students will benefit greatly from the passing of this bill."

Lady Gov spikers up season's mark

By Brian Bowen

The Austin Peay Lady Gov volleyball team upped their season's record to 10-4 on the season with wins over Vanderbilt twice, Tennessee Temple and Lambuth.

September 30, the Lady Govs played at home and beat Vanderbilt 15-9, 11-15, 15-9; and beat Tennessee Temple 15-7, 15-8.

On Oct. 1 the Lady Govs traveled to Cookeville to play Tennessee Tech. The Lady Govs were beaten 9-15, 15-9, 7-15, 5-15.

October 3 and 9 the Lady Govs played in the UT-Martin Invitational and came away with a 15-11, 14-16, 15-8 victory over Vanderbilt.

On October 7 the Lady Govs beat Lambuth 15-4, 15-8 and there lost their first home match to Middle Tennessee 6-15, 10-15.

Coach Arlene Ignacio has nothing but praise for her team this season. Her freshmen players are playing very well especially since two of her starting six were out the first four matches. Ignacio said that freshman Laura Angmer and Mary Fields have provided the offensive punch.

Coach Ignacio said, "Freshman standout Patty Reutebach has played outstanding since the first match." She said that Reutebach leads the team in blocks with 45 and is also the best setter.

Ignacio said that freshman Yo Yo Halsey is the most consistent player and in the Lambeth, MTSU matches Linda Johnson came off the bench and played exceptionally well.

In upcoming weeks the Lady Govs play two matches and on October 24-25 they will host the Lady Govs Invitational in the Dunn Center, Vanderbilt, the University of the South, Tennessee Temple, Lambuth and Trevecca will be the teams entered in the tournament.

GET EM' BOYS—Morehead's defensive line appears to be ganging up on Greg Jones and Cosmo Cochran. Jones' attempt to get into the endzone failed, but the Angry Red scored on the next play on their way to a 23-21 victory.

Governors squeeze by Morehead

By Ronnie Graves

The Austin Peay Angry Red Men improved their record to 2-3 Saturday night as the squeezed by a stubborn Morehead Eagle team 23-21 in Clarksville's Municipal Stadium. The Angry Red played in front of a small crowd of 3,200.

Ohio Valley Conference total offense leader Sonny Delfilippi got the Angry Red on the board first when he swept right for a three yard touchdown run. The touchdown was set up by a 31-yard punt return by speedy freshman Ondra Woods, who carried the return down to the Morehead 31-yard line. From there, the Govs took seven plays before the score. Ray Hampton's PAT made the score 7-0 with 4:24 remaining in the first stanza.

A Cosmo Cochran fumble at the APSU 44 yard line set up the Eagles' first score. Quarterback Don Reeves found tight end Tim Devine wide open for an 18 yard touchdown pass. Placekicker Lenn Daff's PAT was perfect and the score was knotted at 7-7 with 9:19 remaining in the first half.

After an Austin Peay punt, Morehead began to drive. The Eagles got down to the Angry Red 14 yard line, then Reeves dropped back to pass and was totally destroyed by defensive end Brett Williams for an 18 yard loss all the way back to the Angry Red 32 yard line. That set up a 48 yard field goal attempt by Daff that was partially blocked by senior defensive end Mark Daniel. Austin Peay took over possession on their own 32.

On the very next play, Delfilippi hit Woods over the middle on a pass and Woods scampered 69 yards for a touchdown. The touchdown made the score 13-7. The score remained 13-7 when Hampton's extra point attempt went wide to the right with 6:17 remaining in the first half.

Morehead bounced right back on their next set of plays when Dorrin Hunter raced 27 yards for a touchdown to cap a 73 yard, 7 play drive. Daff's extra point put the Eagles ahead 14-13 with 3:31 remaining in the half.

The first half ended with no more scoring and the Angry Red stalled on the Morehead 45 yard line.

Austin Peay, who was unable to score in the third quarter, had drives that started on their own four and nine yard line and was not able to drive until late in the quarter. Morehead was held to 16 yards total offense in the third quarter.

Late in the third quarter, the Gov's took the ball on their own 44 yard line. Cochran, who totaled 104 yards on 12 carries for the game, broke loose for 41 yards down to the Morehead 15 yard line. The Angry Red drive stalled at the Eagle six, then Hampton boosted a 23 yard perfectly through the uprights with 12:53 remaining to

Prediction percentage is up

I'm getting better as I go along at my prediction. I have raised my season's percentage to 72, up from last week's total of 67.5 percent.

calling the shots

By Ronnie Graves
Sports Editor

My upset of the week almost came through. Stanford was leading UCLA 21-7 at halftime, but faltered badly in the second half and lost 35-21. Pittsburgh was upset by Florida State in Tallahassee 36-22. LSU trounced a baffled Auburn team and Notre Dame showed Miami of Florida what a football team is.

This week I really look forward to the nation's number one team to fall at the hands of Tennessee. Alabama had a close call at Rutgers last Saturday (17-13). Who is Rutgers? Oh yeah, Rutgers went 8-3 last year and got a bowl bid.

All of the highly ranked teams except for the Crimson tide should have easy weeks.

In the OVC, all three of the leaders, Murray State, Western Kentucky and Eastern Kentucky should breeze to victories.

The Angry Red will win a tight one over a defense laden Nicholls State team.

When you listen to a sports broadcast on the radio you probably can't realize all of the hard work that goes into just one broadcast.

I got my first taste of that feeling this weekend. I filled in for my partner Steve Harmon as I helped Sherwin Clift do two ballgames. The first, a local high school game, and the other the Austin Peay versus Morehead game.

My job was to keep a running account of each play that took place, but first I had to learn the teams' players and their positions before the games. I spent about an hour preparing for each game. Once the game started, it constantly moved in the radio booth, from one side to the other, trying to figure out who had the ball, how far he ran or threw the ball, the upcoming line of scrimmage and the time it took to happen. While doing all of this the other members of the crew and I called out names and yardages to Sherwin Clift when he was blocked and couldn't see the play.

Between the halves, I computed the individual totals for both teams and had them ready for Clift to use on his halftime show.

After the games, I helped clean up the booth and helped put the gear away. I gained a lot of much needed experience. I enjoyed doing that type of work. Everyone should try it sometime. It is a real challenge for the mind and the fingers.

Watch out, Steve, I want your job!

Governor's

make the score 16-14 in favor of Austin Peay.

The ball changed hands four more times before wither team scored again.

After a 35 yard punt by Morehead's John Christoph, Austin Peay took over on their own 49-yard line. With 3:13 remaining in the OVC contest Defilippis cupped a nine play, 31 yard drive with a one yard bootleg touchdown run. Hampton's PAT pushed the Gov's ahead 23-14.

Morehead had something to say about the nine point Austin Peay lead. On the ensuing kick-off, Hunter took the ball on his own four yard line and scampered 86 yards to the Angry Red eight. The next Eagle touchdown took only one play, when Reeves hit Devine once again, this time for nine yards. Daff's extra point closed the Angry Red lead to 23-21 with 2:51 remaining in the game.

The Gov's held onto the ball for the rest of the game with a controlled running game as Defilippis ran countless quarterback draws that baffled Morehead's defense. The game ended when Defilippis retreated 30 yards, with a host of Eagles chasing him.

After the victory Coach Watson Brown said, "I'm totally thrilled to get a win. We worked all week on being confident. We got the piano off our backs after this game."

Brown said he was pleased with Defilippis' performance. "Sonny played his best game this season by far. He was a much calmer quarterback. Sonny has taken a lot of heat, but came on and showed a lot of poise."

Freshman Ondra Woods is catching the eyes of a lot of people this season. Brown said, "Ondra doesn't play like a freshman. He has a great future at Austin Peay. I'm proud as punch of him."

Brown said that defensive end Brett Williams played well and the defense is playing much better. "Our defense is playing better, but is still giving up the big plays."

Brown felt that he was getting great play from the bench as he said, "We are having players that are not playing much and are being called on and are doing a great job for us."

The victory puts the Governors in a fifth place tie in the OVC with Morehead at 1-2. The Govs are now 2-3 for the season.

This Saturday night at 7:30 p.m. the Govs host Nicholls State of Louisiana. The Nicholls State team is known for having a tough defense and Brown expects a low scoring, tight contest.

Greek Olympics set for Friday

Friday will mark the beginning of the first ever Budweiser Greek Olympics. The Olympics are to be held on the intramural recreation field.

Beginning at 2 p.m., seven fraternities will compete in many different events. Fraternities competing will include, Pi Kappa Alpha, Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Chi, Alpha Gamma Rho, Alpha Phi Alpha, Omega Psi Phi, and Kappa Alpha Psi.

Some of the events slated for the Greek Olympics include free throw shooting, volleyball, case stacking, egg toss, frisbee throw for accuracy, tug-of-war and the Olympics will conclude Saturday night during halftime at the game between Austin Peay and Nicholls State.

A chariot race between all seven Fraternities will end the Olympics. Each fraternity will have a two-wheel chariot, weighing less than 100 pounds, a driver with the girl of his choice and a pulling crew of four members.

Jolley claims Roane title

By Ronnie Graves

Freshman standout Hal Jolley from Detroit, Michigan captured the singles title of the Roane State Invitational Tennis Tournament Sunday by defeating Governor teammate Hartmut Jungbahn by a 6-2, 6-3 score.

Jolley the Detroit native who didn't play high school tennis said there was a lot of pressure on him since he was playing his teammate. He said he thought that the final match should have been closer.

Jolley reached the finals by defeating the number two seed Mark Tulloch of Middle Tennessee 7-6, 7-6.

The doubles finals between the Governor teams of Paul Gaff and Jolley versus Brad Properjohn and Lungbahn will be played at a later date due to Properjohn's injured right arm.

The Lady Gobs tennis team have been playing exhibition matches this fall. The Lady Gobs defeated Tennessee Tech 5-4 with the doubles teams of Sherry Harrison, Nat Price and Mary Squire and Marc Woodward posting clutch wins to ice the victory. In a team losing effort to Morehead Harrison defeated Allison Hill, who had a spotless 15-0 record.
