1996 festivities plowing down track

By KELLY WILKERSON
news editor

As the weekend's Homecoming activities draw near, many events are planned to boost Homecoming spirit. Join in the celebration and ride the "Last Train to Clarksville."

Homecoming Queen elections are today in the University Center Ballroom. Ten candidates are on the ballot: Emily Anthony, sponsored by Alpha Gamma Rho and Kappa Sigma; Kimberly Barlowe, sponsored by Gamma Sigma Sigma and Foof Frat; Stephan Boyd, sponsored by Gamma Beta Phi Honor Society; Christy Lynn Bracy, sponsored by Alpha Kappa Psi and the American Marketing Association; Becki Fulghum, sponsored by Chi Omega and Sigma Pi Epsilon; Bridget Joyner, sponsored by Alpha Kappa Alpha; Wendy Kincaid, sponsored by Alpha Delta Pi; Tammi Moore, sponsored by Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity and Kappa Alpha Psi; Chrissy Underhill, sponsored by Sigma Chi Fraternity; and Stacy Owens, sponsored by the Residence Hall Association.

Students can vote today from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

There will be a pep rally and bonfire in the Dunn Center field at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday. The Homecoming Court will be announced at this time. A Lady Gov's volleyball game follows at 7:30 p.m. in the Dunn Center.

On Friday at noon, the African American Cultural Center will sponsor a pep rally in the lobby of the University Center.

Also on Friday, the Bracy is organizing a street dance to begin at 8:30 p.m.

University Avenue will be blocked off for this event and the Front Page Deli News will be there with a catfish and shrimp boil. A local band, The Beagles will be on hand for block party entertainment.

On Saturday, the APSU Governors play the Golden Eagles of Tennessee Tech in the Homecoming game, which begins at 2 p.m. The queen will be named during halftime ceremonies.

The Homecoming Parade is scheduled for 10 a.m. that morning and will begin in the Burt Cobb School parking lot, continue down Eighth Street, turn right onto main Street, go to North Second Street, where it will turn on to College Street, then left on Eighth Street and finish at the parking lot of Burt Cobb.

The APSU Street Fair is scheduled to set up on Marion Street between the stadium and the library. It will begin at 10:30 a.m. and vendors will represent campus organizations and other groups.

Homecoming activities will close with a concert by Blessid Union of Souls, which is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. Students can purchase tickets at $12 a piece from the Office of Student Activities.

Bryant visits APSU

By KELLY WILKERSON
news editor

Congressman Ed Bryant, representative for the 7th District of Tennessee, appeared Oct. 8 on campus. He spoke to a gathering of 20 people in the Gentry Auditorium.

Bryant, a Republican, is up for re-election. His district serves 15 counties, including Montgomery. Bryant described the 7th District as a conservative district, having voted Republicans into office for the past 24 years.

The congressman spoke on the importance of the vote of college students and other young people. He justified the importance of our vote by saying that what the government is doing now is creating a situation that will be left for students leaving college and entering the job world.

Bryant said, "The people who are the most cynical about politics are those who don't vote."

Bryant attended college at Tennessee Technological University and the University of Mississippi, entered the army after law school, and spent approximately two years teaching at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.

Bryant described the current Republican Congress as a "Congress trying to be disciplined." He spoke about the efforts to curb the deficit, and said that it would not be possible unless the Congress were able to practice discipline.

Bryant also responded to the issue of student loans, which has been a hot topic for Congress as well as college campuses everywhere.

He described the desire the Republicans have of keeping indirect loans as we have now.

Through indirect loans, money comes from the private sectors. This is unlike what the Democratic Party has suggested of providing public government funds to finance education for college students.

Bryant claimed that the Democratic Party had put forth a misconception of the Republican stance on student loans by saying the Republicans want to abolish students loans.

"What benefits as a country would we have by cutting off student loans? Don't we all agree that the better educated we are, the better our economy will be?" he asked.

Bryant expressed the desire for the government to come to an honest compromise concerning this issue.

Bryant closed his visit to campus with a meeting with University President Dr. Sal Ranella.

Peay treated to night of culture

The Chonnam Provincial Korean National Music & Folk Dance Troupe performed in the Clement Auditorium on Monday night to a mixed crowd of High school students, members of the Fort Campbell community, and a sizable Austin Peay crowd. The performers accepted several well-deserved standing ovations.

Spend Winter Break in London with CCSA

By BRANDY STRICKLAND
guest writer

The application deadline is this week for people wanting to attend Austin Peay State University's 1996 London Winter Break study-abroad program.

APUS is included in a group of 21 colleges, known as the Cooperative Center for Study Abroad (CCSA), involved in a study-abroad program in London during winter break. The trip will begin Dec. 26, 1996 and end on Jan. 8, 1997.

The cost of the trip is $2,095. Applicants must make a $100 deposit and first payment of $1,000 by Friday, Oct. 18, to cover the cost of the airline ticket and arrangements in London. APUS full-time faculty and staff are eligible for a 10 percent discount. Late applicants may be accepted, depending on space.

The total cost includes round-trip transportation from designated departure cities (Cincinnati, Nashville or Seattle), accommodations at a four-star hotel, daily breakfast, program costs, plays, a one-week London underground bus pass and other excursions as scheduled. Tuition and fees will be assessed in accordance with APUS's policy and are in addition to the regular program costs.

Leonard Lindsey, assistant professor in the nursing department, will instruct one of the courses offered, "Health Care Delivery Systems: A Comparison." This course will compare the British health-care system with the U.S.

health-care delivery system. It will explore the educational difference for health-care providers, the delivery of preventive, acute and long-term care in British health care agencies, and the influence of British social, economic and cultural factors on the health-care system.

Other colleges in CCSA are offering courses during the London Winter Break Program. These include: "The Geography of Economic Activity," "International Marketing," "British Contributions to the History of Mathematics," "Cross-Cultural Study of Family Violence," "Speech and Debate," "British Pracum" and "British Theatre in Production." Students can earn up to 3 credit hours in all study-abroad courses.

Women's Studies hosts book talk with Brant

By ALICIA MOOREHEAD
editor-in-chief

The Women's Studies Program at Austin Peay State University will host a book talk by writer-in-residence Beth Brant on Thursday, Oct. 17 from 11 a.m.-noon in Room 313 of the Joe Morgan University Center.

Brant will be reading from her books "Mohawk Trail," "Food & Spirits," "Writing as Witness: Essays and Talk" and "A Gathering of Spirits."

Brant describes herself as Mohawk, lesbian, mother, grandmother and working class woman. "I want people to see me in all my facets as a human being," she said.

As a writer-in-residence, Brant is sponsored by APUS's Center for the Creative Arts.

She is working for the University temporarily, helping with a graduate-level creative-writing class.

According to Dr. Jill Eichhorn, acting coordinator of the Women's Studies Program, Brant's writing addresses women's issues.

"We feel like she has a lot to offer on the topic of women and gender issues," Eichhorn said.

Brant said that most of her work stems from her background. "I really enjoy reading my work, and I hope people like listening to it."

Brant travels as much as she can to universities, mostly as a visiting writer.

"I like to reach people, and I think writing is one of the ways that you can do that," she said. "I love traveling because it gives me a fresh perspective on things."

Participants are invited to bring a lunch, and Brant hopes there will be a discussion.

"I hope there can be an exchange of ideas," she said.

ROTC cadets earn awards at Ranger Challenge

Austin Peay ROTC cadets recently won several trophy and several first-place plaques in a Cadet Ranger Challenge which was hosted by APSU's Governor's Guard Battalion, Reserve Officers Training Corps, was held at Fort Campbell, Ky.

Austin Peay State University's ROTC cadets recently won an overall trophy and several first-place individual plaques in the Cadet Ranger Challenge Head-to-Head Competition.

The challenge, which was hosted by APSU's Governor's Guard Battalion, Reserve Officers Training Corps, was held at Fort Campbell, Ky. Sept. 28.

According to Maj. Robin Mealer, battalion commander and professor of military science, Austin Peay cadets faced cadets from Middle Tennessee State University, the University of Tennessee at Martin and Vanderbilt University.

Both teams competed in a variety of military skills including basic rifle marksmanship.

M60/M16 weapons assembly, one-rope bridge, hand-grenade assault course and a 10K road march. APSU won individual plaques for first place in all but one of the events. Vanderbilt cadets won first place in the 10K road march.

According to Mealer, this event is in preparation for the Brigade Competition at Fort Knox, Ky. which will be held Oct. 17-20. "If this past weekend is any indication of the team's capabilities, we should bring some trophies home to Austin Peay," she said.

"I attribute their success to the quality instruction and leadership provided by Major Sgt. Major Helge, and the team's perseverance and willingness to go the extra mile. Rangers Lead the Way!"

Austin Peay's ROTC cadets are Matthew J. Cottrell, a junior business management major and team captain; Thomas M. Witorek, a senior business management major and team assistant captain; David R. Stevens, a junior history major and team assistant captain; Graham T. Bund, a junior history major; Glen R. Hees, a junior public management/criminal justice major; Richard Maples, a junior public management major; Gabriel Padilla, junior political science major; Clinton T. Causey, a freshman; Rickey Christopher, a junior graphic design major; Edwin Nieves, a freshman business management major; Kellie S. Rourke, a sophomore political science major; Kevin B. Coleman, a sophomore public management major; Ted L. Goth, a sophomore political science major; Donny W. Hobel, a sophomore computer science major; and Joshua R. Jones, a sophomore nursing major.

Can't afford to save for retirement?
The truth is, you can't afford not to.
Not when you realize that your retirement can last 20 to 30 years or more. You'll want to live at least as comfortably then as you do now. And that takes planning.

By starting to save now, you can take advantage of tax deferral and give your money time to compound and grow.
Consider this: Set aside just $100 each month beginning at age 30 and you can accumulate over $172,100* by the time you reach age 65. But wait ten years and you'll have to budget $219 each month to reach the same goal.

SGA Update

The Student Government Association has been working hard implementing policies in the academic year. A new committee is being formed to review past legislation. The purpose of this committee will be to review past legislation.

Senator Angela announced the Halloween Trick-or-Treat event to be held on October 31 outside in the quad from 5-7. The candy will be donated and organizations on campus are asked to participate in handing out candy.

Senate Act 004 presented to the General Assembly to assist the school team as a growing organization. The bill passes for $1000.00 amendments.

President Faulk introduced the Budget Committee Plan that would help the Finance Committee with some of the duties currently are not getting proper amount of attention.

The Budget committee would be responsible for reviewing the current budget and the expenditures, recommending adjustments as needed. The new committee will free up the Finance Committee to give new bills proper attention hopefully alleviating the need for the General Assembly to correct bills.

The Finance Committee will then be available to set amounts based on the organization's historical financial contributions and educational worthiness. The committee will be implemented within the next couple of weeks.

SGA is also publishing a newsletter that reviews events, bills, and activities of the General Assembly and Student Tribunal every week. They are available in front of the SGA office in the main lobby of the University Center.

Vote: Your nation is depending on it

Promises, promises and more promises. That's what we all are going to hear from now until the presidential election in November 5. Candidates from all parties have already started the mud slinging as well as name calling campaign ads and we are going to see even more of these as election day gets closer.

Why haven't we seen any debates among ALL candidates rather than the Republican and Democratic candidates? What about the debates or discussions between Hillary Clinton and Libby Dole? Doesn't it seem a bit strange that we haven't heard a word out of either of them?

What is rather odd is that the press, who usually right on top of things, has seemed to have slacked off on the coverage of the election, but then again it may just be that this election really isn't worth covering...you decide.

There are all kinds of issues being brought into the limelight and many people are still deciding which candidate they will endorse. After millions of dollars spent in campaign funds and hours of work that will be put into the campaign itself, there still will not be the voter turnout that there should be. It is amazing at how many different excuses you hear from those registered voters who do not go and vote. And what is even more pathetic is the number of individuals who are NOT registered to vote.

The All State would like to encourage all students here at Austin Peay to do your duty as a citizen of this country and vote. Voting is a form of individual expression and it allows for change to take place. And without change individuals become powerless. The All State challenges every individual at Austin Peay to become aware of the upcoming elections and choose the best candidate for yourself...then go and vote!

Encourage others to do the same so that every voice can be heard. Some people say that one vote doesn't make a difference, but if you add all of those votes together then it makes a huge difference.

The All State recognizes the importance of voting and would like for all students to become familiar with as many of the candidates as possible. Don't like the presidential candidates? Well, also in November there will be elections for those candidates running for State Senate, Congress, etc.

State government is just as important as local government. Take advantage of the debate today between Rosiland Kurita and Carol Rice. They are candidates for State Senate. The debate is sponsored by the APSU

Women's Club and will be held in the University Center Room 313 today at noon.

This is a great chance to introduce yourself to politics if you haven't all ready. Students can find out what the candidates stand for and will probably be given a chance to ask questions.

Also, Phi Kappa Phi and Pi Sigma Alpha as well as the office of extended education will be sponsoring a panel of journalists and academians discussing the upcoming presidential election.

The All State encourages all students to take the opportunities they are given to learn more about the candidates running for office and then to go vote. Everyone should vote, but they should make informed decisions. After all, when everyone is bitching the day after the election about who won, won't you be glad to say you voted and that your vote counted?

"After all, when everyone is bitching the day after the election about who won, won't you be glad to say you voted and that your vote counted?"

much of the whole world for that matter) into believing that it was necessary to eradicate an entire race of people from the planet."

"Humph," Stalin said. "You filthy Germans always think you were soooo special. While I must admit that you did an admirable job of creating a better earth for millions of people, it is numbers that count. Numbers never lie, and numbers were the business that the Soviet State and I were all about. What can you claim? 8, 9, maybe 10 million? That's peanuts. I was potentially responsible for over 20 million deaths. And did it right. No need to cause a lot of publicity. A low profile allowed me to work for years without the world getting too upset. As long as you are exterminating your own people, who cares?"

Satan, who had been eavesdropping on this conversation (he has so many bad habits), couldn't take it any longer. "Quiet," he thundered. "Quite being such schmucks. You are both equally honored in my house. But all of you infamy and nefariousness pales in comparison to the legacy of the man they call Columbus. Here is a man who pioneered the way to depopulating the better part of two continents. North and South America had upwards of 25 million people when they were first 'discovered' by Columbus. Within two generations maybe 3 or 4 million were left, thanks to disease, enslavement, and the butchery on the part of the conquistadors and the other European explorers.

"Here is a man that the Arawaks feared so much that mass suicide was not an uncommon event. Mothers would abort their fetuses. And many of the mothers who delivered their children would strangle them at birth rather than subject them to the horrors of the Spanish."

As an added bonus, the mass extermination of one race of people led to the enslavement of an entire different race of people. The whole issue of race was non-issue until after the Europeans realized that it was to their benefit to label different groups of people savages and inferior to themselves.

"Just causing a world of hatred and wretchedness didn't make Columbus special," explained the man of Darkness. "It is because he did all of the name of God. In order to truly merit a special place in hell, all you really have to do is to justify his murder and mayhem that you cause in the name of love."

Letters to the editor

Homosexuality 'a shameful act'

In response to the letter written Oct. 2 by August Hampton, you will give an account for every word that you have said. Matt. 12:36-37. Yes, the Bible does say something about gay and lesbian relationships. Romans 1:26-32 states that homosexuality is a shameful act and those who participate will be punished accordingly. Titus 1:10 (LTV) clearly says that the sexually immoral will have their part in the lake of fire. Jude 7 speaks of Sodom and Gomorrah, the city destroyed over sexually immorality. Sexual immorality is any sexual act committed outside of a marriage between man and woman. In Gen. 1:24 God deals with marriage between opposite sexes.

As far as diversity is concerned, if people would pray about marriage and seek God's guidance they would not have to worry about diversity. Mark 10:9 states that no man can separate what God joins together.

Jesus tells why He spoke in parables in Matt. 12:10-17. Jesus used natural phenomenon to interpret spiritual matters. 1 Cor. 2:14 says that the natural man does not receive the things of the Spirit of God.

I do not have time to explain all of your misconstrued information. To address your "literal point-of-view", there is no point-of-view concerning the Bible. It is the Word of God. It means what it says and no ones point-of-view matters. I say these things out of concern for you and those without Jesus Christ. My prayer is that you ask Jesus to come into your heart to be your Lord and Savior patriarchal faith, and therefore self-preserving through traditional male dominated marriage, cloud the rights of people who believe differently. God's word relevant, you are correct about that, but only if you happen to be Christian.

You wrote if the American society would return to Jesus Christ that homosexuality would not be a choice. Again, Mr. Fuller, you are implying that homosexuality would not be a choice. Again, Mr. Fuller, you are implying that homosexuality was once a unified Christian country and at some point that unity dissolved. Let me remind you the Puritan movement was small and the founding fathers were Deist, not Baptist. We both live in a great country but the origin of such greatness does not lie in religious persecution, racism, or sexism; it is tolerance to the beliefs and identity of our fellow man and woman that has raised this country from its birth. Mr. Fuller do not have to support or accept homosexuality and homosexuals do not have to endure your bigotry.

Jeffrey Coon

Sexual sinners can be saved

To Mr. Jonathan Carter, I agree with you that it is probably extremely hard to confess to the entire world of your feelings about sexuality. Coming out of the closet can't be an easy experience. Confessing either to God or another person or a society is always difficult and embarrassing. When each night before bed I fall on my knees and confess to my heavenly Father I feel filthy, no matter the sins that I've committed. I feel unworthy of the grace and mercy that he bestowed upon me. However, for all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God." (Romans 3:23; note 26-27), you are not the only sinner.

Nor is your sin any more grave than any other. I sin daily, Steve Fuller and Latoya Daniel (both wrote letters on this topic in previous issues) commit sins, the clergy at any church on this earth sins and we all will continue to sin as long as we are mortal. However, I must stop and thank God that "There is no condemnation for those who are in Christ Jesus." All of us who have confessed Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior, believe in his death, burial and resurrection and have these feelings indwelt in our hearts cannot be condemned. So, those Christians who have "come out of the closet" still have a home in heaven.

Homosexual Christians are just like the rest of us, and we all need to fight and fight hard against those sins that attempt to overtake our lives.

Tell Satan to get out of the way of your relationship with God. Salvation through Jesus Christ, is a gift that one accepts God will not take this back, nor can you throw it away. Basically, once saved always saved.

As far as a person being "made" homosexual, that is a lie and the truth is nowhere in it. We are mortal and imperfect as humans in the flesh. Therefore, the innate desire to sin is with us from birth. Each of us have different vices. Some of us are chronic liars, others are gossips, some continually commit the sin of premarital sex, there are habitual thieves, those who commit adultery on a regular basis and now there is a growing number of us who battle the desire to be homosexual. There is however, all of us can be freed of these sins. The battles will be hard, but you will go through much. Christ went through life persecuted, suffered and died so that we could get into heaven even though we had sinned. But we will still have to struggle to overcome those sins, with His help. Satan does not want you to change and he will try to stop you at all costs.

Begin your struggle by reading Romans 10:9 and John 3:16. This is sufficient based on Romans 10:13. Next read Philippians 4:13, (my favorite), for inspiration to continue on this journey. Romans 12:1-2 will explain why all sins with the body (sexual) are sins. Also, each morning when I pray before going out into this world, I recite Galatians 5:13. It reads "I have been crucified with Christ; and it is no longer I who live, but Christ lives in me, and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by faith in the Son of God, who loved me, and delivered Himself up for me."

This reaffirms that I must let Christ live through me and be an example to others. This also reminds me that my life is my own and I must follow the will of God, (for those who still don't understand, that's why we don't attend parties).

Thus, to my sisters and brothers in Christ who want to ban homosexuals at the state, remember that we must treat them with love and compassion. Refer to Matthew 7:1-5, (all of it), then you will understand exactly how this should be done. We should try to teach habitual sinners what the Lord wants them to learn, letting him use us to minister to them. Please do not destroy your testing power and God's validity by being mean and hateful. We are sinners, too. Finally, anyone who has questions, comments or needs help in overcoming any sin, you can contact me at P.O. Box 6456. Thank you and God bless.

Volleyball

After dropping four consecutive Ohio Valley Conference matches, the Austin Peay Lady Govs volleyball squad finally saw their luck turn around last weekend, splitting OVC matches with Eastern Kentucky and Morehead State.

Earlier in the week the Lady Govs swept Tennessee-Martin in three sets, 15-11, 15-9 and 15-6.

On Friday the squad returned home to face the Lady Colonels of Eastern Kentucky after a three-game road trip.

In front of an estimated 125 fans, the Lady Govs went five sets before pulling out the victory.

Saturday saw the squad taking on Morehead State.

Unfortunately, the Lady Govs could not sustain the momentum of Friday's victory and lost in three straight sets to the Lady Eagles, 13-15, 14-16 and 12-15.

The Lady Govs now stand at 7-9 on the season, 2-5 in Ohio Valley Conference action. The next game is a home contest against 1995 regular season OVC champion Southeast Missouri State.

Cross Country

Austin Peay's Cross Country Invitational, consisting of 13 men's teams and 14 women's teams, was held last weekend.

Belmont University from Nashville was the overall men's winner with a score of 45. Austin Peay placed fifth with 144.

The Govs were paced by Mark McNeil's 27.01, good for ninth place, and Jason Meriss' 22nd place, finished at 47.

Also competing for the Govs were Mike Lutz, Danny Cowell, Luke Finley and Tom Cannon.

Southeast Missouri captured the women's overall title with a score of 52.

The Lady Govs were led by Lora Price, who completed the course in 23.22. Melissa Olivio finished in 25.53. Melissa Stokes and Dawn Howard ran for the Lady Governors also.

Governors drop ninth in a row

by SCOTT HOSKINS
sports editor

For the first six minutes of the opening quarter in Saturday's 15-14 loss to Middle Tennessee State, Austin Peay played nose-to-nose with the perennial OVC contender. After that, however, the MTSU homecoming crowd of 12,831 watched as their team got untracked and proceeded to score 43 straight points against the hapless Governors to put the contest away before halftime.

The loss was APSU's ninth in a row and left the squad at 0-6 on the season, 0-3 in the OVC.

Once again the Governor offense failed to generate any steam, gaining only 184 total yards. MTSU's domination was so complete that the Govs had minus one yard at the half, including no first downs.

At first it looked as if the Governor defense was up to the giant task of shutting down the Blue Raider offense, led by Jonathan Quinn and Vanderbilt transfer Ronnie Gordon. Middle gained minus five yards on its first three possessions, but on its fourth quinn hit Demetre Montoller on the first play of the drive for 52 yards and a touchdown.

Clarksville native Keegan Ray added the PAT to give Middle a 7-0 lead with 8:58 left in the first quarter.

Two minutes later the Blue Raiders scored again, this time on a 10 yard run around the left side. Ray's extra point capped Middle's lead to 14 at the end of the first quarter.

MTSU resorted to trickery for its next touchdown. Halfback Lebran McGill took the handoff from Quinn and tossed a 22 yard pass to Mosteller to put the Blue Raiders ahead by 21.

After APSU quarterback Matt Hicks was sacked in the end zone for a safety, Ray booted field goals of 40 and 49 yards to make the haltime score MTSU 29, APSU 0.

The second half opened much the same way the first ended. After the Govs generated four yards and punted the ball, MTSU scored on Quinn's 16 yard dash. Ray's PAT gave the Blue Raiders a 16-0 lead with 12:48 remaining in the third.

On the Governors' next possession, Chris Horton fumbled the ball after Hicks' completion.

The Govs could only watch as Middle scooped up the loose ball and rumbled 18 yards for another score. This to put the hosts ahead 43-0.

APSU coach Roy Gregory opted to pull Hicks on the Govs' next possession, going with senior quarterback Daniel Williams. Four plays later Williams' errant pass was picked off by a Blue Raider defender.

A good Governor defensive stand forced MTSU to punt, and on Peay's ensuing possession, Williams sprinted down the left side for 48 yards to finally put the visitors on the board. David Young's PAT cut Middle's lead to 36 with 6:57 to go in the third quarter.

Williams' 30 yard pass to Gary Williams with 3:03 remaining in the contest rounded out the scoring for the Governors.

"We haven't moved the ball for quite some hard, but football is a game of field position."

The Austin Peay offense managed to put positive yardage on the board in the second half, finishing with six first downs for the game. The game finished with 86 yards on 9 of 22 attempts.

Austin Peay was led in rushing by Chris Williams, who had 13 carries. Gary Williams led in Governor receivers with four catches for 66 yards. QB Daniel Williams' short stint resulted in 74 yards on 3 completions.

The Governor defense was paced by inside linebacker Thomas Williams, who finished with 15 tackles, four for losses. Free safety Ralph Hill and linebacker Phil Hancock added 11 tackles each.

Austin Peay will be looking to break their losing streak this weekend when they return home for the only second time this season to face their OVC rival, the Tennessee Tech Golden Eagles, who are coming off of a 30-20 win from behind win over Southeast Missouri State. Kickoff for the homecoming game is 2 p.m.

The Sports Corner

sports commentary
by SCOTT HOSKINS
sports editor

The 1996-'97 Austin Peay basketball season is just around the corner, with the first official day of practice yesterday in front of the fans in the Dunn Center.

The Governors will be led by 6-foot-5 senior forward Bubba Wells, the nation's leading returning scorer. This year he looks to continue his domination of opponents and capture the OVC Player of the Year award.

The Governors are listed as pre-season favorites in many college basketball magazines.

The Lady Govs lost the bulk of their lineup from a year ago, but still have Amanda Behrenbeker to rely on. They also have a new coach in Susie Gardner, who replaced LaDonna McClain. McClain left to coach at Nevada-Las Vegas.

A larger preview of both teams will be forthcoming in a future edition.

This weekend is homecoming for Austin Peay. The Govs face Tennessee Tech at 2 p.m. I challenge all students, faculty, and alumni out there to show up and support the Govs!

The Govs are playing only their second home game of the season and a large crowd is needed to show them that the university community is behind them. We can cheer them on to their first victory of the 1996 campaign and give them momentum for the remainder of the season.

The Governor of the Week is inside linebacker Thomas Williams, a junior from Memphis who led the Govs in tackles with 15 against MTSU.

The Lady Gov of the Week is Lora Price, who led the Lady Govs in the Cross County Invitational.

'Blessid Union of Souls' to play Homecoming

By SANDRA BRANDON
guest writer

This Saturday, two nationally known bands will perform for the APSU Homecoming Concert. Top 40 band Blessid Union of Souls will headline with Push Down and Turn opening.

Blessid Union of Souls' anthem song — and the one bringing the band national attention — is "I Believe." The lyrics describe the relationship between lead vocalist Eliot Sloan and Lisa mentioned in the song. "She was Eliot's girlfriend but now no one knows where she is," said C.P. Roth, keyboardist for the band.

The band wants to be known for doing only good songs and getting music back to music.

"Partly, it was timing and the fact that the music is a bit different than what's currently going on. But mostly, I believe it's the positive vibe of the lyrics that touch people in some way," said Sloan, commenting on the band's music and success.

The band is excited about playing at APSU Homecoming. "We love Tennessee. We're always reminded of how good-looking the women are. We can't wait to get to Clarksville," said Roth.

What can we expect for the APSU Homecoming Concert? "You will get all the hits, most of the album, and some new stuff," said Roth.

Push Down and Turn, although sounding more like directions on how to open a bottle of Advil, is actually a band composed of five Depauw University fraternity brothers.

Together for three years the band has enjoyed success in the Midwest. Their new CD, Twelve Days of April, is their second release on indie label Spring Street Records.

You can listen for their song "Happily" on the campus radio station, 91.7 WAPX.

The first album was more a collection of songs, Twelve Days in April has a cohesiveness and an underlying message," said lead vocalist Hed (yes it's just Hed).

"The inspiration for the music came from the transition of being a college student to a professional musician."

However the band feels the music can relate to all people of ages.

"Anyone that enjoys a live performance will have a fun time. It's not just for young college students. We write about subjects anyone can relate to," said Hed.

Push Down and Turn prides itself on the energy of their performances. "They don't have any bat 'beds' but they always do an intense show."

"We portray a very down earth guy next door image. Hed. He helps the audience to the band and he immediately takes in by the enthusiasm."

Comedian Mason to host 'MasterCard Acts' show

By BECKI FULGHUM
guest writer

Comedian Taylor Mason will perform at Austin Peay State University on Oct. 22.

He will serve as the master of ceremonies for the APSU student talent search "MasterCard Acts," which will be held in Clement Auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

Mason will combine comedy, music, ventriloquism and audience participation during his performance.

His performance is sponsored by APSU University Program Council.

Mason performs regularly on network and cable television, including "The MTV Half Hour Comedy Hour," "Comic Strip Live," "Evening at the Improv," "Showtime Comedy Club" and "The Tonight Show."

For more information, call UPC at 648-7007 or the Office of Student Activities at 648-7431.

Symphony Band performs

The University Symphony Band at APSU will perform a special Homecoming concert Friday, Oct. 18, at 8 p.m. in the Concert Theatre of the Music/Mass Communication Building. The concert is free and open to the public and is being presented by the APSU Department of Music and Center for the Creative Arts.

Featured on the program will be March from "Jazz Suite No. 2" and Festive Overture by Dmitri Shostakovich; Allerseelen (All Saint's Day) by Richard Strauss; Four Scottish Dances by Malcolm Arnold; Aaron Copland Variations on Shaker Themes; and The Cowboys by John Williams and Psalm 46 by John Zdechala.

Director of the University Symphony Band is Bob Ladd, APSU associate professor of music and director of bands.

Conductors for the concert are David Diehl and Joe Gregory.

For more information, call 648-7818.

Poetry Corner*"Daydreaming"*
by Daniel Chambers

Smoke drifting by the candle light
Life is a stretch, out of my reach Doesn't matter what color the weather is Where is the song I am searching for Sounding all the same, I sink further down
Reaching for the sky lifting up a bow of rain
Drifting around, wishing for a place to stay
Angels whispered secrets to me thru the wind
Sitting in clouds, thinking about yesterday
Always liking it when people talk to me
Telling their hopes and dreams that fill there lives
Wanting to laugh but crying just the same
Coming to know these things they do
I have trouble understanding there views
In some ways, wishing I could give them the clue
Life is not about sitting around with the blues
Telling my story and hoping it will find a use
These things we say in the night drift away
Don't let the sands of time weight down your heart
Try to listen to my words and want to believe Where is the song we all have been searching for
Reaching for the sky, lifting up a bow of rain
Drifting around, wishing for a place to stay
Sitting in the clouds, thinking of Yesterday
Daydreaming wishing things the way they were Wondering whether to wander or just sit and ponder
Daydreaming about tomorrow which will take us away
