PRES. CLAXTON IN GREAT DEMAND AS COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

Austin Peay Normal School Head Addresses Numerous High Schools Scattered Over Wide Area

Dr. Claxton has delivered four commencement addresses during the last three weeks.

On Friday evening, May 8, he addressed the graduating class of Yellow Creek High School, in Houston County. There was a large attendance and Dr. Claxton expressed his pleasure over having gone.

Thursday, May 14, he made the commencement address to the class of Van Lee High School, Dickson County. The principal of this school, Leslie Houston, is a former graduate of Austin Peay Normal.

Dr. Claxton gave the commencement address to the Frank Hughes Graduating Class Friday evening, May 15. It is interesting to know that this is the first time Dr. Claxton has been to this school since he addressed a graduating class in 1908, shortly after the building was erected.

May 18, Dr. Claxton delivered the commencement address at Pleasant Hill Academy, Cumberland County. This is the first time Dr. Claxton has been to this school since he addressed a graduating class in 1908, shortly after the building was erected.

Freshmen Prominent In All Activities

Resume of Distinctions Proves Lower Classmen Outstanding

The Freshman Class of Austin Peay Normal School feels that the time is now at hand and the omens are propitious for a review of its accomplishments and distinctions during the past year. Of course it is well-known how important are the Frosh, but for the sake of those who may entertain doubts, we shall now proceed to summarize the various outstanding points in the record of these lower classmen. A few of the ways in which they have won special honor are mentioned below.

In scholarship they have consistently tied their brothers and sisters for honors—in fact, over fifty per cent of the honor roll for the winter quarter were Freshmen.

In athletics the Freshman banner has been well supported. More than half the girls' basketball squad were out for their first year at A. P. N. The first-year boys were also well represented on the basketball floor. On the baseball diamond also the Freshmen have proved their worth. At least half of the team of girls who enter the tennis tournament at David Lipscomb College next week will be Freshmen.

Of the members of the All State staff a large number are Freshmen. Mike Northington, who has made an excellent business manager for the paper this year, is a Frosh, as is also Julia Sandersen, who held throughout the

FRESHMAN CLASS CONDUCTS CONTEST

Nicholson and Northington Elected Best Representative Students.

On Monday, May 11, the Freshman Class of Austin Peay Normal School held a contest to determine the outstanding Freshman girl and the outstanding Freshman boy, the students who best represent what the college stands for.

Miss Nicholson came to the Normal from Clarksville High School, where she made a splendid record. Thus far in her college work she has consistently maintained her high standing. Not in classwork alone, but in almost every phase of school life, Miss Nicholson has filled a promise. She was a member of the debating team, has won a place on the tennis tournament, has been an active member of the Literary and Alpha Clubs, has been a member of the All State staff throughout the year, and is one of the three editors of the Freshman issue.

Mr. Northington, a Montgomery County, graduated from Clarksville High School with high honors. At A. P. N. he is upholding the same efficiency standard, making a good average in all his subjects. In extra curricular activities, Mr. Northington has been outstanding. He was a member of the basketball squad, is now playing on the baseball team, has chosen as one of the two to represent the college at the Tennessee Press Association, and is the Business Manager for the All State.

In the 4-H Club, Mr. Northington did excellent work, particularly in the beef cattle project, where he won first prize. In his senior year at high school he was president of the Future Farmers of America. He is now president of the Young Farmers' Club of Montgomery County.

Both Miss Nicholson and Mr. Northington won the distinction of being chosen members of the National Home-Science Club, the graduating class of Clarksville High School in 1935.

Mother's Day Program Presented by Y.W.C.A.

The following program carrying out the theme of Mother's Day was given at the Y.W.C.A. Thursday, May 7:

1. The conservation of soil and the wise and proper use of land.
  2. The reestablishment and maintenance of farm income at fair levels so that the gains made by agriculture in the past three years can be held and the national recovery continued.
  3. The protection of consumers by assuring adequate supplies of food and fiber now and in the future.
  4. Income of farmers should be raised.
- Mr. Wright further emphasized (Continued on Page 4)

Wright Addresses Student Body

Stresses Living at Home in Chapel Talk.

The former Montgomery county agent, Mr. G. C. Wright, presented a speech on "Living at Home" to the students and faculty of A. P. N. May 13.

"The hope of the nation is in the rural home," Mr. Wright told the students. "If America is to reach the goal our forefathers dreamed, we must have a safe farm and home program, providing for our present needs and building for the future. Any plan for our national welfare must provide for a harmonious balance between the interest of farmers and the interest of other groups," he added.

According to Mr. Wright, farmers have four main goals to reach.

1. The conservation of soil and the wise and proper use of land.
2. The reestablishment and maintenance of farm income at fair levels so that the gains made by agriculture in the past three years can be held and the national recovery continued.
3. The protection of consumers by assuring adequate supplies of food and fiber now and in the future.
4. Income of farmers should be raised.

North Discusses Fire Prevention

Impresses on Students Necessity of Care in Handling Fire

On May 6, 1936, Mr. F. J. North of Nashville, delivered a most enlightening speech on the prevention of fires.

He emphasized the fact that any nation, having an annual loss of half a billion dollars, due to fire destruction, is doomed; and that the natural resources of this country, once abundant, are rapidly diminishing. He especially stresses the fact that early prevention of fire is an important step in escaping the obvious destiny of the United States.

Mr. North appealed to Austin Peay Normal students, as a part of the approaching generation, to cooperate in combating the useless loss caused by fire.

He forcefully warned those present of the danger of home drying and the use of faulty electrical appliances.

Realizing the yearly destruction by fire in the United States, we find that it is a catastrophe that deserves our most worthy consideration.

Devotional—John Irvin Dickson. "Mother," vocal solo—Mary F. Cotham.
Poem, "To Mother"—Josephine Elliott.
Speaker—Dr. John A. Davison.

The Freshman Class of Austin Peay Normal entertained the Sophomore Class and the faculty with a weiner roast Wednesday evening, May 13, at Dunbar Cave.

The group, numbering around 200, was transported to the Cave by faculty and student cars and one enormous truck, driven by Josiah Stout.

After building a fire and roasting weiners and marshmallows, part of the group assembled on the lower dancing floor to enjoy the Lucky Strike Program. Some of the students who were more energetic were soon on the lake, demonstrating their skill in rowing; others, of a more pensive nature, sat around the camp fire. Still others, through the courtesy of Mr. Dale Bosch, explored the cave and brought back thrilling stories of their adventure.

Shortly after nine o'clock car horns were sounded and a mad rush started toward the Club house. The truck was loaded, cars were packed to capacity, and the trek for home and the dormitories was on. The Club house chugged slowly up the incline, the happy voices of students laughing, talking, and singing bespoke a most successful and enjoyable evening.

The Freshmen were pleased that so many of the Sophomores attended the party, but regretted that those living far from town could not be present.

Distinguished Poet Speaks at Banquet

Readings From His Works Given By Member of "The Fugitives" at College Women's Club Final Meeting

The College Women's Club held its annual banquet in the private dining room of the college cafeteria, Friday evening, May 8.

The guest speaker for the occasion was Gerald Davidson, a well-known poet, a leader in the Agrarian Group, and a Professor of English in Vanderbilt University.

Dr. Davidson read his own poetry, selections from "The Tall Men" and others, some unpublished, with rare charm. He interspersed his reading with appropriate comment and a bit of personal experience which gave his audience a glimpse into the real making of poetry. Dr. Davidson delighted his hearers not only with his sparkling poetry and inspirational reading, but also with his unusual personality.

Miss Margaret Lacy, president of the Club, gave a resume of the year's work in a very clever and original manner. She, Dr. Davidson, Miss Huff, chairman of the program committee, who in turn introduced Miss Buchanan. Miss Buchanan was introduced by Dr. Davidson for a long while, presented him to the audience.

The dinner, which was carefully planned by the Club, was prepared and served, was directed by Mrs. Lewis Johnson. The committee in charge of the affair

An Appreciation

An expression of gratitude and appreciation is due someone. The Freshman class could not do otherwise than to express its sincere appreciation of the glad welcome, the cordial friendship, and the genuine interest manifested in the Freshman class by the faculty and the higher students of A. P. N.

These kindly manifestations are very greatly required and they shall not go without their reward. The atmosphere of comradeship and cooperation with the Freshmen are felt in a way too fine to express in mere phrases.

You have made us Freshmen feel Austin Peay Normal, and our sole desire is to show that love by extending to you our pledge of loyalty and cooperation, and by so doing to make the A. P. N. the school of individual cooperation and friendliness we know it to be.

New Students And Morale

With the beginning of the special quarter comes a heavy influx of new students, at least one-third as many more as have been here during the regular quarters of the year. The campus is a changed place with the addition of the new scholars, and as we observe the metamorphosis we come to the conclusion that a very useful moral may be drawn from the phenomenon.

Contrasting the two groups we can easily see characteristic differences between them. The special quarter students are as a rule more mature, most of them are here at their own expense; many are teachers who have finished a regular year's work teaching. They are coming here at extra expense to work a few months more in an attempt to better their condition; and the majority of them are here to make the best possible use of the time and money invested in getting an education. Of course, many of the regular students are as serious, but on the average they are not the direct responsibility and initiative which put them here.

These newcomers are not only serious, but enthusiastic and interested in outside activities. From them many of the regular students could learn a little loyalty and cooperation. For example, observe the difference in chapel since the advent of this new group. The singing is improved one hundred per cent, and the attention is noticeably better.

The students who have been here all along, then, can learn a little more genuine and lasting interest in school from their new brothers and sisters. Can they learn anything in return? Perhaps the best return they can offer for this valuable example is an open-handed, cordial welcome to their new fellow-classmen, and a sincere effort to make them feel at home in their own environment.

Each group can help the other. Let's get together then and see the good results of a mutual understanding.

A Course in the Study of Human Beings

Boys and girls in high school and college often spend much of their time in social activities to the detriment of their studies, but few really study the young men in an attempt to know, feel, and understand why they act as they do. It is quite worthwhile to look at a point or two on some grade, if such loss is the result of time spent in finding out about human nature and interesting about human nature.

So few of us really understand even a small part of the thinking and feeling going on in either sex, that as our minds are never quite decide ourselves why we do and think certain things, how much less likely are we that we understand the internal mechanism of others. The man with wealth is intelligible to him who has the richest asset of psychological observation to his credit. The study of people is indeed the easiest and the most fascinating pursuit in which a student can engage. It is to be expected, therefore, that the people around you, its classroom wherever you happen to be, and it's hours any which suit you. There are no grades in this study, for the time and energy thus invested pay better dividends, over a longer period of time, than if expended in any other way.

Human nature study is easily the most absorbing and profitable of sciences. Only those who have known the inestimable pleasure of exploring the mind of another can appreciate the supreme satisfaction of one glimpse into the marvelous creation that is a human being.

You And Education

Has the eight-point program of the Tennessee Education Association commanded your attention? Does it have your wholehearted cooperation and support—your active faith working in its behalf?

If not, we should do well to consider again its meaning, its potential power, and its vital importance to us and to our state. You are the moulders of the lives and destiny of the rural Tennessee of tomorrow. The efficiency of the future citizenry depends on you. Unless you do your best in preparing yourself to carry on the education of the state, miserably; you wreak an awful injustice on an innocent people.

The eight-point program is the heart of the Tennessee education. In preparing teachers, it takes the first important step in raising their standards. It guarantees a needed eight-months elementary and a nine-months high school term for all students. It guarantees a salary schedule supported by the state, for this is the beginning of a living wage for Tennessee teachers. A program of study is insured, and the text book problem is answered.

Summarizing, the program is the lifting of education to a higher and greater level, the state-wide recognition of education's value and its consequent support, and realization of a high and inspired ideal.

An occasional, "Yes, it seems

I envied your wings their scarlet flash,
And the lifting freedom of your sweep,
Into the cloud-rimmed afterglow,

Of it's invisible flight with you.
Soon, there were just clouds, no more,
And the rain, the wind, and the trees swept low.
I feared lest the morning find

WEINER ROAST GIVEN BY CHRISTIAN PUPILS

On Friday evening, May 8, ten Church of Christ students at A. P. N. were guests of the Young Women's Bible Class at a weiner roast held at Richview camp. The class, student guests, and Elder L. Haven Miller, teacher and minister, composed the group which attended 40.
The party left at 6:30, and immediately upon arriving entered upon the program of softball playing, music, singing, roasting, camp-fire chats, and songs. Adjourning came at 10 with a resolution to repeat the outing next month.

THE "PAIR" TREE

Throughout the country all trees are in their fullest splendor. Such is the case with the very unique tree which thrives on the A. P. N. campus. Not unlike the cherry blossom trees, it takes on new life with the coming of the warm spring days, but, belonging, as it does, to the ever-bearing variety, it presents an interesting appearance in its various stages of flower and fruit, which might better be described by specific examples.

A TRUE ACCOUNT

Miss Huff (worrying about Freshman Hall): I am mentally exhausted.

Agnes: Why, Miss Huff! There is no such thing as mental fatigue. My brain never tires. Miss Huff: But if you'd use it, it would be.

It to be pretty good. I hope they put it over," is the least you can do, and that which you should not be ashamed to do. IT SHOULD BE A GOOD AND DOER. YOUR support, your hearty cooperation, and your ACTION! No, Luke-warm toleration is not in order now. "Work and Action" is the pass-word. That Tennessee youth may receive its rightful and God-given heritage, an adequate education under reasonable conditions with necessary equipment from a properly trained teacher is necessary. Education is a great and good thing is Marching On!

With your bright, wet wings, closed and still.

That old earth's trivial things
Could have made me envy your wings.

LITERARY CLUB ENDS GOOD SEASON

Unusual Program Given to Group at Last Meeting of the Year

The members of the Literary Club were entertained with a very interesting program at the last meeting of the club on Tuesday evening, May 25.

Marie Agnes Nicholson played several selections on her "home-made xylophone." This instrument consisted of glasses of water filled to various levels, which produced different notes when they were struck with a silver spoon. The everyone of the country to the accompaniment of music on the xylophone. Each person was asked to write one line, the paper was folded down over his line, and then pass it on to the next person, telling him the last word of his line. When the poem was finished, it was read by group. Miss Ida Hagewood gave a reading "The Highwayman."

The Literary Club owes its origin to Dr. Claxton, who has been any other club in school. Through his help the club was organized during the fall quarter with Miss Huff, Mr. Moffitt and Mr. Riobel as sponsors. The club officers are: Miss Louise Henley, president; Miss Julia Sanderson, vice-president; Miss Mary Katherine Sheppard, secretary and treasurer. The club has had a good year. Outstanding programs were the reading of Burns' poetry by Rev. George S. Thompson of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, the presentation of a scene from Hamlet by a group of club members, and a musical social given in the cafeteria.

Branches of the Literary Club are the Debating Club, sponsored by Mr. Moffitt, and the Dramatic Club sponsored by Mr. Riobel. The debating team has had a very successful season.

Methodist Students Study Discipline

Miss Martha Buchanan Speaks at Union Meetings

The M. S. U. of Austin Peay Normal School has been very fortunate recently in having Miss Martha Buchanan, head of the geography department and sponsor of the M. S. U. as speaker.

At the last two meetings of the union Miss Buchanan gave interesting lectures on the church discipline and the Christian life. Young students are going to be leaders in their home community, and it is well for them to know the meaning of church discipline. Different phases of the new hymnal were also discussed.

All Methodist students are cordially invited to be present at these meetings every Tuesday morning at 10:00 o'clock in the Missouri room.

Moffitt And Nicholson Speak At Schools

On Wednesday, April 29, Mr. V. C. Moffitt of the Education Department, Austin Peay Normal School, delivered an address at these meetings every Tuesday morning at 10:00 o'clock in the Missouri room. The dedication of the new school building in St. Bethlehem. The

BOYS' DORMITORY NEWS

Claude Little was in a state of melancholia last week-end. Guess why? We sympathize with you Little.

This column would like to inform Ward and Davis that there aren't any chair programs in the auditorium on Sunday afternoons.

Welcome to Calvin Hall, Glenn Bowen, and O'Kain, Bill and John, and George Gaston. Boys, if you need advice about anything call on Lawrence.

Pegram and Dorris are rather popular now. They have joined the Mystic Knights of the Jungle. We hope you enjoyed the trip to Guthrie. What was on at the show? Or excuse me, I forgot that you didn't get to go.

If anybody needs to have some dry cleaning done please see Joe Law.

Jackman was going good on the sideline at Florence. The girl was so attractive that after the game Jackson asked her to dance. We are afraid that Little is going to ruin his health by staying up so late and studying so hard. By now Mrs. Ward should have almost a room full of wooden spoons.

The rat census of Robb Hall was taken last week. Here is the result: 100 rats. This is an increase of 23 over last year's statistics. There are 219 pure breeds, 141 hybrids, and 1 mutation Scott. See Mr. Spafford for laws of inheritance.

Ask Clement if he liked the glass of water that the girl at Florence gave him for dinner.

TRAINING SCHOOL HAS FINE RECORD

The record of the New Providence Demonstration School this year is very fine. It proves how effective is the training of Austin Peay Normal in training teachers. A few of the distinctive features of the school are mentioned here.

J. C. Hunt, with an average of 97 plus per cent for his junior and senior years, has been selected valedictorian of Clarksville High School. He is a member of the first group to finish grammar school at the Demonstration School.

Four of the twenty honor students of Clarksville High, as well as four of the eighteen selected by the Board of Education, were also graduates of the training school.

Two of the three New Providence girls who sang at the fourth General Session of the State Teachers' Association were also from the Demonstration School. The same girls sang on the auction at Radio Station WSM in May.

New Providence children, under the direction of Mrs. Bell, gave a pageant as a salute to the gala county Health Day celebration. In the parade preceding the pageant the training school children first prize for the number of children led in the parade and for the best health exhibit.

Of the six highest eighth grade students in the county this year, five were from the Demonstration School.

New Providence students have been outstanding in every field of endeavor, both in grammar school and high school.

subject of Mr. Moffitt's address was "Youth and Education."

Mr. Moffitt is to be present at the graduating class at Southside, Thursday, April 30, 1936. His subject was "The Need of Education." On Thursday, May 7th, Mr. Nicholson, of the history department delivered the commencement address to the graduating class at Whitton High School, Whitton, Arkansas. The speaker's brother, L. P. Nicholson, is connected with the institution, and it was at his invitation that Mr. Nicholson spoke to the class.

Normalites Come Up From Behind To Win

Fambrugh Leads Locals in Rally Which Turns the Tide

The A. P. N. baseballers took a single game from Cumberland University of Lebanon, on Tuesday, May 12, by the score of 3-2. The locals were behind until the eighth inning, when a rally started by Fambrugh netted two runs to sew up the game.

After Ward and Adkins had made outs, Fambrugh singled to right field and Robertson doubled. Both men advanced on a wild pitch, and then O'Kain walked to right to score O'Kain. Crockett then made an out to end the inning. In the first half of the ninth, it looked bad for the home team, when Vickers, C. U. catcher, singled, but Crockett settled down and came out of the hole.

O'Kain, pinch-hitting and playing rightfield, led the Normal hitters with two doubles out of three trips to the plate.

Teachers Drop Two Close Contests

Crockett and Pegram Hold Rival Team to Low Score

The A. P. N. baseball team lost both ends of a doubleheader to the Alabama State Teachers in Florence, on Saturday, May 9, by the scores 3-2, 4-2.

In the first game Crockett, local pitcher, allowed only three hits, but the home team lacked the power at the plate to win. The Normal outfit played good baseball at all times. Ward, with two for three, led the A.P.N. hitters in the first game.

The Florence Teachers started the second game with a lead. They were going to run away with the rally, but Crockett halted the game and Pegram continued to pitch a good game in the relief role. "Donkey Brains" Adkins got two of the Normal's three hits in this game, Ward getting the other.

These were good fast games. While A.P.N. lost, the Florence boys were on edge all the way, and the Dam would break any moment. It looked bright for A.P.N. several times, but each time victory faded away.

SPORTS

By Mike Northington
Paul Crockett pitched good ball in both games against the Alabama Teachers, but the home team lacked power at the plate. He deserved to win.

"Little Willie" Pegram also gave a creditable account of him, led in the relief roll in the second game.

The A. P. N. outfit held as last came to life. At Florence they were roving all over the park to make brilliant catches. Ward and "Donkey Brains" Adkins, also, led the hitters.

It's natural at Wilson Dam to gather substance from the air. The outfielders gathered the horsehide.

The baseballers had their wish come true, when they defeated Cumberland 3-2. The home boys had been looking forward to this game since they were defeated at Lebanon in a very close game, 3-2. Grady O'Kain's two powerful doubles gave A. P. N. the winning runs. It's time to be able to decline at the proper moment.

"Zeke" Clement and "Barnyard" Puryear have been playing at the field in fine style. What's the use of errors anyway?

Frank Robertson has been caught with good ball games. "Old Dependable" Ward is still holding down leftfield.

Give part credit for the victory over Cumberland to Redding, who—got the visiting batters in a very nervous state of mind, with his constant stream of razing. That's part of the game.

Congratulations to Cooley for winning the Clarksville Interscholastic Tennis Championship, also to Harold Pitt for his brilliant win, when he upset R. G. Swift.

In the second game at Florence, Gupton played third, and Evans was shifted to second. This was done because Puryear, regular second baseman, wasn't feeling very well. But, if you could have seen the supper he ate!

Ask Nelson if he didn't make a certain wish when his car stopped in Guthrie on the way back from Florence. Also Ask Reding whose red coat he wore on the trip.

Jackson says his baseball suit is getting true. This is a sort of rough, isn't it, Jackson? Jackson knows how to take it.

Some of the boys pulled enough roofing off their spikes in Florence to have covered Robb Hall. As O'Kain says: "Well boys, let us into it." He did vs righters and lefters.

These girls are rushing around in a frantic effort to polish up their games enough to get to go to the Nashville tournament. Only five will be included in the squad, and it's going to be a close race for ranking. Good luck, lassies!

Harned Hall Jabber

The following comes straight from headquarters. In fact, each bit is gathered from a conversation.

"Did you hear that Dorris and Pegram were stood up? No! What has been the matter with Little and Con? Well, if Mary isn't talking to Ward again! And Dot does want to marry the Man in the Moon! Just three more weekends at A. P. N. Miss Brown's Mother's Day flowers were beautiful. Actually several roomers on the first and second floors! Some more doors to bang! Sure, Agnes always enjoys our parties. And only eighteen were in the party that Saturday night—

Yes, I think Floyd is a man's lady. Indeed McCurdy and Cleunden are quite busy nowadays, strolling what some time ago, wondering what Miss Trice is gonna do to Shaw and Gruff, for the sudden mysterious disappearance of her car the other night! And how do you think the Normal students looked on the screen? Burnett and Nell had such a good time that Friday night. I like to eat too. Cochran has had a pleasant weekend lately. Boy friends are always welcome. Ten o'clock! My hair and my lessons!"

Normal Boys Split Fast Doubleheader

David Lipscomb Nine Holds Teachers to One-Point Lead

The A.P.N. Baseball team divided a twin header with David Lipscomb College, of Nashville, Sat. May 16. The locals took the first game, behind the superb pitching of Paul Crockett, 4-1. O'Kain again came through with a double to produce the markers that sewed up the game. The entire team played heads-up ball, not an error being made by the locals.

In the second game, Pegram pitched winning ball, but lost. Due to the lack of support, 4-2. Logan, Lipscomb pitcher kept A.P.N.'s blows well scattered, except in the fourth, when Puryear tripled, scored Ward and O'Kain, for the Normals only runs.

In the two games Crockett and Pegram struck out fifteen men, with Pegram getting credit for one more whiff than Crockett.

O'Kain, Puryear, Ward, and Adkins led the hitters for A.P.N. during the afternoon, while Uann, Baskett and Loney supplied most of the punch for Lipscomb.

Pegram tried to win his own ball game by slapping out a nice single, but the punch wasn't there to score him.

Puryear's triple was a beauty right down the right field foul line. He certainly came through in the pinch.

Logan, pitcher for Lipscomb, would not pitch to O'Kain. He walked him once and hit him twice.

A little advertising brought out a much larger crowd, than has heretofore been attending the home games. Keep it up!!

Also more of you girls came out and yell for the boys. It helps them. A certain group of four or five girls tried to yell enough for the whole school Saturday, and it was certainly appreciated by the players.

A MUSICAL NOTE
In Caliente
About a Quarter to Nine
Dear Dinah:
Just a year ago tonight on Treasure Island, In a little gypsy tea room, I was dancing Cheek to Cheek with a Beautiful Lady in Blue and I Couldn't Believe My Eyes when I saw a lovely Lady in Red with a Rose In Her Hair. Instantly I was Lost, but Love Will Find a Way and finally I Met Her in Monterey. So now I'll See You Again, At a Little Church Affair, South of the Border.
