Record Enrollment At APSC

TV Course Now Offered

Dean F. G. Woodward has announced that for the first time in its history Austin Peay State College is sponsoring a televised course for college credit.

The course will be given during the fall, winter, and spring quarters and will be entitled "The Structure and Functions of the American Government."

The course will be televised over WSM from 6:30 to 7 a.m. Monday through Friday with a seminar meeting on Monday at 7:30 a.m. under the direction of Dr. Preston Hubbard, member of the Department of History and Political Science. The course will grant three hours credit each quarter. The registration fee will be $3, with textbooks to be bought by the students. No rental texts will be available for this course.

Units in the course will be grouped under such topics as: political power, its conditions, its uses, and its abuses; geopolitics and the American government; the people, democracy in America; government and the people; the American party system, its processes and machinery of American politics; toward a more responsible party system; constitutionalism and democracy.

Dr. Pryor Studies European Education

Dr. Harold S. Pryor, professor of education and director of teacher education at Austin Peay State College, participated in a study of public and higher education in various countries in Europe this summer.

Five countries included in the study were Denmark, Germany, Sweden, and Belgium. Dr. Pryor was one of approximately 40 American educators from various parts of this country to take part in the study.

The seminar study was sponsored by the Comparative Education Society and Phil Della Rappa, an honorary educational advisor in the State of Denmark. Dr. Pryor is the first to make a detailed

Improvements Are Made

Many additions and improvements have taken place on the Austin Peay State College campus in recent months.

Perhaps the most obvious addition is the construction work on a new south wing to the Clement Fine Arts Building. The new wing will house the Art Department.

The two-story brick structure, which will house about 130 students, is scheduled to be placed in use by September of next year, with construction starting by January 1.

The new dormitory, which will cost approximately $300,000, will be located on the football practice field, north of the cafeteria.

A private entrance has been provided on the east side of the porch.

New parking lots have been provided behind Robb Hall and the President's house to accommodate off-campus students and faculty.

The drive around the bowl in front of the girls' dormitories has been resurfaced, providing a smooth riding surface. A new side-walk circles the drive.

Dr. Pryor participated in the seminar, the studied school made programs in each of the countries.

Enrollment for the Fall Quarter at Austin Peay State College has apparently reached an all-time high, especially in regard to incoming freshmen. Since the official tabulation was not ready at this printing, the editor makes a conservative estimate of 600 freshmen with the realization that there might be a lot more or a very few less.

Including night students and Fort Campbell extension students, the Fall Quarter enrollment has reached its highest estimate at 2000. Last year's enrollment was somewhere around 1600.

Even with the expansion strides taken lately by Austin Peay State College, the dormitories are full. In Ellington Hall, many of the rooms must temporarily house three men. There are now four men's dorms (including Roake Hall) and two women's dorms in use, as well as five living areas for married couples and some of the faculty members.

The faculty has been expanded again this year to provide a greater variety of course periods. The new faculty members were honored Sunday, September 24 at the President's house by the College Women's Club. All faculty members were on hand last Thursday to greet freshmen and others.

The freshmen, as usual, have been undergoing their traditional initiation rites. The initiation began early last Thursday and was expected to be concluded tonight with the 7:30 dance in the gymnasium.

Other features of the initiation were a pep rally and the traditional scales dance through town last Friday, attendance at the UTMH game with Austin Peay State last Saturday night, a freshman talent show Monday night, and Kangaroo Court Tuesday night.

Statement of Policy

The All State is the student-published newspaper of Austin Peay State College.

It started publication in 1930 when this college was Austin Peay Normal School. There were five columns to the page, no pictures (but a few drawings), slanted headlines, only a few columns for sports, four pages, no April Fool issues . . .

The paper has changed much since that time. Pictures have taken their proper place of frequent use, headlines have been modernized, the paper has been made much more readable and attractive, sports has more emphasis.

This year's paper will be different from the 1960-61 issues. In order to make possible a more attractive publication, the paper has expanded to six columns and has pages which are a little larger than the "Patriot-Examiner" will be featured on the front.

The editor, with more than three years of professional newspaper experience and three years of work on The All State (one as editor), hopes to make this year's publication the best in its history.

In order for this goal to be achieved, news events of the college must be well reported. The paper has a staff of reporters, circulation and other workers, but there must be additional help. There are many clubs and other organizations on campus. In order for all these groups to be well reported, it would be necessary to have a much larger paper staff than would be practical. Therefore, all clubs and organizations which meet for any purpose are requested to appoint someone to write its news for this paper.

It should be pointed out, of course, that to editorializing is wanted and that all news will be used as the editor thinks best for the paper and the college. What the editor wants from the clubs is news; and there has always been much club news which the editor did not know until it was too late for publication.

News is needed while it is still news and not when it has become history. As soon as the club meets, the publicity person should write down what was talked about, what was planned, what was done, and turn it in to either The All State office, the paper box near the business manager's office, or the editor's distribution box.

Plans for future meetings should be turned in well ahead of time. News of something about to happen is, so far as clubs are concerned, usually of far more importance than something which has just happened. The editor plans a "Coming Events" column. If your club wishes to remind students of the meeting date, this can be a good extra incentive. After all, it is the students' affairs after your meetings if they don't know when it will be, etc.

Sometimes it may be necessary for a staff reporter to handle the story, if it's of great importance. In such a case, the editor must know about the story's existence well before publication date.

It takes about three weeks to publish The All State, which comes out every two weeks. In order to insure the story getting in, it should be turned in as soon as possible within that time period. If, at all possible, it should be in by Friday after the publication date of the previous issue. If it is a big story which has not yet taken place by then, it can be turned in later—but the editor should be told of the delay, so he can expect the story and make allowances. Previous years unexpected stories have been turned in just shortly before the publication date. Under such circumstances, it is almost impossible to get out a good issue.

The editor realizes that stories will happen which are unexpected by anyone, but such stories will be handled. They can be taken in stride, but everyday occurrences which can be handled just as easily in advance as late should not be allowed to assume the importance of great news.

In summary, please turn in club and other news as soon as possible. The news should be turned in no later than the day after it happened or the day after it was planned.

The same invitation is extended to faculty and administrative members. The editor wishes to leave no stone unturned. Yet the staff, no matter how thorough it might be, will always overlook something which should have been included. Faculty members and others are encouraged to drop a note in The All State box of any news which has just occurred or is expected as soon as it is known. The editor can then assign a staff reporter to the story.

This paper doesn't want to slight anyone, any department, or any club. Please help us include you.

Future publication dates for this year are as follows:

October 18	February 21
November 1	March 7
November 15	March 20
November 29	April 1
December 6	April 11
January 10	April 23
January 24	May 9
February 7	May 23

It may well be pointed out that the editor of any newspaper in the United States has not only the power but the responsibility to edit any and all copy so that it will conform to the paper's policy of objectivity, etc. Editing refers to changing, adding to or taking away from the original copy.

Suggestions concerning improvement of the paper are always welcomed from anyone.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"I WOULDN'T REPEAT LAST NITE'S PERFORMANCE AT THE DOO, NORTHALL—MY HOUSE NUMBER IS WATCHING YOU."

From the President:

I am addressing this message to all who have registered as students in the Austin Peay State College for this Fall Quarter, 1961.

This promises to be the largest student body to have registered thus far in APSC. From all indications the freshman class has greater promise and potential than any of the past. We are happy to have you in Austin Peay State College. It is our aim to do all possible to make your time spent in this institution a most profitable period. You must not from the very beginning neglect to make good use of your time.

"Time," said Thoreau, "is but the stream I go fishing in. I drink of it; but while I drink I see the sandy bottom and detect how shallow it is. Its thin current slides away, but eternity remains. I would drink deeper, fish in the sky, whose bottom is pebbly with stars. Above all else we must all who are students here have the courage and determination to "fish in the sky."

A character in George Ells's Middlarnach has this comment: "Breaker is a very good fellow, but polyp; he will run into any mould, but he won't keep shape." Don't want to be polyp. You must fit yourselves into the proper mould. You have a choice "Fish in the sky" or be "polyp."

Be yourself. Too many seek the approval of the crowd and lose their own true identity. Have the courage to stand for the right. Your years of college attendance can lead to a successful life or it wasted, will lead to failure and disappointment. You are created a free agent. It's yours to choose.

Millions have been spent here and much more will be provided that you can give the best guidance and instruction. Help us keep Austin Peay a clean growing College. Our motto is "Grow with Austin Peay State College." If you don't grow in stature, wisdom, and understanding, you are letting our motto down. I welcome you. Let us work together for the best of all.

HALBERT HARVILL
President

From Student Council:

Fellow Students:

Each Fall it is the privilege of the Student Council President to welcome back to campus all the old students and to extend the school's greetings to the new ones. I would like to take this opportunity to express my wishes for a successful school year to the entire Student Body.

This year your Student Council plans to include more activities in its present social structure, including intramural bowling competition and the showing of top-notch movies on campus, in addition to the regular social program. For these projects and others to meet with success, your enthusiastic support and participation are necessary.

Because this is your Student Council and you should be interested in its workings, the Council will, by way of help to the students, keep the Student Body informed of the Student Council's plans and actions. Also, regular office hours will be instituted for the Student Council office this year and a distribution box will be designated for those wishing to address comments to the Council. These innovations are in an effort to maintain more effective contact between the students and their governing body.

I sincerely hope that each of you will plan to do your part in making this a banner year in Student Council operations and if any student feels that he has something to offer, the office of the Student Council is always open to suggestion. We encourage your comments and solicit your support.

I look forward to working with all of you in the coming school year.

Respectfully,
RAY STONE
Student Council President

The Old Timer

"Looks like some wizen have to learn to take some things for granted."

BY NANCY ENGLISH

Well, it took some doing, but here we are again, back at the grind. (Most of us, anyway.) APSC also has some 800 wide-eyed freshmen on the plus side of its ledger. I would say "Welcome! but I know you're all tired of hearing it. If you've gone through registration and are still around to tell it, you don't need my welcome, friends; you've full-fledged members of the club. Glad to have you.

The old guard may be the same, but the campus sure isn't. New buildings, new offices, new parking lots and no holes in the road, yet. I only hope we haven't buried somebody's poor unassuming Volkswagen or fancy Schwinn bicycle.

I have any spare CARER packages lying around your room, bring 'em by the Student Council office.

It seems that the freshman girls got cuter every year. The seniors are consoling themselves with the thought that they're more sophisticated. Sophisticated - that is when you can afford to wear broad-beaked shoes for practice teaching and make everybody think it's chic. It's not chic; it's bunions.

Overheard in the Student Center:

1st girl: What's Ray's last name?

2nd girl: Ray who?

1st girl: Oh, you know, Ray Stone.

2nd girl: Oh, him. I don't know. Isn't his telephone number 7-11?

Speaking of Peanut Jackson, he has gone out into the crust world, armed with sunglasses, sheepskin, and a six-pack of milk for his elbows. He'll go far. (In case you didn't know, Peanut wrote the "According To Gordon" column in this spot last year.

Nobody, but nobody could possibly have a roommate like mine. He'd join in life to own a genuine, pure plastic cotton-ball powder. Give this little girl a break, folks. Contribute to the fund.

Nancy Williams: "Football field? What football field?"

Have you ever walked alone across the campus at about 4:30 when the shadows are lengthening and you can hear the bad practicing down on the diamond? If not, give it a try. I'll sure make you feel like Betty Coed, or Joe College, as the case may be.

Years from now, we'll look back and say, "Ah, my kingdom for one mouthful of liver and onions like Ma Cayce used to make." Well, that's a timely topic.

Let me do my Girl Scout deed for the quarter by advising you people in general biology. If you would like to waste a little time at the beginning of a class period, ask your instructor to explain radioactive fallout and the mutation of genes. It's a timely topic.

"Remember well and bear in mind, A regular Coke is hard to find."

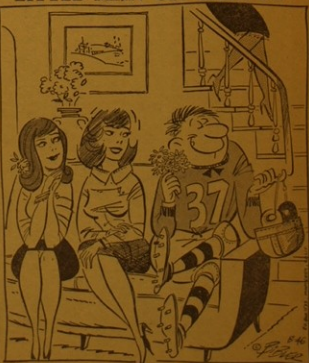

And not only that - "It's what you know after you know it all that counts."

And on that little maxim, I'll take up by typewriter and silently steal away.

Behold, now is the acceptable time. —(II Cor. 6:2)

Begin today, right where you are, to practice God's presence. Begin today to prove His perfect laws and promises, for now is the acceptable time to claim God's joy and peace.

The freshmen also were subjected to various initiation rules throughout the day, designed by the Student Council to draw the freshmen closer together and to help them feel more a part of the college life.

During two days of orientation week, the freshmen took a number of tests to determine their proper placement in classes. The freshmen met, during that time, the Student Council officers (President Ray Stone, Vice-President Leon Stribling and Secretary-Treasurer Nancy English). They also met the college president, Halbert Harvill; the dean of students, Tom Savage; and Dean M. P. Bowman. They met the business manager, R. C. Shaeton, on registration day as they paid their fees.

Only a small change was made in fees this year. The change was $3 more per quarter for room rent; the charge is now $50 for the three-month quarter.

Award Goes To Miss Wagner

Sharon Kay Wagner, 1961 graduate of Hopkinsville High School, has been awarded the President's Scholarship and an academic work scholarship to Austin Peay State College for this academic year.

The President's Scholarship is awarded on the basis of scholarship, leadership and citizenship; the academic work scholarship is based on her academic standing in her graduating class. Combined, the value of both scholarships is approximately $500.

Sharon served as president of the Latin Club at Hopkinsville High, received the Scholastic Award and Letter, was an officer and accompanist in the Glee Club, was selected to the All State Chorus in 1959, and was a member of both The Tiger and The Orange and Black.

Read and Tell

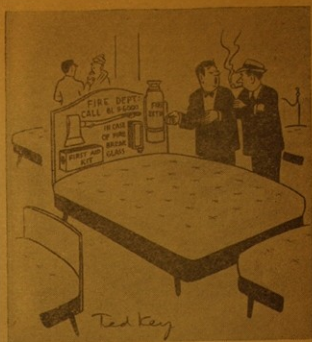

A special 64-page supplement, "The College Scene," appears in the October issue of Harper's Magazine.

Titles of the articles in the supplement are: "The Next Thirty Years in the Colleges," "Sex: The Problem Colleges Evade," "The Young Negro Rebels," "Eager Swarthmore."

Also, "The Wasted Classroom," "The Examination," "The Mirage of College Politics," "Notes on Polish Student Life," "The New Campus Magazines," "God in the Colleges," and "What They'll Die for in Houston."

"In this supplement," say the magazine editors, "scholars, teachers, and critics try to probe beneath the surface of an ailing college system which seems afraid to face itself. What kind of education are our young people actually getting? How well does it prepare them to cope with a world in upheaval, or to become mature and responsible adults? How do they feel about religion, sex, politics, their own future? What changes seem desirable, or unavoidable, in the college life of the coming generations?"

"Some of the answers offered by our contributors are hopeful, some alarming, many unexpected. In a few areas, student politics for example, they differ sharply. In no case do they pretend to have the final answer, nor do they try to cover all the controversial issues in American higher education. Why they do attempt it is to begin an exploration, at least, of some urgent questions which have been too long evaded."

Career Cues

"Cure for job boredom: I made my favorite pastime my career!"

Richard Bertram, President Bertram Yacht Co., Division of Nautek Corp.

"When you stop to think what percent of our total waking hours is spent bread-winning, you realize how tragic it is for any man to work at an occupation he doesn't enjoy. Besides frittering away life, it reduces chance of success to just about zero. I know... because it almost happened to me!

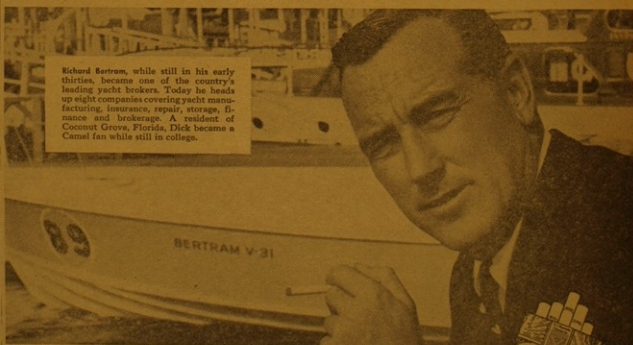

After college, I did what I thought was expected of me and joined a solid, Manhattan-based insurance firm. I soon found office routine wasn't for me. I lived only for lunch hour when I could walk to the Battery and mentally sail with the ships that stood out in the Narrows... and for the summer weekends when I could go sailing. Fortunately, the company I worked for is one of the leading insurers of yachts and after two years I was transferred to their Yacht Underwriting Department. Enjoyment and interest in my work improved immediately 100%.

After World War II, I started my own yacht brokerage firm and yacht insurance agency in Miami, combining my marine insurance background with an even closer relationship with boats.

My only problem ever since has been a feeling of guilt that my work was too easy. I love boats and boating people. That affection has paid me rewards way beyond the financial security it has also provided.

The morals obvious. You have an odds-on chance for success and happiness working at what you enjoy most — what comes naturally! And if it's not just frivolous, your life's work could well be what you now consider just a pastime. It's certainly worth thinking about, anyway!"

Richard Bertram, while still in his early thirties, became one of the country's leading yacht brokers. Today he heads up eight companies covering yacht manufacturing, insurance, repair, storage, finance and brokerage. A resident of Coconut Grove, Florida, Dick became a Camel fan while still in college.

Miss Richards Gets Claxton Award

Vickie Dale Richards, graduate of Jo Byrns High School, has been awarded the Claxton Scholarship for Elementary Teachers at APSC.

The scholarship is awarded by the college Alumni Association as a tribute to Dr. P. P. Claxton, crusader for elementary teachers. It is subject to renewal each year for four years.

Miss Richards, the second student to receive the scholarship, is from Cedar Hill. At Jo Byrns High School she served as vice-president of her sophomore class, president of her junior class, reporter of her senior class, secretary of the Beta Club and received the Scholastic Award last year.

She was elected football queen, basketball team, and she served as assistant editor and editor of the school annual.

BSU Plans Activities

The Baptist Student Union is an organization of Baptist young people on campus.

Baptist activities are many and varied from vendors to socials. The vendors are held every Monday and Thursday nights at 6:15 to 6:30 in the Choral Room with a big meeting the first Monday of every month.

The officers for this year are President Betty Ratcliff, Vice-President David Mason, Co-Enrollment Chairman, Freddie Whitson and Carol Ann Tate, Devotional Chairman Paul Dickens, Secretary Linda Terrell, Missions Chairman, Fran Hancock, Co-Social Chairman Barbara Lonhurst and Steve Deaver, Publicity Chairman Nancy Burney, Music Chairman Byron Ball, Sunday School and Training Union Chairman Carole McGee, Newsletter Editor Mary Ann Downing, Two Student Representative Buddy Solomon.

The BSU has begun an active year by having a pre-school retreat at Clarksville Lake. The BSU and MSM together had a luncheon stand during registration. The five Baptist churches of Clarksville are giving the Baptist students a progressive supper on Thursday night, October 5. The theme is "Around the World with BSU" and the countries being represented are a South Sea island, France, Italy, Japan and America. There will be cars leaving from in front of the cafeteria at 4:30. Everyone is invited to attend.

The other big item on the agenda is the annual Clarksville Round-up October 12 at the college farm. The dress will be western and a prize will be given for the best-dressed cowboy and cowgirl. For plenty of hamburgers and fun for all, don western duds and join the roundup.

"There's a sweet child. No cars. Just bounce the ball. How does it go? ... Ah! 'One-Two-Three O'Leary' ... 'I don't miss, little one ... and I leave the ball into the street ... where a car might ... 'Please, don't miss!'"

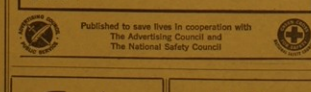

Drivers kill and cripple more children than any disease!

Vicious traffic polls ... statistics fight parents. But what have we got to fight the worst child destroyers (the traffic cops)? Only a determination to stop careless drivers! So write your local enforcement officials and tell them:

"I Support Strict Law Enforcement!"

When your officials know you back them, they'll be able to fight dangerous driving like the vicious disease it is. The records show it! Where traffic laws are strictly enforced and obeyed deaths go down!

BSU Headquarters Moved

The Cumberland Association of Baptist Churches and the Executive Board of the Tennessee Baptist Convention have purchased some property at 311 Home Avenue as the site for a Baptist Student Center for Austin Peay State College students. The future center will be built facing the college campus.

Recently the BSU headquarters were moved from the Religious Activities Office in Robt Hall to the house on this property, which is directly across from the Austin Peay Nursery School on Orange Street. The BSU Office is located in the front part of this house and will be open from 9:30 every Monday through Friday.

More than 430 Baptist students are enrolled at Austin Peay State this fall.

Alumni Award To Miss Dotson

Linda Marie Dotson, graduate of Woodlawn High School, has been awarded the APSC Alumni Scholarship for the 1961-62 year.

The scholarship is subject to renewal each year for four academic terms.

The Clarksville girl ranked second academically in her graduating class, was named "Miss Woodlawn High School" and was president of the Future Homemakers of America at WHS.

She has also held numerous class offices, was captain of the cheerleaders and was named the most outstanding student in biology.

Faculty Tea Held

The Austin Peay State College Women's Club held its annual tea honoring the new members of the faculty on Sunday, September 24.

The hosts of President and Mrs. Robert Harvill was the scene of this social event.

Guests were met at the door and given name tags by Mrs. Mary Young and Mrs. Pat Schmidt. They then went through a receiving line headed by President and Mrs. Harvill and followed the following new faculty members: Mr. Will Rebentisch, Mrs. Jewell Young, Dr. James H. Sims, Mr. William Grasty, Dr. Terry Epperson, Mr. Ben Shae, Miss Sara Todd, Miss Mildred Deason, Mr. Rayburn Osborne. The club also welcomed the return of these faculty members: Dr. Glenn Gentry, Mr. George Brotherton, Dr. John Rawls, and Mr. Joe Saffin.

Refreshments were served by the officers of the club, Mrs. Carol Conlides, Mrs. Jo Ann Hackman, Mrs. Myrd Fisher, and Mrs. Elene Burney. The floral arrangements were done by Mrs. Margaret Ribb.

The next meeting will be a pot-luck supper held on the evening of October 6.

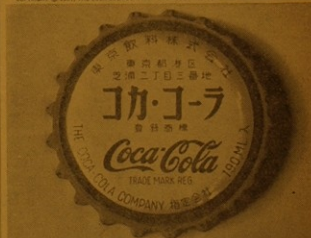

The secretaries looked over the new bachelor out of bridal curiosity.

GOVERNORS — 1961 EDITION

The 1961 Governors are led by Captain Bud Coley, a guard, and Cliff Sims, an end.

Both are veterans of college football and will provide excellent leadership in the Gobs' quest for a highly successful season. This year's team sports five seniors, 16 juniors, eight sophomores, and 22 eager freshmen. The seniors playing their last year of college football are Cliff Sims, Bud Coley, Houston Mills, Ron McKinney and Ray Stone.

Possibly a successful season could depend on the passing of Cobb Parker and Richard Moore. With a team that doesn't have any "giants" in uniform, the Gobs will be going to the air quite a bit. Parker and Moore have as their favorite target junior end Rupert Baker. Blessed with fine hands and fine ability to get into the open, Baker could catch a lot of passes this fall.

Two transfers have cracked the starting line-up this year. They are Grady Andrews from Holmes Junior College and Tommy Donnelly from the University of Tennessee. Donnelly, a fullback, will team in the backfield with Parker, McKinney and Ronnie Dollar. With George Fisher again coaching the ends, Leon Garrett working with the line, and head coach Art Van Toney with the backfield, this year's edition of the Governors could be one of the better teams fielded in several years.

APSC Whips C-N

STONE — Outstanding Blocker in C-N Game.

After spotting Carson-Newman seven points the first half, the Austin Peay State Governors came back with an exciting fourth period 10-point spur.

The first two periods of play were strictly a defensive struggle until the Eagles put the rush on an attempted punt. Kicker Cobb Parker was unable to get the kick away and had to leave the ball on downs. Then the Eagles took the ball into touchdown land in just a few plays. The rest of the first half was scoreless.

After intermission the complexity of the game changed. Instead of playing strictly defense, the Gobs' offense began to move. With Cobb Parker and Richard Moore directing the team, the yard markers began to move for the Gobs. Alternating between passes to Rupert Baker and off tackle smashers by Ralph Grant, the goal line drew closer as time began to run out. Probably the key play of the drive was when Moore rolled out around left end and bowled over a tackle to advance inside the 10-yard line. After giving his running backs several tries, Moore went in for the touchdown from the two-yard line. Ralph Grant

Gobs Drop Opener To MTSC 40-7

The Austin Peay State Governors dropped their opening game of the season to a scrappy band of Middle Tennessee Raiders.

The Gobs, with a team capable of a fine offensive punch and a sturdy line of defense, made a series of costly mistakes which led to Raider rallies. The first quarter was fought on very even terms. Austin Peay State received the opening kickoff and marched to a first down on the very first series of plays. But they had to give the ball up after the game up with a perfect conversion attempt.

Now fired up with victory in sight, AP's defense stopped Carson-Newman cold. With just minutes remaining, the drive was started that was to bring victory. Again, it was Moore directing the attack that brought the goal line near. With just 28 seconds remaining on the clock, Grant backed the field goal that proved to be the deciding margin.

The second half comeback proved that the APSC football team was not the 41-yard line of MTSC.

The Raiders took the ball and advanced downfield to the one-yard line. There the Gobs showed that they have what it takes to be a fine team. With a first down and goal to go, the Middle Tennessee couldn't crack the end zone and fumbled the ball as a result of some very hard hitting by the defense.

But then a series of mistakes harassed the Governors. Middle has what it takes to win the tough ones. From here it appears that the Gobs are in for a winning season.

The Old Timer

"You're young only once. After that, you need some other excuse."

Tennessee took advantage of the errors and punched across the TD that wrapped up the game for them.

However APSC was not without outstanding players. Cliff Sims played a fine game on defense. Also to be praised were Tommy Donnelly who led the team in tackles, Captain Bud Coley who was in the middle of things all night, tackles Howard Sutter, Grady Andrews and Ken Newman.

Another bright spot in the Gobs picture was the fine defensive play of freshmen Carlton Platt and Ken Goad. Both men played well at their halfback post.

With the mistakes ironed out now, the team is ready to go out and make its presence known each Saturday night. Students are urged to go out and support the 1961 football team at Austin Peay State.

Cred: If you try to kiss me I'll scream.

Cred: Well, let's find a quieter spot.

The University of Tennessee Martin Branch, pre-season choice to successfully defend their Volunteer State Athletic Conference football crown, rolled over Art Van Toney's Governors 14-7 here Saturday night before 4000 fans.

Using sheer power and devastating speed, the Gobs darkened any hopes that the Gobs might have had about bringing the VASC title to Clarksville. Only if Carson-Newman could upset the Vols on Nov. 4 would APSC share in the title and then it would be a three-way tie in the abbreviated football conference.

UTMB marched 62 yards early in the second quarter to take a 7-0 lead. Fullback Darrell Smith, a 190-pound junior, did most of the damage running up the middle and went the final yard for the touchdown. Halfback Bob Zachary booted the conversion.

The Gobs came back to knot the count with 3:11 left in the first half. The tally came on a 53-yard pass from quarterback Richard Moore to sophomore halfback Ralph Grant. Grant booted the extra, his thirteenth straight over a two-year span.

The Vols took the second half kickoff and drove 56 yards for the deciding TD. After three carries by Smith had taken the ball to the APSC 42, speedy halfback Wilbur Edmiston outran the Governor defenders for the score.

Zachary again converted.

Smith was the leading ground gainer for the Vols with 107 yards in 27 carries. Tommy Donnelly was tops for the Gobs with 61 in 10 attempts.

Richard Moore, crafty junior field general, completed only two passes during the contest, but of course one was the TD pass to Grant. During his three-year career at APSC, Moore has thrown nine TD passes and needs only two more scoring aerials to tie the APSC career mark now held by Edgar Settlers (1946-47). On the other hand, the Vols intercepted two of Moore's passes, bringing his season's total to six. As a fresh Moore had one intercepted, seven last year, and this year's six totals to 14. Although Moore probably would not like to see his name in the record book in the "passes had intercepted" category, only four more interceptions by career defenders would equal the mark now held by John Martin (1952-54).

New Disciplinary System On Way

Booulder, Colo. — (I.P.) — The automatic penalty system on the campus of the University of Colorado has been set aside by the Associated Women Students Senate.

According to a spokesman for the AWS, the suspension of the automatic penalties paves the way for the initiation of the disciplinary system proposed by the University Regents.

The new system, declares Mrs. Leona Munson, assistant dean of women, is designed to "help the students mature sufficiently to accept and comply with the regulations necessary for safety and group living, rather than to punish."

Under this system, each woman's living area will have its own residence hearing committee made up of members from its own group. These committees will be formed first in the freshman dorms but will be expanded to include sorority and rooming houses.

The proposal gives the residence hearing committees the authority to issue a newly-created "university warning" as its highest penalty. Such warnings will be kept on the student's record in the dean of women's office, but will not go on the student's permanent record.

A student is allowed for such warnings during her undergraduate years. Three warnings subject a girl to probation and four warnings mean suspension from school. Other penalties such as rooming, removal of privileges, and other punishments deemed appropriate by the committee may be issued. The residence hearing committee will have jurisdiction over the following types of infractions:

Late minutes up to one hour.
Sign-in and sign-out infractions.
Illegal entry or exit or aiding and abetting the same.

House rules.
Failure to comply with previous punishments.

Other kinds of infractions will be reported to the dean of women's office which has the authority to direct them to the AWS Hearing Committee, the Student Discipline Committee or the University Discipline Committee.

Orientation Program Changed

Monmouth, Ill. — (I.P.) — Significant changes in the program of orientation for new students at Monmouth College were not introduced this year under the provisions of a new orientation program accepted by the faculty.

Among major changes of the new program was the establishment of a group of faculty orientation preceptors who work directly with new students in discussion sessions during the first days of the college year.

Under the faculty leadership, the discussion groups consider a variety of topics related to the start of college work. Among the topics slated for consideration are preliminary exploration of career goals, introduction to the aims and purposes of liberal education, acquaintance with Monmouth's academic program and purpose, and problems of transition from high school to college.

The new program also calls for new students to arrive on campus several days prior to the regular start of classes. In order for them to concentrate on orientation matters before regular activities begin, student leaders might be used to assist the faculty in some portions of the program.

Another phase of the program was the elimination of fraternity and sorority rushing programs be rescheduled on a deferred basis so that both the orientation and the rushing programs could proceed without interruptions from each other.

Along with these and other new changes, the orientation program retained many portions of the previous routine, including pre-registration of new students during the summer, selection by students of permanent faculty consultants at the completion of the orientation period, and the testing program conducted during the first week of college.

The orientation program was to be administered by a six-member faculty committee composed of representatives of each of the divisions of humanities, natural sciences, and social sciences, the deans of men and women and the dean of the college as ex-officio members.

Installment Payments Possible

Detroit, Mich. — (I.P.) — Earlier registration procedures and a new fee schedule offering a more liberal installment payment plan of student fees go into effect this autumn at Wayne State University.

The new program calls for student registration for the second semester beginning in November and for the fall semester beginning early in May.

The previous fee schedule with a variable fee per credit hour, depending upon the number of credit hours elected, will be replaced with a more simple system. A flat registration fee of $20 will be charged in addition to a flat fee of $10 per credit hour, not to exceed $120, for undergraduates and $12 per credit hour, not to exceed $144 for graduates. The non-residence fee will be $12.50 per credit hour, not to exceed $150, plus the $20 registration fee.

Registration will close about one month before the start of classes each semester but a special re-registration period of approximately five days will be established immediately preceding the opening of each semester. However, all students except entering freshmen registering at the time will be charged an additional fee of five dollars.

The new procedures will aid in providing better planning of faculty assignment in relation to the instructional load, in utilizing a

Enrollment Balanced

Omaha, Neb. — (I.P.) — "Morning students" and "afternoon students" are now definitive terms at the University of Omaha, just as "day students" and "night students" are separate bodies.

Beginning this fall, class scheduling was aimed at balancing the enrollment over the entire day. President Milo Ball announced, "We have no choice," he said.

A space problem? "Far from it," Dr. Ball emphasized. "Walk down one of our halls at 3 p.m. any day during a regular term. You could shoot a rifle from one end to the other with no danger of hitting a student - or a faculty member for that matter." Facilities, though appearing over-crowded during the morning are "conspicuously empty" for most of the afternoon, Dr. Ball added.

The only answer is more complete utilization of classrooms, he said. Scheduling the larger, basic courses as late as 4:30 would help take the increases in enrollment in stride for "several years to come," Dr. Ball noted. In answering the most obvious objection, he predicted student reaction would be "far better than you may first believe."

The College of Adult Education is also gearing for a revamped schedule with earlier and more frequent classes on tap for the night students. In following a pattern widely accepted in the East, Dr. Ball proposed a starting time of 5:30 p.m., providing a right-after-work arrangement.

"I don't especially agree with this three hours in one night set-up," he said. "Breaking them down to two 75-minute sessions seems far more beneficial." Dr. Ball said the change would be introduced this fall "on strictly an experimental basis."
