

103 top students recognized at annual awards assembly

One hundred and three APSU students were individually recognized at the annual Awards Day Program held this morning in Memorial Gymnasium.

The outstanding students were, in the order they were presented:

William Pearce Titus, III, Clarksville, Clarksville Civitan Club Award for graduating senior man distinguished for citizenship; Mary Catherine Cooper, Columbia, Halbert Harvill Award for graduating senior woman distinguished for citizenship.

Larry Neil Kears, Clarksville, Clarksville Kiwanis Club Award for graduating senior with the highest scholastic average in the major field of mathematics; Wayne Howard Pace, Clarksville, Wall Street Journal Award for graduating senior with the highest achievement in the major field of business administration.

Jedidiah Coleman Durke, Clarksville, National Business Education Association Award for graduating senior with the highest achievement in the major field of business education; Wayne Howard Pace, Clarksville, Alpha Kappa Psi Award for graduating senior with the highest scholastic average in Alpha Kappa Psi.

Frances Lewis Richardson, Woodawn, American Home Economics Association Award for graduating senior with the highest scholastic average in the major field of home economics; Rachel Dianne Segal, Clarksville, Home Economics Club Award for outstanding leadership in the major field of home economics.

Baile Heiser Coleman, Pembroke, Ky., Alpha Mu Gamma Award, scholarship awarded to the most deserving student majoring in a foreign language; Harold George Pitt, Ashland City, Industrial Arts Club Award for graduating senior with the highest achievement in the major field of industrial arts.

Ronnie Neal Rice, Clarksville, The George M. Rawlins Chemistry Award for graduating senior with the highest achievement in the field of chemistry; Mary Julia Magee, Clarksville, Eta Phi Chapter, Beta, Beta, Beta Club Award for freshman major in Biology with the highest scholastic average.

Wendell Ray Hudson, Dickson, Tennessee Historical Society Award for graduating senior with the highest scholastic average in the major field of history; Saile Helen Coleman, Pembroke, Ky., Theta Delta Chapter, Phi Alpha Theta Award for graduating senior with major in history who has been outstanding in promoting the welfare of the chapter.

C. Sharon Swearingin, Springfield, Eta Rho Chapter, Kappa Delta Pi Award for graduating senior with outstanding achievement in teacher education; Judith

ASB PRESIDENT—In a before-election speech newly-elected ASB President Butch McGee outlines his platform. McGee received the majority of the approximately 1,200 votes cast in the third balloting Monday.

In run-off

McGee wins election

by TERRY MAYER

The old sage about the third time being the "charm" proved true for three of the four newly elected ASB officers Monday.

Butch McGee, president; Hugh Dornmy, vice president; and Gary Scott, chief justice, were elected on a third balloting by APSU students.

Anita Tune was elected ASB secretary on the second balloting last week.

The campaigning, which was, as one student put it "Not really as spectacular as in previous years," reached the tension point Monday as the six remaining candidates made final pleas for student votes.

Scott is the only ASB officer who ran as an independent candidate. McGee and Tune were running mates on the Impact Party ticket while Dornmy is the sole survivor of the Student Action Party ticket.

Approximately 1,200 students voted in each of the three ballottings.

According to a report from members of the election committee, "The unusually large turnout may be explained by having the resident students vote at their dormitory. We felt the student needed more convenient voting procedures."

Deadline nearing in SQ registration

M. P. Bowman, dean of admissions, reminds all currently enrolled students who plan to re-enroll for the summer of 1968 that they are urged to go by the old library between 12:15 a.m. and 1:15 p.m., null duplicate copies of printed readmission for the summer of 1968 IBM cards from the files, and submit both cards to the clerk at the desk.

Unless this is done immediately, students will be required to register at the end of the line at summer registration on June 6.

With votes counted and ballot boxes stored until next spring, one student was overheard disclaiming "I won't believe it's all over until I see at least one elephant on campus."

Other vacancies filled last week by student votes include these class officers:

SENIOR — Ray Radford, president; Pam Woolen vice president; Martha Penick, secretary; Carolyn McMahan, treasurer.

Come one, come all! See the pretty girls and the bronc busters. Get out your best hat, round up your favorite filly and come on out to the rodeo.

APSU's first rodeo and first rodeo queen will be presented this Friday at 8 p.m. and Saturday at 1 p.m. at the old fairgrounds. A parade will wind through downtown Clarksville at 11 a.m. Saturday.

Reigning over the Friday night and Saturday afternoon rodeo will be the queen Sandra Stephenson. Her attendants will be Devera Smith, Marla Reese and Catherine Della-Giustina, "1968 Miss Hatt and Cane."

"Shorty" as Sandra is known, is a senior majoring in art at APSU and is a native of Jackson, Tenn. She also models for some of APSU's art classes, is very interested in horses and is a member of the Austin Peay State Rodeo Club.

Tickets for the rodeo are now on sale and will also be sold at the gate. A couple may purchase tickets for $2.50 before the rodeo, and children under six may get in free.

Students will be coming as Classes will be dismissed tomorrow for the second half of a two-day campus-wide dedication which will begin this evening with a buffet dinner in the Governors Room of the University Center.

The two days are being set aside for the purpose of recognizing the growth and progress of Austin Peay State, Buildings totaling $5,667,000 will be dedicated in tomorrow's ceremony.

Students groups which have volunteered their services will act as guides for the various dignitaries, parents and visitors who have been invited to attend the dedications.

President Joe Morgan will deliver the principal address at the buffet for dignitaries this evening. The guest list includes members of Congress, members of the Tennessee General Assembly, educators from throughout the state, mayors county judges and leaders in the fields of industry, banking, and military and civic affairs.

The principal speakers for tomorrow's dedicatory services at 10 a.m. in the gymnasium is Gov. Buford Ellington.

Buildings to be dedicated are those which have been completed in the last five years. These include:

- Eight apartment buildings for married students in the Emerald Hills area. These apartments accommodate 64 couples; cost of the project was nearly $800,000.

- Rawlins Hall, built in 1964, houses 100 male students. The modern structure cost $417,000.
- Cross Hall, finished during the fall of 1967 at a cost of

Queen, court to reign over rodeo festivities

Participants in the rodeo from the University of Illinois, University of Wyoming, Bethel College, Middle Tennessee, University of Tennessee, and Austin Peay State and other schools.

As an additional feature of the rodeo, an APSU cowboy will bulldoze a steer from a motorcycle. J.A. (Shep) Sheppard will be the featured rodeo clown.

The APSU Rodeo Club anticipates that if this first rodeo for Austin Peay State is a success, there will be many more successful and entertaining ones to come.

RODEO CLOWN — The job of being a rodeo clown is a hazardous one, as J.A. (Shep) Sheppard demonstrates. Sheppard will be a featured performer at this weekend's intercollegiate rodeo, and cowboys will come here from as far away as Wyoming for the competition.

THE TENNESSEE TECH ORACLE, Tennessee Technological University, Cookeville, Tenn.—Pi Omega sorority last quarter became the sponsor of an American Indian child in Oklahoma.

The group assumed the sponsorship of 11-year-old Mahalia Buckley through the Christian Children's Fund, Inc.

The cost of supporting such a child is $12 a month. The money is spent for food, clothing, shelter, medical care and education. Material or monetary gifts may be sent to the "adopted" child also.

Correspondence between Mahalia and the Pi Omegas is maintained by a different sorority member writing to her each week.

THE TECHNICIAN, North Carolina State University, Raleigh, N. C.—Someone won, someone came in second, quite a few finished—but no one really cared one way or the other. The third annual Neuse River Derby wasn't a race but it was an absolute gas.

The whole idea was to traverse a section of the Neuse River from the "falls" to just past a certain Poole Road in anything and everything that would float.

There were seagoing Volkswagens, USS Monitors, floating beds, canvas canoes, jard barrels and anything else that was never meant to go to sea.

It was, part of the time at least, a struggle for survival. Life jackets, required this year, were put to good use. Boats dissolved into nothing.

Letters to the editor

Is USA 'home of the brave'?

To the Editor:

The national anthem of our nation asks a question which is a question for our time more than for any other: "Does that Star Spangled Banner yet wave over the land of the free and the home of the brave?" Does it?

Why were we called the land of the free? We were free to speak our minds and we had the education to the free to do it. Do we have this freedom today? I don't think today we have this freedom because we don't have the education or the interest!

Oh, yes, one may say today we attend school longer and have more people with B.S., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees, but today we more readily accept "expert opinions" on anything without regard to whether those opinions are logical or whether they make sense. That which used to be called "common sense" is something which is becoming very uncommon.

What if you need to be free? Respect for one another is the basic ingredient. Respect for one another is dependent upon the desire to earn one's own living, religion, education and interest in exercising that right.

How can two persons discuss anything if they do not respect each other and each other's opinions? This does not mean they always agree but it does mean that each person has come to his own conclusion on the subject under discussion and has

CAMPAIGN PROMISE: A FACULTY EVALUATION?

ISA brings new ideas

A new organization has been formed at APSU. It is unlike any other organization at APSU in at least one respect—it is composed entirely of foreign students.

The International Students Association is composed of 16 members from nine countries. The organization, however, does not desire to confine its membership to foreigners and is actively soliciting American members.

We hope that this organization will be successful in accomplishing its stated purpose: bringing knowledge of other nations to the APSU campus.

This area of knowledge is one in which we are woefully lacking and would like to see improved. The Association plans to accomplish its purpose with films from the native countries and an International Student Week.

If this organization follows the trend set by new organizations such as Alpha Phi Omega, Middle Term and Kappa Sigma Phi it should quickly become a leading group.

In fact, we are proud to observe the revamping and improvement of several "old" organizations and advocate a better campus because of these improvements.

What about promises?

ASB elections are over—almost. The seats in the Senate are yet to be decided. However, for administrative purposes the elections were over when the four elective officials of the student body won their positions Monday.

Although no word had been released at the time of publication we anticipate (hopefully) action to begin on some of the matters and issues which evolved in the ASB campaigns. We are in hopeful expectation because we are not sure what will be done.

However, we are quite certain that the majority of the students who took the time and effort to cast a ballot are expecting some action out of the new ASB officials before they officially take office June 1.

Promises have been made; some will be fulfilled, some will be broken (we hope not purposely). The important item is that all those things which were promised be given some effort. In the past some promises have not even had a shadow of hope after the "promisers" got in office.

Nevertheless, if we might make one encouraging observation it would be that many of the promises made this spring are concerned with things which the students are in need of; there are concerns involved, which if turned into concrete tangibles, would definitely benefit the student body.

One idea advocates utilizing students in the recruitment of future students. If students now in high school might understand college life more fully through the words of a present collegian then would it not be worthwhile to employ this idea.

The same may be said of the published student evaluation of faculty. It seems that most of the students would like to strengthen this privilege. We feel that such a booklet would serve to strengthen, not weaken, student-faculty relations. We think this would especially be true if the booklet is carried out as envisioned.

These are only two of the promises. They may be more than one person or administration care to handle; nevertheless, we hope that those who have campaigned hard for their victories will work as hard for their promises.

"Super editorializing?"

(ACP) — It probably started with Superman, says the University of Kansas Daily.

Then came the supermarket. Your car now may have need of a supercharger. Then there's the annual Super Bowl.

One would hope institutions of higher learning would be above the above, especially our super-campus, but no.

If you've got more going for you than just being a super-jock, you may be considered a super-student, with varying degrees of super-cool.

Since this term appears to be with us, for better or worse, let's strive to make more practical application of it than simply creating peer group ratings.

Imagine, for example, a conversation of the future between an upperclassman considering next semester's classes and a younger member of the Centennial College who has just finished choosing his courses early.

"Hi there, kid. Are you on your way to the Union to fight younger enrollment mob?"

"No, m'lord," replies the underclassman blithely, in high spirits, "for prior to this moment I have super-enrolled."

Now that final exams have been extended to three hours over a two-week period, we have nothing other than super-finals.

But you get the idea. We can only hope a few standard, familiar words such as mother, beautiful and hemorrhage will go untouched in this fad to put everything in the super-lative.

take by mail.

I hope that the students in reading this letter in your paper will bring the question to the attention of the teachers.

The late Dr. Carter G. Woodson, the father of Negro History said "Negro history, or rather history as it has been influenced by the Negro, should be taught for the same reason that we teach the history of any other people."

Sincerely yours, Mrs. Francis L. Young
Representative of the Study of Negro Life & History, Washington, D.C.

(Editor's note: Along with Mrs. Young we would like to see the establishment of a Negro History course at APSU. However, we should be quick to point out that we still lack courses in other areas as well as equipment and books which may or may not take priority over such a course. At any rate, we will be well-pleased when the day comes that we may see a Negro History course offered at APSU.)

Dear Editor,

I would like to thank the student body and the administration for their cooperation and support at the dance a week ago.

The turnout was excellent and we appreciate the granting of late permission by the administration. Paul Von Wiegandt
President, Alpha Kappa Psi

ERIE EFFECTS—The eerie effects of the Lemonade Chorus prevailed at last week's Alpha Kappa Psi sponsored dance in the University Center. One of the top live bands in the South, the Chorus often makes use of light, smoke and fire to highlight their playing of all types of modern music.

During summer

NTE to be administered here

Austin Peay State University has been designated as a test center for administering the National Teacher Examinations on July 6, 1968. Dr. George Ackley announced today.

All seniors in teacher education must take the test to graduate. This includes those graduating in June.

College seniors preparing to teach and teachers applying for positions in school systems which encourage or require applicants to submit their scores on the National Teacher Examinations along with their other credentials

"The Mikado" begins 3-day performance

For laughter, an enticing love story, a colorful setting and beautiful costumes, the place to be is the Clement Auditorium at 8 p.m. tomorrow, Friday and Saturday.

The next production from the Austin Peay State University department of music promises to be all this.

"The Mikado," set in Japan complete with colored lanterns and kimonos, is a take-off on British aristocracy and its stuffiness.

The play pokes fun at the Parliament, even with its funny names such as Peep-Bo, Nanki-Poo, and Yun-Yun.

The many intricate plots within the main plot will keep the audience in suspense as the music is played against a background of Japanese lanterns and cherry blossoms that add a touch of the Orient to the stage.

"The Mikado" by Gilbert and Sullivan is produced by Ed Goddard, associate professor of music.

Registrar issues

checkout agenda

Miss Betty Settle, assistant registrar, has announced the following dates for checkouts:

Final checkouts for August, 1968 seniors will be held June 10-21.

Representative evaluations (45-hour check) for all those finishing after August, 1968 will be held June 24-July 3.

are eligible to take the tests.

The examinations are prepared and administered by Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N. J.

The designation of APSU as a test center for these examinations will give prospective teachers in this area an opportunity to compare their performance on the examinations with candidates throughout the country who take the tests, Ackley said.

At the one-day session a candidate may take the common examinations, which include tests in professional education and general education, and one of the 13 teaching area examinations which are designed to evaluate his understanding of the subject matter and methods applicable to the area he may be assigned to

3 profs participate in English meeting

Three members of the department of English at APSU, Dr. Lewis Tatham, Dr. Tom Byrd and Charles Waters, attended in Knoxville on May 10-11 a meeting of the departments of English from Tennessee state colleges and universities.

The meeting is a biennial conference to discuss problems, innovations and directions in the teaching of English.

Of particular concern this year is the need for coordination between established programs and those being developed in the new junior colleges throughout the state.

All-Star College Bowl team bows to MTSU, 350 to 210

An All-Star team selected on the basis of their participation in the Laurel Wreath Society College Bowl last week, the APSU College Bowl team lost to Middle Tennessee State University's team last week.

Although the team lost by a score of 350 to 210, APSU's scientifically oriented team was not at all short of talent but rather lacked the proper diversity, particularly in the fields of literature and art.

The latter two fields seemed to be predominant among the questions that were asked.

MTSU had chosen their representative team on the basis of competition among more than twenty other teams in the intracollegiate bowl on that campus.

The members of Austin Peay State's college bowl team included Peggy Wallen, Kathy Savage, Walter Kikendall and

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy has triumphed on the APSU campus in the CHOICE 68 nationwide collegiate presidential primary. According to the computerized returns received by the Political Studies Association, 1,010 students participated in this mock election, approximately 35 per cent of the estimated number of eligible voters.

McCarthy is National Winner

Nationwide, Sen. Eugene McCarthy won CHOICE 68 with 285,988 first-place votes, Kennedy and Richard Nixon placed second and third, respectively.

APSU voters, however, favor Kennedy, giving him 238 votes. Nixon received 157 votes, and former Alabama Gov. George Wallace followed closely with 155 votes.

McCarthy ranked fourth with 138 votes.

Other leading first-choice vote-getters were President Lyndon Johnson who received 91 votes despite his withdrawal from the campaign, and New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller, who drew 69 votes.

Approximately 39 per cent of the APSU students who voted will be of voting age in November as compared with a nationwide figure of 44 per cent.

Gary Christoph. The APSU team alternate was David Boecker.

Alli Tithus, president of Laurel Wreath Society and organizer of the APSU College Bowl, feels that the project was successful in providing some means whereby students could compete in the academic field in a friendly atmosphere.

He said, "I feel that the experience gained from the first Laurel Wreath College Bowl here at APSU will enable next year's club to broaden it even farther."

"The schools compare extensively their athletic abilities," he continued, "and I can see no reason why they should not compare their intellectual abilities as well."

Faculty members provided questions for the APSU College Bowl; Malcolm Glass, associate professor of English, served as master of ceremonies.

AMAZING CONSTRUCTION—Works continues on the maze of sidewalks being built adjacent to the Zeigler Building and the University Center. The badly needed network of walkways should be completed this week.

RFK emerges victor among APSU voters

Of the two age categories included in this group, those 21 years old favored Kennedy, and those 22 years old or over supported McCarthy over Kennedy by a very small margin.

On the issue of military action in Vietnam, 35 per cent of the students voting favored "all out" military effort, 31 per cent wanted phased reduction and 13 per cent supported immediate withdrawal; hence, roughly 44 per cent favored some sort of reduction.

Nationwide 63 per cent wanted some sort of reduction and 31 per cent favored "all out" military effort.

Opinion on Bombing

Forty-three per cent of the voters on the APSU campus said we should intensify the bombing in Vietnam, compared with 26 per cent of the nationwide survey.

Twenty-two per cent wanted temporary suspension of all bombing and 12 per cent supported permanent cessation. On the nationwide level 29 per cent chose permanent cessation and 29 per cent favored suspension.

Almost 9 per cent of the APSU students advocated the use of nuclear weapons.

To solve the urban crisis, 43 per cent thought education should receive the highest priority in government spending, 28 per cent chose job training, 22 per cent gave highest priority to riot control, housing received 4 per cent and income subsidies 1 per cent.

These results coincide closely with those of the nationwide survey.

Brass choir sets concert for May 26

The University Brass Choir, featuring a guest appearance by nationally known composer and director Robert Jager, will perform Sunday, May 26, in the Clement Auditorium.

Jager will conduct the Brass Ensemble in the fanfare, "Choral and Fugue," a work which APSU's Theta Tau Chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia commissioned him to do last November.

The work was completed in March, and the ensemble has been rehearsing it since then.

In 1964, Jager won the American Bandmasters' Association's Ostwald Award for his "Symphony for Brass." That same year, he won the National School Orchestra Association's Roth Award for his "Three Pieces for Orchestra."

He repeated as a winner of the Roth Award last summer.

Jager has had his works performed in Japan and South America as well as by many bands and school orchestras throughout the United States.

In addition to "Choral and Fugue," several other works will be performed by the Brass Choir.

These include "Introduction and Allegro" by Robert Beadell (1950); "Two Pieces" by William Brade (1609); "Providence Dominum" by Orlando De Lassus (1530-1594); "The Army for Cornetta and Sbagliata" by John Adon (1620); and "Suite for Brass" by Leonard Lebow (1956).

HELPING OTHERS—Two of the few APSU students to give blood last week wait their turns. Both APSU and Montgomery County failed to meet the quota set for them, and neither will be on blanket coverage as a result.

Blood drive falls short of desired goal

APSU students, faculty and administration members and local citizens donated 142 pints of blood in the day-long drive held here last Wednesday.

Jointly sponsored by the university's chapter of Alpha Phi Omega and the American Red Cross, the drive fell short of the quota set to provide blanket coverage for the campus.

A donation by 17 per cent of the student body was required for the university to receive the blanket coverage.

Boswell elected

SNEA president

The Student National Education Association has elected its officers for the 1968-69 school year.

They are Thelma Boswell, president; Don Layton, vice-president; Willie Ann Edwards, secretary; and Dianne Sexton, treasurer.

'In' swimsuits

Style file

by SHIRLEY PARCHMAN

Before purchasing a new swimsuit for this summer, perhaps it would be helpful to analyze the various styles that are "in" this year.

In agreement with other fashion trends of the season, swimsuits are emphasizing color.

In addition, various designs may display flowers, checks, stripes or dots, as well as lace and ruffles for extra trimming. This season, the one-piece bathing suits may fashionably feature either the low V-neck or the high-cut neckline.

The back is most often cut low and may be accented by double, criss - cross straps, a button closure, or a framed double strap.

Likewise, the one-piece boy-leg classic that features the accented out back and the hip-belt is an attractive style this year.

A front or side midriff-closing is also noticeable feature of various one-piece styles.

Perhaps the most popular of the two-piece suits is the bikini.

Another two-piece favorite is the tunic suit.

Library changes

hours tomorrow

The library building will be open to visitors from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. tomorrow during the open house and dedication.

Since the library staff will be participating in the convocation and will be receiving guests, reference and loan services will not be available to students during these hours.

However, students who wish to study independently in the library should feel free to do so, recognizing that the conversation of visitors may make the environment somewhat less quiet than usual.

The library will be closed from 5 to 6 p.m., and at 6 p.m. full services will be resumed on regular schedule.

APSU professors polled on 'publish or perish'

by MARY MAGEE

From a faculty point of view, how is the current role of education forcing a change in the clichés, "Research, write or perish," to "Stimulate or terminate?"

An ALL STATE survey of APSU faculty members has revealed local sentiment to this change which was suggested at the annual meeting of the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business held in Miami Beach, Fla.

The program of this year's meeting, which was attended by Glenn S. Gentry, head of the department of business, centered around the revolution in learning and teaching.

Kimbalk Makes Statement

Concerning this theme, Charles N. Kimbalk, head of the Midwest Research Institute, made the following statement to which several of our faculty members have reacted.

"In our country today, there are many problems created by research having surpassed society's social and economic absorption capacity so that the society is now demanding that a change take place in higher education.

"That change should be a shift from the cliché 'Research, write or perish' to 'Stimulate or terminate.' The latter cliché has reference to the stimulation of students within both the college classroom and the college community."

Score Away Research

Gentry commented, "Our economic capacity has been retarded by research, by war, by heavy foreign trade so that much of today's research must be stored away. We simply don't have the economic means to carry it through.

"Why should we put money in to research which can only be shelved when we have such pressing social problems? Are we really using to the maximum what research has already developed for us?"

"In the university community, I feel that research and stimulation go hand in hand and are not necessarily in opposition to each other. However, perhaps we've swung too far toward research, especially in the field of education. We've done enough research on how to educate, if it's been wild, it's high time we started applying it."

Malcolm Glass, associate professor of English, described the passage as "great, fantastic. We are undoubtedly shifting our emphasis from the scholarly professor in class to the teacher who can stimulate his students. This movement will certainly receive a great deal of opposition though.

"The image of the scholarly professor has been a well-ensconced tradition since the Middle Ages. But this change will have to happen.

"We simply cannot produce enough research scholars to fill the teaching demand in institutions of higher learning.

"Moreover, so much research material has been and is being cranked out that we can't possibly absorb it."

"Every 60 seconds, 2,000 fresh pages are produced by the publishing world." How's that to stagger the imagination!

Glass continued, "Research gains prestige for the college, but I would rather see the students bring prestige. We also shouldn't forget that there's a real joy in learning."

Reached Capacity To Absorb

John Welker, associate professor of French, suggested that "society has reached its capacity to absorb in that much of the research at the university level is not of the greatest significance."

He further commented, "I disagree with the urgent note of 'Stimulate or terminate.'"

"It's a fool's dream to think that all learning is stimulating. Some of it is getting down to the gritty and is gratifying only in the sense of hard work accomplished. I like the movement but do not go with it all the way."

Dr. William Ellis, director of graduate studies, noted that smaller institutions haven't been involved in this problem as much as larger universities.

"That's why students at Austin Peay State can get a more liberal education than those who attend the institutional giants where freshmen are taught largely by graduate students, thus leaving an educational gap."

"The development of junior community colleges," he continued, "is consistent with the theory that a person can perform responsibly without having experienced the scholarly atmosphere of a university."

"It thinks APSU is a favorable position to follow the 'Stimulate or terminate' philosophy."

Primary Function Is To Teach

Mrs. Mary Cox, instructor in sociology, said, "I tend to agree heartily with this philosophy because the primary function of education is to teach, and that is not the same as research."

"Research should be secondary. Education has a much broader application in society than has research, and therefore should be more important."

Dr. Edwin Cobb, head of the department of political science, surmised, "I presume that this is the old problem of what a college is supposed to be doing. I agree substantially with the sentiment of what the speaker has said, but a professor is still judged by his research and his writing."

"Colleges today are simply not set up to teach very well."

"The huge numbers of students and the carefully defined curriculum work against real learning. Examinations and grades turn professors in to policemen."

Series of Hurdles

"Education is now a series of hurdles. I would like to see real teaching more than just getting a student through his requirements."

Concerning research, Dr. Cobb said, "We are overburdened with scientific research but we have barely scratched the surface of social and humanistic research."

Dr. William Stokes, chairman of the math department, sees research as a means by which we may learn to absorb the ever-expanding field of knowledge; however, he added, "I feel sure we are moving away from the idea of "Research, write, or perish." The demands on the faculty are elsewhere."

Earl Sexton, director of development and field activities commented, "I agree that we have surpassed our capacity to absorb all the research being produced, but this is not the fault of institutions of higher learning alone."

Emphasis on Teaching

"Most of the state colleges and universities outside of land-grant institutions have been noted for their emphasis on teaching."

"However, it's true that nearly all federal grants are oriented toward research. I think the key word is reassessment, research-oriented institutions need to take a second look at their position."

"In our progress-oriented society, we have made tremendous strides in our material well-being, but it is possible for a man to lose his soul and still be well-fed," Sexton concluded.

Dr. Haskell Phillips, chairman of the biology department, said, "I am opposed to the principle of 'publish or perish' for the simple reason that there is much irrelevant research being done today both in the area of science and in the area of education. I do publish, so my opposition is from the inside."

William Crabtree, associate professor of math, seems to have summed up the faculty's views by saying, "I follow the general idea, however, we need both research and teaching."

REST ROOM SENTRIES—As part of their initiation into Kappa Sigma Phi, pledges were required to guard the rest rooms on the University Center, and allow no one to enter until he had shown his ID card. Tom Seavey, dean of students, was one of many victims.

Social fraternity concludes pledge period with banquet

Kappa Sigma Phi, APSU's first social fraternity, concluded its first pledge period Monday with a banquet at the Stagecoach Inn.

Nine pledges ended their six-week pledge class. They have been easily recognized around campus by the two and one-half foot logs they have been carrying around. Initiation of the new members will bring total membership to 23. The fraternity hopes to enlarge next fall when it will hold its second open rush.

Present executive officers are John Gasaway, president; Hank Hildebrand, vice-president; Raleigh Lopez, secretary; and Jim Noland, treasurer.

The fraternity's sponsor is Patrick O'Shea of APSU's English department.

International students led by Ghaffari

A new organization has formed with the purpose of bringing knowledge of other nations to the APSU campus.

Led by newly elected president Freddy Haj-Ghaffari, a native of Iran, the group calls itself the International Students Association, and will meet tomorrow at 6 p.m. in the University Center.

The club currently has 16 members from nine countries, but many members are wanted including American students.

Officers include Ghaffari; Shabrokh Noorvosh, vice-president; Iran; Kazuo Akiba, treasurer; Japan; and Danielle Ellender, secretary. France. John W. Welker, associate professor of French, is the organization's sponsor.

Planned activities are films from the native countries of the members and an International Student Week.

Gov squads to compete for OVC spring titles

Three spring sports squads will be traveling to Johnson City, Tenn., for the Ohio Valley Conference championships to be held there this weekend.

The golf squad of coach Sherwin Clift represents APSU's best chance to cop a crown in the annual event. The Governor blasters recorded the best mark ever at the university—an impressive 15-2 state.

Coach Fred Overton's tennis team and the thinlins of Max Mayes will also represent APSU in the affairs, hosted this year by East Tennessee.

Golf

The link squad will be trying for the golf championship but has a number of tough schools to contend with for the honors. As usual, Middle Tennessee State will be the favored team, but Western Kentucky and East Tennessee State could very easily win it all.

Given outside chances at the crown are Murray State and Tennessee Tech. Eastern Kentucky is an unknown quantity and Morehead probably has the weakest squad in the league, based on performance.

Where does this leave APSU?

"For us to win, all six of our players will probably have to surpass their individual averages for the season," says Coach Clift.

"The OVC is so well balanced that the championship could depend on only one or two players on any given team getting hot."

Top individuals participate

Some of the top individuals in the south will be in the tourney. Ron Acres, Kentucky State Open champion, will be playing for Murray State. Middle Tennessee Tech will present 1967 OVC king, Jeff Riley, and Ernie Adcock, TIC winner in 1967.

Bill Bewley and Jimmy Miller of Western, ETSU's Ken Sawyer and Tommy Mullinax and Dee Bennett of TTU are other top linkmen who will participate.

APSU's No. 1 player, Jimmy Smith, two-time winner of the TIC top individual trophy, will represent the Gov's best shot at the medalist honors for the tourney.

Tennis

Facing perhaps the strongest competition in the history of the OVC, the tennis squad of coach Fred Overton will be seeking to close the season with a good performance.

The adlers have found the going tough this year as shown by their 2-10 record.

Middle Tennessee State, Western Kentucky, Murray State and Tennessee Tech will have to rate as the favorites. East Tennessee State, a highly-improved team, has a good shot at a high finish in the tournament.

The APSU netters will be led on the courts by sophomore Bill Lefko and junior Jim Lucas. These two Gova have turned in consistently good performances against the strongest competition in the league.

Senior Jon Kessel, a veteran of four years in OVC competition, will be no stranger against the tough opposition.

Mike Marshall, Joe Murray, Bernie Marrero, and Mike Mierzevski round out the remainder of the Gov squad.

Track

Although taking only seven men to the meet, Mayes' thinlins will present six school record holders. The Gov cinder squad won one of four meets this year for a 3-3 date.

Mayes will take two relay teams and individuals in field events in addition to the 220 and 440-yard dashes plus one contestant in the three-mile run and one in the hurdles events.

The seven participants in track from APSU who will be in the two-day meet include Ronnie Bell (440-yard dash, 440 and mile relays), Bob Engler (440-yard dash, 440 and mile relays).

Jeff Fisher (shot put and discus), Ronnie Fuqua (220-yard dash, 440 and mile relays), Alvin Hicks (high jump, pole vault, broad jump and 440 relay).

Ron Morton (three-mile run), Terry Schultz (120 high hurdles and mile relay).

Hicks erased the oldest mark on the APSU record book when he jumped 6-5 1/8 this season. He bettered the mark of 6-3 set by Bill Lax in 1956.

Alvin has also been the top point-getter this season, having scored over 70 points for the year. Schultz has more than 40 with Fisher garnering better than 30.

Linksmen show signs of greatness

So you're coasting along with a 14-0 record. You run into a bad day on the course and drop two matches in a triangular meet. It's a disheartening thing, especially if there's a chance for an undefeated record for the year.

Good squads can lose a match—it's the great squads which can come from a blow like this and continue to play good golf. Coach Sherwin Clift's linksmen must be in the "great" category.

Riding a 16-match winning string extending from last year, APSU's golfers suffered the dual loss to Middle Tennessee and Murray State last Thursday at the Cole Park Golf Course, site of APSU home matches. Friday the Gov link squad traveled to Gilbertville, Ky., to meet the same Racer squad that had beaten them 11½ to 6½ the day before.

Revenge was sweet as the Gova trounced Murray by a 14-4 count. It also showed APSU could come up with a good performance under adverse conditions.

Intramurals needed at APSU

When Austin Peay State became a university at the beginning of this school year, it was a fitting advance. Scholastic, administration and organized athletic improvements have been made here, and this is good.

We feel, however, that there is an area in the over-all picture at APSU which is in need of improvement—that of intramurals. A quick glance at the program indicates that it is lacking in many areas.

Max Mayes has been handling the task of director of intramurals but is also burdened with track and cross-country coaching as well as that of instructing classes. It seems that it is time that a full-time director was sought by the school.

Basketball and volleyball are the only sports represented in intramurals now. There are limitless possibilities available at APSU: dem football, softball, tennis, pool, etc.

In any event, it is obvious that the matter should be delved into.

Another 'communication gap'

It seems that last week's THE ALL STATE contained a "communication gap" other than on its editorial page. The feature on APSU's Jimmy Smith, twice winner of the Tennessee Intercollegiate Golf Conference top individual award, quoted him at saying, "I have thought some of going on tour and haven't dithered the idea completely." What Smith actually said was, "Every serious golfer wants of playing on the tour—but..."

Golfers close year sporting 15-2 record

Carrying a 14-0 match-play record into the last three matches of the year, the Austin Peay State link squad hit a cold streak and dropped two of its last three encounters for an over-all mark of 15-2 for the year.

The workshet topped the percentage of the 1949 team which posted a 6-1 lab.

A triangular match at the Cole Park Golf Course with Middle Tennessee and Murray State last Thursday accounted for the two defeats. However, on Friday the Gova avenged the previous day's loss to Murray by a convincing 14-4 decision over the Thorobreds, in a contest at Gilbertville, Ky.

In losing to the two OVC schools, APSU posted its highest team total of the year. Only senior Jimmy Smith and undefeated sophomore southpaw Randy Feather turned in good rounds for the Governors.

Smith fired a 73 and Feather posted a 74. Other Gova scores were Fred Pitts (81) and 83's turned in by John Edgington.

The Racer Alan Bannister, Ron Acres of Murray State, defending Kentucky State Open champion, took medalist honors among the 18 collegiate golfers with a two-under 70. For MTSU Craig Stoudner was low with an even-par 72.

GOVS' ONLY UNDEFEATED—Randy Feather, APSU's undefeated linkman for the year, shows his putting form. The sophomore southpaw posted a 16-0-1 record for the year and was fourth on the squad with an average of 75.3 strokes per round.

Team totals found Middle Tennessee topping the Gova and the Racers by identical 12½ to 5½ scores, while Murray topped the APSU contingent by an 11½ to 6½ mark.

In the Friday encounter with Murray, the Sherwin Clift-coached linksmen gained sweet revenge over the Murray squad as Smith once again paced APSU with a blazing two-under-par 70 over the rain-soaked layout.

Tormenting rains over the 6,745-yard Village Greens Golf Course did not dampen the Gova's chances of winning as five of six APSU players won their matches.

Gov freshman Edgington had the second best round of the day, a two-over-par 74. Pitts shot identical 38's for a 76, while junior college transfer Jim Tague had a 77. Feather finished undefeated for the year with a 16-0-1 mark even though he could only manage an 80 in the downpour. Tim Tague, brother to Jim, shot an 81 and lost the Gova's only match.

Smith, starting on the back side, got birdies on Nos. 10, 13, and 16 to go three under. After his 33 he picked up bogeys at No. 1, 4 and 5 on the front side. He birdied the fifth and eighth holes to come home in 37 for his 70.

Austin Peay State now sports a 75.7 strokes-per-match average team-wise. Smith is the individual leader with a 72.0 average.

Averages to date

Thinlies fall to MTSU for 1-3 dual meet slate

Bringing its 1968 dual meet competition to a close, the Austin Peay State track squad dropped a meet with Middle Tennessee State held in Murfreesboro, Tenn., on Thursday by a 103-41 score.

In registering the overwhelming triumph the Blue Raiders captured 14 of 17 possible first places and in the process, left APSU with a 1-3 meet record for the season.

The only APSUers racking up first-place finishes were Terry Schults in the 120-yard high hurdles, Mike Sullivan in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles and Jeff Fisher in the shot put.

Middle Tennessee was paced by Stan Sumrell, who also plays basketball for the Blue Raiders, with 20 points. The jumping specialist captured first places in the long jump and triple jump, seconds in the javelin, high hurdles and 100-yard dash and a third in the intermediate hurdles. Reliable Alvin Hicks led the scoring for the Max Mayer-coached squad with a total of 10 markers, nearly one fourth of the Govs' 43-point total.

Javelin—Colquitt (MT), Sumrell (MT), Kaithe (MT) 172-1/2.
Pole vault—Stevens (MT), Hicks (AP) 14-0.
High jump—Stevens (MT), Hicks (AP), Gardner (MT) 6-4.
Broad jump—Sumrell (MT), Hicks (AP), Gardner (MT) 22-1/2.
Triple jump—Sumrell (MT), Gardner (MT), Hicks (AP) 44-10.

ALVIN HICKS

SORRY ABOUT THAT!—Governor first baseman Jim Marable committed a miscue in the Western Kentucky double-header which allowed centerfielder Harry Jones to reach first base. Jones was out later on a double play.

APSU engages Thoroughbreds in final diamond tilts of season

Subject to the results of yesterday's scheduled twin-bill with Middle Tennessee State, the baseball team of coach Leon Sandifer could be going for a 10-12 record when it travels to Murray, Ky., tomorrow for an encounter with the Thoroughbreds of Murray State.

Middle Tennessee has already defeated the Govs twice this year and has clinched first place in the Ohio Valley Conference Western Baseball Division.

APSU, on the other hand, possessed a 6-12 record going into the double-header but could finish with a respectable 10-12 mark by winning its last four games.

Tomorrow's bout with Murray was scheduled for Friday of last week but was postponed due to rain.

This year's Racer squad is not as strong as those of recent seasons but is still very dangerous. Pitching seems to be a hallmark of the Johnny Reagan-coached team. Right-handers Don Lee and David Goureaux form a solid one-two nucleus which any coach would like to have.

Tennis squad finishes 2-10

The Austin Peay State tennis team closed out its dual match season last Monday, when the Govs bowed to Middle Tennessee State, 5-0 in a rain-shortened contest.

The Govs lost the No. 2-6 singles matches and were practically blanketed except for Jon Kesell's performance. Doubles matches were rained out.

MTSU was completely dominating play with the exception of the number one singles. Bill Lefko was leading the Blue Raider's number one performer 4-1 in the final set before the Gluge in rain set in to wash the match out.

The netters match scheduled for yesterday against Western Kentucky was cancelled.

Going into the OVC festival in Johnson City this weekend, the Govs will carry with them their final record of two wins and 10 defeats.

Lee had the top earned run average on the squad last year—an impressive 1.55 runs per nine innings. Goureaux was the leader in 1966 with an unheard of 1.54 ERA.

Sandifer has been trying various line-ups for APSU. The infield will likely see Bob Jones at first base, Danny Black on second, Shelby Rye at short and Terry Holder at third.

Ronnie Simpson, Phillip Leigh and Mike Schrecker man the outfield slots while Dwight Smith will hopefully be behind the plate. Smith's status is questionable due to an injured finger.

Joey Watts is a sure bet to start one of the games at the all-important pitching position.

Bowman lists schedule for vital briefings

Since the university bulletin is not easy to interpret in some cases and there are no general student assemblies for important and vital announcements, a schedule of briefing sessions is being provided for the benefit of all undergraduate students, according to M. P. Bowman, dean of admissions.

The main items of discussion will relate to the provisions for keeping up-to-date records on credit hours, grade-point averages, items pertaining to graduation requirements.

Important forms and fact sheets will be distributed to various interest groups. Every student, with the exception of spring graduating seniors, is urged to attend one of these sessions.

This may possibly prevent some embarrassing developments at a later date to some students.

The scheduled sessions are to be held in the Clement Auditorium at these times:

Monday, May 20: 9-11 a.m.; 10-10:15 a.m.; 11-11:15 a.m.
Tuesday, May 21: 9-9:30 a.m.; 10-10:15 a.m.

If questions arise concerning selective service or G. I. Bill, an extra five minute period will be allowed at the close of each period listed above to discuss these matters.

Students' art opens today

Opening today at 1 p.m. in the Trapher Gallery is the annual student exhibition.

This year's exhibition differs from previous ones only in that awards are being presented to the outstanding works of art by a non-departmental jury.

The exhibition features an array of sculpture, pottery, wearings, drawings, prints and paintings which are available at almost give-away prices.

With this year's student exhibition, the art department has cast off its cloak of innocence in favor of the serious and exotic world of the sixties.

The exhibition caps a bumper, record-breaking year for the art department and establishes it as the campus's primary, dynamic cultural force.

The exhibit, which will run until the end of this quarter, provides the APSU community with a unique opportunity to view and purchase some of the best works of art ever available on this campus.

Army OCS team to recruit here

A selection team for army officer candidates will visit Austin Peay State University on the 23rd and 24th of May, team leader, Lt. James Cross announced today.

Lt. Cross, from the U. S. Army Recruiting Main Station, Nashville, Tenn., will interview interested college seniors and graduates at the campus for the officer candidate enlistment option.

Graduates of OCS are commissioned second lieutenants in the army. They must agree to serve a minimum of two years as commissioned officers after completing this training.

FESTIVE ATMOSPHERE—An outdoor concert by one of APSU's bands added to the carnival atmosphere of the Associated Student Body elections. The band set up for its performance on the patio of the University Center. According to music department officials, there will be various outdoor concert in the near future.

At initiation banquet

Tri Beta honors new members

The spring initiation banquet of the Eta Pi Chapter of Beta Beta Beta was held last week at the St. Bethlehem Women's Club.

The initiation ceremony into this national biological honor society honored the new members of the organization and was followed by a steak dinner.

The provisional members were those who are earning a major or minor in biology and are completing their third quarter of biology. They must have at least a 3.0 average in biology, and an over-all average of 2.5.

The provisional members who received their certificates last week are Louis D. Baggett, Mary D. Blackwell, Patrick N. Davis, Virgil T. Deal Jr., Nancy B. Fussell, Mary J. Magee, Janice M. Miller, Mary E. Navarrette, Patricia E. Register, Michael H. Sullivan, Glenda R. Taylor, James G. Tippitt, and Travis L. Wyatt.

Full membership is given those students who are completing at least their fifth quarter of biology and who are qualifying biology majors or minors.

The full members recognized are George O. Albright, Larry D. Fisher, James B. Mitchell, Judith A. Swain, Mary C. Bowman, Terry W. Merrell, Wayne P. Shewmaker and Joseph P. Slevert.

Dr. Floyd Ford, professor of biology, is the sponsor for the APSU chapter.

Dedication underway today

$400,000, houses 156 men.

* A $1.4 million library, which opened Feb. 20, 1967.

* The Claxton Building, built at a cost of $700,000, which houses the departments of education, psychology, library science, business and agriculture, was opened at the outset of the 1968 winter quarter.

* University Center, a $1.1 million structure providing a social and recreational center for the student was opened on Feb. 1 of this year.

* Senter Hall, completed last academic year at a cost of $850,000, accommodates 212 women.

"We are pleased to provide this occasion as an opportunity for all parents, alumni and friends of the university to visit the campus and view firsthand the growth and progress that is taking place at our regional university," Morgan said of the open house and dedication.

Members of the special committee planning the two-day affair are: Earl Sexton, chairman; Sherwin Cliff, Dr. Edwin L. Cobb, Dean Mildred Deason, D. R. Frazier, Miss Johnnie Givens, Dr. G.H. Lundberg, Henry C. Malone, M.R. Mayfield, Miss Mabel Mescham, Ray Radford, Doris D. Redmond, Dean Tom K. Savage and Dr. Joe Suttin.

All evening classes will be held as scheduled.

Grantham to lecture about 'New South'

The Phi Alpha Theta society's guest speaker for its banquet tomorrow is Dr. Dewey Grantham Jr., professor of history at Vanderbilt University.

His topic will be "The New Southern Region and the Ambiguity of Contemporary History."

The banquet will be held at 8 p.m. at the Clarksville Country Club.

Dr. Grantham obtained his A.B. degree in 1942 from the University of Georgia and his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of North Carolina.

He has been a professor at Vanderbilt since 1961; previously, he was assistant professor of history at the Women's College of the University of North Carolina; North Texas State College; and Vanderbilt University.

He is a member and officer of various professional organizations and committees including the American Association of University Professors, the American Civil Liberties Union and the Organization of American Historians.

In addition, he has written numerous books, historical essays and articles.

The former naval officer is a native of Manassas, Georgia; he and his wife have three children.
