Aspiring poets take notice

Do you aspire to be a poet?

The National Poetry Press invites all college students and teachers to submit manuscripts for consideration for its annual poetry anthologies.

The deadline for submission of verse of the Annual Anthology of College Poetry is November 5. The student's name, home address and college must be typed or printed on each entry submitted.

For the National Teachers Anthology of Poetry the submission deadline is January 1. There are no limitations as to theme, form or style and one may submit as many manuscripts as desired.

Further information regarding these anthologies is available on the library bulletin board.

Welcome home Governors

Cheers of "We're No. 1" greeted the football team as they arrived home Sunday from a victorious game against Carson Newman in Johnson City.

Several car loads of students and members of the Governors Club were on hand along with the Highway Patrol to meet the team outside of the city limits and escort them to the campus. A pep band composed of members of the marching band furnished music to the tune of "Smash, Bang to Victory" the school fight song.

Excited students were heard saying, "This enthusiasm is wonderful. I can't wait for Western!"

Autumn

The senior class is sponsoring a dance Saturday night after the Western Kentucky game. The dance will be held in the gymnasium. Price for admission will be 75 cents stag and $1 drag.

STUDENTS WELCOME VICTORIOUS GOVS — Students, faculty and townspeople alike were on hand to welcome the Governors after their impressive 44 to 7 victory over Carson Newman. The excited crowd pushed its way to the bus to individually congratulate each player.

Sims named to NCATE

Dr. James Sims has recently been named a member of the National Committee for the Accreditation of Teacher Education. October 19 through 21, Dr. Sims and six other members of the committee will visit Western Carolina College in Cullowee, N.C.

Dr. Sims is the only member of the committee in the academic field of education. The other members are in the professional areas of education.

If Western Carolina College is approved it will have the same accreditation that APSC has. Graduates planning to teach will have nation-wide recognition.

In order to become accredited the college must meet standards to insure that the student seeking his teaching certificate has not only the background in methods of teaching, but also a solid foundation in his major field of study.

The National Teacher's Examination, which all senior education majors expecting to graduate are required to take, will be given on the following dates:

- Sat., Dec. 12, 1964
- Sat., March 20, 1965
- Sat., July 17, 1965
- Sat., Oct. 2, 1965

Registration for these tests closes approximately four weeks before the testing date.

Detailed information about registration, examination centers, fees and report of scores can be found in the 1964-65 NTE Bulletin of Information.

For a Bulletin of Information and a registration form, see Dr. Harold Pryor in the education department.

Scores on the National Teacher Examinations are used by many large school districts for employment of new teachers and by several states for certification or licensing of teachers.

On each full day of testing, prospective teachers may take the common examinations which measure the professional and general preparation of teachers, and one of 13 teaching area examinations which measure mastery of the subject they expect to teach.

Phi Alpha Theta

The local chapter of the National Honor Historical Association, Phi Alpha Theta, was honored with an extensive listing of their yearly activities in the association's journal, The Historian, August, 1964.

Hubbard selected Woodrow Wilson representative

His job is to stimulate his colleagues to make nominations which are due in the hands of the regional chairman by October 31. In January he will know which of APSC's nominees have been invited for interviews.

The purpose of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowships is to attract men and women to the profession of college teaching. The foundation annually awards fellowships to 1,000 prospective first-year graduate students and honorable mention to another 1,500. Woodrow Wilson Fellows are chosen from about 11,000 candidates nominated by college faculty members in the United States and Canada.

A single fellow or a married fellow without children receives a living stipend of $1800 for one academic year. Married fellows with children receive an additional allowance of $1000 for the first child and $250 for each additional child.

'64 may get stuck in the ink

Watch that drying ink.

The big, bold line defining the area of intelligent conversation and bounding the fort of foolish babble is so wide and inviting a place that we have taken a stand there.

Overspill originated on the line and goes in both directions without going either place.

Overcommunication spurts from the advertising agent, floods the magazines, gushes from novels, runs out in the kitchen where a radio announcer holds telephone conversations, about anything, on the air.

Babbling foolishly is taboo, except at football games. Cute come-backs, though, are acceptable for table conversation. Otherwise, some inner revelation or trivial discussion must ensue.

Brainstorming is the sophisticated, scientific way of talking too much. It is sanctioned babble.

A solid minute of companionable silence is unheard of on a date. Silence, considered an uncomfortable state, is avoided except in total isolation.

Responding—to anything or anybody—without speaking is a dying practice.

Before the ink dries and we are stuck with knowledge devoid of quiet expression, we might better slip over the line, one way or the other.

J. L.

Ah, sweet victory

Our English word victory, which is defined as "the state resulting from the overcoming of an opponent in any contest," comes from the Latin verb Vincere, to conquer, and in the noun form it is often used as a shout of triumph.

Certainly we at APSC have had much use for the word victory in these past two weeks and the use has been pleasant, for we have been speaking of our own sweet victory.

The mood of the students, the faculty—indeed the atmosphere of the campus has been apropos for the occasion. We are jubilant, and rightfully so for we have long awaited a victorious football team. Early victory is ours. Whether we remain No. 1 in the OVC is yet to be seen, and is perhaps relatively unimportant because the boys have already given us a uniting cause. By their outstanding performance on the football field they have helped us to find the real school spirit that has long been lacking on our campus. We have begun to conquer the "I don't care" attitude that has plagued our alma mater.

Regardless of the statistical outcome of the 1964 football season, we will have won an important victory if we are able to maintain the spirit that has been prevalent so far this year. The boys on the team have displayed their willingness to give their all for APSC. Let us look for APSC to continue to give its all for the boys. This means individuals must indeed be proud and jubilant and not let spirits fall if victory is taken from us in a fleeting moment. Sweet victory often passes quickly, but if we are able to say that the job was well done we may still give forth shouts of triumph.

Poem

Will no hiding place ever protect me from jealousy?
Will no length of time extinguish envy?
Evil is persistent and deadly poison you know,
Will no princely one of you give me knowledge?
Will no stream of infinite light flicker to my rescue?
What is life to a mere me?
Do men have gods?
Tell me my friend for you claim to know all and I know nothing.
We have life and we have death—but what are they my friend, what are they?
What is stupid and what is smart—or what is good and what is evil?
Oh, you say you've read a book, and its color is black, and you say you know it is right since you know not who wrote it so far back.
Could it be my friend that God is God and man is MAN?
God plus man equals Godman or possibly Goodman?
But I know nothing my friend, and you know all—

Campus curiosities

By Jan Leftwich

Chips off an old block

Have you been stumped lately? Are you a chip off the old block?

Either way, there is a campus curiosity that is a memorial to your condition.

Take the walk to the right of the student center around the bowl. Stop at the rustic stump. It looks termite infested. It isn't. There is a story behind its battered appearance. Last fall, Richard Omber suffered freshman frustration—a not uncommon disease.

He remedied the situation by his own brand of stumping—throwing his souvenir bayonet knife at the old stump. He picked the knife up overseas while he was in the Army.

Last the chips fall where they might. Dick did his best at killing time. The chips did fall, and they stayed in disarray around the area until spring.

Dick relates that "it was convenient to think that a particularly bothersome professor was a knot on a log"—the one at which he aimed.

Leonard Stone, a junior this year, found his roommate's hobby very interesting. "I just wanted to learn to throw the knife," he declares, but just maybe he had a few ulterior motives, too.

Others became involved in the fearsome frolic of stumping. After a hard day a group gathered. The inexperienced often missed the target completely. Students learned to walk warily around the area. There were no casualties.

When the dean wields a weapon, it is time to put space between you and his wrath. But Dean Savage only aimed casually at the stump and never once threatened anyone.

Girls found the sport fascinating. They often begged a try, but none became professional.

The campus policemen were concerned with student and faculty safety. They had a word to say about concealing weapons. The knife was confiscated one eventful night.

Although it was returned, it soon became a broken knife among Dick's souvenirs.

Now that Dick and Stoney are reformed they have given up stumping, and only occasionally throw things.

By the way, if you want to be "a chip off the old block, sit on it when someone is taking careful aim. He may miss.

Dean of Faculty

Woodward creates atmosphere; speaks English, not American

The pungent aroma of Fieldand Stream pipe tobacco fills the office. Felix G. Woodward, dean of faculty and director of graduate division, is at work.

He's Dreamy

Dean Woodward is not as often in personal contact with students as he was in 1947 while he was dean of instruction and professor of English. That year his readings of Shakespeares drew this comment from a coed: "He's dreamy . . . reads poetry in class, and if a pin drops, it hits with a deafening crash. He taught me to 'think' it as well as to read it."

A newspaper clipping declares that he speaks English (instead of American). That he still does. But now his duties involve him with faculty and administrative policy.

Primarily, Dean Woodward is concerned with academic standards involving accreditation and with creating an intellectual atmosphere on campus.

"Creating atmosphere is especially difficult. We must involve the responsive student who can reach beyond the books. For this we need the best employable faculty, a challenging one, for the most desirable instruction. I can't do it alone. Cooperation is necessary."

After graduation from Williams Preparatory School, 1921, he attended the University of Wisconsin for two years. His first teaching assignment was in Fayetteville.

In 1929 Dean Woodward received the M.A. in English from Vanderbilt University. That year he became head of the English department of Austin Peay Normal School. It was his first year and it was the school's first year.

Graduate Work

Since then Dean Woodward has done graduate work at Vanderbilt, been acting dean and registrar, and since 1947, dean of the faculty.

Looking over the top of his half-lens glasses, the dean may tell you of the tradition that Lafayette is supposed to have spent the night in our home, Riverview, when he visited the U.S. as guest of Congress.

The 150-year-old house is his latest — and probably last — antique purchase. "That never developed into a real hobby anyway," he laughs.

His Family

The Woodwards have three sons. One received his masters degree in engineering from the University of Tennessee and works for International Business Machines in Lexington. Another son is completing his doctorate requirements in history at the University of Georgia. The youngest son is a senior English major at Vanderbilt.

Trophied twirlers spark half-time routine

A total of 112 trophies and medals have been accumulated by the two featured twirlers of the band.

Miss Norma Clark and Mrs. O'Neil Phillips have been winning national and state honors for years.

Miss Clark placed second in the South in 1963 for military strutting, fifth in the twirling and fancy strutting. She is Miss Majorette of Tennessee for 1964, a title won in state competition in Oak Ridge. Norma received a trophy Aug. 29 for her performance in competition for the title of Majorette Queen of the Nation. Qualifications for winner and runners-up included beauty, talent and twirling. She was sixth runner-up.

Mrs. O'Neil Phillips, from Florida, returns after an absence of three years. She married

Tom Phillips, now freshman basketball coach. In 1963, The couple have a daughter, Stephanie.

Mrs. Phillips was featured twirler her first three years with the band. She has been twirling since the age of ten, and she studied under Ann Nita Ekstrom, twice National Champion.

Stephanie is not being taught to twirl. "I intend to see that she gets every opportunity to do so, but I don't want to push her," her mother says. "She is two and a half and likes to play with the baton, but that's about it."

In high school O'Neil twirled with the Navy band in Memphis. She was Mississippi State Champion for four years. Miss Majorette of Mississippi twice, Mid-South Champion four consecutive years. Prep All-American Sweepstakes Champion twice and named Miss Prep All-American Majorette by the Wigwag Wisemen of America.

During her sophomore year she quit competitive twirling and became a twirling judge. Several of her students have been state champions.

Fifteen times O'Neil has appeared on television, mostly in Memphis, but also in other southern and western states.

Both girls perform on the football field at half-time.

Politics

You may fool all of the people some of the time, and some of the people all of the time, but you can't fool all of the people all of the time, and on November 3 Senator Barry Goldwater will find out how true that is.

When President Johnson speaks on Monday you do not have to wait until Thursday for an explanation of what he meant.

Where did Senator Goldwater stand on the test ban treaty? He opposed it.

Where did Senator Goldwater stand on aid to education? He opposed it.

Where did Senator Goldwater stand on the poverty bill? He opposed it.

Where does Senator Goldwater stand on TVA? He said he would sell it for one dollar.

Where did Senator Goldwater stand with respect to the United Nations? He would have the United States get out of the U.N.

Where did Senator Goldwater stand on the control of atomic weapons? He would relinquish control to his subordinates.

The democratic position is clearly expressed in the speeches of the President and Senator Humphrey. They speak the same language in every section of the country. They do not change their positions to meet local conditions.

America's position at home and abroad is stronger today than it was during the Republican tenure and the American people will make certain that it does not change come November 3.

APSC BAND AND GOVERNETTES — This contingent of 161 strong will perform a pre-game show at Western Kentucky on Saturday. (Staff photo by Bill Hutton)

Kingston Trio cancels concert

Due to a conflict in dates, the Kingston Trio, scheduled to appear at APSC October 5, has cancelled their appearance, according to Larry Richardson, Associated Student Body president.

Richardson stated that refunds for tickets may be obtained by returning the tickets to the APSC Business Office.

Attention all students: Rear window decals are on sale and can be purchased from any Agriculture Club member.

Student bus to Western

"Beat Western" will certainly be the good word for this week, with the Gova meeting the Hilltoppers in the Saturday game at 2 p.m.

A bus is being chartered to make the trip to Western and the cost will be $1.50 per person. The bus will load in front of the cafeteria and will leave at 11:30.

The cheerleaders are now collecting money and making reservations between the hours of 9 and 3 in the student center.

Bottled promise

Free bottles of alligator wine will be given away at the dance tomorrow night in the gymnasium.

The dance, featuring the Kaper's Combo from Nashville, will begin at 7. Price for admission will be 75 cents stag and $1 drag.

Beat Western Governors

Getting out this publication is no picnic. If we print jokes, people say we are silly. If we don't, they say we are too serious. If we clip from other newspapers, we are too lazy to write it ourselves.

If we stick close to the job all day, we ought to be out hunting up news; if we get out and try to hustle, we ought to be on the job in the office. If we don't print all contributions, we don't appreciate genius; if we do, the paper is filled with junk.

If we make a change in a fellow's write-up, we are too critical; if we don't we are asleep. Now, like as not someone will say we swiped this from another paper.

The whys and hows

Since Austin Peay State's surprising victories, the question arising must be: How did the Governor football fortunes improve so rapidly?

First, much has to be attributed to the coaching changes which took place at the end of the 1962 season. After a winless (0-10) season, head coach Art Van Tone was replaced by present head mentor Bill Dapes. The affable Dapes retained one assistant, Gordon Schultz, and added Jerry Platt, Jim Lane, Ray Thomas and Richard Brown. This group is still in tact.

It must be noted that Dapes did not join the staff until January, 1963, after being approved by the faculty athletic committee. Consequently, he did not get an early start on recruiting and had to settle primarily with the football players that he inherited from Van Tone. This partially explains the 1-9 season last year.

Associated with a winner

Dapes, former Tennessee Tech athlete, played on fine Eagle squads during the 1948-51 grid seasons and later tutored a Fort Richardson, Alaska, team to an 8-1 record and the service championship over seven other clubs.

Returning to his alma mater in 1955 Dapes served as line coach for seven years for teams that captured three Ohio Valley Conference championships and shared two others.

His first collegiate head coaching job was at Millsaps College, Jackson, Miss., in 1952 and he brought the Majors their best season in five years. No doubt they mourned his loss as he came to APSC a month and a half after Millsaps' final game.

Pride, leadership

Not having a winning season since 1952, the Gov athletes had developed a defeatist attitude. Dapes began work immediately upon his arrival to instill some pride into his players. Through the newly obtained pride, certain leaders emerged from the team who now have the respect of their fellow players. A feeling of togetherness now prevails as the players realize that they have a definite challenge and goal—the OVC championship.

All this, plus hard work on the part of the coaches and players, has already given the 1964 Gova a better record than last year's team.

The last word

—When East Tennessee defeated Western Kentucky 16-9, a win string of 14 games without a defeat was snapped. The skins was the longest in the South and the fifth longest in the nation.

—Western's fullback-linebacker Dale Lindsey appears to be one of the most sought-after gridirers in the South. Professional scouts from the National Football League, American Football League and the Canadian League are all eager to sign the talented junior. Lindsey will no doubt be an early draft choice.

—A peek into the 1964 APSC Pressbook shows that Cunningham Crow is the single season total offense leader with 972 yards in 1956. Will Carlton Platt, who totaled 875 yards last year, crack it?

—The most yards gained in one game by rushing belongs to Ted Trenton against Delta State in 1952. He netted 170 yards in 24 carries.

—Jerry Robinson of the 1953 contingent scored the most points in a single contest. He tallied 22 against Jacksonville State.

—Southeast Missouri of Cape Girardeau, Mo., will replace Carson-Newman on the 1965 schedule. The Indians will play here October 2 and the Gova will return the game in 1966. They were 14-0 losers to Western Kentucky this year and had a 4-6-0 season in 1963.

—APSC has had two bona fide Little All-American end L.E. Oakley (1950) and guard Jack Bushofsky (1960). Six others including Carlton Platt, have received honorable mention.

Gova blast C-N

It took the St. Louis Cardinals 18 years to win a National League pennant, and it took 14 years for APSC to open the season with three straight for the first time since 1950.

The Cards captured their first pennant since 1946 Sunday, and the Governors began the season with three straight for the first time since 1950.

APSC did it convincingly as they almost literally blew Carson-Newman off Jefferson City's McClellan Field by a 44-7 score. The routing triumph goes along side the Gov's 26-0 victory over Eastern Kentucky and their 26-10 win over Murray State.

A check into the record book shows that the 44 points are the most scored by a Governor combine since 1953 when APSC whipped Jacksonville by a 47-16 score.

Head coach Bill Dapes happily watched his players roll up 402 yards on offense, 225 on the ground and another 177 through the airways.

In the three games to date, APSC has total offense gains of 330, 425 and 402 for a total of 1157 yards. The figure is tops in the Ohio Valley Conference and according to latest NCAA statistics the Gova are 18th in the nation with their robust 385.7 average per game.

Eight players got into the scoring column as the Gova scored six touchdowns and four two-point conversions.

The Eagles scared the Gova by picking off an errant lateral in the first quarter to take a 7-0 lead. David Delozier grabbed an Eddie Hartner-screen pass and trotted 15 yards to paydirt. Guard Bobby Buckner successfully converted.

A big 28-point second quarter gave the Gova a comfortable 28-7 halftime lead, however, and the coaches emptied the bench as hungry APSC scored 15 more points in the last half for the shattering victory.

Linebacker Bobby Byrd recovered his first of two C-N fumbles early in the second stanza and the Gova marched 28 yards in eight plays with sophomore fullback John Ogles going over from the two. Sterling senior quarterback Carlton Platt bootlegged for the two-point conversion and APSC led 8-7.

Gova seek added prestige Sat. against defending champion

Will the Gova be able to hold first place in the OVC? The answer will come Saturday when APSC invades Bowling Green, Ky., for an important game against Western Kentucky.

The surging Gova are off to their best start since 1953 when they rolled past East Tennessee 21-13 and Henderson State 34-6. A victory over Western would greatly enhance the Gova's chances of being a contender in the OVC race.

The Hilltoppers have a veteran squad returning which includes 22 lettermen from last year's contingent which posted a win in the Tangerine Bowl. The defending OVC champs suffered key losses in Joe Bugel, Gary Kelley, Bob Westmoreland, and John Mutchler, who was selected as the OVC lineman of the year.

Pacing Western's attack is quarterback Sharon Miller, halfbacks Jim Burt and Crosby Bright and fullbacks John Burt and Dale Lindsey. Offensive starting linemen are ends Stan

Napper and Ken Waller, tackles Hugh Sturgeon and Walter Hawkins, guards Bob Holman and Ed Crym and center Tom Murrell.

Western is tutored by Nick Denez, who last year was selected OVC coach of the year. Denez had a pre-season comment regarding the OVC race:

"Barring injuries in key spots, we should be contenders. But East Tennessee, Middle Tennessee, Tennessee Tech and Murray State are also in the race."

stops and five assists for the evening, recovered his second fumble on the Eagles' ensuing drive and the Govs were in business on the Eagle 20.

APSC covered the short 20 yard distance in only three plays with Ogles again bulging for the score from the two. Halfback Tim Chilcutt hit fellow halfback Arnold Huskey for the two-point extra.

Leading 16-7, the Dapex-coached crew struck for two quick TDs, with a 93 yard drive capitalizing the first. Ray Hand scored from the two, but a 69 yard pass from Flatt to Claude Clements highlighted the drive, Chilcutt's run for the conversion fell short.

Trying desperately to play "catch-up" against APSC, the Fighting Parsons took to the air on the strength of signal-caller Jim Reeves' arm. Chilcutt grabbed his second interception of the evening and raced 53 yards to the double stripe to the dismay of Reeves and his mates. Romie Parson's try for the point after failed.

After intermission the Govs struck again on a 15-yard scoring play from Flatt to Parson. Backup quarterback Eddie Hartner came off the bench and raced for the two-pointer giving APSC a 36-7 lead.

Freshman Jerry Taylor, center from Fayetteville, recovered an Eagle fumble on C-N 40 as the third quarter ended. The recovery led to the Govs' final six-pointers as Hartner connected with freshman flankman Mike Riddle on a 39-yard toss. Hartner then hit Parson for the 43rd and 44th points.

With 13 minutes in the encounter following the final score the Govs' third unit tried vainly to score on two occasions. A fumble killed the first on the nine yard line, while the second subsided on the Eagle 21.

Flatt led the Govs in the offense department with 57 yards rushing and 103 passing for 158 yards on total offense. The scholarly athlete now has 380 yards in three games and is a threat to break the all-time single season mark of 972.

Huskey picked up 56 yards in nine carries; Ogles accounted for 46 in 12 totes; and Hand, the leading ground gainer, was held to 17 in six carries.

Hartner had 40 yards in his credit and Rodney Rogers, No. 3 quarterback, accounted for 51 with 14 rushing and 37 passing. Chilcutt tied a single game mark with his two pass interceptions and surpassed another with his 63 yards on the two steals. The 5-10, 165 pounder, cracked a single season mark as he now has four pass interceptions.

The APSC career mark for interceptions is eight and Tim has seven in his two-plus years with the Govs. He snared two aerials as a freshman and plucked two last year.

Defensively, APSC was spearheaded by Byrd, who was all over the field. Other significant contributions were given by tackle LeRoy Walter, halfbacks Tommy Bigham and Huskey, who all had four tackles each.

The victory in the non-conference tilt gives the Govs and Morehead State 3-0 overall records among OVC teams. APSC is still alone atop the loop standings with a 2-0 mark followed by Morehead and Middle Tennessee, both 1-0.

ray should all be considered prime candidates for the title. I would even say that any club in the entire conference is capable of breaking into the first division-- the race is going to be that tough."

The Hilltoppers had trouble in their opening game but managed to edge by Southeast Missouri 14-0. Two weeks ago Western encountered a powerful Buccaneer attack as the East Tennesseans romped to a 16-9 victory.

A capacity crowd of 5,500 is expected to engulf the Western Stadium for the 2 o'clock contest.

His name's Flatt but he's sharp

"Deserve success and you shall command it." — anonymous
A modest senior, who calls the signals for the Govs, fits the description of this quote. Carlton Flatt indeed is a rare athlete, one who can pace the Govs to victory and yet rank unimpressively with the best students of APSC.

Flatt is a physics major and math minor from Nashville. The 5-10, 150 - pound quarterback lettered three years at Cumberland High School where he was selected All-Class AA, Football however wasn't Flatt's only interest as he was a member of the track team.

Head master Bill Dapex proudly speaks of his quarterback, "Carlton is a fine competitor and a fine athlete." Respected by his teammates as a leader, Flatt has engineered the Govs to surprising wins over Eastern Kentucky 26-0 and Murray State 20-10. When questioned about the victory over the Racers Flatt replied, "The win over Murray was the result of a great team effort."

CARLTON FLATT

The diminutive quarterback was honored last year by selection as the OVC back of the week, an honor that he gained again this year for his sterling performance against Murray State. The Williamson system tabbed Flatt for honorable mention of their Little All-American team.

In the classroom Carlton excels as he does on the gridiron earning top grades. In the fall quarter of 1963 the talented senior earned a perfect 4.0 grade average. The winter quarter, again found Carlton's name on the Dean's list and the spring quarter a neat B-plus average was made.

When asked how he accounted for the improvement of the squad Carlton grinned and explained, "Our coaches and their ability prepare the team to give us the confidence that we need."

"I plan to continue my study of physics and math on the graduate level," Carlton concluded, when asked of his future plans. Carlton Flatt is indeed an asset to APSC as a student and as an athlete.
