Foreword

Situated on an urban campus that for over 150 years has been used for educational purposes, Austin Peay State University is a state-supported, multipurpose institution located in Clarksville, the state's sixth-largest city with a population of 35,657.

Named for one of Tennessee's great governors, the university is divided into five distinct divisions. These include the college of arts and sciences, college of education, school of business and economics, division of applied arts and sciences and the graduate school. Six degrees, three on the undergraduate and three on the graduate level, are granted. In addition, the university offers pre-professional curricula in nine areas.

A record 3,305 students (2,058 men and 1,247 women) come from 31 states, nine foreign countries and 58 of the 95 counties in Tennessee.

Twenty-five new faculty members and administrative appointments brought the full-time teaching faculty to 136, of which 31 per cent hold the earned doctorate, and the professional staff to 19.

APSU is obligated ...

... to teach

Application of varied teaching methods by the university's departments of instruction reflects a desire to offer the student a complete education. Curriculum and departmental structure are under constant revision. Flexibility has been added to the criteria for depth in learning, with the stress on informal as well as formal classes in an effort to accomplish the task APSU has undertaken.

... to increase knowledge

With her status as a full-fledged university only a year old, APSU is "pulling all stops" in meeting the ever-demanding challenges being hurled at her. The university is utilizing all available resources to meet the demands of a student body more aware and receptive to the world around them than their predecessors of a decade and a half ago.

... to provide society with professionally

Caught up in a mainstream of higher education, the university takes seriously its obligation to the student who is preparing himself for survival and success in today's diverse society. From the beginning of a college education to the time of graduation, Austin Peay State University never forgets it is for the student that she exists. Degrees granted include the bachelor of science, bachelor of arts, bachelor of science in education, master of arts in education, master of science and master of arts.

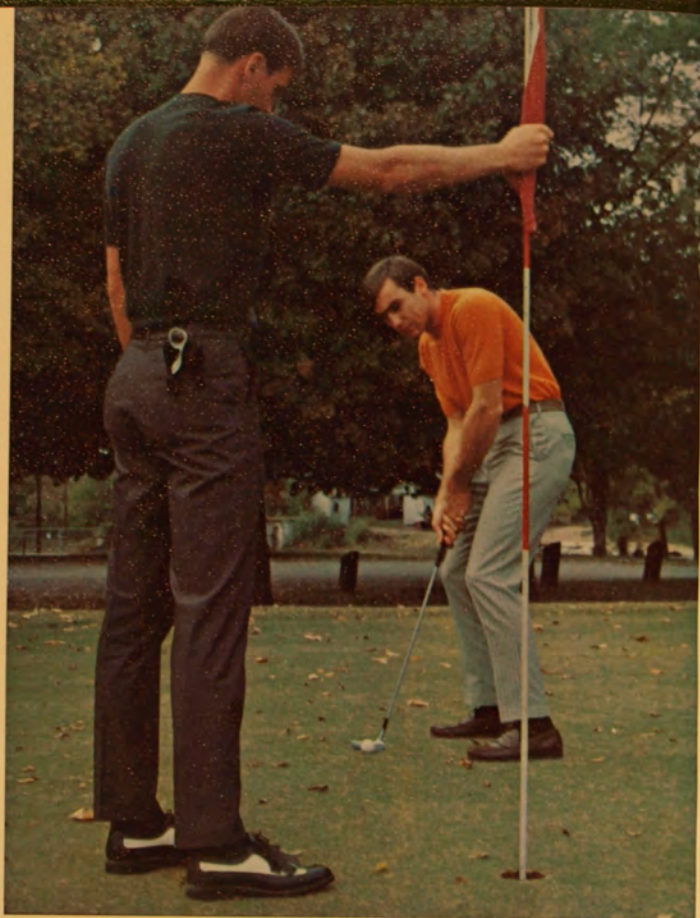

... trained people

While placing the bulk of the emphasis on the student, the university is also aware of her obligation to the people of the surrounding communities. The self-imposed responsibility manifests itself in a way which creates a mutual campus-community respect. The cultural, educational and fraternal aspects of the college are all shared in an effort to benefit as many people as possible.

... to perform public services

Laborious hours of study give way to leisure times

Winter quarter's mood of anxious academics surrenders to warm weather's temptations, and class attendance dives as students find rejuvenation in a vast array of summer activities. These leisure hours afford a break in the demanding rigors of term papers, themes and exams while creating pride in perfection of new skills.

Along with fall's pre-registration confusion is the mad shuffle to move out of the suitcase and into the dorm. The first feelings of involvement are rekindled at the sight of familiar faces and the thought of making new friends. Initial excitement turns into a memorable year of lasting friendships.

Moving in, meeting friends—all part of dorm life

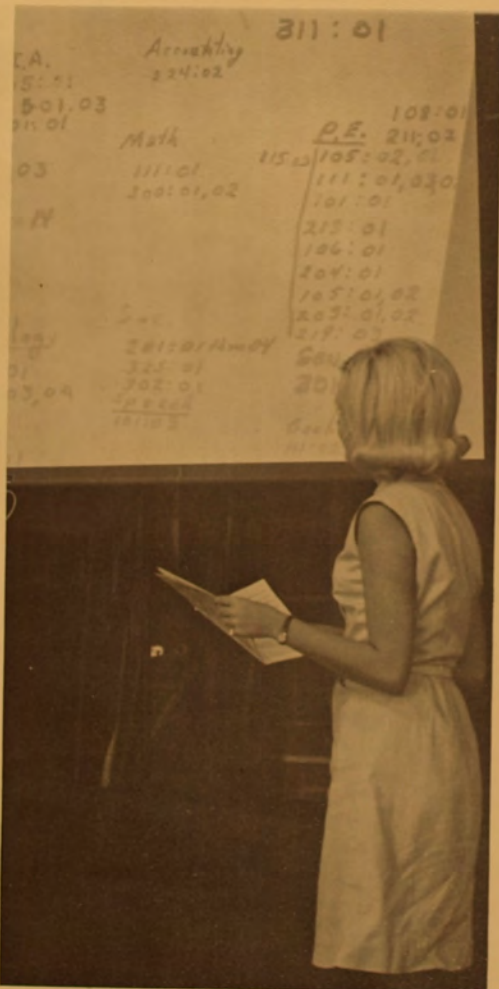

Orientation week helps freshmen adapt to campus routine

The week preceding registration and classes is spent orientating the freshmen into active campus life. Dances, picnics and cafeteria jam sessions provide the informal atmosphere conducive for a relaxed period of adjustment. Climaxing this week is the president's reception where the new student is formally received into the academic and social realm of the university.

Record number of students endure frustration of registration

Freshman "fun" week necessarily leads to registration where the reality of university academic life unfolds, sometimes in nightmarish fashion. Long lines, closed sections and revised trial schedules unite the student body under a common bond of frustration. A record 3,305 students enrolled for the fall quarter.

Campus atmosphere proves conducive to student fellowship

University life encompasses more than textbooks and studies, seminars and term papers. Hours spent with others in crowds or in pairs, are valuable ones to the student. On and off campus he has the opportunity for self-education through association with his contemporaries during this developmental phase of his life.

Classes begin in earnest

Settling down to the routine of the university comes as a welcomed relief after days of pre-registration preparation. Students find their time occupied by classes and after-class studies. Boredom is almost unheard of as the diversity of the student's quarterly study load unfolds.

Presenting of queen, court highlights homecoming '68

Creative minds, confident leaders and tireless workers constitute the teamwork essential for a beautiful and rewarding homecoming 1968. The cold, bruised fingers and haggard nerves are all but forgotten as the weekend's activities get underway. Students and alumni glow with nostalgic pride during the crowning ceremony of sophomore Roberta Ross from Bumpus Mills, Tenn.

Freshman, IA Club floats capture first-place honors

"Happiness is Homecoming" set the theme for the 1968 festivities which traditionally welcome visiting alumni. The freshmen placed first in the class float division, with the Industrial Arts Club's float winning the club division as well as being judged best entry in the parade. Sigma Tau Omega's entry in the car division took top honors.

Enthusiastic student body backs the Gov footballers

With batons twirling, drums booming and crowds cheering, the university rallies 'round the 1968 football team. Total student body participation and enthusiasm account for the abundance of spirit, which provides the backbone of any successful season. Blazing bonfires and lively, zealous cheerleaders create a mood conducive to inspired support of the athletic program.

Dorm procedures become busy way of life for many

After-hours life in the resident halls can safely be placed in the realm of the hectic. Preparation for the next day seems to be one of the major considerations when looking at the over-all scheme of dorm life. Unmade beds, dirty clothes and the residue of meals past shed a not-too-scholarly light on the student.

Kaleidoscope of fashions brings a cosmopolitan air

Beards, baubles and beads! The APSU scene bristles with that atmosphere of medallions and Nehru jackets which epitomize a dominant segment of today's campuses. Struck by the fad, the far out, the ultra-conservatives and some in-betweens add a cosmopolitan air to campus life by keeping up with current trends.

Entertainers, noted speaker highlight year's list of activity

Student cries of "more big-name entertainment" were answered this year by such top names as Josh White, The Town Criers and The Platters. White's appearance drew a standing ovation.

One of the nationally acclaimed "Up With People" groups appeared on campus as did the National Shakespeare Company's production of "Othello." Drew Pearson, the noted Washington columnist, spoke to a standing-room-only crowd in early February.

Holiday dance offers students welcome break before exams

In the midst of worries over forthcoming final examinations, the student body celebrated the last day of fall quarter classes by relaxing at the annual Christmas Dance. The Memphis Mudd, an eight-member male group, provided the music for the dancers.

Winter's persistent weather brings an array of costumes

Cold and dampness dictated the appropriate wearing apparel during the rain and snow-filled winter quarter. Even the fashion-conscious relented to necessary raiment to gather protection from the January rain and the 10-inch February snow.

Library, University Center provide study, social areas

Activity abounded in two of the university's newest buildings, the University Center and the library. Charged with the majority of co-curricular and academic functions on campus, the game room and the supply store in the student union proved popular. Study areas and specialized rooms were used greatly by library-goers.

Hectic routines of student life include a variety of activities

Day-to-day living includes a variety of activities from room cleaning to attending the church of the students' choice. Independence is gained, yet it is contrasted with the sharing of varied experiences, whether it be a roommate or a special friend.

APSU plays role of host for student government meeting

Keynote speaker Neal Wade from Samford University in Alabama urged student leaders "that challenge is the acceptance of the responsibility for our demands" at the statewide Student Government Association three-day conference hosted by APSU in January.

Ray Radford, APSU senior and Tennessee state chairman of the student leaders, presided over the event which attracted 130 from 15 colleges and universities.

Efficient band, cheerleaders add spice to athletic contests

Sparkling performances by the APSU Marching Governors and Governettes were not accidental—there were many hours of practice. By the same token, the cheerleaders did not rest after the conclusion of football season as they performed during the heavy basketball schedule.

Singer Cathy Della-Giustina crowned Miss Hat and Cane

Vocalist Catherine Della-Giustina from Augusta, Ga., represented APSU at the Miss Tennessee pageant last summer after being crowned Miss Hat and Cane. Dianna Barrett and Donna Denney were first runner-up and second runner-up respectively.

AP Playhouse, debate squad enjoy active year of success

Repeated success by the AP Playhouse and the debate squad during the year brought accolades from the university community, the Clarks-ville area and from other universities.

"The Visit," a three-act drama, depicted the gradual corruption of the small town of Guellen. Following the fall production, the Playhouse presented the award-winning play "The Miracle Worker."

Only in their second year, the debate team brought home more trophies making a total of nine since being organized.

Student wives find themselves in trying roles of multiple duty

Twenty-seven per cent of APSU's students are married, and many live in modern apartments on or adjacent to the campus. In many cases, the woman plays the role of spouse, parent and student; others work so that the husband can earn a college education.

10 prettiest coeds at APSU selected as campus beauties

Ten coeds were chosen by a popular vote of the student body to represent the university in the yearbook as campus beauties. After preliminary balloting, the select 10 were elected. Three, Martha Penick, Becky Scott and Dianna Barrett, are repeaters from 1968.

Beauties combine looks with freshness pleasing to behold

As well as being pleasing to the eye, beauty incorporates the qualities of freshness, vivacity and simplicity. Concurring with Keats that "a thing of beauty is a joy forever," the yearbook has captured forever some of the natural loveliness that abounds at APSU.

Most distinguished seniors represented by Governor, First Lady

Selected on the basis of leadership, scholarship and service to the university by an all-campus vote, Governor Carl Williams and First Lady Martha Penick represent the most outstanding seniors. Carl, a football letterman, is a health and physical education major; Martha serves as president of WSGC.

Faye Wallace, Mike McDaniel chosen best all-round individuals

Faye Wallace

Faye Wallace, a junior and a member of Sigma Tau Omega, and Mike McDaniel, a senior art major, received the titles of Miss APSU and Bachelor of Ugliness respectively. They represent the best all-round personalities on campus.

Mike McDaniel

Pam Chance

Iris Queen

Tabbed with the honor of being the prettiest unmarried girl in the student body, Pam Chance won the coveted title of Iris Queen. Chosen by popular vote, Pam reigned over the Iris Ball, spring formal, as queen. A freshman from Nashville, she was a homecoming attendant and campus beauty.

Roberta Ross

Homecoming Queen

Roberta Ross, a sophomore from Bumpus Mills, reigned as queen over the 1968 homecoming festivities. A health and physical education major, Roberta was also named a campus beauty. The striking coed won an area beauty pageant during the fall quarter, and was named second runner-up in the statewide contest.

Miss Hat and Cane

Miss Hat and Cane is the talented beauty who represents APSU annually in the Miss Tennessee contest. Chosen by a panel of judges on the basis of talent, poise, personality and beauty, Cathy Della-Giustina won the 1968 local two-day contest. The vocalist sang a selection from "Porgy and Bess" for her talent.

Cathy Della-Giustina

Alan Dickinson, Donna Hunt

King and Queen of Hearts

Nominated by the sororities and elected by popular vote, the King and Queen of Hearts were crowned at the annual Valentine Dance. Alan Dickinson, a junior from Trenton, Ky., and Donna Hunt, a junior English major from Clarksville, were representatives of Sigma Tau Omega.

Barnfest, Valentine ball mark 2 gala affairs of social season

Fun-filled Barnfest and the romance of the Valentine Dance were two highlights of the social season. Organizations sponsored individual booths at Barnfest, while the Valentine ball was a girl-ask-boy affair. Donna Hunt reigned as queen during the February event.

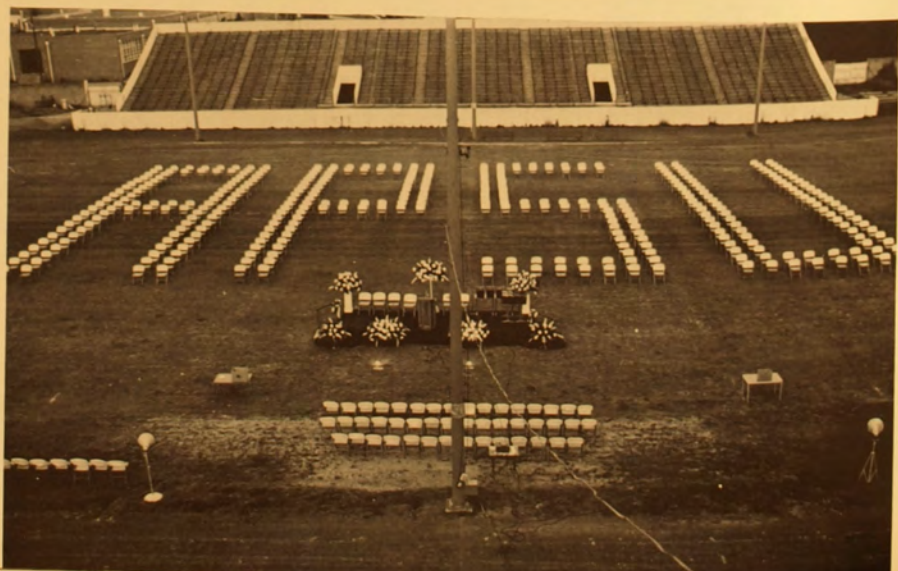

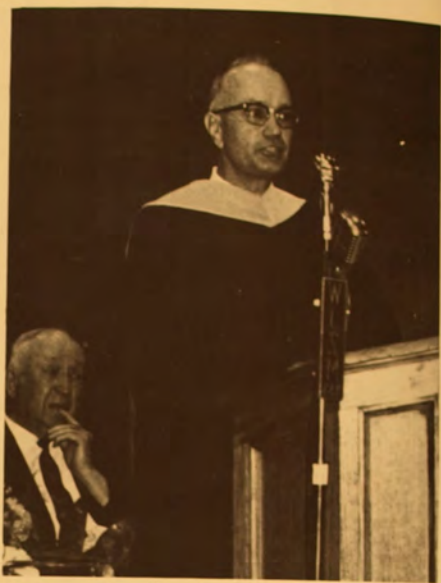

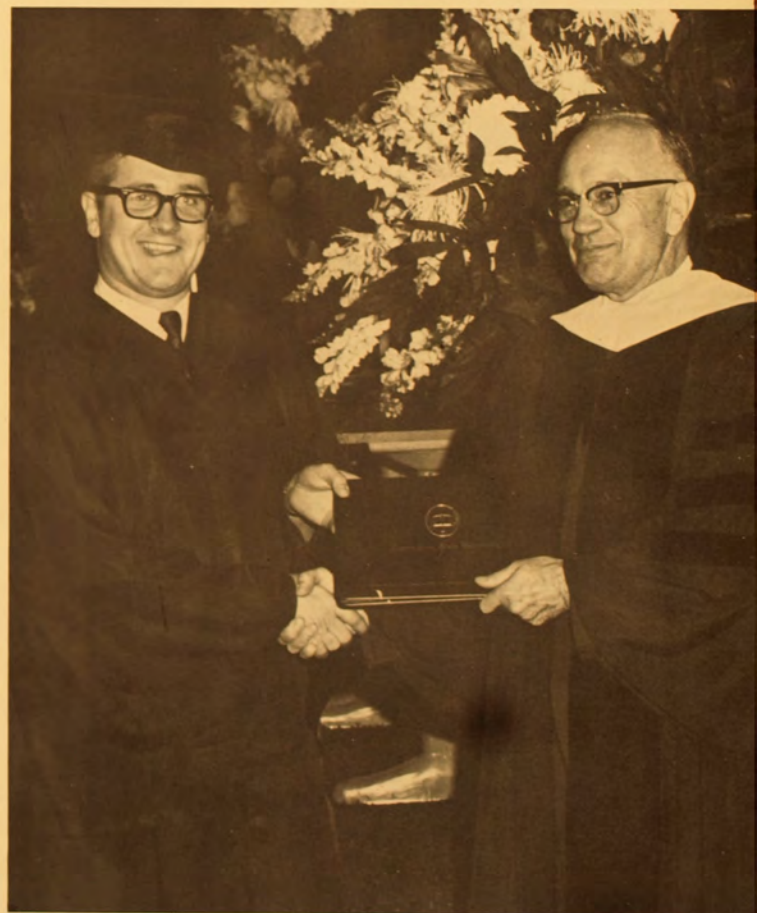

Formal sorority dance, Iris Ball highlight spring quarter

Spring brings APSU's two formal dances. The Presentation Ball, sponsored by the Inter-Sorority Council, introduced the pledges as actives for the university's three sororities. Becky Scott from Chapel Hill reigned over the Iris Ball as queen.

433 granted diplomas at 39th annual graduation ceremony

Four hundred and thirty-three students received degrees at the 39th annual commencement held on Friday evening, May 31, 1968. Following the traditional Farewell and Hail ceremony, Dr. Joe Morgan, university president, addressed the candidates.

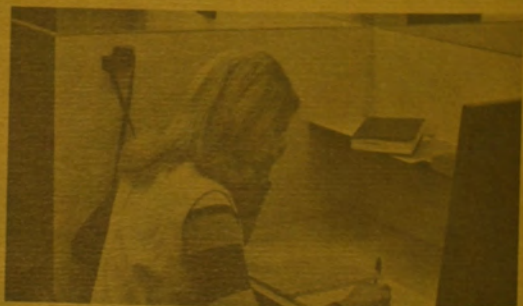

Placement Office helps find student employment

From the first day of enrollment as a freshman, placement becomes all-important to the APSU student. Mrs. Wanda S. Pinckley, director of placement, strives to keep the lines of communication open so that all enrolled can find desirable employment.

ACADEMICS

Emphasis on excellence has been recognized nationally and regionally as APSU has set increasingly higher standards for itself over the years. Fully accredited, the university is organized into two colleges, two schools and one division.

Six degrees, three undergraduate and three graduate, enable the student to select the particular program which best meets his requirements for the future. Instruction is offered in 31 areas on the undergraduate level, plus nine pre-professional curricula offerings. At the graduate level, knowledge can be pursued in 10 departments.

A highly trained full-time faculty of 136, of which 53 per cent either hold the earned doctorate or have completed all course requirements, attempts to use their experience and wisdom in assisting the student to think for himself to deal capably with his environment.

Fast becoming a geographical crossroads through her intricate system of faculty and student recruitment, APSU strives to provide a quality education.

As the commitment to improvement becomes more and more pressing, a searching self appraisal is constantly being conducted. The pursuit of excellence in learning means a curricula which leads to intellectual maturity and development of ideas, insights and values which form a permanent personal capacity for thought and action.

Operating under the state board of education, of which Gov. Buford Ellington is an ex-officio member, APSU was privileged to have many of the board members and the governor on campus May 16, 1968, for the dedication of seven buildings.

ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICERS

Forward-thinking Dr. Joe Morgan encourages student opinion

Student participation, in matters which make a difference, has been enhanced by Dr. Joe Morgan, the forward-thinking president of APSU. Strengthening and expanding present programs and the establishment of new ones have been a chief concern this year of the Southern Region Education Board member.

Ellis, Stamper take over new posts; Bowman leaves deanship

Top academic changes occurred when Dr. William H. Ellis was named dean of faculties, and Dr. Wayne E. Stamper, former acting president of Parsons College, became dean of the graduate school. M. P. Bowman is completing his final year as admissions dean.

Changes affect Savage and Gentry as Shasteen retains position

Administrative reorganization saw Dr. Tom K. Savage move from dean of students to dean of the college of education and Glenn S. Gentry become director of the school of business and economics. Competent R. C. Shasteen, business manager, oversees university financial affairs.

Public relations officers Earl E. Sexton, director of development and field services; Sherwin Clift, director of public information; and Henry C. Malone, director of alumni affairs; along with their capable staffs, strive to extend the affairs of the university before the community, state and nation.

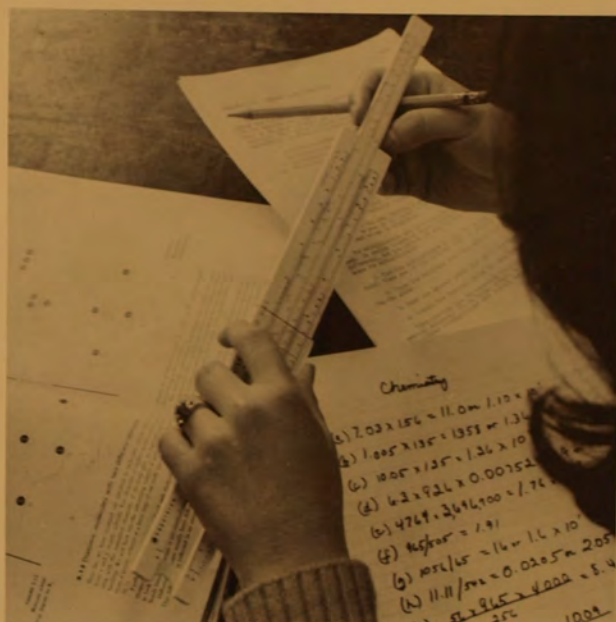

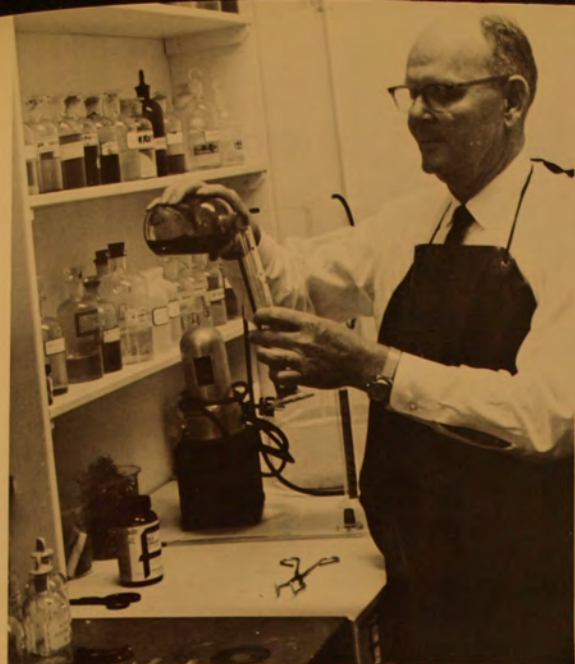

Campus art exhibits result in increased number of majors

On-campus art displays, personal art exhibited by the five faculty members and a choice of more than 30 different courses, including popular electives, brought about a rapid increase in student majors (nearly 100) and minors.

Two new laboratories were used initially by the department of chemistry. One lab is a research area housing the recently acquired Varian Nuclear Magnetic Resonance spectrometer. The other laboratory is a spacious and colorful area shared by organic and general chemistry.

Biology department provides requested class for students

Wildlife management, a course requested by students, was added this year. Both graduates and undergraduates are using the nearby Ft. Campbell, Ky., reservation for research and study of field techniques. Facility expansion and added equipment will allow the offering of plant physiology soon.

Course abroad, versatile lab added to language study plan

Inaugurated last summer was a Study-in-France program where 11 students lived with families and received 12 quarter hours of academic credit.

With the recent move to quarters in the underground level of the library building, the department of modern languages is using an advanced 35-booth language laboratory.

Bimonthly discussion groups held by philosophy professor

Topics of current philosophical interest are discussed two evenings each month by students at a forum enacted by the philosophy department. Also, four graduate courses were established this year, and an undergraduate major may soon become a reality.

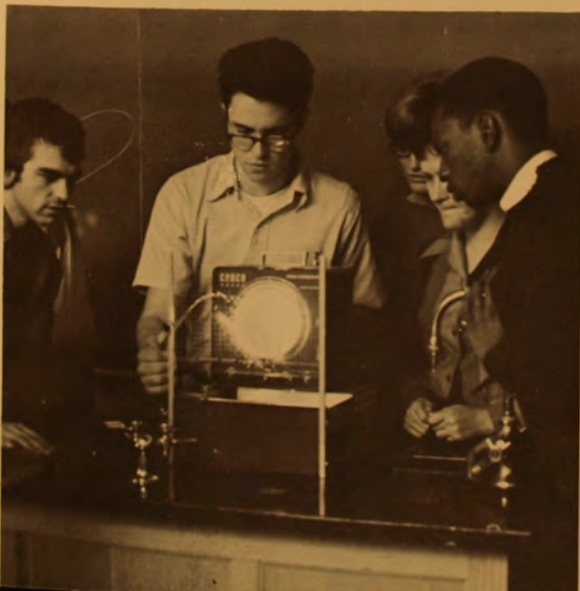

Unique physics program financed through NSF grant

"Physics: The Program for Teachers" was instituted this year with the aid of a National Science Foundation grant. The program, only one of its type in the United States, includes six new courses and a summer program quasi-internship.

Sociology department offers minor in relaxed atmosphere

Although no major is offered, the sociology department grants a minor (27 quarter hours) and endorsement to teach the subject in high school (18 hours). Dr. L. Paul Hyatt is acting chairman of the department.

Co-curricular organizations keep speech instructors busy

One of the most active departments due to its co-curricular organizations is speech and theatre. The department sponsors the AP Playhouse, Alpha Psi Omega dramatic fraternity and the growing debate team. Joe Filippo assumed the chairmanship in September, replacing Dr. David D. Mays.

Right: Three speech students demonstrate a situation for clarity. Below: Rehearsals for the AP Playhouse production of "The Visit" proved taxing. Panel: John G. Griffin, Linda G. Journalism courses provide introduction to profession

Designed for the student who wishes to learn the basics of journalistic writing, journalism, an area of instruction, has four course offerings. Charles M. Waters, associate professor of English, and Sherwin Clift, director of public information, teach the subjects.

An introduction to the profession of journalism and to the work of the newspaper reporter is provided, along with a specific journalistic style of writing.

New business administration major to permit specialization

Beginning in the fall of 1969, a new major will be offered in business administration that will permit optional limited specialization in accounting, economics, finance and marketing. Two new courses in management and two in insurance will be added to the curriculum as more emphasis will be placed upon management policy and decision making.

'Seminar on Taxation' brings informative tax men for talks

"Seminar on Taxation," a business-economic forum, was sponsored by the department of accounting in late January. Three top tax men, including James A. O'Hara, district director of the Internal Revenue Service, expounded on timely topics. J F Burney returned from a leave of absence to chair the department.

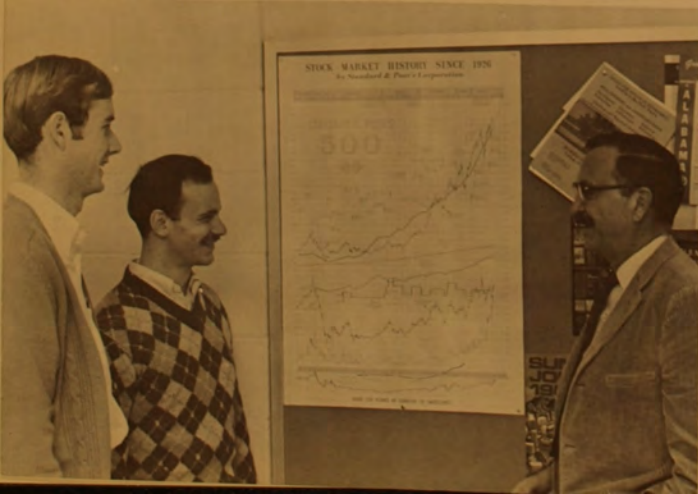

'Dismal Science' has become field of brilliant opportunity

Once called "The Dismal Science," economics has now become "a science of opportunity" as our nation has prospered. The department is chaired by Dr. Aaron A. Hutcheson, who earned his doctorate at Clemson during the summer of 1968.

COLLEGE OF EDUCATION

Teacher education program gains prestige under Bunger

Highly touted for its teacher preparation program, the department of education is headed by Dr. Fred A. Bunger, who replaced Dr. Harold S. Pryor, now president of Columbia State Community College. Students enrolled in teacher education must complete a specified 36-hour sequence.

Above left: Dr. Fred A. Bunger, chairman of the education department, critiques a graduate paper for James Scroggins. Learning Resources Center great aid to library scientists Greatly expanded physical facilities have enabled library science, a cognate area of instruction, to implement a more realistic preparation for librarianship. The move to the Claxton Building early last year provided a Learning Resources Center, where future librarians can practice theories.

Courses added to meet needs of industrial arts department

Expanded course offerings and a more than doubling freshman enrollment brought about significant changes for the industrial arts department. New subjects added were Fluid Power, Refrigeration and Air Conditioning, Automatic Power Applications and Controls and Metallurgy.

New committees strengthen library policy and services

Endeavoring to provide APSU students with better library service, a student library committee was appointed in January. The six student members met apart from the faculty committee and made proposals for improvement. The committees, bicameral in nature, helped strengthen policy making.

ATHLETICS

In a world which moves at an ever-increasing pace, athletics is taking a more important position as it offers recreation and enjoyment both to spectator and participant.

Recognizing the importance of intercollegiate competition, the university fields varsity teams in seven sports: football, cross-country, basketball, baseball, golf, tennis and track. Freshman slates are played in football and basketball. The Governors compete for championships as members of the Ohio Valley Conference and the National Collegiate Athletic Association. Having climbed to the levels of a contender in nearly every sport in the OVC, the Gobs have major-college or university division status in every sport except football.

Varsity competition is only a part of the physical education program, however, as students not gifted enough or interested in intercollegiate athletics find ample recreational opportunities afforded them through the intramural program. Individual and team sports are available including badminton, table tennis, volleyball, basketball, football and swimming.

Also, through the six physical education activity courses required of each student the university is able to effect a proper balance between the academic and athletic perspectives of higher education in offering a complete educational experience for the student.

Governors rewrite record book on way to 5-5 football slate

Records fell by the wayside as the 1968 edition of APSU's football Governors broke or tied 32 standards. En route to a 5-5 record the youthful scarlet and white sustained defeats at the hands of three of the top 10 college division teams in America during the first three weeks of the season.

With a never-say-die attitude, the young charges came back to become the hottest team in the Ohio Valley Conference before injuries halted a four-game win skein. After two losses, APSU won the season finale, and under the direction of Bill Dupes, the Gobs reversed the losing fortunes of the previous year and returned respectability to the gridiron program.

The squad set records for pass attempts (272), pass completions (126), yards gained by passing (1,785), most punts (76), first downs by passing (73), first downs (165), fumbles (35) and average yards gained per game by passing (178.5).

Dennis Dyer led the assault on individual records from his all-important quarterback slot as he cracked 14 marks. Four of the season marks he set or equalled were most passes attempted (204), most passes completed (99), most yards gained passing (1,354) and most touchdown passes thrown (13).

Continuing his record-breaking habits, Harold (Red) Roberts caught 63 aerials for 990 yards, eclipsing his own marks set a year earlier. Roberts has caught 119 passes for 1,656 yards and 19 touchdowns in his two varsity seasons.

Chattanooga Moccasins roll past young Governors 41-13

Nationally ranked Chattanooga jumped to an early lead the first time that they touched the ball, and proceeded to better the Governors 41-13. Moccasin quarterback Roger Catarino scored Chattanooga's first touchdown on a 14-yard jaunt; he finished the evening with two TD passes.

The contest was actually closer than the score indicated as APSU stayed close in the statistical departments. The passing of Rodney Collins and the receiving of stellar end Harold (Red) Roberts proved to be highlights for the Govs.

Collins connected on 15 of 31 attempts for 222 yards and two touchdowns, and a temporary ranking as the top passer in the conference. Roberts, picking up where he left off as a freshman, latched on to 12 aerials for 155 yards and one tally, setting a new single-game record for yardage on pass receptions.

WKU Hilltoppers overwhelm APSU 42-0 in TD barrage

Facing their second nationally ranked opponent in as many weeks proved disastrous for APSU's young footballers as Western Kentucky ran roughshod over the Govs 42-0.

The awesome Hilltopper defense, which topped the Ohio Valley Conference, completely stifled the Gov ground game and did almost the same to the passing attack. After the WKU offense had put 19 points on the scoreboard in the first quarter, the defense took over and added 15 more.

Defensive back Howell Flatt picked off two errant Kentuckian tosses to establish a career interception record with 12 thefts. Red Roberts again stole the show on offense as he hauled in five passes for 77 yards in spite of being double and triple-teamed all day.

EKU Colonels withstand fantastic Gov finish to win 21-20

Roaring into town as the No. 2 ranked team in the nation, Eastern Kentucky barely withstood a last-gasp rally by APSU to eke out a narrow 21-20 win.

Three opportunities to score in the first quarter were afforded APSU, the first coming after a Bill Blair-blocked punt. However, the Colonels held and went to the dressing room at intermission with a 7-0 lead.

Eastern built a 21-0 lead in the third stanza, but two touchdowns by Ronnie Hackney put the Govs within striking distance. The rally fell short, however, when Dennis Dyer was unable to complete a two-point conversion pass after his own one-yard run had cut the margin to 21-20.

Collins kicks Governors to 17-16 win over MSU

Overcoming a fourth quarter 16-7 deficit, APSU recorded their initial victory of the season by downing Morehead 17-16. The alert Governors pounced on three fumbles and intercepted a stray Eagle toss.

Dennis Dyer was thrown for an early safety to give Morehead a 2-0 lead, but the Govs came back to march 58 yards and take a 7-2 lead.

With 8:04 remaining in the game, Rodney Collins booted a 22-yard field goal to pull APSU to within six, 16-10. A key fourth down sprint by Dyer and a Dyer-to-Terry Johnson pass put the ball on the MSU two. Ronnie Hackney plunged across for the tying points; Collins then connected on his third kick of the evening. Johnson had earlier set the stage for Collins' field goal with another strategic catch.

Top: Swivel-hipped Ronnie Simpson sweeps right for yardage against Middle Tennessee. Above: Upstretched hands by officials indicate that Gene Carney has crossed the goal line for the Blue Raiders. Above Right: The APSU defense held Middle Tennessee to minus 29 yards rushing in the last half.

Arch-rival Middle Tennessee was completely annihilated 46-13 as APSU won their second straight game and third consecutive victory in as many visits to Murfreesboro.

The Blue Raiders scored first and last in the game; however, the Governors packed six touchdowns and two safeties in between.

An alert Gov defense recovered two fumbles, intercepted four passes and held the Raiders to only 41 yards rushing. Howell Flatt, all-conference safety, blocked three punts.

Meanwhile, the APSU offensive machine rolled up 20 first downs and 404 yards total offense.

Ronnie Simpson picked up 119 yards in 22 carries, and fullback Ronnie Hackney garnered 60 yards in only three totes of the pigskin. Hackney galloped 54 yards for one touchdown, while Simpson added a tally from one yard out.

Signal-caller Dennis Dyer found Red Roberts in the end zone twice, and he connected with Ronnie Fuqua for 42 yards for another score. Martin Ogles capped the scoring with a 31-yard interception return.

Record-breaking Roberts pulls Govs past FC 47-20

Producing over 40 points for the second week in a row, APSU rode the record-shattering pass receiving performance of Red Roberts to roll past Findlay College 47-20.

Roberts, all-league split end, caught 11 tosses for 222 yards and three touchdowns. He was helped in the offensive bombardment by Dennis Dyer, who threw for four TDs and carried for two himself. In addition, Ronnie Simpson trucked for 114 yards in 24 carries. Ronnie Fuqua added 70 yards in 10 totes.

Fuqua scored once on a 37-yard sprint, and Chuck Field completed the point-scoring from his tight end position with a bruising 55-yard run after receiving a Dyer aerial.

Govs bomb Murray Racers 56-35 with aerial fireworks

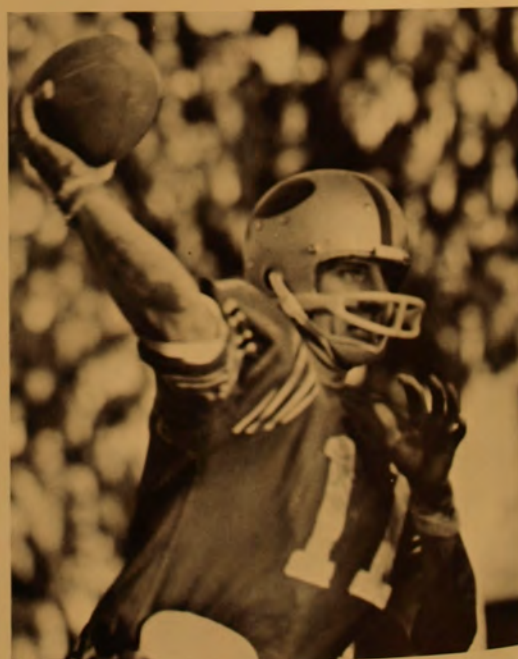

One of the largest fireworks displays in Ohio Valley Conference annals took place when APSU entertained Murray State and walked away with a 56-35 victory.

The slugfest saw the two teams amass a combined total offense of 1,070 yards, throw 75 passes and complete 40 for 786 yards. Dennis Dyer outdid OVC leader Larry Tillman by completing 18 of 29 for 280 yards and four touchdowns.

Red Roberts thrilled the crowd by leaping between two MSU defenders, grabbing a Dyer pass and waltzing into the end zone. Ronnie Simpson also starred as he raced 81 yards for a TD, and garnered 142 yards in 15 rushing attempts.

Tennessee Tech spoils Gov homecoming with 10-0 triumph

Winning the battle of statistics but losing the war for points, Tennessee Tech's lowly Eagles upset the high-flying Govs 10-0. The homecoming contest had an ominous beginning as both Rodney Collins and Ronnie Fuqua sustained ankle injuries during the opening minutes.

Later in the contest Ronnie Simpson had to leave because of a shoulder injury. Before being injured, Simpson garnered 75 yards in 18 carries.

TTU's Larry Schreiber kept the Govs at bay as he gained 186 yards in 36 carries, and he covered more territory with long kick returns.

Howell Platt returned an interception 70 yards for an apparent touchdown, but the score was nullified because of clipping.

Shrewd defensive play by East Tennessee and a flurry of mistakes by APSU enabled the Buccaneers to defeat the Gobs 17-8. With little depth at running back and Dennis Dyer forced to run instead of throw because of a thumb injury, the Gobs were unable to stay with the Bucs.

It was late in the fourth stanza before the APSU offense began to roll.

Dyer hit Red Roberts for 14 yards, rambled for 10 himself before handing off to J. B. Cone who hit Chuck Field for 16 yards. Dyer then found Roberts from eight yards out to put APSU on the scoreboard. However, the Gobs were unable to mount any other threats as time expired.

Cone's FG provides margin in muddy 9-7 win over Vols

Relegated to fifth place in the Ohio Valley Conference with a 3-4 mark, APSU closed the season in mud, rain and gale-like winds with a 9-7 victory over UT Martin on Thanksgiving Day.

J. B. Cone split the uprights with a 28-yard field goal in the waning minutes to provide the winning margin. Clutch running by Ronnie Simpson moved the Gobs within field goal range.

APSU scored first by getting the ball on the Volunteers' 32-yard line. A key pass from Dennis Dyer to Red Roberts, who finished 11th in the nation in pass receptions, on fourth down enabled the team to continue their drive. Dyer culminated the march by skirting left end from two yards out.

The Vols forged into a 7-6 lead on a one-yard sprint by Allan Cox and the conversion by Robert Hassell.

15-14 conquest of Volunteers caps 1-4 frosh football season

Fielding a full-fledged freshman football team for the first time in history, APSU's 1968 squad produced a 1-4 mark. The yearlings lacked offensive punch throughout the season as was evidenced by the statistics. The Baby Gobs could manage only 545 yards on total offense, while opponents racked up 1,574.

Fullback Richard Crouch was the leading rusher with 235 yards; he also topped the scoring with 12 markers. Billy Locklear was the top receiver with 11 catches for 99 yards. Terry Ray, who completed 18 of 52 passes for 200 yards, was second behind Crouch in the total offense department. Tommy Westbrook led the defense with 33 tackles and 14 assists.

Harriers finish 3-5 under tutelage of first-year coach

Under the coaching of first-year mentor Chuck Babcock, the 1968 cross-country squad posted their best record in history. Babcock, a former APSU trackster, tutored the harriers to a 3-5 worksheet.

Senior Ron Morton paced the team with five firsts, and was constantly challenged by Billy Sundy as the outstanding runner.

Wins over Sewanee, Fisk and Southwestern highlighted the campaign, as did close defeats at the hands of conference powers Tennessee Tech and Middle Tennessee.

Despite the seasonal record, the Governors were not able to stay out of the cellar in the invitational meets. The runners finished last in the Tennessee Intercollegiate, Western Kentucky and Ohio Valley Conference multiple meets.

Cagers cop 3 straight wins after succumbing to Trinity

After falling to Trinity University in the opener 71-67, the 1968-69 edition of APSU's basketballers reeled off three straight victories.

George Fisher's Governors squeezed by Bethel 108-105 in overtime to record their first win. Junior guard Howard Wright, an all-conference performer for the second consecutive year, poured in 30 points and sophomore Larry Noble and junior oJe Waller added 25 apiece. The trio also paced the 84-64 triumph over UT Martin. Southeast Missouri fell in Memorial Gymnasium by a 92-85 count.

APSU trips Pan American but drops 6 others in slump

Talented Western Kentucky nipped the Governors 75-73, but the Governors rebounded to clobber UT Martin 95-73 to close out the 1968 portion of the slate.

Hope came with the new year as the not-given-much-chance Gobs stopped Ohio Valley Conference foe Eastern Kentucky 73-67. The hope was short lived as the Gobs fell to Morehead State and East Tennessee in overtime. APSU did manage to wallop Pan American 105-74 with Holly Heaberlin leading the way with 18 markers.

Noble's 30 points ends loss skein against Knights 70-67

Continuing to experience trouble in the OVC, APSU lost to rivals Tennessee Tech (79-74) and Middle Tennessee (97-79). In between these two defeats, the Governors lost to Southeast Missouri (82-81) and Transylvania (73-72). Narrow losses haunted the Fishermen; over the entire campaign the Gavs lost seven games by a total of 21 points.

Murray State worsened APSU's league mark with two successive wins, but the Gavs were able to overcome Bellarmine twice. Larry Noble made his presence felt as one of the OVC's top sophs by tallying 30 points in the initial win over Bellarmine.

Govs manage only second OVC win, slap TTU 91-74

Cross-state rival Tennessee Tech provided APSU with their second league victory after the Govs had fallen to Morehead and Eastern Kentucky at home. The Eagles held APSU close for a half before Howard Wright (33) and Larry Noble (25) led the Govs to a 91-74 win.

APSU bounces WKU 84-80

Disappointing losses to East Tennessee and Middle Tennessee were soon forgotten as APSU closed the season by upsetting Western Kentucky 84-80 in overtime. Howard Wright, Charlie Moore and Larry Noble paved the way for the thrilling finish.

Led by guard Tom Santel, the 1968-69 version of the APSU freshman roundballers posted a 7-8 record. The Carl Taylor-coached quintet showed flashes of brilliance even though sporting only a mediocre record.

The yearling Govs lost four in a row early in the season, including two to a highly touted Vanderbilt squad. The Baby Govs were able to avenge an early season loss to WKU as they plastered the Hilltoppers in the finale 99-84.

Santel touted a 23.4 scoring average, and had a high game of 40 points against UT Martin. He was also the best free throw shooter on the squad as he hit 83 out of 109 attempts for a 76.1 percentage.

Jeff Murdock (17.4), Ivan Harris (12.7) and Charles Smith (11.0) also averaged in double digits. Harris connected on 57.0 per cent of his shots to lead the team in that department.

Holder's slugging overshadowed by diamond nine's 6-14 mark

An astronomical pitching earned run average and the lack of power at the plate combined to produce a 6-14 record for the 1968 baseball team. Pitchers allowed the rate of 6.27 runs per game, and the batters garnered only 26 extra-base blows during the 20-game schedule.

One individual was outstanding, however, as junior college transfer Terry Holder led the team in 10 offensive and two defensive categories. Holder, a third baseman, hit .389 and led or tied for the lead in runs, hits, triples, homers, runs batted in, total bases, hit by pitches, bases on balls, games played, assists and errors.

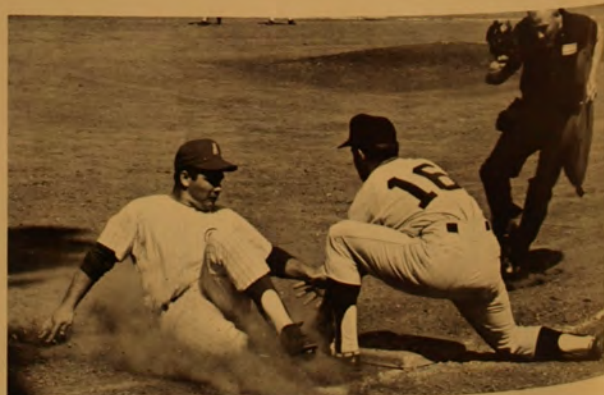

Plagued by inclement weather, the squad won four of their first six contests. A letdown produced only two more wins, one in Ohio Valley Conference Western Division play against nine defeats.

Southpaw Joey Watts hurled two of the triumphs, while Ronnie Simpson and Jim Marable hit .323 and .316 respectively.

NCAA 3rd place nabbed by golfers following 15-2 campaign

Romping to a 15-2 record, best in APSU annals, the 1968 golf squad culminated a tremendous season by finishing third in the National Collegiate Athletic Association College Division championship.

Under the guidance of Sherwin Clift, the linksmen reeled off 14 straight victories before experiencing a bad day and losing to Murray State and Middle Tennessee in a triangular match.

The Govs, while finishing only fifth in the Ohio Valley Conference, took runner-up honors in the 11-team Tennessee Intercollegiate field.

Diminutive senior Jimmy Smith highlighted individual play by copping his second Tennessee Intercollegiate crown and finishing second in the NCAA tourney. The smooth swinger established school records in season stroke average (72.5), career average (74.7) and career match wins (37). He also holds the tournament lows for 36 and 72-holes.

Finishing fourth in the Tennessee Intercollegiate and ninth in the NCAA, Pitts followed Smith with a 75.3 stroke average. Other averages included Feather (75.5), Eddington (76.3), Charles Horrell (77.6), Jim Tague (78.3), Tim Tague (79.3) and Alan Bannister (80.7).

APSU netters suffer lengthy losing streaks to finish 2-10

Coming off their best season in history the previous year, the 1968 tennis team suffered through two lengthy losing streaks to finish a disappointing 2-10 season.

Despite opening the slate with a convincing 6-1 triumph over touring Wabash College, the netters were unable to maintain momentum as they dropped their next four outings.

In a sport in which the final outcome can be determined by a pace set early in the contest, the Governors found themselves taken out quickly in many matches. As a result, rallies were short lived and rare, especially in the final six losses of the season.

In tournament competition, the Gobs finished a poor ninth in the 10-team Tennessee Intercollegiate field. APSU tied for seventh in the eight-team Ohio Valley Conference tourney.

Jim Lucas was the outstanding player with a 7-7 singles record, and Bill Lefko was close behind with a 6-8 tab.

Hicks, Schultz, Fisher assault records in 1-3 track season

Enjoying loftier finishes in invitational meets, the 1968 track squad posted only a 1-3 record in dual competition. In the Fort Campbell and Brownsville invitionals the thinclads captured third and fourth place respectively against formidable opposition.

APSU climbed one step out of the cellar in the Ohio Valley Conference meet by finishing ahead of Morehead State. The thinlies finished sixth among seven teams in the Tennessee Intercollegiate University Division meet.

In dual meets, the Gov cindermen managed only a win over weak Union University.

Sophomore Alvin Hicks topped the squad in points scored for the second year. He garnered 79 points while specializing in the pole vault, long jump and high jump, in which he established a new record for the Govs.

Hicks was followed by senior Terry Schultz with 45¾ points and Jeff Fisher, who captured 45 points in field events. Schultz set a new school record in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles (56.0), and he tied the record in the 120-yard high hurdles with a time of 15.1 seconds.

The quartet of Schultz, Ronnie Fuqua, Ronnie Bell and Bob Engler cracked the 440-yard relay mark with a 43.6 clocking, while strongman Fisher reestablished the standards for the shot put (53-3½) and discus (140-2) for the second consecutive year.

Colts, Bods, Virus capture intramural championships

Intramurals offers many athletic activities to students, who otherwise are not involved in some form of organized competition.

In football, the Super Colts held off the Miller Hall Maulers to capture the championship 20-13. The basketball crowns went to the 24-Hour Virus, who upended the Dirty Dozen 42-34 in a feminine affair, while the Bombing Bods coasted by the Rags 52-41.

ORGANIZATIONS

Participation in the 50-plus organizations on the APSU campus affords the student an opportunity to develop his leadership potential. The life of the university student is a well-rounded combination of many activities, both inside and outside the classroom.

The student has the opportunity to belong to social fraternities, social sororities, professional and honor societies, departmental clubs, religious organizations, student governing bodies and specialized organizations.

Cries of apathy ring throughout the year. This assertion is true to an extent. For the apathetic student the well-ordered repetitious life is no more than plain fact. And for him, the effort of change is not worth the trouble.

At the other end of the spectrum is that smaller group who feel that they must forge their existence into a sounding board for every cause or movement.

A majority of APSU students occupy the middle ground between non-involvement and total commitment. These students affirm their freedom from the academic treadmill by devoting some time to an outside interest, then re-enter the classroom with the pressures less pressing.

Proper utilization of organizations can mean a deeper, richer, more rewarding university experience.

13-member board supervises matters of student publication

Changing circumstances and problems of the present day student press have given the Board of Student Publications added impetus. The 13-member body, seven of which are students, governs the newspaper, yearbook and annual literary review publications. In addition, the board has jurisdiction over unofficial student publications.

Yearbook staff works hard to create book of high quality

Striving to produce a photojournalistic report of the year's activities for the students and to maintain high national rankings, the staff of the 1969 FAREWELL & HAIL labored long in creating this book in its present form.

After being named one of the 18 All-American honor-rated yearbooks, the only one in the 2,501-3,500 enrollment category, in the country last year, the editors planned the 308-page, 24th volume, according to latest yearbook trends.

Pacemaking has become common for The All State, weekly student newspaper, which has been All-American and A-plus honor rated several times. Men's Affairs Board handles study of behavior regulations Weaknesses in the system of rules and regulations governing the conduct of men on campus was studied by a committee of the Men's Affairs Board. In its fourth year of existence, the MAB is comprised of one representative from each of the six men's residence halls and three students representing the commuters.

Alpha Beta Alpha promotes interest in library resources

Working toward a national charter, Alpha Beta Alpha increased its activities four-fold this year. The Greek-letter group, composed of those interested in librarianship and primarily students enrolled in library science courses, began an involvement with realistic problems in the field to acquaint and orient new members.

Promoting professional attitudes toward librarianship, Alpha Beta Alpha sponsored trips to Nashville to visit the State Library and the Nashville Public Library. Visits were also scheduled to the George Peabody College Graduate School Library and the nearby Ft. Campbell public and school libraries.

Continuation of the "Story Hour" at the Clarksville Public Library, decoration of float for homecoming parade and a bake sale to raise funds for a visiting speaker in the spring were other activities of the group.

University of Tennessee's department of chemistry supplied the speaker for one of Chi Epsilon Mu's spring meetings. The organization is comprised of students who have shown an interest in the field of chemistry, whether or not they are a major or minor. The professional society provides opportunities for students to secure experience in preparing technical material.

In its fifth full year of existence on the APSU campus, the national society's memberships are divided into two categories: members and associate members. Requirements for an active member are that he must be a chemistry major who has been at this university at least three quarters.

Epsilon Pi Tau makes plans to establish Taylor memorial

Members of the Beta Eta chapter of Epsilon Pi Tau, international honorary industrial arts fraternity, began plans to establish a memorial for Ronnie Taylor, a member who was killed in an auto accident last academic year.

The group joined with Industrial Arts Club members for various activities throughout the year. A banquet highlighted the spring quarter for the fraternity, which requires its members to have at least a 2.75 grade-point average.

Geographers round out year with trip to Mammoth Cave

Mammoth Cave in Kentucky was scheduled to be visited by members of Gamma Theta Upsilon, professional fraternity in the field of geography, during the spring quarter. The trip, plus other excursions in the local area, was in keeping with the fraternity's aim of bringing the student closer to the area surroundings.

Election of a sweetheart, Kay Bigger; an entry in the homecoming parade; and a spring banquet were other activities.

More than 50 new members were initiated into the Eta Rho chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, honorary educational society, keeping it the largest of the honor and professional societies on campus. Active membership in the organization consists of undergraduates, graduate students and alumni in the field who met qualifications for membership while on the undergraduate level.

"Creativity in Education" was the topic which Dr. Charles Young, chairman of the department of art, expounded upon at one of the regular monthly meetings. An official from the Tennessee Education Association was the guest speaker at the spring banquet.

Prize-winning author Dr. Joseph B. Frantz, professor of history at the University of Texas, appeared on the APSU campus through the efforts of Phi Alpha Theta, history society; the history department and the Visiting Speakers and Artists Committee.

Hospital visitations broaden pre-med students' know-how

Visitations to the medical units of the University of Tennessee in Memphis and to the Vanderbilt University School of Medicine broadened Phi Mu Kappa members' knowledge of professional schools.

Members of the pre-medical honor society, under the direction of William Bailey, president, also toured the local Memorial Hospital and studied some of the latest equipment. Bi-monthly programs were presented by various members of the para-medical professions to one of APSU's newest honor societies.

Incoming frosh girls take cue from home economics pamphlet

"Coed Cues," a pamphlet published by officers of the Home Economics Club, was designed to aid women students in their selection of clothing for campus wear. The booklet was mailed to all incoming first-year girls by the organization's officers.

In November, the club entertained the Agriculture Club members with a chili supper. The occasion was scheduled prior to the agriculture members' work on their entry in the homecoming parade. The club celebrated the 60th anniversary of the American Home Economics Association in January.

Efforts pay off for IA Club: float captures Victory Award

Planning and construction of the entry for the annual homecoming parade was classified as the major activity of the Industrial Arts Club for the year. The project was successful as the club's float earned first-prize money; the entry was also judged as No. 1 in all divisions and captured the coveted Alumni Victory Award.

A series of films depicting the many industrial processes were ordered for viewing at club meetings.

Physical Education Majors instruct students in billiards

As a service to the university's coed populace, members of the Physical Education Majors Club conducted regular sessions of instruction in the art of billiards. Other organizational activity included assisting in volleyball intramurals and in swim events. The majors and minors assumed the responsibilities involved in keeping the gymnasium open on weekends.

Outstanding productions presented by the AP Playhouse included "The Visit," "The Miracle Worker" and "Rumpelstiltskin." Student-directed one-act plays shared the spring quarter spotlight with the annual Playhouse banquet and presentation of Max awards.

Campus-wide mock election produces surprising winner

Sponsorship of a campus-wide mock presidential election by the Political Studies Association produced a surprise winner in George C. Wallace, third-party candidate. Members also explored the various aspects of racial conflicts in America today by sponsoring the movie, "Cicero March," and leading an informal post-discussion.

Debates, guest speakers and panel discussions further highlighted activities for the association, which is open to all interested students with a 2.0 over-all scholastic average.

Holiday tournament raises funds for scholarship awards

Possessor of the top single fund-raising activity, the Circle K Club again sponsored a four-team high school basketball tournament prior to the Christmas holidays. Each participating school receives a scholarship to award to a graduating senior to attend APSU.

Broadway show music sets theme for water spectacular

Broadway show music set the theme "Entertainment" for the Dolphin Club's February aqua show. "The March of the Siamese Children" from the play "The King and I" and "If You Walked into my Life" from "Mame" were two musical selections on the show. The synchronized swimming group must pass required tryouts in the spring, practice in the fall and perform during the winter.

Old favorite "John Henry" ended the winter quarter concert of the University Orchestra, musicians from the university and community.

CLASSES

Students, regardless of their objectives or backgrounds, have one thing in common: classes. This particular aspect of the university serves to unite the student body, for no one stands alone when he—along with others—comprises the university.

When a person enters APSU, he assumes the role of a student and in this role he attends classes in search of the scholastic perfection that will lead to academic success.

No university can (justly) claim that it will make every student an educated man or woman, but APSU does strive to give every student the opportunity to decide what he wants most from his days at the university—the opportunity to construct his own education.

APSU works to permit the student to acquire the means of making self-education the rewarding experience of a lifetime. The diversity of the student body has aided the university in becoming a more cosmopolitan institution.

This record of classes is for the student and it is by academic class that the student appears on the following pages.

Campus constantly growing: new dorm nears completion

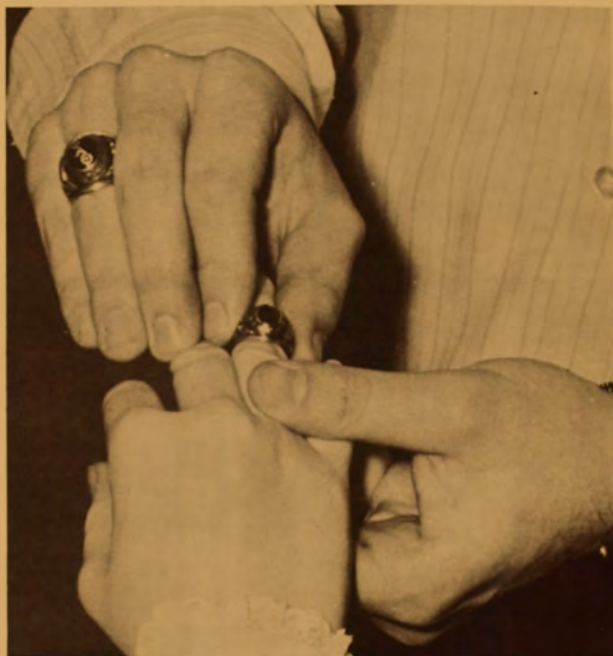

Physical plant changes continue as the old student union building and Roake Hall were razed to beautify the interior campus. A $587,849 men's residence hall to house 168 is scheduled to be opened this summer.

'The End' signifies beginning of graduate's quest for career

Goals provide incentives for future progress. Whether they pertain to studies, graduation or some special event, APSU encourages students to strive for excellence. Thirty (30) symbolizes "The End" in journalism, but it only marks the beginning of a career after graduation.

Editors master tight schedule to produce quality yearbook

With "printer's alley," the nickname for the chute-like office which the FAREWELL & HAIL occupies, still ringing from the cries of photo appointments, deadlines, late copy and misplaced pictures, we reluctantly seal the last envelope for delivery to the printer. Only with the final hours spent in completing this book have we been struck with the true significance of our efforts.

Below: Fred Landiss and Becky Scott, editor-in-chief and associate editor respectively, await "The Last Train from Clarksville" following completion of the yearbook. Bottom: Following the tracks, the editors walk into the distance as the train to take them away from the city did not arrive.

This, the 24th volume of the FAREWELL & HAIL, was printed in Nashville, Tenn., by Benson Printing Co., Inc. The cover has a metalay seal and overtone; the division units are 80-pound olive Teton text; and the first 32 pages of the book are Falmouth finish enamel. The book was produced by the offset process. Copy type faces used on the regular enamel include 24 pt. Garamond Bold for narrative heads, 12 pt. Baskerville for body, 8 pt. Baskerville for captions and identifications and 12 pt. Ensebius for folios. Fifty-nine color process reproductions appear.

The task of producing a university yearbook is a vast and complex one, and it could not have been accomplished without the help and cooperation of many persons. At Benson Printing Co., W. A. Benson, Jr., assisted in helping us assimilate the latest yearbook trends. Mrs. Evelyn Watson, secretary, and Dan Eadie and his staff of artists provided many necessary answers.

Credit for selected black and white photos must go to Fred Landiss (167); John R. Martin, Jr. (173); Sam Mills, (67, 133, 135, 136, 137, 141, 142, 147, 152, 157, 167, 188, 265); Eddie Patterson (44, 45, 120, 145, 255, 261, 306); Rappoport Studios, Inc., New York City (faculty and class portraits); D. We want to thank Gerald L. Tenney, director of photographic services, for his tolerance throughout the year. All of the color and black and white photographs on pages not listed above (with the exception of selected faculty and class portraits) and selected black and white photos on other pages listed above were made by him.

Our utmost thanks go to our adviser, Sherwin Clift, for guiding us patiently through difficult hours of work. His untiring efforts in helping us plan, compile and proof our book were unsurpassed. We also wish to express our appreciation to Mrs. Betty Jo Wall for typing all of our final manuscript. Her cheerful attitude and pleasant smile boosted our morale when we needed it most.

Special thanks go to David Bibb and Ron Popp for writing the narrative heads in the book.

Thanks go to the entire staff, our friends and roommates, who often caught the blunt end of our short tempers and ill moods. Our months of "gotta get this yearbook out" are ended. We hope that this 1969 edition is rewarding to each of you.
