

Dr. Vance To Preach Commencement Sermon

Salary Schedule For Elementary School Teachers Fixed By State

Seniors Plan For Commencement

A special meeting of the sophomore class of 1933 was held Monday morning in order to arrange the plans for the commencement week in June. The Normal is anticipating the largest program for the ending of the year's work since its beginning.

The school graduates the largest number of students in its existence, with eighty-four members in the class. The officers for 1932-33 are: William Adams, president; Lathan Settle, vice president; Patsy Parker, secretary; and Rachel Pickering, treasurer.

A committee was named Monday to investigate and arrange for the commencement program. This committee will report Friday to the definite plans of the class. The investigating committee is composed of James Mann, chairman; Maurice Browne, Robert Fields, Misses Mary Young, Mabel Little, Louise Hawkins and Rachel Pickering.

The committee has secured the services of Dr. James I. Vance, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Nashville, to deliver the commencement sermon.

A full program will appear in the next issue of the All-State.

N. P. Training School Closes

The New Providence Training School held its commencement program May 8, 1933, at 7:30 p. m. These exercises marked the beginning of the summer school session and the close of the regular term.

Mr. Harley Fite, principal of the school, opened the program with the invocation, "Welcome," a salutatory address, was delivered by Sara E. Anderson, who ranked second highest with an average of 94 per cent for the term. Ben Ed Nordin delivered gifts which suited the pendulants of the graduating group, with an appropriate presentation speech. The class' s eldest girl was given a rattle, and the most persistent rider of all hobbies was presented another pop for a hobby.

The seventh and eighth grade classes gave two selections, "A Spring Morning" and "Who Knows." As a second musical contribution the harmonica band gave several selections.

Helen Smith, the class president,

Faculty Members Make Talks

The faculty members of Austin Peay Normal School are very much in demand during this season of diploma, valedictory and fluffly white frocks. Only recently Dean Harvill, Mr. Woodward and Dr. Claxton have had speaking engagements in the adjoining counties. Friday, May 12, Dean Harvill delivered the commencement address at Stewart in Houston County. Mr. Woodward gave an inspiring address to a graduating class of sixteen at Big Rock in Stewart County. Dr. Claxton has recently had two such engagements, one at Camden and the other at Portland.

A salary schedule for the elementary teachers of the state of Tennessee was received by the president during the past week. This plan was adopted by the State Board of Education, May 8, 1933, and will be effective from and after July 1, 1933.

The schedule runs as follows: Class A—Teachers who have completed a standard four-year high school course and hold a Bachelor's Degree from an approved four-year college.

Normal Plays State Aggies In Nashville

A. P. Normal Vs. A. P. Normal Vs. A. P. N. Vs. W. Ky. S. T.

The Normal baseball nine added another victory on the local diamond on April 28 when they won over Western Kentucky State Teachers to the tune of 14 to 7.

It was a shufflet all the way, with A. P. N. having a decided advantage. The Normal shufflers secured 17 hits off of Rust and Hall, while the Kentuckians could only garner 12 hits off of Gerheiser.

Corlew and Lovelace made some beautiful stops and threw men out during the entire game.

Bryan, Gordon, Lovelace, Childs and Gerheiser all got two hits apiece. "Ping Pong" Pollard scored four runs during the game.

The Normal players looked rather nervous in their new and red uniforms.

Normal's baseball team was not so hot here on May 3, but were not enough to spank David Lipscomb of Nashville, 6 to 3. The weather was disagreeable for baseball, so maybe that explains everything.

Lovelace pitched good ball, allowing only eight hits, but at times the support was shaky.

Byran, Gordon, Lovelace, Childs and Gerheiser were the only Normalites who were able to get more than one hit. They got two each.

During the game A. P. N. stole thirteen bases, some sort of a record, I should think.

Childs and Corlew starred in the field for the Normal. The attendance was good, so if you were not there, be sure to come and listen some one with you to the next game.

A. P. N. Vs. W. Ky. S. T.

On May 7 the Normalites journeyed over to Bowling Green and defeated the Western Kentucky Teachers 4 to 3. This was the second meeting of the two colleges, A. P. N. winning the first game also, which was played on home ground, by the score of 14 to 7.

Charles Gerheiser was in great form, permitting only three hits. He was complete master of the Kentuckians after the wild first inning.

Normal made two runs in the first inning on a single by Corlew, and two doubles in rapid succession by Pentres and "Ping Pong" Pollard. The lead was short lived, however, as the opponents made three runs on a triple, home run, and an error, in their half of the first.

Gerheiser bared down after this and only one other hit was letted off his delivery, that being in the fifth inning. Four walks and a hit baloon by Pentres gave the Normal their tying and winning run.

"Earl" Lovelace fielded sensationally at shortstop to help Gerheiser allow Pentres looked good imagining long flies in right field.

The team as a whole played like professionals, showing a marked improvement over their play in the David Lipscomb contest.

SPORTS

(As Childs Sees It.)

It isn't raining rain to me, it's raining ball games out. How does the weather man ever expect us to train a baseball team as long as he dishes out rain and more rain?

But as soon as the sun comes out for two or three hours the boys rush out on the field to get what practice they can. It really doesn't seem that the boys care for practice they have placed four games out of five up on the ice for dear old A. P. N. We wish to congratulate Joe Palooka for stealing two bases! What's the matter, Joe, punk Eugene? The gentleman from Dickson—what's his name? Eugene Gordon seems to know his onions both at bat and behind the bat.

Speaking of pinch hitters, or were we speaking of pinch hitters—anyway, "Papa" Dickerson seems to be carrying out full duties in baseball as well as otherwise.

Frances Morton seems to have turned out a pretty good center fielder in Hershal Pollard. The fans are still "awing" over his sneaking catch in the Davy! Lipscomb again.

Charlie Gerheiser tried some of the best.

of this big league stuff in holding the West. Kentuckians to three hits in their last game. Go to it, Charlie, we are pulling for you!

Who is this charming looking young gentleman who is strolling around the campus during the day and eats his meals at the Kampus Kabin? Well, ladies, is the most renowned Way McClearen from the illustrious city of Hohenwald. Does he play ball? Of course, he does! Watch out! Bill, he will have your place as first baseman.

The members of the baseball team wish to thank Dean Harvill for the courageous part he played in helping Gordon retain the baseball at Bowling Green. Pentres must be practicing for track during the game because he always beats everyone in from the field. He even gets in before the pitcher comes in from the box.

Don't take all this flowering talk to heart, please. But there's one thing certain, it's not the cheering and good support that encourages the team—why don't you come out and support it. You would fulfill a duty and enjoy yourself as well.

Benton Teachers Hear Dr. Claxton

After speaking Friday night at Camden, Dr. Claxton remained over to speak to the teachers of the Benton County Teachers Association which was held in Camden at 11 o'clock.

The presented to the teachers the problem and necessity of adjusting work of schools to the needs of the people. He brought out that many of the parents could not see any immediate good that education was doing their children. He said that the time was coming when these parents would be called upon to decide the question of whether to have public schools or not, that they would decide according to their understanding of the value of education. Therefore, it devolved upon the rural school teachers to adjust their teachings to the special educational needs of their community.

Group 3—Limited Training or Examination—Monthly Basic Salary, $40.

Class E—Teachers who have completed not less than the equivalent of an approved four-year high school course.

Group 1—Any Examination Certificate—Monthly Basic Salary, $35.

Group 2—Limited Training—Monthly Basic Salary, $30.

Class F—Teachers who have completed less than the equivalent of a standard four-year high school course.

Group 1—Any Examination Certificate—Monthly Basic Salary, $20.

Note 1—An additional two dollars and fifty cents ($2.50) per month may be paid for each year of experience for a maximum of six years for Classes A, B, C and D holding any certificate except Limited Training. An additional two dollars and fifty cents ($2.50) per month may be allowed for a maximum of twelve years for teachers in Classes E and F holding Examination Certificate. Teachers who will be allowed for teachers in Classes E and F who have not had at least one year's experience shall be not less than three to two weeks. To determine the number of years of experience for which a teacher may claim credit add all the weeks taught and divide by thirty-two.

Note 2—In fixing the salary of any teacher no fraction of a year of experience, required quarter hours of credit or other fractions will be considered except in determining the number of years of experience for which a teacher may claim credit as provided in "Note 1" and in that case any fraction of a year in the total will be disregarded.

At 4:30 p. m., the students presented a May Day program in which the public was invited.

The stage was a moved square 44 feet in diameter, around which a wire was stretched. In the background were the singers seated behind a screen made by planting live trees and shrubs around as if they were growing there. Wire netting stretched just behind these held the smaller trees and shrubs.

made a beautiful background for the May Queen's white throne. The first part consisted of a spring pageant, "On a May Day Early." The gardener was careless about destroying flowers in his garden. The flowers, grasses, fairies, etc. the rabbit and the moon made complaints to the May Queen.

They reformed the gardeners who promised to be more careful of his flowers in the future.

The second part was a dramatization of the solar system which showed the planets in their places in the same relation to the sun as they are located in reference to the sun. Each planet stood up and related its size, relative to the sun, and the length of time needed to complete its orbit about the sun. Pluto was the last planet to be discovered. This dramatization ended the program, which was both instructive and entertaining.

of beneficent functioning of free church, but with this freedom without meddling, knowledge, and open-mindedness for truth cannot fail to degenerate into narrow sectarianism and into promotion of civilization; sixth we buy material wealth and wealth-producing power.

Dr. Claxton closed his talk by presenting to the students the problem of placing themselves forward instead of backward in school system.

JOHN ROCKNE A CHARACTERIZATION

his heritage, had helped in winning this rich soil from the jealous hands of the gods. Jane Rockne never complained to any-one but the cause, the words which her husband directed at her would sting and stung him with all the strength of a once ardent heart, and vowed that some day she would answer him and her cause.

If the law of retribution failed to work. All this hidden seething of repressed emotion, John Rockne did not even remotely suspect, for in his overweening regard for himself, he did not think that his placing himself was presuming enough to entertain such thoughts as these.

John Rockne's children hated him with a surprisingly fierce intensity. He had made veritable mendicants of them. Everything they had ever wished for had been denied them, everything but the most necessary things of life, and these they had had to beg for until the need was so apparent, that not even Mephistopheles would have had the heart to withhold them. Even then, some of the ordinary comforts of life had to be done without.

For this mean, crafty, relentless fiend would not spend the necessary money. Spending money for anything except land was like pouring out his heart's blood on a common lamp.

Never had these children had the playthings that other children cherished. Always at Christmas they must have something sensible, something that would be of use. Save, save, save had been his command and his motto. This motto had etched everything lovable and good and kind in him.

In drawing a picture of him one would have said: He is a finely made, tall, raven-haired, well muscled, supple, and vigorous.

In depicting his face one would have first described his aquiline nose as being the most prominent feature of his strongly characterized face. It was like the beak of an eagle, coming, distant and forbidding.

His eyes were wide, black, expressive, overshadowed by shaggy eyebrows with a touch of gray in them, lending a supercilious look to his countenance. His black hair, streaked with silver, was usually clipped short, and neatly combed, seemingly not a hair of his head daring to fall out of place. John Rockne's eyes and eyebrows were as a whole, as they expressed his every thought and emotion; with an astounding rapidity they would portray pity or sorrow, it such was ever felt in the countenance, that his stony heart, then harshness or laughter would fill his mocking eyes. He was a whole man, and his friends and family had never solved. Only Carter held the key to unlock the heart of this egotistic, grasping old cocker.
