Our Administration and Faculty

GOVERNOR FRANK CLEMENT

With the assistance and guidance of Governor Frank G. Clement and the State Board of Education, Austin Peay State College is meeting its current obligations and is preparing to meet its future obligations as a state college.

State Board Of Education

President

In January, 1963, Joe Morgan assumed the position of president of Austin Peay State College after concluding a successful four-year term as Commissioner of Education for the State of Tennessee. His appointment climaxed several years in the field of education as a teacher, principal, superintendent and State Department of Education employee.

Since his arrival on campus, Morgan has worked earnestly with the student body, faculty, administrative officers and staff, as well as alumni and city leaders, to make APSC a greater institution of higher learning. His warm personality, hard work and devotion have influenced all areas of college life.

Under Morgan's guidance a long-range planning committee has formulated a long-range campus developmental plan which includes an unprecedented building program that will cost $12 million and more than double the facilities and enrollment in the next eight to 10 years.

A family man, President and Mrs. Morgan have two sons, Joe Miller and John, and one daughter, Mary Ella.

IN MEMORIAM
Dr. George M. Rawlins, Jr.

A great loss was suffered by APSC with the untimely death of Dr. George M. Rawlins, Jr., chairman of the department of chemistry since 1946. Author of a number of chemistry texts, the beloved Dr. Rawlins was listed in Who's Who of American Educators.

Deans provide guidance, direction for students

F. G. WOODWARD
Dean of Faculty

Each year, hundreds of students come to Austin Peay State College to prepare themselves for the future. They need guidance and direction to achieve their individual goals, and someone must assume the responsibility of providing the necessary help.

Guidance is offered to the student, whether his problem be academic, social or financial.

Administrative headaches are many as the officers, along with the faculty, staff and students must plan programs, set standards and effectively handle the day-to-day problems.

MABEL MEACHAM
Dean of Women

Administrative and faculty duties are numerous and sometimes difficult. The general objective of APSC is to produce educated men and women equipped to use their abilities productively and wisely. A unified body of capable educators is necessary to accomplish these tasks.

The 1964-65 school year was a busy one for APSC. Approximately 30 persons were added to the staff, including new and returning professors, instructors, lecturers and graduate assistants to help meet the needs of the nearly 2400 students.

In addition to the added personnel, APSC began to advance its construction program. An ultra-modern men's dormitory was completed during the fall quarter to help house the exploding college male population.

Expanding facilities requires many hours of deliberation on the part of administrative officers and faculty committees.

A central water chilling unit for central air-conditioning purposes, a 38-unit married students' apartment building, new men's and women's dormitories, and the much-awaited student union building and library are in the designing or construction stage now.

Much of the growth of APSC is due directly or indirectly to persons in administrative offices. Each day they can be assured of new problems relating to activities of the college plant.

APSC's reputation reflects the way in which each individual solves the particular problems that face him. We, the students, realizing your giant tasks, pay respect to our administrators, those people who have built, now maintain and will advance the name and standing of APSC in the future.

Associated Student Body governs activities

The Associated Student Body, acting as a body through which the voice of the students can be heard, is a member in good standing of the Southern Universities Student Government Association.

Officers of the ASB consist of the president, the vice-president, the secretary and the treasurer, all of whom are elected in the spring quarter for the ensuing academic year. These elected officials meet with members of the administration to work out problems of student needs.

Replacing the former Student Council during the 1963-64 school year, the ASB ratified a new constitution which divided the student government into three branches: legislative, executive and judicial. Through its legislative branch, the Senate, it embraces a membership drawn from the classes, the dormitory councils, honor societies, departmental clubs and other chartered campus organizations.

The ASB managed to bring big-name entertainment to the campus and improved many phases of student life during the 1964-65 school year.

House Councils uphold high dormitory standards

Governing bodies for the men and women who live in the nine dormitories on campus are the Women's Student Government Council and the Men's Inter-Dorm Council.

WSGC consists of the house councils of Harvill Hall and Blount Hall, the president of Harned Hall and a freshman representative, making a total membership of 11.

Representatives from each of the six men's residence halls compose the membership of the Men's Inter-Dorm Council.

Both councils regulate matters pertaining to conduct in order that the standards and ideals of the college may be maintained.

Working closely with the Associated Student Body, the Dean of Students, the Dean of Women and resident hall supervisors, the two groups help in setting policies and assist in enforcing rules and regulations.

Women's Student Government Council:

Panhellenic Council, Counselors advise clubs, girls

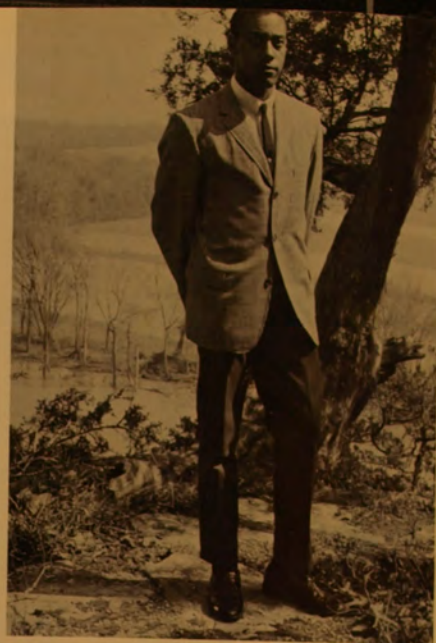

Coordinating and directing the activities of the five women's Greek-letter social clubs is the Panhellenic Council. The council is composed of the president and Panhellenic representative from the Alpha, Beta, Delta, Epsilon and Omega clubs.

Working closely with Miss Mabel Meacham, dean of women, the Council attempts to promote a more cooperative relationship between the administration and dormitory residents. Also, the members make a joint effort to communicate with the house residents concerning their social interests.

Women counselors, chosen from upperclassmen, live in the freshmen dormitory and assist the younger women in making an adjustment to college life—whether it be social or academic.

Being named Who's Who is a distinct honor held by only a few of each year's graduating seniors. Twenty-four seniors were selected by the final board after careful study of the qualifications of each individual considered.

Nominated by the faculty, the primary eligibility requirement is that the student must have a "B" average.

Academic achievement stressed by Laurel Wreath Society

The Laurel Wreath Society, founded in 1960, represents the highest in academic scholarship and achievement on the campus. Only students who have maintained a minimum 3.65 average for three consecutive quarters are eligible for membership. This academic average must be maintained in order for one to remain in the society.

The name, Laurel Wreath, symbolizes academic achievement, and members proudly wear their symbol, a gold wreath pin.

Farewell and Hail staff faces many problems

The 1965 edition of The Farewell & Hail represents many laborious hours of work which go into the production of the Austin Peay State College yearbook. Edited by the students, the yearbook is a bound compilation of a year of life at APSC and it attempts to present a permanent pictorial record of the highlights of the school year.

As the deadline draws near on a college yearbook, the editor faces numerous problems. There are all-important photos missing, last-minute copy to be written, individuals failing to meet their obligations and, oh yes, there is an adviser complaining.

Planning for the book is begun in the early spring of the previous year, so it seems to the editor-in-chief that the yearbook is a two-year project.

Following the organization of the staff at the fall quarter's beginning, the staff writes and edits, proofreads and re-writes, crops pictures and anxiously anticipates that final distribution, the day of rest. When a person fails to do his work, the editor quietly (sometimes) finds a typewriter and completes one of the last-second duties.

Turning to the advertising manager, he has a difficult task convincing businessmen that college yearbook advertising pays dividends. His work, done primarily in the summer, requires many trips to the same place of business to complete details for an ad with the advertiser.

When it's all over, the editor has become addicted to tranquilizers and strong coffee and the advertising manager is sales-resistant. There is the final wail and solemn oath, "We'll never do it again."

Jim Phillips directed the work of the 1965 FAREWELL & HAIL.

F. C. Lehman served the yearbook as advertising manager.

Advising the FAREWELL & HAIL for the first time was Sherwin Clift.

FAREWELL & HAIL staff members: Clockwise from the bottom: Nancy Rigdon, leadership; Ramona Lumpkin, royalty editor; Todd Nollner, sports; Camille Buck, service editor; Jim Phillips, editor-in-chief; F. C. Lehman, advertising manager; and Linda Seay, service.

Bill Williams, campus photographer, places emphasis on quality.

Glee Bell checks the files as she works behind the scene as indexing editor.

Film and flash, copy and cash produces 1965 yearbook

Constant day and night effort to produce quality prints under deadline pressures is the price paid by the student photographer. He reaps his enjoyment as he turns the pages of the 1965 Farewell & Hail to see his accomplished work. Being a pictorial publication, the yearbook must have photos first, copy second.

Vital to the production of the yearbook are the section editors. Some of their work is routine, but usually each section lends itself to a certain amount of creativeness.

There is little glory to yearbook work, but the reward is one of fulfilling a desire to accomplish.

Todd Nollner, assistant, and Ron Frey, sports editor, carefully check the layout for their section.

Typist Janice Hathaway lends a helping hand to Linda Seay on the service section as the deadline nears.

Cissy Williams, campus life assistant; Gale McClain, campus life editor; and Patty Webb, leadership editor; give much time to selecting photos for their section.

It is the task of a yearbook to watch, to observe, to take note and to record the impressions, opinions and feelings of the students. To show a year's events and traditions is a difficult undertaking in itself, but to try to get to the heart of the college and its students is an even greater job.

Still even more important during the many long hours of writing, typing and picture-taking is not losing sight of the purpose—to give a flashback of this academic year.

This is your record of 1964-65, not as the editor or even the staff sees it, but as you see it.

News staff: (Clockwise) Mildred Woods, managing editor; Judy Trotter, Cissy Williams, Gale McClain, Linda Warren, Patty Webb and Ronda Wade.

The All State strives for accuracy, coverage

One of the youngest staffs, by classification, in the school's history published 29 issues of The All State, APSC's weekly newspaper.

Striving to maintain The All State's top national ranking, the youthful journalists attempted to express the opinions of the students and keep the student body abreast of news and official rulings.

The constant effort of presenting an exact, factual account of events relating to students is the task of the managing editor and the editorial page editor.

Their work consists of giving reporters their assignments, writing, rewriting, planning layouts, working with the photographer, doing the paste-up for the offset press and evaluating the work of each staff member.

Advertising is a "must" and the advertising manager and staff deals weekly with the local and national advertisers to help defray the cost of the publication.

Features, fashion, sports and circulation are other integral phases of the complete campus newspaper.

Delta Tau Alpha promotes scholarship among Ag students

Batson, Richard Harper, Samuel Richardson, Wayne Butts, Gaines Hunt and Billy Trevena.

The APSC chapter of Delta Tau Alpha was established March 19, 1960. APSC was a charter member and leader in the establishment of this national agricultural honor society.

Membership is limited to students having completed 24 quarter hours credit of agricultural courses with a minimum average of 3.0 and with an over-all average of 2.4 in all courses completed.

Purposes of the society are to promote and recognize high standards of scholarship, leadership and character among agricultural students and to advance the profession of agriculture.

Delta Tau Alpha Officers: Richard Harper, reporter; David Batson, secretary-treasurer; Bob Mills, vice-president; and John Plummer, president.

Beta Beta Beta encourages research in science

Membership is extended to those who are in the sixth quarter or beyond, who are majors or minors in biology or pursuing a professional science course, and who have completed a minimum of 15 quarter hours in biology with a 3.0 grade average or above and an over-all average of 2.5

The Eta Pi chapter of Beta Beta Beta, honorary biological society, was established on the campus during the fall quarter, 1958.

The society promotes scholastic excellence among biology students and encourages them in individual research as a means of stimulating greater interest in the biological sciences.

Phi Mu Alpha advances the cause of music

Theta Tau chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia was founded on the campus May 23, 1959.

The purpose of this men's national honorary fraternity are (1) to advance the cause of music in America, (2) to foster the mutual welfare and brotherhood of students of music, (3) to develop the truest fraternal spirit among its members and (4) to encourage loyalty to the alma mater.

Membership is open to all full-time male students who are enrolled in a music organization, who are interested in and accept its purposes, and who can meet the academic requirements of the chapter.

Phi Mu Alpha Officers: Frank Pasteur, parliamentarian; Frank Hatcher, warden; Nelson Kimmell, alumni secretary; Robert Hess, president; Leonard Stone, secretary; Ronnie Miller, treasurer; and Tommie Spurlin, historian.

Del Square Psi entertains noted physics lecturers

Beta chapter of Del Square Psi, honorary physics society, was established at APSC during the spring quarter, 1960.

Second-quarter physics students with good academic standing may enter the society as associate members until such time as they become eligible for active membership.

The society proposes to (1) award distinctions to students having high scholarship and promise of future accomplishment in physics, (2) stimulate student interest in research and advanced physics, (3) encourage a friendly relationship between students and faculty interested in physics and (4) generally promote interest in physics at both the high school and college level.

Phi Alpha Theta members give historical papers

Phi Alpha Theta, Theta Delta chapter, was established May 16, 1961, on the APSC campus.

A national honorary history fraternity, an average grade in history between "A" and "B" is required for membership.

This society holds regular meetings at which papers are given or speeches made, occasionally by traveling scholars or personnel from nearby military installations, or by members of the faculty or student body.

The Historian, a nationally-known periodical for the publication of scholarly articles, is edited by Phi Alpha Theta.

At times, social affairs are combined with scholarly discussions or papers.

Phi Alpha Theta Officers: Kathy Bulkley, secretary-treasurer; and Russell Weatherwax, president.

Gamma Theta Upsilon creates fund for graduate study

Membership in Gamma Theta Upsilon, the national honorary geography fraternity, is open to all students who are completing or have completed 12 quarter hours of geography and who have a scholastic standing of 2.6 or above.

The Gamma Alpha chapter was chartered Jan. 27, 1960.

Its purposes are to further professional interest in geography, to advance the status of geography as a cultural and practical discipline and to create a loan fund for furthering graduate study in geography.

Visiting lecturers add professionalism to the regular meetings.

Chi Epsilon Mu, the national chemistry society on APSC's campus, was organized in April, 1964.

Membership is divided into two categories: members and associate members. Requirements for a member are that he must be a chemistry major who has been at this college at least three quarters and that he must have maintained a sufficient grade point ratio to obtain a degree in chemistry.

An associate member may be anyone who is interested in the objects of the organization; all constituents exercise equal vote.

One of the primary objects of Chi Epsilon Mu is to afford an opportunity for APSC chemistry students to become better acquainted.

Epsilon Pi Tau, IA Club encourage professionalism

ter and Dr. Leon Bibb. Back row: Samuel Richardson, Maurice Chester, Calvin Walter, Don Blackford, Hiram Tate, Steve Miller, Edward Wisdom and Jerry Crabtree.

Beta Eta of Epsilon Pi Tau was established on the APSC campus April 11, 1959.

The national honorary fraternity for the industrial art majors has as its purpose the promotion of outstanding scholastic achievement in industrial arts education. It also encourages leadership and high professional standards.

Membership is extended to all industrial arts majors who are classified as third-quarter sophomores or above and possess at least a grade point average of 2.75 in industrial arts.

Sponsored by the Clarksville Kiwanis Club, the Circle K Club is the only service organization on the APSC campus.

Forty-five male students from the student body are selected on an elected basis of evidence of good citizenship, leadership, scholarship and initiative.

The charter club in the Kentucky-Tennessee District, APSC's organization is held in high esteem both on the district and Kiwanis International level.

Service, first and last, to the campus, community, state and nation is the purpose of the club. Promoting and providing better campus life is a primary part of Circle K living.

SNEA Officers: Kay Reddick, vice-president; Mary Chris Conroy, president; Nancy Harper, treasurer; and Jessie Nell Fleming, secretary.

The Claxton chapter of the Student National Education Association is a professional organization which enlists as members students who are enrolled in elementary and secondary education.

Members of Student NEA are student members of the Tennessee Education Association and the National Education Association with all the rights, privileges and responsibilities of associate membership in these professional organizations.

Annually one of the largest organizations on campus, the Claxton chapter attempts to keep members abreast of current issues in education.

Highlight of the 1964-65 academic year was the hosting of the state convention.

Promotion and sponsorship of social life is the purpose of the five Greek letter clubs of APSC. The clubs enlist membership of the women students living in the women's dormitories.

One of these five, the Alpha Club, has as its colors green and white which represent truth and knowledge. The flower of the organization is the rose.

Stimulating interest in dormitory and campus functions, the 1964-65 Alpha Club had as its officers Sylvia Perrin, president; Diann Hansler, vice-president; Mary Evelyn Shearron, secretary-treasurer; and Kathy Bulkley, Panhellenic Council representative.

Beta joins others in early fall rush for pledges

The second of the dormitory social clubs is the Beta Club, one of the five women's Greek letter clubs. It is composed of women students from the freshman, sophomore, junior and senior classes.

Each president and representative of the five clubs form the Panhellenic Council, the governing body of all APSC dormitory social clubs.

Beta club colors are royal blue and yellow, with the gold mum being the official flower.

Officers include Judy Trotter, president; Janet Foster, vice-president; Faye Sullivan, secretary-treasurer; and Linda Russell, Panhellenic Council representative.

Delta participates in planning social activities

Serving as civic workers, designing an entry for the homecoming parade or sponsoring the annual Valentine Dance are only a few of the social club activities in which the Delta Club participates.

At the outset of each school year pledges are chosen from incoming freshmen and transfers to replace the graduates of the previous year.

Delta, the fourth letter of the Greek alphabet, puts "forth" concerted effort to make APSC a better campus.

Lynn Markham served as president, assisted by Susan Lawrence, vice-president; Rose Garrett, secretary-treasurer; and Pat Cooper, Panhellenic Council representative.

'Deeds, not Words' is motto practiced by Epsilons

Members of the Epsilon Club live by their motto, "Deeds, Not Words," by stimulating a cooperative spirit, better fellowship and higher scholarship among the women of Austin Peay State College.

Club colors are navy blue on white; the white rose is the club flower. White is the symbol of purity, pursuit of high ideals and noble thoughts. Blue symbolizes loyalty.

Officers for the 1964-65 academic year were Sarah Arnold, president; Judy Griffin, vice-president; Joyce Stephens, secretary-treasurer; and Carolyn Reese, Panhellenic Council representative.

Primary purposes of the Omega Club are to create close friendship among the girls; to promote activities on campus; and to benefit not only the students, but the community as well.

Headed by Bernie Aderholdt, president, Omega's other officers included Beth Hardy, vice-president; June Jackson, secretary-treasurer; and Martha Murdock, Panhellenic Council representative.

Whether working toward an all-important project such as the annual open house during the spring quarter or a lesser social activity, the clubs make a girl's college life easier, happier and more memorable.

'A' Club encourages better athletic relationships

Composed of varsity athletic letter winners in the intercollegiate sports of football, basketball, track and field, baseball, golf and tennis, the A Club has as one of its purposes to achieve better relationships between the athletic teams and the student body.

In promoting the welfare of athletics on the campus, the A Club members attempt to reflect the proudness of wearing their letter jackets on campus as well as wearing the uniform of their respective sport while in competition for 'ole APSC.

The club assists the department of athletics in various functions.

PE Majors Club assists department with tourneys

Chartered by the American Association of Health and Physical Education, the PE Majors Club is composed of students majoring and minoring in physical education. Its aim is the promotion of professional education and the development of professional fellowship.

The club attempts to promote high standards in the teaching of health and physical education; inform the general public of the importance of the program in the school; and practice physical fitness in daily living.

Various recreational events and tournaments for the entire student body are sponsored by the PEM club.

Agriculture Club elevates the virtues of rural life

ren, Samuel Richardson, Robert Powers, Bobby Griffin, Austin Edmondson, Maurice Chester and Malcolm Yarbrough. Back row: Kenneth Bryant, Charles Bond, John Plummer, John Wiggins, Tom Alsobrooks and Don Blackford.

Open to all students who are interested in agriculture and enrolled in a minimum of one agriculture course is the Agriculture Club.

The aim of the club is (1) to develop closer relationships between agriculture students, (2) to study rural and other problems and (3) to give its members an opportunity to discuss and solve problems together.

Known for its excellent float-building for APSC homecomings, the club meets regularly to conduct business, hear speakers and view films. The members blend fellowship and scholarship by having planned social and wholesome entertainment.

Field trips, club outings, encouraging outdoor painting and sketching, and festivals are all a part of the Art Club's activities. Established in 1961, the club is open to students enrolled in art courses and those professing an interest or competence in this area.

Purposes and objectives are to form and maintain the most desirable relationship between the artist, the school and the community; to promulgate interest, ability and aesthetics among the membership; to create an atmosphere conducive to creativity; and to formulate for the furtherance of art in the individual and the school.

Comprised of students majoring or minoring in business or business-related subjects, the Business Club is one of the largest organizations on campus.

Devoted to the promotion of professional knowledge and attitude among its members, the club has introduced several projects and activities to increase the membership and recognition of the organization.

Realizing that its members of today will be America's business leaders of tomorrow, several informative programs were presented by the students themselves. In addition, local businessmen have shared their experiences at the regular club meetings.

Business Club Officers: Seated: Joyce Stephens, secretary-treasurer. Standing: Ron Ferguson, vice-president; Richard Bibb, president; and John Stone, publicity chairman.

Galois Club continues to aid state-wide math contest

Galois Club Officers: Seated: Glee Bell, secretary-treasurer. Standing: Charles Law, vice-president; and Allen Reeves, president.

Probably the most mis-pronounced club on the campus is the Galois Club, which is open to all students who are interested in mathematics. The club is named after Evariste Galois, a French mathematician of the early nineteenth century.

Organized in the spring of 1951 to sponsor a mathematics contest for high school seniors in the general service area, the club has grown as did the contest which developed into state-wide competition in 1956 and is now sponsored by the Tennessee Mathematics Teacher Association.

Home Economics Club busy with variety of projects

The APSC Home Economics chapter of the Tennessee Home Economics Association and the American Home Economics Association is an organization for college women who are interested in home economics.

Its purpose is to provide for professional development of its members through participating in social, cultural and leadership activities of the club; promoting objectives and programs of the AHEA; and helping students meet and know people who have attained recognition in home economics professions.

"Miss Home Economics," the outstanding chapter member, is selected annually and presented with a plaque.

Home Economics Club Officers: Betty Williams, vice-president; Mrs. Doris Milton, adviser; Penny Frazier, president; Vera Walker, treasurer; and Mildred Morris, secretary.

International Relations Club emphasizes world issues

Discussions, films and lectures are part of the programs presented in the monthly meetings of the International Relations Club.

Members attempt to present, for individual opinionating, issues of international importance, and to promote an understanding of the cultures and societies of the world. The club is composed of students interested in international affairs.

Bringing about better understanding of international relations is the foremost objective of the club.

Local area speakers, who have first-hand knowledge of particular areas and problems are invited to share their experiences and views with the members.

APSC Playhouse rehearse, present quality productions

Buttery, Betsy Riggins, Royce Green, Larry McKenna, Jackie Riner, Mehdi Rafii, Rick Brown, Carmelita Mason, June Smith, Billy Dillard, Tom Williams and Claude McKinney.

The APSC Playhouse is composed of students genuinely interested in theatre and dramatic production. Since a production usually requires from four to six weeks of rehearsals, members must be above average scholastically due to the heavy demands made on their time.

Four plays of a professional quality were presented during the year to the Clarksville theatre audience. They were The Glass Menagerie and Playboy of the Western World during the fall quarter; Have the Time of Your Life during the winter term; and The Taming of the Shrew during the spring quarter.

APSC Playhouse Officers: John Hughes, historian; Kathy Bulkley, secretary-treasurer; Jean Hudson, vice-president; and Leon Perry, president.

MENC Officers: Jeri Scafidi, secretary-treasurer; and Frank Pasteur, president.

Providing for its members the opportunities to become acquainted with leaders in the music profession is one of the aims of the Music Educators National Conference.

Student chapter 325 of MENC at APSC is open to students preparing to teach music in the school.

One of the largest chapters in the central south, the APSC organization is another example of the wide range of activities provided by the department of music.

The highlight of the club's activities is their annual spring quarter dance, which is based on the theme of a popular song.

Choir and Chamber Choir boast enlarged memberships

Variety best describes the type of music which is voiced by the Choir and the Chamber Choir. In regard to longevity, the Choir is one of the oldest organizations in the department of music while, on the other hand, the Chamber Choir is the newest.

The Choir, composed of mixed voices, sings a wide variety of music from folk songs to serious major choral works. Membership is open to all students.

An outgrowth of the Madrigals, the Chamber Choir sings folk songs, contemporary literature of all kinds and any music that is suitable for a small group.

Ensembles introduce contemporary sounds in concert

Three musical organizations which contribute to the cultural life of APSC are the Collegians, the Brass Choir and the Clarinet Choir.

Each group serves a specific purpose in the department of music.

The Collegians is an instrumental ensemble which reads and rehearses the newest literature for the stage band. The group is known throughout the mid-South for its outstanding performances at the annual Jazz Festival.

Presenting concerts at special programs, the Brass Choir is composed of students interested in playing and performing literature for the complete brass family.

The Clarinet Choir is composed of students interested in playing and performing expressively for the clarinet family.

Marching Band and Governettes maintain superiority

The most colorful of the musical organizations is the Governor Marching Band and Governettes. Open to all college students by permission of Dr. Aaron Schmidt, director of bands, this outstanding marching contingent has earned an enviable reputation throughout the nation for its high-caliber performance.

Applauded for its excellent playing ability and acclaimed for its precision marching, the unit not only performs for APSC's gridiron battles and local parades but also promotes APSC by making featured appearances throughout the region to promote the college.

One of the largest units in America, the 1964-65 edition numbered 160.

Concert Band, Orchestra selective of members and music

The Concert Band and the College Orchestra are two more musical performing organizations on the campus. These are an integral part of the complete APSC musical program.

Members of the Concert Band are students selected for their high level of instrumental playing ability.

One of the Concert Band's appearances is at the annual Senior Band Clinic.

The College Orchestra consists of instrumentalists from the student body and musicians from the surrounding area. Its periodic performances contribute to the cultural level of the college and the community.

Sigma Alpha Iota receives charter, campus recognition

Sigma Alpha Iota is the most recent fraternity to appear on the APSC campus. Chartered this spring quarter, the fraternity is open to women students who are regularly enrolled in a course of study pursuing a degree in music.

The oldest international professional music fraternity for women is also the largest with chapters in 130 colleges and universities.

Among its purposes, the first is "to form chapters of music students and musicians who shall by their influence and their musical interest uphold the highest ideals of musical education."

Sigma Alpha Iota Officers: Connie Eatherly, vice-president; Diann Hansler, treasurer; Jeri Scafidi, secretary; and Charlotte Dill, president.

BSU promotes spiritual and social activities

The Baptist Student Union is the Southern Baptist's way of keeping in touch with the many Baptist students who go to college each year promoting the spiritual life of the students while they are away from home.

Not only does BSU strive to serve the spiritual needs of the students, but it also contributes greatly to the social aspect of student life.

Tentative approval has been given for the religious organization to begin construction on a $90,000 student center building, which will take its place alongside the other centers in the state.

Baptist Student Union Officers: F. C. Lehman, vice-president; Carol Wilson, secretary; Jim Phillips, president; Tommie Spurlin, ASB representative; and James L. Sparks, BSU director.

Wesley Foundation blends scholarship with religion

Methodist students on campus comprise the membership of the Wesley Foundation. It strives to promote Christian friendship between Methodists and students of all faiths on the campuses of all colleges and universities.

Chi Rho, the honor society for APSC Methodist students with a 3.3 over-all grade point average, is one of the Wesley Foundation's strong points, blending religious activity with scholarship.

The group provides a warmth of Christian fellowship with the purpose of promoting religious activities in the college setting.

UCPF affords opportunities for deepening understanding

The United Christian Presbyterian Fellowship is a religious organization coupling the Westminster Fellowship and the Disciple Student Fellowship. They now have opportunities for deepening the understanding of their faith and increasing their intellectual curiosity.

To help students participate intelligently in life and work of the church and to challenge them to recognize and commit themselves to their present vocation as students is the goal of the UCPF.

Mindful of its purpose, UCPF attempts to draw students closer to the church and give them an opportunity to express themselves on campus.

United Christian Presbyterian Fellowship Officers: Tim Arrington, president; and Camille Buck, vice-president.

CSA proposes to bring students closer to congregations

Student-led, church-related and Christ-centered, the Christian Students Association has been a part of APSC religious life for two years.

Formally called the Koinonia Club, the group was organized and designed distinctly for college students who list the Church of Christ as their religious preference.

The organization meets weekly, and despite its recent arrival on campus, its contributions have been significant.

Purposing to draw the students closer to the local Church of Christ congregations, the group meets frequently in connection with congregational activities.

Christian Students Association Officers: Jan Wallace, treasurer; Marie Biter, secretary; Allen Reeves, president; and Diana Hughes, vice-president.

Canterbury Club provides recreation End for students

The Joseph B. Tucker chapter of the Canterbury Association was founded in 1962 at APSC. Its purpose is to establish the Christian faith and life in the college community by means of worship, mutual encouragement and Christian charity toward all people.

Open to students of all denominations who wish to broaden their religious and social knowledge, the Canterbury Club is operated in conjunction with the Trinity Episcopal Church.

This fall the group provided a social recreation center for APSC students. Named the Canterbury End, the facility proved to be successful with off-campus entertainment.

Canterbury Club Officers: William Shelton, vice-president; Diann Hansler, secretary; and William Swartout, treasurer.

Newman Club administers to needs of Catholic students

The Newman Club is dedicated to the religious, educational and social welfare of Catholic students.

A national Catholic organization of college students on campus, the club has as its purposes (1) to give spiritual aid to Catholic students, (2) promote Christian fellowship among Catholic students and (3) develop understanding of Catholicism among Protestant students.

Their aim is the furtherance of the spirit of religion on the campus.

Activities are numerous for the Newman Club, including the sponsoring of socials, preparing Christmas food baskets and the sponsoring of a Mass on campus.

Newman Club Officers: Seated: Martha Hollman, secretary. Standing: Jimmy Wrenn, treasurer; Bill Hite, president; and Tom Kocica, chairman of intra-faith council.

Veterans Club reactivated to further patriotism

Appropriately, the Veterans Club at APSC was reorganized this academic year on Veterans Day, November 11. The club was established to promote patriotism, the social life of its members and the APSC student body.

All veterans who have served on active military duty for the United States and who have received an honorable discharge for such services are eligible for membership in the APSC Veterans Club.

Regular meetings, social functions, participating in campus affairs and offering assistance to other organizations are the primary functions of the revamped club.

This Is

Our Campus Life

Where the boys are.

"Are you sure you were graduated from high school?"

Fall brings unfamiliar faces to campus for adjustment

"Twelve o'clock Monday, Wednesday and Friday. If you don't like it, drop the course."

"I'll never have another eight o'clock class. I'll never have another . . . ZZZzzzzzzzz."

Each autumn brings the opening of a new school year and a new year of student life. Freshmen arrive early for a week of orientation, both of an academic and social nature. For them it is the beginning of a new life; for sophomores, juniors and seniors it is a return to an old way of life.

Registration, freshman talent show, the faculty-student reception, dances, parties, clubs, churches and friends are all a part of student life.

The student has the opportunity to become an integral part of the Austin Peay State College family. He chooses for himself the type citizen he will make in college.

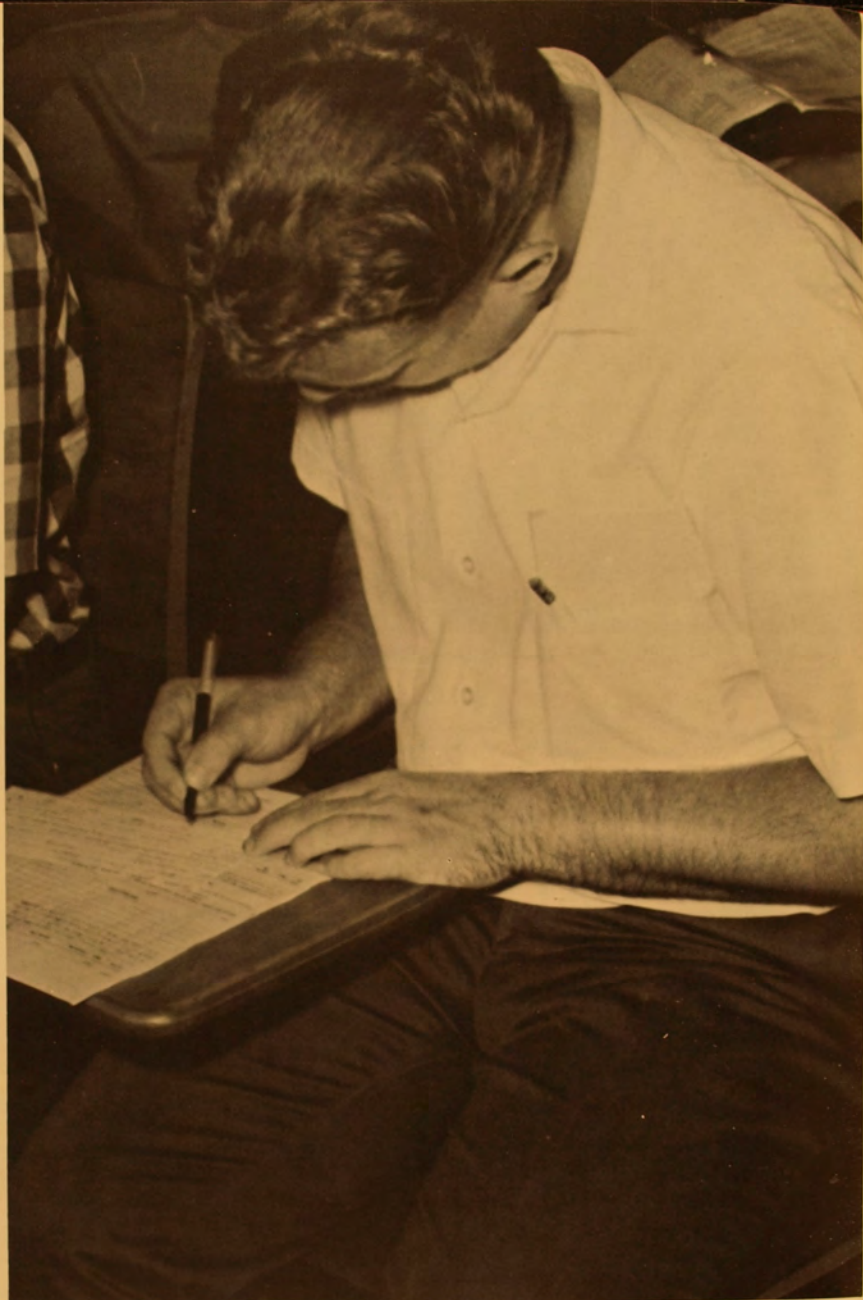

"Am I the only one in your class?"

"Son, I hope that college improves your handwriting."

"Do you mean that Art 200 is the only thing open?"

"Why do they need so many cards?"

"Now I see why there are so many dropouts . . . registration."

"It's cheaper than toothpaste."

"Everything in there is Greek to me."

Experience of registration proves trying, rewarding

The long lines of registration lead directly to alarm clocks as each student decides his course of study for the quarter. Upperclassmen search for the all-important early appointment and tolerate the necessary proceedings. Freshmen wander about in a daze thinking, "It was never like this in high school."

Older students lend a helping hand to assist newcomers, whether they be freshmen or transfers.

For some, however, student life will end before the close of the first quarter; for others it will subside at the close of the academic year. Whatever the reason for departing it is hoped that the time shared with others at APSC will not have been in vain.

"At this rate, you should get at least a 'D-' in this course."

"Oh, no! Not Sledd's contacts again!"

Inside these hallowed halls bedlam reigns.

"Now, let's see, how many can I campus tonight?"

Is you the law?

The climate of a campus is a vital part of the college experience. Some students are living away from home for the first time and they must become accustomed to dormitory life.

Too, a student must become cognizant of the rules and regulations of the college. Upon registering, the student accepts the responsibility for adhering to the standards and limitations placed on him, not only for his own good, but also for the welfare of others.

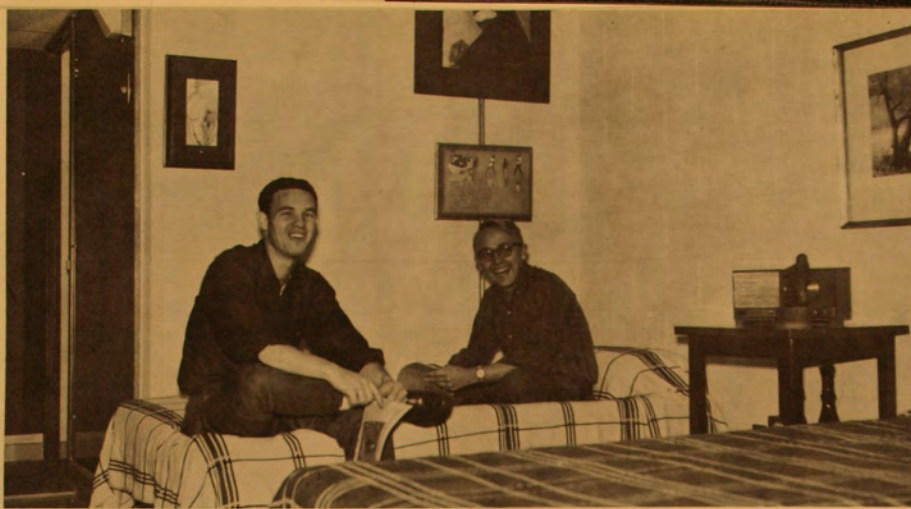

"I keep telling you, Dean, it was my roommate."

Classroom work brings air of seriousness to the campus

Like a burst of thunder, the race is on again as students walk, trot and run to their appointed classes. An air of seriousness can be seen on the students' faces as they prepare for their dreams of the future.

The classroom provides routes to intellectual maturity, research, development of ideas, insights, values and competencies which mold the students' capacities for thought and actions. The students begin to budget their time between social activities and classroom work.

Band, Governettes and cheerleaders lead enthusiasm

But, all is not work as on a crisp, fall afternoon one can hear the sounds of the marching band practicing for Saturday's halftime performance. Cheerleaders can be seen decorating goal posts for the upcoming grid spectacle.

Encouraging enthusiasm, besides the "girl-watching" aspect, is the purpose of these organizations. Developing a certain amount of loyalty for our Alma Mater, we find ourselves involved in projects which reflect our campus to the townsmen and visitors alike.

Alumni welcomed with variety of homecoming displays

School spirit is at its peak during preparations for homecoming. Hours are spent in the building of floats, the designing of dormitory displays and the gathering of wood for the annual bonfire pep rally.

Suddenly it's the night before the gigantic parade and one wonders if all will be in order for the day of celebration—sure enough, it is.

Homecoming is one event in which practically every student has a part.

Big-name groups entertain periodically at APSC

Big-name entertainment spotlighted at APSC during the year included English stars Chad and Jeremy, Ray Stevens, the Billy May orchestra, the Town Criers and Tupper Saussy. The groups performed to the satisfaction of the students with their humor and popular music.

The Town Criers visited during freshman week; Billy May played for the homecoming dance; and Chad and Jeremy, Ray Stevens and Tupper Saussy performed in concert during the winter quarter.

Arts, and theatre productions extend culture

Many moods are expressed through various modes of music and forms of art. The departments of art and music provide a cultural environment for the students, as well as the citizens of Clarksville.

Sponsored by the only service club on campus, the "game" provides fun, spills and laughter, plus creating a better relationship between the students and the professors.

Who won? We students may not be quiz kids in the classroom, but we're superior on the hardwood.

Weekends, 10-minute break relieve academic pressures

The fastest 10 minutes in campus life is between classes; the shortest 60 hours of the week is the weekend; and the longest wait, besides registration, is for a letter with money from home.

The short 10-minute break between classes finds APSC students moving quickly to another class; running one of many errands; or chatting with a friend.

Weekends! Say it again! Regardless of rain, snow or sunshine, weekends provide relaxation from the daily classroom grind.

Formal balls and informal dances highlight socials

. . . commandepede.

Dances are a major part of the social life of most any college, and APSC is no exception. Besides the many informal dances, four major balls are staged throughout the year.

The homecoming and Christmas dances highlight the fall quarter; the winter quarter brings the Valentine dance; and the traditional Iris ball complements the spring quarter.

Coeducation brings out the finer things in life.

Coeds bring glamour and excitement to campus pageants

From the coronation of the homecoming queen in November to the crowning of the Iris Queen in May, beauties reign supreme on the campus.

Elected by the students, the homecoming queen and her court of four attendants are not rivaled during the fall quarter. Superlatives for the Farewall & Hail, the "best dressed" girl and the Queen of Hearts and her court are chosen during the winter quarter, while the young men stare at the contestants for the "Miss Hat and Cane" title, and the honor to compete in the "Miss Tennessee" pageant, during the spring term.

APSC bids fond farewell to seniors at graduation

Prior to graduation—signs, banners, campaign speeches and debates engulf the campus for the Associated Student Body election. Office seekers attempt to persuade the students to support them and their platform for the coming year.

Freshmen, sophomores and juniors look for the coming school year, but the seniors bid farewell to four years of fun, memories and knowledge.

Finishing a campaign which would make a chapter in any storybook, the 1964 Austin Peay State Governors concluded its best gridiron season in the 35-year history of the institution with an 8-1-1 mark.

Picked to finish dead last in the eight-team Ohio Valley Conference by a vote of the coaches, APSC missed the OVC championship by a slim two points and a perfect season by three markers. A 6-6 deadlock with Western Kentucky and a fourth quarter 14-13 loss to Morehead State were the only blemishes on the slate.

Bill Dupes, unanimous choice for "Coach of the Year" honors in the OVC, and his five-man staff gave APSC and the city of Clarksville the Gobs' first winning season since 1952. The grid fortunes posted a 1-9-0 in 1963 and prior to last fall's sensational record the Gobs had won only six games in five years while losing 34.

APSC defeated the eventual OVC champion, Middle Tennessee, 9-7 but finished second to the Blue Raiders in league play. APSC's conference mark was 5-1-1 to the Murfreesboromen's 6-1-0.

The complete reversal brought fans to the turnstiles as APSC drew an estimated 60,800 fans in 10 games. Approximately 31,200 attended five home games and some 29,600 viewed the Gobs on the road. The 60,800 compares to 45,500 in 1963 and 40,100 in 1962.

The "rags-to-riches" club collected 230 points against the opposition's 78 and finished seventh and 12th respectively in two national rating services. APSC rolled over Eastern Kentucky (26-0), Murray State (26-10), Carson-Newman (44-7), Middle Tennessee, East Tennessee (27-20), Tennessee Tech (29-0), U-T Martin (35-0) and Fort Campbell (15-14).

In only their second season of OVC competition, the Gobs gained respect in the football world with a thunderous start and finish.

Quarterback Flatt, Dupes snare top conference honors

"OVC Back of the Year" Carlton Flatt (12) skirts right end for an option gainer in the Govies' lone loss, a 14-13 defeat at the hands of Morehead State.

Versatile sophomore end and place-kicker Ronnie Parson (84) brushes aside an opponent after catching an aerial. Parson topped APSC in scoring and pass receiving.

Individual player honors were profuse as the Gov athletes enjoyed their golden era in sports.

Senior quarterback Carlton Flatt was named "OVC Back of the Year" by a poll of the loop's coaches. The smallest man on the 22-man All-OVC squad, Flatt was picked as a defensive back along with junior Tim Chilcutt. Senior tackle Ed Bunio and graduating center Dave Satterfield rounded out the APSC first-team choices.

Five Gov gridders landed positions on the second-team twinkle squad. Sophomores Ronnie Parson and Calvin Walter were named to the offensive team at end and tackle respectively, while junior ends Tommy Dillard and Claude Clements and sophomore linebacker Bobby Byrd were selected for their defensive work.

Chilcutt earned a second-team berth on the Associated Press Little All-American team. The versatile performer was picked as a defensive back. Flatt received honorable mention for the second straight year.

Jubilant students welcome the Govies onto the field as captain Claude Clements paces the procession.

APSC began the season by smashing Eastern Kentucky, Murray State and Carson-Newman respectively.

Bill Dupes and his assistants, Jim Lane, Jerry Flatt, Gordon Schultz, Ray Thomas and Richard Brown, saw their long hours and hard work pay off when APSC routed Eastern Kentucky by a 26-0 count in the season opener at Municipal Stadium.

Local fullback Ray Hand personally accounted for 97 yards in 13 carries to pace the opening win.

Conference eyebrows began to raise when on the following Saturday the Gavs unleashed an awesome offense for 425 yards and 27 first downs to drop Murray State 26-10. The stout defense continued to shine also as the Racers had the pigskin for only 16 offensive plays during the last half.

Eight Gavs got into the scoring column as the Red and White completely outclassed Carson-Newman 44-7.

Junior halfback Tim Chilcutt (22), Little All-American and All-OVC, eyes paydirt in the 35-0 romp over U-T Martin.

Players and fans anxiously await the thump of Ronnie Parson's toe against the pigskin to begin another all-important OVC clash.

Reserve quarterback Rodney Rogers (11) smiles as he receives a quip from coach Ray Thomas in the pressbox in the late stages of the 26-10 win over Murray State.

Middle Tennessee numbered among five final victims

Following the three straight victories, APSC hit a couple of snags before roaring through the final five games of their schedule.

On a chilly October 10 afternoon 8,000 fans overflowed the Western Stadium in Bowling Green, Ky., to witness a 6-6 defensive draw. The Hilltoppers drew first blood, but the Govs knotted the count in the third stanza. With only 14 seconds showing on the scoreboard clock, Ronnie Parson attempted a 30-yard field goal, but it was wide to the right of its mark.

Leading 13-0 in the Morehead contest, the Govs saw two costly fumbles capitalized into touchdowns by the Eagles in the waning minutes of the final quarter. The 14-13 defeat stung the Govs greatly.

After a week's rest due to an open date, the miracle-workers captured their greatest grid-iron victory in APSC history, a come-from-behind 9-7 triumph over rival Middle Tennessee. a 21-yard field goal by Parson with only 57 seconds remaining gave the Govs their first victory over the Blue Raiders in the 19-game series which began in 1936.

Swapping touchdowns all afternoon, the Govs scored last to insure a thrilling 27-20 win over East Tennessee. Sophomore John Ogles ground out 123 yards in 12 totes and Carlton Flatt had 127 on total offense to throttle the Bucs.

To the alumni's delight, Tennessee Tech fell 29-0 to the Govs before 7,200 homecoming fans; APSC slashed U-T Martin 35-0; and another fourth-quarter field goal by Parson helped the Govs finish the season with a 15-14 Thanksgiving Day triumph over Fort Campbell.

The touchdown signal, which became very prevalent throughout the Govs' 10-game slate, is typified in the season lid-popper.

Gov players joyfully hoist coach Bill Dupes to their shoulders following APSC's first OVC grid tally in the win column.

25 individual and team records shattered during year

Uncontrollable students engulf the playing field to offer post-game words of praise to their OVC heroes.

An exuberant quartet of Gov gridders express happiness en route to their most successful season in APSC football annals.

Area fans watched with awe as the well-polished offensive machine averaged 314.2 yards per outing, tops in the OVC, and the defense held opponents to an average of 199.5 yards per contest, third-best in the loop.

An assault on the record book shows that the 1964 contingent broke 25 records and tied five more.

Statistical leaders for the squad were John Ogles, 584 yards rushing; Carlton Flatt, 740 yards passing and 1,096 total offense; Ronnie Parson, 17 pass receptions for 334 yards; and Sammy Flatt, 37.5 punting average.

Tim Chilcutt grabbed six enemy aerials, returned 29 punts for 194 yards and nine kickoffs for 204 yards. Linebacker-deluxe Bobby Byrd topped the defense with 71 individual stops and 77 assists and recovered five fumbles. Parson led the scoring parade with 47 points, closely followed by Chilcutt (44), Ogles (36) and C. Flatt (32).

Following the pre-game greeting, opening kickoff, one of many touchdowns, Dupes' victory ride and post-game congratulations, players prepare to climb aboard the bus for a journey homeward.

Cheerleaders share wins with laughs, losses with tears

Eight energetic coeds shared wins and losses with laughs and tears as they cheered their favorites, the Governors, during the football and basketball campaigns.

The beauties, who cheered for the "beasts," were seniors Judy Griffin, Terry Smith and Jan Welker; juniors Betty Paris, Patty Paris and Barbara Smith; and sophomores Carolyn Boone and Joyce Davenport.

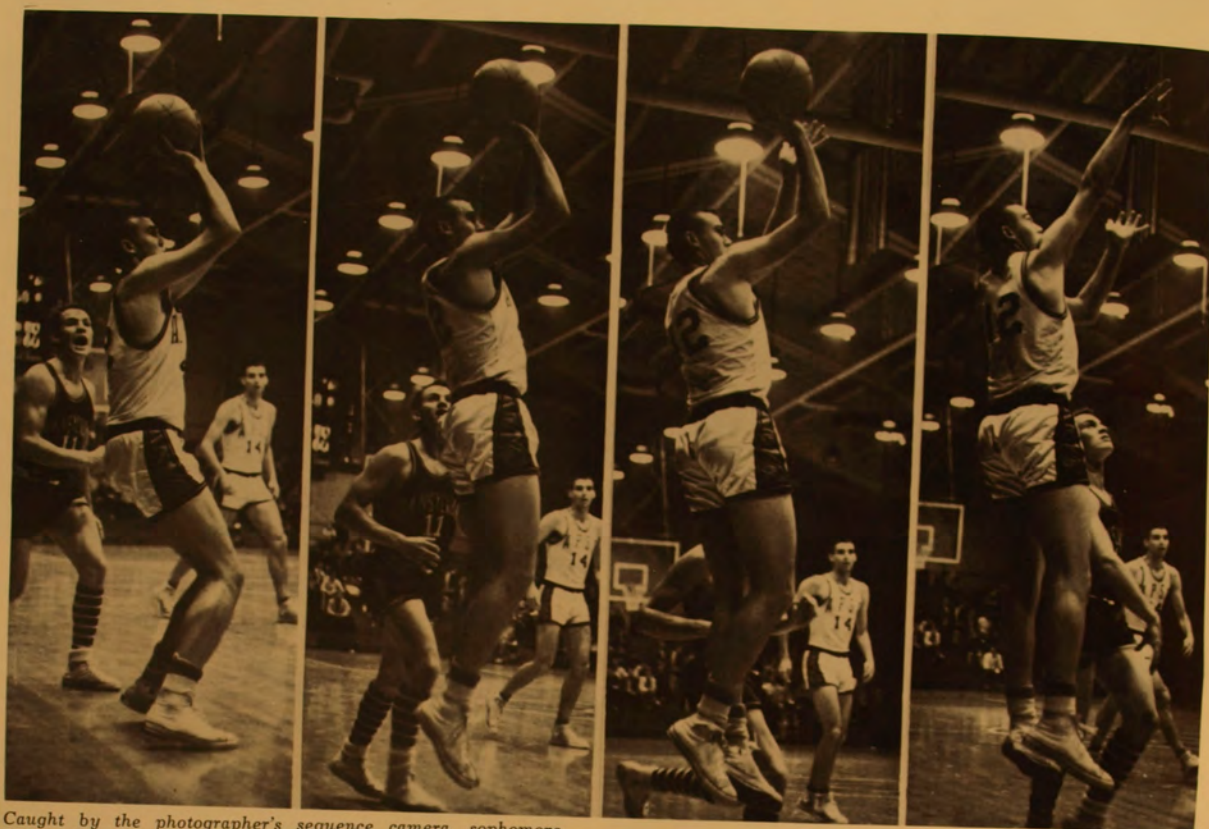

Elected by the student body after first appearing before a screening committee, the cheerleading squad had Mrs. Patricia Hancock as its sponsor.

Four of the yell girls were entered in the "Miss Cheerleader USA" contest. Selected by the cheerleaders themselves, the candidates were Miss Smith, Miss Welker and the Paris twins, Betty and Patty. Miss Griffin was one of the five finalists in the nation in 1964 and was awarded a trip to Cypress Gardens, Fla., where the "Miss Cheerleader" finals were staged.

The eight cheering beauties set the tempo for the loyal Gov supporters as another OVC clash begins.

Clap your hands! Stomp your feet! The cry attempts to boost the spirit of players and the student body alike.

In contrast to the football team's new-found winning formula, the 1964-65 Austin Peay State basketball team experienced its third-worst season in history in compiling a 4-17 record. It was the Govs' first losing campaign since the 1954-55 season.

Finishing eighth and last in the major college Ohio Valley Conference, the Govs posted a 2-12 league slate after surprising the loop last year with a 7-7 mark in their first year of official competition.

Head coach George Fisher tutored the contingent for the third straight year and suffered his first losing season after his clubs had posted impressive 18-11 and 14-9 won-lost marks. Fisher was assisted by Fred Overton and Tom Phillips.

The lack of a wealth of talent, size and speed, coupled with the graduation of three top-notch starters from the 1963-64 club, proved to be disastrous to the 1964-65 contingent.

A warning of the season's outcome came early when APSC dropped the season opener to Union University of the Volunteer State Athletic Conference. Prior to being admitted to the OVC, the Govs blitzed through VSAC opposition for seven consecutive Western Division championships.

Loser of their initial eight tilts, Fisher relegated himself to a losing season and pressed four sophomores into the starting line-up with a senior.

Despite the 17 losses, the 1964-65 squad went down in history as one of the most interesting to watch from a spectator's standpoint. The Govs' widest loss margin to an OVC team in the usually friendly confines of Memorial Gymnasium was by a mere seven points.

APSC mustered a 4-7 record at home, but drew a blank on the road in 10 engagements.

Andy Toombs (40) and Hal Jackson (24), both sophomores, wrestle with an Eastern Kentucky player for a rebound.

Sledd, Darke named to All-OVC Academic squad again

"Please, I'd rather dribble it myself!"

Six-five senior captain Seldon Sledd was one of the few bright spots during the dismal season. He topped the Gobs in practically every category. He averaged 15.4 per game on 323 points; grabbed 221 rebounds for a 10.5 average; hit .457 from the field and .743 from the charity stripe; and ranked high in the OVC in all four departments.

Sledd, along with senior guard Jimmy Darke, was named to the All-OVC Academic team for the second year in a row. Sledd and sophomore guard Hal Jackson received honorable mention on the All-OVC team.

Finishing second to Sledd in the scoring race was Jackson with 244 points for a 15.3 average. He was followed by Richard Keller (8.8), Mel Van Hooser (8.3), Benny Morgan (6.9), Jim DeForest (6.9), L. M. Ellis (6.7), Andy Toombs (5.3) and Gene Wilkerson (4.1).

Jackson came up with the season's top individual performance by dumping in 31 markers in the last-second 85-83 defeat to Tennessee Tech. Top rebound effort of the year was turned in by Sledd with 18 ricochets in the 85-77 revenge victory over Union University.

A sidelight to the campaign was the cheering section composed of football players to boost one of their own, Toombs, who gained a position on the starting five.

The cagers' four victories came at the expense of Union University (85-77), East Tennessee (72-70), U-T Martin (70-69) and Morehead State (81-73).

APSC pressed eventual OVC champion Eastern Kentucky before bowing 69-64; scared National Invitational Tournament quarter-finalist Western Kentucky before succumbing 78-74; and dropped a 96-89 verdict to Murray State, OVC holiday tourney winner, in the home season finale.

As a team, APSC averaged 73.3 per outing, while a weak defense allowed opponents to score at the rate of 84.6 per contest. The Govs hit at a .379 clip from the floor as opposed to their enemies' fantastic .464. The opposition hit an even .700 from the free throw line, while APSC finished with a .697 percentage.

Six seniors finished their collegiate careers at the conclusion of the 1964-65 season. These were Seldon Sledd, Richard Keller, Jim DeForest, L. M. Ellis, Riley Holliday and Jimmy Darke.

Hopes of rebuilding quickly took a setback when the APSC frosh cagers of coach Tom Phillips finished the season with a 4-13 record. The yearlings did defeat rival Middle Tennessee's freshmen twice, however, and some performers showed signs of future promise.

Bob Burnett paced the Baby Govs in scoring with a 15.1 average. He gained support from Danny Oliver (13.3), Barry Rollins (11.1), Ronnie Rager (10.0), Jack Darke (8.0) and Dwight Powell (6.1).

According to one college coach in America, basketball games are won between March and September—the recruiting season. The APSC coaching staff, realizing the difficulty of the tough OVC, hopes to land the prospects to put basketball on an equal basis with their league foes.

L. M. Ellis (44) puts the skids to a would-be scorer in the 81-73 triumph over Morehead.

Undefeated until the OVC meet in the 880-yard run, James Lamberson hits the string first again in establishing a new school mark with a 1:56.6 performance.

Nine of the 18 existing Austin Peay State College track and field records were broken during the 1964 season as the Govs posted a 4-4 dual meet record.

In his second year as head track mentor, Gordon Schultz led the cindermen to their second-best record since the sport entered the scene on the campus in 1954. Only 1955 squad's 4-1 slate tops the 1964 contingent's won-lost record.

When the season ended the following new records were established: 440—James Hatchett (:51.4), 880—James Lamberson (1:56.6), Mile run—Tom Hinkle (4:18.7), Two mile run—Hinkle (9:41.5), Intermediate hurdles—Bob Embry (:40.1), Mile relay—George Fort, Lamberson, Hatchett, Embry (3:28.1), 440 relay—Embry, Ron Thomason, Lester Aultman, Ron Freund (:45.7), Javelin—Riley Holliday (202-1 $\frac{3}{4}$) and Triple jump—Blakey Bradley (40-2).

APSC finished a surprising third in the Tennessee Intercollegiate Athletic Conference meet, scoring 34 points. Middle Tennessee and Tennessee Tech topped the Govs in the eight-team field.

In the torrid Ohio Valley Conference meet the Govs scored 10 points but finished last in the eight-team league. In the only other invitational meet APSC finished seventh in an 11-team field in the Fort Campbell Invitational.

Senior high-jumper and hurdler Bradley cracked the record for most points in a career by an individual performer. He scored 89 points to complete varsity competition with 291 $\frac{1}{4}$ points.

Heading the 1964 Gov scoring was two-time captain Hinkle with an even 100 points. He was followed by Bradley (89), Lamberson (62), Embry (57 $\frac{1}{4}$), Holliday (44), Dave Satterfield (44), Bill Satterfield (36), Hatchett (35), Freund (31 $\frac{1}{4}$), Aultman (23 $\frac{1}{4}$), Fort (215/6) and Sam Malone (16).

season for inexperienced, weak-hitting diamondmen

Relatively young and inexperienced, the 1964 Austin Peay State College baseball edition posted a 6-13 overall record and a 4-8 Ohio Valley Conference mark.

Coach Leon Sandifer experienced the worst season of his 13-year coaching career at APSC. His lifetime record now stands at 102-88.

The bright spot of an otherwise dull season came when the Gavs whipped eventual OVC champion Murray State three out of four times.

Weak hitting was a primary factor in the Gavs' rare losing season. As a team APSC batted only .194 compared to their opponents' healthy .283 mark.

Freshman southpaw hurler Dwight Work and junior outfielder Don Climer earned spots on the All-OVC Western Division squad at the season's end. Work posted a brilliant 4-1 record, while Climer batted .244, finishing the season strong.

Besides Work, the pitching staff consisted of port-sider Dave Small (1-1) and righthanders Dwight Norris (1-3), Ewing Schmittou (0-0), Doug Stamper (0-1), Bill DeCicco (0-1) and hard-luck Wayne Talley (0-5).

Doug Stamper, the winner of the most versatile athlete award, led the regulars from his third-base position with a .291 average. He topped the squad in six departments, including hits and total bases.

Other players and their averages are Tommy Elliott (.250), Willard Ross (.250), Mort Paisley (.250), Jack Atkins (.222), Mel Van Hooser (.205), Dwight Gregory (.196), Rodney Rogers (.182), Billy Jewell (.154) and Small (.146).

Work, Tom Kocica, Dave Brown and Dave Small. Third row: Bill DeCicco, Dwight Norris, Joe Allen, Mel Van Hooser, Ewing Schmittou, Doug Stamper and Mort Paisley.

Jimmy Barber helps his partner, Bob Mitchell, line up an important putt in triangular competition against Tennessee Tech and Western Kentucky.

Figuring his nine-hole score at the OVC tournament is A. B. Sisco, the Tennessee Intercollegiate runner-up and 10th place finisher in the Southern Intercollegiate.

Linksmen post impressive 11-4 regular season mark

Completing its most successful season in history, the 1964 Austin Peay State College golf squad completed an impressive 11-4 record.

Coached by youthful Sherwin Clift, the linksmen captured their first eight matches before tasting defeat. Clift's four-year coaching record now stands at 31-18.

The Gov golfers finished fourth in the Ohio Valley Conference tournament with an aggregate team total of 610, only three strokes out of the runner-up spot.

APSC also finished fourth in the Tennessee Intercollegiate tourney and 14th among a field of 29 in the star-studded Southern Intercollegiate affair. Among their dual match victims was the University of Missouri of the Big Eight Conference.

Sophomore A. B. Sisco, named the team's most valuable, finished second in the Tennessee Intercollegiate with a 75-75—150 total and placed in a tie for 10th position in the Southern Intercollegiate with a 73-73—146 total.

Senior captain Don Wood and sophomore Jimmy Barber placed third and seventh respectively in the 36-hole OVC extravaganza with 148 and 150 totals.

No. 1 singles player Fred Alsop comes to a skidding halt after returning a volley against Western Kentucky's Larry Whitaker.

With teammate Rob Hunt in the background, Ralph Grant is forced behind the baseline to return forehand smash in the season opener.

Netmen top U-T Martin Vols twice for only victories

Short on talent, but long on desire, the 1964 Austin Peay State College tennis squad won two regular season matches, but dropped eight to tough Ohio Valley Conference and non-league opponents.

Opening the season with back-to-back shutout losses to eventual OVC champion Western Kentucky and contender Tennessee Tech, the Gov netmen tripped U-T Martin 6-3 for their first of two victories over the Vols.

APSC, under the tutorship of Marion Carr, scored only nine points in the OVC tournament to finish in the cellar for the third consecutive season.

Seniors Fred Alsop and Ralph Grant manned the No. 1 and No. 2 positions, respectively, with the remainder of the squad usually being Rocky Cobb (No. 3), Ron Frey (No. 4), Butch Pasteur (No. 5) and Rob Hunt (No. 6). Other netters on the squad were Robert Bell, Ken Goad and Jim Roe.

The out-manned netters, challenged by the fact that APSC has never had a winning season in tennis, practiced daily and fought courageously, but it was not enough to bring the record to .500.

"You mean we didn't win first prize?"

"It ain't quite like a hayride."

The Junior Class Officers

Some men worked long and hard to erect Fred Flintstone.

Juniors, as well as everyone else, take time out, once in a while, to get in a few quick dances.

Miss Mary meets the press during Homecoming.

Watch it, John! With those boots and beard you might start a fad.

With just a little paper, soap, hair spray and toothpaste see what an improvement you can make to a room.

With this magic box you'd be surprised what you can see.

These new Brand X napkins have wet strength.

Our Homecoming attendant seems to have her monster under control and ready for the big parade.

An investment in knowledge always pays the best interest.

Benjamin Franklin

Admittedly money is an important element in the life of every individual, but this statement by Benjamin Franklin points out the truth that investments should be made in other phases of life in addition to the financial. Herbert Spencer gave us this statement: "Education has for its object the information of character."

Thus the pupil and the parents and the educational institutions work together to make our Nation strong in wholesome ideals.

'65 SENIORS ... ALUMNI ...

We trust that you have enjoyed this edition of the FAREWELL & HAIL and that these pages have brought to your mind many of the pleasant experiences which you had as a student at the College.

Wouldn't you like to remain a part of the college family by becoming a member of the Austin Peay State College Alumni Association?

Your membership dues of $3 (single) and $5 (family) will bring you each edition of The All State, the weekly campus newspaper, and the APSC Alumni News. In addition, you will be helping to keep eight deserving students in college through our alumni scholarship program. But most of all your membership will be indicative of your interest in the progress of your college.

During the past five years, the active membership has increased from 295 members to over 800 paid-up members. Is your name on the active alumni list? Won't you help yourself and Austin Peay State by becoming a member of the Association during the 1965-66 alumni year?
