

Governors Win 2nd Place In VSAC Tourney

IT'S MINE AND YOU CAN'T HAVE IT—Clark Bryan (23) holds the ball and appears to be telling Albert Mashburn (11) that he can't have the basketball. Henry Murray (13) and Steve Miller (53) both seem extremely bored by the whole thing. Doug Stamper (43), Seidon Sledd (15) and Jim DeForest (33) stare dejectedly at Bryan while Jerald Ellington and the referees wait for something to happen. The spectators seem just as bored as Murray and Miller. (Staff photo by Don Reese).

1963 Community Ambassador Being Sought

The Clarksville, Montgomery County Community Ambassador Program is now taking applications for the 1963-64 Community Ambassador.

The countries which this year's ambassador may choose to visit are India, Israel and Egypt.

The qualifications which a candidate for the ambassadorship must meet are:

1. Must be a resident of Montgomery County
2. Must be a junior or senior in college
3. Must have an interest in international understandings
4. Must be able to speak, adjust and make friends.

The travel portion of the ambassadorship will be in July and August. Upon the ambassador's return to Clarksville he or she will be called on to give talks and show slides related to his or her experiences.

The main portion of the ambassador's experience will be a homestay in the country he or she selects.

Applications may be picked up from Mr. Waters in Room 214 or Dr. Thomas in Room 204 of the Clement Building.

The deadline for applications is March 11, 1963.

Newman Club Week Observed

The Austin Peay State College Newman Club will join the rest of the Tennessee Newman Clubs in celebrating Newman Club Week during the week of Feb. 24 — March 2.

The theme for Newman Club week is "Unity and the University." All programs will be built around the theme, which emphasizes Newman's awareness of the unity of all students and the need for Christian unity.

National observance of Newman Club Week is sponsored by the National Club Federation located in Washington, D. C. Preparations have included distribution of a special promotion kit to Newman Clubs throughout the nation. Individual clubs have also set up special programs for the observance of this week.

On Citizenship Planning Group

John B. Bond, Professor of Chemistry, Austin Peay State College, has been asked to serve for the fourth consecutive year on the planning committee for the National Conference on Citizenship. He will be in Washington Saturday and Sunday Feb. 23 and 24. At this time plans for the annual conference will be made and the program for the meeting adopted.

The conference is a Congressionally Chartered Corporation and its charter requires that the date of its annual meeting include Sept. 17, Citizenship Day. The conference this year will be Sept. 15 through 18.

The National Conference on Citizenship brings together each year representatives of more than four hundred different organizations from every section of our country, each interested and engaged in the promotion of good citizenship. About nine hundred delegates attend the annual September meeting.

For the past three years Professor Bond has been a discussion leader at the conference and is now serving on the Nominating Committee. He is Chairman of the Citizenship Committee for Tennessee and sponsors Citizenship Day and Constitution Week Celebration throughout Tennessee. Through the cooperation of the Clarksville Leaf Chronicle Clarksville is outstanding in this promotion and receives much recognition for this endeavor.

Don't Forget Jazz Festival

Don't forget the Mid-South Jazz Festival to be held in the Fine Arts Auditorium in the Clement Building this Thursday, Feb. 28, at 7:30 p.m. Richard Covington of the English Department will serve as master of ceremonies.

Faculty Recital Will Be Tonight

On Tuesday evening, Feb. 26, at 8 p.m. in the Clement Fine Arts Auditorium, Dr. Thomas W. Cowan, pianist, Dr. Solie Fott, violinist, and Joanne Hackman, cellist, will present a recital of music for this chamber music group. The program will consist of the Trio in D Major, Op. 70, No. 1, by Beethoven and the Trio in C Major, Op. 87, by Johannes Brahms.

In the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries a great deal of music was written for small groups of instruments such as this. It was used in homes for informal music making as well as in the concert hall.

Dr. Cowan and Dr. Fott are members of the music faculty of Austin Peay State College, as is Mrs. Hackman's husband, Mrs. Hackman, and Dr. Cowan are members of the Nashville Symphony Orchestra, playing cello and string bass with that group. Dr. Fott formerly played violin with this orchestra.

The public is cordially invited to the concert. There is no admission charge.

The Austin Peay State College Governors ran into a "hold and don't shoot" Carson-Newman Eagles team last Saturday and lost to the Eagles 48-39 in the championship game of the 16th annual Volunteer State Athletic Conference Tournament.

The Eagles had a three point lead (18-15) with 8:39 showing on the scoreboard clock and decided to hold the ball.

For eight minutes and 25 seconds Carson-Newman held the ball without taking a shot. Gil Luttrell, Jerald Ellington and Clark Bryan played "pass and catch," hoping the Gavs would press.

When the Eagles finally decided to play basketball again, Doug Stamper stole the ball and hit a 23 foot jump shot with three seconds left in the half to make the half-time score 18-17.

One reporter at the game remarked during the half time period, "If this is basketball, I'm glad the season is almost over."

In the second half both teams were cold in their shooting for the first ten minutes. With 8:11 showing on the clock Carson-Newman was ahead 25-23 and began to pull away from AFSC.

The closest Gavs could get was three points (37-34) with 2:40 left in the game.

The leading scorers for the Governors were Stamper with 16 and Henry Murray with nine. Carson-Newman was led by Vic Arwood with 12, Albert Mashburn with 11 and Ellington with 10.

During the four day tournament three records were broken: Carson-Newman established a tournament record by allowing only 152 points to be scored against them in three games. Tusculum was held to only 14 field goals by Union University and broke the old record of 17 held by three teams.

Dr. Sims Has Book Published

The University of Florida press recently published a book entitled THE BIBLE IN MILTON'S EPICS by Dr. James H. Sims, head of the English Department at Austin Peay State College.

Dr. Sims Oras, distinguished teacher, author, and translator at the University of Florida, who was Dr. Sims' major advisor while he was working on his doctorate, said: "This important study collects and re-examines the biblical allusions in Milton's epics from a point of view which, though one might think it obvious, has seldom occurred to critics."

Dr. Sims said that he became interested in the subject before he conceived of the idea of working on a doctorate. "Had I not worked on the doctorate," he said, "I would have written the book anyway."

THE ALL STATE

The All State is the official newspaper of the Austin Peay State College. It is published every Tuesday during the academic year, except for examination periods and holidays, under the general management of Sherwin Cliff, Director of Public Information.

Borrower????

Are you frustrated? Do you feel thwarted? Can't you find the books in the library that you need?

If the references necessary for your term paper aren't on the shelf, there is the disappointing possibility that they have been "borrowed" indefinitely. If this is the case, you face the choice of either being satisfied with a paper that is inferior due to this lack of material or going to great inconvenience to find information in another library.

Each quarter reference books and periodicals are taken off the shelves of the AFSC library and never put back. Unfortunately, this situation becomes increasingly worse when term papers are assigned and education reports are due. To illustrate the seriousness of this problem, this quarter after reports had been assigned in one class, 22 education periodicals were taken from the library. When the instructor warned the students that the list of references in their papers would be checked against the missing books, nine of the books were returned.

Due to these thoughtless people the library must take on added expense to replace these books or allow the students to suffer from lack of extra material for class work. As this book deficit continues to grow the chances of enlarging our educational program to include graduate degrees in other fields becomes more remote. Professors interested in research will be attracted to schools with larger libraries. Austin Peay State College will suffer from the dishonesty of its own students.

The library staff is being forced to consider extreme measures in an effort to remedy the situation. One answer to the problem may be closed stacks. No one would be allowed in the stacks without a card authorizing them to use the books. However, the solution which seems the most likely to occur is that an extra person will be hired to check each student as they leave the library. The employment of such a person would mean that money ordinarily designated to buy new books would be used to pay his salary.

It is hoped that before such steps must be taken that a few AFSC students will show their concern for their school and their consideration of their fellow students by ceasing to take these books out of the library. Only through your honesty and integrity can this problem be corrected. Please do your part.

AFSC (local) -- NOTICE TO PARENTS OF AFSC STUDENTS: If your son or daughter has received a pink slip indicating that his grades are at the failing or near-failing status, REMEMBER, grades are not the yardsticks by which we measure good students. Your son or daughter MUST learn the cultural aspects of college life.

In Harvill Hall our reporters have spotted the up and coming bridge stars. It is said that Charles Gores may come to pick up pointers. At the Varsity Lounge we have found that our students are learning the basic essentials of manhood: WINO, WOMEN and POPCORN. We can readily tell that future grads of AFSC will have a well rounded education.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,

The three articles in the Feb. 19 issue which dealt with the Student Center and dorm hours as well as attendance at campus activities certainly have my support. It is rare to find such hours as the women of AFSC live under. At least, judging by the standards of schools in Nashville. But I must agree with the statement of Mr. Driskill, "who will not even fight for her own freedom." Any discussion of attempts to change these and certain other regulations end with, "Sure it would be nice, but . . . ?"

The changes in the Student Center would be both welcome and needed. And, a sincere thanks for the article on the play. As a transfer student I have found AFSC does offer many things, which keep me busy, NOT bored.

Sincerely,
Aurora Gibson

Student Forum

By Peter Mathews

There are two attitudes which are a disgrace to any college student who possesses either of them. The first is the attitude that the world evolves around "little old me." The second is that rivalry includes the showing of disrespect for other persons and property.

When a college dean reprimands a group of bored but rude students for speaking during an assembly program, you can be certain that he has given much thought to his choice of words. If he says that they are barbarians then their rudeness is probably suggestive of barbarism. The students who are offended cannot understand why they should not do as they please when their presence is required.

The mature college student would think of those who want to hear the program and of the impression which the speaker will have of the college if the students carry on private conversations. By this age, the student should be able to visualize himself as a part of a group, and thereby be responsible for the reputation and welfare of that group. He should have matured enough to express himself in a constructive manner if a condition is unfavorable. To backbite the administration or the college is childish and disgraceful.

Progress generally comes through competition. Rivalry in sports is good if held within certain limits. However, some students cannot enjoy goodnatured rivalry. They feel that they must engage in name-calling, boating, and vandalism. Such degrading actions are considered "smart" and manful. However, reality contradicts this fallacy. There are six year olds who could give the majority of the student body a few lessons in profanity.

As for damaging someone's property, disregard for others property rights is in keeping with the six year olds who do it out of curiosity rather than malice. Considering this, it may be asked, "Now, where is their malice?" Some people never grow up.

The library now has a new machine, a Verifax copier, which can save your efforts in the library by having a copy made of the material you need.

Carol Kingins Chosen Miss February

Freshman English exams will be given tonight at 6:30. Classroom lists are posted on the bulletin boards in the Clement Building.

The Bureau of the Census was established as a permanent agency in 1902.

A dance will be held in the recreation room Wednesday night from 8 to 10:30 p.m.

Admission is free. The dance is sponsored by the Newman Club in honor of National Newman Club Week.

By TRUDY BROTHERTON

Carol Kingins, a junior from Bumpus Mills and a 1960 graduate of Stewart County High School, has been voted "Miss February."

Carol, who is a member of the Tri Beta, Governess, and the Delta Club, is junior dormitory counselor at Harned Hall this year. "I like what we are trying to do in Harned Hall by helping the freshmen girls with counsel and discipline," Carol explained, "and we get to be friends with so many girls."

Carol further stated that people themselves fascinate her, and for this reason she has chosen teaching in secondary schools as her future profession. "I am very interested in people and in helping them," she said.

Carol's interests include reading, spectator sports, and music. Having completed seven years of piano lessons, Carol taught piano lessons for one year in Bumpus Mills before coming to Austin Peay State.

Concerning personal influence on Carol's biology major, she stated, "Dr. Floyd Ford, professor of biology, and all the people in the biology department have given a great deal of encouragement and help to all of us who are majoring in biology."

Carol feels that her attitude concerning her own education has changed considerably since her freshman year. "I am inclined to take my college work more seriously now that I fully understand the purpose of a good education," Carol concluded.

Traherns Still Touring Europe

by Diane A. Bunger

Mrs. Margaret Trahern, a member of the Austin Peay State College faculty, and her husband Joseph, have been touring Europe and the Old World since Christmas.

They have been to France, Italy, Greece, and Crete and are presently in England visiting their son, Joe Trahern, and his wife, Marjorie. Joe is a student at Oxford University and will be teaching and doing graduate work at the University of Illinois next year.

Mr. and Mrs. Trahern will also visit Scotland, Wales and London before returning to the States about the first of March. Mrs. Trahern will resume her teaching at Austin Peay State in the Spring Quarter.

On Feb. 16, when the Gavs played Arkansas State, I interviewed perhaps the most loyal sports followers in the school's history, Buddy Beach, 74, owner of Beach Coal Company since 1910, and Henry Farmer, 75, plant manager at Ingrams Material Inc. Both gentlemen are life-long residents of Clarksville. Beach and Farmer are usually seen sitting under the scoreboard at every home basketball contest. They are both big men with grey hair, and are real conversationalists on both football and basketball.

I asked them how long they had been followers of APSC sports. Their reply was, "Before you were born." They started following sports at our institution when it was called Southwestern Presbyterian University back around 1927. Neither man rarely misses a home contest, either in football or basketball and are real rooters from the word go. Asked who they thought was the most impressive basketball player, or players, they have seen over the years, they both agreed on Tom Morgan, now a coach at Fort Campbell, Ky., and George Fisher, our head mentor of the roundballers here at APSC.

The biggest changes over the years in basketball, they have noticed, is that it has become a faster game, and the officials are calling too many fouls, which will soon ruin the thrill of watching a good ball game. They usually agree on what the other one says, so I asked, "When are you gentlemen planning to retire?" They both quickly answered this by stating, "Why retire? You only stop moving and become lary."

I had to cut the interview short as Beach said that Farmer was getting a little nervous because I was depriving him of his half-time smoke, so I thanked both men for their interesting views and welcomed them back.

I would like to thank our cheerleaders for the fine gift given me prior to the Bethel ball game. It was a well planned gesture. It's only too bad this controversial matter hadn't come up earlier as I know the student body witnessed an overnight change in cheering and leadership. Hats off to the six cheerleaders for acknowledging the article.

Head football coach Bill Dupes with his assistants Gordon Schultz, Jerry Platt and student coach Jack Bushofsky, have plenty of help on the gridiron this spring with Tom Donnelly and Clifford Sims lending their services. I observed their two hour scrimmage session Saturday at 10 a.m. and can say they hit with plenty of determination and authority. I am sure a new attitude has prevailed to bring out this very impressive showing.

It's interesting to note, that the supporters of our "Blazing Stars" didn't waste any time retailing. It is gratifying to me to note that they can be organized. I'll venture to say that 50 per cent or better will represent them at the tournament games. Congratulations on a fine job during the WHOLE game against Bethel and Arkansas State. I must say, it can be done, can't it?

The girls' intramural basketball tournament came to a close Feb. 12, and first place went to the Freshmen team No. 2 who represented Harned Hall. Second place went to the Freshmen team No. 1 also representatives of Harned Hall. Blount Hall came in third and Harvill Hall fourth. The winning team's players were Lillie Taylor, Donna Hutchinson, Pat Campbell, Carolyn Wyatt, Mary Francis Yates, Shirley Apple, Daraz Gentry, Betsy Neese, Mary Lou Turner, and the coach was Johnny Siegh. I would like to congratulate Miss Dawson on a very successful tournament and hope there will be many more in the future.

DID YOU KNOW

In the issue dated Feb. 12, 1963, I stated that Wilt Chamberlain scored 74 points in a regulation game. This was incorrect. Wilt Chamberlain on March 2, 1962, then playing for the Philadelphia Warriors, scored 100 points against the New York Knickerbockers.

Austin Peay State College has played 210 home basketball games from 1946-1963. They have won 154 and lost 56 for an overall winning percentage of .734.

The third record was a combined team record and occurred in the championship game. Austin Peay State and Carson-Newman hit 31 field goals to erase the old record of 39 set by Carson-Newman and U-T Martin in the championship game in 1962.

The 1963 VSAC All-Tournament Team was composed of ten players from five schools. Austin Peay State and Carson-Newman placed three each on the team while Tennessee Wesleyan had two and David Lipscomb and Union had one each.

The All-Tournament Team, with total points and averages, is: APSC -- Doug Stamper (57, 19.0), Jim DeForest (41, 13.7) and Steve Miller (34, 11.3); C-N -- Jerald Ellington (39, 13.0), Gil Luttrell (38, 12.7) and Clark Bryan (32, 10.7); T-W -- Lettison Bell (66, 22.0) and Jack Henry (57, (9.0) DLC -- Ralph Isenberg (44, 14.7); Union -- Sonny Hawkins (38, 19.0).

For the second straight year Gil Luttrell of Carson-Newman was voted the outstanding player of the tournament.

Last year there were 15,000 accidents on golf courses. But it beats staying around the house, falling off ladders, and sticking your finger in the power mower.

1963 Football Schedule Announced

Murray State and Tennessee Tech replace Jacksonville State and Florence State on the 1963 Austin Peay State College football schedule announced today by Dave Aaron, director of athletics.

The attractive 10-game slate includes seven Ohio Valley Conference foes, Carson-Newman, U-T Martin and Fort Campbell.

The Governors, under the direction of new coach Bill Dupes, will officially begin OVC competition Sept. 21 in the season's opener against Eastern Kentucky.
