Plans For New Classroom, Science Building Approved

Burgin E. Dossert, State Commissioner of Education, has just announced that Governor Jim McComb has approved the new science classroom building and has directed that the college architects, Speight and Hibbs, submit plans for bids. Construction on the building will begin as soon as possible, the cost is expected to exceed, somewhat the original estimate of $50,000. This is the best news that has come to the college in many a year.

The new building will be placed on the west front campus facing east and west and will house all the sciences, theoretically implied, and in addition all the departments formerly housed in the old Castle building. At present it is planned to retain the Castle building for storage room and not to tear it down until the new building has been completed. Future plans include an administration building, including a library and auditorium which will be constructed on the site of the old Castle building.

President Harvill Names Division Chairmen

President Harvill has announced a plan of integration for departments which will make for more efficient administration of curricula. Since the separate departments of instruction in the College do not have heads and because in the past closely related departments have not always been aware of the other's work, division chairmen have been named and appropriate departments placed under their direction. Dr. Charles S. Pendleton will head the division of Languages and Commerce; Dr. Donald Michelson, the division of Social Science; Dr. George M. Rawlins, the Sciences; Dr. Leslie Collinson, Education, Health and Physical Education, fine arts; Mr. W. T. Layton, Mathematics and Industrial Arts.

Classes Elect Officers For 1946-47

Harvill Made President of College Aug. 15

Longtime Dean Succeeds Dr. Claxton Who Becomes President Emeritus

On August 9, the State Board of Education elected Major Halbert Harvill, long-time dean of Austin Peay State College, president of the college to succeed Dr. P. P. Claxton, president emeritus, on August 15. President Harvill, who has the M.A. degree from Peabody College, is the third educator to occupy the position in the seventeen years since the opening of the institution in 1911. On leave to the army for four years, President Harvill was given terminal leave on July 25 with the rank of major as chief of veterans' personnel in the division of State Selective Service. The new president was a member of the original faculty which staffed the institution in 1929, then a two-year normal school, at which time he held the position of assistant professor of history. Shortly after the opening of the College he was made dean of the college by J. S. Ziesler, the institution's first president.

During his long-time occupancy of the office of dean-registrar, interrupted by a leave of absence when he served as State Commissioner of Education under Governor George H. Roper, President Harvill has long been active in civic affairs. He has been State Commander of the American Legion, a member of the Montgomery Draft Board, and member of many local and state committees on civic affairs.

President Harvill is a native of

President Harvill

Hickman County. He attended Murfreesboro State College, where he received the B.S. degree in 1927. In the interim before coming to the College, Mr. Harvill was teacher and principal in elementary and secondary schools of Middle Tennessee. In 1929 he married Miss Katherine Evans of Lewisburg. They have one son, Fletcher Evans Harvill, who is a student in Vanderbilt Law School. As soon as the president's house is remodelled, President and Mrs. Harvill plan to move from their home on North Second Street.

College Full As 18th Year Opens

Austin Peay State College began its eighteenth year and its 1946 fall quarter September 2, with an enrollment of 406, not counting sixty-old veterans enrolled in agricultural training and auto mechanics shop. Of this number 347 were regularly enrolled, 38 were in off-campus courses at Dover and Waverly and 21 enrolled for Saturday work only, making a total of 59 teachers enrolled for in-service courses. A further breakdown of the enrollment reveals that there are 234 freshmen, 54 sophomores, 35 juniors, 21 seniors and three taking postgraduate work. Total veterans enrolled are 188. Eight different states are represented and 27 Tennessee counties.

Like many other colleges in the land, Austin Peay State College has had to replace vacancies and increase its staff. Halbert Harvill (former long-time dean of the institution and during the war on leave of absence to the army from which July 2 he was given terminal leave) with the rank of major in the Selective Service, became the institution's third president, succeeding Dr. P. P. Claxton, retired, August 15. Mr. P. P. Claxton, of the Junior College, Martin, Tenn., became dean-registrar, succeeding temporary co-dean F. F. Woodward, who assumed his old duties as professor of English and Dr. D. H. File, who resigned in May to accept a position with the army.

New names on the instructional staff were Dr. Leslie Collinson, who is dean of the college and director of teacher-training; Miss Willie Stevens, associate professor in elementary education; Dr. George M. Rawlins, professor of chemistry; Charles S. Pendleton, associate professor of English; Dr. Donald M.

New Dean Assumes Position

M. P. Bowman, formerly a member of the University of Tennessee Junior College faculty at Martin, has come to Austin Peay State College as Dean-Registrar.

Mr. Bowman, who was born in Rutherford County, received all of his education in Tennessee. He received his B.S. degree from Middle Tennessee Teachers College and his M.A. degree from Peabody College.

He has had experience in teaching in both elementary schools and high schools, instructing in Cannon, Marshall, and Davidson Counties. Before going to Martin, Mr. Bowman was principal of Davidson County High School. At Martin College, he was assistant professor of mathematics and physics for the past several years his duties were similar to those he has at Austin Peay State College.

At the Junior College, Mr. Bowman served as coordinator of the CAA War Training Service, and Navy VS Aviation Training, chairman of college assembly committee, chairman of 7th Victory Loan Drive, chairman of the board of directors of the National Student Relocation Service. He was also chairman of the regional service committee for the college.

Faculty Council Elects Officers

The Faculty Council, with Mr. John Bond in the chair, met September 10 to elect new officers for the year. Mr. E. E. Woodard was elected chairman, Miss Willie Stevens, secretary, and Mr. Donald Stafford, Mr. Harry Law, and Dr. George Rawlins, members of the executive committee.

At a second meeting held at noon in the college cafeteria, September 25, the personnel of standing committees were presented and approved. The council transacted the following additional business: approved a group insurance plan presented by a representative of the President Life and Accident Insurance of Chattanooga; appointed a committee with power to act, composed of Mr. Spafford, chairman, Mr. Hague, Mrs. Gorsuch, Miss Givens to select seven outstanding seniors and juniors for Who's Who in American Colleges in 1946-47; agreed on a plan, presented by Dean Bowman on handing absences.

College Enlarges Chemistry Dept.

As part of its plan to offer full-time pre-medical and pre-dental curricula in the Southwestern College, the college has employed Dr. George M. Rawlins as professor of chemistry. Dr. Rawlins will teach classes in general, qualitative and organic chemistry.

Dr. Rawlins is a native of Montgomery County and has had a wide and successful experience in teaching science. He received his B.S. degree from the Southwestern University, his M. A. and Ph. D. in science from George Peabody College. Dr. Rawlins, before receiving his Ph. D., held a school text in chemistry which is soon to be published. With his wife and two children, Dr. Rawlins is living on his farm in St. Bethlehem community.

The ALL-STATE Goes To Press

Well, here we go again into the new year with flags flying. Naturally that includes the ALL-STATE staff. That's a joke, Son. Get it? Flag and staff!

Maybe I'll isn't one of the mystical, magic numbers in your little book, but we believe it's going to be lucky anyway. You see, this is the 17th year of All-State publication—and for you we're going to try to make it one of the very best.

To begin with, there's the new editor. Ah, yes, the Editor? He is Mr. Charles W. Jones, to be less—and ably is he assisted by Miss Mary Jo Gootee as associate editor. Then climbing on down the ladder a bit we find the editorial committee: namely, Mary Frances Ledbetter, Dorothy Grace, Sarah Lincham, William Wooten, and Sam Winters.

The Sports Section stands alone in its popularity and is kept up to date by Robert Fort. This year we are proud to present a special feature—Tommy Castleberry's cartoons. Look for them!

There must always, of course, be someone to write the "In the grindstone" or as they are more commonly known the reporters and feature writers. These are: Josephine Burton, Eleanor Choate, Jo-Coble, Chloee Cooper, Peggy Douglas, Joyce Fowler, Charles French, Betty Giles, Evelyn Glenn, Ford Hollingsworth, Mayre Ruth Justice, Richard Powers, Christine Price, Orville Pullam, Ann Roberts, Louis Seal, Joyce Seal, John L. Sullivan, Jean Swift and Marianna Wade.

To handle the business side of the operation, Edmon Burke is assisted by Frank Miller and B. E. Kimbrough, and as circulation managers, Mildred Culwell and Jo-Coble.

The increased enrollment has enlivened the whole life of the college, bringing back intercollegiate athletics, a full choir, a band, and active participation in other extra-curricular activities. Both men's dormitories are full, and in the case of Calvin Hall, more than full—a congestion which will be relieved by the completion of the government housing project Oct. 15.

The last of August one of the east front turrets of the old Castle Building fell and the subsequent condemnation of the building resulted in a hundred years had served four educational institutions on the campus, has forced the college to scatter its classes and use every available space. The Army at the rear of the college campus has been pressed into use for classes in health and physical education, education, and agriculture. With the assurance of a new science building, bids for which will soon be placed, the college can look forward to more adequate quarters as it enters on a new phase of growth.

Alpha Club Sponsors Formal Dance

Myra McKay Harned Hall was the scene of campus interests on Wednesday evening, October 2, when the Alpha Greek Letter Club of the dormitory sponsored a formal dance for the faculty and students of the college.

The reception hall of the dormitory was beautifully decorated with pink and white crepe paper which was gracefully draped throughout the hall and covered the arched doorway at each end of the hall. Multi-color balloons hung from the chandeliers and beautiful arrangements of fall flowers in profusion were used for decoration. The wall brackets provided the only lighting which was also multi-color.

Guests were received by Miss Dorothy Roach, president of the club, Mrs. Sarah Linehan, vice-president, Miss Anne Roberts, secretary-treasurer, Miss Joyce Randall, and Miss Elva Ijams.

Refreshments were served by Miss Jo Coble, Miss Mary Lee Curi, Miss Lorene Alsobrooks, Miss Eva Clark, and Miss Martha Roberts.

A nickelodeon furnished the music of which there were various sections.

We've got a team.
We've got a yell.

Coach Sums Up Difficulties

A difficult job of building a football squad faced Coach Dave Aaron when he began training a team for Austin Peay in August. How well he has succeeded so far has been evidenced in the way the men held the defensive against a more powerful combine in the opening game.

The coach's main problem now is to build up the weak spots and fill in gaps to bring the strength of the Governors up to the winning point.

"I am tremendously worried about the remaining schedule," the mentor said when he took a little time off from his multiple duties to commit himself about what he thinks the prospects for the eleven are this season.

He explained that every opposing team his men are scheduled to meet has the strongest team it has ever had, while APSC had to start from scratch with only three lettermen on the squad.

"There will be long hours of incessant toil for the entire squad and for the coaching staff before we accomplish what we wish to do," Coach Aaron declared. "We could train and work and then lose every game," he pointed out.

"It takes four years of twelve months each, eliminating sheer good luck, to build a winning team," the coach explained.

"I never believed in alibis because everyone has his good and bad breaks over a long period of time. So far ours certainly have not been good," he went on to say.

He referred to the injuries that have weakened his squad and the lack of equipment. Riggs Hayes, Carl T. Moore, Monroe Taylor had to be sidelined because of injuries. Each man held an important position on the grid team.

In conclusion, the coach admitted that he banks on the team to win before the season is over.

"Regardless of what I have already said, though, we will beat somebody. We must win," he asserted.

Even though the Governors and the opening staff face handicaps and have had tough breaks, it is a gain to have football returned to the college.

INQUIRING REPORTER

Several freshmen gave the following answers to this question: "What impresses you most about Austin Peay?"

EDWINA WATT: "Friendly atmosphere, that is!"

JOYCE RANDALL: "The football team."

A. L. BROOKS: "It's a nice place, but I think that the art of friendliness needs reviving."

BETTY GILES: "The between class hours. That's about all."

ANN HARGROVE: "It's surprising how friendly all are. I like it."

BILL BOMAR: "The show is very good, the natural surroundings of the campus are pretty, and I also like English class."

Governors Make Good Showing In Opening Game

The Austin Peay Governors resumed football after a five-year lapse, Saturday night, September 21, in alien territory by losing a heart breaker to Tennessee Wesleyan, 6 to 0. The Governors threatened in the first quarter when Harry Rogers picked up a first down on the Wesleyan eight-yard line, but fumbled on the same play; and the enemy recovered. Wesleyan scored midway in the second quarter when a pass intended for Fisher was batted into the air by a defender and intercepted by the defensive right halfback who raced from the fifty yard line to pay dirt.

Price played a fine game at center for APSC. Harry Rogers out-kicked the opposition and Gentry was the most consistent ground gainer for the Governors.

Governors Victors In First Home Game

The hard driving Governors of Austin Peay State College defeated the Cumberland Bulldogs 27 to 0 at the Clarksville Stadium Saturday night September 28.

There was no score in the first quarter, but in the second quarter the Governors took the ball on the fifty yard line and in successive drives carried it to the twenty-five yard line. Gentry then took the ball over for the first touchdown of the game. Morton's kick was good for the extra point.

The boys from Austin Peay scored again in the third quarter. Green intercepted a pass on the Bulldogs' 25 and Gentry carried the ball to the five yard line. Garrett drove over for a touchdown, but the attempt for the extra point failed.

Early in the fourth quarter Austin Peay scored again. Cumberland kicked to Gentry, who took the ball on his own 40 and with good running fought through the Cumberland team to score. Morton's kick was good again for the extra point.

In the fading minutes of the last quarter, Charles Burchett took the ball for the Governors on his own 10 yard line, and on successive times carried it to the one yard line of Cumberland. Cattigiani went over for the final score of the game and kicked the extra point.

The visitors threatened in the first quarter but the big Governors held on their own two yard line.

Cheer Leaders Elected

On Monday, September 9, the student body elected the following as cheer leaders for this year: Christine Price, Mary Wilson, Ann Roberts, Trez Thompson, and Jesse Trout.

The above group includes three former cheer leaders, Mary Wilson, Christine Price, and Ann Roberts, who held that position last year. Jesse Trout is from Cedar Hill, Tennessee, and Trez Thompson comes from Long Island, New York, where he was a cheer leader at Port Washington High School.

The election was held during the chapel period and each candidate demonstrated his ability by leading the student body in yells before the voting took place.

Dr. Michelson Heads History Department

The All State staff welcomes Dr. Donald Michelson to A.P.S.C. Dr. Michelson assumed his duties as professor of history. He succeeds Dr. Martin E. Lowe, who resigned to accept a position in Tulsa City College, Tulsa, Okla.

A native of Baltimore, Maryland, he received his A.B. degree from Eastern Kentucky State Teachers College; the M.A. and Ph.D. degrees at George Peabody College at Nashville.

Dr. Michelson taught history at Clarksville High School in 1938, and in 1940 he became a member of the faculty of Peabody College in the capacity of assistant professor of social science.

He spent three and one-half years in the U. S. Navy.

Dr. Michelson is interested in athletics. In college he played football and was on the track team. In high school he won several championship medals. He is also interested in music. His hobby is collecting records.

We are delighted to have Dr. Michelson with us and we are looking forward to the not too far distant day when his wife and two and one-half year-old daughter will join him.

Our Campus

Our campus at Austin Peay State College is one of the most beautiful in Tennessee. One can not help but notice this even while hurriedly walking to and from classes. Of particular interest are the sunken gardens planted in three of the six natural depressions on the campus, the shrubbery, and the well-kept grass.

All of us who use the buildings and grounds should endeavor to keep them looking their best and in such condition that we may point with pride to them. This objective can be realized if each of us will cooperate by using the walks instead of cutting across the grass plots in routine campus trips and by placing our paper and other waste in the receptacles provided. None of us wants to see the grass sections cup up by paths when only a moment's thought and maybe a few extra steps will prevent it, so let us use the walks at all times and keep the grass looking its best.

Our campus is beautiful. Let's keep it that way!

Cafeteria Has New Director

Miss George Chapman of Gallatin, Tenn., comes to the college as the new director of the cafeteria. Miss Chapman has had wide experience in her work before coming here. She has been manager of a school cafeteria in Gallatin, director of food services at Service Club Number 1, Camp Campbell, and director of the dining hall at Montreal Assembly Grounds, Montreal, North Carolina.

The business-like way in which Miss Chapman has entered into her duties has made a favorable impression on the administration, and the fine food she has been serving has already drawn applause from the student and faculty members who patronize the cafeteria.

There was a young lady named Ann,
From the Armory to Stewart she ran.

She soon got so thin
She began to cave in,
But, Oh, how that gal covers land.

There was a young chap named Buddy,
The one with the cheeks so ruddy,
And to see his smile
I'd walk a mile.

As long as the road wasn't muddy.

Dope On The Dopes

Here it is fall again, the season of football, football players, beautiful women, and blankets—you can take them in any combination and it still sounds good.

Due to our swelling enrollment we are unable to slander each and every one of you, so we will begin with the most horrible examples. As we go to press, we ask that you bear with us and the number too increased at any low, dirty, slanderous, libelous, remarks that may appear about you.

We'll keep the writing clean; let your filthy minds wander where they may.

We notice the new, small size, but big-time football player, Pee Wee Settlers, has been playing the field—Joy Davis and Joyce Randall to begin with, Buddy Hicks has been seeing more of Jean Swift, who I hear says little of anything but Buddy. Bud Barrett, alternate captain of our football team, is paired off with our old friend Fanny Smith. The case of Frances Bradley and Elston Nordon is nothing less than noteworthy, their being seen together on successive nights, first at C. H. S.—Murfreesboro game and then way down at Athens for the APSG game. Also at Athens were Aubrey Harvey and Horace Taylor with Doris Lee Snyder. Some people are getting in a rut! Why doesn't somebody get married—Among those with enough dual time to become "one" are: Bruce and Aurelia, President Bob and Mildred, Ford Hollingsworth and Sarah Linehan, and Evans Harvill (of Vanderbilt) and Peggy (she's still too young) Douglas.

Among the newer twosomes are Eleanor and Jimmy, and Ann Aske-Tony Earle.

Peggy Flemming seems much happier—now that Homer is home. Others who seem to have some chuck for keeping that look are Chuck Dora and Jo Coble, Mary Ruth Justice and Harold, Jim Young and Lorene Alsbrooks, Paul Sullivan and Ann Roberts, as well as Bob Parrison and Dot Rosch.

What's this we hear about Walter Powers getting a birthday card from North Carolina inscribed "To My Sweetheart"—It couldn't have been Martha McDaniel who sent it. Austin Pray turned out in fine style for the C. H. S.—Murfreesboro football game. It did our hearts good to see H. J. Marshall and Elva Hume there together—reminiscent of last year when they were—shall we say—"constant companions." Also spotted were Charles Marsh and Prudence Cottrill, who are as far as we know a new pair; Walter Powers and Ross Lee Ogles; Mary Wilson with Paxton Payne, a Hopeton boy and Med student at Vandy; Helen McGregor and T. S. Batson—now of UT; Marthann Anderson and Frank Miller double dated with Frank's sister, Betty and Tree Thompson, who hails from

York and is now one of our capable cheer leaders.

We saw Bill Beaumont yelling like mad for C. H. S. with Mary Lou Harter, an adorable H. S. Senior. Henry Farmer was there with Dorothy Dickson and her convertible—both are well known on our campus.

We seldom see Mary Jo. Gooch without Bill Fisher now-a-days, but when she isn't with him, she's talking about him.

Now, a juicy morsel: Out in front of Eddie's the other night was a car, in the back seat of which were Edmund Hadley and Evelyn Mills—Frank Miller stood outside pleading with them to come inside—the only reply was a rather tuncful rendition by Hadley of "Give Me Five Minutes More."

It is told that the 22 (a reform society of the "Evergreen" Friend Girls' local chapter number 22) gathered at Evelyn Glenn's home to drown their sorrows upon departure of their respective "Sir Galahads" to far away schools. Going to Vandy was Helen McGregor's Winston Dodson. Betty Miller's Billy Bracy, Marthann Anderson's Frank Cooper, and Evelyn Glenn's Lamarr Armstrong had departed for U. T.

A Night In Calvin Hall

"Have you ever spent a night in Calvin Hall?" Boy, it's rough! For the benefit of those who have not been quite as fortunate as I have, I will endeavor to enlighten you on the happenings from this abode of masculine confusion.

After getting back to the room from supper, things ran along very smoothly for about an hour, and then things start happening.

Having waited until I thought it safe, I slowly but cautiously approached the wash room to see if it is possible to sneak in a quick shave. It just isn't safe to attempt it while every one else has the same idea, because when that bunch is in there, one never knows whether he is working on his face or someone else's. Slowly I open the door—Ah! it's empty—not a soul in sight, so I proceed to carry out my original intentions, but it seems that fate intervenes. "EssaOoooo, I've been stabbed!" No, someone just turned on a shower up stairs. Evidently the floor leaks, because a cold blade of water goes knocking its way down my back. Did I say "LEAKED"? Personally I don't believe there is even a floor up there because by now there is a steady downpour of water.

After struggling through the water menace, my task is finally finished. Once again I am safely back in my room and doing various jobs in an effort to prolong my starting to study. I settle down for a quiet evening of deep study. While in deep concentration, a stealthy step is heard upon the stairs and quietly approaches the front door. Ah! is quiet and then, out of the still of the night, a blood curdling cry issues forth from the front hallway as someone yells, "BEEBEE MISTER!!!" There is a slight lull as the echoes rebound through the halls and seek their way into every room. Then it comes: There is a mad rush for the front door and WHAT a rush, and old Calvin reels and rocks under the impact of the stampeding onrush.

Having staidied my nerves with a cigarette and deciding that there is nothing else that CAN happen, I begin to gather the wildly strewn books up from the floor with the intention of trying it one more time.

A couple of hours have passed and not a sound has been heard within these walls. The quietness is deafening and overwhelming. Then from the deep recesses of quietness and stillness there is heard in a loud, clear voice, "BRUCE CORBITT! HEY, BRUCE, YOU ARE WANTED ON THE TELEPHONE!!" Then is heard the sounds of an opening door, the rapid steps toward the stairway, and then a "CRASH!!!" Bruce missed the first step. Then in a loud voice, Bruce exclaims, "Boy, that first step was a long one." About forty-five minutes later, Bruce can be heard going up the stairs singing, "Some Sunday Morning."

Take it from me, unless you are the bold adventurous type and have nerves of steel, DON'T SPEND A NIGHT IN CALVIN HALL!!!
