

AP women reveal liberated opinions on various subjects

The majority of women polled at Austin Peay State University favor legalized abortion, lengthening dorm visitation hours and conversion of one of the men's dorms to use by women.

Of the 1208 questionnaires distributed to APSU women via the student post office by the Union for Women's Rights last quarter, 153 were returned.

Legalizing abortion on the demand of the woman was favored by 70 per cent. Only 19 per cent felt that Tennessee abortion laws should be changed to be less stringent.

Lengthening visitation hours brought favorable response of 73.5 per cent, while 18 per cent thought it should stay the same and 1.3 per cent thought it should be shortened. Visitation should be extended to men's dorms, ac-ording to 78.4 per cent. Also, 13 per cent suggested unlimited visitation.

Responding to the proposal that one of the men's dorms with outside entrances to all rooms be converted to use by women, 92 per cent were in favor. There were suggestions that upperclass women have priority, but 78 per cent thought it should be open to all women.

Of the respondents, 96.1 per cent felt that the APSU Health Service should be expanded to provide health services to women such as pelvic examinations and contraceptives. The largest positive response to this question was from the married women, 96.4 of whom were in favor of expansion. Also, 63 per cent said they would take advantage of these services if they needed them.

The majority of the respondents, 67 per cent, felt that there is a need for a self-defense education program at APSU. If offered at APSU, 161 women said they would like to attend a program in simplified, non-technical self-defense, while 51.6 per cent were interested in karate and 50.3 per cent in judo.

Other topics of concern were commented on by those answering the poll. These topics included lack of birth control information, discrimination in hiring and salaries, lack of police protection and lighting on campus and the position of women on the APSU faculty. Another source of irritation to 44 per cent of the respondents was the persistence of dorm hours and the policy of signing in and out.

THE TREE YOU SAVE—Some skillful driving was displayed last week by an unidentified APSU student who apparently skidded off the road during our first snowfall of the year.

Group appears at APSU tonight

Rock and roll comes to the APSU gym tonight at 8 when Brownville Station makes its appearance.

From Ann Arbor, Mich., the group combines good times and a lot of humor to give the audience liberal doses of their beat, bounce and boogie music.

Brownville has just completed a tour with Rod Stewart and Faces.

Also, on the bill is Angel Flakes.

Advance tickets are $2 and can be purchased at the University Center information desk. Tickets will be $3 at the door.

'Marigold' blooms tonight in Clement Auditorium

The off-Broadway hit The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man-in-the-Moon Marigolds will open tonight at 8 in the Clement Auditorium and will continue through Friday evening.

The play, directed by J. G. Griffin, assistant professor of speech and theater, is about a woman and her pathetic struggle to raise her two teenage daughters.

Angie Winking plays the harsh mother Beatrice. "Beatrice is a mercurial character—flaring with anger one minute, teasing off a sarcastic one-liner the next. She is one of the most totally bitter and frustrated characters I've ever encountered in a play," she said.

Cathy Darwell, playing the older convulsive daughter, said, "Tut is crazy, but not the stereotyped vision of crazy. She is hateful, but she does have a heart. She is a mixture of good and bad, normal and insane, and she is probably no more than a selfish mixed-up adolescent."

Robin Fontes, who portrays the younger scientific, imaginative daughter, said, "I like Tillie because she is a dreamer, a wanderer, a loser. Her loves are hidden, her dreams beautiful and abstract; all she wants is to be left alone to spin her atomic webs."

Lesser roles are played by Martha Hannah as the invalid Nancy and Janice Vickery as a school girl.

Admission is $1 for students and $1.50 for non-students.

APO seeks 'Ugly Man' next week

Alpha Phi Omega National Service Fraternity will sponsor the third annual Ugly Man On Campus contest during the week of January 22-26.

The winner will be determined by the highest number of points accumulated by each contestant based on money collected and points accumulated at the different events planned for UMOG week. All proceeds from the contest will be donated to the Harriet Cohn Mental Health Center.

The scheduled activities include a dance to be held in the University Center Ballroom Monday, Jan. 22.

Tuesday, Jan. 23, the Bloodmobile will be on campus. Interested participants may donate blood in the University Center Ballroom between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Half-time activities will be held Wednesday, Jan. 24, at Billy Dunlap Park. The UMOG trophy will be displayed.

Thursday, the 25th, a treasure hunt will take place with clues to be announced in the University Center.

The close of the UMOG contest is noon, Friday, Jan. 26. Crowning of Ugly Man will be held at 2 p.m. in the bowl in the traditional Ugly Man Throne Room, an outhouse acquired by the brothers of APO.

ROCKIN', ROLLIN' GOODTIMES—Brownville Station, along with Angel Flakes, comes rocking into the Memorial Gymnasium tonight at 8. Advance tickets are $2 and $3 at the door.

Band performs

The film of the Atlanta Falcon half-time show featuring the Austin Peay band and Goverment will be shown tonight at 6, 6:30 and 7 in the University Center Ballroom.

The 12-minute audio film will be in full color. Admission is free.

THE EFFECT OF GAMMA RAYS—Beatrice (standing), played by Angie Winking scolds her daughter Tillie, played by Robin Fontes, for paying more attention to her pet rabbit and school science experiments than to helping with the housework.

YA KNOW, HARRY! I THINK I'LL DEDICATE

Desecration of flag totes severe penalty

Several weeks ago two Austin Peay students were sentenced to a year in prison. These students did not rape a co-ed, neither did they rob a bank nor commit murder; they didn't even beat a dog to death. These students were found guilty of desecration of the American flag.

The penalty for showing any disrespect for the flag can be up to a 3 year prison sentence or a $5,000 fine or both. These students will have to spend either a year in prison or maybe, if they are lucky, a year on probation. In any case, these students will be branded for the rest of their lives with a criminal record.

The average citizen looks at this incident with horror and wonders why anyone would want to desecrate the American flag. To these people the American flag is symbol of a land of freedom and equality. Not everyone, however, responds to the flag in this manner. For some the American flag is symbolic of a hypocritical nation who takes pride in its eloquent rhetoric of equality and freedom while in reality it continues to oppress minority groups, racial and financial.

To the American Indian the flag does not stand for the land of the free; but was the flag that white troops rallied around to invade their land and destroy their culture.

To some Blacks of America the flag does not stand for equality, when at one time in America, Blacks were counted as three-fifths of a person. And inequality is still seen in areas that are still dominated by racists, who probably paste a garishbolesic flag on their windshields.

For some the flag represents a nation destined to defend democracy when and wherever democracy seems threatened but others see it as a flag representing an imperialist nation who uses the "defend democracy" or "stop communism" slogans as a cover up for their invasions into countries, causing terrible destruction and no good.

It is ridiculous to put a person in jail for tearing a piece of cloth—perhaps make him pay for a new one. Jail is scarcely the place to instill citizenship or national pride. If the good people of America had in the past, striven as diligently in preserving our national bird, the eagle, as in ensuring the preservation of an inanimate piece of cloth, this magnificent creature would not be on the endangered species list, today. But, in the United States, and obviously in microcosm, Clarksvillian demogogic priorities take note of blind passions and symbols in the expense of reason and people.

On Jan. 20 thousands of Americans will demonstrate in Washington, D. C. for an end to the Vietnam War.

Letters to editor

SGA states accomplishments

To the Students,
In the December 6th issue of THE ALL STATE, the editorial editor made remarks against the Student Government Association here at Austin Peay which were unwarranted and unsupported. We have and we continue to work for the student's benefit and interest. I will not follow the example of the editorial editor by making statements without proper support. I am including in this letter a list of brief summaries of activities which the Student Government Association has been totally or partially responsible for executing. I, unlike the editorial editor, ask you to look at the facts and decide for yourself if you are receiving the representation which you deserve as a student. The purpose of this letter is not to provide a poor editorial, but to show that the editorial editor did not investigate the matter thoroughly and thus produced an unjust impression of your government.

This administration has concentrated its efforts in providing more services to the student, and communicating the opinions of the student body. Contrary to the opinion of the editorial editor, I feel we have accomplished many of the programs we set out to accomplish in the Spring of 1972.

Dear Editor,

Realization must hit the administration soon that two-third of the student body does commute.

The hesitant Administrators' better start listening to student and faculty complaints about the traffic condition on College Street before someone gets killed! The parking lots are in a pathetic condition. It's a wonder some of the smaller cars don't fall in the chugholes. If this University wants to get more students here, the administrators better consider taking good care of the ones they already have.

Sincerely,
Mary Lon Wallace

WESTERN KENTUCKY UNIVERSITY, The College Heights Herald, Bowling Green, Ky.—Beginning this spring, Western students will have an opportunity to do something with these long-labored-over research papers. They can submit their papers and essays to a new campus publication, the Student Research Bulletin. The Bulletin will consist exclusively of research papers and essays written by Western undergraduates.

The Student Research Bulletin is unique in that it is not concerned so much with poems and short stories, but instead, it is designed to encourage students to feel they have an outlet, a place they can express in printing, their scholarly achievements.

UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN MISSISSIPPI, The Student Press, Hattiesburg, Miss.—

Twelve business education teachers in the Department of Business Education have developed a special manual to prepare clerical office practice students for more immediate success in adjustments to initial employment.

The manual, "The Simulation Integrated Project," employs banking procedures through problems and is designed to take students through seven positions over a period of six weeks in a "simulated bank" classroom. Students rotate into positions of office manager, clerk typist, loan officer, discount clerk, payroll clerk and savings teller.

The projects are designed for use in business education departments in Mississippi secondary schools which do not have a cooperative business and office education program.

Sororities host parties during rush

Formal rush period for campus sororities, which began last week, continues this week with parties sponsored by the Inter-Sorority Council and the four campus sororities, Alpha Kappa Alpha, Chi Omega, Kappa Delta and Theta Phi Epsilon.

Rush officially opened Thursday Jan. 11 with Greek Night, an open meeting to coeds who wished to learn something about APSU sororities. Applications for rush were distributed at that time.

At the traditional Greek Tea, held Sunday, Jan. 14 in the University Ballroom, rushees met with members of each sorority and also turned in applications to rush. On Monday Jan. 15, ice water parties were held in the University Center at 30 minute intervals.

Theme parties begin tonight for rushees, by invitation only. Kappa Delta will transport their rushees back in time for a 1969's party from 6-7:30. Chi Omega will host a soaring airplane party from 8-9:30 p.m.

Tomorrow night Theta Phi Epsilon has planned a "rootin' tootin'" western party from 6:30-7:30. From 8-9:30 p.m. Alpha Kappa Alpha will entertain with a trip in "water space."

Each sorority will host rushees by invitation only at preference parties next week. The dates for these parties are Kappa Delta and Chi Omega, Jan. 22, and Theta Phi Epsilon and Alpha Kappa Alpha, Jan. 25.

Rushees must turn in their applications to pledge to the office of Mildred Deason, dean of women's affairs, by 11 a.m. on Friday Jan. 26. At the same time sororities will turn in their choices of girls.

SORORITY RUSH — A coed fills out applications for rush and pays rush fee at the traditional Greek Tea held last Sunday in the University Center Ballroom.

During the day Dean Deason will coordinate the choices of the girls and the sororities; and, at 4 p.m., rushees may pick up their bids from Dean Deason.

A closed formal presentation ball will be sponsored by the ESC in the spring at which time the sorority pledges will be presented as active members.

Jack Bushofsky is well aware of the task he has ahead of him as new head football coach of the Austin Peay Governors. And Jack Bushofsky knows what it's going to take to put APSU back on the football map among the nation's colleges as well as the Ohio Valley Conference.

Bushofsky was chosen for the coaching job from a final list of five coaches that were interviewed by the athletic committee. The other four in the group included John Cropp (head coach at Bristol, Tenn., High School), Claude Gibson (former head coach at Tulsa University), Bob Patterson (assistant at Vanderbilt) and Johnny Wike (assistant at Western Carolina).

Bushofsky was a Little All-American at offensive guard in 1960 for the Governors, worked with the APSU football program in the fall of 1961 and 1962 before receiving his graduate degree in 1962.

Bushofsky is a scrapper. He wouldn't have gotten the head coaching job if he wasn't. The final list of coaches the athletic committee was originally going to interview consisted of four names; all those mentioned above minus Bushofsky. But the 35 year old battler kept at it. He got some high recommendations for the job, he organized his thoughts and philosophies on paper and he presented to the committee why Austin Peay needed Jack Bushofsky.

"I felt I could do the job," commented Bushofsky when asked why he pressed so hard for the head coaching position. "I knew I'd like to come back to Austin Peay and contribute something or at least try to."

The new head coach has released the names of the coaches that he would like to have assist him. The trio includes Jim Lane, Ed Bunio and Tom Jones.

Lane is a proven coach who came to Austin Peay with Bill Dupes 10 years ago. Lane compiled an over-all mark of 101-49 during 15 years of prep school coaching before coming to APSU.

Bunio has enjoyed success as an assistant coach at Clarksville High School and was a graduate assistant at APSU during the 1971 grid season.

Jones has held a variety of coaching positions including posts at Ft. Campbell, Ky., High School, Mon Valley Catholic High in Monacahele Hill, Pa., and an assistant coaching job at North Catholic high in Pittsburgh, Pa. North Catholic is known for having some of the state's top grid teams.

Both Bunio and Jones are ex-All OVC football players for AP. Bunio graduated in 1965 while Jones finished in '66.

An interesting fact is that Bushofsky recruited both Jones and Bunio to play for the Governors during his graduate assistant days.

The Gobs will begin spring practice drills the first of February and Bushofsky and his group of coaches have quite a bit to find out in only 20 practice sessions.

"Of course there is no way that I can accurately evaluate what we have in the way of personnel," commented Bushofsky. "I have met with all the returning lettermen both as a group and most of them individually. The enthusiasm is here and over-all the team has good character which will help us along."

"I haven't looked at any game films and I'm not going to because it wouldn't be fair to evaluate a player by what is seen on a film," stated Bushofsky. "Every player will be given a chance at every offensive and defensive position. Everyone will have a fair and equal chance in the spring."

Following the completion of his MA degree at Austin Peay, Bushofsky was a high school coach in Pennsylvania from 1963 through 1967. From there he went to Villanova University to serve a five year stint. Bushofsky was in charge of VU's receivers for two seasons, in charge of the offensive line his third and fourth seasons and headed the offensive back last season so he has worked in all areas which Bushofsky feels should be beneficial to him.

Coch Bushofsky and his wife Mary Ann have two children. Danielle is four-and-a-half years old and Jeffrey is three.

Gobs finally win a close one

The Austin Peay Governors were beginning to wonder if they'd ever win the close one. The Gobs had dropped two straight heartbreakers; a 69-68 loss to UNC Charlotte a little over a week ago and an 81-79 drubbing by Morehead last Saturday on regional television. Both losses came on last second shots and both losses were on the road.

But the gallant Gobs gave it another try on the road Monday night. This time they beat the jinx and in the meantime bumped Eastern Kentucky in an 88-87 overtime thriller to run the Gobs' overall record to 8-3 and 1-1 in the Ohio Valley Conference.

"The boys really deserved to win it," said a jubilant Lane. Kelly in a telephone interview after the contest. "We could've given up at halftime when we were down by 10 (51-41). Especially after losing the last two like we did. They showed a heck of a lot of character coming back the way they did."

The two teams traded leads several times after the Gobs had finally caught up with Eastern with about six minutes left in the game. The Colonels went out 79-77 from three minutes left to 70-70 jumper by Bob Watkins. But Fly Williams knotted things with two minutes left when he beat both ends of a one-and-one. EKV missed two shots and the Gobs got possession of the ball with 1:32 left. AP then threw the ball and called time out with eight seconds showing on the clock. The Gobs worked the ball to Howard Jackson but he missed a seven footer that rolled around and came out at the horn.

APSU blitzed to an 84-79 lead in the OT, but EKV scored six straight to go out 85-84. Williams busted a 20 footer for AP before Wade Upchurch connected on a 25 footer to push Eastern in front 87-85. Eddie Childress was credited with a follow-up to give the Gobs the 88-87 margin with 28 left.

EKU came down and took two shots before Richard Jimmerson yanked down the rebound and was tied up. AP controlled the tip and Robert Turner was fouled with two seconds left. He missed the shot but Eastern couldn't score.

Fly led the Gobs with 30 points. Danny Odums had 14 (12 of which came in the second half), Children 12, Jackson and Jerry Wamstath eight each.

Carter qualifies for NCAA in long jump

Anthony Carter, a freshman long jump specialist from Tusculumville High School in Mobile, Ala., qualified for the NCAA track meet which will be held in Detroit in March with a leap of 25 feet, six inches in the Senior Bowl indoor track meet in Mobile last weekend.

Carter's distance was a new meet and stadium record not to mention a new APSU standard.

Carter will be trying to improve on that mark Saturday when the Gobs travel to Jackson, Miss., for the United States Track and Field meet.

"Both these meets are real big meets with nothing but the country's best," pointed out head track coach Ken Gunter.

David Reintjes and Richard Harvey both placed in the two-mile run in Mobile. Reintjes was fourth with a time of 9:40 and Harvey churned out sixth with a 10:06 clocking.

"We didn't carry but nine down to Mobile," said Gunter. "We have some kids hurt and some of us weren't ready to run coming out of the holidays."

"The kids we carried did well," praised Gunter who is leading the Gobs in the school's first indoor schedule ever. "We just carried who we thought could compete."

As for this weekend's meet Gunter cited that Carter could have another outstanding afternoon. He also pointed to Reintjes in the two mile and Rick Szeak in the mile run.

"Carter should be in the nation's top ten," commented Gunter in reference to Carter's jump. "With continued work he should improve quite a bit on that mark."

In turning to the team's progress Gunter said, "We're doing better. The kids are coming along well. However, we're not anywhere close to being where we'd like to be."

Fly leads nation's scoring

AP impressive in early tilts

The Governors of head coach Larry Kelly were off to the best start of any Austin Peay team in recent years going into the Ohio Valley Conference opener with Morehead last Saturday.

The Gobs carried a 7-2 over-all record and were ranked among the top teams in the nation in scoring average with over 100 points per game as of January 12. But the biggest news of all was the performances of James "Fly" Williams, the six freshman showman from Brooklyn, N.Y.

Williams was atop the list of individual scoring in the nation with his 32.7 points per game average. Fly also dragged down rebounds at a rate of nearly nine a game during the first nine games of the season.

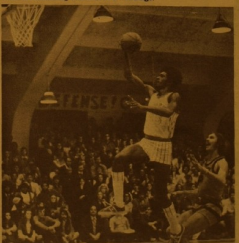

The Gobs won their first three games of the season before losing to Kentucky Wesleyan in the finals of the All-American tournament in Owensboro, Ky., right before Christmas. The Gobs stormed back to take top honors in the Claxton Frutkin Classic in Statesboro, Ga., defeating Georgia Southern in the finals 112-94 behind a 51 point effort by Williams.

Austin Peay increased its record to 1-1 with wins over Tusculum and Western Carolina.

UNC Charlotte dropped the Gobs to 7-2 with 69-68 win on a last second shot.

Howard Jackson, the stalwart 6'7 forward for the Gobs, led the team in rebounding with 14 a game through the first nine encounters. He also averaged nearly 12 points per game. Danny Odums was the team's second leading scorer with a 13.7 ppg average.

WILLIAMS... "Fly" in for two more.

IM basketball leagues begin

After an in-between quarter layoff, the Austin Peay intramural program is picking back up with a flurry of events. Basketball leagues for campus males and females tipped off this week along with table tennis and billiard tournaments. The deadline for Fooseball (doubles) entries is 5 p.m. tomorrow. Other entry deadlines coming up include the IM free throw contest (Feb. 15), swimming meet (Feb. 20), and the IM wrestling meet (Feb. 27). There is a record 29 teams entered in the men's intramural program while the ladies boast eight teams which will compete in two separate leagues. The men's teams are distributed among six leagues.

Ohio Valley's Outlook

By RICKEY BENTLEY

At 2 p.m. Jan. 20 the OVC Basketball TV series will air its second game of the year. This time from Bowling Green, Ky., as Western Kentucky hosts Eastern Kentucky. This OVC series has been brought about due to the fine work of Marvin Mews and his staff at MM productions.

These games will be broadcast over seven regional stations and will cover nine states in the mid-south. The station in this area covering the games is WLCTV (channel five) in Nashville.

These broadcasts will prove to be an asset for all the OVC schools as it will be a tremendous aid in recruiting. The only teams to appear on TV in the past few years have been Western Kentucky, in NCAA journey competition and Middle Tennessee when they played Vanderbilt earlier this season. Now all the OVC schools are assured of at least one appearance on the series.

The first five games have been set up and the other three will be determined by a "wild card" which will be a selection of the (Continued on Page 8, Col. 1)

'Bama's Gaylon Smith

Top assistant to aid runners

Gaylon Smith, two-time All-Southeastern Conference distance runner at the University of Alabama, has accepted the position of graduate-assistant track coach at Austin Peay State University.

"We are delighted that Gaylon has come with us," head track coach Ken Gunter stated in announcing the appointment. "He is a dedicated young man and will provide excellent coaching for our distance runners."

Smith, who finished his undergraduate requirements at Alabama in December, is enrolled in the health and physical education department at APSU.

His primary duties with the Governors' track program will be to work with the distance runners during the outdoor season and with the cross-country team next fall.

While at Alabama, Smith competed on the cross-country team as well as running on the track squad. He captained both units during his senior season.

Winner of two track letters at Alabama, Smith holds the school record in the three-mile run (13:44.0) and the six-mile event (29:44.0). His best time in the mile was 4:04.6.

While running with the Alabama cross-country team, Smith finished second in the conference meet his senior year and was ninth his junior season.
