

Ninety-four Graduates Don Caps And Gowns Today For Twelfth Commencement Exercise

Dr. Edmonds Delivers Baccalaureate Sermon

On Sunday evening, May 11, a long line of black-gowned graduates filed into the historic old Presbyterian Church to hear the class sermon delivered by Dr. Henry Morris Edmonds. Dr. Edmonds is quite well known in the South, having been pastor of the Independent Presbyterian Church in Birmingham since 1915. He has published two books, Studies in Power and The Way, the Truth, the Life.

Preceding Dr. Edmonds' address was an organ recital by Mrs. Adrian Laseur after which the graduating class entered to "The March of the Fyres" by Mendelssohn and joined the congregating in singing "Day is Dying in the West." Dr. J. B. Lacy, Pastor Emeritus of the Presbyterian Church pronounced the invocation. The scripture was read by the Reverend W. L. McColligan, pastor of the Presbyterian Church.

The Austin Peay Normal School sang a group of four selections, "Lord for Thy Tender Mercies Bake" by Richard Parrant, "God, My King" by Bach, "Cherubim Song" by Tchaikowsky, and "Hear My Cry, O God" by Kopyloff. The theme of Dr. Edmonds' sermon was Youth Advertising for a Loved Leader. He pointed out that there are at least four glorious adventures.

Reception, Dance Last Social Affair Of Year

On Thursday evening, May 15, immediately following the impressive Farewell and Hall ceremonies on the campus, President and Mrs. Claxton and the faculty held a reception for the students, their parents and friends at Myra McKay Harned Hall.

The foyer was artistically decorated with spring flowers from the campus and furnished a beautiful setting for the inaugural ceremonies of the governor and first lady of the school. Amid hushed suspense it was announced that their fellow students had elected Bob Buchanan president of the Sophomore Class to serve as governor and as his First Lady Miss Martha Lane Freedle, president of the Alpha Club.

For the rest of the evening the guests enjoyed a dance given in honor of Governor Buchanan and First Lady Freedle.

Governor

Robert Thomas Buchanan

With his election as Governor of the Class of '41, Bob Buchanan has reached the climax of his two years' work at Austin Peay. During his stay here Bob has proved himself to be worthy of all the fame and glory going with this title.

First Lady

Martha Lane Freedle

In electing her First Lady of the Graduating Class of APN for 1941, her classmates have awarded the highest honor within their power to Miss Martha Lane Freedle.

Miss Freedle came to Austin Peay from Portland, Tennessee, where she graduated as valedictorian of her senior class. She served as an officer (Continued on Page 2)

Wirt Courtney Makes Commencement Address

On Friday morning, May 16 at ten the graduating class of ninety-four students listened for the last time to this year's A Capella choir, was addressed by the Hon. Wirt Courtney, Congressman from the Sixth District, was accompanied by the President of the College, and then crossed the stage to receive their diplomas from the hands of Dr. Claxton and Dean Harvill. With the benediction ringing in their ears they marched out of the Assembly Hall to the playing of the recessional, "Pomp and Circumstance" by the College Band.

Though this was for some the last day of attendance at the Austin Peay Normal School, for many, graduation from the junior college will be but a stepping stone to further work in the college. Many of the year's graduating class will be among the first to graduate from the four-year curriculum of the college inaugurated in the Spring of 1941. Others, who have completed two years of work in the teacher training course and have received their permanent professional certificates will go out into the teaching world to return later, during summer school sessions, to take further college work.

Beautiful Farewell And Hall Ceremony Held

On Thursday night, May 15, the annual Farewell and Hall ceremony was held in the Central Bowl of the campus. This ceremony is the highlight of the entire school year as it is here that the graduates are bid farewell and pass on the torch to those who remain behind.

Preceding the ceremony was a short band concert concluding with all the audience singing "America." Then to the beat of drums, the graduates, in double file, lighted their candles and marched into the bowl, forming the letters A.P.N.S. In this position they sang "My Homeland, Tennessee," after which the class president, Bob Buchanan, addressed the group. After singing "Farewell To Thee," the graduates formed a semi-circle around the bowl as the other students, in a grand procession, lighting their candles from those of the graduates. The under-graduates then formed a complete double

The Inevitable Good-bye

It is never an easy task to say good-bye—good-bye to people, associations, and traditions grown dear by long familiarity. For some 93 graduates, this week brings a farewell to the campus of Austin Peay—to the good times and the boring ones, to beloved professors and not so beloved ones, to fascinating classes and slept-through ones.

In future hours of looking-back, campus scenes will seem more beautiful to our eyes and memories will ripen and sweeten with age and absence. No one is likely to forget the gorgeous grounds, the sunken gardens, rustic stone seats, and historic buildings.

Longer perhaps than any of the other memories will linger the gay conversations, the laughing chatter, and the absurd little jokes of the motley crowd assembled in front of buildings before classes. Recollections of surreptitious trips to Sloppy's for a coca-cola, of stolen half-hours spent in chapel time made spicier by the flavor of forbidden fruit, of happy dances in Harmon Hall, will doubtless outlive staid thoughts.

Happy smiles, pleasant greetings, kind and sometimes not-so-kind criticisms from faculty members, hurried dashes to third-floor English classes, ever-present Biology notes, cut gym classes, and war discussions with Dean Harvill will remain with us always.

To all these students all these things will form the warp and woof of a colorful tapestry woven in two years spent busily and happily at Austin Peay. To some of us—to those ones returning for a third year here, some of these pleasant occasions will fade into a meaningless pattern but some bits of wisdom gained, some friends made, some fun had will never be said good-bye to, for memories of it will live always. There here as in most partings it is not alone a cold good-bye but merely an revoir—till we meet again.

student in high school. During his senior term he served as alternate captain of his football team, editor of the school paper, and was elected president of his class. In the statewide one-act play contest held in Knoxville in 1937, Bob won the trophy in dramas.

After entering APN it did not take Bob long to become one of the most popular boys in the school. His originality, wit, and friendliness soon made him known to everyone.

Bob is the first person in the history of the school to be chosen president of his class each year and also to be elected Governor. He is interested in all campus activities, having been a member of the choir, International Relations Club, Student Christian Union, and ALL STATE staff.

Bob wants to study law next fall and maybe some day get into "politics." He says that Cumberland University may be the lucky school.

The ALL STATE congratulates you, Bob, on having been named the Governor of the Class of '41.

line circle and were led in responsive reading, and heard Dr. Glaxton deliver a short address.

This impressive ceremony was closed by a song and benediction, and in reverse order the graduates formed a double column across the bowl with the other students marching between them. In this formation the group sang "Auld Lang Syne," and at the sound of "taps" extended their candles, thus marking the end of this sad, but impressive ritual, "Farewell and Hall."

First Lady

of her class for three of her four years in high school.

At the college, Miss Freedle has been interested in all campus activities, being a member of the band, Student Christian Union, and having served as president of both the Alpha Club and the Future Teachers of America.

According to Martha Lane, her biggest interest at present lies in teaching. At present she plans to attend Austin Peay until she gets her B.S. degree, majoring in English. "I have thoroughly enjoyed my past two years at APN and I hope to continue my education here until I receive my degree," says Miss Freedle.

The ALL STATE congratulates you, Martha Lane, on having been named First Lady of the Class of '41.

open to the youth of today. First is one that should appeal especially to us as Southerners. It is the solving of the social problem constituted by the relation of the negroes and whites in the South. The second is the adventure of Politics and what an adventure! Dr. Edmonds advocates this profession as a sure-fire way to keep young. Politics offers a golden opportunity for good work in cleaning up the various city-governing machines in Tennessee. Third is the adventure of Business which is an ever-open challenging gateway of adventure to youth. Last is the adventure in which the whole world is most interested at present—that of Peace. The glory and importance of this adventure are self-evident and Christ, who is the Loved Leader of every adventure of youth seems today to be calling more followers to the cause of Peace than any other adventure.

The class and the congregation sang "Softly Now the Light of Day" and then the graduates marched out of the church to the strains of "Pilgrim's Chorus" by Wagner.
