Harvill Will Stay A Year

By NANCY PLUMMER

The Tennessee State Board of Education has asked that President Halbert Harvill continue in his present capacity for at least another year. The decision was made known on Friday, May 5.

After the announcement was made to the student body in assembly on May 16, Harvill said, "We must continue our progress to make Austin Peay a finer institution."

President Halbert Harvill came to Austin Peay in 1929 as an instructor in history.

Austin Peay had just been organized that year as a two-year normal school and junior college primarily to provide teachers for rural schools. Harvill said that there were about 100 students that first quarter.

Before the end of the first year, he added the position of dean-registrar to his teaching load.

For three years during the depression, he taught all physical education courses, including the coaching. This was in addition to his duties as dean and a nine-hour history teaching load. Harvill recalls with a laugh, "I had to find other things to take up my spare time." Even now he finds little time for an enjoyable hunting or fishing trip.

After serving for four years in the Army in World War II, Harvill was appointed President upon the retirement of P. P. Glavin in August of 1946. The red booklet which served as a catalogue in 1946 listed 25 faculty members, compared with about 60 today. The only classroom buildings were the Castle Building (where the present Browning Building is) and the Stewart-Waddell (where the present Clement Building is).

Within a week after his appointment, a tower of the Castle Building fell, and it was necessary to have a meeting in the empty rooms of Harried Hall. The wooden buildings now used for apartments were obtained then for use as classrooms.

Despite these difficulties, Harvill says, "Austin Peay was a four year institution then and destined for growth. It was also getting better appropriations."

And what has Austin Peay grown to now? The present worth of the college plant is approximately eight million, including all the buildings and the 54-acre campus. Besides this, the college owns a farm worth about 100 thousand dollars.

More growth is in the picture. Drawings are now being made for a wing on the Clement Building. Harvill hopes to get the contracts for the Clement Building and Industrial Arts Building let by July 1, plus some smaller contracts. Other plans include adding to the Industrial Arts Department, adding a bedroom to Mrs. Cayer's apartment in the cafeteria, repairing Harried Hall, and improving infirmary, parking areas, sidewalks, and roads.

Even after these plans are completed, there will be some 350 (Continued on Page 5)

Miss Ray 'Miss Hat and Cane'

Miss Kay Ray of Hopkinsville was crowned "Miss Hat and Cane" of 1961 Thursday night at the annual beauty pageant held in the Clement auditorium.

Miss Laura Swift, last year's winner, crowned Miss Ray and presented arm bouquets of red roses to the runners-up. They were Miss Becky McCarty of Clarksville, second runner-up; Miss Eleanor McCutchen, also of Clarksville, first runner-up.

Other girls included in the top eight were Diane Crow, Clarksville; Nora Roth, Clarksville; Linda Mosier, Fayetteville; Jo Anne Dismore, Palmyra; Paulette Cordillo, Clarksville; Larry Wernack and Don Alsop of Nashville served as masters of ceremonies for the pageant.

Both are Austin Peay alumni. Miss Dani Wink, the 1959 winner, presented a dramatic reading and Miss Swift sang "I Enjoy Being a Girl." These were the selections the girls presented in talent competition at the "Miss Tennessee" pageant at Jackson. Betty Ratcliff was director of this year's pageant and Libby

Strong was her assistant. Ann Mullen was gift coordinator. Joe Wayne Gies provided or (Continued on Page 5)

Poole Awarded Traineeship

Kenneth Poole, this year's editor of the Forewell and Hail, has received a traineeship to Vanderbilt University in the field of biostatistics.

The program will pay him a salary, train him in the field, and allow him to take a considerable load of graduate work. It is primarily concerned with getting prospective biostatisticians started in the work.

He is to begin there in August in the Biostatistics Department of the Medical School; and he will be working toward a Master of Science degree.

The trainee program, beginning August 1, lasts nine months. Biostatistics is actually a field which links biology with mathematics. Much work with IBM machines is involved.

After a year at Vanderbilt, the candidate is urged to get his Ph. D. in this field and the trainee program sets him up for a fellowship.

Clubs Tie For All State Award

The English Club and the Circle "K" Club tied for the All State Award this year.

The award was presented for the third year to honor the most outstanding club on campus. The two previous years, the award was received by the Circle "K." This year, however, the English Club was considered to have made much contribution to the college, more so than last year. The Circle "K" was thought to have made no improvement over last year.

The Austin Peay Playhouse was commended by the selection committee for its outstanding work this year. However, it was hard for the committee to determine the difference between Playhouse projects and Speech Department projects.

The local chapter of the Music Educators' National Conference was also considered in the competition. In that case also it wasn't clear as to the distinction between actual MENC projects and Music Department functions.

The outstanding services of the Circle "K" for the year included conducting the annual basketball tournament near Christmas, participating in the March of Dimes campaign, holding a Circle "K"-faculty ballgame, and giving several scholarships.

Academic Honors Noted

Twenty-seven students were honored for scholastic achievement in this morning's assembly program.

Seniors...

The alumni office wishes to make it known to all graduating seniors that you are automatically a member of the alumni association in good standing for one calendar year after graduation. After you have accepted whatever field that you plan to follow, it is your duty to write the alumni association informing them of your address change. Otherwise you will not receive the ALL STATE, ALUMNI NEWS, etc. to which you are entitled. Contact Sherwin Cliff at the publicity office in the administration building or by mail.

The annual Academic Honors Day gives recognition to outstanding students who have maintained a Dean's List average equivalent throughout the 1960-61 school year.

The following persons were selected from a field of 91 as being eligible for the honors award:

Undergraduates, Allen Armstrong, Lawrence Baggett, Cornelia Combs, Richard Cushing, Mary Ann Downing, Molly Jo Landis, Camilla McLaughlin, Sharon Marsaglia, Johnnie Nickell, Nancy Plummer, Kenneth Poole, Ruth Rice, James Scott, Diane Smith, Donald Taggart, Jacquellin Timon, Melvin Warrick, Mary Wain, David Woodward, Edna Wright.

Graduate students, Sarah Mills, Annie Pedigo, Merle Pedigo, Pauline Phillips, George Rawlins, Sammy Smith.

Harvill To Stay A Year

Halbert Harvill, president of Austin Peay State College for a considerable number of the past years, will remain president another year. The All State wishes to express the opinion that President Harvill has done much for this college during his presidency.

He has expanded the college considerably in area, construction, and educational facilities. President Harvill has seen the severe lack of adequate housing evolve to the present seven large buildings and two extensive apartment areas. In his early years at the college, he witnessed persons living in extremely temporary quarters; today, our students have better living quarters than some of the recognized outstanding colleges in the South.

He has seen the installation of a modern heating system, as well as the construction of much additional classroom space. He has witnessed the college's athletic growth until the Governors are now among the South's foremost in some sports. He has overseen the strengthening of the educational program designed to turn out more and better teachers to teach the growing number of students in this rapidly-expanding nation. This college's educational program is ever changing, ever improving.

President Harvill has done much to make this college an essential part of the everyday life of Clarksville, Tennessee. The college has indeed been put in the forefront often throughout the nation, as for instance the trip of the band and Gleevettes to the New York parade.

This editor must certainly say that I am glad President Harvill is to be with us longer. I feel sure that the student body agrees that it's good to have him remain.

Seniors In Transit

On June 2 many Austin Peay State students will receive their diplomas. Soon after that, they will be making their big start in the outside world with all its many pitfalls and temptations. Many of those graduating seniors will one day be great men and women. Unfortunately, some of them will be next to nothing.

Satan said in Paradise Lost that a person can make wherever he is either Heaven or Hell. Satan was selfish and was rationalizing to justify his misdeeds—but whether a person succeeds or fails does greatly depend on that person and how he accepts his responsibilities and uses his opportunities.

A college diploma is not going to assure success. Only diligent work and the proper attitude toward one's employer, fellow workers, and other humans can clinch the desired goal. Andrew Carnegie said that knowledge was just a drop in the bucket when it came to achieving success. That knowledge is an essential part in that bucket in order to fill it the rest of the way with the proper material.

Seniors—I envy you your great opportunity.

Polly Fussell -- "Miss May"

Polly Fussell, "Miss May," is one of the more active students on our campus. She has added much to Austin Peay State by way of her leadership in various activities and her bright smile. Here's hoping that her hometown realizes that "Local Girl Makes Good."

This is the last year to be honored by the All State this year. It is hoped that next year will also see many persons who deserve honors. Many who didn't receive special recognition have done excellent jobs at the college.

Academic Honors Day was a great program started in this college. The students who consistently make outstanding grades well deserve the annual recognition. May others be inspired by their example.

English Club, Circle 'K' Tie

After four days of consideration, the All State Award Committee concluded that the English Club and the Circle 'K' Club should share the honors of being the most outstanding organizations on campus this year in regard to service performed.

Two other organizations were entered in the contest and they made a good showing. It is lamentable that no other group on campus entered the competition. This would suggest that other groups are either not doing much for the college or that they lack the energy to summarize their year's activities.

Next year, let there be more competition.

This is the last issue of the All State until this fall. It has been nice serving as the editor this year and I look forward to returning next year.

Well, I guess this is the last roundup before we have our Farewell and Hall. I just hope I'm farewelling insted of hailing.

If a guy didn't have good cigarettes, women and athlete's feet, what would he be living for? I think I would crack up without cigarettes to smoke and athlete's feet to scratch; and if a guy had to sacrifice any of them, it would have to be the women.

The gullies, now ravines, are getting bigger and better around our dear 'ole campus. Last week I lost my car in one of them but I finally fished it out. So this week I lose my car and girl both. What else has a guy got to offer?

Just think how nice it would be to go to the moon, drink moonshine, go with moon women and fight moon men. You would never have to get married. Just say, "Now what would my folks think if I brought home a moon woman?"

Read And Tell

By PATREVA CORNELL

An interesting combination on our Contemporary Reading Shelf is the two books concerned with the business world and its effect on our society.

Vance Packard, author of The Waste Makers, takes the attitude that our society is becoming too commercialized. This tendency to produce more goods than we need results in much waste. One method of encouraging the public to buy more is the artificial shortening of the useful life of products.

Packard explains in great detail about these wastemakers and their operations. This book deals with such items as advertising and the role it plays in the public consumption. Also there is an interesting view of the world of tomorrow in which the long use of materials is discouraged.

Stewart Britt takes just the opposite attitude in his book The Spenders. Instead of the consumer being the servant, the business is, and advertising now helps you instead of cheating you. The spender is the center of attention in the book and all the good qualities of our products are brought out. Also some future trends and how they will affect the consumer are brought out.

It will be well worth your time to read and compare these books because you will come into contact with these problems every day.

My Neighbors

"Why, I've got them eating out of my hand."

Next year, let us hope that the student newspaper may be even better.

Interested staff members who are willing to work are needed for next year's staff. If interested see me, Roy Rogers Price, or see Mr. Sherwin Cliff in the publicity office.

Adios till next year.

I ask a simple question:
The truth I only wish:
Are all fishermen liars?
Or do only liars fish?

May -- Month of Concerts

By FRANCISCO SUREDA

The month of May at Austin Peay State College has been the Month of concerts.

The Department of Music has Presented Two annual concerts, one by the College Symphonic Band and the other by the Austin Peay State College Orchestra. Likewise, a senior recital has been presented by Patsy Ann Johnson.

In a few days the senior recital of Joe Wayne Giles will be presented.

The annual concert by the College Symphonic Band took place under the direction of Lew W. Boline and Dr. Aaron Schmidt in the Clement Fine Arts Building on May 14 at 4 p.m.

The band started the program with a composition by Giffon Williams, "Academical Procession, Processional March" and continued with a Choral and Alleluia by Howard Hanson. Hanson is one of the representatives (another One being Samuel Barber) of the post-romanticism and neo-classical academic trends in America.

Hanson has been a very efficient teacher at a prominent institution, Easter School of Music of the University of Rochester. His tradition as composer is distinctly European, specifically from the nineteenth-century romanticists. He is traditionally Swedish with influences from Sielius. He has "Nordic melancholy, eerie heroism, mourning for personal bereavement." He was born in Wahoo, Neb., on October 28, 1896. He studied in New York and Rome.

To continue the program they played Folk Suite-Overture by Morton Gould, arranged by Lang, followed by Symphony in B-flat, First Movement by Paul Fauchet and arranged by Gillette.

In the second part of the program they played two compositions by William Schuman, first,

Ready for Summer

Vivian Mobley and Weldon LaVerne Gibbs are dressed in their very best, ready for summer vacation.

Vivian, a true "Georgia Peach" from Powder Springs, Ga., is a freshman at Austin Peay State. She is majoring in elementary education. Vivian is 5'3", has brown hair and brown eyes. She is a majorette and is an active member of the BSO, Beta Club, and the Aqua Belles. Among her many hobbies are swimming and skiing.

Vivian's dress is a blue check by Bobbie Brooks. It may be purchased at Lee's Ladies Shop.

LaVerne, a sophomore, is from Ashland City. He is majoring in health and physical education, with a minor in biology. LaVerne towers at 6'3", has brown hair and hazel eyes. He will be playing basketball and baseball for the Governors next year. He enjoys fishing, hunting, and all outdoor sports.

LaVerne's outfit may be purchased at Rankin's Men's Store on Franklin Street.

It is not necessarily the well-adjusted man who makes the world a better place. Certainly Jesus was poorly adjusted to the society in which He lived and moved. But He gave the world such mature insights into human nature that we have not yet grasped their full significance. The founding fathers of America were poorly adjusted to the society of their day; for this very reason they gave birth to new concepts of government.

Miss Polly Fussell has been chosen "Miss May."

Polly is a third-quarter senior with a double major in home economics and biology. Her home town is Erin, Tennessee.

For the past four years, Polly has been a member of the Home Economics Club, serving as president for the past two years. This year she has served as vice-president of the state organization of home economics majors of its colleges and universities in Tennessee. For the past three years she has been a member of the SNEA and the MSM. She is a member of Tri Beta and Kappa Delta Pi.

Polly has worked on the student life section of the Forewell and Hail for the past two years. She was elected the senior representative to the Student Council. Polly was one of 21 students from Austin Peay selected for "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities." She was elected "Miss Home Economics" this year by the home economics students. Polly teaches a kindergarten Sunday School class at the Erin Nazarene Church.

A 4-H Club member for six years, Polly plans to work with members of the club after her graduation. Her plans for the future include working with the Agriculture Extension Service in connection with the University of Tennessee.

AP WEARS TRACK CROWN—AGAIN!

Austin Peay carried off an unprecedented second straight track conference title here Saturday, May 13. The Governors rolled to another VSAC championship, clearly outdistancing their next competitor, Union University, by some 20 points. This marks the second time in as many years at the reins that coaches George Fisher and Leon Garrett have led their charges to the top.

Some surprise performances from several individuals equipped the Gobs with unexpected impetus in their drive to the healthy margin of victory.

Cobb Parker, who has never finished better than second in any meet prior to the VSAC, clocked the javelin 170'11", thereby smashing the existing school and conference records. This is the first year that Parker, also a quarterback on the Gobs' football team, has ever participated in the spring sport.

In his first competition this season Ed Fredette, who has been ailing from knee injury sustained in football practice, whipped the discus far enough to take second in the six-team meet.

INTRAMURALS IN HOME STRETCH

The Intramural Softball League appears to be receiving some spirited participation again this spring from groups on the campus as all the teams are now beginning their home stretch drives.

Overall, the various intramural programs have been better this year than ever before. This is an often-overlooked phase of campus activities and one we would like to see strengthened even further at Austin Peay.

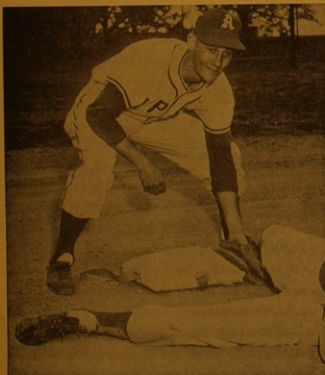

Incidentally, we have it from good word that Donnelly's Marauders are the team to beat this time.

PARSING CONGRATS

The best golf team in APSC has finished its regular-season play with a handsome 7-3 mark. This record has been compiled against some of the roughest small-college competition in the area and is one the school may well be proud of. Hearty congratulations to Earl Cleveland, Fred Alexander, Griff Pickard, Don Sargent, and Don Wood.

Congratulations to Dick Scott and Jimmy Maddox of the tennis team who advanced to the semi-finals of the doubles play in the VSAC tournament. Scott and Maddox were stopped at that point by a tough Tennessee Wesleyan doubles team in the tourney held in Nashville.

Stewart Popular Athlete

By Howard Suler, Asa Sports Editor

Jim Stewart is one of the most sought-after college basketball players in this area. In his four years on the basketball team at Austin Peay, Jim has drawn a starting assignment every game. He is presently batting .408 and is an excellent defensive player. This season the opposition has been unable to hit through Jim's shortstop position; fans are becoming accustomed to seeing Jim make those spectacular plays.

Jim will graduate in June but as yet has not decided which pro team he will sign with. He is a P.E. major and is in secondary education. Jim is one of the most popular athletes on the Austin Peay campus and was captain of the 1960-61 basketball team. He is currently the captain of this year's basketball team.

Women Netters Defeat UTMB

The Austin Peay women's tennis team played host to UTMB Thursday, May 11, in a return match.

After the tie resulting three weeks ago on the UTMB courts the APSC netters came back strong to take the return match 7-2. Unfortunately, the UTMB team was not at full strength due to the absence of their number 1 and 3 positions.

The match was paced by Judy Upton, Margaret Hartman, Ida Chadwick, Joyce Pardue and Carolyn Settle, who won all of their singles decisions. The only defeat in the singles matches came at the hands of Glynda Chastotes who defeated Rebekah Johnson 7-5, 6-2.

The teams of Upton-Hartman, Pardue-Chadwick won two of three doubles played, while the combined efforts of Johnson-Settle weren't enough to stop Coates-Ray in a 5-7, 7-5 decision. This resulted in the team scores 7-2.

The first match between the two teams was held at UTMB, where the match was evenly split at 4-4.

A pouring rain prevented the finishing of one doubles match which could have broken the tie.

Judy Upton again defeated her opponent in singles play along with Joyce Pardue and Margaret Hartman. The combination of Upton-Hartman won their match resulting in the team scores 4-4.

The UTMB team is coached by

Austin Peay closed another track season May 13 on a climactic note by winning its second consecutive VSAC championship, something that hasn't been accomplished since ETSC turned the trick three straight times starting in 1954.

In the process of scoring 75 points, the Gobs rolled by Union (52), Carson-Newman (37), U.T.M.B. (35), Lipscomb (18), Milligan (12), and Bethel (2).

Four conference records were shattered in Municipal Stadium before the onslaught of thunders plus five Austin Peay marks.

Union's Jim Bryant, the meet's MVP and the parade with two record breakers, finally snapped marks in both hurdle races, running the highs in 15.1 and the lows in 24.5. The old marks of 15.3 and 25.4 were held by the Governors' Ted Potter.

Howard Alred of Lipscomb ran a blistering 151.0 race in the 440 to establish a record and Austin Peay's Cobb Parker leaved the javelin 176 feet ten inches, bettering the old conference mark by 20 inches.

In addition to Parker's conference and school record, Fred Overton won the 880 yard run in 2:01.3, Don McKenna took the mile in 4:38.3, Tommy Phillips captured the broad jump in 22 feet 2 inches and the Austin Peay mile relay team of Jim Henderson, Nick Nichols, Fred Overton and Tommy Danah ran a 3:34 for first places and set new school records.

John Flatt closed his sophomore season in the pole vault by winning with a leap of eleven feet six inches. The former DuPont star was unbeaten in this event in 1961.

Betty Giles, an APSC alumna; the APSC matches were directed by Mary Fitzpatrick.

Golfers Win VSAC Crown

Austin Peay's golfers won a sudden-death playoff from defending champions Belmont in Bristol and brought home the coveted Volunteer State Athletic Conference golf crown.

The two teams were tied with 36-hole totals of 635 to necessitate a playoff. The Governor four-place headed by freshman Griff Pickard, won the hole with three pars and a birdie. Belmont had a birdie, par, and two bogies on the hole.

This marked the first time that the Gobs have won the golf championship since 1950, and only their third since the VSAC was organized in 1948. This was only the Gobs' third team since golf was revived in 1959.

Even though Austin Peay captured the team crown, Buddy Fox-all of Belmont captured low medalist honors with a 72-78-150. Bill Hamel of Belmont and Phil Cleveland of Austin Peay tied for second with 154's. Don Morris of Union, last year's Medalist, wound up fourth with 79-76-150, and Austin Peay's Don Sargent and Pickard finished in a fifth place tie with 159's. Fred Alexander, APSC's number 3 man, fired a 165, good for 11th place among 32 golfers.

The tournament was played at the par 72, nine-hole course at King College.

Team scoring went like this: Austin Peay 635, Belmont 635, David Lipscomb 670, King 698, Carson-Newman 700, Union University, 713, Tennessee Wesleyan 715, and Milligan 749.

Golfers Complete Regular Season With 7-3 Record

Austin Peay's golfers spanked Florence State 11½ to 6½ in the final regular season match to finish the season with a creditable 7-3 record.

The seven wins are the most a Governor golf team has ever racked up, even though the 1959 team had a better record percentage-wise. In comparison, the squad under coach Dave Aaron finished with a 6-1 mark.

Most remarkable about the entire season was the fact that this was only the third golf team that the athletic department had fielded since 1950 and after a 1-3 and 3-3 season in the past two years, the Gobs caught fire to capture the regular season VSAC cham-

Cincotta Ineligible, Gobs Lose VSAC Title

Austin Peay lost its Western Division of the VSAC baseball championship when it was learned that it had been playing an ineligible player.

The Gobs immediately forfeited any playoff participation for championship honors.

Dave Aaron, Athletic Director, announced the stunning fact in this manner, "It was brought to the Athletic Committee's attention that Joe Cincotta, a member of the Gobs' baseball team, had signed a professional baseball contract in 1964. He was immediately declared ineligible and we officially notified the NCAA of this action."

Aaron went on to say, "The president of the VSAC is also being notified of this action and each team that we played in baseball will be given the same information."

Bryant was the meet's leading scorer with 15 points while Ray Williams of Carson-Newman had ten with first places in both the 100 and 200 yard dashes.

Austin Peay led from the very first event as it scored six points in the shot put and added seven in the high jump. After the morning field events had been completed the Gobs were on top with 36 points and it was never closer.

Halbert Harvill, president of APSC, said, "It was a crushing blow to our fine baseball team and further proves that honesty is the best policy."

Coach Leon Sandifer's nine had a 9-4 record at the time and held undisputed possession of first place in the VSAC Western Division standings. After Cincotta's loss, the Gobs continued to win by defeating Union University 6-3, and UT Martin Branch, 7-4.

Outstanding services of the English Club for the year included conducting an organized career program for interested persons, publication of the Tower (anthology of student writings), conducting a junior English exam clinic, and filming a study of campus life for campus showing and possible showing at nearby high schools.

All campus organizations in a compete for the honor by keeping a report of activities which are of service to the college.

thousand dollars to put into a major building.

Harvill was the middle child in a family of 13, of which 11 are now living. He was born near Centerville and reared on a farm. All of the children except two have taught at some time or other. Three of the Harvills are teaching now. R. A. Harvill, a brother, is president of Arizona University in Arizona.

President Harvill has one son, Evans, a lawyer in Clarksville. After attending Middle Tennessee State College and Peabody, he taught in Hickman, Rutherford, and McMinn Counties. All totaled, he has 30 years of teaching to his credit.

Besides teaching, he has spent 6 years in the Army, serving in World Wars I and II and has been Commander of the Tennessee Department of the American Legion. "I believe in a person doing his share to preserve the American way of life," says Harvill.

With this knowledge of Austin Peay's president, it is no wonder that he lists as his most gratifying experiences the growth of the college from poor facilities to a campus anyone would be proud of, a student body which becomes more superior every year, and an upgraded faculty equal to or above the national average.

Electronics Being Tried

AMES, Ia. (I.P.)—Electronic devices will be used at Iowa State on the problem of poor spoken English. Dr. Albert L. Walker said.

The electronics approach will start in 1962. It will allow the students to correct errors in their spoken English through repetition of the right forms and through reading aloud.

"This emphasis on spoken English seems sound, in view of the fact that most troubles with English go back to a social environment which has made bad speech habits into a facet of personality," Dr. Walker explained.

Iowa State has tried out "non-collegiate," or high school level corrective courses in Freshman English, and has discarded them as "ineffective." It also has abolished the practice of putting students who are poor in English into "low" sections, and finds they do better when they try the regular course in the company of classmates who are better prepared.

However, there is evidence that many entering students in agriculture, who seem to have low aptitude for English courses, "have a long-run potential not reflected in entering tests. Therefore, although a relatively small number of poorly prepared students will not improve under any method of instruction, new ways of motivating and teaching the others must be tried out."

Changes Made In English Courses

The 1961 APSC catalogue lists a number of changes in English course numbers and course content.

According to Dr. Jerry W. Hodges, assistant professor of English, the changes in course structure include shifting the teaching of the research paper from English 103 to English 203. English 103 will now consist of the study of the short story and narrative writing.

English Literature, formerly 401 and 402, has been converted into a three-quarter course, 311, 312 and 313, to provide more time for the study of the contemporary period.

The Bible as literature has been reduced to a one-quarter course. Formerly a survey course on the development of the Bible, the course will now concern itself with literary types found in the Bible and themes, imagery and symbols from the Bible used by American and English writers.

Criticism of literature, English 435, has been added to the schedule. This course was formerly open to graduate students, but is now available on the undergraduate level. According to Hodges, this course, an elective, is designed to prepare students for work on the graduate level in other institutions.

Geography Club Selects Lack

Robert Lack has been elected president of the Geography Club for the coming year.

Other new officers are Barbara Chesnut, secretary-treasurer, and Clinton Feltner, vice-president.

The geography club had its annual banquet May 4 at the Pic-a-Rib restaurant.

Major Andrew Nesbitt of Fort Campbell spoke of Russia, where he has travelled.

The speech gave a comprehensive view of the topography, climate and general geographic features of Russia as well as a view of the culture and industrial makeup of the new Russia.

Giles Slates Senior Recital

By FRANCISCO SUREDA

Joe Wayne Giles, Austin Peay senior, is going to give his organ recital Sunday, May 23, at 4 p. m. in the Trinity Episcopal Church in Clarksville.

The program that he has announced for his senior recital is as follows: "Trompet Voluntary in D" by Porcell, "Prelude and Fugue in E minor" (The Cathedral) by J. S. Bach, "Prayer" from the "Gothic Suite" by Boellman and, to end the program, "A Joyous March" by Sowerby.

All students and faculty members are invited to his Senior Recital.

Bennett Cerf:

The late bishop Edwin Hughes once delivered a rousing sermon on "God's Ownership" that put a rich parishioner's nose out of joint. The wealthy man took the bishop off for lunch, and then walked him through his elaborate gardens, woodlands and farm. "Now are you going to tell me," he demanded when the tour was completed, "that all this land does not belong to me?"

Bishop Hughes smiled and suggested, "Ask me that same question a hundred years from now."

God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble.—(Psalm 46:1)

There are times when even the most aggressive, forceful, self-assured among us must know, in their secret hearts, that their human strength is not enough—that God alone can help them in their trouble. Those who humbly, truly, live within Him "will not fear, though the earth be removed."

Maurice Masterlinck in The Treasure of the Humble:

"We do not know each other yet," wrote to me one whom I hold dear above all others. "We have not yet dared to be silent together."

Early Admissions Program Started

Corvallis, Ore. (AP)—High school seniors with good grades may now be admitted to Oregon State College anytime during their senior year instead of having to wait for graduation as most institutions require.

The new early "honors admission" policy will permit students and their parents to make definite college plans well in advance. President A. L. Strand noted in announcing the new OSC program.

It will also avoid an end-of-the-year rush for both students and the college admissions office and will permit faster processing of both early and summer applicants. President Strand added. In the crowded years of the late 1960's, the policy will also "assure" capable students of attendance at the college of their first choice, he pointed out.

Any high school student who has earned a "B" or better grade average through his junior year may apply for the honors admission. The new policy will go into

Playhouse Chooses Gray

Walter Gray has been elected next year's president of the Austin Peay State College Playhouse.

Warren Chaney has been elected vice-president. Linda Powers is secretary, and Billy St. John treasurer.

Under their leadership the Playhouse's plans for next year include affiliation with a national fraternity, four major productions, and a masquerade ball.

Anyone interested in working with the group in any phase of the theatre arts is invited to attend the meetings the second Tuesday of each month, 6:45 p. m., on stage in the Clement Building.

May -- Month • Of Concerts

George Washington Bridge and Second, Chester
George Washington Bridge is one of the most representative expressions of his "typically American mood." This piece was composed specifically for hand in 1951. Chester is the final section of the composition that he wrote in 1951. It is the hymn that comes the marching song of the Continental Army. The first part is the anthem "Be Glad, Then, America." The middle part is based on "When Jesus Wept."

Schuman belongs to the generation of American composers "who were taught by other American composers rather than by European teachers. . . One also thinks of Schuman as being, in a way, spiritual kin to Sessions, whom he resembles as composer in seriousness of purpose, intensity of expression, uncompromising attitude, dynamic energy, and rhythmic drive."

The concert ended with the interlude of a composition of Charles Carter and a symphonic March from the Sinfonias by Clifton Williams.
On May 16 the Austin Peay State University Orchestra presented an extraordinary concert under the baton of Dr. Solie Post.

The program included works by Bach, Handel, Haydn, etc. The nineteenth century Dutch Tunes, divided into three parts: "In Times of Stress," "See How Strong," and "Will Now Walk Before The Lord." This work was written by Adrianus Valerius.
Valerius is a Dutch composer and a supporter of the national movement during the latter part of the Eighty Years War against Spain which was going to eliminate the inscription on the wall of "Le Maitre du Rat" at the "Grand Place" in Brussels.
The second composition in the program was "Come Sweet Death" by J. S. Bach. It is an arrangement by Elkan for string orchestra. . . is truly a song of faith in which the other world wall of Bach finds a most serene expression.

Next was the "Prelude and Fu-

Miss Johnson Presents Recital

By FRANCISCO SUREDA

The Music Department of Austin Peay State College presented on May 23, Patsy Ann Johnson, contralto, in her senior recital. Patsy was assisted by Laura Swift, soprano, and Rufus Ballmark, tenor.
Patsy, well-known enough on the campus of Austin Peay; she has taken part in many extracurricular activities. She is a voice major in the Music Education curriculum. Patsy is from Clarksville and is an active member of MENC.
She sang "He was Despised" (Messiah) with much dramatic feeling. Her voice was powerful in good condition the day of the concert. She made a good performance.
She showed vivaciousness, especially in the works of Mozart and Schubert. She has a certain amount of ability for clarity and brilliance.
Miss Johnson and her two assistants in the recital were accompanied by W. Jackson Hart. It was, generally speaking, a rather charming recital. Miss Johnson and her assistants performed their parts with grace and delight.

Book Exhibit To Be In June

About 1,000 books will be on exhibit in the Conference Room of the Administration Building from 10-12 a.m. and 1-4 p.m. June 7-13.
About 600 of the books are children's books, ranging through 30 subject categories from kindergarten through grade 9. Both fiction (15 categories) and non-fiction will be represented.
The remainder of the books, about 400, are books for older readers, covering 27 subject areas ranging from advice, guidance and fiction to philology, science and religion. The collection presents outstanding works in contemporary publishing and writing. Many of the books are adult publications.

Both groups of books are organized and catalogued. The children's books are grouped by grade levels.
The exhibits have been made available through Books on Exhibit, a cooperative promotional enterprise of the 29 participating publishers; the program is designed primarily to make it possible for schools and libraries to do an informed job of book selection.

The Library Science Department is sponsoring the appearance of the books at Austin Peay State for the fourth year.

Landiss Chosen Veep Of Tri-Beta District

Molly Jo Landiss, a junior biology major at Austin Peay State, was elected vice-president of the Western District of the Southeastern Region of Beta Beta Beta Honorary Biological Society at a recent meeting at Lexington, Ky.
Miss Landiss, secretary of the local Eta Pi chapter, attended the meeting along with 10 other students from Austin Peay and Floyd Ford and Charles Roehrs of the biology faculty. Roehrs is the faculty advisor for the local chapter.

Benjamin Heads Business Club

New officers elected May 11 for the Business Club were:

President, Daniel J. Benjamin, from Gary, Ind., a second quarter junior majoring in accounting.

Vice-President, C. A. Thomas, Jr., Hopkinton, Ky., a third quarter junior majoring in accounting and economics.

Secretary, Linda Robinson, Clarksville, a third quarter sophomore majoring in business.

Treasurer, Martha Younger, of Huntsville, Ala., a third quarter junior with a distributive major in business education.

Reporter, Betty Coleman, Clarksville, a third quarter freshman majoring in business.

The new president planned to

Oliver: "I know. But why should I take the chance of being the first victim?"

BSU Plans Summer

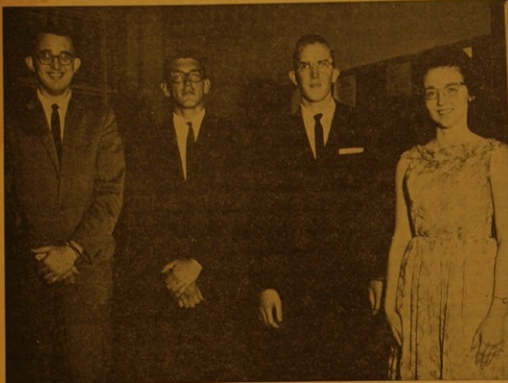

The Baptist Student Union has been planning its annual spring social, to be held June 20 at the Austin Peay State farm.

Students will leave the campus in trucks, after eating at the farm there will be a hayride.
B S U's have completed a summer mission project by having a week-end. Different students have been doing odd jobs for various members of churches. The students have donated the money they received for these services to the B S U summer mission fund. The Austin Peay group has gone over its goal of $150.

The summer session of school will have a B S U this year with officers being selected from those who will be here during the summer.

Meetings continue on every Monday and Thursday nights in the Choral Room of the Clement Fine Arts building. Everyone is invited to attend.

Physics Officers Elected

Officers of the Beta Chapter of Del Square Psi, physics honor society, for next year are, from left, Rodger Bowman, vice-president and program chairman; Eddie Sexton, secretary and treasurer; James M. Brown, president; and Jean Neighbors, publicity director. Their election was announced at the May 3 banquet of the chapter. Featured lecturer at the banquet was Dr. Alex G. Smith, professor of physics and director of the University of Florida radio observatory. Other guests included President and Mrs. Halbert Harvill, Dean and Mrs. F. G. Woodward, Earl Sexton, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boehms, Dr. David Brown, and the entire physics faculty of Western Kentucky State College. (Staff Photo by Donald Reese)

One-Act Plays Slated For Today, Friday

By BILLY ST. JOHN

Today and Friday night six one-act plays will be presented for the general public in the Clement Fine Arts Auditorium. These plays are being directed by members of the dramatic production and directing class at the college.

For her production, for which she, as well as the other student directors, will be graded, Dani Wink has chosen Sorry, Wrong Number. The only actress on stage in the play is Carol Brinkerhoff. The voices of Dani, Howard Suter, Paulette Cardillo, and Billy St. John will be heard in the proceedings of this drama.

Nancy English selected Here We Are for her presentation. Martha

Albright and Bob McGhee are the only performers in this one.

Another two-caster is At Liberty, Fay Eberidge's choice. Jackie Sabo and Virginia Rosenbalm will be seen in this one.

Sky Fodder is Skip Howell's entry in the sextet, with Jack Green, Laverne Gibbs, and a third cast member represent his work "on the boards."

Skip Gray picked Moe Burilison and Barbara Lounghurst to act in his one-act Modern Day Courtship.

The play with the largest cast is Goebel Lehman's Pejama Party. It's all female; at this party will be seen Marilyn Fradey, Liz Batson, Brenda Shelton, Libby Strong, Jackie Sabo, Patsy Heley, Brenda Jones and three girls who were only recently cast.

The teacher noticed that Joe had been staring out the window for a long time. She decided to get his attention.

"Joe," she said, "if the world is 25,000 around and 6259 are sixty cents a dozen, how old am I?"

"Thirty-two," Joe answered without hesitation.

The teacher blushed, and then asked, "How did you guess?"

"Nothing to it," Joe said, "My big sister is 16 and she's only half-crazy."

Five Added To Governettes

Five girls were recently selected as member of the Governettes for the coming school year, according to Aaron Schmidt, director of group.

They are Elaine Greer and Montez Thomas, Clarksville, Rachel Hogan, Woodlawn, Pat Cooper, Columbia, and Mary Nenna, Madison.

The Governettes, who do precision drill and dance routines, number 64.

Tower Honors Writers

The presentation of the Tower awards was made by Joyce Pardue, editor of the Tower, in assembly May 17.

The first place short story award of $5 went to Linda Pruitt for her story "Smooth as Silk," a story of a young college boy who committed the "perfect crime." Second and third places went to Billy St. John, "Susan's Dolls," and Linda Wuersch, "Double I's," respectively.

"Hunger of Man's Soul," by George Sanford, took the first place in the poetry division. George was also last year's winner in this division. Second place went to Billy St. John for his four-line poem, "Beyond" and third place went to Mary Arolin Cook for her poem entitled "The Sea."

John Freeman again placed in the essay division, this year winning first place for his long essay, "My Ideology." Sue Baggett's essay, "Balance," placed second, and "The Light of Democracy," by Ruth Fuller, placed third.

The Tower cover contest was won again this year by Gerald Adams, and naturally will appear as the cover for the 1961 Tower.

The Tower is an anthology of student writing sponsored annually by the members of the English Club. The writing for the Tower is done by students and producing of the Tower is done by a student editor and staff.

Proceeds from the Tower go to deserving high school seniors who are interested in English and who wish to come to Austin Peay State.

"Sometimes the best thing you get off your chest is your chin."

Classes Choose Officers

Walter (Skip) Gray was elected the 1961-62 Senior Class president in class elections May 19.

Vice-president of next year's

Senior Class will be Mike Delgado. Judy Graves was elected secretary-treasurer, and Janelle Mason was elected Student Council representative.

Next year's Junior Class vice-president is Rodger Bowman. Joyce Keatts was elected secretary-treasurer, and Ann Comper was elected Student Council representative.

Jimmy Maddox will be vice-president of next year's sophomores. Vicki Thompson was re-elected secretary-treasurer, and Kay Ray was elected Student Council representative.

Landiss Heads Beta Beta Beta

The newly elected officers of Beta Beta Beta for the year 1961-62 are Molly Landiss, president; Gary Wallace, vice-president; Ann Comper, secretary; Doris Green, Historian.

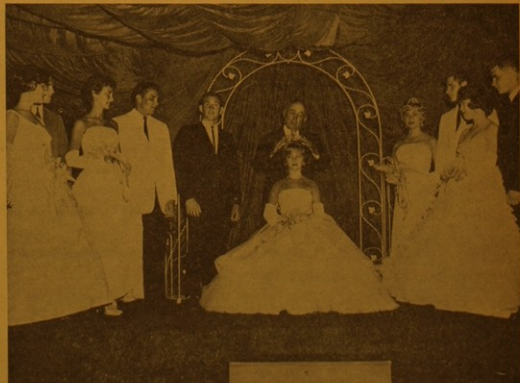

The annual spring initiation banquet was held May 11 at Miller's Clubhouse. Before the initiation ceremonies, the members, in flippers, and their guests ate charcoal steaks.

The new initiates were Jack

Beach, Bobby Morris, Ruth Fussell, Elaine Greer, Carol Slate, Angela Bell, Terrell Fullbright, Jr., Ross Bagwell, Anthony Boehms, Mary Brown and James T. Murrell, Jr.

To become eligible for Beta Beta Beta membership the student must be a biology major or minor and have a "B" average in biology and an over-all "C" average.
