Gubernatorial candidate

Butcher promises education

By Kathi Bennett

Jake Butcher, Democratic candidate for governor, visited the Austin Peay State University campus last Thursday in an attempt to gather support for the upcoming gubernatorial election in November.

At a press conference before his speech at Austin Peay's Municipal Stadium, Butcher said that during the next five weeks before the election, he will be discussing the issues and talking about what the next governor of the State of Tennessee should do.

"Education is the number one priority," Butcher said. He also listed penal reform, mental health and more efficient management of government as high on his list of priorities.

"We need to manage government more efficiently so we do not have to burden the people of this state with more taxes," Butcher commented.

Butcher said that his republican opponent, Lamar Alexander, has conducted "a mudslinging campaign. We all know that wearing a hot flannel shirt in the summertime is a campaign trick. He has also used other ploys which demonstrate the lack of sincerity that I think a gubernatorial candidate ought to have," he said.

When asked what he would do to improve the quality of education in Tennessee if elected governor, Butcher said, "Emphasis should be on quality education, not on the quantity."

There is no baby boom anymore, Butcher explained, "so there is no need to build new buildings and just have more classrooms." He said that the 35 to 40 students in a classroom situation which now exists in state schools should be eliminated, and that he would like to see

Facility named for Sexton

A $750,000 facility to be completed Nov. 1 at Austin Peay State University was officially named Sept. 29 by action of the State Board of Regents.

Meeting on the APSU campus, the regents accepted the recommendation from APSU President Robert O. Riggs to name the facility the Earl E. Sexton Driver Education and Traffic Safety Center.

The center to combine driver safety instruction and licensing is under construction east of Eighth Street between Lee and Hannum streets. A multi-car/multimotorcycle driving range will be developed west of Eighth Street.

"This is the only facility of its kind in the nation," Riggs said, "because it combines driver safety instruction and licensing permitting long-term studies involving teaching methods and violation records. It is with pride that this unique facility be named in honor of such a dedicated person as Mr.

Sexton."

Sexton served as acting president of Austin Peay during 1961. He came to APSU in 1955 and retired in 1972 as vice president for development and field services.

Sexton graduated from Austin Peay when it was a two-year institution. He earned a B.S. degree from Middle Tennessee State University in 1939 and a M.A. degree from Murray State University in 1951.

His professional educational experience includes work in elementary schools in Stewart County, public elementary and junior high school in Houston County, principal of Dover High School and superintendent of Stewart County School until his appointment as APSU.

Sexton's civic and organizational memberships and offices are numerous including being a past president of the Dover Kiwanis Club and the Kiwanis Club of Clarksville, in addition to serving as president of the Tennessee County Superintendent's Association.

Directing student recruitment activities at APSU, Sexton saw enrollment increase from 1,142 to 3,822. The university's fall enrollment increased each year during his tenure.

Sexton is married to the former Louise Atkins of Erin. They reside at 22 East Bel-Air Boulevard.

Problems

financial aid explains

By Kay Hinton

Financial aid applications for approximately 125 Austin Peay students were extremely late being processed this quarter, and for some, too late to start college this fall.

John Bratcher, director of student financial services explained that the main hold-up was in the processing of applications in Iowa City. It seems this "tremendous backlog" is caused from a change in forms and much more explicit edit checks on the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant (BEOG) applicants. Bratcher said, "approximately 30% of the BEOG applications had to be redone because of faulty information. With approximately three million applications (in the country) to begin with, that is about 500,000 that have just recently been processed."

Another problem is the lack of staff in APSU's own financial aid department. Mr. Bratcher conceded that a larger staff would "be a great help," but that money would have to be appropriated first. "The volume of students and financial aid applications has increased so rapidly in the past few years that we are not equipped to serve each student on the individual basis that we would like. I am concerned about the

SGA meets

Homecoming rules set

With one seat to spare, SGA Pro Tempore Pat Phillips was barely able to hold last Thursday's Student Government Association meeting, which passed this year's homecoming court rules by a close margin of 8-4-1.

There had been some concern that there would not be a quorum at the session.

"We crossed our fingers," said Danita Morris, SGA secretary. Just as the roll was called, two SGA senators, junior senator Jim Mink and senior senator Randy Butler entered the crowded area, and were seated.

Although some opposition had been expected, David Mason, SGA president, was surprised at the quick consideration of the homecoming rules.

"These rules have either made or broken past SGA's, and I'm glad to see the senators made what I think was a responsible decision," Mason said.

sga

Mason urged the senators to support the concept of a three-woman court. "I am aware," he commented, "that there will probably be some opposition from some quarters over this issue, but we have made a decision that should represent the best interest of all students concerned."

Phillips was surprised at the quick passage. Last year's senators wrangled through three consecutive meetings before having to drop the concept of a court, proposed by Miché Honeycutt, then junior class president.

Last October, SGA President Bill Boyd had vetoed Honeycutt's amendment allowing for a three-person court without a queen. Boyd cited concern from certain Austin Peay administrators and the alumni association as prime reasons for his veto.

Mason had studied the issue, and concluded the court was the best idea during the summer. He consulted during this time with students and administrators about the proposal.

Senior class president Robert Martin introduced the rules, and called the Senate's passage "a very wise action."

Freshman class election rules were also passed on second reading. Had one less senator shown up, however, these rules would have been postponed until tomorrow night.

Senior James Leek, a sociology major, was approved as an associate justice on the student tribunal by acclamation, but the nomination of David Tiegue for associate justice was delayed due to his absence from the meeting.

Fee changes

Three up, two down

The State Board of Regents has recently changed many of the incidental fees at Austin Peay.

The fee that will affect more AP students than any other is the Drop/Add fee. Until now it cost only $2 to drop and/or add a course after late registration. It now costs $5.

An "application fee" of $5 has now gone into effect. Also new are free ID cards. Until now the card cost $2.

Late registration fees have risen from five to ten dollars. Transcripts are now free, instead of the old price of 25 cents and Motor Vehicle Registration rose from $4 to $5.

Another risen cost is the graduation fee. It has gone up from fifteen to twenty dollars but now includes the price of the cap and gown.

Erie Coppedge, business manager, commented, "These are all incidental fees though, the fundamental fees did not go up. So if you register on time and don't drop or add a course, it really doesn't effect you. The fundamental fees are all the same as last year."

Kephart to predict

Floyd Kephart, who for the past several years has been known to persons as Lamar Alexander's counterpart on WSM's "Viewpoint," will be visiting Austin Peay today at 11 a.m. in the University Center ballroom.

Kephart is the president of the Nashville-based corporation Capital Enterprises (a politically-oriented corporation), and is a former teacher at Middle Tennessee State University in Murfreesboro.

As a "Predictor of elections," Kephart predicted in 1974 that Jake Butcher would win the Democratic primary which was actually won by Ray Blanton.

Kephart will speak and make predictions on the upcoming elections in Tennessee and then turn the floor over to questions from the audience.

The appearance is sponsored by Austin Peay's Visiting Artists and Speakers committee, the Collegiate Democrats and Republicans, and the Political Studies Association at Austin Peay.

All 125 applications were processed by Wednesday, September 27. Those students who managed to obtain their funds elsewhere and have now qualified for financial aid will be reimbursed.

Bratcher said that

(cont. from page 1) students' turning in earlier applications might help but that most of these late-processed applications were turned in in plenty of time for the usual 4 to 6-week processing period. "It was taking them (Iowa City) 8-12 weeks," Bratcher explained.

When asked if he expected this to happen again next fall, Bratcher answered, "I certainly hope not."

Peay parking poor

Safe but inconvenient

Although there are still problems with the parking situation at Austin Peay, the recent changes have been an improvement; if not in convenience, then in safety.

Parking has been prohibited on Drane Street in order to facilitate the exiting of dorm parking lots. Students can now leave the lots without having to inch out into the street to see around parked cars, thereby eliminating a possible accident producing situation. No street parking also clears the way for emergency vehicles.

Henry Street has been changed to one-way to provide students with an easier way to pull out into the stream of traffic. Being concerned with only one direction is always less confusing and generally safer.

Walking from the Dunn Center or Burt school lots seems to be a major complaint of the commuting students. Admittedly, it is a problem to have to carry an armload of books that far, but solutions are being discussed.

William Singerhoff, director of Public Safety at Austin Peay, said that there is just no direction to expand, "We don't have the means to attack the problem," he said.

So far, the rearrangement of the parking spaces has been effective. Lt. Robert E. Ellsworth, detective, said that "based on my observation there's been a definite improvement."

The All State sees the changes as a progressive move to try to solve a problem that has no apparent solution.

"The situation has to be restudied now based on the impact that 1000 new students will have," Singerhoff said.

More crosswalks from commuter parking lots and reassignment of parking spaces are suggestions being considered now. As of now, the distances cannot be shortened nor can more new spaces be provided. It's an ongoing study that must be viewed with patience and understanding.

The All State recognizes the problems. Further investigation into possible solutions and concrete recommendations from the Office of Public Safety will be welcomed.

Financial Aid needs assistance

Between 2,300 and 2,400 students at Austin Peay State University are presently receiving financial assistance through the University's Student Financial Aid office, according to John Bratcher, director of student financial aid.

Some 500 other students apply for assistance but do not receive it. These applications, nevertheless, must be processed by the office.

Despite the fact that over 60 percent of the students at Austin Peay deal with the Student Financial Aid Office, only four full-time persons are employed in the office, including the director.

From five to 15 student workers are employed by the office during the year, but the figure fluctuates depending on the time of year. Only three students were available for work in the office during the month before fall registration, which may account for the inability of the office to process all applications before regular registration.

"There are so many students to deal with that many times the counseling that needs to be done and the correspondence that needs to be handled has to be done by students working in the office," Bratcher said.

He explained that, although the student workers do their best, they are simply not trained to perform many of the tasks that are often required to do.

Bratcher said that the office needs persons trained to counsel students who come in with problems or questions, and that because of this lack of personnel, "students do not always get the best information and counseling that they could get if we had more people."

In the past five years, the amount of financial assistance awarded to students through the Student Financial Aid Office has gone from around $1 million to $2.4 million, and the volume of students receiving financial assistance through the office has increased by 21 percent each year.

The personnel in the financial aid office has increased by only two persons during this period, however.

"Six years ago, I was almost always available to see students," Bratcher said, saying that at that time, there was rarely a need to make an appointment.

Now, Bratcher said, students must make an appointment as much as a week in advance in order to see him. This is the thing that disturbs Bratcher most about the understaffing in the office.

Many other universities have a problem with their financial aid offices being understaffed, but according to Bratcher, "All other four-year state schools in Tennessee are better-staffed than we are."

The financial aid officers are faced with rapid changes in laws and regulations governing them, and are expected to read these new rules and regulations and make recommendations to the government concerning them. This, according to Bratcher, only takes away from the time available for helping students.

As a result of the lack of time available for personnel in the financial aid office to spend with students applying for assistance, there are many delays encountered by students, including getting applications processed on time and getting timely information and correspondence.

"Had we been able to spend the time we needed to process applications and all, we'd have about 100 more students at Austin Peay," Bratcher said. This figure includes students who did not receive information on time and students whose applications were not processed in time for fall enrollment.

Bratcher has spoken to President Robert O. Riggs about the problem of understaffing in the Student Financial Aid Office, and feels confident that the president recognizes the problem and will provide relief at some time.

Lack of funds is the problem now, it seems, and this may be beyond the university's control.

However, The All State feels that if the resources are not available to the students of the university, we will find it more difficult to get new students here, and also more difficult to keep the ones here now.

"If we don't get students, we don't get help from the government, and if we can't give assistance, we won't get students," Bratcher commented.

The All State agrees.

Student Writing 'Showcase'

College SHOWCASE Magazine, a new magazine written by and for college students, is now being distributed on campuses nationwide. The SHOWCASE objective, "students communicating with students," is unique in that it offers collegians a vehicle to display their skills in the fields of journalism, creative writing, art, and photography, and to communicate with their peers.

In most cases, student writing accepted for publication is written for course credit or in fulfillment of a class assignment, and verified by a faculty member. One or two articles written by students in majors other than the written or graphic communications fields will be considered for each issue, however.

Student work, comprising 80 to 85 percent of each issue, is published in such regular features as "Campus Dateline," short pieces relating to student life and interests; "Faces on Campus," personality profiles of campus-related individuals; a "Gallery" art section; a "Potpourri" section, with a variety of subjects ranging from fiction to poetry; and articles and essays on the issue theme (determined by SHOWCASE editors).

Highlights from the September sampler include a guest interview with Edwin Newman, who shares his very opinions on the changing communication process; art by students from the School of the Art Institute of Chicago; and a "Campus Spotlight" featuring The American University, Washington, D.C.

Schools with published authors and artists in the sampler are the University of Maryland, Kent State University (Ohio), Pennsylvania State University, the School of the Art Institute of Chicago, and The American University.

Included in the sampler is a brief SHOWCASE survey which makes readers who respond eligible to win a trip to Aspen or Ft. Lauderdale. One name will be chosen at random. The purpose of the survey is to assist the magazine in being responsive to student needs and interests.

College SHOWCASE Magazine is now being distributed free in college stores nationwide, and is available for inspection in college libraries. For more details about SHOWCASE and how to receive a writer's guideline booklet, contact College SHOWCASE Magazine, 55 East Monroe Street, Chicago, Illinois, 60603.

The clones are coming

Dearest Humanoids:

We regret to inform you that the response to our first communique has been astounding. To tell the truth, I was quite pleasantly surprised to find out just how many clones there actually are on Earth. You see, my presence on the "CIP" scene has been fairly recent:

I happened upon a clang of clones purely by chance one day and, as social intercourse reluctantly leads to further understanding of the world around us, I learned of the plight of the clones.

It seems that, a few thousand years ago, a bunch of aliens were experimenting with producing the ultimate robot, which they were going to use as customized slaves and become millionaires on their planets by selling them to all of the lazy aliens in the galaxy.

Naturally, the earlier experiments produced a few "duds." The aliens, being compassionate to a fault, deposited these reject robots on a planet called Earth - rather than recycling them.

Now, these aliens were aware that they couldn't just introduce a species to an environment without first categorizing and labeling them, so they did both at once with the acronym of CLONE (Can't Liberate Our Name Easily). The aliens thought this was hilariously ambiguous... WE DON'T.

Incidentally, this communique was supposed to have been the first one and the first one should have been the third one and... well, even clones make mistakes.

In lieu of hard facts concerning who are clones and who are not, we are still requesting that all clones (and high humans in important places) enlist in the "CIP." After all, whose side would you rather be on when the invasion starts? Send your name and address today, to: CLONE INVASION FORCES ENLISTMENT CENTER P.O. Box 2469 SANTA CRUZ, CA 95063

Dear Editor,

Although the CFS story shed much light on how textbooks are being written, there was one statement pertaining to how they are sold that was incorrect.

As the former book buyer for a university in Iowa, I can safely state that all major publishers sell to bookstores at list price minus 20%.

The bookstores must then pay the shipping charge, which is considerable, since books are very heavy. In addition, textbooks must be hard-purchased by employees. Students should be aware that the bookstore's profit margin on textbooks is well under 20%.

Dear Editor,

This letter concerns all dorm residents at Austin Peay. The issue involved in the fact that all dorm residents must move out Christmas break for maintenance purposes. We believe this is unfair to all people involved.

This would cause more problems than it would be worth. The hassles of Fall quarter will be there each quarter. The packing and unpacking of boxes and this also causes a problem of storage for many students. Especially for those students who live out of the state or even out of the country. Some students feel that the winter moving would be dangerous due to road and walkway conditions.

It has also come to my knowledge that the maintenance men (there are a few of them) will also be receiving a Christmas vacation during break and there is no way they could fix all the rooms which need repairing. This brings up another issue. Not all the rooms need maintenance, and yet we all have to vacate the dorms. We understand why the rooms being repaired must be vacated, but we see no sense in vacating all rooms.

With the new restrictions, schoolwork and varied extracurricular activities this seems to pose more problems and pressures than it would be worth.

If you would like to submit any suggestions to help aid in the solution of this problem, or if you would like to sign our petition, please contact P.O. Box 6198.

Remember, whatever becomes of this, you as a dorm resident will be affected. So why not get involved?

Sincerely,
Concerned Sevier Co-eds

Also a petition from at least 3 dorms for this reason has been turned in to the dorm council.

Dear Editor,

Because of internal problems, the original staff of the 77-78 Farwell and Hail was replaced with a new staff in June of 1978.

With the exception of the sixteen color pages, the entire 304 page yearbook was put together by four people in less than five weeks.

Our knowledge of yearbook editing ranged from limited experience to no experience at all. But we gave you, the students, faculty, and staff of Austin Peay, the very best we could under the circumstances.

When we first entered the Farwell and Hail office, we encountered nothing more than a cluttered room full of photographs. No stories, no organized ideas, nothing to work from. We had to start from scratch. If it hadn't been for the help of individual students and faculty who wrote last minute stories for us, and the more than generous help of Billy Fields and The All State staff, "Scratch" is exactly where we would have remained, too. But we managed to piece together a yearbook for you. It may look like a patchwork quilt, for it was put together by four individuals, who, because of jobs and classes, did not have time to work together as a team. (Much of the writing and layouts were done at home in the wee hours of the morning), but at least you have a 77-78 yearbook. It may not be great, but surely it's better than nothing. At least we hope you will feel that way.

Please buy a copy if you haven't already. It would make us feel that our efforts will not have been in vain.

Prine set for Oct. 5

Nashville, Tenn.-Mac McAnally and The Ozark Mountain Daredevils join headliner John Prine in concert at the Grand Ole Opry House on Thursday, October 5 at 8 p.m.

Prine's newest album, "Bruised Orange," is produced by Steve Goodman for Elektra Records. It has been three years since "The Best of John Prine," his fifth effort with Atlantic Records, was released. Since that time, Prine has been strengthening his music, making personal appearances (including a string of SRO performances at the East-In), and firmly establishing himself as one of the very best American songwriters.

Born in 1946, in Maywood, Illinois, Prine didn't actively begin writing songs until 1970. That year, at Chicago's Fifth Peg, Prine earned a place in the spotlight singing his now classic tunes "Sam Stone," "Vaseline," and "Hello in There."

After a stint at the Peg, Early Finkle lured Prine into another Chicago club, The Earl of Old Town, where he met Steve Goodman. It wasn't long before Goodman dragged his friends Kris Kristofferson, Paul Anka, and actress Samantha Egger in to hear Prine. Within 24 hours, friends, Prine, and Goodman found themselves in New York City at Anka's suggestion. In the Big Apple, Kristofferson and Carly Simon were playing The Bitter End. Kris coaxed Prine out of the audience and Prine sang three numbers. The house went wild. "All this happened in 24 hours," Prine explained, "I felt like Lans Turner."

Since then Prine's tunes have been recorded by such respected pop figures as Bette Midler, Johnny Cash, Jean Baez and Bonnie Raitt.

A natural entertainer with ability to establish uncanny rapport with an audience, Mac McAnally has performed successfully at New York's Bottom Line, the Roxy in Los Angeles, and Chicago's Ivanhoe. He has toured with Randy Newman and played with the likes of Willie Nelson, Jerry Jeff Walker and Kenny Loggins. His current Arista album, "No Problem Here," is a collection of his original songs.

The Ozark Mountain Daredevils are touring in support of their live, two-record set "It's Alive," on A & M Records.

The "Daredevils" are probably best known for their hits "If You Want To Get To Heaven" and "Jackie Blue" (live versions are included on "It's Alive"). Originally a formalized gathering of young songwriters, the "Daredevils" have fused into a multivoiced but fully unified band. In addition to the current LP, their album releases include "Don't Look Down," "Men From Earth," "The Car Over The Lake Album," "It'll Shine When It Shines," and "Ozark Mountain Daredevils."

Tickets ($7.50 reserved, $6.50, $5.50) are now on sale at all CentraTik outlets. The concert is presented by Sound Seventy Productions, Inc.

Sound Seventy Productions to present Genesis in Concert

Nashville, Tenn.-"An Evening With Genesis" is scheduled for the Municipal Auditorium on October 8, 1978, at 8 p.m. The rock group's 1978 world tour includes three U.S. jaunts alternating with European and Japanese dates.

Genesis' sixth album for Atlantic Records, "...And Then There Were Three..." follows hot on the heels of last fall's double live set, "Seconds

Out." The current LP, which has already been certified gold, includes the hit single "Follow You, Follow Me."

Heralded as "the live band's live band," Genesis has been regularly pressed into vinyl for nearly a decade. Born out of England's exclusive Charterhouse School in the mid-sixties, the band initially aimed at creating pop hits for others to perform. It then became obvious to the original group—Tony Banks, Peter Gabriel, Michael Rutherford, and Anthony Phillips—that only they could do justice to their material.

Releasing "From Genesis To Revelation" in 1968, under the guidance of producer Jonathan King, Genesis began a career marked by many personnel changes as they worked to develop and refine an unmistakable style. Genesis now features Tony Banks (keyboards), Phil Collins (drums, vocals), and Michael Rutherford (guitars, bass), supported by guitarist Daryle Stuermer and drummer Chester Thompson.

Tickets ($7.50 reserved, $6.00 general admission) are now on sale at all CentraTik outlets. The concert is presented by Sound Seventy Productions, Inc.

America for sale?

Is America on the auction block? Yes, according to AMERICA FOR SALE, the new book by award-winning journalist Kenneth C. Crowe.

Crowe establishes the scope of the problem with alarming precision, listing among the eco-invaders: the French, with oil interests in Texas; chemicals in Pennsylvania and nylon in New Jersey; the Dutch, with fertilizer and nylon interests in Georgia; the OPEC nations, who orchestrate one of the most secretive and effective lobbies in Washington, D.C.

In America For Sale, Crowe concentrates on the true identity of these foreign interests, revealing that foreign governments underwrite the invasion to an alarming extent. This is nowhere more evident than in the current controversy over Japanese "dumping" of steel on the U.S. market. Indeed, Crowe notes, loopholes in our own laws actually shield foreign investors from SEC disclosure rulings—and from the American press.

Crowe concludes his timely study with a call books

for an economic equivalent of the Monroe Doctrine—a national policy which among other vital concerns, clearly prohibits foreign governments or their agencies from making controlling investments in corporate America.

The alternative may be summarized all too well in the Congressional testimony of Benjamin J. Cohen of the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy: "The dangers of foreign investment take several forms, but they all reduce to one common denominator—a challenge to national sovereignty."

A journalist for twenty years, Kenneth C. Crowe was a member of the Newday Investigative Team whose work won the 1970 Pulitzer Prize. In 1975 and 1976 he studied the blossoming of foreign investment in the United States on an Alicia Patterson Foundation Fellowship. He is a graduate of Fordham Prep and Fordham University.

College credit earned through CLEP

What is CLEP? CLEP stands for College-Level Examination Program, a credit-by-examination program offered by 1800 colleges and universities across the country. Austin Peay is one of the universities that participate in the monthly CLEP testing.

Any person who is a high school graduate or who holds the high school equivalency diploma may take CLEP tests to demonstrate college level competency. The competency may have been acquired through formal study, independent study, employment experience, non-credit courses, adult classes, advanced work in high school programs, etc.

There are two types of examinations offered; the general examinations provide a comprehensive measure of undergraduate achievement in five basic areas of liberal arts: English Composition, Mathematics, Natural Sciences, Humanities, and Social Science History. Other 47 subject examinations measure achievement in specified undergraduate courses. Many subject examinations offer a separate essay test in addition to the objective portion; Austin Peay requires that the essay portion be taken in order to grant credit for the examination. Each university determines the amount of credit which will be granted for CLEP examinations and the acceptable scores needed to pass each test. If one takes and passes all of the general examinations, a total of 30 elective credits can be earned. Credit at Austin Peay for the subject examinations range from 3-9 credits per exam.

John Bunnell, presently a senior at Austin Peay, is one glowing example of a student who earned a great deal of credit by taking the CLEP examinations. In the fall of 1975, John passed the Humanities general examination and the subject examinations in: American Government, American Literature, Introduction to Sociology, Western Civilization, and Human Growth Development. John's achievement in these areas earned him 20 credits of the needed 45 for his chosen History major. John's impression of the CLEP examinations was, "They were very challenging examinations and the questions covered a broad range of material, thus requiring some preparation for the examinations." Also, John felt strongly that taking the CLEP examinations during his freshman year greatly helped him learn to manage his time in further test taking situations encountered in college.

Another more recent CLEP applicant is Mrs. Anita Curtis, a resident of Waverly, Tennessee. Anita is presently working toward her undergraduate degree and is also employed by the U.S. Postal Service. Her hopes in taking several of the subject examinations was that she would be able to shorten her actual classroom time thus allowing her to complete her degree in less than four years. Mrs.

Curtis passed the American Government, Afro-American History, Analysis and Interpretation of Literature, and the College Composition subject examinations. She prepared by studying on her own and by auditing several English classes.

Mrs. Curtis' impression of the CLEP examinations was similar to Mr. Bunnell's. She described them as "very challenging and requiring a certain amount of preparation." By passing the four subject examinations, Mrs. Curtis earned eighteen college credits at Austin Peay.

The CLEP exams are administered at Austin Peay during the third week of the month. Registration forms and additional information may be obtained from the Counseling Center in McReynolds Hall. Completed registration forms are to be returned to the Center no later than two weeks before the scheduled week of testing.

Test fees are $20.00 for one general examination or one subject examination, $30.00 for two examinations, and $40.00 for any combination of three to five general or subject examinations. There is no additional fee for the essay portion of the subject examinations. Payment is made by check on the day of testing.

Further information regarding the CLEP Examinations can be obtained from the testing program coordinator, Ms. Jane Southard, at the Counseling Center on the Austin Peay campus (648-6162).

The Collegiate Republicans will elect officers for the 1978-79 school year at the Oct. 16 meeting. The 6 p.m. meeting is scheduled in room 313 in the University Center.

October 9, however, is the next scheduled meeting for the Republicans. People interested in helping with Sen. Baker's and Lamar Alexander's campaign should attend this meeting.

Tomorrow afternoon the candidate interested in the 1979 Tower, Austin Peay's literary journal, will be interviewed by the sponsors of the magazine.

only 20 to 25 students per classroom.

"This will bring us that quality education, where teachers will spend more time with these children," Butcher explained.

Butcher also said that the salaries of classroom teachers can be improved substantially, which would "give them an incentive to stay in the classroom."

Butcher does not support proficiency tests for teachers. "It's not the teacher's fault," Butcher said, speaking in reference to the low status of education in the state as compared with other states.

Butcher blamed students and parents for the fact that students do not learn enough. "If parents don't insist that the students come home at night and get a good night's rest and study, then we can't blame teachers," he said.

Butcher suggested that

Malcolm Glass and David Till. The candidate should sign up for an appointment time on the schedule in the English Department office sometime today.

students be tested at an earlier age, maybe third or fourth grade, to detect deficiencies and enable correction at an early age.

Concerning convicted double-murderer Roger Humphreys, Butcher said that he is against Governor Ray Blanton's plans for pardon. Butcher stated that he has scheduled a meeting with Blanton to discuss this issue with him.

At the speech in Municipal Stadium, Alan Hill of the executive steering committee for the Tennessee Indian voter's League announced the group's support for Butcher. The organization is comprised of some 8,000 registered voters in the state.

In making the announcement, Hill said, "He is the only candidate who has recognized the needs and responsibility of native Americans as self-determining people."

According to Glass, the scholarship for the editor is larger than reported in last week's All State. "The misinformation was my fault," he said. "In the past, the scholarship has paid tuition and fees for winter and spring quarters, but this year it pays for the fall quarter, too. I didn't realize that the scholarship had been increased until after last week's article had gone to press."

Work on the 1979 Tower will begin soon. Anyone interested in being on the staff should notify David Till, Malcolm Glass, or Jana Rollins, in the English department, sometime this week.

Stadium seating changed

By Lisa Jackson

This year, there have been several seating changes made in Austin Peay's Municipal Stadium.

The APSU "comps" have been moved to section I. The team "comps" are the guests of the football players.

"The reason for this particular change," explained Austin Peay Athletic Director, Johnny Miller, "is due to the fact that we feel that these people will be good supporters of the team."

Other seating changes made were in the visiting team section from section AA to NN and the band to section J.

The student sections, formerly sections K, L, and M have been moved to sections L, M, and N. This change is the beginning step of a new system of obtaining tickets for APSU students next fall, Miller said.

The athletic department is considering a new ticket system that would require the student to obtain a numbered ticket from a designated office several days before the game.

"The new system will allow the selling of more season tickets, and will also give us an idea of how many students will attend the game," Miller said. "It will also insure each student a seat at the games."

Miller said that the new system would not only be beneficial to the athletic department, but also to the students themselves.

5,837 at Austin Peay

By Lisa Jackson

Austin Peay State University has the highest enrollment increase of any university in Tennessee this fall, according to new enrollment figures released last week.

The preliminary enrollment this fall is 5,837 as compared to last year's figure of 4,872. This represents an increase of 965 students, or 19.8%.

Austin Peay's status as the smallest university in the State Board of Regents system has changed because of the increase, and its enrollment is now higher than the enrollment at Tennessee State (5,396), UT-Nashville (5,456), and UT-Martin (5,000).

The lead that Austin Peay has taken in enrollment marks the third year that APSU has led the four-year schools in increased enrollment percentage.

Dick Littleton, Director of Admissions at Austin Peay, who had earlier expressed that he anticipated a slight increase, stated that he was very pleased with the figure.

Dr. Robert O. Riggs, president of Austin Peay said, "It is very gratifying to have such a great enrollment increase."

Riggs attributed the increase to three factors, first, keeping on-campus students (increase of 3%). Second, Riggs attributed the increase to APSU's Fort Campbell facility (in reference to which he stated that the Clarksville-Fort Campbell community are now one), and third, to the implementation of the Master of Business Administration degree.

Honors Program gets going

The University Honors Program, under the direction of Dr. Edward Irwin, is a new and developing program for gifted students. This year the first class of freshmen are being included in the program.

The classes are in an informal atmosphere and thrive on student participation, which is aided by the small number of students in each class from 12 to 15. Another advantage of the program is that there are two instructors for each course. These instructors are from different departments on campus.

According to Irwin, the Honors program is meant

"The wild and woolly west," represented in old movies and television shows. It centers around the activities of "the most lily-livered, yellow-bellied, good-for-nothing, low-down, rotten-clean-through, miserable, son-of-a-prairie dog polioist that ever crawled the face of this earth," Sweeney Fitch and his interactions with the towns people of Golfer Gulch. There are gunfights, card games, and a "whole posse lot of other fuderal" to add to this AP Playhouse Production.

The play is under the direction of Dr. John G. Griffin with technical direction provided by Mr. Jim Elder. The show will be staged October 25-29. For information, contact Jim Elder or John Griffin in the theatre department at Austin Peay, at 648-7375.

to be "A supplement to other programs on campus, not a replacement."

Each honors course offers from three to six hours credit, and in some cases, part of this credit may be substituted for other parts of Austin Peay's curriculum.

There are various prerequisites listed for the program, but Irwin said that many of these are not vital. Usually a 3.25 GPA is required for a student to enter the honors Program and his eligibility is determined by the director of the program. Freshmen and transfer students' eligibility will be determined by a combination of their high school GPA and their composite ACT score.

Teacher Exams Nov. 11

The National Teacher Examinations will be given at Austin Peay State University Nov. 11.

Deadline for regular registration is Oct. 19, and on-the-spot registration is not permitted.

Scores from the examinations are used by states for certification of teachers, by school systems for selection and identification of leader-

Fellowships in Public Administration

The Southern Regional Training Program in Public Administration is now accepting applications for fellowships for the 1979-80 academic year. The program prepares students for careers in government and is sponsored by the Universities of Alabama, Kentucky and Tennessee.

Students who are awarded fellowships will serve a 10-week internship during the summer of 1979, and spend the Fall semester at the University of Kentucky. After the Christmas holidays, one group of Fellows will attend the University of Alabama and another, the University of Tennessee.

Upon satisfactory completion of the Program, Fellows receive a Certificate in Public Administration. In addition, course work completed in the Program will be accepted for a MPA degree at one of the two institutes which they attend.

The fellowships have a value of $4,600 which includes a stipend of $3,300 and remission of fees and tuition which at present amount to $1,300. Married students receive a grant of $400 in addition to the regular stipend.

Candidates must be American citizens who hold a bachelor's degree or who expect to receive a bachelor's degree by June, 1979. No specific major or area of study is required. Fellowships are awarded on the basis of high academic achievement, scores on the quantitative and qualitative portions of the Graduate Record Exam, and a real interest in pursuing a career in public administration in the South.

Applications must be received by February 23, 1979. For information and applications write to: Coleman B. Ransome, Jr.,

Director, Southern Regional Training Program in Public Administration, Drawer 1, University, Alabama 35486.

1. All candidates must follow the Regulations Governing the Display of Signs, Posters, Banners, Etc. on the Campus of Austin Peay State University.

2. DO NOT TAMPER with campaign material of another candidate.

3. NO SGA MATERIALS, equipment, or facilities may be used to further the campaign of any candidate.

4. "Formal Campaigning" is constituted as the placement of signs, posters, or banners for the purpose of electing a candidate for SGA office, for public display, or the public distribution of pamphlets or any printed matter that supports the election of any candidate or group of candidates for SGA office.

403 The current ID will be checked by the poll worker as the student votes. Only freshmen and graduates (voting for their senator only) will vote in this election.

404 Anyone wishing to vote without their ID must obtain written permission from the Election Board.

405 If for any reason, excluding the office of senator, there is not obtained a majority by one candidate, a run-off election will be held between the candidates receiving the first and second highest number of votes. In the Senatorial race, if there are five or less votes separating one or more candidates who would receive a sufficient number of votes for election and one or more candidates who would not receive enough votes for election, then there will be a run-off election between (or among) those said candidates for the remaining senatorial seat (or seats).

V. RUN-OFF ELECTION

501 Polls will open for the run-off election from 8:30 a.m. until 3:00 p.m. on Friday, October 20, 1978. Eligibility to vote and location of polls shall be the same as in the general election.

502 The candidate in any race receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared the winner. If no candidate receives the highest number of votes, the Election Board shall be responsible for holding another election, until a majority winner is declared.

VI. POLL WORKERS

Poll workers shall be appointed by the Election Board. Only poll workers, voters and election board personnel will be allowed at the polls. Poll workers shall not wear or display any campaign paraphernalia. Poll workers and other election officials shall wear identification badges while on duty.

This and that

Governor notes

Buddy Bumgarner is working hard to promote intramural athletics at Austin Peay for the coming year.

instant replay

By Billy Fields
editor

A Peay graduate, Bumgarner stresses that friendship must come before there can be any competition. He feels that the "rough-stuff" must be taken elsewhere.

As director of the program, Bumgarner has put in long hours to make the Intramural program as good as possible. The Recreation Complex has had a couple of facelifts and looks tremendous.

Boots Donnelly said after his Gova fell for the second consecutive week to Ohio Valley Conference opponent that he was made of "flesh and blood" and could work no miracles.

Donnelly and his team just haven't quite found the right combination to put together an OVC win. They get their chance for that first win Saturday in Municipal Stadium against Morehead State.

The city is buzzing about Sherwin Cift's golf team. Cift returned in the summer to take the reigns of the team which he coached several years back.

While he was coach the Gova enjoyed some of their best years ever and this year seems to be another one of the best.

Thus far the Governors are playing excellent rounds, and in the Murray State Invitational, they beat all their OVC opponents to take second place.

The Lady Gova Volleyball team is looking better and better every day. They seem to be playing together as a unit and headed toward their best year ever.

Under the coaching of Betty Williams, The Lady Gova are using their young talent properly and gunning for a winning season.

Trainer Jeff Daniel and his staff are some of the busiest people in the athletic department.

Daniel is trying desperately to get the Gova and the Lady Gova ready for their scheduled events.

When things get bad they just get bad; however, as Daniel pulled a couple of the football players from the field with serious injuries. Andy McCullum will be out several weeks with a dislocated elbow. Receiver James Harris will be sidelined with a finger injury while several others will be nursing some minor injuries to avoid the more serious problems which can occur when a light injury is not treated properly.

Hang in there "Doc Daniel and crew."

The Intramural Complex is open Sunday through Friday from 2 p.m. until 9 p.m. on Saturday, the complex is open from noon until 6 p.m. except on days of home football games when it is closed all day.

The pool is open Monday through Thursday 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. and 3 p.m. until 5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

Schlitz MVP to be named

The Intramural Recreation Schlitz Most Valuable Player competition has come to Austin Peay's campus.

The idea behind the new program is to single out the intramural athlete who is a valuable player and who conducts himself or herself in the proper manner.

Each week the winner will receive a "Medalist" jersey from Schlitz and have their picture put in The All State. At the end of the year a grand MVP will be named and that person will receive another jersey similar to the ones won by players in the NFL and a Wilson football.

The program is being locally sponsored by Austin Peay's Intramural department and Cardett Distributors of Clarksville. Jim Baggett is the sales manager.

Information about the program can be obtained in the Recreation Complex.

COME ON DAD—Bunny Donnelly is one of Austin Peay's biggest fans which can be attributed to the fact that her father, Boots, is the head football coach for the Governors.

Lady Gova tennis open Oct. 14

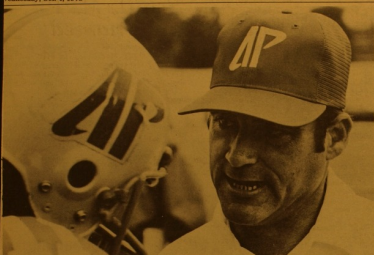

The Lady Gova tennis team open up their fall season Oct. 14 here against UT-Martin and Tennessee Tech.

The team coached by Margaret Gornik and Dennis Emery has been working overtime in anticipation of their seasonal opener. According to Emery the women have improved 150 percent and should be one of the top teams in the state.

The 1977 spring season was marked by a strong finish as the Lady Gova finished second in the state to the eventual national champion, UT-Chattanooga.

Mary Ann Cobb, a freshman, is one of the top players at this time for the Lady Gova. Cobb, the top junior player from Ohio, looks as if she will be the top singles player. Sherry Harrison appears to be a second while Susan Davila, from the Dominican Republic, stands at third singles.

ALL RIGHT—Boots Donnelly tells quarterback Randy Christophel the next play during the Governors loss to Eastern Kentucky. Austin Peay is now 1-2 overall and 0-2 in the Ohio Valley Conference.

APUs versus Morehead

Govs regroup for Eagles

By Bob Hanusek

Austin Peay will only have a few days to regroup after their loss to Eastern Kentucky and play another Ohio Valley Conference foe.

Saturday the Gov's defensive unit will be called on for a sterling performance against a much improved Morehead State football team as the Eagles are coming off a big win over Murray State 49-32.

Overall Morehead State stands 2-1 and 1-1 in conference play losing to Middle Tennessee State University at Murfreesboro.

Offensively, the Eagles are potentially one of the strongest teams in the conference. They are led by senior quarterback Phil Simms who was the 1977 OVC Offensive Player of the Year. Simms became the sixth quarterback in OVC history to throw for more than 2,000 yards in a season, as he threw 2,041. Simms can accurately pass the ball

Roberts holds record

The Austin Peay all time individual/team career rushing leader is John Ogles who played on the 1965 Governor team that went 8-1. John's career rushing record stands at 2,352 yards. In over 60 yards.

Simms threw 3 touchdown passes in last week's Eagle win over Murray State and drew the attention of pro scouts. Simms had missed 3 weeks of pre-season practice with a sprained ankle and had completed 15 of 30 aerial attempts going into the Murray State game.

Simms' main targets will be Larry Compassi and Doron Hunter.

Hunter, a 5-7 160 pound sophomore, caught 36 passes for 387 yards and seven touchdowns last season.

Compassi, a 5-10 165 pound junior caught 41 passes for 577 yards and two touchdowns in 1977.

Fullback Norman Letcher, a 5-11 200 pounder, returns for his senior season averaging 4.2 yards per carry.

Morehead State had scored only 2 touchdowns in their first two games, but Simms put it all together last week in the Eagles first conference win of the season.

1966 he set the Austin Peay individual single season rushing and most rushes in a season records carrying the ball 247 times for 1,064 yards. Ogles was named Little All-American in 1965.

The Governor defense will put their top ranking in Division I-AA against the pass on the line when they try to stop the "Simms Aerial Show." The veteran APSU secondary keyed by All-OVC free safety Mike Betts and strongside safety Joe Grimsley could make it interesting before the final gun sounds.

Donnelly will have to iron out some offensive problems in order to do well. The Peay can move the football as they did it against UT Martin and Western Kentucky where they compiled 222 and 262 yards respectively.

The Governors have lost two in a row and will be trying hard to reverse the streak.

Golf team faces test at Opryland

The men's golf team will face eight tough challengers in the annual Opryland Collegiate Classic Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 9-10, at the Nashville Village Golf Club.

Playing the university division, APSU faces its sternest competition from defending champion Middle Tennessee, Murray State and Eastern Kentucky.

Other Ohio Valley Conference teams entered are Western Kentucky, Morehead State and Tennessee Tech.

Completing the field are University of Tennessee-Chattanooga and Georgia State.

The college division features host team David Lipscomb, Carson-Newman, Christian Brothers, Montevello, Saginaw Valley, Southern Benedictine, Tennessee Wesleyan and Sewanee.

After a runner-up finish in the season-opening

Murray State Intercollegiate, Coach Sherwin Clift's team will consist of juniors Richard Smith and Tim Budreau, in addition to freshman Chip Hall.

The No. 4 and No. 5 positions will be filled from the threesome of Bill Holzman, Jim Mandile and Carmen Rosamonda.

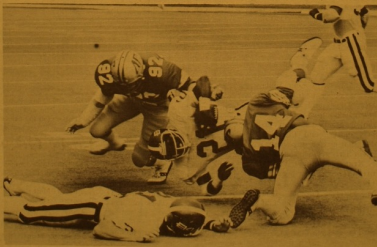

The Governors are paired with Western Kentucky, Tennessee Tech and Georgia State the first 18 holes on Monday. The 36-hole tournament concludes Tuesday.

"Complacency bothers me," Clift said about the tournament. "Just because we defeated every OVC team in the Murray tournament, we can't rest on our laurels. All we've done is make the other teams mad, and they're shooting at us still. Middle Tennessee should be considered the favorite."

Ogles All-time leader

On Nov. 8, 1969, Harold "Red" Roberts set school, conference and NCAA records while catching 30 passes for 222 yards and four touchdowns against Murray State. Quarterback John Kok (pronounced Cuck) had a field day himself as he completed 32 of 53 passes for 341 yards total offense on 60 plays. Still, the Peay lost 53-41.

GOTCHA—Joe Grimsley (14) and Mark Daniel (92) pull down Eastern Kentucky's Bruce Cox (21). Austin Peay's defense cut 200 yards from EKU's offensive average.

Among safeties

Hailstock rated tops

The best strong safety in the Ohio Valley Conference may be the most modest.

Lynn Hailstock, Austin Peay's strong safety, is considered one of the best defensive backs in the conference, but to Hailstock he is just one of the many.

"I'm about the same as the others," Hailstock stated. "All of the strong safeties are about the same all around."

Hailstock is justified in this statement since six safeties including himself were tied in the coaches pre-season All-OVC defensive team. According to the OVC mentors, all must be about the same since only one was left off the list.

The APSU defensive back may have the advantage; however, as he depends upon his quickness and desire to make contact for most of his achievements. As a freshman, the New Castle (Pa.) High product pulled down six opponents' passes to rank second in the conference. As a sophomore he took only one interception, but deflected six others. He was credited with 33 individual tackles last season.

Those statistics aren't bad for a player who was "too" small to play college ball.

"I was small coming out of high school," Hailstock explained. "I had a few offers, but most thought I was just too little."

Determined to prove them wrong, Hailstock traveled south to play at a school few people in his town, as well as the state, has ever heard about. Hailstock's triumphs let a few people in the area know more about the Peay.

Education is the most important aspect of college for Hailstock as he has wanted to go to college for a long time. "I have wanted to go to college since I was in high school," Hailstock stated. "My parents had a lot of influence over me."

The feisty defensive back has come a long way since entering APSU. He went through the rebuilding of the entire program. He witnessed the rise of Boots Donnelly, the Peay's head coach, who guided them to their first OVC title ever and he saw the last year of former coach Jack Bushofsky as well. The youngster has seen some of the best and some of the worst, but he hung in there.

Hailstock had a dream when he got to Austin Peay. He wanted to win the OVC championship and go to the national playoffs. Hailstock put it best when he said, "We are already half way there."

—Robert Smith

Colonels trip Austin Peay

By Bob Hannsek

The Governor's dropped their home opener at Municipal Stadium to the Eastern Kentucky Colonels by a score of 14-0. Although there wasn't much offensive spark, Scott Donnelly was pleased with the way his defense played.

"Eastern has some awfully good running backs, but our defense did a good job against them," remarked Donnelly after the game.

"We just can't take the heat off the defense. Eastern is just better than we are, they are more physical than we are."

We played well defensively, but those people across the line have a lot to do with how well we play offensively," Donnelly said.

Eastern Kentucky held Austin Peay to 83 yards on the ground and 38 in the air for a total of 121 yards total offense in only 41 plays. The Colonels, without All-OVC runningback Stan Mitchell, compiled 298 yards total offense in 74 plays enroute to a shutout of the Governors before an estimated crowd of 8,000, many of whom left at the end of the first half when the score was only 7-0.

Tough, hardnosed tackle Brian Stege led the Governor defense, which stayed on the field most of the afternoon with 11 tackles and three assists.

Stege wasn't the only Governor defender that has a tough workout against the Colonels. Sophomore Richard Woznick looked impressive and gave good indication that he will be able to fill the shoes of former All-OVC defensive tackle James Green. Woznick was credited with 10 tackles and five assists.

Mark Daniel also had a fine afternoon, making eight tackles and assisting on three others.

Dale Patton led the Colonel attack rushing for 113 yards. Bruce Cox picked up 55 yards, and EKV quarterback Bill Hughes accounted for another 41 yards on the ground.

Eastern Kentucky's first score came in the first period on a one yard run by Hughes. There second and final score was in the third quarter on a 17 yard Chris Isaac pass to split-end David Boozie. David Flores kicked both point-after-attempts for the Colonels.

Bumgarner stated that women's volleyball rosters are due tomorrow
