Annual APSC Homecoming Begins

Queen Bettie K. and her Court

"The Collegians" To Play Dance

"The Collegians" will make their premier performance at the Homecoming dance.

"The Collegians" is a twenty one piece dance band and it is the latest addition to Austin Peay's music department.

Larry Womack is the featured vocalist for the group and Dan Dill, David Hall, James Phillips, Mickey Garland, and Jim Briney will play sax.

The trumpet section will be composed of Mike Chalcott, Kenny Graves, Bobby Smith, Terry Turney, and Bobby Graves.

George Milam, Tommy Miller, and Bill Burke will play trombone, and Dick Stricker, Paul Garrison, Cyd Burton, and Charles Dickson make up the rhythm section.

Powder blue dinner jackets, black cummerbunds, and bow ties, with midnight blue pants will be the costume for all members.

The first large dance for Austin Peay in several years was organized by the college marching band director, Aaron Schmidt.

After the Homecoming dance, the group will perform at local high schools in the Clarksville and Nashville area.

Library Adds Staff Member

Mrs. Barbara Ragsdale has joined the staff of the Austin Peay library as chief clerk.

This is the first full time clerical position the library has had.

Mrs. Ragsdale is from Memphis and has been living in Clarksville for the past two months. Mrs. Ragsdale's husband is stationed at Fort Campbell. Their Clarksville address is 129 Marion Street.

Mrs. Ragsdale is a graduate of Memphis State University with a B. S. in music education. In college she was elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, president of the Tassel, the Senior Women's Honorary Society, and a member of the Alpha Xi Delta.

Before coming to Austin Peay, Mrs. Ragsdale worked at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville.

The library has been looking forward to this new position for a number of years.

It is felt that the technical work of the library will be expedited and time will be left for the library staff to devote to the student.

U.N. Celebrated 12th Anniversary

"The U. N. is Your Business" is the theme for the twelfth anniversary celebration of the United Nations.

Mayor Paul McGregor issued a proclamation calling for an observance of October 24 as United Nations Day, and urged all Clarksville citizens to gain a better understanding of the purposes and goals of the organization.

It was on October 24, 1945 that the charter of the United Nations was ratified by a majority of the 51 participating countries.

President Eisenhower has requested every city to observe this day because "it is important that we Americans not relax our efforts to demonstrate our support of this organization which is working for world peace with justice."

HOMECOMING RULES

1. Parade will start at 1:30 P. M. sharp.

2. All floats and cars to assemble in front of the Armory at 12:00.

3. Be sure all cars have plenty of gas.

4. Be sure and keep 20 feet spaces between floats and bands at all times.

5. Be acquainted with the route of the parade.

6. Be sure and dismantle the floats immediately after the parade.

Queen Bettie K. and Court To Reign Over Week-end

Miss Bettie Katherine Allen was chosen by the football team to reign over the homecoming activities.

Miss Allen is a native Clarksvillian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Allen of the Ringgold Community. Bettie K., as she is called, is a graduate of Clarksville High School, a member of the Alpha Club, the NEA, the Wesleyans, YF & H, and Cotillion Club.

She stands a petite 5'2", has dark brown hair and hazel eyes. Miss Allen is majoring in elementary education and plans to teach first, second, or kindergarten age children.

She is a sophomore here, is kind of shy, speaks softly, and laughs a lot. Our sincere congratulations to you, Miss Allen. May your reign be a happy one.

Chosen as attendant class queens, but none-the-less important to the beauty and maintenance of the happy mood, are Mrs. Martha Rogers, Miss Glynda Clement, Miss Ann Allen, and Miss Fay Wallace.

Mrs. Martha "Sissy" Rogers is a senior at APSC. She is a graduate of Ashland City High School and has Home Economic as a major.

Among Sissy's activities are president of the Government, president of the Home Economics club, Secretary of the Senior Class, and secretary of the P.E.M. Club.

Sissy is married to Tate Rogers, a '56 graduate of Austin Peay who is now stationed at Fort Campbell.

Miss Glynda Clement comes from Dickson, Tennessee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Clement.

She is no stranger to the students here. She was attendant to the Valentine and Iris Queens last year, first runner-up to the Miss Dickson County '57 title, and was secretary of the freshman class in 1955.

Glynda graduated from Clarksville High School where she was voted the hoppiest girl, won the Dunforth award, and was a member of the national Honor Society. Miss Clement belongs to the Omega, Wesleyans, and P.E.M. clubs.

Health and physical education is her major field and she will be dressed in a white formal for the parade. She is 5'7" and has brown hair and brown eyes.

Miss Allen was chosen by the sophomores to represent their class.

She is a native of Chapman-

Home Again

Home Again — this is the way we want the returning Alumni to feel this week-end. They are not to be visitors, but a part of a family coming home. Austin Peay rolls out the welcome mat to each Homecoming Alumnus; we want them to come early and stay late.

There is a filled week-end waiting for the former students, which includes gas sessions, business meeting, ball game, parade, a banquet to be held in the new cafeteria, a dance, and just plenty of time to recall how much fun there was in college.

The All State feels confident that it can speak for the entire student body in saying that we welcome the Alumni and will do everything possible to aid them in having an enjoyable and rewarding week-end.

Presidents Club

Several years ago a club was organized on campus to fill the gap between the Student Council and the various clubs on campus. The president of each campus club and organization was invited to join the club and the vice-president of the Student Council acted as chairman of the club. It was called the Presidents Club. It was the purpose of the club to regulate the activity and regulations of the clubs on campus, acting under the guidance of the Student Council.

We think this was an excellent idea. The club drew up a constitution and some rules by which the clubs on campus would have to adhere to if they were to be chartered clubs. This type of organization was a help to both the Student Council and the individual clubs. Large scale planning could go on with a minimum of interference. It was proving to be a good idea. What happened?

What was it the club needed? Attendance. The first several meetings there was a good representation. After the newness of such an effort wore off, the interest also died. It should have been such an organization that no pushing should have been necessary. It was a good idea, had workable theory, but there just seemed to be no results. Where did the fault lie? The fault is the lack of responsibility and interest shown by clubs and club presidents that failed to support such an organization. It is the fault of the people who just didn't make the meetings. It is the fault of the people who went into such a club with half hearted spirit and even less desire to put that spirit to work.

It could be that the club serves no good purpose. We believe that it could, but will need a lot of work from both groups and individuals. If there is no place for it on the campus program, let's stop the clubs having one and forget it. If there is a place for it, let's get it on its feet and make it work. Put some rigid by-laws to serve as the backbone, some hard workers for the hands, and good thinkers as the mind. With such a body, we would have to profit from it. The ball should start with local clubs urging their president to support and attend meetings and the officers and attending members of the club to keep the ball rolling with ideas, plans, and interest.

Will You Stop Parading! So We Can Get
On With The Second Half

Alsop's
Fables

Two weeks of hard work will come to the climax tomorrow when over a dozen elaborate floats, shiny cars, and beautiful girls will parade downtown and hail the 1957 Homecoming celebration.

Old grads, or maybe we should say graduates of earlier years, will be returning to Austin Peay and about their college days with friends they haven't seen in quite some time. They will look at the new buildings and talk about how much the school is growing and how the students are the same now as when they were here.

The ball game with Troy State will be on everyone's mind and if you are around any of the stars of yesterday you will hear some funny and some serious stories about other games.

All this is part of college life, both to us in school now, and to the returning alumni. It is probably the highest point of the year as far as the number of people involved is concerned, so it is our hope that all who possibly can will stay on campus this week-end and help make the Alumni weekend.

There is something happening almost all day long so I don't think you will be bored.

If we can't have all our games in the afternoon it seems a shame that we couldn't at least have our Homecoming game in the afternoon. I would think that the advantages would make it advisable. Here are a few examples.

By having the game at 1:30 p. m. the visiting Alumni would have more time to travel. As it now stands anyone who lives over a hundred miles away would have a rough time driving home after the game which is usually over around 10:30. Even if they brave the trip they would miss the Homecoming dance which is a wonderful opportunity to see old friends.

Also, if the game were held in the afternoon it would give people more time between activities. They could rest, change clothes or sleep and still have time to do everything without being rushed. There would be more time for the banquet and would probably provide an opportunity for different groups to meet. This year the "A" Club is meeting after the game and will miss the dance.

I could go on giving advantages but I think you get the idea. What is your feeling on the matter. Whatever it is, let it be known to the proper authority and maybe we can improve on the situation.

Letter To The Editor

Your recent article "Space Filler" in the issue of October 11, 1957 sticks very close to home. As a veteran who has seen and who can never forget the horrible sights of man's inhumanity to man, the cold steel grinding out a human life, as one grinds out a cigaret butt with his heel, I can only say to the writer, "God Speed."

"God Speed" would seem odd to most who read this but it is meant with sincerity. Many of my comrades, former members of the Army's pride, the Airborne, lay under mute crosses in a once desolate rice paddy. These very men, youngsters, World War II veterans, their sons and brothers, are grim testimonial that we must never lose faith in our young men.

Where would this wonderful school of ours be today had we come to a total crushing defeat? Where would those of us who faced hot lead and cold steel now be.

Many groan and gripe as to the veteran's status of today. Not long ago, he was a highly praised, all hailed hero. Now, he is once more the forgotten man in our history. Seven times we have fought major wars since our conception as a nation and seven times we have let our veterans fall to the category of a forgotten man.

I am not asking nor am I saying that we should lavish riches upon society of veterans, but please give them the respect they deserve.

"In Flanders' Fields" where the poppies grow, amongst the crosses, row on row, let us remember. "To us, from dying hands they three, the torch of life and freedom. Grab it and hold it high that the world may see our glorious light!"

These two quotes symbolized the immortality of those who died to preserve our beloved country. Fellow student, I say to you, read this article "Space-Filler" with care. It could have happened to us here in our own country. Grab that torch and hold it high, study, and remember those who died to preserve this institution. Remember, "Let us not be forgotten!"

Madman's Mirage

By Doug Stone

There is no equal to the mind of a madman, no genius comparable to the diabolical cunning stored in the unriveted gray cells of his warped brain, no mystery unsolvable in his twisted comprehension, nothing incapable or unattainable for the inner recesses of his mind. This is my background!

And now, as you venture further into my mystic realms, allow yourself to become my mental captive for two minutes while I tell you the fabulous tale of Mr. Shott and Mr. Knott. Keep in mind, my deranged madcaps, there is a unique pleasure in being shot, raving mad that none but madmen know. Now, my story.

When a duel was shot in Texas by Alexander Shott and John Knott, it was first reported that Knott was shot and Shott was not — and it seemed better to be shot than Knott.

There were, however, conflicting rumors that Knott was not shot; that Shott had shot Knott; that the shot shot at Knott was not shot; and that Shott was shot and not Knott. At the trial, it was variously testified that the shot Shott shot Knott accidentally; that the shot Shott shot was not shot; and that the shot Shott shot, shot not Knott, but shot Shott, himself. Nevertheless, there remained the possibility that the shot Shott shot, shot not Shott but Knott. And to this day, it has never been definitely established whether Shott or Knott was shot or not.

Oh, shoot!!!!

Ode To A Silent Son

Oh Glee! Oh Joy! Oh Happy Day!
My Son's among the living.

I pondered oft in days just past
With a grave and dire misgiving.

No written word has come my way,
No oral information.
But I've surmised that he's alive
In a place of matriculation.

Oh, shades of Sherlock in his prime!
Deduction beyond compare!

You ask how I did trace him down
And find that he's still there?

On Sunday last, a large suitcase
At my house did arrive
And the contents which were packed therein
Made my nerves to twitch and jive.

For dirty clothes were there galore
For each day of the week.

And the evidence of survival there
Was loud enough to speak.

The moral of this poem is Just never give up hope.

Word from your son will come to you
When he's dirty or he's broke.

Note: The above poem was received last week by Larry Womack from his mother. Need we say more?

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

By Dick Bisher

Wonder why she came to college?

Cass on Program Of Season's First

Richard Cass, brilliant young pianist, in the first program of its 1957-58 season Thursday evening, October 24, in the Memorial Gymnasium.

There are two scheduled attractions for the remainder of the season. They are Andreas Segovia, concert guitarist, February 17, and the Columbia Boychoir, April 20.

Austin Peay students are members of the association because of the college's support of the series. Membership cards have been received by the students.

Mr. Cass was born in Greenville, S. C. on May 3, 1931. After early musical training at home he studied privately with Mrs. Lawrence Bents and later, as a full-scholarship student, with Leonid Paton Almand and Wendell Keeney at Furman University where he was graduated in 1953. The artist also spent three summers as a scholarship pupil at Chautauque.

He has appeared extensively in recital in the United States and has played solo performances with the orchestras of Greenville, Oak Ridge, North Carolina State, Chautauque and twice at the Brevard Festival. His first nation-wide concert tour in 1955 opened with two orchestral performances both re-engagements, with Chautauque Symphony and at the Brevard Festival.

His selections for the concert included: Prelude and Fugue in D Major, Bach; Sonata in C minor, K. Mozart; Berceuse, Opus 57, Chopin; Sonata in D flat minor, opus 25, Chopin; Prelude and Variations, Franck; Ondine, Ravel; Prelude and Fugue in F, Caspary; Concert Etude in D flat major, Liszt; and La Campanella, Liszt.

Plans Underway On '57 Homecoming

Homecoming festivities will actually get underway Friday evening October 26 when the college students will stage a giant pep rally and bonfire on the campus.

Leaving the bonfire in high spirits the students will stage their traditional snake dance about the campus and through the streets and into the public buildings of downtown Clarksville.

Highlighting Saturday's activities will be a big parade through Clarksville at 1:30 p.m. At least a dozen gaily decorated floats and a number of ribbon bedecked cars will follow the Austin Peay State band and several visiting bands through Clarksville streets.

The Homecoming Queen, who was selected by the football squad, will ride on a beautifully decorated float of her own. She will be officially crowned in an elaborate ceremony during the half time ceremonies at the football game between the Governors and the Red Waves of Troy State.

Saturday will be crowded with activities for the returning alumni. Beginning the day will be a breakfast sponsored by the Student Wives Club. All former members are invited to attend the affair which will be held at the Montgomery Hotel at 10:00 a.m.

At 3:00 a social hour in the new cafeteria has been planned for the returning graduates and their families. It will be a time for re-viewing old acquaintances and to receive refreshments. Tours of the campus will also be a feature of the social hour.

Following the social hour a business session will be held in the new cafeteria. President Johnnie Givens will preside and members of the association will elect officers and make plans for the year.

At 6 o'clock the annual Homecoming banquet will be held in the college cafeteria. Here President Givens will welcome the guests and college president Herbert Harvill will speak briefly. Plans for the year will be announced and the newly elected officers will be introduced.

The football game will be next on the list of activities. Alumni will be able to leave the banquet in time to arrive at the game before kick-off time at 8 o'clock.

Winding up the day's activities, students and alumni will go to the new Health and Physical Education Building for a dance to be held immediately after the game.

Homecoming activities are planned so that nearly all phases of college activity will be represented. Thirty committees composed of students and faculty are busy this week planning events to be held Friday and Saturday.

Several hundred alumni are expected to return to Clarksville for the day.

Local Groups Plan Play Contest

The West Knoxville Kiwanis Club and the Carousel Theatre of The University of Tennessee wish to announce the Fourth Annual Original One-Act Play Contest (1957-58).

Rules governing contest: 1. The contest will be open to all residents of and students enrolled in the schools of Tennessee.

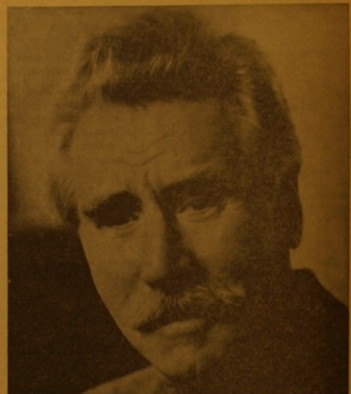

2. All plays submitted must be twenty to forty minutes in length, may be of any type (e. g., comedy, tragedy, folk drama), and on any theme properly acceptable to a public audience. The plays must be stageable in one set and call for no scenery or property items that would prevent arena or in-the-round staging. In fact, plays may be written and submitted specifically for central staging.

3. Plays which have been professionally produced are not eligible for entry, but if they have been staged by an amateur group, their entry will be permitted.

4. All manuscripts must be submitted to the Carousel Theatre, 123 Ayres Hall, The University of Tennessee, on or before February 1, 1958. The name of the author should not appear on the manuscript, but should be submitted, together with his address and title of play, in a separate sealed envelope. The three best plays will be selected by a committee of judges and staged by the Carousel Theatre on March 5, 6, and 7. Committees of judges at the performances will select first, second, and third place winners, and the authors will be awarded $75.00, $50.00, and $25.00. (The winner of first place will also receive the Walter Hampden Doughty Award of $25.00 for playwrighting.)

This contest is an annual fund-raising event. The West Knoxville Kiwanis Club undertakes all publicity and ticket selling, while the Carousel Theatre attends to all matters of staging. The annual receipts from the sale of tickets to performances and other funds raised through advertising are used for a scholarship fund which is administered by The University of Tennessee. The purpose of this scholarship fund is to attract unusually talented theatre students to The University of Tennessee and to give them financial aid during their period of study.

Irish Teller of Tales Scheduled for Assembly

To Appear Nov. 2

Seumas MacManus, noted Irish folklorist, will speak to the student body, Wednesday, November 2 at 10:00 A. M.

Mr. MacManus was born in the northwest mountain country of county Donegal. And for many years, he has been telling the stories of the Irish folkloric.

He was 7 when he became a shanachie (story teller) and at the age of 16, began writing poetry.

His first published book of poetry was "Shivlers," of which 300 copies were sold.

From poetry, Mr. MacManus went to teaching school. Also, he was writing a series of stories for a Dublin weekly newspaper.

Mr. MacManus sailed for America and sold 7 stories to Harper and 8 to Century. He sailed back to Ireland and returned to America again with even more stories.

Mr. MacManus is the author of several folk tale books such as "Donegal Fairy Stories," "In Chimney Corner," "The Donegal Wonder Book," and also novels and original stories of Irish life and Irish history.

His most popular book, "Heavy Hangs the Golden Grain," is a harvesting of the lore of his native hills - poetry, pathos, drama, wonder, wisdom, humor, includes racy samples of the shanachie's many-sided art, and a rare array of such proverbs as could come from nowhere in the world but Ireland of the Marvels.

Mr. MacManus is being sponsored by the English Department.

A.P. Clubs Open To All

Did you know.... there is a club you may enjoy participating in here at Austin Peay State College?

Regardless of your curriculum or your major subject, there is a club that offers you another opportunity or making friends and increasing your value to yourself and your college.

Membership in the various clubs becomes a part of your permanent record and will reflect in later years some of your most treasured memories. In addition to all this, just think how impressive your record of achievement will look beside your name in the Farewell and Hall when you become a senior!

For those who are in the Education curriculum, there is an organization known as the NEA.
Monthly meetings of the NEA include panel discussions, informative speeches, movies, and other interesting programs. The NEA sponsors the annual Halloween Party and the coke party for the freshmen during Orientation Week.

Kappa Delta Pi is an honorary society in Education established to promote a closer bond among students of education and to enter into more intimate fellowship with those dedicated to the cause of teaching as a profession.

There are three active dormitory clubs: Alpha, Beta, and Omega. These clubs are active in many phases of campus activities, including sponsoring the annual Valentine Ball.

The Veterans Club is being reorganized this year and is adopting a new charter. This club sponsors social activity and promotes the general veterans' welfare.

The Circle K is an affiliated organization of the Kiwanis Club.
As a result of this club, a deserving high school student in this area is awarded a scholarship to the new recreation area.

A new road leading to the site has recently been constructed and graveled.

The Farm Carpentry class is to build some new picnic tables and benches.

A new building is soon to be constructed for indoor activities.
This building, which is twenty by forty feet, is a cooperative of Austin Peay State College and the local Girl Scout organization.

All clubs on the campus are welcome to use these facilities on the

There is a student at Austin Peay who signs his name James V. McCormack. Actually he prefers to be called simply "Jim."

Jim is the father of twins—a boy and a girl. He hopes to move his family to Clarksville in the near future. At present Jim commutes via bus from Nashville each day. He leaves his home and travels to the Greyhound bus station where he boards the Clarksville-bound bus. After arriving at our local station, he walks, unescorted, to the campus. This is definitely proof positive of Jim Mc-

Cormack's determination to obtain a college education, for Jim is blind, and has been since the age of ten.

After Jim graduated from the School of the Blind, he taught night classes in adult education for two and one half years. Since there was no opportunity for him to further his education at that time, he became a vending stand operator. Later, turning to other types of work, he did some work in the field of folk music.

Last year Jim took the Civil Service examination in social work. Although he passed the test more than adequately, he has not accepted since he had no college credits. So Jim began shopping around for a school which could best help him meet these requirements. Austin Peay was chosen because here he could get the type of education he wanted. He also felt that in a school the size of the Governor domain he could know more people.

Immediately, Jim plans to finish this year of college work and then accept a position with the state of Tennessee as a home bound teacher for the blind. Jim's particular interest throughout his life has been psychology. He wanted to become a criminal lawyer. Since he was unable to attend college after high school, being a lawyer was out of the question. But, in spite of this, he has read every book he can get his hands on pertaining to the legal and psychological aspects of criminology. This accounts for Jim's avid interest in Psychology 105.

You may wonder how a person unable to receive messages through his eyes is able to get around as Jim does and also cope with the rugged life of a student. To begin with, Jim takes notes in Braille.

The Braille System consists of the twenty-six letters of the alphabet. Their formation is quite different though. Each letter is an arrangement of a fixed group of six dots. The letter "A" in Braille being the upper left dot only. "B" the top and middle left; "C" the top two; and so on. Of course there are also contractions which greatly speed the process of both reading and writing Braille.

In Cincinnati, Ohio, there is a large circulating library of Braille books—all of which Jim has free access.

Although Braille is necessarily slower than sight reading because of the manual labor involved, Jim reads as fast as the average person usually talks.

When Jim was asked for his comments on Austin Peay, he said he is enjoying his work here very much. He stated that he had heard small schools were friendly but that he never once dreamed of the friendliness and helpfulness the faculty and students at Austin Peay State have shown him.

As I See It—by Bobby McCord

The trashing Austin Peay got at Memphis State might have been helpful in one way. It must have made the boys of Arkansas Tech ready to play football. A defeat at Tech would have given them a one and three record and ruined the season before it reached the halfway mark. Tech was favored to win and had been beaten by Memphis State only 30-6 earlier in the season.

Memphis State poured it on the Gores 41-0. Austin Peay had not played their best ball against Southern Illinois, Memphis Navy, and Memphis State and didn't seem ready for a top game at Arkansas as several boys had been kept out of contact work during the week due to injuries.

Pappy Key had received a head injury and Rudi Argenti had suffered a cut over his eye requiring six stitches. Both these boys played in the Tech game however. It may be that the boys knew they had Middle Tenn., East Tenn., Troy State, and Florence State coming up and didn't want to go into that part of their schedule with a one and three record. Even with a victory at Arkansas they are going to have to pour it on to finish with the kind of a record they desire. I was told that the victory over the Tech Wonderboys was the first win away from home in three years for A. P.

Big reason for Coach Cooper's victory at Russellville, Ark., was fullback Bill Stacey. The big 195 pound fullback picked up 133 yds. in 23 attempts. The whole Arkansas team, by comparison, only got 135 yards by rushing. The quarterback play of Argenti and Crow stood out for the Governors. Eugene Key, John McKay, Jim Harrington, Sid Ingram, and Ed Swiderski stood out in the line for the A. P. team. It was certainly the best offensive show of the year for Austin Peay. They gained 308 yds. rushing and 10 by passing. The only weak note for Austin Peay would be pass defense. Tech hit on six of nine passes for 142 yds. Both Tech touchdowns came on 20 and 60 yd. pass plays.

Several freshmen got in the ball game long enough to give good accounts of themselves. Jim Goggin, 195 pound guard, Bobby Isenmarder, 175 pound end, and Gary Alverson 195 pound quarterback, all saw action.

Due to injuries Noelin Walker, Austin Peay captain, has not displayed his running form of last year. Noel should start rolling the rest of the season. A check on Austin Peay scoring shows these figures: Rudi Argenti - 13; David Burdin - 6; Noelin Walker - 6; Bob Monnet - 6; Ted Potter 12; Homer Sewell - 6; 54 points.

Not overlooked in A. P.'s first four ball games is the fine play of its guard core. Jim Harrington, Sid Ingram, and Dean Hargis have laid it on the line for the Governors in each game. Dean Hargis especially has shown vast improvement over last year. Dean had to come along fast, as the Governors lost two top flight guards in Bucky Brown, who became ineligible, and Dan Oswley, who lettered last year but has seen almost no action so far due to injuries.

The Governors now face Troy State, who beat A. P. 14-13 last year, Middle Tenn., who beat the Gores 32-20, East Tenn., which was a victim of A. P. 13-7, Florence State, a loss to A. P. 19-6, and Fort Campbell who lost to the men of Coach Cooper 36-7 in '56. Probably East Tennessee and Middle Tennessee will be the toughest foes remaining on the schedule. Reports say that Fort Campbell has one of its better teams this year. They have been scoring in the 40's and 30's every game.
