HISTORY OF APSU

By Dr. Charles Waters

Since 1806 the campus at Austin Peay State University has been the site of an educational institution. At that time Rural Academy was founded, to be followed by a succession of academies and colleges until 1875, when Southwestern Presbyterian University was established here to become the Princeton of the South. It was a good school; but enrollment was low, and in 1925 the Presbyterian Synod decided that Memphis would be a better location and moved the university to that city.

For the first time in over 100 years Clarksville was left without a college; so a group of citizens with the help of their representative in the legislature began a drive to establish a Normal School for the training of teachers. Their efforts were successful and on April 26, 1927, Governor Austin Peay, who was from Clarksville, signed a bill creating a two-year Normal School "for the purpose of training white teachers for the rural public schools of the state, and shall never be used for any other purpose." Governor Peay died on October 2, 1927, and the state honored him by naming the new school Austin Peay State Normal.

After nearly two years of renovations and work on the campus and an expenditure of over $100,000, the new school opened on September 23, 1929, with elaborate ceremonies attended by Governor Henry Horton and other dignitaries. On the next day Miss Mary Matlock of Dickson County was the first student to enroll. She registered for 18 hours credit to prepare her to teach in the elementary grades, subsequently earning her two-year diploma.

Students in these early days paid a registration fee of $4 per quarter plus a $2 student-activity fee. Dormitory rooms cost $15 per quarter, and it was estimated that one could eat at the cafeteria for $45. Thus for as little as $66 one could live on campus for the quarter.

From the beginning, students at Austin Peay Normal were a friendly group who stuck together as one big family. Social life began when President John Ziegler gave a reception for all 158 students in his home the first fall quarter. A sports program was started in 1929 and school spirit was born with the formation of basketball teams for both men and women. At first the teams were called the "Normalities" and the "Warriors." It was not until 1937 that the name "Governors" was used as a tribute to Governor Peay. School colors of red and white were chosen in 1931.

President Ziegler died in May of 1930, and in November of that year Dr. P. P. Claxton, a nationally known educator, became president of the young school. Dr. Claxton was academically oriented and spent his efforts on the curriculum. His wife looked after the social life and it was she who organized numerous clubs, especially for women. She gave many parties and receptions for the student body, all of which were staged in elegant style with the greatest of propriety.

The decade of the 1930's saw the beginning of many of the school's organizations and activities that were to become campus traditions. Among them was the beautiful Farewell and Hail ceremony, a candlelight graduation ritual held in one of the campus's natural bowls.

"Campusology" was then as now, a popular subject. One student said, "We did homework in it!" The favorite off-campus hangout was Jimmy Wood's Log Cabin, a slab-sided structure on College Street located approximately where the main entrance to the University is now. The All State, which had begun publication November 26, 1930, carried an editorial in November 1932, appealing to students to spend more of their time studying "instead of out on the campus or at nearby restaurants."

Students of today would find the rules and regulations of these early days oppressive. From the beginning until the civil rights legislation and the lowering of the age of majority in the early 1970's, Austin Peay, as did most schools, adopted the policy of in loco parentis in the lives of its students. Men were hampered with few restrictions, but it was thought that young ladies must be protected from the natural inclinations of young men. Girls living in Harned Hall, which had been built and occupied by 1932, were under the supervision of a matron who was employed by the president and was answerable only to him. She made the rules and enforced them, a policy which continued until the 1960's. The object of the rules was to segregate men and women as much as possible. Men could come to the dormitory immediately after dinner in the cafeteria on Tuesday and Thursday and stay until seven o'clock when study hours began. Friday night was date night and girls could sign out telling where and with whom they were going. They had to return before 10:00 and be signed in, for classes were held on Saturday. Girls could sign out to go to church on Sunday evenings, but had to return immediately after church.

The most dreaded method of punishment for violating rules was what was called a "campus". It simply meant that the girl could not leave the campus for a given number of days or weeks, the number depending upon the severity of the infractions and the mood of the matron.

The 1930's were the depression years and Austin Peay Normal barely survived. There were times when it was thought the school would close, but students appealed to the legislature, and Clarksville merchants carried the accounts of the faculty members. Through the monumental effort of Dr. Claxton the school survived, only to face in the 1940's the debilitating effects of World War II which took the male students and made the school almost a female institution. The coming of Camp Campbell, however, changed the situation by bringing thousands of young men into Clarksville. Gradually, college rules were relaxed and changed so that the "Normal" girls could go out with the soldiers.

When the war ended, a great influx of veterans, who were by now mature men, changed the atmosphere of the campus. These were serious-minded students who knew what they wanted.

Their influence was almost all positive and it was during the following years that the entire college grew to maturity.

Meanwhile, the legislature in 1943 had made the Normal a four-year institution and the name had been changed to Austin Peay State College. The curriculum had been changed greatly in the direction of a liberal arts institution.

During the early 40's the school was in dire need of new buildings, but the legislature had not seen fit to provide them. In 1946 Halbert Harvill was appointed president upon the retirement of Dr. Claxton. Harvill began a drive for new facilities, and in the summer of that year a near disaster on the campus developed into a blessing that was to bring a building program which is still in progress. One day when the building was empty, the top of one of the towers of the Castle Building fell and crashed through the ceiling of the rooms below. President Harvill now had the evidence he needed to convince the legislature of the need. The McCord building was begun shortly after the fall of the tower. It was followed by the Browning Building and later the Clement Building. Meanwhile, new dormitories were built and more buildings planned.

Stewart Building

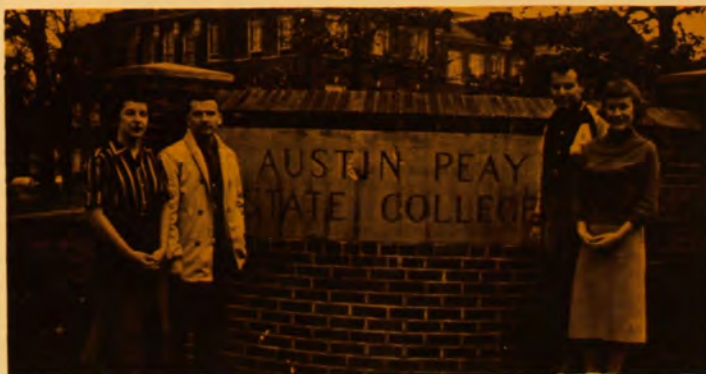

The decade of the 1950's was a happy and peaceful one. The college's building program was in full swing, the academic program had been upgraded, enrollment was growing, and social life was organized, offering opportunities for all who wished to participate. In 1956, the first black student enrolled without incident. Integration went smoothly in the years that followed and black students have become an integral part of the university. Students during the fifties had pride in themselves, in the college and in the nation. The United States to them was still a land of opportunity, and most faced the future with optimism and hope.

Then came the 1960's and the assassination of President Kennedy and Martin Luther King and the war in Viet-Nam. President Harvill had retired in 1962 and Dr. Joe Morgan took over the reins in these difficult times. In 1966 the college became Austin Peay State University, again necessitating greater expansion and development. It was a time of great progress but tensions were evident. Austin Peay students were caught up in the national unrest, but no serious confrontations took place, because President Morgan adopted a strong policy of preparedness, patience, dialogue, and delay.

It was a time, however, when many traditions were abandoned because the mood of the times caused students to look with suspicion on anything that had been treasured by their elders.

By the early 1970's the tensions had begun to ease. In 1971 18-year-olds were granted majority status and the old in loco parentis doctrine died and along with most of the restrictions that had been placed on women students. Students turned their attention to fraternities and sororities and campus reforms. President Morgan retired in 1976, with the college enrollment at an all time high of over 4,000. He was succeeded by Dr. Robert O. Riggs, who has continued the progress with an expanded curriculum and the addition of several new buildings. Enrollment for the fall quarter of 1983 passed the 5,000 mark.

In retrospect Austin Peay State University has grown in the 54 years of its operation from a two year Normal School to a full-fledged university offering graduate work. Its enrollment has increased from its original 158 students to well over 5,000 and its campus has grown from 30 acres with six buildings to more that 140 acres with more than 40 buildings. The future looks bright.

In 1784, John Montgomery, being a man of vision and an excellent promoter, saw the need for a town downstream from Nashville. Montgomery chose 640 acres on the eastern side of the Cumberland just south of the junction of the Cumberland and Red Rivers. The town was established on December 29, 1785 and was named for George Rogers Clark, the Revolutionary War leader and colleague of John Montgomery. Clarksville was the second town established in Middle Tennessee.

By 1797, Clarksville was developing as a thriving river-town, boasting 30 log homes. The same year, commissioners were appointed to secure a contract for the building of a courthouse, a prison, and stocks for the town. By 1800, Montgomery County had a population of 2,899. Merchants in Clarksville began to ship surplus goods down river to New Orleans and receive merchandise from Philadelphia. The Cumberland River was the major avenue of commerce by 1819, the number of stores in Clarksville had grown to at least 22, and by the end of that year, legislation was passed incorporating the town of Clarksville.

John Montgomery would be proud of the town he helped found 200 years ago, for fate had been kind to this Queen City of the Cumberland. Clarksville's population had swelled to 54,777 and is a thriving center of business, education, and entertainment. To celebrate its 200 years of history, Clarksvillians are planning a year-long Bicentennial program to begin January, 1984, as a tribute to its accomplishments of the past and as toast to the promises of the future.

The theme for the Bicentennial, chosen by the Bicentennial Commission, is "Proud Past — Promising Future." We are sharing this theme for our book — for we believe that the proud pasts and the promising futures of Clarksville and Austin Peay State University are very much akin to one another.

GRADUATION

The Ceremony That Almost Wasn't

A quiet Spring quarter was well underway when the news that the traditional Commencement Ceremony was to be changed completely. In mid April, the Commencement committee announced that they had adopted a plan that was designed to shorten the ceremony by having the undergraduates stand and be recognized by colleges.

The students immediately started appealing the committee's decision. Not only seniors, but juniors and sophomores took an active part in voicing their opinions. One student, Charisse Lowe, started a petition that drew over 400 signatures opposed to the change.

Thus, the information was passed on, by the students, through the proper channels. After the Commencement committee reviewed the material and heard the pleas of the students, they—under the recommendation of President Riggs — decided to retain the traditional ceremony.

So, the "pomp and circumstance" was carried through yet another graduation ceremony. But, perhaps the ceremony was appreciated much more in 1983—because it is a tradition the students battled for—and won!

This photo was found in a 1955 Austin Peay yearbook. It depicts the traditional Farewell and Hail graduation ceremony that included a candlelight service. The ceremony was originated in the 1930's and was held in one of Austin Peay's natural bowl areas. The tradition was carried on for several years.

SPIRITS OF AP'S PAST

Autumnal changes bring brisk breezes and splashes of color—football season and Homecoming committee meetings. This year, Homecoming was scheduled for Halloween weekend and the theme was "Spirits of AP Past".

Activities began with painting the campus and community with Austin Peay pride. Homecoming elections were held on Wednesday with the announcement of the court at the grand Pep Rally and Bonfire, Thursday night. The court selections were: Donna Whitney, Leigh Young, Krissti Beselieu, Carla Barton, and Valencia McChristian. The Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity won the spirit competition, and the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity took the honors for banner decoration. On Friday, the University Center Plaza was alive with ghosts and goblins eatin' hot dogs provided by the SGA cookout and moving to the sounds of Platinum Sound Productions. Friday night, spirits were alive again at the Dunn Center where the Spirit Party and Dance was held. Music was provided by Visions Trac IV.

Nine-thirty Saturday morning, Austin Peay awoke to demonstrate their enthusiasm with a Homecoming parade. Floats showing Halloween spirit, spirits of Peay people of the past, and drinking spirits were among the long line of high school bands, calendar girls, and flatbeds full of Greeks. After the parade, the Alumni held a tailgate party to raise "spirits" for the game.

Halftime activities included the presentation of the Homecoming Court and the crowning of Miss Valencia McChristian as the 1983 Homecoming Queen. Winners of the float competition were also announced with Chi Omega sorority placing first, Alpha Tau Omega second, and Pi Kappa Alpha in third place. The game resumed, but Austin Peay remained scoreless until the fourth quarter, when the Gov's made a touchdown. However, we couldn't rally all the way back, and the game ended 10-7.

Disappointed fans turned their attention away from the game and to the night's activities—with the alumni holding a party at Garfields and individual organizations holding their galas at various places throughout town. Sunday morning—everyone slept late.

In Action

What In The Hall Is Going On

Austin Peay has an enrollment of 3,170 full time students and of these only 1,054 people live on campus. The numbers are obvious enough, the resident students are outnumbered 3 to 1.

If you like people — dorm life is great! There's always something to do on campus and someone to do it with. By living here you're right in the middle of things. From mid-September to June 1st there's constant commotion and noise. It makes you wonder at times just who around here sleeps.

Though the dorm is home to those that live there, it has a strong resemblance to a Holiday Inn. Strangers and more strangers — on moving in day, everyone's a stranger. Soon, (it really doesn't take long), those strangers are friends — some for life.

Time is really an important factor in college life. There's certain things that need to be done, and you always have to find time to do them, even if it's 2:00 a.m. People are always hurrying, whether it's making a friend or writing an English paper, there's a constant feeling of being in fast forward. These feelings, especially when it comes to making friends, seem incredibly enhanced in dorm life. When you come to school not knowing anyone else, you're seeking friends. Then within a week there's at least three different people that you know inside out and vice versa.

For those people that don't live close to home the friends made here become a second family. They're the ones you go to the 'Brary with, help you work out a chemistry problem, or stay up half the night talking to — and that's just the first week.

Commuters Are Important At

A.P.S.U.

A commuter's life is full of the problems and the pleasures of home life. Living at home can really have some wonderful advantages: home cooking, soft bed, and no laundry problems. Another advantage is no roommate adjustments, and definitely not the least of the advantages are the financial ones. Living at home, you do not have to pay for a meal plan or dorm rent. Commuting could be great if you did not have to contend with a car. Think about it . . . cars, being a device of man, cause a lot of brainracking problems. Having a car, you need to park it someplace which usually ends up on the other side of campus. The pleasure is enhanced in the winter months by hiking back and forth in rains and blizzards. Driving in the winter also brings the problem of hazardous roads. But then for comic relief, you can pretend you are awake at the wheel — after all, you do average about three hours of sleep a night.

Commuters make up the biggest percentage of enrollment, and are definitely appreciated and sometimes pitied by those dorm residents who don't have to contend with the problems of commuting.

The Campus Kid

Anybody got some "bubblesgum"? If you do, then you will be friends for life with the youngest member of Austin Peay's campus. Joshua DeAses was three months old when his parents Chuck and Cissy DeAses moved into Blount Hall as the head residents. Nearly three years have gone by, and Joshua is a familiar face at many football games, Sigma Chi parties, and other campus activities.

With all the students living in Blount Hall, you would think there would be an unlimited supply of babysitters for Joshua but "usually when I need a babysitter, they're off doing the same thing I want to do," said Cissy.

Playing cards and reading books are some of Joshua's favorite pastimes according to Delsa Carter, one of Joshua's babysitters. Other babysitters, Kate Smith and Jenny Williams, keep Joshua happy with candy and his favorite — "bubblesgum".

The only thing that bothers Cissy about raising Joshua in a college atmosphere is that he stays up later than he should sometimes. Joshua seems to know when activities are going on, and he wants to be in the middle of all the action according to Cissy.

Attending classes as an elementary major, participating in Alpha Delta Pi sorority, looking after 100 girls in Blount Hall, and chasing Joshua keeps Cissy busy. Chuck, a psychology major and a member of Sigma Chi fraternity, is a big help around the house according to Cissy because he does the laundry and the dishes. "We share the cooking," stated Cissy.

S.T.O.M.P.

S.T.O.M.P., Students to Organize Minority Persons, is a newly established organization on campus. One purpose of S.T.O.M.P. is to close the gap between minority and majority. According to their constitution, S.T.O.M.P. is a group at Austin Peay whose efforts are to "improve the level of awareness for black students on campus," and "improve the black community." Even though the majority of its members are black, Earnest Pearsall, president of S.T.O.M.P., emphasizes that blacks are not the only minority on campus. If other ethnic groups want to get involved, S.T.O.M.P. welcomes them and will represent them.

S.T.O.M.P. is an active group, having activities for the enjoyment of giving minorities something to get involved in. Some of these activities include a talent show, a Martin Luther King Celebration, a celebration for the remembrance of the man who helped minority representation, and Black History Month, a month for the blacks to look back on their forefathers.

The officers of S.T.O.M.P. are the following: President — Earnest Pearsall; Vice President — Yolanda Bass; Executive Secretary — Bessy Finger; Treasurer — Regina Shearron; and Chaplain — Earl Long.

MONDAY NIGHT

"Let's hit the library" — a common phrase that is often heard around campus. But, what does it really mean? We do have a library where students can check out books, but on Monday night, one is more likely to find many students checking in to the 'Brary for a good time.

The scoop around campus is the 'Brary got its name because students would tell their parents they were at the "brary," and their folks would think their little darlings were studying.

The 'Brary is operated by an APSU student known as "Spooley." There is usually a crowd around the pinball and video games — and someone is always dropping a quarter in the jukebox to hear the latest tune. If Monday night rolls around and you're feeling a little overwhelmed by the thought of four more days of classes — why not go where you can relax and have a good time — why not go to the 'Brary.

At The Brary

STABLES

Tuesday Night

For the classier crowd of Peayple, there is Tuesday night at the Stables Clubhouse Lounge, that features fifty-cent margaritas and free tacos. Managed by Mr. Jim Chandler, the restaurant/lounge is one of the finest eating and entertainment establishments in Clarksville. The restaurant began with an idea of fashioning the decor after a beautiful stable in Lexington, Kentucky known as Calumet Farm. The theme centered around the world of horses and horse racing. The Stables opened its doors in 1978, with the addition of the Clubhouse Lounge in 1979. In 1983, the lounge was expanded to include forty additional seats in the live entertainment area — which is happily utilized by APSU students during Happy Hour every Tuesday night. If the crowds get any larger, they may have to add forty more!

This place has changed names several times throughout the years — but the same familiar faces can be found every Wednesday — college night. The Waterworks originated college night and it was continued when the club was the Works. In Fall of 1982, the Works closed down for a few months — and was greatly missed. Redecorating and additions of The Hidaway and The Ratskellar, two restaurants, took place and the doors reopened under the new name "Garfields." It did not take long for owner Gus Dupree and APSU students to re-establish college night on Wednesday's, featuring 35¢ beer and top forty bands (it also has a great dance floor!). Garfields is always ready to house special events, such as the Pike unveiling of their calendar and the Alumni Homecoming celebration. It is the perfect place for meeting new people and visiting with old friends — and it's not so bad for those mid-week blues, either.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Alumni Enjoy Garfield's Too

If you like rock 'n roll, then Showdowns is the place for you—and Thursday night is APSU night featuring free beer and nachos. Brace Daniel, an APSU student, and John Harb, an APSU graduate, work hard to add a little spice to Clarksville's nightlife. The showcase bands are definitely their drawing card. Showdowns is strictly a rock 'n roll club. The bands come from commercial rock to heavy metal. Most of the bands come from Ohio, Indiana, and Florida, and are screened before selected. Only the top-notch acts are chosen for Showdowns. Harb states "There is no other club in Tennessee that consistently brings in quality bands that we bring in." The reason for college night — "to give students a chance to come out here and see the finer things in life."

"Let's Go To Showdowns"

Thursday Nights

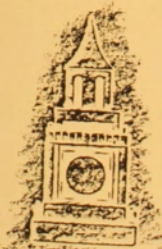

"Let's Go To The Camelot"

On a Friday night, this place is always wall to wall people from the dance floor to the bar to the lounge. The Camelot is a favorite weekend spot with APSU students and Clarksvillians alike. The club features top forty bands that reign in this area and has a sizable dance floor. Owner, Buford Faxton, has worked to accommodate the Austin Peay community. Not only will you find students there on weekends, but the Camelot also holds special functions such as Sigma Chi Derby parties and the Alpha Delta Pi Greek Night. Twenty-five cent beer, or drinks two for one, are featured for college students occasionally along with special bands that might appeal especially to APSU students. So, if you are looking for a hot weekend spot — try the Camelot!

FAREWELL AND HALL

ACADEMICS

Q: President Riggs, you took a trip in the fall of 1983, what was the purpose of this trip?

A: The Taiwanese government asked the American Association of State Colleges and Universities (AASCU) to send five college presidents and their wives to Taiwan as their guests. The purpose was to learn more about the culture of Taiwan to improve the communication between the two nations.

Q: How did the AASCU go about selecting you as a delegate for this mission?

A: First, I had to write and submit a paper to the AASCU. After that, Judy and I were participants in a seminar in Los Angeles held by the sociology department at UCLA. A lot of importance was placed on the participation of the wives. Emphasis at the seminar was placed on three areas: the higher education system; industrialization; and the culture of Taiwan. From there we took the actual trip to Taiwan.

Q: Did the trip change any of your ideas or conceptions of that nation?

A: Since all of my previous opinions were based on my experience there from the Vietnam War, I was very impressed. My opinions changed drastically. Their government was organized and backed by the people. In fact, the last project of the central governments—establishing an electric train that ran across the entire island, was completely supported by the people.

Q: In the way of education, were there any aspects in their education system that you would want to use here?

A: Everything is different; but maybe the higher standards of admission is a good aspect of their higher education system. Only the top 20% of the high school classes get admitted.

Q: Are there any aspects of our education system that could be used there?

A: Everybody over there wants education. They see it as a way of getting a better job, therefore more money. So the majority of the classes are not electives or liberal arts classes; but the skills required in the job market. All aspects of the schools are career oriented and could probably benefit from our more relaxed atmosphere.

Q: Overall, would you say the trip was successful?

A: Yes—I feel it achieved its purpose.

Known for his outstanding musical abilities, Dr. George Mabry, writer, arranger, composer, and producer of musical shows, received both the Richard M. Hawkins and the Distinguished Professor Awards at the 1982-83 APSU Commencement exercises last June. As the first winner of both awards for the same year, Mabry said that what made it really special is the fact that the award was one of peer recognition.

According to Mabry his peers are a large part of what makes Austin Peay so great. He is pleased that his outside work is readily accepted and there is no friction between the professors. Dr. Mabry's outside work includes composing musical shows for Opryland U.S.A., the Knoxville

World's Fair and other amusement parks. "From Nashville to Moscow" was an NBC Television Special he wrote in 1974.

At APSU Mabry is famous for the "Madrigal Feast", a Christmas season special, and "Cabaret Night". Yearly since 1980, "Cabaret Night", a night of musical entertainment, has been presented by Mabry and the APSU Singers.

Dr. Sharon Mabry, his wife, is also a professor of music at APSU. Working together in a joint effort to better the program, George Mabry says he thrives off of this husband/wife musical team.

Employee of the Year

Mrs. Jane Chitwood was this year's recipient of Austin Peay's second annual Employee of the Year award. Selection for the honor is based on nomination from faculty peers and then is reviewed before a committee of townspeople and one faculty advisor. On October 3rd, there was a luncheon banquet where Dr. Riggs presented the award along with a check for $100.

A Clarksville native Mrs. Chitwood came to Austin Peay eighteen years ago as President Morgan's secretary. She is now in the Business office as the Purchasing Agent.

Working around young people keeps Mrs. Chitwood young and gives her a good attitude about life in general. Her philosophy is to remember at least one person each day in some way—it helps to brighten their spirit and hers.

The yearbook staff would like to say congratulations to a job well done, Mrs. Chitwood.

Born in Montgomery County, Tennessee, in the area of what is now Fort Campbell, Charles Waters attended Grace Chapel Elementary School. Following his graduation from Clarksville High School, he spent several years working in Clarksville before entering the army where he served a three-year term of duty in World War II.

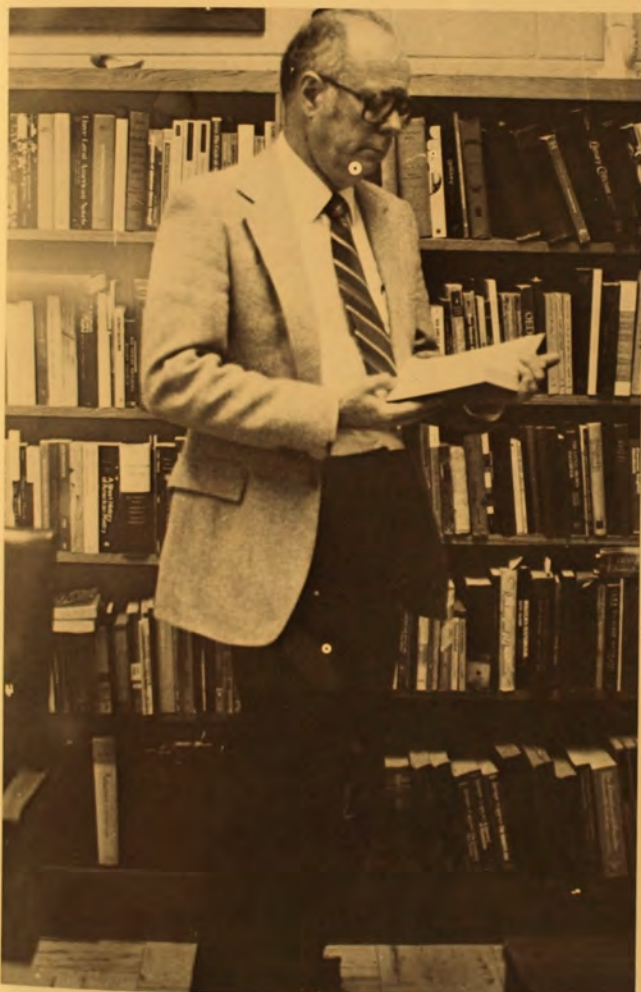

Upon his discharge from the army, Waters entered Austin Peay State College where he received the B.S. Degree in 1949. In 1952, he was awarded the M.A. Degree from University of Tennessee.

Waters became a member of Austin Peay State College faculty in 1948 as director of public relations and instructor in English. During his years at Austin Peay, he has served as sponsor for the college newspaper The All State—and the college yearbook, which was then Farewell and Hail. In 1954, he compiled an alumni directory in celebration of the school's 25th anniversary, and he has also written two scripts for two movies produced by Austin Peay. In 1977, Waters compiled and edited The First Fifty Years of Austin Peay State University to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the school. Mr. Waters also wrote a brief history of the university that is featured in the opening section of this yearbook.

Working at Austin Peay for 35 years, Mr. Waters has seen many changes in the growing college. He says computers had made life here a little more impersonal, but APSU has managed to keep its classes small for better communication. He is currently serving as associate professor of English at Austin Peay State University; Mr. Waters is also this year's president of Phi Kappa Phi, an honor society on Campus.

Mr. Waters' most recent and notable accomplishment is a book which he authored and edited on the history of Clarksville, named Historic Clarksville. This book is in commemoration of Clarksville's Bicentennial.

Big Apple Awards

During the annual Coffee Break sponsored by the office of student teaching on November 16, awards were given to the outstanding professor in each of the three colleges here at APSU.

The Big Apple Award is given to the professors who have most inspired the student body at Austin Peay, according to Dr. J. Ronald Groseclose, director of student teaching and sponsor of the Coffee Break. "The professors were elected by popular student vote," Groseclose said.

The 1983 winners of the Big Apple Award include: Dr. Ernest Woodward, professor of mathematics and computer science from the College of Arts and Sciences; Dr. Earl Coppedge, professor of Accounting and Information Systems from the College of Business and Professional Programs; and Dr. Dolores Gore, professor of education from the College of Education and Human Services.

Ft. Campbell

July, 1942, one officer and 19 enlisted men began their duties on the reservation which was then named Camp Campbell. Today, that place is known as Fort Campbell and boasts the largest army airfield in the world. There is a great exchange between Fort Campbell and Clarksville — one being educational.

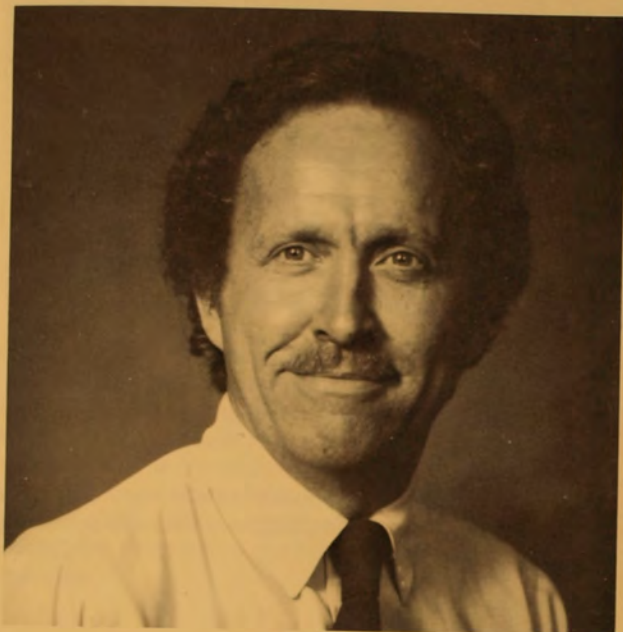

In 1972, Fort Campbell began to offer college level courses originally through a consortium of area colleges and universities known as Eagle University. Then, in 1978, Austin Peay State University took over the sole responsibility for providing all classes on the post.

The Fort Campbell Center is open to active duty military personnel, dependants, Department of Defense employees, military retirees, and all civilians in the service area. Through the center, the university offers credit and degree programs on both graduate and undergraduate levels commensurate with on-campus, qualified instruction.

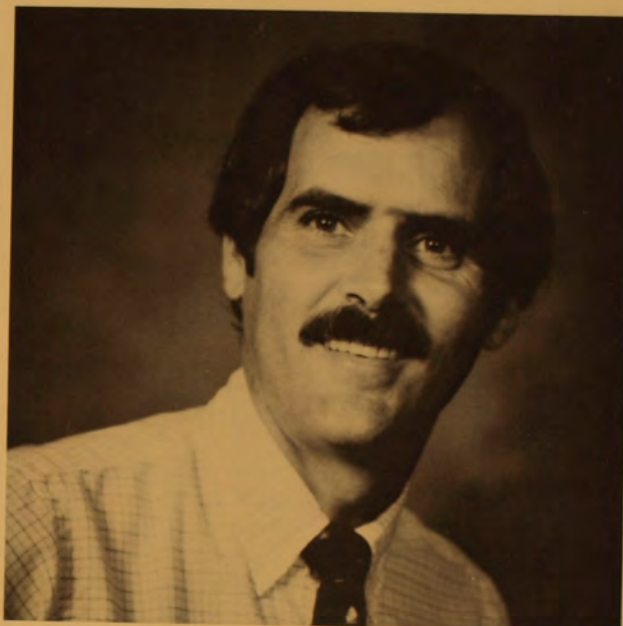

In addition to the Fort Campbell Center, many active duty men and their families attend classes on campus at Austin Peay — increasing enrollment by a considerable degree — and also bringing a desirable cross-section of culture and talents to the university's campus.

University School Relations

Charles McCorkle

Dick Littleton

The University/School Relations is probably the first contact for many people to Austin Peay. This office is the central recruitment staff for the university. Mr. Dick Littleton and many student representatives travel to high schools in Tennessee and surrounding areas to participate in Senior days and career days. They also sponsor several events on our campus, as well. This office aids many students in financial aid and acquiring scholarships, through the advisement of Mr. Charles McCorkle.

This office not only recruits prospective students but, they also help co-eds once they are here. They employ many student workers in their office, they help integrate freshmen into social and academic life at the University, and they serve as an information center for many students throughout their college careers. Much of Austin Peay's promising future will be a result of this office. Thanks!

Library

The Woodard Library is a gathering place for both the studious student and the co-ed who wishes to read the daily paper. The library serves its purpose well of a vast resource and information center. Students visit the library daily to read, research, listen to records, watch videos and filmstrips, or copy materials on the Xerox machine.

Where better can we demonstrate the idea of "proud past, promising future"? The library contains selections donated by the Philomathens (a literary group) from the late 1800's.

One can also find the newest editions from the press in the new acquisitions area. Research materials are abundant as well. Magazines, newspapers, and journals on microfilm or in bound copies aid in many a student's term papers.

If you love history or if you are curious about the future — it's likely that the Woodard Library will have something for you!

Counseling and Testing

Would you like to know about self-hypnosis or develop some better study skills? Or, how about discovering more about your career abilities? If so, then the Counseling and Testing Center, located in Ellington Hall is the place for you! The center is staffed by psychologists and counselors who provide students with psychological, personal, and college adjustment counseling, help with career decision making and college planning, help with academic and test-taking problems, educational advising, and special testing. Recently, the center has featured workshops too. It is truly a great place for self-discovery and awareness!

Health Services

The University maintains a student health service with standards set by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. It operates an infirmary on the campus with a Nurse Practitioner, Diane Berty, on duty Monday through Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and with a University physician holding regularly scheduled office hours and on call full-time for emergencies.

THE GOV'S GRILL

The most popular place to gather on campus is the University Center and the many facilities inside. The atmosphere of a united family type gathering place seems to be the big drawing card. But, it would not be the perfect place to meet if it was not for the Gov's Grill — the place to get that cup of coffee, or lunch with friends or hot chocolate for the cold winter months.

Now, more than ever, the grill is the meeting place due to new renovation. A brighter, more enjoyable, atmosphere abounds in the grill. Also, the addition of a well needed option from hamburgers to the potato and salad bar. Also, the addition of a deli for those on the more kosher side. Sandwich platters, vegi salads, and other types of deli foods are offered. Another addition is the juke-box, for those who like to sing when they eat . . . perhaps they could change the name from Gov's Grill to Dancing Deli.

THE CAFETERIA

Have you seen the white footsteps on the sidewalks about campus? Do you know where they lead? Follow them to Harvill Inn. Valley Food Services provide a relaxing atmosphere and good home cooking to APSU's cafeteria. In years past no mandatory purchase of a meal ticket was required, but starting fall quarter of '83, all incoming freshmen who reside on campus were required to buy a meal ticket for their freshmen year. The Valley Food Service has accommodated well to this increase of "customers." They adjusted their hours so that more people could be served; they did some redecorating; and improved the overall quality of the food. The results? More and more people began to follow the white footsteps to Harvill Inn.

SPORTS

Cheerleader Mania

They come in all shapes and sizes, they are willing to do their job in all types of weather and whether the team is winning or losing, they are always giving their moral support from the beginning to end, these supporters are the Austin Peay cheerleaders.

The 1983-84 cheerleaders are under the supervision of Janie Simpson. Janie has served 3 years as the advisor to the cheerleaders.

The Governor cheerleaders enjoyed a successful season, as they won first place in Division I competition of Universal Cheerleading Association.

The cheerleading squad deserves a great deal of appreciation for their many hard hours of work and dedication. They have made the season just a little brighter with their cheers and applause.

So whether the Govs are winning by a landslide or losing by 20, you can bet the Governor cheerleaders will be there from beginning to end.

U-T Martin

The Govs opened the season in high fashion crushing the UT-Martin Pacers by a score of 45-6 at the Pacer Stadium in Martin, Tn.

The 45 points were the most scored by an Austin Peay team since the 1970 squad coached by Bill Dupes defeated Murray State 45-7.

The Governor defense was magnificent in the opener, as they held the Pacer offense to only six points in the contest.

"It was just a great overall team effort," stated Coach Emory Hale after his team's impressive win. The Govs were never threatened in the contest, as they were in command at the halfway mark, 28-0. The second half proved to be just a rerun of the first half as the Govs coasted to a 45-6 win.

Kentucky St.

The Govs took on the Kentucky State Thoroughbreds for their home opener and walked away with a 20-14 win at Municipal Stadium here in Clarksville. The Govs gave a crowd of 6,000 plenty to cheer about early in the contest, when the speedster Fred "Rex" Motes returned the opening kick-off 96 yards for the game's first score. The Govs scored again in the third quarter on a 13-yard Rob Christopher pass to end Terry Gentry, putting the Govs up 20-0 (two of Brian Yarbroughs field goals added six points in the second half). In the fourth quarter, Kentucky State made an impressive comeback, but the Govs held on to win 20-14.

Coach Hale

Coach Hale Enjoys Season

Emory Hale joined Austin Peay State University in January 1981, as head football coach after highly successful stints as a coach at the high school and collegiate levels.

A native of Johnson City, Tenn., Hale served as the head mentor at Oak Ridge High School for 12 years and his teams compiled a 114-21 won-loss record and won Tennessee state's top ten 9 of 12 years and were participants in the state playoffs five times.

He was the last four-sport, four-year letterman (football, baseball, tennis, track) at Johnson City's Science Hill High School and led the state in interceptions as a junior in 1957.

Recipient of bachelor's and master's degrees from East Tennessee State University, he spent five years as offensive backfield coach at Science Hill and produced quarterback Steve Spurrier, who eventually won the coveted Heisman trophy at the University of Florida.

For two years Hale served on the staff at East Tennessee, first as defensive backfield coach when the Buccaneers led the nation in interceptions (29) in 1967 and then as offensive coordinator when East Tennessee defeated Terry Bradshaw — led Louisiana Tech in the Grantland Rice Bowl in 1968. He also worked both of those years in the summer training camp of the Atlanta Falcons.

Hale has coached seven players who made professional ranks, four who were named collegiate All-American players. He has been named East Tennessee Coach of the Year four times and Tri-State Coach of the Year once, and he has appeared on the same program with Vince Dooley, Lou Holtz and others.

Known for coaching either the best quarterback or one of the quarterbacks in the top ranks in Tennessee for 10 different seasons, Hale has appeared at The Coaches Football Nationwide Clinics and has spoken on "Developing the Quarterback." Also known as a dedicated member of the National Fellowship of Christian Athletes, he has spoken at many regional conferences and national conferences.

He was honored with the Winners Award at the Kellogg Coach of the Year Clinic in early 1980, and he has been listed in "Outstanding Young Men of America" twice.

Hale is married to the former Vola Young of Johnson City. They have two children, Karyn, 21 and Angela, 19.

Western Ky.

A crowd of over 6,000 people invaded the Municipal Stadium to watch the Governors defeat Western Kentucky by a score of 13-3.

The win marked the first time the Governors had beat the Hilltoppers since the 1977 season.

Quarterback, Rob Christophel, turned in a sparkling performance, connecting on 17 of 33 passes, including a touch down pass to tailback, Roland Shields.

Sophomore kicker, Brian Yarbrough, sparked the Govs by kicking two field goals, one a 55 yard record setting kick.

The Governor defense continued to play well, allowing only a fieldgoal in the game and a total of 23 points in three games.

Eastern Ky.

Eastern Kentucky kept the nation's longest winning streak alive and ended the Governors streak at three games, with a 31-14 win at Richmond, Ky.

Austin Peay looked as if they were off to their fourth win of the season, as they scored first on a nine yard touch-down pass from quarterback Rob Christophel to wide-out Mike Salas, putting the Govs ahead 6-0, as the extra point attempt failed.

The Govs misfortune started on the next possession, as the Colonels returned the kick-off 85 yards to take the lead 7-6.

The colonels went ahead to win the contest 31-14, handing the Govs their first loss of the season.

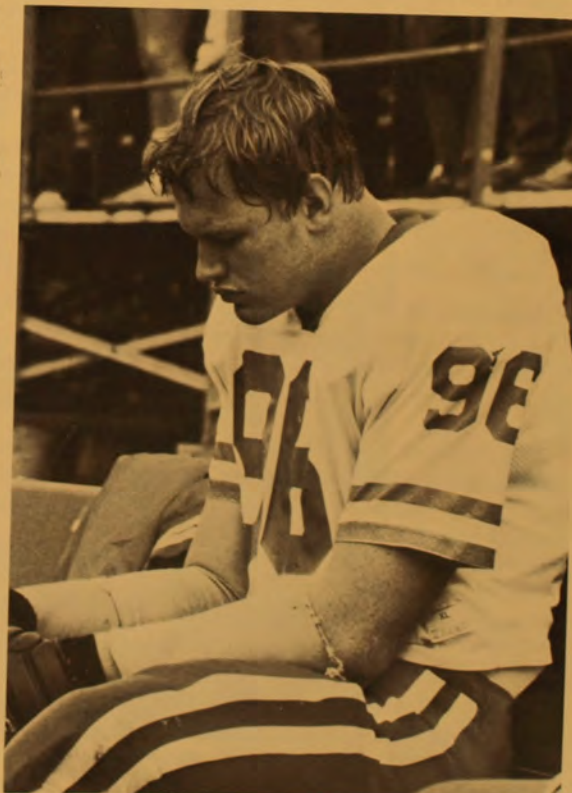

Morehead St.

Freshman quarterback, Vince Allen came off the bench in the fifth game of the season, to spark the Govs to a 14-3 win over Morehead State.

Allen replaced starting quarterback, Rob Christophel, early in the first half, when Christophel was injured on a play.

The Freshman took full advantage of the playing time, tossing two touchdown passes.

The win put Austin Peay back on the winning track, upping their record to 4-1 and 1-1 in the OVC.

Youngstown State

The Governors coasted into Youngstown, Ohio with hopes of continuing their prominent season, but that wasn't the case, as the Penguins defeated the Gobs 41-19. The loss dropped the Governor record to 4-2 and 1-2 in OVC play.

Our Gobs never lead in the game, as Youngstown's offense appeared a little too much for the Gobs to handle. The Gobs narrowed the margin to 20-10, but could get no closer as the buzzer sounded handing the Gobs their second loss of the season.

Middle Tennessee

The cold wind, rain and the MTSU Blue Raiders spoiled the Governors next game, as the Gobs dropped a poorly played 31-17 contest at Municipal Stadium.

The Gobs came out fired-up for the Raiders, as the defense prevailed on their first series. The offense took over and drove 66 yards in six plays to take a 7-0 lead. Quarterback Rickey Rice scored the touchdown on a 17-yard sweep around the end.

The Gobs defense held the Blue Raiders again on their next possession, but disaster struck on the Gobs next possession, when a fumble recovered by the Blue Raider defense set up a touchdown. The Blue Raiders went on to defeat the Gobs 31-17.

Central Florida

The Governor homecoming jinx continued for the second straight year as the Gavs fell 10-7 to the Knight's of Central Florida before a crowd of 7,000. Last year the Gavs dropped their homecoming game to OVC foe Murray State.

The Knights coached by former Buffalo Bills coach, Lou Saban, coached his squad to an outstanding victory over the Gavs. The Knights scored in the game with 1:29 remaining in the first quarter and added three more points on the board with five seconds left in the half to lead 10-0.

The Gavs narrowed the lead to 10-7 in the final quarter, but could get no closer as the Gavs lost for the third straight week.

Tennessee Tech

Coach Emory Hale was assured of his first winning season while at APSU, against the Eagles of Tennessee Tech, as his squad put together a 21-7 come-from-behind win at Cookeville, TN. The victory lifted the Gavs record to 6-4 overall and 3-3 in OVC play.

The win wasn't as easy as the score might indicate. The Gavs had to use a 15 point fourth quarter to overcome the stubborn Tech squad. The Gavs got on the board first, scoring on an Everett Smalls one yard run in the first, putting the Gavs up 6-0. The score remained 6-0 until the third quarter when Tech scored, taking the lead 7-6. The Gavs finally got themselves in gear during the fourth quarter, scoring on two field-goals by Brian Yarbrough, a safety and a 12 yard run by tailback, Willie Johnson, who tallied for 133 yards of the day.

The scoreboard tells the whole story, as a dejected Murray State Racer team leaves after being defeated by the Gavs 17-16 in Municipal Stadium.

Murray State

The Governors snapped their three game losing streak against the Murray State Racers with a dramatic 17-16 victory. Murray State scored first on a 11-yard run to take a 7-0 lead. The Gavs rebounded with a field-goal to cut the lead to 7-3. Later in the second half the Racers struck again with a field-goal from 43 yards out, to give the Racers a 10-3 lead. The Gavs looked impressive both offensively and defensively in the second half. Sophomore quarterback, Ricky Rice, hooked up with wide-receiver Rob Senft for a 23 yard touchdown to tie the game at 10-10. Moments later, on the Gavs next possession, tailback, Everett Smalls scampered 46 yards for the game's winning touchdown. The Racers made one last threat scoring a touchdown, but Racer kicker missed the extra point, as the Gavs prevailed 17-16.

Akron

The Austin Peay Governors season ended on a sour note, as they were defeated by the Akron Zips by a score of 26-3 at Municipal Stadium here in Clarksville. The loss ended the Governors OVC record at 4-4-0 and 6-5 overall.

Akron dominated the entire contest, as their defense allowed the Gavs only a field-goal throughout the contest. Picked to finish the season in last place in the eight team league, the Gavs surprised many by finishing fifth. Highlights of the season came when the Gavs knocked off Western Kentucky 13-3 and later upset Murray State 17-16, in what proved to be one of the better games of the season.

Senior Mike Newton of Orlando, Florida was named to the All-OVC team picked by the coaches, and senior offensive guard, Jim Kolodeziej was selected to the OVC Media Association All-Conference team.

The Austin Peay team enjoyed its sixth winning season in seven years after a successful 6-5 campaign. Three players who played big roles in the success of the Govs, were seniors, Mike Newton, Michael Shelton, and Jim Kolodziej. Mike Newton, the senior from Orlando, Florida, turned in a great season, as the defensive back finished third on the team in tackles. Newton finished with 56 solo tackles and 41 assists along with one interception. The outstanding season earned Newton a spot on the All-OVC team. Newton was also drafted in the fifth round of the USFL by the Tampa Bay Bandits.

Michael Shelton led the Govs in tackles, as the 215 pound senior from Central High in Memphis hit for 127 tackles. The senior linebacker had 73 solo hits and 54 assists. Shelton started all four years while playing for the Peay. During an OVC game against Murray State this season, Shelton tallied for 11 solo tackles, five assists, and one interception. The effort earned him the defensive player of the week in the OVC. Shelton was also captain this season.

Senior captain, Jim Kolodziej, finished his career as a Governor in high fashion, as the 245-pound offensive guard was selected to the OVC Media Association All-Conference team. Starting his career as an offensive tackle, Kolodziej volunteered to make the change to guard. "I played tackle for most of my college career, but the coaches felt I would be more valuable to the team at guard," Kolodziej stated. The move turned out to be a valuable one indeed, as the senior turned in the best season of his career with the APSU Governors.

Track-Time

The Austin Peay Men's track team had an average season last spring, as the Governor tracksters finished fourth in the OVC Track and Field meet held at Middle Tennessee State University.

Roland Scruggs was the sparkplug for the Govs, as the sophomore speedster finished first in the 400 and 200 meter dash with 46.75 and 21.86 seconds respectively.

The Governor mile-relay team consisting of Scruggs, Randall Fayne, Terry Taylor, and Laron Springer placed second in the championship meet with a time of three minutes and 13 seconds. The 400-meter relay clocked in a 40.46 second time, which was good enough for a second place finish. The team consisted of Scruggs, Mike Henderson, Prentice McGlory and William McElroy.

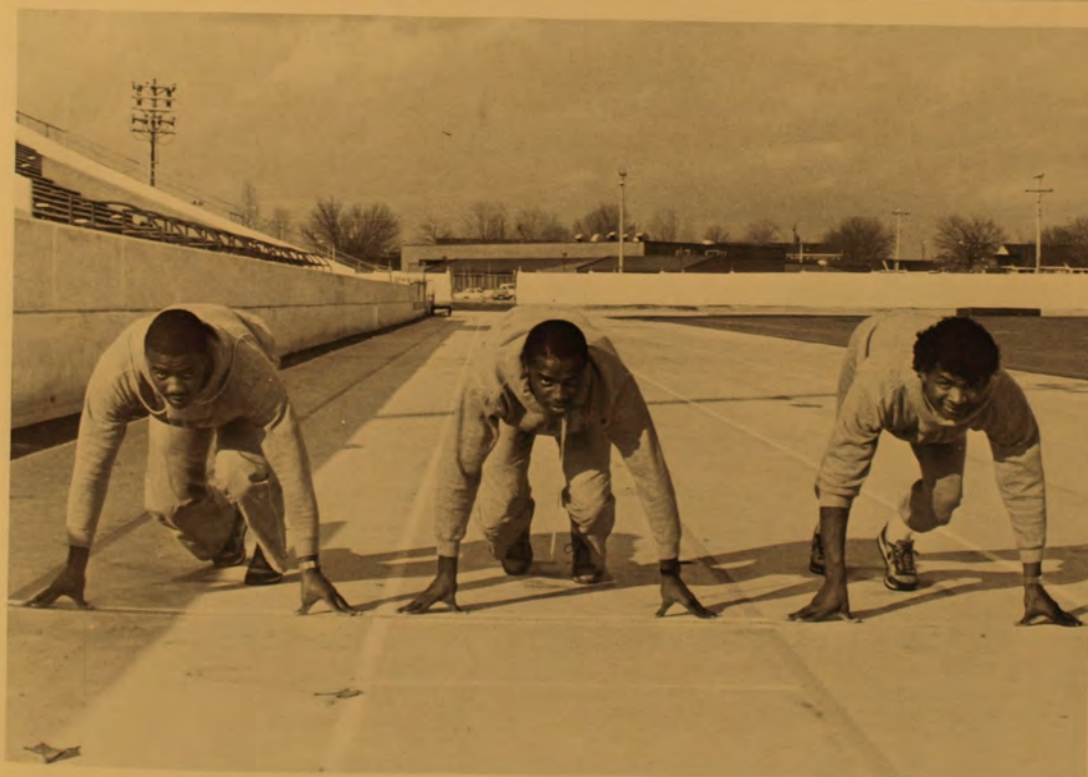

The season as a whole was somewhat a rebuilding year for the Govs. Coach Mike Howard had to replace some valuable runners from the 1982 season with some young runners. The younger runners took a little time adjusting from high school to college, but after a little experience they became more consistent as the season progressed.

Inexperience and lack of participants in the field events, haunted the Govs, but the experience gained and also the momentum the Govs ended the season with, should help the Govs when they take to the track in the spring.

Coach Mike Howard felt the overall season was the beginning of an outstanding career for a lot of the Governor runners. "We had a lot of young guys on the squad this year who did pretty fair, so when they gain a little more experience we'll be able to compete better in the OVC," Howard explained.

Baseball Fever

Inexperience and a lack of pitchers played a big role in the outcome of the Governor baseball season in '83', as the Governors lost 29 out of 40 games for an 11-29 record and 1-11 in OVC play.

The Govs played the entire season without All OVC Candidate, Greg Tubbs. Tubbs sat out the '83' season with a wrist injury that needed several operations. Without a doubt the Govs playing without Tubbs was a little too much to overcome. During the 1982 season, Tubbs led all hitters with a .362 batting average, 25 runs batted in, five homeruns and 34 stolen bases which ranked him among the top players in the nation.

The Govs enjoyed a great season on the offensive part of the plate, as four Governor players hit over .300.

Robert McCutcheon, a junior from Paris, Tn., led the Govs in hitting with a .331 batting average, 23 stolen bases and six home-runs.

Other players that hit over .300 were Stacey Higgins, who hit for a .317 average, Scott Bynum .305, and Jaye Parker with .302.

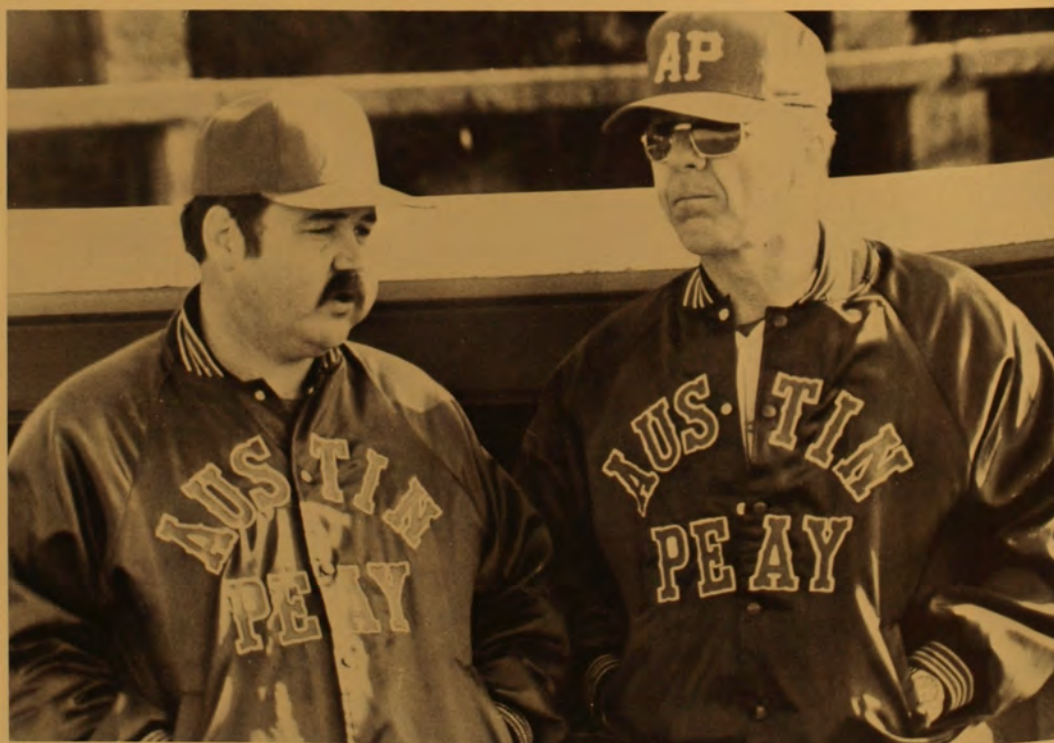

Michael O. Tharpe led the Govs pitching staff with a 4-5 record and 4.54 earned run average.

As a team, the Govs hit for a .248 average, 144 RBI's, 26 home-runs, and a total of 59 stolen bases out of 80 attempts.

Defensively, the Govs had a disappointing year, as the fielders had a total of 68 errors, 15 double plays, while the pitching staff had an earned average of 6.46.

The Govs longest winning streak during the season was three games when the Govs knocked off former OVC foe Western Kentucky, Belmont, and Murray State.

Tennis

The 1983 Tennis team finished the season with a fifth place finish in the OVC Championship meet last Spring.

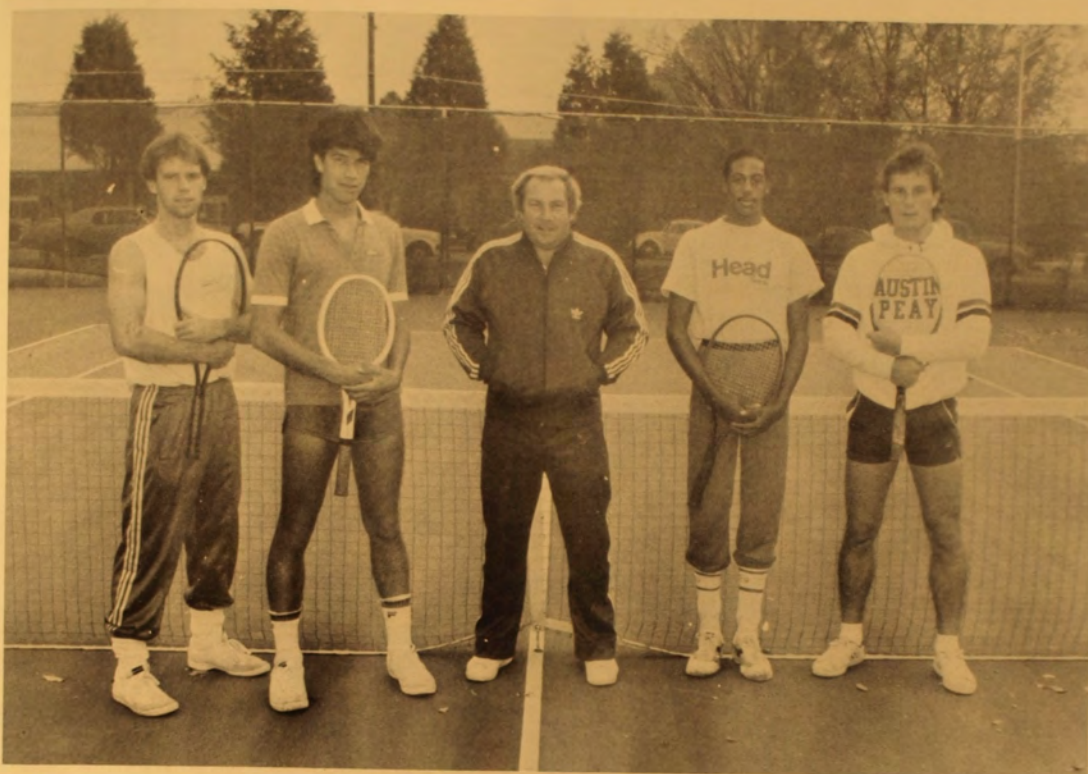

The team under the leadership of Coach Billy Henry, enjoyed a successful season by winning the majority of their matches. Finishing fifth was not a poor performance for the Governor netters, but Coach Henry felt the fifth place finish was a little misleading. "I felt we were a much better team in the league," stated Henry. "During the championship match, it rained and we had to finish the meet inside, so it changed the outcome of our performance and scoring," Henry stated.

Carlos Caverie was named the OVC tennis "player of the year", while Hartmut Junghahn finished first in the second singles for the Gobs.

Basketball-Action

The Austin Peay basketball team finished the season with a 11-16 record and a 5-9 OVC record in Coach Howard's first season as head coach of the Governors. The Gavs opened the season with a two game winning streak, but a four game losing streak slowed the Gavs down during the early season.

The season as a whole was an average year for the Gavs. Nearly every game was close during the season, with the Gavs either winning or losing in the last few minutes of the game. In a game against the SEC Vanderbilt Commodores, the Gavs nearly upset the team at the Memorial Coliseum in Nashville. The Gavs hung tough for most of the game but lost 56-50 down the stretch.

The Gavs longest winning streak during the season was three games. All-OVC player, Lenny Manning, enjoyed another great season with the Gavs, as the senior moved up to the number six spot on the Governor's all-time scoring list. Manning led the Governor's in both scoring and rebounds with 18.7 points and 6.5 rebounds per outing. He was one of six to finish their career with the Gov's this year.

Coach Jackson

Howard Jackson joined Austin Peay State University Aug. 10, 1983, as the 10th head basketball coach after serving two years as an assistant and two years as an associate coach with the Governors.

A native of Lexington, Ky., Jackson served as head basketball coach at Volunteer State Community College, Gallatin, Tenn., for two years (1977-79) and changed a 5-17 program he inherited to 9-17 in '77-78 and left the junior college with a .500 mark with an 11-11 record during his second season. Jackson was at Jonesboro (Ga.) Junior High during 1975-76 before becoming an APSU basketball graduate assistant in 1976-77 and earning a master's degree.

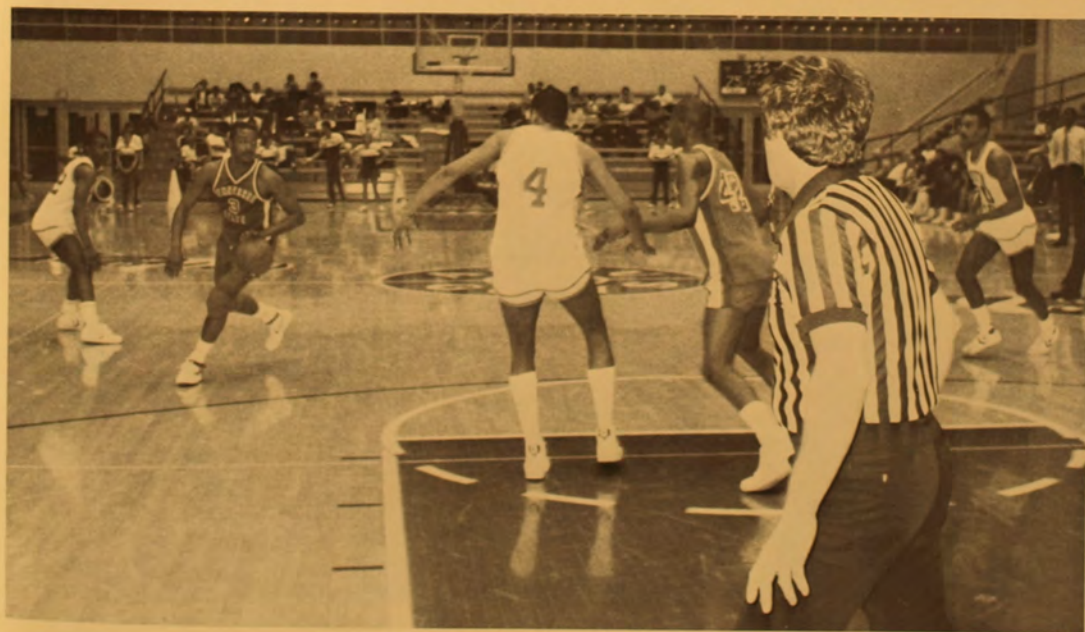

A standout prep player at Clay High School during 1967-68 under the coaching of Al Prewitt, Jackson was rezoned and starred for Lafayette High School in 1968-69 under the tutelage of Jock Sutherland and in 1969-70 under Lake Kelly, who later became assistant and then the most successful head coach in APSU basketball annals.

He came to APSU as an transfer from Oakland City (Ind.) College in 1970, and Jackson led Kelly's first APSU team in scoring and rebounding and was named the club's most valuable player and first team All-Ohio Valley Conference. He served as co-captain of the 1972-73 "rags-to-riches" team and was named All-OVC on the first OVC basketball championship team (22-7). Jackson averaged 11.1 points and 11.6 rebounds and was named to the NCAA All-Mideast team for his performances against Kentucky and Marquette.

Jackson's career was cut short when the senior-to-be fell 83 feet through a skylight at the TVA Cumberland City steam plant where he was working during the summer. The outcome became one of the nation's warm sports stories as Kelly and his family took "Jack" into their home while he rehabilitated and completed his bachelor's degree in 1975.

His dream of becoming the head coach of the Governors basketball team came true slightly over 10 years after his tragedy of Aug. 6, 1973. He was introduced by Kelly, who now serves as an assistant on the Kentucky basketball staff, when he was inducted into the APSU Athletic Hall of Fame Oct. 29, 1983.

Lady Govs

The Austin Peay Lady Govs enjoyed a great season this year, winning their first seven games and eleven out of their first thirteen games. The Govs ended the season with an 15-11 overall record and an 6-8 OVC record, which placed them _____ in the league running.

The season was a complete turn around from the '82-83 season, when the Lady Govs finished with a 2-24 record. The outstanding season was the best Lady Govs record since the 1979-80 season. The season was the best in Coach Pam Davidson's career with the Govs.

The Lady Govs started the season by knocking off their first seven opponents. Their first loss came at the hands of the highly regarded Chattanooga Lady Moccasins. Coach Davidson's crew rebound after the loss and won four out of five of their next games.

The Lady Govs went into a slump at the halfway mark of their season, losing seven games in a row. The streak finally ended against Youngstown State, with a close 99-98 win. The Lady Govs won 2 out of their last four games to end the season with a 15-11 record.

Senior Gayle Kinzer led the Lady Govs in both scoring and rebounds with a 14.9 point scoring average and 7.7 rebounds per outing. Forward Amy Davis was next on the team in both categories with a 13.1 point average and 5.7 rebounds per game. Freshman standout, Kristal Holmes led the Lady Govs in both assists and steals. Holmes averaged 2.1 steals and 5.1 assists per outing this season. Gayle Kinzer was the only graduating senior on the Lady Govs squad this season.

Women Tennis

The women's Tennis team finished in a tie for fifth place in the OVC, with a 7-7 record. The season started with the Lady Govs winning four out of their first five matches. The Govs then hit a mid-season slump, in which they lost five games in a row. The Govs got back on the winning track, as they won their last two games of the season.

Top players for the Governors were T.J. Kleynhans, the Govs top number seeded player and Sandy Cross, the Govs top number four singles players. Head Coach Cheryl Holt praised her squad which had only one senior on the team. "Our squad started out on a roll, but with a few injuries to some of our key players, we lost some tough games during mid-season," stated Coach Cheryl Holt.

Elana Callis was the only graduating senior from the 1983 team, so the Lady Gov netters should have plenty of fire power for the 1984 season.

Volleyball

Action-Packed

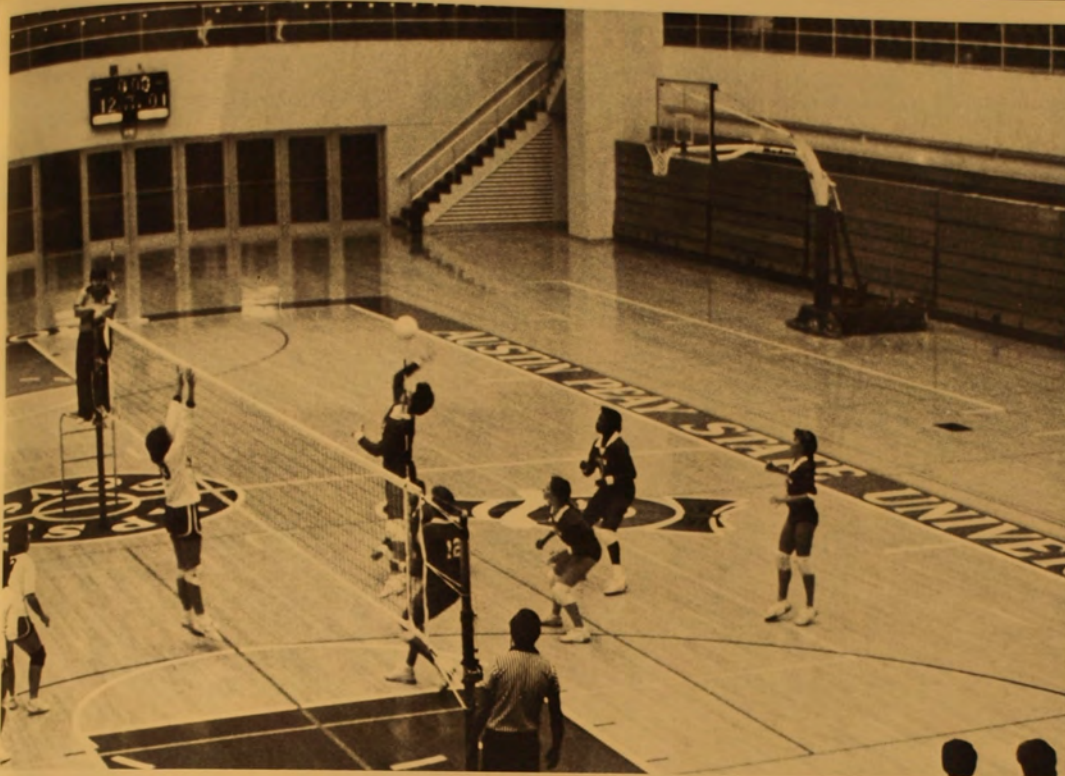

Seven of nine lettermen on Cheryl Holt's volleyball squad returned for the Lady Gobs 1983 season, as they finished seventh in the OVC with a 14-28 record.

Hitters Mary Fields and Patty Reutebuch were the only seniors on the squad last season. Four juniors and four freshman rounded out the squad. Freshman standout, Trish Rivers enjoyed a great season with the Gobs. The 5'10" player from Ooltewah H.S. was the Gobs most improved player during the season.

Mary Fields, a 5'11" senior also had a good season, as the senior played a stable and consistent season for the young squad. With four freshman and only two seniors, the Lady Gobs suffered with a lack of experienced players. "The season was not that bad considering we had a lot of young players. Most of the freshman had to adjust from High School style of play to a different style of college play," explained Coach Holt.

With an experienced squad returning, the Gobs should be an improved squad when the season opens in the Fall.

Lady Gov Track

OVC Runner-Up

The APSU tracksters enjoyed a very successful season in "83", as the squad ran themselves to a second place finish in the OVC championship meet. The Lady Govs were very consistent throughout the season, scoring near the top in every meet.

Regina Troupe led the pack in the championship meet with first place finishes in the shot-put (40.55) and the Heptathlon (4477 points).

Kim Duncan and Pat Avery also registered first place wins for the Govs. Duncan won the high jump with a 19½ feet jump. Avery won the 400-meter dash with a time of 56.73 seconds.

The Lady Govs finished second in nine other events to finish the meet with a total of 172 points, just five short of the first place team. The Lady Gov track team had four individuals and the mile-relay to qualify for the NCAA Division II meet.

The mile-relay team was the highlight for the Govs in the meet, as they finished sixth with a time of three minutes and 45 seconds, good enough for All-American honors. The team consisted of Marvella Williams, Alicia Loyd, Renee Lowe, and Pat Avery.

As a result of the women's outstanding year, first year coach Mike Howard was named OVC's women's coach of the year in 1983.

The former athletic director, Johnny Miller, was the coach for the Gobs during the season. Miller's squad was very consistent during the year placing near the top in every meet.

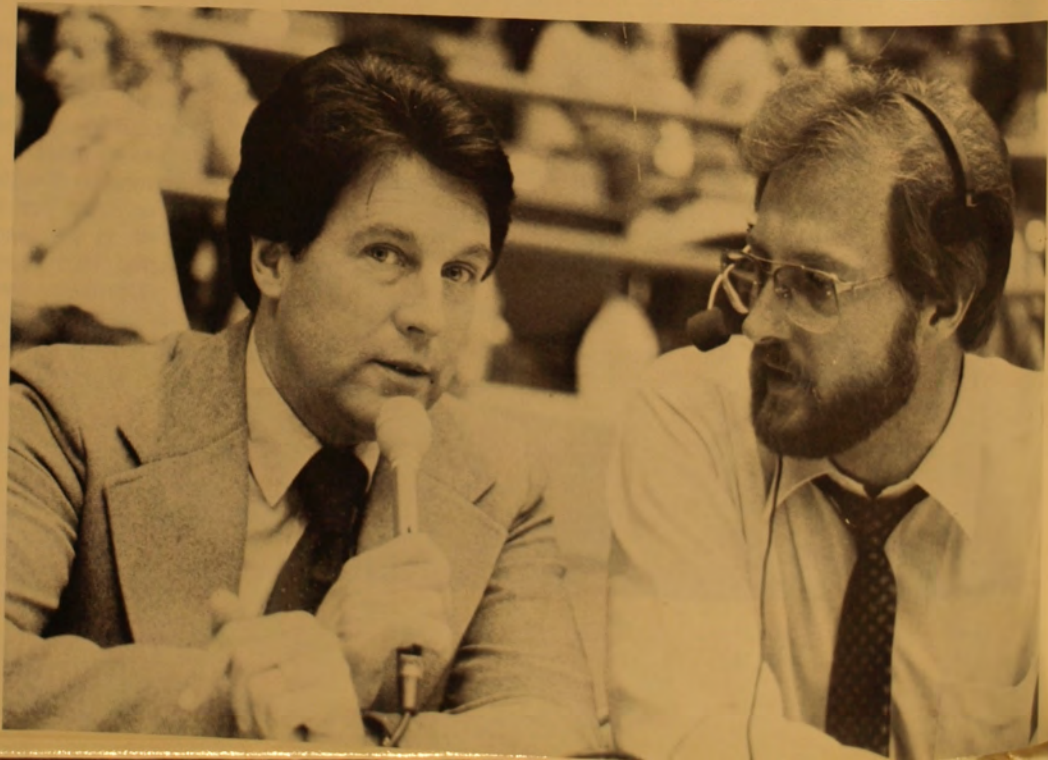

Top players for the Gobs were All-OVC player, Brad Van Kirk, who finished fourth in the league's 54-hole championship. Harry Tarpley, Paul Ilg, and Kevin Corriveau also played very consistent golf during the season.

Directors Retire

Johnny Miller

Sherwin Clift

Johnny Miller and Sherwin Clift were two former Governor Associates who resigned for work in other areas of their career. Miller was the Athletic Director, while Clift served as the Sports Information Director.

Athletic Director

Johnny Miller became Austin Peay State University's athletic director in July 1978 after 22 years of involvement as a coach and athletic administrator. A native of Coopertown, Tenn., Miller served as assistant executive secretary of the Tennessee Secondary School Athletic Association for six years prior to joining APSU. He earned bachelor's and master's degrees from APSU in 1954 and 1959 respectively. After an 18-month stint with the U.S. Army, Miller returned to Clarksville and served as assistant principal, head football coach, basketball, track, and baseball coach at New Providence Junior High for two years (1956-58) before moving across the city to Greenwood Junior High in 1958.

Miller spent seven years as head football coach at Greenwood and compiled an amazing 47-4-6 record. In his six seasons as basketball coach at Greenwood his teams won 84 and lost 19 and were district champions four times. He moved to Clarksville High School in 1965 as assistant principal, head football coach, golf and tennis coach. His 42-19-2 record in six seasons heading the Wilcat football program remains the best in the school's history. Miller was named Midstate Coach of the Year in 1967.

Miller spent one year as administrative assistant at the Clarksville Academy before joining the TSSAA and also served as director of the summer recreation program for Clarksville for 11 years. He was honored by the Clarksville Jaycees in 1964 as the Outstanding Young Educator. Miller earned a reputation as a top football and basketball official during a 19-year period (1953-74). He officiated TSSAA football nine years and TSSAA basketball 18 seasons including 10 districts, four regionals and one state tournament. He served as a basketball official in the Southeastern, Ohio Valley, and Volunteer State Athletic conferences, and Miller worked five NCAA college division tournaments, the 1971 NCAA Mideast Regional and the 1972 National Junior College Tournament. Miller is married to the former Sara Evans of Clarksville. They have two children, Marsha, 23, and John Jr., 21.

Intramural Sports

The Intramural Recreation Program is designed to provide opportunities for participation in wide variety of sports and recreational activities for the entire University community. Participation is the general aim of the program — getting students, faculty, and staff involved in physical activities that might help in the realization of such basic needs as relaxation, belonging, achieving, and maintenance of good health and fitness.

There are two basic aspects of the program: 1) Intramurals organized and competitive sports activities; 2) Recreation — informal, self-directed play. The Intramural fosters development of three major areas: men's intramurals, women's intramurals, and co-rec intramurals. These involved competition among participants who enter, as teams or individually, leagues and tournaments to play according to specific schedules. Such competition involves prearranged schedules, facilities, supervision, student officials, and usually recognition through the student newspaper. Interest, not skill, is the major requirement for intramural participation.

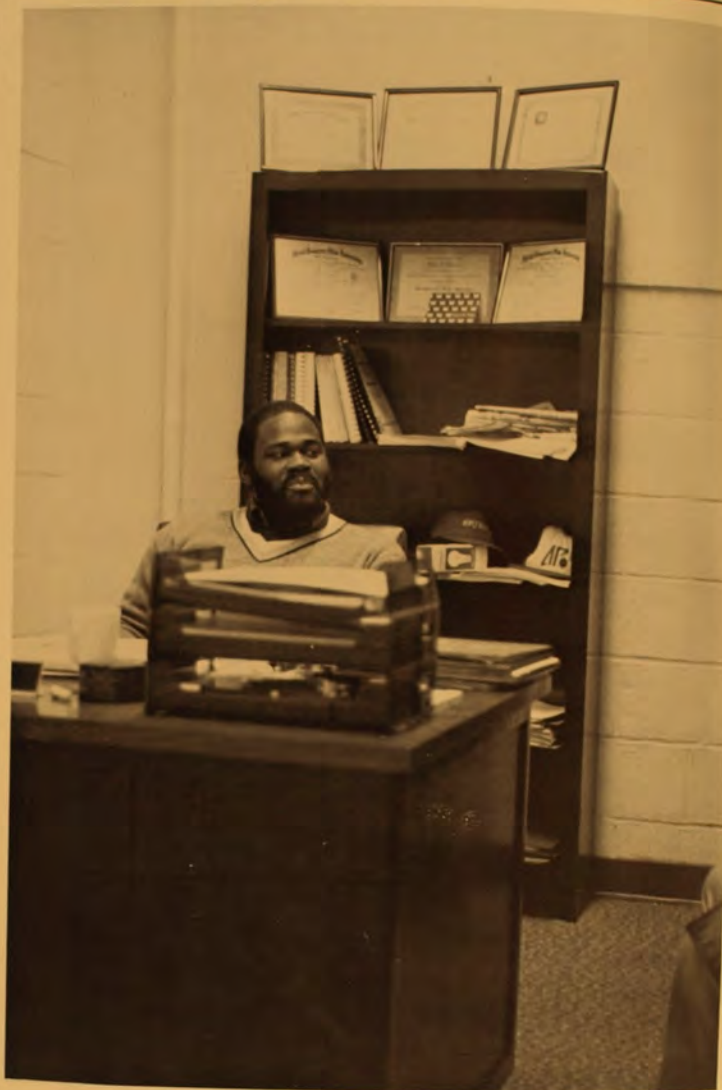

Recreation lacks most of the foregoing characteristics, emphasizing instead self-motivation and impromptu, spontaneous activity. This aspect of the program encourages individuals to use facilities and equipment made available during certain time periods. Such facilities include the swimming pool, tennis courts, exercise room, volleyball and badminton courts, racquetball courts, indoor jogging area, and outdoor recreation fields.

Activities that take place during the course of the school year are very fun and competitive. T-shirts, trophies, and other types of awards are given away for the winners in most of the events.

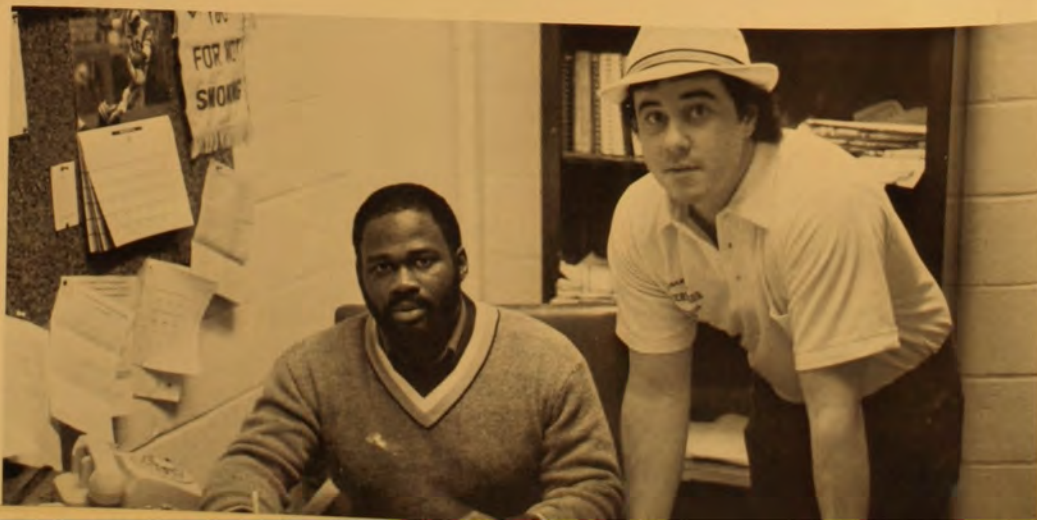

During the Fall quarter activities scheduled are Men's Touch Football, Co-Rec Volleyball, Tennis, Putt-Putt Golf, Miller Hole-in-One, Natural Light Racquetball and the Budweiser Greek Olympics.

The Winter Quarter offers Co-Rec Basketball, Basketball (Men, Women, Under Six Feet), Natural Light Racquetball and the Campus All-Nighter.

By the time the Spring Quarter rolls around, there are still plenty of activities with Water Basketball, swim meets, Softball, Track meet, Pabst Blue Ribbon Softball, Coors campus fest and the Stroh's Superstars.

Alpha Delta Pi, the first organization of its kind for women, was founded in 1851. The Eta Gamma colony at Austin Peay was organized in March, 1983, and was chartered during an exciting installation weekend, November 18th-20th, 1983.

The members of Eta Gamma chapter of Alpha Delta Pi come from a variety of backgrounds. They are leaders in many campus organizations and have made a successful contribution to the Greek community by participation in Sigma Chi Derby Week, Pike Animal Week, Greek Follies, and the Ronald McDonald House Program. Ronald McDonald houses are a series of homes located near major hospitals for the families of seriously ill children. The local philanthropy is the Dream Factory.

Pledges of Alpha Delta Pi receive the unique opportunity to shape and mold a fine sorority at Austin Peay.

Alpha Delta Pi works hard during Rush week.

"Brothers socialize on the front porch".

Alpha Gamma Rho is the national agriculture fraternity. Chartered at Austin Peay in 1983, it is one of the fastest growing fraternities on campus. Their home located on historic Castle Heights is a convenient place for meetings, parties and Rho-mate gatherings. The Rho-mate auxiliary, established in March, 1977, is a little sister organization that supports the brothers in rushing and social activities.

The AGR'S picked up 3 pledges in fall Rush along with 5 pledges to the Rho-mate auxiliary. The Alpha Gamma Rho's are a selective group interested in academics as well as agriculture. The AGR's have one of the best scholastic records on campus. Their main fund-raising project is raising and selling tobaccó and corn crops. They also do volunteer work at such things as the Junior Better Beef Show. Intramurals are not ignored by AGR's either. They are very competitive in such events as volleyball, water basketball, and softball.

After all this work and play one can see why the AGR's schedule the Pink Rose Formal as the last big event of the school year. It's usually a time for the AGR's to celebrate the success of another year.

The Kappa Rho chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha was chartered on May 1, 1976. Well-known by wearing pink and green, Alpha Kappa Alpha is a service and social sorority. It's purpose is to cultivate and encourage high scholastic and ethical standards and to aim toward service to all mankind.

There are 15 active members on campus. This group of ladies comprising the Kappa Rho chapter have placed the aim and purpose of the sorority in their hearts and minds and they are striving to put it in action on campus, in the community and abroad. Some of their service projects are a Halloween party for the children, the Civitan Manner, and their annual fashion show held in the spring quarter. To celebrate the success of these projects, the AKA's also have some social functions such as the AKA week and a step and dance show held annually.

AKA sorority is an active part of A.P.S.U. campus.

Alpha Tau Omega

The Eta Tau chapter of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity was founded at Austin Peay on September 18, 1971. Now Alpha Tau Omega is more than a fraternity; it is a way of life.

The Taus have a high GPA among the fraternities at APSU, and received the National True Merit Award in 1983.

The brothers also participate in numerous community and campus projects. They sponsored an Alcohol Awareness Dinner and declared Dry November. For the second year in a row the ATO's won the Greek Olympics. They also publish their annual spring sports newspaper which recognizes the input of the various spring sports on campus. Alpha Tau Omega brothers strive for success and often achieve it.

Chi Omegas have brought their heritage and traditions to Austin Peay since 1972, representing the national sorority which was founded in 1885. Chi Omega members foster an emphasis on scholastic achievements, working together to provide the basis needed to help members succeed at Austin Peay.

While dedicated to the friendship and good character long associated with the sorority, members learn the sorority traditions of cardinal and straw, white carnations, wise old owls and diamonds and pearls.

Various social and cultural activities highlight the sorority's activities at Austin Peay, while Chi Omega women make their contribution to the University as a whole. Sigma Chi Derby Week, Homecoming and Student Government Association are among some of the ways Chi Omega leadership is demonstrated on campus. And, in the midst of serving with other Austin Peay students to better campus life, the sorority stresses development of the individual, personal pride, and a sisterhood that unites Chi Omegas throughout the nation for a lifetime.

The Sigma Nu Fraternity has a proud and colorful past. Founded by three cadets at the Virginia Military Institute in a period of civil strife known as the reconstruction era, Sigma Nu represented a radical departure from the times. On Jan. 1, 1869, amidst a backdrop of turmoil, North America's first honor fraternity was established.

We offer the students of Austin Peay true brotherhood. Our brothers (and little sisters) come from every walk of life. We are actively inter-racial, inter religious, and contain majors from English to Art to Physics. Through our scholarship program we have achieved the third highest GPA on campus among the social fraternities, and trail the leader by thousandths.

The social life of a Sigma Nu is as varied as its individuals. We carolled the campus at Christmas, shared grapes and cheese at New Years, camped in the wilds of Kentucky Lake in the spring (alas, also in the rain), braved the waves at Wave Country, thrilled the chills at the Rocky Horror Picture Show, and kept cool spelunking at Dunbar Cave. Annually, we have the Sigma Nu Tuck-Ins, complete with hot cocoa and teddie, and we also sponsor a Blue Jean formal. We honor our talented members and our sweetheart in the Spring.

Alpha Phi Alpha

The Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity was founded in 1906 on the campus of Cornell University in Ithaca, New York. The fraternity was the first black greek organization. Theta Pi chapter received it's charter here on Austin Peay's campus in May of 1973. The fraternity concentrates on high academics and moral standards. Alpha Phi Alpha's main goal is to offer help to the community around them. Their house is located at 236 Marion Street. It is a meeting place for both business and social functions. The Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity sponsors Greek Extravaganza, consisting of a dance and step-show, every year during the week of Homecoming. The fraternity also sponsors a sickle cell anemia fund-drive, Martin Luther King fund drive, and the Voter Registration drive. They also hold their annual Halloween Party for the children of Clarksville and surrounding areas. The fraternity also participates in many activities and functions on the campus of APSU. Their colors of black and old gold gives the brothers of Alpha Phi Alpha the motivation and courage to hold up the light here at Austin Peay.

Kappa Delta was founded on October 23, 1897, with the Epsilon Delta chapter chartered at Austin Peay in 1973. Over the past decade, Kappa Deltas' have represented Austin Peay as homecoming queens, as Miss APSU, and as leaders in scholastic achievement, while serving with other campus organizations to improve campus life.

While striving to provide members with opportunities for personal growth and leadership development, the sorority provides a community service by raising money for crippled children's hospital and for the National Child Abuse Fund. The group also serves the local community. The Austin Peay KDs have chosen the Montgomery County Girls' Home as their philanthropic project.

KDs belong to an organization offering them the opportunity to learn about the traditions of green and white — AOT — the white rose — ladybugs — candlelights — the Emerald Ball — Little and Big Sisters. Greek Follies, Sigma Chi Derby Days, Pike Animal Week, Band, SGA, and student organizations are just some of the campus activities in which KDs participate. Kappa Delta is forever!

"Fun, Parties, Friendship"

There is a time when a girl begins a new life — a life caught between old traditions and new challenges — between childhood and womanhood. She is seeking her own identity and charting her course for the future. She searches for friends — young ones who will share her experiences; older one who can help her. She yearns for involvement. That time is college.

Rush is a hectic, fun-filled time when the rushee will become acquainted with the ideals and members of each of the sororities. On the same note, this will provide the sorority women the opportunity to get to know you.

At Austin Peay, three National Panhellenic Council (NPC) groups are in existence: Alpha Delta Pi, Chi Omega, and Kappa Delta. These sororities conduct formal rush during the fall quarter. Two other nationally recognized sororities, Delta Sigma Theta and Alpha Kappa Alpha, conduct formal rush during the winter quarter.

Formal rush for the NPC sororities consist of a series of parties which will give the rushee and the sorority women a chance to interact. All rushees are required to attend "ice water" and "coke" parties at each sorority. Individual sororities will then issue invitations to theme parties and preference parties. Bid Day is on Saturday.

From the moment a girl pledges, she belongs to a group of women who are sincerely concerned about her. When she needs a helping hand, it will always be there. When she needs a helping hand, it will always be there. When good things come to her, others will share her happiness. These friends will remain long after college days are over. Whenever she goes, her badge will provide a bond of friendship, even before a word is spoken.

RUSH, RUSH, RUSH

The 1983-84 year saw the introduction of organized Rush for the fraternity system. There are seven fraternities that participate in the new system, a system that allowed a structured increase in each of the houses. Because of this, advancement in the system at AP, the number of young men actively enrolled in the fraternities have increased by a substantial amount.

Each house marked Rush week with open parties, slide shows, invitation only parties, and theme parties. After an exciting two weeks in which a total of 120 men participated, eighty bids were extended and the fraternity system experienced a great boost which appears only to be the beginning of better things to come.

TKA~ TOGA. TOGA!!!

"Toga parties are always a favorite way to start off Fall rush."

Pi Kappa Alpha

The Eta Tau chapter of Phi Kappa Alpha fraternity is the largest fraternity on campus and was established on Austin Peay's campus on May 6, 1972. Boosting 60 members, the Pikes are actively involved in all facets of campus life from SGA to ROTC, and also maintain a strong sense of unity and brotherhood within the organization.

The Pikes hold several fund-raising and philanthropy projects throughout the year. Social activities the Pikes participate in include the annual Animal Week of which the proceeds go to the Montgomery County Animal Shelter; and they also feature the annual Beer Softball Tournament. Animal week's theme in 1983 was the "Stray Cat Strut" and Chi Omega sorority won the competition.

The Sisters of the Shield and Diamond commonly go by the name "Pikettes". The auxiliary organization of the Pikes are 50 members strong and assist in the execution of the fraternity's activities.

Delta Sigma Theta

Delta Sigma Theta is a public service sorority and was chartered on Austin Peay's campus in January of 1973. There are 12 active members of the Iota Upsilon chapter who have undertaken several different service projects during the school term such as Delta Greek Show held every winter quarter, sponser of the Debutantes and their Spring Fashion Show. Delta Sigma Theta's goals are to serve the campus and the community, thereby enriching the lives of its members.

The Omega Psi Phi Fraternity was organized on November 17, 1911, in the office of Ernest E. Just, professor of biology at Howard University. The organizers were three students in the College of Liberal Arts — Edgar A. Love, Oscar J. Cooper and Frank Coleman. Professor Just became the organizations first faculty advisor. During the first meeting the fraternity formed our Greek letters which mean "Friendship is essential to the soul" which is also the motto of Omega Psi Phi. The fraternity is built upon four Cardinal Principles of Manhood, Scholarship, Perverserance, and Uplift.

Sigma Chi-

Sigma Chi has a noteworthy heritage at APSU. They are one of several fraternities on campus, but they were the first social fraternity formed known as Kappa Sigma Phi. This fraternity was the first fraternity at Austin Peay to have a little sister organization. In 1971, Kappa Sigma Phi petitioned Sigma Chi, and on April 28th, 1973 became officially known as Eta Xi Chapter of the Sigma Chi Fraternity.

Sigma Chi is very strong at Austin Peay and at present have more than 60 active brothers, a very strong little sister program, not mention the Alumni Association.

Each year the Sigma Chi's sponsor Derby Days in which the proceeds go to their philanthropy — Wallace Village. In 1983, there were five teams and competition was spirited. Kappa Delta's came out on top followed by Chi Omega in second place, and Little Sigmas in third place. The Spring also features the annual Canoe Race, but unfortunately inclement weather led to the cancellation of the race in 1983. Ending Spring Activities was the White Rose formal in Nashville in which Kitty Brown was named 1983-84 sweetheart and Cheryl Hock Little Sigma of the Year.

Kappa Alpha Psi

The Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity is recognized as one of the most distinguished social fraternities at APSU. After receiving their charter on May 3, 1975, the brothers of Theta Beta chapter have served the community in many ways. They have sponsored canned food drives for the needy, and fundraisers to benefit the fight against sickle cell anemia. Most recently the Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity hosted the Miss Black Clarksville Pageant.

Built on the concept of achievement, the brothers of the Theta Beta chapter have pledged themselves to the goal of doing the best they can at everything they do and the quest to get all that life has to offer here at APSU.

A sorority is a sisterhood. It is a congenial, idealistic extension of family living with members selected for this purpose. A chapter of a sorority is chartered as a local unit to represent the national organization at an accredited college or university.

Sororities promote high scholarship, personal development of individual members, leadership, good citizenship, exemplary conduct, and lifelong friendships. All sororities foster chosen philanthropies such as scholarships, international fellowships, and aid to handicapped children, the elderly and various fields of service.

Binding all three of the NPC organizations together is the Austin Peay Panhellenic Council. Panhellenic, meaning "all greek," strives to promote and unify the efforts of all sorority women at the University. Delegates from each sorority recognized by the National Panhellenic Conference sit on this governing body. Decisions are made by this group to enhance and improve greek life to best meet the ever-changing needs of Austin Peay women.

Inter-Fraternity Council

The Austin Peay State University Inter-Fraternity Council is composed of nice national fraternities: Alpha Gamma Rho, Alpha Phi Alpha, Alpha Tau Omega, Kappa Alpha Psi, Pi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Nu, Sigma Chi, Phi Beta Sigma, and Omega Psi Phi. The basic objectives of the Inter-Fraternity Council during 1983-84 has been to establish a solid foundation in which the interaction of fraternities can be enhanced in the future. Through the implementation of a structured rush program, an all-sports trophy, and the designation of the Fraternity of the Year, the level of communication and fraternal spirit has been vastly increased.

BECOME A 4-LETTER MAN.

Why are a lot of college men and women becoming buddies in Army ROTC? Probably because Army ROTC is full of the kind of people other people go out of their way to meet.

ROTC students tend to be high achievers who are interested in more than their studies. They're popular students with a serious side, but who like to have a good time, too.

In other words, when people join Army ROTC they often meet people a lot like themselves.

For further information about ROTC at Austin Peay contact Major Jim Bell at 648-6155 or drop by the ROTC Armory on Marion Street.

Editor's Page

The revision of the Austin Peay State University yearbook all began with a simple question asked of Dean Roscoe Shain during one summer. I not only found out why there was no yearbook, a year later I found myself editor-in-chief of the publication. Now I would like to thank all those who contributed to the production of The Governor's Pride.

To the administration:

Dean Roscoe Shain — without whom this would never have been, a special thank you for your unending support and faith in our efforts.

Mrs. Hester Crews — for patiently listening to all our frantic phone calls, proofreading our "official" letters, correcting our mistakes before anyone else saw them, I just want to say thanks "mom" and I promise to catch up on my rest now.

J.D. Lester and The Student Publications Board — for allowing us to begin with a new name.

Campus Security — thanks for checking up on us at two o'clock in the morning when we were working late and for letting me into the building when I locked my keys in my desk drawer.

Carole Hedden and Public Affairs — for saving us when all our homecoming pictures were destroyed.

Kevin McShane — thanks for your help and the invitation to the Derby.

To the staff:

Cindy Pazulski — for being with me from the very beginning and dressing can be made outside of the turkey.

Michael Tharpe — if I could give out a most valuable player award you would have one, we hardly ever saw you working but you always walked in with it finished.

Judy Shaver — you're a bundle of energy (especially after margaritas at El Palacio) and your company was appreciated the time we worked until four o'clock in the morning.

Peggy Vine — don't ever lose your button you vicious power hungry . . . well, you know what I mean.

Cathy Arms and Reagan Walker — my two KD sisters who proved to be more than that — you're my friends and without that I would have been lost.

Kevin Beirne and Lisa Beroth — thanks for bringing to us your knowledge of the placement of tool lines and design — the ads and division pages look great!

Jim Hodges — Sorry you couldn't go with us for the ride in the van, it was a beautiful day.

Bruce Childs — for making us appreciate white space and teaching us that we could do it on our own.

To the community:

The Bicentennial Committee — for allowing us to share their theme of "Proud Past, Promising Future".

All the advertisers — by supporting us, you also supported the students and this university.

Michael's Photo Lab — for working after hours to make our prints that had to go into the mail the next day.

Domino's Pizza — for all the late night deliveries to the office when we were working on deadlines until the early morning hours, thanks for staying open then.

Special thanks to:

Charlie Waters — for not making us write the feature story, we would have just pestered you for the information anyway.

John St. Amant and The All State staff — for moving over and making room for us in Ellington Hall.
