Photograph - To the college student taking the best published first prize of $150; second prize of $75; and third prize of $50.

Playhouse Readies First Play Of Year

Heracles once said, "The soul of man is a far country which cannot be approached or explored." From this quotation of the A. P. Playhouse, "A Far Country."

"A Far Country" will be presented by the playhouse November 7 and 8 in the Clement Auditorium on campus. Curtain time is 8 p.m.

The far country of the title is the mind and soul of a young girl, Elizabeth von Rittner, who suffers paralysis of the legs for no physical reason. In a desperate effort to cure the affliction she goes to a young Vienna doctor, Sigmund Freud.

Dr. Freud discovers that the affliction is in Elizabeth's mind — the far country — and attempts to find a cure.

"A Far Country" is a true story, dealing with Freud's efforts to probe the soul of mankind in an attempt to cure previously "incurable" diseases. It is exciting theatre, made more interesting by its authentic treatment of actual events.

Playing Freud in the production is Warren H. Chaney, president of the Playhouse. Chaney has been seen in several playhouse productions, among them "All My Sons," "The Caine Mutiny Court-martial" and "Who Was That Lady I Saw You With?"

Other veteran actors in "A Far Country" are Jean Hudson, well known to playhouse audiences for her work in "1984" and "George and Margaret," and Murry Hawkins, last seen in "Dracula" and "Guns and Dolls," among other plays. Miss Hudson portrays Martha Freud and Hawkins portrays Dr. Breuer in the production.

Also in the cast are Jim Sanford, last seen in "1984" and previously in "George Washington Slept Here." Sanford plays a British attaché in "A Far Country."

John Griffin, assistant professor of speech at APSC, is the director of the play. The stage manager is Billy St. John. Tickets for the play went on sale Monday, November 4. They may be obtained at the Clement Auditorium box office or by calling 647-2741. Prices are $1 for general admission and fifty cents for students.

Concert To Be Held In Gym

Count Basie, "the most explosive force in jazz," will appear in concert at the Austin Peay State College Memorial Gymnasium tomorrow night at 7:30.

The concert is being sponsored by the associated student body. Advance tickets at $2 per person, while tickets purchased at the door will be $2.50 per person. Children under 12 will be admitted for $1.

Alumni Officers For 1963-64 Elected

The following alumni of APSC were elected officers of the A. P. S. C. Alumni Association at the annual business meeting held Homecoming Day, October 19:

President — Charles Gentry ('60)

Vice-President — Ed Goodlett ('56)

Secretary — Barbara Darrell Cullen ('55)

Executive Committee — John Hancock ('55)

Bob Patton ('57)

Suzy Crockerall Detwiler ('58)

Richard Cooper ('53)

Joyce Keats Pickering ('63)

Faculty Sponsor — Earl E. Sexton ('35)

An outstanding nationally and internationally known performer, Basie and his orchestra will present a two and one-half hour concert.

A measure of the esteem in which Count Basie is held by his fellow musicians can be gathered by a partial listing of the 62 who voted his band the "Greatest Ever" and also "New Star" in the Musicians' Musicians Poll in Leonard Feather's 1958 "Encyclopedia Yearbook of Jazz." Louis Armstrong, Bobby Hackett, Woody Herman, Stan Getz, Dizzy Gillespie, Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey, Benny Carter, Eddie Condon, Nat Cole, Lee Konitz, Sonny Ritt, Erroll Garner, Andre Previn, Pete Rugolo, Bill Harris and Horace Silver are just some of the names.

In addition to winning American polls such as the "Down Beat" Readers' Poll in 1955, Basie's Band won the International Critics' Poll in "Down Beat," 1956 and the Readers' Poll of French monthly, "Le Jazz Hot."

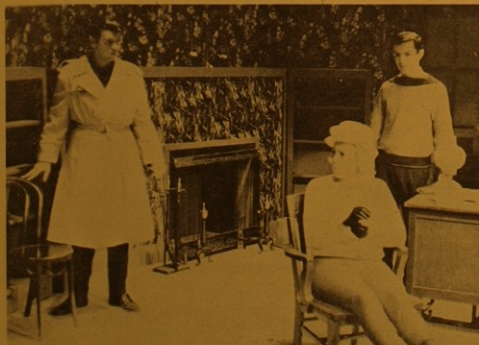

Practically all of the greatest records of the band's history are now available on LP. A representative list includes Lester Leaps In, Let's Go to Free, Basie's Back in Town, Blues by Basie, Count Basie, Count Basie & his Orchestra, Count, Count Basie Dance Session, Basie Jazz and The Greatest Count Basie Plays. Count Basie has definitely established himself as a modern music immortal during his 25 years as a band-leader.

Canterbury Club Visited Vanderbilt

When October with his drought full score Hath parched trees and men both to the core

The poet, warped by one couplet, gave up the muse and spoke in journalistic prose. It fell upon last Sunday night, November 3, Austin Peay State College students of the Canterbury Club made a pilgrimage to the shrine (spelled chapel) of St. Augustine, the Episcopal student center at Vanderbilt University.

As guests of Vanderbilt's Canterburyans, the APSC club enjoyed a sumptuous repast and an enlightening and entertaining discourse on "Ghosts and Ghouls" by Dr. Hal Weatherly of the Vanderbilt English department. The students who enjoyed this fellowship, binding two clubs and two colleges together, are still remarking about the experience and are already making plans to continue this fellowship.

Six Weeks To Go

We have now passed the half-way point in the Fall Quarter of this school year even though it seems like only yesterday that we began classes. For some, it is a period of rejoicing, knowing that it will only be a short time before they will get their grades and begin preparations for the Winter Quarter. For others it is a period of apparent frustration and despair.

Mid-term exams are over and everyone is waiting for the appearance of the "pink slips" in the distribution boxes. It is nothing to be proud of when one receives a "pink slip," but it can be easily forgotten if one makes up his or her mind to buckle down and straighten out the problem.

It took half a quarter to get the "pink slip," but you have half a quarter to get rid of it. It is not an impossibility by any means to get rid of one of these nasty reminders that you are not doing too well in one of your classes. By deciding to bear down and put your shoulder to the wheel, you not only can get rid of the slip, but you can make yourself feel better at the same time.

No one likes to fail a course regardless of what that course may be. No professor enjoys giving a failing grade and most of them would feel rather good if they did not have to give a single failing grade. However, this depends entirely upon the students involved. Every student gets out of his classes what he puts into them. If you do not put enough time into your preparation for each class, you should not expect much in return.

A "pink slip" is merely a means to an end. It is a reminder to the student that he is not doing well enough to pass the course he is taking. It does not mean that the student should give up on that course because he is going to fail it. This is not the meaning of a "pink slip" at all.

If you should be one of the many who will receive a "pink slip," why not be one of the many who will become angry with themselves and decide to raise your grade at least to a "C" by the end of the quarter? It can be done, but only if you decide that you want to do it.

Letter To Student Body

Dear Students:

In our opinion, there is no better way to spend a part of your entertainment budget than by supporting the Austin Peay State College Playhouse. Sure, you don't have much to spend, and sure, you don't want to throw it away -- who does? The A. P. Playhouse will -- we feel -- give you more for your money than any other entertainment source on campus or in town.

The A. P. Playhouse is a vital part of the social life on the campus. Its members are dedicated to the proposition that live theatre is the most exciting form of entertainment that there is and they are doing their darndest to produce the best entertainment they can. They need your support.

This support by the student body isn't a one-way street. The plays of the A. P. Playhouse are put on for your entertainment, and this entertainment is the reward you will receive for your support.

APSC is often criticized for having "nothing to do." Most of the people who say this haven't looked -- they just sit and gripe. Right in our midst is a functioning theatre, producing plays of high caliber in a professional manner. Coming up this week is something to do -- see the production of "A Far Country." The Playhouse is sure that you will find it entertaining and exciting. You say you don't like plays? Have you ever seen one? If you haven't (and even if you have), give the Playhouse a chance to do something for you. What have you to lose? A half-buck. What have you to gain? Enjoyment, excitement and an evening's worth of entertainment from one of the world's oldest activities -- live theatre.

Give the Playhouse a try. Its members want only to get you to come to the theatre on your own accord. Once you're there, they guarantee you a treat. Try it. Half-dollar. What can you lose?

Sincerely,

Dr. David Mays

Speech Department Head

Memo From President Morgan

President Joe Morgan recently issued two public statements concerning the scheduling of campus events and the use of Clement Auditorium.

Concerning the scheduling of campus events, he said, "All campus events such as meetings, conferences, workshops, concerts, clinics and other recreational and social events are to be listed with the Dean of Women who is responsible for maintaining a calendar of scheduled events. Events of general interest to the students and faculty should not be scheduled at such times as to compete for attendance.

"No group or individual should even tentatively schedule an event of general interest for any certain date until clearance has been obtained from the Dean of Women."

In reference to the use of Clement Auditorium, President Morgan pointed out that "any individual or group who desires to use the Clement Auditorium should contact the Dean of Women. The Dean of Women is responsible for the following:

1. Securing the permission of the Dean of the Faculty for the use of the auditorium when outside groups or individuals are involved,
 2. Scheduling the use of the auditorium by all individuals or groups and
 3. Notifying Dr. David Mays or John Griffin of the technical (sound and lighting) services which will be required.
- "Outside groups or individuals using the auditorium will be responsible for paying the wages of the technicians."

Chemistry Department Spotlighted This Week

By Jan Lettich

The night of goblins, ghosts and ghouls is past, but an unformed visitor in the McCord Building might suspect that Witch Hazel is still brewing a caldron-full somewhere close by.

A chemistry student could explain the odor. It comes from experiments conducted in one or more of the four laboratories on the first floor. Those aren't witches bending over test tubes; they are some of the approximately 250 students enrolled in the Chemistry Department — which is spotlighted in this issue.

Headed by Dr. George M. Rawlings, professor of chemistry and chairman of the department, a quartet of trained men guides its policies and practices. They are Durwood Harris, assistant professor of chemistry; Dr. Harry L. McLeod, professor of chemistry; and John B. Bond, professor of chemistry. Professor Bond opened the department in 1927.

Majors in chemistry are required to take four courses in sequence. Supplementary courses are offered as enrichment. One popular quarter course is the new bio-chemistry. According to Dr. Rawlings, this amounts to a study "in the twilight zone between biology and chemistry."

Our visitor might be wary of this twilight business, especially after his introduction to the department, but students like it.

Because of insufficient space for expansion, interested students may be turned away next quarter. It is the hope of the department that in the future, it can use the entire first floor for laboratories and lecture rooms. One of the labs is presently doubling as a lecture room.

Most chemistry majors go into industry when they graduate. Three students are taking methods work this quarter in preparation for teaching careers.

The latest news in the department is a new organization affiliated with the American Chemical Society. There are some 400 chapters across the United States. This is the first time Austin Peay State College has been a part of the society.

In many ways the Chemistry Department is a service department. Students in home economics, agriculture, biology, general education and those engaged in pre-professional work must take some chemistry courses. The students of dentistry and medicine often take as many hours as a chemistry major.

Coed Of Week

COED OF THE WEEK — Miss Faye Crockarell, this week's beauty, is a 5-6 chestnut blonde from Dover. This coed measures 34-22-34 and weighs 116 pounds. Tennis, archery, and water-skiing are among her hobbies while SMEA, Alpha Club, Blazing Stators and Koinonia form the nucleus of her club activities. Faye is a sophomore in elementary education and hopes to teach and to raise a family after graduation.

Ramblings Of A Fool

According to Webster's dictionary, jazz is a type of American music, characterized by melodious tones, subtly syncopated rhythms, and varied orchestral coloring. However, jazz is more than that.

Jazz is the blues, Dixieland and swing. It is the crazy, boogie woogie and the cool pop. It has a different complexion for each generation which embraces it for its own.

Jazz has its high priests, too. Sammy Kaye, Louis Armstrong, Benny Goodman, the Dorsey brothers and Count Basie. These men who have gained so much from jazz have shown their appreciation of it by making jazz an international media, an instrument of good will. It is THE American musical media because it was born of free flowing American spirit.

Most important of all, jazz is a perennial favorite of every generation. The "old sound of jazz" is a refuge from the dissonance of pop music. It has a personal touch for each and everyone of its admirers. It says whatever the individual feels.

Jazz is America. It is you and I. It is a great American tradition.

Buccaneers Rated High

This week the Governors' opponent is East Tennessee State University of Johnson City.

The Buccaneers of ETSU were ranked among the top 20 small college teams in the nation and are very much in the running for Ohio Valley Conference honors.

The Buccaneers will field one of the best quarterbacks in the conference in Little All-American Jimmy (Wink) Baker. Baker led the team in passing and total offense last year and is well out in front for a duplicate performance this Fall.

In addition to Baker, David Holtzclaw is the leading ground gainer for the Bucs and Mike Casey is well out in front in the pass receiving department.

In the kicking department, East Tennessee has two outstanding punters in A. B. Clevenger and Bill Lloyd averaging 38.4 and 37.2 respectively. Clevenger is third in the conference in punting, just five tenths of a yard behind the Governors' Sammy Platt. This should present quite a punting duel Saturday night between these two kickers.

Basketball Preview

Everyone is quite aware that basketball is just around the corner. This is exemplified by the fact that the first Governor college scrimmage is just over a week away.

The Gov basketball squad will scrimmage Sewanee on Saturday, November 16 at 8 p.m. The Govs will return the engagement at Sewanee on November 26. This is just four days before APSC opens against Tennessee.

The November 16 engagement is open to the public—make your plans to attend the contest and get a glimpse of the basketball squad.

Tennis Tournament Winners

Frank Pastour won the men's division and Francis Turner won the women's division of the intramural tennis tournament last week.

Pastour won his final match over Ron Frey 6-3, 6-3, and Miss Turner was victorious over Arleen Osborne by 6-2, 6-0 count.

Pastour is a junior music major from Princeton, Ky., and is a member of the band, choir, Phi Mu Alpha and Collegians. Miss Turner is a sophomore physical education major from Nashville, Tenn. She was the state girls tennis champion this spring and also an all-district basketball performer for East Nashville High School.

The Last Word

-----A typographical error in the last issue of The All State described the Gov basketball squad as averaging a measly 8-3. Unfortunately, it should have read a 6-3 average for the varsity squad. It looks like coach George Flisher is going to have to go out and do some powerful recruiting to get a team to average what is expected of him.

Governors Defeated By MTSC 27-0

By Ronald Arvin

Returning to the field after an open date, the Austin Peay State College Governors sustained a heavy defeat of 27-0 Saturday night from the Ohio Valley Conference runner-up, Middle Tennessee State College.

The defeat was due primarily to the Raiders' effective use of the air attack. All four of MTSC's touchdowns were scored by taking to the air.

The Raiders' first score came in the middle of the first quarter when quarterback Teddy Morris completed a six yard pass to tight halfback Jim Harvey. The Govs' most outstanding single play came shortly afterwards when quarterback Carlson Platt made contact with halfback Tim Chidcut on a 45 yard pass play from APSC's 24 to MTSC's 28.

Early in the second quarter, MTSC's Morris again threw a touchdown pass. The 50 yard pass play was completed to left end George Dykes. Throughout the quarter, the Govs were met with stiff opposition as they inched the ball down the field. In the last minute of the quarter, Morris completed a 43 yard touchdown pass, this time to halfback Jimbo Pearson.

The third quarter was characterized only by the fact that APSC covered considerable yardage but was still unable to crack the Raiders' tough defense. However, in the last quarter of the game, both teams mounted strong offensives in an effort to move the ball across the goal. In the last minute of the game, the Raiders' quarterback Louis Alford made a successful 13 yard touchdown pass to halfback Earl Harris. Tackle Charles Gupson's kick for the conversion was successfully blocked by the Govs.

The Govs' individual rushing leader was 5-10, 188 pound fullback John Ogles, a freshman from Pine Bluff, Ark. Ogles covered 84 yards in 16 attempts. The Raiders' rushing leaders were fullback Bill Robertson with 55 yards in eight attempts and halfback Billy Warren with 46 yards in five attempts.

Govs Travel This Week

By Garner Nabors

Saturday night the Austin Peay State College Governors met the highly-rated East Tennessee Buccaneers at Johnson City. Coach Bill Dupes' gridders expect a tough game from virtually the same squad that handed them a 23-0 loss in Clarksville last year.

The Governors will be confronted with a line averaging 194 pounds and a backfield weighing in at 168 pounds per man. The Buccaneers, coached by Star Wood, have a comparatively light and agile backfield, headed by senior quarterback and Little All-American selection Jimmy (Wink) Baker. The 6-0, 165 pound speedster from Rossville, Ga., is the man to watch in the East Tennessee backfield. This season, through the October 19 game with Eastern Kentucky, Baker has attempted 65 passes and completed 31 for 633 total yards gained through the air. Overland, Baker has gained 101 yards and has thrown six touchdown passes and run for three more.

Against an APSC line averaging 202 pounds, the Buccaneers will send ends Gary Wirth (6-0, 190) and Dave Couch (6-0, 185); tackle Eddie Rains (6-0, 205) and Bud King (6-0, 200); guards Mike Herron (5-11, 180) and Doug Light (5-11, 200); and center Don Adkins (5-11, 180). East Tennessee backs will be Baker at quarterback; Mike Casey (5-10, 160) and David Holtzclaw (5-9, 175) at the halfbacks; and fullback Bill Cassidy (5-11, 180).

ETSU was co-champion of the Ohio Valley Conference last season along with Middle Tennessee, Eastern Kentucky and Morehead State. Their overall record for the 1962 campaign was 7-3-0; conference-wise, they have four wins and two losses.

Golf Team Defeats Sewanee

BARBER SISCO

Sophomore Jimmy Barber fired a two-over-par 74 at Ft. Campbell, Ky. last week to cop medalist honors as Austin Peay State College dropped Sewanee 16-11 in a fall golf practice match. Barber, a native of Hohenwald, Tenn., was one-ander-par going into the 16th hole, but he finished with three straight bogeys to mar his sub-par attempt.

Other Governor scores included A. B. Sisco (76), Don Wood (81), Joe Young (83), Phil Gentry (84) and Bob Mitchell (84). Sisco, playing the No. 1 position, won his match from the Tigers' John Capers, who was Sewanee's medalist with a 77.

Besides Barber and Sisco's wins, Wood and Mitchell stopped their opponents by 3-0 and 2½-½ scores respectively. Young lost his match 3-0, while Gentry was edged 2-1.

The match was a return as the Govs were trailing 9½ to 8½ at Sewanee recently when darkness halted the match.

APSC's golf hopefuls will continue practicing through the fall and winter until they open their 1964 season in early spring.

Back Of The Week

John Ogles, a 5-10, 188 pound freshman fullback from Pine Bluff, Ark., is this week's back of the week. Ogles ran roughshod over Middle Tennessee in Saturday's game gaining 84 yards in 16 carries for an average of 5.3 yards a carry.

Lineman Of The Week

Tom Jones, a 6-3, 220 pound sophomore tackle from Pittsburgh, Pa., won the honor of lineman of the week in the game against MTSC. Jones made four tackles and four assists plus playing a tremendous game offensively.
