Becky Scott
named 1967
Miss H&C

by SUSAN YOUNG

Becky Scott, 18-year-old sophomore from Chapel Hill, has earned the right to represent Austin Peay State in the Miss Tennessee Pageant this year.

The 5-8, 130-pound lovely won the 1967 Miss Hat & Cane contest Friday night in Clement Auditorium.

The contest, sponsored by the college's Associated Student Body, is an official preliminary to the Miss Tennessee Pageant.

Runners-up in the two-night event were:
Barbara Mayhew, 19, freshman, Clarksville, first; Peggy Ozment, 18, freshman, Clarksville, second; Diana Barrett, 20, sophomore, Nashville, third; and Betty Jo Saxon, 20, junior, Clarksville, fourth.

The eight finalists included Diana Barrett, Roberta Butler, Barbara Mayhew, Peggy Ozment, Becky Scott, Jana Sargent, Betty Jo Saxon and Cindy Watson.

Winners of the talent for each night were Barbara Mayhew, doing a dramatic reading from "Our Town," and Peggy Ozment, doing a modern dance routine to an arrangement of "Spanish Flea."

Winner of the swimsuit competition was Diana Barrett. Becky, Miss Hat & Cane, also won the title of Miss Congeniality.

Judges for the pageant were Mrs. Bobby Lord, Mrs. Tennessee of 1966; John D. Laudermilk, A-100-Rose and Publications of Nashville; and Eugene Hawkins, WSM Television of Nashville.

Becky was crowned by Judi Grammer, who won the title last year. Becky received a trophy, flowers, and gift certificates donated by local merchants. She won out over 15 other contestants, HAPPY BEAUTY: Becky Scott is surrounded by well-wishers following the announcement Friday night that she had won the title of Miss Hat & Cane. She will represent APSC in the Miss Tennessee Pageant.

Apply today for enrolling this summer

Students enrolled for the current quarter and others who plan to enroll for the summer quarter are reminded that today is the deadline for filing application for this summer, announces M. P. Bowman, dean of admissions and registrar.

The application must be made, according to Bowman, in order to have IBM packets processed to register without late registration.

The readmission desk will be opened the last 10 minutes of each hour in the foyer of the Browning Building from 8:50 to 4 p.m. today.

Students re-enrolling for the fall quarter of 1967 may wait until July 3-7 or August 1-3, Bowman said.

Bowman also announces the order of registration for the fall quarter. It will be on an alphabetical basis as follows:

8:45, U, V, W, X, Y, Z; 9:00, T; 9:15, S; 9:30, Q, R; 9:45, P; 10:00, N, O; 10:15, M; 11:00, L; 11:30, K; 12:00, J; 12:30, I; 12:45, H; 1:00, G; 1:15, F; 1:45, D; 2:00, C; 2:15, B; 2:30, A; 2:45, Late Applicants.

'Turn books in early,' requests Bookstore mgr.

If you want to do yourself and the Bookstore a favor, you'll turn in your books early, says Mr. Jane Aaron, Bookstore manager.

Last quarter, students waited until they had completed their last final examination to turn in all their books.

That is not necessary, she says. Students may turn in their books one at a time, as they complete each exam.

By turning in books early, students will avoid standing in line any of the same time eliminate problems for the Bookstore personnel.

RAMONA LUMPKIN

'Stunned,' says Ramona of Fulbright

"I was stunned and overjoyed! I had completely given up hope and was expecting a letter of refusal every day. And I was mad at them for not writing to let me know."

Ramona Lumpkin spoke those words in a deliriously happy rush.

She had just learned that she had won a Fulbright Scholarship, thus becoming the first student in the history of Austin Peay State to be selected for the coveted academic honor.

Ramona, 21-year-old daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. William H. Lumpkin of Oak Grove, Ky., learned of her selection Saturday.

Announcement of her selection was made by mail. The letter was sent to her home in Oak Grove, where an anxious mother, sister and brother opened it and then called her at her room in Senior Hall.

"It is a pleasure to inform you of your selection by the Board of Foreign Scholarships for a grant to study in the United Kingdom," the letter read.

"This grant is made under Public Law 87-254, the Fulbright-Hays Act." It continued "the basic purpose of which is to increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and the people of other countries through educational and cultural exchange."

It was signed by D. P. Edgell, executive director of the United States-United Kingdom Educational Commission.

Ramona, who will graduate in June and now carries a 3.8 grade-point average, has to be in England by Sept. 11. She will undergo five days of orientation in London before reporting to the University of Birmingham in Birmingham, England, where she will do her independent study.

She will study for one academic year and then return to the United States for graduate work.

Seniors to meet after assembly

All graduating seniors of the current 1967 year and all seniors who plan to graduate in the 1968 year are asked to meet in the Clement Auditorium immediately after the Academic Honor Day assembly today.

Important announcements will be made to both groups, according to M. P. Bowman, dean of admissions and registrar.

A few suggestions

And another period of learning is about to end. We are presumably more edified and erudite than we were last September. While we have accomplished much, we are hopefully not satisfied, for we could have accomplished more.

Certainly it is true that foresight, while not easy to utilize, is much better than hindsight. However, we should not be so foolish as to disregard happenings of this year in determining solutions to future problems. Looking back, it is apparent that we have often failed this year due to not heeding experience.

Too often we have piddled around and failed to take the initiative necessary to succeed. And this is not just the fault of the student body. The administration has also failed. The questions concerning fraternities and a campus radio station (both must be considered assets to the campus) seem to be tied up in an administrative logjam.

On the other hand, past experience warns us to take campaign statements with a grain of salt. Too many times we have been promised progress -- we are still waiting. Perhaps we may make a few suggestions which, if carried out, will serve to better APSC.

*We suggest that the administration make a more realistic appraisal of the financial situation in relation to ASB functions and social activities. (The ASB was not represented at the recent SUSGA convention and the OVC student government workshop because the school budget allotments only $350 yearly for ASB functions. While $4,000 was reportedly spent on social activities this year by the school, the students seem to have derived little benefit. We have had no really big name entertainers, but all other sister OVC schools have --- because their ASB's have budgets which range in the thousands of dollars.

*We suggest that the incoming ASB officers revise the ASB constitution and bring the progress in student government which they promised. Presently, student government is a myth at APSC. We suggest that the ASB do something instead of relegating itself to a state of passive acceptance.

We should do more than simply "pretend" to be abreast of the times. Little has been done and we are not sure that we will even begin to fit the "university" picture in September unless we change.

Letters to the editor

Dear Editor,

Concerning the very uncomplimentary letter which was printed in THE ALL STATE May 19, the editorial page editor first should be recognized as a fair and magnanimous person for printing such a letter. I am sure that most of the students at APSC will agree that this was in very poor taste, to say the least. I personally find it hard to believe that anyone who would write such a letter could possibly be graduating from APSC.

The letter's attack on the editor's treatment of the Circle K Club was utterly absurd. Mr. Yates' handling of the editorial page throughout the year is enough proof to satisfy me that he can be trusted with the "trivial" tasks which Mr. Roe seems to think he is incapable of performing.

As for the article concerning Circle K Club's pledging practice, the parallel between the pledging and the ASB election is well drawn. The only difficulty is that the ASB is made of every full-time student; thus, even though Krusa and Layton lost the election, they are still members of the ASB and may take part in its functions.

While a party might be considered a reward for the hard work put into the pledging, it can hardly be compared with full membership in the club.

Corruption was also present when the candidate was allowed to work along with the others (after being told he was eligible for membership), but when the time came for the Circle K members to vote, his name was not even on the ballot. It seems that his grades were not sufficiently high to qualify him for eligibility. Surely his grades did not change so drastically during the period of time involved that the Circle K did not know he was ineligible when he was selling tickets.

Mr. Roe's point about "big name" entertainers on campus is slightly illogical. It is true that Charlie Rich appeared here in the fall. As for the WKU basketball team being on campus, I really don't realize that the ASB had taken over the scheduling of OVC basketball teams, nor even the scheduling of our own Gove games.

Mr. Roe seems very unimpressed with our latest "big name" entertainment. He might be interested to know that Dolly Parton, the producers of "Hollywood Palace" so sufficiently that they presented her as an act on network television. In case you don't realize, Mr. Roe, a 10-minute performance does not come cheap. Besides, after the entertainment which Circle K presented, or rather failed to present, I don't see much basis for criticism.

Mr. Roe says that this is his first and last letter to THE ALL STATE. That would imply to me that THE ALL STATE is at least becoming that which it is accused of failing to be, a presenter of problems and issues.

I would suggest that Mr. Roe needs to take a careful second look at THE ALL STATE. I also feel that an apology to Mr. Yates is definitely in order.

As for Mr. Roe's contribution to the school which is and is not a full club member and a worker, let me say that I first met him last fall at the first meeting of an organization to which we both belong. Several of my friends had given me the impression that he was one of the outstanding leaders of the group. However, I have not met Mr. Roe at another of the club's meetings, which have been held weekly all year.

Is this the type of worker and club member which the organizations on the APSC campus wish to judge for them who is fit to be a club member or who will work for a club?

In defense,
William Redding

A word of thanks

Dear Students:

The newly elected Associated Student Body officers would like to take this opportunity to thank you for your support of the Iris Ball.

We were very elated at the proceeds which not only covered expenses but brought the treasury $75. We feel that the credit for this belongs entirely to you and we sincerely appreciate your help.

Pride or shame?

Editor's note: The following letter was addressed to Phil Roe, in care of "Letters to the Editor," THE ALL STATE.

Dear Mr. Roe,

As a student who has been turned down twice by the Circle K, I think it should be made known that neither Buster Yates nor I put in our applications because we feel that to wear the Circle K patch at this particular time would cause more shame than pride.

One of the "few colors that have stifled a somewhat state atmosphere" is the fact that some organizations have done nothing constructive this year. Concerning this lack of entertainment, what has happened to the annual student-faculty basketball game? What about the smash hit Curious show?

Concerning the entertainment from the ASB, where is the money with which to entertain? Who is the money supposed to come from for these functions?

Mr. Roe, don't you think it is fairly funny that in the past three years you have failed to become outspoken—or is it to your intention to hit and run, now that you are leaving?

Sincerely,
Ray Radford
ASB President-elect

Appreciation expressed

Dear Editor:

I would like to thank the student body and my fellow student body officers (Andy Toombs, Cissy Oges and John Oges) for their support and cooperation during the school year.

Although many students have considered this year a failure, I feel we have set the ground work for greater things to come at APSC.

The field of entertainment has been very small but things have been done to remedy the money situation. Next year should definitely be improved.

The movement toward social fraternities has been started. change has been made in the Miss Hat and Cane contest and various smaller things which students are not often interested in have been done for the betterment of student government.

It has been my pleasure and privilege to serve you this year.

Sincerely,
Jake Gamble
ASB President

Ruling disputed

Dear Editor:

This letter concerns a ruling that was handed down by the Dean of Students' office over a month ago. It says, in effect, that no student under twenty-one years of age may live off campus unless it is with parents or guardians. As I am 21, this ruling will not apply to me personally, but as an interested student and a future ASB member I submit that this action will not be an asset to our campus and, if anything, will be detrimental. I feel that it is an infringement on the rights of our students.

I realize that it is necessary to fill our dormitories in order to meet construction and operating expenses. However, I think our policy-making officials should try to see the student point of view. From my experience, a dormitory is probably the WORST study environment to which students can be subjected. I have spent two years in men's dorms, one year in the capacity of Resident Advisor and I have found that boys, through no real fault of their own, may experience numerous difficulties in trying to study.

When a student reaches college age and obtains college admission, it shows several things. One has completed some degree of intelligence and moral up-bringing enroute to college. One has also earned the trust and faith that his parents have shown by allowing him to come to college, often quite a distance from home.

Perhaps the administration has some reasons for the new rule that have not been publicized to the student body. If this is the case, I feel sure that the student body would be interested in knowing the reason for a change that will affect more than half the Austin Peay State students.

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA, The Florida Alligator, Gainesville, Fla., has filed a complaint with the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph which claimed that 17,000 pennies were collected from campus telephones during March, two university students were arrested.

The students were caught using pennies in a campus pay phone. A city ordinance prohibits tampering with any coin-operated machine.

The pennies collected from the phones represent a loss of about $1,500 to the company. The proportion of pennies collected each month was steadily increasing. Over 6,000 were collected in January and 8,000 in February.

"Ramona worked very hard this year," said Dr. Preston J. Hubbard, Fulbright program advisor for APSC. "It is a tough gauntlet of elimination, and we had great hopes. We knew it would be difficult for her to win, but our faith has been vindicated."

As Ramona, listed in "Who's Who among American Universities and Colleges," has an impressive list of academic and extracurricular accomplishments.

Among them are: Graduating senior with the highest average in English, Woodrow Wilson nominee, member of Laurel Wreath Society for three years, an honor student for four years, captain of the cheerleader squad this year, Community Ambassador to Poland last year, Iris Queen her sophomore year, Campus Beauty her junior and senior years and Circle K Sweetheart in 1963-64. She has also worked on the FAREWELL & HAIL and THE ALL STATE staffs.

2 in rodeo

Austin Peay State College competed unofficially last weekend at the second annual Intercollegiate Rodeo held at the Paul Halloway Arena in Rock Island, Tenn.

The two contestants from APSC were Bobby Gates, a freshman who rides Brahman horses, and Fritz Sanders, a junior who rides bareback on broncs.

Sanders had ridden in approximately 60 rodeos prior to the one in Rock Island, but Gates had never ridden in a rodeo.

Chute club gets ready for big day

The Austin Peay State College Sport Parachute Club faces the moment of truth the week-end following finals.

That's when members of the young club will make their first jump, according to Frank Kapitany, president. The jump will be held in Dickson.

Ten male students and two female students comprise the club. Doyt Redmond, director of housing and security, is club sponsor. He has had several years of jumping experience.

Other officers include Dave Hayne Corral, secretary-treasurer; Linda Seal, secretary; and Shirley Elliott, ASB representative.

The club meets every Tuesday and Thursday night. It already has four parachutes, and several others are on order, Kapitany said.

Al Haugen of Fort Campbell, a former West Point instructor, is the club's instructor. Members are learning to pack chutes now and have had lessons on peel-off, emergency procedures, and canopy control.

PRESIDENTIAL INSPECTION—Austin Peay State President Joe Morgan takes a look at the progress of the college's student union building now under construction. The new building is expected to be completed for use in the fall.

Not all satisfied

Students comment on year's activities

by RAMONA LUMPKIN

The 1966-67 scholastic year is drawing to a close. In a "spring inventory" to evaluate this year's success, several APSC students were asked to comment. Their remarks follow.

Tim Tague, Junior: "I think the social events could have been a little better. More money should have been appropriated for entertainment, and we needed a slightly more liberal administration as far as social activities are concerned."

Jimmy Smith, Junior: "The social events weren't anything, but it has been pretty good outside of that. The Circle K was a flop."

Carole Anne Sisco, freshman: "The year has been a success with the exception of a few things that didn't go over too well, such as Caricatures."

Dick Littleton, Junior, president of next year's senior class:

Concert set

The Austin Peay State Choir will present a recital in the Clement Auditorium tonight at 8 p.m.

Theme of the recital is "The Creation" by Hyden. Dr. Lawrence Rickert will direct the choir.

Tonight's performance marks the final appearance for the choir this season.

"In all, it's been an enjoyable year. I got to meet many new people, do a lot of things, and I saw a good bit of progress made on campus. I was impressed with the quality of instruction, especially in the English department."

Faye Barnes, freshman: "First of all, it's been exciting because it's my first year in college. Since I plan to continue here it's good to see APSC growing as it is."

Terry Chapell, senior class vice-president: "I think it has been a good year in spite of certain social problems. School spirit has been great. Being a senior, I like to think about the good things and forget the bad."

Sam Simmerman, sophomore: "It's a complete loss. Everything original that's been tried has been put down."

Bill Arrington, president of the senior class: "I think the year got off to a tremendous start this fall and built up to a glorious stand-still. Homecoming was a great success, as was everything in the fall and first part of the winter quarter. Then participation stopped and clubs dropped out. However, we still have a little time left this year and the Iris Ball and Miss Hat and Cane were enjoyable."

John Boyles, freshman: "I think going to school here has been the best move I've made in my life. I've made many new friends and learned a lot. Activities need to be improved. I like the student body officers, but it doesn't seem as if the student government has accomplished too much."

Language class answers invitation from Germany

Much interest has been generated lately among the students of Dr. Joseph Thomas's German language classes at APSC due to a recent invitation from a German school in Bremen, Germany, to exchange communications of slides and tapes.

A cultural exchange group by the name of Arbeltakreis Biologie at the Schule in Der Kornstrasse, Bremen, Germany, sent a tape accompanied with 20 slides about their school and town to the first-year German students at Austin Peay State. Their school is known as a gymnasium in Germany, and is equivalent to our high schools.

The APSC German class responded to this way of improving their skills both in the German language and in German culture and society by immediately preparing a package for the Arbeltakreis Biologie.

Slide pictures of Clarksville and Austin Peay State College were taken and a tape was recorded to comment on the slides. The Clarksville Chamber of Commerce was happy to donate a stack of materials on the community to be sent along with the slides and tape.

Due to the personal interest of such an enterprise, the APSC German classes hope to keep up their communications as a regular part of their activities.

The program of tape exchanges is sponsored by an international non-profit association, World Tapes for Education.

Committee adopts new ring design

A ring committee composed of representatives of the freshman, sophomore and junior classes has adopted a new standard ring design for APSC, according to Henry C. Malone, director of alumni affairs and head of the ring committee.

Malone explained that the change was made necessary by the college's coming change to university status.

"It was the feeling of the committee," Malone said, "that if any change was to be made in the ring, now was the time to do it."

The college will officially become Austin Peay State University on September 1.

Malone added that an alternate ring design was adopted for when and if the actual name of the college is changed.

The newly adopted ring will be offered in yellow or white gold, and with smooth or cut stones of dark blue, aquamarine, ruby, onyx or topaz.

Artists' drawings of the new ring are proposed to display in the Bookstore.

Successful year in sports

It's been a fine year on the APSC sports scene. The intramural programs enjoyed good, if not overwhelming, support and participation and the varsity athletic teams combined to post one of the best records in many years. The seven squads which took part in intercollegiate competition chalked up a 49-39-2 record. Attendance was up in several sports as school spirit and interest hit new highs.

The story started in the fall

The story started in the fall with football and cross-country. The gridiron Governors did well in what must be termed a building year. Playing a host of freshmen and sophomores, coach Bill Dupes saw his team win five in a row at one point, en route to a 6-4 record and a tie for third in the OVC. APSC upset Middle Tennessee, 13-7, in the season's highlight. Fullback John Ogles gained national attention for himself and the school by being named to the Little All-American first offensive unit. He gained over 1,000 yards for the second consecutive season.

The cross-country team tried hard, but that's about all they did. If there is any sport which needs some drastic improvements at APSC, it is this one. The Govies managed to win one dual meet, the first ever, but placed dead last in both the Tennessee Intercollegiate and Ohio Valley Conference meets.

With the coming of winter came basketball season and one of the greatest athletic triumphs in Gov annals. Picked to finish last in the OVC, coach George Fisher's cagers used great team spirit and a never-say-die attitude to pull many contests out of the fire and to roll to a 14-9 mark. The 7-7 conference record was good for fifth place and earned Coach of the Year honors for Fisher.

Spring brought baseball, golf, tennis and track to the campus. With only two seniors listed on the rosters of the four teams, APSC had to rely on many freshman and sophomore athletes. The youngsters came through to build a 28-23-2 spring record.

The golfers led the way at 11-3-2, for the best mark, percentage-wise, since 1950. It tied for the most wins with the 1964 squad.

Tennis also came into its own here. Enjoying fan support for the first time, the netters posted their first winning season ever at 8-4. They also made a respectable showing in the OVC, scoring three points and narrowly missing several more. Coach Fred Overton's boys grabbed a strong fourth-place tie in the TIAC.

Although the thinclads lacked the power to compete favorably in the big multi-team meets, they did well in dual competition, recording a 4-3 workweek. It was the second time for an APSC track team to finish above .500, as the team set six new school records.

It was a long season on the diamond. The Govies won only five of 18 over-all, three of 12 in conference action. However, the youthful club showed enough potential to drum up enthusiasm about the future.

Middle Tennessee, Murray State and Western Kentucky took team honors in the 19th annual Ohio Valley Conference spring sports carnival which ended a two-day stand Saturday at Ft. Campbell, Ky.

The Blue Raiders captured the golf crown with an 11-over-par total of 587. Murray gained his conference win in tennis. Western's Hilltoppers dominated the track portion of the carnival, rolling up 89 points to 55 for second-place Murray.

Played over the 6,607 yard Cole Park links, the golf tourney was tight all the way. MTSU's winning total was three strokes better than Western Kentucky's 590. Murray was third at 598, followed by East Tennessee (603), Austin Peay State (615), Eastern Kentucky (614), Tennessee Tech

(622) and Morehead State (639).

The individual race was even closer. Middle Tennessee's Jeff Riley defeated Murray's Larry Ringer on the third hole of a sudden death playoff. Both players ended the regulation 36 holes with even-par scores of 144. Ernie Adcock of Middle Tennessee was one shot back.

Although Murray edged Western for the tennis championship, 27-22, Western's ace singles player, Jackie Cooper, was the star. The 1966 OVC Player of the Year walked over all competition as he successfully defended the title he won last year.

Seven conference records fell in the track and field events. Middle Tennessee's Jerry Shingleton erased the 440-yard dash standard with a :47.2 clocking. In the three-mile run, Grant Colehour of Eastern was timed in 14:30.3. Middle Tennessee's Don Jones won the 440-yard intermediate hurdles in :54.3. John Toye's (Western) 54-7½ shot put set a new mark as did Bob Stoltman's (Western) 172-6 discus heave.

In taking three first places, Henry Jackson of Western Kentucky set marks in the broad jump (24-9½) and triple jump (48-1). His other win was a 6-4 high jump.

The OVC baseball championship at Eastern Kentucky went to the Colonels who downed Murray State, 5-3 and 6-0.

TEAM VICTORY—The members of Western Kentucky's victorious tennis team beamed with happiness moments after getting the team trophy. The Toppers dominated the meet with 89 points.

Lefko, Lucas win

Improved netters press foes

Although Austin Peay State was able to top only Morehead State last weekend in the Ohio Valley Conference tennis tourney, the Governors served notice that they are ready to compete on even terms with the rest of the league. APSC picked up three points for its seventh-place finish, but the netters were only one marker behind East Tennessee and Tennessee Tech, who scored four each. Morehead was shut out. Murray State won the 19th annual event with 27 points, edging pre-tourney favorite, Western Kentucky. The Hilltoppers recorded 22 points. Eastern Kentucky was a strong third with 13, while Middle Tennessee was able to notch eight points.

The Gov three-point total tripled last year's effort, when coach Fred Overton's boys finished ahead of Tech.

Only Jim Lucas, sophomore from West Hollywood, Fla., and Bill Lefko, freshman from Daytona Beach, Fla., broke into the victory column for APSC. However, several Govies came close to getting more points.

Lucas, playing some of his best tennis, knocked off Morehead's Richard Emery in the first round of the No. 3 singles. He got his win in a convincing manner, too, rolling up set scores of 6-2 and 6-4.

Although he was eliminated in the semifinals by eventual No. 3 champ, Andre Cote of Murray, the red-headed Floridian played fine tennis. He went down, 7-5, 6-4, far from a disgrace.

Lefko notched the most impressive victory and established himself as one of the OVC's finest No. 2 players. He belted East Tennessee's Ron French in the first round, 6-4, 6-0.

Later the 6-2, 185-pound star met MTSU's Tom Magner, seeded first, in a semi-final match. He dropped the first set, 6-4, but roared back to win the second by the same score.

The third set was one of the finest of the entire tourney. Lefko fell behind, 2-5, but with his back to the wall, rallied to tie the count at 5-5. The two aces battled to ties at 6-6 and 7-7 before Magner emerged with the victory, 9-7.

Playing in the No. 1 doubles, Lefko-Lucas combined to dump J. T. Miller and Jim Lopez of Morehead in two sets, 6-4, 9-7. The twosome then advanced to the semifinals, bowing to Doug DeMoss and Bill Pike of East Tennessee, 3-6, 6-0, 6-3.

The rest of the team was eliminated in the first round.

Mike Marshall was blasted by MTSU's John Prevost in No. 1 singles, 6-1, 6-0. Ed Maywald was also beaten 6-1, 6-0 in No. 4 singles. In No. 5 play, Jon Kessell fell to DeMoss, 6-2, 6-1. MTSU's Charles Fuller bested Ronnie Rice (No. 6), 6-2, 6-1. In doubles, Marshall-Maywald lost to Mark Reznich-Cote of Murray, 6-2, 6-1. Kessell-Frank Norris bowed to Tech's Charles Kunzelman-Tom Thurman, 6-1, 3-6, 6-1.

INTENT COACH—APSC's tennis coach, Fred Overton, concentrates on a Gov match. In addition to his coaching duties, Overton served as tourney director.

Sky-high Saturday scores end golfers' dream of OVC victory

Only six strokes back at the conclusion of the first day's action of the Ohio Valley Conference golf tournament, APSC's linksmen blew sky-high Saturday to finish fifth, 26 strokes behind Middle Tennessee's winning 587 score.

Within the last two weeks, the Governors had tied the Blue Raiders and had beaten Western Kentucky and Murray State in dual matches. Those three teams finished first, second and third in that order.

All six Goves soared to high scores Saturday on their home course at Ft. Campbell's Cole Park.

Jimmy Smith was tied for the individual lead Friday with a one-under-par round of 71, but shot 76 the next day. His 149 total was good for a tie for ninth place.

Tim Tague was next in line for the Goves. His fine 74 of the first day was offset by his 79 on Saturday. Other APSC players and their scores were Randy Feather (75-79-154), Danny Daniel (76-84-157), Alan Banister (76-82-158) and Fred Pitts (78-83-161).

The disappointing showing was but another of a series of bad tournament performances by coach Sherwin Cliff's golf team.

Despite a tremendous 11-3-2 dual record, the Governors have never been able to get going in the pressure-packed tournaments. They finished fourth in the Tennessee Intercollegiate and ninth in the Murray State Invitational.

However, the golfers will have one more chance to shine in tournament play. They will compete June 2-16 in the National Collegiate Athletic Association college division championship at Paducah, Ky.

Some of the finest teams in the nation will be at Paducah, so the Goves will have to be at their best.

Letter club A-Day

It's "May-Day" for "A-Day." Austin Peay State's A-Club is again hosting its annual A-Day that begins at 3 p.m. today at the fairgrounds and Pettus Park. The letter club members have organized nine events for students to participate in.

Admission to A-Day is free, and more than $150 in prizes will be given away.

Barry Rollins and Tom Big-ham are co-directors of A-Day. On top are games, a dance and supper.

Events include:
*Three-legged race for mixed couples.

*Egg Toss for men and women.

*Crutch Relay for men and women. Contestants must tie their feet together and race on crutches.

*Water Balloon Relay for men and women. If a balloon bursts, the contestant is disqualified.

Cindermen

finish last

in loop meet

The cindermen from Austin Peay State did about as poorly as they were expected to in the OVC meet at Ft. Campbell. The Governors simply did not have the manpower to compete with the powerful squads from most of the other schools.

Western Kentucky ran away with the meet, amassing 89 points. By contrast, the Governors could manage only five. Freshman Alvin Hicks scored four of APSC's five points, finishing fourth in the high jump and pole vault. He leaped 6-0 in the high jump. His 14-3 effort in the vault was good enough to better his own school record of 14½.

Jeff Fisher uncorked his best heave of the year in gaining fifth place in the shot put. The burly Wisconsin native set a school record with his 50-4 performance.

The team still has one meet left. They will compete Friday and Saturday in the Ft. Campbell Invitational.

HE COULD HAVE BUNTED—Terry Crow shows that he could have bunted in his pinch hitting appearance at UT Martin. However, Crow swung away and crashed a three-run home run.

Goves close on winning note

Terry Crow's dramatic three-run pinch home run Tuesday (May 16) carried Austin Peay State to a 4-2 victory at the University of Tennessee Martin Branch and ended a tough 3-43 season on a winding note.

Crow was batting a micro-scope, .130 when coach Leon Sandifer called on him to hit for first basemen Eddie Harrison with two men out in the top of the ninth and APSC trailing, 2-1. He came through, slamming a shot off Vol pitcher, Mac Terry.

Phillip Sleigh and John Bratcher were on base at the time.

The Goves went ahead in the top of the first on Chip Pearson's leadoff double and a single by Sleigh, but UTMB got one in the second and another in the seventh.

Joey Watts went the distance for the Goves, fanning 11 and walking only three. The Volunteers collected seven hits. Watts' win brought his mark to 3-4.

Sleigh collected two hits in the contest, raising his team-leading batting average to .317. His totals included two doubles, a triple and three home runs. He drove in 15 runs with his 20 hits in 63 at bats.

PEARSON WAS NEXT among the regulars at 259. Catcher Dwight Smith finished strong to climb to .240. He was followed by David Small (.231), Mike Schrecker (.213), Bratcher (.200), Harrison (.194), Bill Lemons (.173) and Crow (.167).

Pearson, Small and Bratcher led in doubles with three each. Lemons was tops in triples with two. Sleigh's three circuit clouts led the squad. Pearson, Schrecker, Bratcher and Crow all had a single homer.

For summer quarter Registration steps outlined

Following are the steps students must take in registering for the summer quarter:

Step 1: Enrollees of Spring of 1967 must file an IBM Re-admission Card. All others must file a new Application for Admission form (white 5 1/2" by 11" sheet). If this is done by 4:30 P.M. on Wednesday, May 24, registration packets will be ready for you to pick up at the Browning 201 according to the schedule of hours on the front cover. Students with at least 144 quarter hours, registration clerks, and "May I Help You?" assistants may pick up packets 7:30-8:15 P.M., June 7, in Browning 201.

Step 2: If you are renting textbooks, go to the Business Office in the basement of the Browning Building and purchase a $10 textbook deposit card prior to going to Gymnasium for registration unless you have such card from a prior quarter. Before presenting your IBM packet at the admission door at your appointment hour to register - not earlier - be certain to secure sufficient cash, a check to pay your fees in full, or an authorization from the President's Office to charge any portion of your fees in excess of scholarships awarded to you. Students with scholarships and State Board Workshops (not workshops of job assignments on College student payroll) should bring the letter authorizing the scholarship to the clerk to whom you account for your fees.

Step 3: Carry your IBM registration packet and your approved Trial Schedule form to the appropriate card bank supervisors and request course admission cards for each course listed on the registrar's Copy of your IBM class program card. You must be identified by showing your IBM processed name on your blue card in your registration packet before being given course cards. If any revisions in your approved schedule are necessary, you will be expected to do two things: (1) return to your faculty adviser and secure his initials on the line of each change on the Trial Schedule and (2) surrender all cancelled course admission cards to the appropriate card bank supervisors.

Step 4: Present your registration packet and pay your fees at the desk of the Business Office located at east end of gymnasium. Have your check, cash, or written authorization for credit with you when you enter the line to clear fees. Present your packet of cards at Packet-Check station for check on completion of all required data. If incomplete, return to desk under Incomplete Cards and complete.

Step 5: Take all forms in your packet to clerks in Recreation Room to east of main gymnasium floor. Please have your course cards arranged in same order as you have the courses listed on the Registrar's Copy of the schedule card from top to bottom. Blue card should be first.

Step 6: Go to the basement of the Student Center and secure your textbooks.
