Virginia Dunn Chosen Best Dressed Girl

Virginia Dunn, a senior English major from Southside, Tenn., was chosen the 1963 "Best Dressed Girl" at Austin Peay State College last Wednesday night in the preliminary "Best Dressed Girl" contest for GLAMOUR magazine.

The third annual contest was sponsored by "The AllState," the campus weekly newspaper.

Martha Albright, senior English major, was first runner-up, and Janet Seay, a freshman biology major, was second runner-up. Both runners-up are from Clarksville.

The ten finalists modeled three outfits for the judges in this contest: an on-campus outfit, a daytime off-campus outfit (church) and a cocktail dress.

Virginia's on-campus outfit was a brown suede jumper with a black jersey top underneath.

For her daytime off-campus outfit Virginia wore a two-piece yellow suit featuring a loose fitting jacket with ragland stand-away sleeves and a slim skirt. Her attire was complimented with beige and brown accessories. Her cocktail dress was a classic white crepe chiffon. The bodice had a beau neckline and was cut low in the back. The skirt was softly full.

Trophies were presented to the winners by Mrs. Joyce Keatts Pickering, the 1962 "Best Dressed Girl" at Austin Peay State College. In addition, Virginia received gift certificates from downtown ladies' shops.

Pat Allison was master of ceremonies for the evening. The program included piano music by Brenda Davis and vocal arrangements by Ann Petree and Marty Brown.

Photographs of Virginia in her three outfits will be sent along with the official entry blank to GLAMOUR magazine for the national judging.

Virginia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daley Dunn of Southside, Tenn. She is a member of the Delta Club, the Methodist Student Movement and was an attendant to the Homecoming Queen this year.

Koinonians

Plan Dinner

The newly formed Kolonia Club, the Church of Christ organization for our students and faculty, will have a dinner Tuesday, February 19, at the Richview Restaurant. Dinner will be served at 6:30 after which there will be a guest speaker. A very nice meal is planned for only $1.00 per plate. If transportation is needed, meet in the lobby of the Administration Building at 6:00.

Teacher Exams To Be Given

The National Teacher Examinations will be given at Austin Peay State College Feb. 16, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:45 p.m.

The NTE have been prepared and administered annually since 1950 by Educational Testing Service, a non-profit educational organization.

The program was started in 1940 by the American Council on Education at the request of large city school systems to aid them in selecting teachers.

Shortly after, colleges began using the test results in connection with their teacher education programs.

Some state departments of education now use the test results for teacher certification. Many candidates take the tests to evaluate their professional development.

There are two types of examinations available, Common Examinations and Optional Examinations.

The Common Examinations include the following areas: Professional Information; English Expression; Social Studies; Literature; and Fine Arts; Science and Mathematics; Nonverbal Reasoning.

New Student Center Plans Underway

Planning is now underway for a new Student Center.

An advisory committee has been appointed to determine what functions such a building should provide for along with quantitative suggestions by the members.

The members of the committee are: Dr. Tom Savage, Dean of Students; Dr. Fred A. Dunger, Professor of Education; Miss Mabel Meecham, Dean of Women; Earl E. Sexton, Director of Field Activities; R. C. Satter, Business Manager; Tillman Taylor, Asst. Professor of Political Science; Charles Young, Asst. Professor of Art and Head of Art Department; Sherwin Clift, Director of Public Information; and Alumni Relations; and Bobby Johnson, President of the senior class.

The Optional Examinations include the following areas: Education in the Elementary School; Early Childhood Education; Biology and General Science; English Language and Literature; Industrial Arts Education; Mathematics; Chemistry, Physics and General Science; Social Studies; Physical Education; Business Education; Music Education; Home Economics Education; Art Education.

Dr. George Ackley, professor of psychology at APSC, will conduct the test program.

Epsilon Pi Tau To Initiate New Members

On Monday, Jan. 15, the Epsilon Pi Tau will initiate new members into the fraternity. They are: Phillip Coats, a junior from Altonville, Ky.; John R. Wallace, Donald G. Stone and Jimmy W. Jarrell, all seniors from Clarksville.

The Epsilon Pi Tau is a national honor fraternity in Industrial Arts. It is open to those students who maintain a 2.75 grade-point ratio in Industrial Arts.

Representatives of this committee will be visiting student centers on other college campuses.

Professor Jefferson Hamilton of the University of Florida has been secured as a consultant for the APSC building program. Hamilton is a member of the American Institute of Architects. He has maintained a private planning consulting service for many years. In the past several years he has designed campus plans which are still in progress for the University of Florida, Auburn University, the Medical College of South Carolina, Rollins College, New Brunswick Theological Seminary in New Jersey and others.

During Dean Bowman's absence the responsibilities of his office will be under the general supervision of Dean Woodward. Mr. Glenn Gentry will be responsible for planning and coordinating the details associated with student registration for the spring quarter.

Dean Bowman was in an accident two weeks ago and is in a Nashville hospital.

British Comedy Opens Tonight

"George and Margaret" is a British light comedy by Gerald Savory that will be presented by the Austin Peay Playhouse on February 12, 13, and 14.

The action takes place in the home of Malcolm and Alice Garth - Banders at Hempstead. Malcolm is a rather absent-minded, likeable sort of person that does manage to keep in touch with the affairs of his family. Alice is a busy sort of person that actually doesn't do anything at all.

The Garth-Banders' daughter Frankie is a lovely young lady who is in love with love. She has a keen wit and doesn't mind saying what she thinks.

A dandy, one her brothers, is a blunt young man with a wild sense of humor. An aspiring pianist, he invites a contemporary of his, Roger Frampton to visit, to find that Frampton is more interested in Frankie than in a keyboard.

Clady, the maid, provides the love interest for Claude, the pompous older brother. His mother prefers Claude to marry someone "in his own class."

Beer is a rather unusual maid in the Garth-Banders household.

The title characters, George and Margaret, are indescribable.

Curtain time for "George and Margaret" is 8:00 p.m. The production will be staged in the auditorium of the Clement Fine Arts Building on campus. Admission is 50¢ for students, $1 for adults.

PREPARING FOR PLAY — Murry Hawkins, stage manager for the forthcoming AP Playhouse production, Gerald Savory's "George and Margaret", discusses a flat construction problem with John G. Griffin, director of the comedy. Linda Dutton, the "wife" in the show, and Murry's wife-to-be, looks on. "George and Margaret" will be presented Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, February 12, 13, and 14, in the Clement Auditorium on campus. Curtain time is 8:00 p.m.

THE ALL STATE

The All State is the official newspaper of the Austin Peay State College. It is published every Tuesday during the academic year, except for examination periods and holidays, under the general management of Sherwin Cliff, Director of Public Information.

Cheers Or Paper Cups?

Tension and excitement gripped the fans last Thursday night as they watched the basketball duel between AFSC and UT Martin Branch. At various times their exuberance exploded into a multitude of sounds and motions. Some screamed; some pounded their neighbor; some clapped wildly, or gave out with shrill whistles. And others threw paper cups.

The cheers and applause gave invisible support to our team as they set up the winning plays. The paper cups only distracted the players as they repeatedly had to throw them off the court.

It would seem that no real fan of the AFSC roundballers would deliberately do anything that might cost us an important game. Yet, one of the freshmen basketball players sitting in the crowd again and again threw paper onto the playing floor. This was inexcusable since this boy, of all people, should have known better. It was finally necessary for the announcer to ask that the spectators refrain from throwing objects onto the floor.

There were also times when the decisions of the referees were greeted with boos from the home section. Admittedly, they may not always have been right, however, that still does not excuse the bad manners displayed by a few of the Austin Peay State students. The conduct of the UTMB fans was even worse than ours, but we are going to put ourselves on their level?

Following the final two games this week the basketball team will represent our school in the VSAC tournament. We all know that win or lose our boys will give their best. As spectators our behavior should be such that it does not hinder our team's chances of winning or reflect on our school. Which is it going to be, fans, cheers or paper cups?

Getting out this publication is no picnic. If we print jokes, people say we are silly. If we don't, they say we are too serious. If we clip from other newspapers we are lazy to write it ourselves.

If we stick close to the job all day, we ought to be out hunting up news; if we get out and try to hustle, we ought to be on the job in the office. If we don't print all contributions, we don't appreciate genius; if we do the paper is filled with junk.

If we make a change in a fellow's writing, we are too critical; if we don't we are asleep. Now, like as not someone will say we swiped this from another paper.

WE DID!

USAF Recruiters

To Visit AFSC

The U. S. Air Force selection team from the U. S. Air Force Recruiting Office in Clarksville, Tenn., will make an informational visit to Austin Peay State College on Feb. 12. Comprising the personnel from Detachment 311, USAF Recruiting Service-Clarksville are Maj. Edward J. Quirk, Jr., Maj. Edward T. Lynch and Sgt. Earl O. Dean, the local Air Force Recruiter.

This group will be available to furnish information concerning all Air Force programs and take applications for the Air Force Training School program. This program allows college graduates to receive an Air Force officer's commission after a brief 90-day preflight type training program. Subject applicants will work in the career field they select and have an opportunity to get their Master's Degree. The selection team will be located at the Student Center from 9:30 a.m. til 4 p.m.

Further information about any of the U. S. Air Force programs can be obtained by contacting Sgt. Dean at 111 South 2nd Street, Clarksville, Tenn., or phone 647-6586; night 645-2156.

APSC Cowards

A sweet young thing sat all forlorn.

Alone on Friday night,

Within the confines of her room,
Her tears flowed down in gloom.
Of all her efforts to suppress
The shame and pain she bore,
Because a date she did not have—
But this she'd done before.
We'll broken - hearted sighs
And sobs.

She cried herself to sleep,
Convinced that she was dateless now.

Because she was a creep,
But this is not the case at all.
For she is not to blame,
It's just that APSC's boys, it seems,
Refuse to play the game.

The boys don't mind the company
Of girls, both young and old.
They don't even mind to spend
Their hard earned cash and gold.

The only thing they fear, I guess,
Is that the girl won't go.
To be refused is such a shame,
And, all his friends would know.

So to save face they never call
To ask the girls for dates,
And underneath the cause for all
A girl who hesitates.
So girls, to catch a fellow,
Who's tall and wavy haired,
The thing you must remember is,
The chances are he's scared.

—The Howard Crimson—

Don't forget: The Valentine Dance will be held from 8:30 to 11 Friday night.
Tickets are free and can be gotten in the Student Center.
Dress is semi-formal.

Student Forum

BY THERESA MARKHAM

"The All State's" editorial last week criticized rather harshly our present Student Center and advocated that we have a bigger better building with more recreational facilities. It's true that it's crowded at certain times in our present building, but it seems to me that before we could hope for anything better we should be able to take care of what we have. Often I have gone into the main room of the Student Center and been unable to find a seat, not because they were all taken, but because the group that had been there before had left such a pile of debris on the table that it wasn't suitable to be used again.

There are trash cans in each room, and even if they were too much trouble to use these, it's unnecessary to tear the napkins and paper cups into shreds before scattering them on the table. I agree with the editor that we need a bigger and better Student Center, but since we don't why not make the best of what we have by helping to keep it clean.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,

On Wednesday, Feb. 6, this student was treated to another of the usual displays of "discipline" which are presented by many of the Austin Peay State College students each Wednesday morning beginning promptly at 10 a.m. An assembly program is also held at this time and can sometimes be heard if you strain your ears to hear over the mild roar created by these people.

Other than offering entertainment and a place to meet and chat-act, assembly is a class in conduct and self-discipline. Obviously, it is a class which should be expanded to meet the needs of students. Any person who graduates from college and has failed to learn self-discipline and good manners might as well have spent the four years in a dungeon.

Granted that some of the programs lack the power to keep us interested for the full 50 minutes; but, life isn't all goodies and fun as the restitens ones will soon find out. If these students plan to put their college education to use and make something out of their lives they are going to have a hard time because people on the "outside" won't put up with their bad manners.

When Dean Woodward spoke at the end of assembly we had before us an example of an "Educated" man. The dean put into words what many of us had been thinking for a long time. If we, as students of Austin Peay State College, could get half as much out of college as Dean Woodward obviously did, then we could consider ourselves mature, educated adults. Let us hope his little talk had some effect on these people.

Respectfully,
Thomas E. Stamper

Summer Jobs To Be Had

The 1963 "Summer Employment Directory" contains a comprehensive list of 1,485 organizations throughout the United States which want to hire college students this summer. Specific jobs with salary, name of employing official, and suggested procedure for making application are given.

The jobs are found at summer camps, resorts, national parks, summer theatres, hospitals, ranches, restaurants, pools and beaches, various departments of city, state, and federal government, the government, business and Cincinnati 32, Ohio. "rush" industry, and other places. There for first-class mailing.

The new "Summer Employment Directory" may be obtained by sending $5 to National Directories, Dept. C, Box 32065, Cincinnati 32, Ohio. "rush" industry, and other places. There for first-class mailing.

Wibking Receives Doctorate

Dr. Robert Wibking, associate professor of geography at Austin Peay State College, received his Ph.D. degree Feb. 7, from the University of Nebraska in Lincoln, Neb.

Dr. Wibking, who lives with his wife and four children at 2322 Canterbury Road in Clarksville, came to APSC at the beginning of the Fall Quarter in 1962. Prior to coming to APSC, Dr. Wibking spent four years at Kansas State Teachers College where he completed his research and field work on his doctorate dissertation.

The subject of Dr. Wibking's dissertation was "The Geography of Cattle in Flint Hills, Kansas." Dr. Wibking received his Bachelor of Science degree from Eastern Illinois University in 1949. In 1951 he received his Master of Arts degree from the University of Kentucky.

From 1951 to 1954 Dr. Wibking taught at the University of Missouri in the Geography Department. He was in the Army Map Service in 1954-55.

Dr. Wibking spent two years 1955-57 in residence at the University of Nebraska in preparation for his work on his Ph.D.

When asked about his association at APSC Dr. Wibking said, "I am very well satisfied with the facilities here at Austin Peay State College. The staff and faculty, as well as the students are all very cooperative and friendly. It is a pleasure to work with them."

Since his arrival at APSC the Geography Department has established a weather shelter and set up some geology display cabinets. Dr. Wibking said additional facilities and additions are planned for the Geography Department in the future here at Austin Peay State College.

Mrs. Doris W. Milton, chairman of the Department of home economics at Austin Peay State College, attended the Association of Southern Agricultural Workers last week.

This year education will enable these students to fill the positions which require technical knowledge immediately upon graduation.

Dr. A.E. Darlow, President of Oklahoma State University and President of the Association of Southern Agricultural Workers stressed a wide general education for students majoring in home economics and agriculture.

Approximately 1300 college and university professors from 14 southern states attended the meeting which was held in Memphis.

Jim Stewart has jumped from Class C baseball to triple A. Next season the highly talented Stewart will play for Salt Lake City, Utah. If you are not familiar with the different classes, triple A ball is one step short of the big time. Jim's remark upon receiving his new contract was: "I didn't stop to read it, or ask any questions, I just signed the dotted line." We'll be looking for Jim next playing for the Chicago Cubs in the famed Wrigley Field.

James Sugg, a mere 155 pounds, standing 5-9 and as fast on the hardwood as a cat, has impressed many this year with his excellent defensive ability. I will stand to be corrected, that Jim is by far the best effective defensive player on the "Govs" roster. He isn't a scoring threat, but no team could overlook his desire and determination. He sure proves one point of controversy, the little man should never give up and say, I'm too small.

I believe a special congratulations should be given to both Ken Rose and Roger Purty for their high scoring efforts against Western Kentucky. They scored 45 and 37 respectively. The "Baby Govs" won 120 to 91.

By the way, I wonder if anyone else noticed what an excellent job the cheerleaders did in the Belmont game? They stood, cheered and yelled encouragement to their team all the way, even though they were losing. (At first, I'll bet you thought I was talking about our cheerleaders! Did anyone see them? I believe they were there, but I'm not sure.) It seems to me that if Belmont's cheerleaders and others can get as enthusiastic as they do while their team is getting beaten badly, ours could do something except clap their hands and do a little dance when the band plays! We have the vocal power at our home games to blast the top of the gym off, but, unluckily, no one to lead us. One reason we don't tear the gym down with our voices is that our cheers are long and complicated, and another is that our cheerleaders cannot or will not lead. You should shorten and modernize the yells, girls, and get out there and "get with it," instead of sitting on your "Glorious Maximus". I am not referring to all our cheerleaders, as I am sure you know we have a couple of outstanding girls. I can't help but make comment on the loyalty of two of our cheerleaders who showed up when we played David Lipscomb in Nashville. The weather was too bad for spectators to go, but two girls despite the snow and ice, got there in time to cheer the boys on to victory.

Along the same line is our over publicized "Blazing Staters." I'll admit you did a wonderful job our first game of the season against Transylvania, but, and I'll repeat but, where have you been since? If I were one of the five or six people who are representing your club at the ball games now, I would be so embarrassed I would be forced to drop your club. I believe I am correct in saying your club is on the way out. So why not give your marked section of the bleachers to some of our more energetic rooters. I am afraid you are no more than statues, and are proving your highly chosen group isn't panning out to be as it was meant to be. It's a fact you don't support our cheerleaders in any way.

Govs Win Two Of Three

BY JOHN MARTIN

During last week's basketball games the Governors won two games at home and lost their only road game.

The two victories were over the Belmont Rebels by the score of 98-64 and the University of Tennessee Martin Branch Volunteers by a 20 point margin, 77-57.

APSC went down to only their sixth defeat of the year when they traveled to Carbondale, Ill., to play the Southern Illinois University Salukis. The score was 81-61.

In the win over the Rebels the Governors were led by Doug Stamper (25 points), Henry Murray (16 points and 18 rebounds), Steve Miller (14 points) and Richard Keller (10 points).

The victory over the Baby Bobs assured the Big Red of at least a tie for their seventh straight regular season Volunteer State Athletic Conference title.

The Governors were led by Murray (22 points and 19 rebounds), James Sugg (14 points), Stamper (13 points) and Miller (nine points and 10 rebounds).

Spotlight

HENRY MURRAY

This week's Spotlight pick is Henry Murray, 6-6 junior center from Nashville, Murry, displaying the brand of ball which earned him a starting position last year, led the Govs in scoring with 50 points and in rebounding with 45 rebounds, in last week's games.

In the loss to Southern Illinois the Governors could only hit 29.0 per cent from the field while SIU was hitting at a 44.8 per cent clip.

The only Governor to hit in double figures was Henry Murray with 12 points. Jackie Winders (9), Jim DeForest (8), Sugg and John Briggeman (7 each) were the other point getters for the Govs.

The Governor's record, through the game with Southern

Govs Seek

VSAC Crown

By TONY BOEHMS

The Governors, in their final week of regular season play, will be shooting for their fifth straight VSAC Western Division title Thursday night when they host Bethel College.

The Govs clinched a tie for the division championship last Thursday by trouncing U-T Martin 77-57 and an APSC win would see the Govs bow out of the conference with honors.

The Bethel clash should be a yardstick for both teams as they prepare for the VSAC tournament next week.

The Arkansas State Indians will invade the Memorial Gymnasium Saturday in a rescheduled contest that was postponed earlier because of bad weather. The Governors will be out to better a 75-71 overtime win over a tough Indian squad.

The Freshman team will close out their play for this season hosting Murray State Thursday, a Ft. Campbell game Saturday and then traveling to play a postponed engagement with Murray State on Wednesday of next week.
