SGA plans faculty evaluation

By WAYN GASAWAY

"It is time we did it ourselves," stated Mike Fletcher, president of the SGA, "negotiating has been going on between the SGA and the administration for two years and the students at APSU still do not have a chance to evaluate their teacher."

The SGA passed a resolution last spring calling for a faculty evaluation. The resolution was motivated by an opinion poll that was taken last spring. The poll's results were that 91 per cent of the 530 students who responded were in favor of a faculty evaluation.

Faculty members who responded were also in favor of the faculty evaluation. Their tally was 58 per cent of the 31 who responded were in favor of the evaluation.

Evaluation plans

The faculty evaluation is planned for mid-November.

Definite plans have not been made but according to Bob Cooper, sophomore class president and chairman of the Faculty Evaluation Committee, there will be a table set up on the lobby floor of the University Center for students to fill out the evaluation forms. Students will have to show their ID's before receiving an evaluation form. The results will then be given or said to the students.

"As well as being beneficial to the students, the evaluation will also benefit the teachers," said Bob Cooper, "this will help the teachers in self-improvement."

"Even though the administration may disagree with the idea of a faculty evaluation," Fletcher stated, "Universities across the nation already have faculty evaluations and have had them for some time." Fletcher went on to say, "by no means is this going to be picking on the teacher. We just think it will help both the students and teachers in the long run."

Fletcher added that the faculty evaluation will become a reality only if the students will work together.

NTEA meeting cancels classes

No classes will be held Friday, Oct. 12, because of a Middle Tennessee Education Association Meeting.

The APSU library will be closed due to the meeting.

New course in wine lore bubbles in 8 tasty weeks

A non-college credit course in wine, home production of wines, home production of wines, domestic and imported, the course will include discussions on Directing the course will be two of Clarksville's well-known students of wine, Dr. Charles Young, chairman of the department of art, and Dr. Ed Irwin, chairman of the department of English.

In addition to the eight weekly tastings of representative wines, domestic and imported, the course will include discussions on kind of wine, geography of wines, home production of wines and other matters related to the full enjoyment of wine, a vital and health accompaniment to the good life.

Enrollment in the course, which is open to persons on campus and off campus, to university students and others, will be limited to 30.

Those interested should contact the office of James Vinton (648-7816) to reserve a place in the course prior to the first meeting which is scheduled for 4:30 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 17.

The meeting place for the course will be announced later; fee for the eight-week course is $16.

12 teachers change titles

Twelve members of the faculty at Austin Peay State University have received promotions in rank, according to Dr. Herbert F. Stallworth, vice president for academic affairs.

Associate professor to professor promotions include Dr. Don Der, English; Dr. Hayden Jolly, education and English; Dr. Donald Lambert, education; and Dr. Allan Williams, education.

Advancing from assistant professor to associate professor are Dr. Duane Forderhase, philosophy; Dr. Richard Gildrie, history; Dr. Bruce Myers, mathematics; Dr. Clayton Powers, health and physical education; Mary G. Windham, nurse education; and Dr. Richard Yarnes, education.

Promotions from instructor to assistant professor include James Gupron, mathematics; and Clarence Herd, English.

DON'T GET DITCHED - Students who do not make frequent trips to the library might wind up in a ditch. This sewer hole has been dug up since school began and with the length of time its taking to fill, a sign should be posted that reads "Slow Men Working."

Freshmen pick officers; few bother to cast votes

Freshmen elected three no-contest candidates to executive positions last week. Thomas Powell received 129 votes to become class president. Two write-in candidates, Danny Gardner and Greg Scale, polled one vote each.

To fill the vice presidential spot was Virgil Rasche with 115 votes over write-in Tommy Batson's one. Moninda Buggers won the secretarial race with a total of 113 to 4 over write-in Susan Shepherd.

Five out of seven senatorial positions were filled in the first primary. Winners were Carrie Williams, 92 votes; Sandi G. Wright and Mike Jerles, 86 each; Linda Shanklin, 81 and Phyllis Bowers, 75. Run-off victors were Bonita Wilson with 49 votes and Susan Taylor with 41. Julia Wells and Rita Russell polled 39 votes apiece in that race.

Poor turn-out

Out of a total of 1,115 freshmen registered, 135 ballots were cast in the primary elections. The new freshmen officers voice several reasons for the poor turn-out. Among them are the ever-present student apathy, poor publicity and the short time available between registration and elections.

Officers suggested some solutions to the problem. Miss Buggers volunteered to follow up and broadcast all plausible ideas presented to her.

Jerles would like to see freshman registration placed on a one-to-one basis, with one student "who knows what's what on campus" acting as a "big brother" to each freshman. He thinks that there is too much material presented too quickly for a new student to absorb. "Many freshmen weren't aware that the elections were Tuesday, or even how important they could be," he said.

Vice president Rasche proposes to support anyone who needs to face the administration with a problem.

All the new officers expressed their willingness to listen to everyone who wishes to be heard. They all want to get to know their classmates and to get rid of the idea that it is "cool" to be apathetic and uninvolved.

What is the Student Tribunal?

By STANLEY QUARLES

What is the Student Tribunal? It is not a school newspaper. It is the student judicial system at Austin Peay State University. The whole judicial system was recently turned over to the students after the creation of two new positions, the student defender and the attorney general.

The duties of chief student defender shall be to: (a) provide defense for student(s) brought before the Student Tribunal if requested by such student(s); (b) co-ordinate assistant student defenders and acquaint them with the rules and procedures of the Student Tribunal.

The duties of the attorney general shall be to: (a) provide student prosecution in cases brought before the Student Tribunal; (b) co-ordinate assistant student generals and acquaint them with the rules and procedures of the Student Tribunal; (c) serves as advisor on legal and judicial matters to SGA Senate and Executive Branch.

Traffic Court

Another service that is still offered to the students is the Traffic Appeals Court, which enables the student to appeal a traffic violation. The Traffic Appeals Court will consist of three members, two students appointed by the SGA president and one faculty member.

The Student Tribunal itself consist of six associate justices: Tom Mink, Dominick Azara, Ernestine Dumas, Janet Harlow, Elaine Moore and Elijah Cunningham. There is also the Tribunal clerk and the chief justice.

All the cases of the Student Tribunal are conducted in the procedure which are stated in the Code and Guideline of the Student Tribunal. Whether a case is open to the student body is decided by the defendant. But the Tribunal would like to extend a welcome to any student to attend any open session of the Student Tribunal.

SGA takes initiative in faculty evaluation

The SGA is finally beginning to show the university that it has enough gumption to stand on its own. They have shown this by their recent action to go ahead with a faculty evaluation even though the administration has not been too receptive to the idea.

Two years ago there was a so-called faculty evaluation conducted by the administration according to their taste. The evaluation was vague and did not concentrate enough on the teacher. The results were never given to the students.

Evaluation to be published

This time plans are different. The faculty evaluation given this time will be more informative and published for the students benefit to know before hand what kind of teacher they are registering for. Another reason for it being published is to motivate the teacher to be more self conscious in his or her style of teaching.

A faculty evaluation at APSU is long over due. The fight for it has now begun. For once the students need to stand together and make the faculty evaluation a reality.

"I, AND ONLY I, HAVE THE MATURITY, TASTE, AND JUDICIAL SENSE TO DETERMINE WHAT YOU SHOULD OR SHOULD NOT SEE IN A MOTION PICTURE, BOOK, MAGAZINE, COMIC STRIP, NEWSPAPER, OR ON TV.

YOU ARE TOO FEEBLE MENTALLY AND MORALLY TO RESIST CORRUPTION BY OUTSIDE SOURCES. SINCE YOU ARE ALL DROOLING IDIOTS, SEEING SEX ACTS OR VIOLENCE IS LIKELY TO INFLUENCE YOU TO BECOME A BLOOD-CRAZED RAPIST. FURTHERMORE, YOU SHOULD SEE ONLY WHAT I LIKE, BECAUSE MY TASTE IS THE ONLY ONE THAT COUNTS.

Obscenity becomes target of the courts

Since the Supreme Court began using firmer controls on freedom-of-expression cases, there has been a lot of discussion about the meaning of obscenity. The courts have found that their major problem is the lack of a common definition of the term.

The courts are running into difficulty because they are dealing with a term that is not mentioned in the Constitution or in the Bill of Rights.

Therefore, the courts have no guidelines to follow when judging obscenity cases. They are dealing purely with their own personal tastes and values.

Movie termed obscene

Recently, we saw a movie theater that was showing "Deep Throat" closed because the movie was branded as obscene. The movie may be obscene, but there was no reason for closing the theater in the same fashion that fascist countries close down the press because they don't like what it prints.

Column came under fire

Two years ago THE ALL STATE ran a column entitled "The Doctor's Bag." This column dealt with topics relating to the human body and mind. In discussing various medical and psychologic problems, the words "penis" and "vagina" were frequently used.

The administrator in charge of supervising the campus newspaper received many complaints about this column. At the present time it is not being used in THE ALL STATE.

Contest received bad vibes

Another incident that occurred at APSU that dealt somewhat with obscenity was THE ALL STATE banner contest, in which a male student posed with only a pair of boots on his feet and a hat covering his genitals for a picture that was used in THE ALL STATE. Again the administrator received complaints, many coming from alumnus who discontinued sending contributions to the school.

The newspaper staff was then told to be careful about supporting any more contests of that nature.

The strongest argument against enforcement of obscenity laws is that no one is forced to read material he feels is obscene or to view movies which offend him. While someone may feel offended when he visits newsstands or bookstalls, he is not compelled to frequent these places.

This is purely an individual matter to be handled by each person in his or her own way.

Medics find gonorrhea

(CPS)—The states of Alaska, Georgia and California have the highest numbers of reported cases of venereal disease in the country.

In the year 1971, out of every 100,000 persons there were 888.0 reported cases of VD in Alaska, 327.4 cases in Georgia and 308.3 in California.

A study conducted in 1972 by doctors in the Memphis, Tennessee area, showed that one out of every six female cases of gonorrhea developed into a pelvic inflammatory disease. The doctors calculate that 179,000 women are hospitalized nationally each year for gonorrhea complications, which includes 122,000 for surgical necessity.

Editor defines letter policy

We welcome all letters to the editor. If you would like to write a letter to the editor we ask that you limit it to 200 words and to one subject. Also we have the right to edit obscene words due to administration policy. All letters will be printed without censorship as long as they meet those two requirements.

Students wishing to write letters must submit them by 5 p.m. Friday for publication the following Wednesday.

NEWS NOTES

AFSU NEWS

Students interested in writing the Austin Peay State University news column which appears in the Sunday edition of the Leaf-Chronicle should submit their name and box number to Johnny White, secretary of Communications, box 6337. Names must be submitted by Oct. 15.

SECURITY

The Security Office has been moved to Rooms 102 and 104 of Ellington Hall. The entrance for the new Security Office is located on the south end of Ellington Hall. The telephone number is 7786.

LIBRARY

The library has announced that it will be closed Friday for the Middle Tennessee Education Association meeting.

The library will also close Nov. 22, 23 and 24 for Thanksgiving Holidays.

Regular library hours are Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.; Saturday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.; and Sunday, 4 p.m. to 10 p.m.

The charging out of materials for loan ends at 9:45 p.m. each evening.

Typewriters are available, without charge, to students in the library. Supplies such as erasers, paper and carbons must be furnished by the user as these will not be available in the library.

ROTC

Nine students have been appointed Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) Scholarship Cadets at Austin Peay State University for the 1973-74 academic year. Lt. Col. Charles E. Avery Jr., professor of military science, announced recently.

ROTC Scholarship Cadets receive tuition and other related academic expense.

Committee studies cases

Have you ever received grades which you felt were unfair or involved discrimination?

Now through the Discrimination and Unfair Grading Practices Committee, students can protest unfairly received grades.

The committee, formed last year, is composed of Dr. Harvey Blank, professor of chemistry and committee chairman; Dr. Don Der professor of English; Mary Walton, associate professor of education; and three students appointed by President Joe Morgan.

The committee will hear any charge by a student against a staff or faculty member involving discrimination based on race, color, religion or sex and any charge involving unfair grading practices.

"The committee, said Blank, "provides the student an alternative. The student knows that he can appeal to a body composed of some faculty members and some student members."

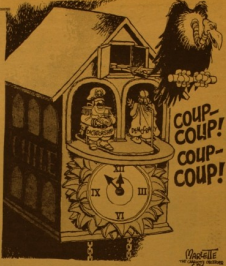

Charges of discrimination or unfairness are usually settled with the instructor, then working up to the department chairman, the dean of the college and the vice president for student affairs.

Future school teachers submit exam registrations

Less than two weeks remain for prospective teachers who plan to take the National Teacher Examinations at Austin Peay State University on Nov. 10 to submit their registrations.

Registrations must be forwarded to Educational Testing Service in Princeton, N.J., according to Dr. Elizabeth H. Stokes, director of testing at APSU, no later than Oct. 18.

"Bulletins of Information" describing registration procedures and containing registration forms may be obtained from Dr. Tom K. Savage, College of Education Office,

Grooms films sequence of plywood art figures

Thursday, Oct. 25, students will get a chance to view two films of comical satire by the well known Tennessee artist, Red Grooms. Shown in the University Center Ballroom, these two double feature films are titled, "Fat Feet" and "Target Discount Store." Showtimes are at 9:30 a.m. and 2 p.m., October 25 and there is no admission charge.

Red Grooms' films have an unusual type animation. Grooms designs life size figures, cuts them out of plywood, paints them and films them while they are laid on the floor. Occasionally, he has the figure's hand held by his wife or other assistants.

This is a time consuming process. Grooms has spent as long as four years preparing and filming a sequence which lasted only thirty seconds on film. Some of the figures have moving parts, but generally this art is sequential still shots.

Grooms' cutouts have often been exhibited in museums, and are excellent examples of his whimsical, stylized manner.

Sing a song of Peay and merry bells that chime

By VALARIE JAMES

"Sing, sing a song... la da dee." Right here on this very page, we have the first batch of entries for The First Annual THE ALL STATE Write-A-Ditty

Contest. The object of the contest is to capture the essence, in song of course (la...da...de...dum) of life on the Austin Peay State University campus. Our first entry comes from H

Back, a transfer student from Notre Dame.

"The Bells of St. Austin"
(Song to the tune of "The Bells of St. Mary's")
The bells of St. Austin do merrily chime on the hour, quarter hour, half hour, et al.
We go to our classes with a ding, ding, ding, dong
And go to sleep with a bing, bing, bang, bong.

D. Orm Livers entry is entitled "The Muldy Rag."
(Song to the tune of "Anchors Away")

Beer can away, everybody,
Dirty socks, too.
Hide the dishes under the bed.
We'll have roomcheck at the break of day.
Though the mold is in the bathroom, spray some Lysol.
Now that we've hidden the hamper,
You can let the room checker in.

Next comes a song from Typee Cal Student. Typee's ditty is entitled "Lament of the Library"

"Lament of the Library"
(Song to the tune of "London Bridge is Falling Down")

Why did I get drunk last night,
drunk last night,
drunk last night?
Why did I get drunk last night?
My head is about to kill me.
How I hate that 8 o'clock class, 8 o'clock class, 8 o'clock class.
How I hate that 8 o'clock class, my prof won't let me wear jeans.
My GPA is falling down, falling down, falling down.
My GPA is falling down, my parents are gonna kill me.
Our last entry for this week is entitled "Shall We Gather At The Trenches?"
"Shall We Gather At The Trenches?"
(Song to the tune of "Climb Every Mountain")
Climb across the trenches
Ford every ditch
Walk across each rickety bridge
Til you fall in

See the pipes
Did you know they were from the still that's under Peering
Climb across the trenches
Ford every ditch
Walk across each rickety bridge
Til you fall in... jic
That's it for this issue.
Remember you still have time to get your entry in before the contest closes.

Simply write a song that you feel reflects APSU life, include your name and phone number and bring it by the Browning Building (the one with the still under it) or drop it in APSU post office box 8239.

All entries will be judged by our panel of expert judges (Erving, Louie and Berferd). The winning song will win a keen prize and be published in THE ALL STATE.

Givens heads committee to revise ALA standards

Miss Johnnie Givens, professor and head librarian at Austin Peay, has been appointed chairman of a committee to revise college library standards. The Association of College and Research Libraries, a division of the American Library Association, announced the appointment of a committee to revise the 1959 "ALA Standards for College Libraries."

The present committee will continue the work on revision begun in 1970 by the committee chaired by Dr. Stanley McDermery, director of the University of Chicago Library. The project goal is to prepare new standards for college libraries that will take account of the many significant changes in higher education that have occurred since adoption of the 1959 standards.

Necessity of revising the 1959 standards arises partly out of the need to re-examine periodically any standards, but arises chiefly out of changes in higher education and the role of college libraries that have taken place since 1959.

Butler says new budget alters style

"We are striving for a new look in this years annual. Although, we had to cut a portion of the color and decrease the book by a few pages due to the new budget, we are confident the book will be comparable to last year's, quality wise," said, Tony Butler, 1973-74 Faceswell & Hall editor.

According to Butler, the plans look good and the yearbook is still inside its budget. The layout and form, with a few variations, will resemble those of past years.

In reference to the $1.25 and $1 charge, Butler explained, "The $1.25 and $1 were not charged for the purpose of raising funds, but to enable us to know the number of yearbooks we need to print. The $1.25 has been charged in the past to assure the student a picture in the yearbook and to reserve a yearbook; that is the basic purpose, it serves this year. The $1 charge is to those students who did not want a picture in the yearbook, but did want to reserve a yearbook."

This year's staff members include Michele Baird, Jeff Ribb, Ron Fontes, Betsy Sites, Anita Kyriakou, Hugh Moore, Laurel Parker, Yock Vinsen, Pat Hunt, Cassandra Corney, Roslyn Reusch, last years editor, will be assisting the staff. The staff expects to have the 1973-74 yearbook completed and available by May.

Recruiters visit schools

Dick Littleton, field representative for Austin Peay State University, has announced the following schedule when APSU recruiters will visit schools in the surrounding areas. Littleton has asked that students who might know of some attending one of these schools to encourage them to see the APSU representatives when they visit the school.

Play's author attends 'Moon'

Attending APSU's production of Dark of the Moon will be the play's author, Dr. Howard Richardson.

The Academy Award winning producer Albert S. Rudoy, who produced The Godfather, will also be in attendance, according to Richardson.

Currently, Richardson, who is writing the screen play of Dark of the Moon, and Rudoy, who will be producing the film, are coming the South for southern actors to appear in the movie.

"I view Dark of the Moon as a product of a society that often places great emphasis on conformity," states Dr. I. J. Filippo, chairman of the speech and theater department, and director of the play.

"In rejecting diversity of individuality, we condemn the unusual through irrational means. In this particular show, religious fanaticism compounded by mountain superstition results in extraordinary complications for a sensitive, loving couple."

Rachel Martin portrays Barbara Allen, a girl who falls in love with a witch boy named John. "Barbara is really an average sort of girl," said Miss Martin. "Her love for John is enough to overcome her past training and help her forgive him for her delinquent baby, but mass condemnation and the hysteria of a revival force her into the one thing she wishes least. Her plight is tremendously sad."

Johnny Woolam portrays the witch boy John. "I am really excited about playing this part, because I think John is a very subtle, very touching character." Production dates are slated for Oct. 24, 25 and 26 at 8 p.m.

Baseballers divide pair with Murray St.

Middle Tennessee hosts Governors Saturday

By RICKY BENTLEY

Amid the blaring of the radios announcing the scores of football games throughout the area, the Austin Peay State University baseball Governors were "kicking off" their own season Saturday afternoon.

The Goves opened their Ohio Valley Conference fall baseball schedule last Saturday by splitting a double header with defending Western Division champs, Murray State. The Goves bounced back after a 6-1 opening loss to take the second game 3-0.

Middle Tennessee State and Western Kentucky also divided a pair Saturday leaving each Western Division team with a 1-1 record.

In the opener, senior Dallas Cheesman was selected to start on the mound for the Governors. However, Cheesman's appearance was short-lived as the Racers blasted four hits and scored six runs to send Cheesman to the showers after two-thirds of an inning. One of the hits was a three-run homer by Rick Weisman.

Head coach Joe Ellenberg called on freshman left hander Daryl Ulery in relief who kept the final out without further damage.

The Governors' only run crossed the plate in the first inning. Ronnie Farrell led off with a double before Mike Whaley produced out. Charlie Sorey then singled in Farrell. However, the Goves couldn't bring any more runners home and ended the inning trailing 6-1.

Rickert lost for season

In the second inning the Governors were dealt a sharp blow with the loss of center-fielder Bob Rickert. Murray's Leon Wirth hit a ball to shallow center. Rickert charged the fly, dived, but fell short in his effort to reach the ball, landing on his right shoulder. The impact broke his right collarbone and will bench Rickert for the remainder of the fall season.

Neither team was able to add to their first inning work and the score ended 6-1.

Greg Engler earned the win scattering three hits and fanning four Governors. Austin Peay's Hilis allowed only four hits in his six and two-thirds innings of work.

Junior southpaw Gary Anders was tapped to hurl the second game and hurl he did.

Anders went five innings without giving up a hit. On his way to picking up the win, Anders struck out seven Racers, including all three batters in the second inning. Anders was relieved by Jerry Steadman for two innings after being lifted for a pinch hitter in the fifth.

The Goves threatened in the first frame as Sorey walked with two out. Karl Wirtz singled Sorey to third and Jim Carson walked to jam the bases. But Wirtz was forced out on a grounder to third by Pat Dennis to end the inning. It was the fifth inning before Austin Peay could manage a run off Ed Sims.

Roger Young pinch hit for Anders, reaching first base on an error by shortstop Jack Percotte. Farrell bunted and pinch-runner Whaley did in ahead of an attempted force at second. Dave Simonton bunted Whaley to third and Farrell to second.

Carson drives 'em home

With only one out Sims walked Sorey intentionally in hopes of getting a double play. But Carson lined a shot up the middle to score both Whaley and Farrell. On the throw home, Carson tried to stretch the single into a double but got hung up between first and second. While Carson was being run down, Sorey scored giving the Goves their third and final run.

Steadman, in the relief role, allowed only one hit giving Anders and Steadman a combined one-hit shut out.

Even though it may be premature to look to the 1974 football season when half of the 1973 season still remains, there is good reason to.

When the talents of Austin Peay State University's freshmen footballers are analyzed, it is easy to see that there is a definite future in football at Austin Peay.

And possibly there is even immediate hope for this season for the Governors.

Austin Peay has only won one game as opposed to four losses. But despite the record, there have been bright spots for the Goves, in particular the performances of several freshmen.

All in all, there have been 12 different freshmen to earn a starting birth in at least one game this season. And there are half-a-dozen more that have performed in key backup roles.

The freshmen are perhaps the strongest at the pass receiving positions.

Terry Northern is leading the team in receptions with seven, all caught against Morehead State Saturday. And Ron Bailey has added much excitement to the Gove corps of receivers. Bailey has caught six passes for 202 yards, an average of better than 33 yards per reception.

Royce Holman, Joe Copeland and Richard Woods have also gotten into the act of receiving.

Franklin Blair and Mike Elmore are the top fresh running backs for the Goves and both have caught a pass.

Offensive linemen Ronnie Dowell, Donald Williams, Rodney Nobles, Terry Margum and Scott Perry have logged considerable playing time and have drawn praise from head coach Jack Bushofsky at one time or the other.

"Mercury Man" Jimmy Reynolds leads the Governors in tackles with 38 individual stops for the season. He also has nine assists. Danny McCullough and Terry McCabe have also drawn important defensive assignments.

Harriers in WK Invitational; injuries are a major concern

The Austin Peay state University cross-country team might be able to place well in Saturday's Western Kentucky Invitational meet in Bowling Green, Ky.

And then again, the Goves might not be able to place at all.

Two of Ken Gunter's harriers have injuries that could keep them out of action. Louis Rookis has a pulled tendon in his foot and Irving Sweat has a bad back.

That leaves only three regulars, David Reintjes, Oscar Morgan and Charlie Gever, healthy.

"If we had everybody running, we could place well," said

Gunter. "We have the strongest team in the history of Austin Peay but we have been in trouble all fall because of injuries."

Sweat is a possibility for the Saturday run but Rookis is doubtful. Doug Studebaker will replace Rookis if he is unable to make the trip.

Gunter trooped Reintjes, Morgan and Gever to the David Lipscomb Invitational last Saturday to compete in a field that included 12 schools. The Governors of course did not have a team score, but the individuals did a respectable job.

Reintjes led the APSU contingent with a time of 21:04 over the four-mile Percy Warner Park layout, good enough for second place. Morgan earned fifth with a 21:13 clocking while Gever was 13th with a time of 22:00.

Reintjes and Morgan bettered the old course record of 21:53.

"We ran well," rendered Gunter. "But, we didn't run as well as I thought we should. Of course it's still early and we should improve quite a bit."

Mark Gentry of Harding College was the top trotter of the David Lipscomb meet with a time of 20:51.

Morehead loss a tough one

The Austin Peay State University football team has one-and-a-half weeks to forget about Saturday's 23-22 loss to Morehead State and prepare for the Govs' Oct. 28 homecoming showdown with Middle Tennessee State.

Even though Austin Peay's loss at Morehead was a tough one to swallow, the Governors showed definite signs of improvement.

The Govs had more first downs, more yards passing, more total offense and a better punting average than the Eagles in APSU's bid to spoil Morehead's homecoming.

Junior quarterback Rick Christophel had his finest game as a college signal caller which was another bright spot. The Reading, Ohio, native rushed for 70 yards in ten attempts and was accurate on 17 of 26 passes for 382 yards and two touchdowns. His total offense figure was 322 yards, nine yards short of John Kok's 1989 total of 341 against Murray State. Kok's record came when he completed 26 passes to Harold "Red" Roberts for an NCAA record.

Austin Peay played Morehead on better than even terms, statistically speaking, for the entire game. But in the end, Morehead quarterback Dave Schaetzke was the determining factor.

Austin Peay had taken the lead 16-15 with 6:34 to go in the game when Mike Elmore bulled in for the score from 11 yards out, carrying three defenders with him the final four yards. Bill Hammon added the extra for the lead.

Morehead had the ball at their own 36 after the kickoff return. And Schaetzke really went to work.

Schaetzke carted the ball 11 yards for a first down.

Austin Peay then held three MSU running plays to two yards and Morehead was faced with fourth and eight. So with time diminishing, the Eagles went for the first down. It was Schaetzke again, this time in a keeper to the right side for 11 yards to the AP 40, which turned out to be the game's big play.

After a short gain, Schaetzke hit wide receiver Mark Altberger up the middle with a good strike, and Morehead led 21-16. The Eagles went for two with Schaetzke faking into the line and skirting left and for the conversion with 3-42 showing on the Breathitt Sports Center clock. Christophel brought his Govs right back by finding Terry Northern for five yards and Royce Holman for 14 to move the Govs from their own 20 to the 41. Christophel then popped a swing pass to Elmore who raced down the left sideline 19 yards for the score.

Head coach Jack Bushofsky elected to go for the win instead of the tie but the two-point conversion pass attempt (from Christophel to Northern) was too high and the Govs were stuck with their third straight OVC loss in as many games and fourth loss in five starts for the year. Morehead scored the first touchdown of the game on their first possession with Ray Graham capping an 11 play drive by latching onto a six-yard Alex Bravener pass.

Austin Peay scored their first points when Holman caught a six-yard Christophel pass with 7:33 left in the first half. The Govs went for two but Paul Cooley's attempt to score after a swing pass was inches short of the goal line.

However, the Govs took the lead with 24 second remaining in the half on a 23-yard field goal by Hammon to put APSU in front 9-7.

Morehead regained the lead with 7:31 showing in the third quarter on a four-yard run by Frank Jones. Schaetzke passed to Bob Brockman for two to push MSU in front 15-9 and that was how the score remained until the final stanza of play.

Hammon led the APSU rushing attack with 87 yards in 20 attempts. Terry Northern gathered in seven passes for 48 yards while Royce Holman caught four for 38. Ron Bailey caught two for 73 yards.

Lady volleyballers split with Fisk and Middle

The Austin Peay State University women's volleyball team will travel to Cookeville tomorrow for a triangular match with Tennessee Tech and Middle Tennessee State.

The lady Govs, who return only two members from last year's squad, are currently 1-1 for the year. Middle Tennessee defeated APSU 7-15, 15-7, 15-4 before the Govs came back to spike Fisk 15-9, 15-3 in a triangular match in Memorial Gymnasium Friday afternoon.

In the other match in the Friday triangular, Middle Tennessee dumped Fisk.

Christophel top back

Austin Peay State University quarterback Rick Christophel has been named Ohio Valley Conference "Back of the Week" following his performance against Morehead State last Saturday.

Christophel, a junior from Reading, Ohio, guided his Governors to a near upset of Morehead in the Eagles' homecoming game. However, a missed two-point conversion by the Govs in the final minutes gave Morehead the win.

Christophel hit 17 of 26 passes for 382 yards and two touchdowns. He ran for 70 yards more in 18 attempts giving him 332 yards total offense for the day.

Linksmen leave for Illinois appearance

By BOBBY LOWRY

Austin Peay State University's linksmen left today for Normal, Ill., to participate in Illinois State's annual Red Bird Invitational Golf Tournament. The two-day affair concludes on Saturday with 18 holes after Friday's 36 holes. Participating in this tournament for the Governors will be Mike Carn, Leon Hawk, Eddie Gleichman, Joe Burgeon, Bruce Wallace, and one player to be named.

In addition to Coach Walton Smith's charges, teams from Illinois, Indiana, Bradley, Missouri, Nebraska, Indiana State and host Illinois State will be represented.

Last Friday and Saturday, the Governors competed in the Etowah Valley Invitational in Etowah, N.C. Of the 17 teams taking part in the affair the Govs placed fourth.

Leading the pack was East Tennessee with a score of 602 on the par-71 course. The Bucs were trailed by Furman (608), Clemson (609), APSU (614) and Ohio Valley Conference counterpart Tennessee Tech was far back with 640 strokes.

Mike Carn led Austin Peay and tied for third in medalist honors with a 75-76-151 total. Leon Hawk shot an 83-71-154. Eddie Gleichman 75-78-156, Bruce Wallace 78-81-159, Joe Burgeon 77-87-164 and Bob Cartwright 86-83-171.

The East Tennessee duo of Bill Rislove and Skeeter Heath finished one-two in medalist honors. Rislove with a 148 and Heath with 150 strokes, six and eight over par respectively.

The Governors were fifth going into the final day of competition and Coach Smith termed the Govs' showing a "fair performance, but I felt like we should've placed second with a good effort," on the rain-soaked course.

On Monday and Tuesday, Austin Peay took part in the Opryland Invitational Tournament on the Old Hickory Golf Course in Nashville, but the results were not known at press time.

Pikes preseason pick to win flag football crown

Phi Kappa Alpha, better known as the Pikes, will battle ATO tonight at 6:30 p.m. on the Austin Peay State University intramural flag football field to headline this week's intramural schedule.

The Pikes have won two consecutive intramural flag football championships and is the preseason pick to do it again. Meanwhile, ATO has been ranked third in the preseason poll announced by IM director Bob Neilson.

Other games tonight will feature ROTC and Mission Impossible in a 6:30 game and Sigma Chi versus Sigma Phi Epsilon at 7:30. KAPO and BSU will also meet at 7:30.

Three leagues with four teams make up this year's IM football picture. Each team will have a six game season playing each team in its own league twice. The divisions are the AFL, NFL and Fraternity leagues.

There will be a single elimination playoff between the two teams with the best records at the end of the regular season to determine the champion.

THE ALL STATE will publish the top eight teams each week. The poll is the effort of the IM office.

In addition to the No. 1 Pikes and the No. 3 ATO squad, the Rockies are rated second, Sigma Chi fourth, Midlits fifth, ROTC sixth, KAPO seventh and BSU eighth.

In other IM action, the intramural single elimination tennis tournament began Monday with six women and 16 men entered in competition. "And weather permitting, the champions should be decided in the next two weeks," said IM director Neilson.

All rosters for women's volleyball teams are due tomorrow to the IM office.

A rules meeting, which is required of all team captains will be next Monday at 8:30 p.m. in Memorial Hall, room 104.

"If team captains are not present for the meeting, the team will be dropped from the league," warns Neilson. "It is very important that all captains attend. We will explain all rules not only of competition but of the league itself so all teams will understand the rulings."

Entries for the cross-country meet must be in no later than Tuesday. The one-mile cross-country meet is open to all individuals or teams and will be run Oct. 18 at Dunbar Cave.

There will be a required meeting for all team captains Oct. 17 at 8:30 p.m.

Five-way tie possibility this week in OVC race

Murray State and Western Kentucky remain in the top spot of the Ohio Valley Conference football race following non-conference wins Saturday.

But East Tennessee State, Eastern Kentucky and Morehead State are pushing for first place with weekend wins under their belts.

Murray and Western are 2-0 in conference play and face Middle Tennessee and Tennessee Tech respectively Saturday. Both Middle and Tech are winless in the OVC.

East Tennessee, Eastern and Morehead will retain their 2-1 loop marks through the weekend. All three schools play non-conference foes.

If Middle Tennessee and Tennessee Tech notch upsets over Murray and Western, there will be a five-way tie for first place.
