WE BEGIN OUR SECOND QUARTER

Yes, now we are beginning our second quarter century in the educational field. The past twenty-five years are history; let us prove that our sojourn has not been in vain. The remembered past is gone; the promising future lies before us, depending upon us. We must meet the challenge!

WHERE WE HAVE BECOME BETTER ACQUAINTED WITH ACTIVITIES

Participation in extra-curricular activities helps develop more well-rounded individuals. These activities are designed to perfect the student's personality and to promote the morale of the student body.

WITH PERSONALITIES

Sometimes we cry for more exciting and varied activities, but we also enjoy doing the simpler things—coke dates in the Student Center, shopping tours in Clarksville, or bull-sessions in the dorms. We join in the formal and informal get-togethers, hayrides and hamburger feasts, football games and snake dances, and sunrise services. These are the reflections of our social mirror.

AND SOCIAL LIFE . . .

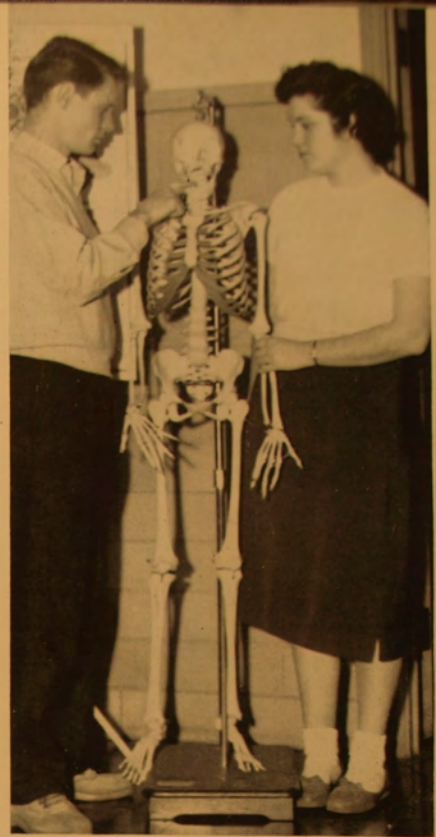

WITH THE ACADEMIC MOVEMENT . . .

Probably the richest gains that we have received from Austin Peay have come from our associations with our instructors and from the series of studies to which they have presented us. They have been the motivating factors in opening the doors to vast and challenging spheres of learning. Now they may cast proud glances to APSC's prosperous past and progressive future and believe that we shall leave here prepared.

AND WITH THE GOVERNOR SPIRIT

AND EVERYDAY LIVING

The Governor spirit is more than the enthusiasm for a game. It is a spirit of common understanding, trust, support, and friendship; a spirit of individuals, living and working together, with mutual efforts to gain experience, knowledge, and wisdom. It has been part of our education.

1930-1946

On the city's northern border, Reared against the sky, Proudly has stood our Alma Mater, And twenty-five years have gone by.

FROM a Normal school to a senior college with a graduate division, our college has endured growing pains to rise and become a leader of educational institutions; we know that we can be justly proud of our school.

Prior to the establishment of Austin Peay Normal School, this campus had long been the site of institutions of learning. As early as 1806, Rural Academy was established by the State Legislature. Mt. Pleasant Academy replaced the Rural Academy in 1811 and was itself superseded in 1825 by Clarksville Academy.

In 1851, the Masons took over the Clarksville Academy grounds, buildings, and equipment under the name of Montgomery Masonic College. In 1855, the Masonic institution became Stewart College, named in honor of the president of the institution, William M. Stewart. During the Civil War, the college exercises were suspended; and part of the time, the old Castle building and the campus were occupied by Federal troops. After the Civil War, however, the Presbyterians of the Southwest chose the Stewart College campus as the site of their Southwestern Presbyterian University. They accepted the grounds, buildings, and endowments from the trustees of Stewart College; and Dr. J. N. Waddel became the first Chancellor and attempted to make SPU the "Princeton of the South." In 1925, Clarksville saw Southwestern Presbyterian University move from the city's northern border to the southern border of the state.

Continuing the tradition of being a beacon to higher learning, the same campus was again made the site of a college in 1927, when the General Assembly created Austin Peay Normal School, as a junior college for the purpose of training teachers for the elementary schools of Tennessee. The institution was named in honor of Austin Peay, the fortieth governor of Tennessee and a resident of Clarksville. The City of Clarksville donated to the state the campus and buildings of Southwestern Presbyterian University which had been moved to Memphis, and the new $300,000 school was opened for approximately one hundred and thirty students on September 23, 1929, with J. S. Ziegler as its first president. In the spring of 1930, the Diploma of Graduation from Austin Peay Normal School was awarded to the first graduating class.

President Ziegler died in office in May of the same year and was succeeded in the fall of 1930 by Dr. Philander P. Claxton, former United States Commissioner of Education. During President Claxton's administration the school was authorized by the General Assembly in the spring of 1939 to offer a third year of work and in the fall of 1941 a fourth year of instruction. During this time the institution began the task of preparing teachers for the secondary, as well as, for the elementary schools of the state. In addition, the school expanded its curricula to include general studies, pre-professional training, and vocational education.

In the spring of 1942, the Bachelor of Science degree was conferred upon the first graduating class. February 4, 1943, Austin Peay Normal School became Austin Peay State College by act of the General Assembly. In July, 1946, Dr. Claxton was retired by the State Board of Education as President-Emeritus, without portfolio; and Halbert Harvill, long-time Dean-Registrar of the college, was elected to the high position in August, 1946.

In 1951, the College was authorized to offer a curriculum leading to the Bachelor of Arts degree; and 1952, the state granted the institution the authority to establish a fifth year of advanced, professional work leading to the Master of Arts degree in Education.

These steps made Austin Peay State College the multi-purpose institution of learning that it is now. Its 1953 enrollment has grown to 1000 students, and the plant valuation has reached $4,000,000. We are determined that it will progress further in the next quarter century and will continue to be respected by the other institutions of Tennessee.

DEDICATED IN MEMORIAM

No matter how long the freshmen remain at Austin Peay State College, they will never realize the experience which they have missed in not having known Mrs. Catherine Evans Harvill, the devoted wife of our distinguished president. Twenty-five years ago, when Halbert Harvill came to this institution as professor of history, he brought with him a person who would prove to be a source of inspiration to him, to the faculty, and to the student body.

A great Christian character, an enthusiastic worker, a leader in civic and church activities, a woman with a warmth of friendship and personality, Catherine Evans was born in Marshall County, Tennessee, January 11, 1903. Educated at Martin College, Pulaski, Tennessee, she became Mrs. Halbert Harvill April 21, 1925, and took her place beside her husband at APSC in 1929. Loved by all, Catherine E. Harvill took the college to her heart; its triumphs she heralded, and for its continued progress she tirelessly labored.

No more gracious First Lady could have inhabited the white house which serves as the President's residence; its doors were open to the Student Wives, of which she was the sponsor, the faculty, distinguished visitors of the college, and the students to whom she sympathetically listened.

In the summer of 1953, Mrs. Harvill succumbed to an enduring illness. January 21, 1954, the embers of the guiding light of our president and institution slowly burned out, but the fire of her memory burns brightly as a constant inspiration to the institution for which she so ably strove—Austin Peay State College.

Because of her life and her devotion and services to our college, the staff of the 1954 FAREWELL AND HAIL wishes to pay its highest tribute to Mrs. Catherine Evans Harvill. To her living memory the twenty-fifth anniversary edition of the FAREWELL AND HAIL is respectfully dedicated.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

With President Jim Johnson at the helm, flanked by Robert "Monk" Lewis, Ray Baker, and Anne Miller, the student ship of state set sail upon a sea of work and progress. Eleven able seamen, with the assistance of the pilot, Joseph T. Sutton, steered the bow towards the best interests of the students and the school. The pep rallies, the Student Handbook, the informal dances in the Student Center, and APSC Day at the Blood Bank were successful because of the effort put forth by the Council.

Now the 1953-54 ship is returning to its port where it will be "dry-docked" in memories of a job well done. Memories of such occasions as the crowning of Miss Betty Rye Leech as Iris Queen, election of new student body officers, and the splendid handling of Freshman initiation, will live to inspire next year's crew as it pursues the entrusted course of student governing.

The Claxton Chapter of the Future Teachers of America, the first professional organization of its type to be established in Tennessee, became affiliated with the National Education Association on December 7, 1939. The FTA movement was inaugurated in connection with the Horace Mann Centennial and the Centennial of Teacher Education 1937-39, and the first college chapters were organized in the spring of 1939.

To promote greater interest in the educational field is the primary goal of the FTA. This association, designed to give to the students enrolled in the elementary or secondary education curricula practical experience in working together in a democratic way, seeks to familiarize prospective teachers with the history, ethics, and program of the organized teaching profession.

In September, members of the Claxton FTA sponsored the Freshman Coke Party, welcoming newcomers to this institution. At Christmas the student body was again reminded of the holiday season by the annual Christmas Tree Lighting at the nativity scene. Book Week was turned into a successful financial venture. Where you see active clubs on the AP campus, there you will see the Claxton FTA in full swing.

For all students who enjoy singing, there is a place in the Austin Peay State College Choir. The Choir, composed of mixed voices, is one of the oldest groups on the campus, and was founded September, 1937, by the Department of Music in an effort to stimulate interest in group singing. Members of this group gain invaluable experience in choral singing and a greater understanding and appreciation of the best music. Throughout the year the Choir has sung a variety of musical compositions—sacred, folk, and contemporary American, both serious and popular.

No one can forget the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, "Trial by Jury," which was presented in Chapel at Thanksgiving under the baton of Edwin Stover, Charline Estelle Moore, director Charles L. Gary, George Grise, James Blake, George Boswell, Jesse Fowle, and Lew Bodine sang the leading roles of the one-act musical. Nor will anyone forget the reverence that the Choir added to the memorial services for Mrs. Catherine Evans Harvill, January 27, 1954.

The College Choir, under the direction of Dr. Charles L. Gary, has been a valuable addition to APSC.

What enthusiastic sports fan can imagine a football game without the crisp notes of the band filling the air! As the whistle blows, the well-organized band, as well as the team, goes into action. At appropriate intervals, the martial strains lend themselves to the enthusiastic cheering of the spectators. Our band here at Austin Peay State College has done much to further school spirit among the students and to goad the Red and White on to victory. Every home football game has witnessed the band in action—playing in the stands and performing on the field at half-time. As the season rolls by, and we come indoors to support the basketball team, we find the faithful band continuing to bolster the team.

Whether at a football game, pep rally, or basketball game, we can always be justly proud of our Governor band.

The All State is designed to give the students of Austin Peay State a chronicle of events on the campus, as well as to give practical experience to those students who are interested in journalistic work.

Under the guidance of Mr. Charles Waters, director of public relations, the staff of the All State gains proficiency through actual practice of editing, writing, proof-reading, and managing a student publication.

"Eager to promote a closer bond among students of Education and to enter into more intimate fellowship with those dedicated to the cause of teaching as a profession, for which specialized preparation is deemed imperative, the members of the Illinois Education Club, established at the University of Illinois in 1909, resolved to sponsor the founding of a national society with local chapters similar to its own organization, thereby aiming to foster high standards of preparation for teaching and to invite into bonds of fellowship those who have attained excellence of scholarship and distinction of achievement as students and servants of Education.

"Successful in its endeavor, the Illinois Education Club was re-organized on March 8, 1911, and incorporated June 8, 1911, under the laws of the state of Illinois as the honorary educational fraternity, Kappa Delta Pi. In 1932, this title was changed to Kappa Delta Pi, an Honor Society in Education." This is the preamble to the constitution of the Kappa Delta Pi, a national honorary society which was established at Austin Peay State College in 1953.

Lambda Sigma Lambda, one of the newest organizations on the campus, was formed in 1952 as the English Club, initiated in the interest of English majors and minors. However, any student who enjoys reading, writing, or dramatics is encouraged to participate in the activities.

At the regular meetings, in addition to the business, a program is usually presented which brings into the open the available talent on the campus. From time to time, pieces of creative writing are brought before the group which analyzes them, suggests improvements, and points out good techniques of composition.

The Christmas program, to which everyone was invited, was the main project of the year; M.E.N.C. shared the responsibility of this production which is becoming a traditional affair. AΣA rounded out its activities with frequent informal gatherings, an assembly program, an original Homecoming Float, "It's in the Book!" and an annual banquet.

An outstanding addition of twelve young freshman women to the group was the first accomplishment of the girls of the Alpha Club of Myra McKay Harned Hall in 1953. The Alphas continued to strengthen their position of campus prominence with an outstanding record in scholarship, activities, and social functions.

Red and White emphasized Alpha participation in the Homecoming Parade and festivities. "Goodwill Week," a project held at Christmas by each club, added the holiday spirit to the women's dormitory.

The Valentine Ball was a long-to-be-remembered event for the Alphas. They triumphed over the other Harned Hall clubs when President Harvill crowned Louise Glover and Jesse Lamberth, the Alpha candidates, King and Queen of Hearts.

As the school year draws to a close, the students who are leaving the Alpha Club will long remember the good times and gay friends that were shared. Nor will they forget the assistance that Mrs. Ann B. Abelson has given them throughout the year.

The Betas opened the school year with a top-quality group of thirteen new members. As the year progressed, this organized group of women demonstrated to its sister organizations of Myra McKay Harned Hall that it would not be left behind. With cooperation from the Alphas and Omegas, and under the careful supervision of the Women's House Council, the Betas sponsored the Valentine Ball. Emma Jean Caroland and Billy Craig, Beta candidates for King and Queen of Hearts, made the group proud of their choices.

The club is proud to have as members such outstanding people as Ann Gary, President of the Women's House Council and a Campus Favorite; Betty Rye Leech, Vice President of the Women's House Council and Iris Queen; Jo Coleman, cheerleader and Miss APSC of 1954; Dorothy H. Nolen, Campus Favorite; and Sylvia Smith, Iris attendant. The Black and Gold feel that the women who represent them are the best—scholastically, personally, and socially.

The Betas attribute a large part of the year's success to the able leadership of their sponsor, Mrs. Bertha Cayce.

A total of fourteen new members were welcomed into membership in the Omega Club in September, as school rolled off to a big start. Before long the Omegas were showing the Alphas and Betas, their sister organizations, that competition would be keen in any endeavor in which they participated. To prove this point the Omegas proceed to take first honors among the entries of cars from the dormitory in the Homecoming Parade.

The green and white colors in Myra McKay Harned Hall stand for determination, and in the hearts of each resident there is a special place for the club for selling snacks on two "nights in" each week. This project proved to be extremely popular with the girls of the dormitory and profitable to the members of the club.

Omegas were proud of their candidates for King and Queen of Hearts, Mary Dudley McClendon and Bobby Givan.

What group could not go far with people like Anne Miller, Secretary-Treasurer of Student Council, and Campus Favorite; Patty McReynolds, cheerleader, secretary of the Women's House Council, and Iris attendant; Erma Dean Berry, assistant editor of the FAREWELL AND HAIL and Campus Personality; and Bonnie Garrett, Campus Favorite?

Miss George Chapman will regret to see the 1953-54 organization disband for the summer, and the girls will miss their good times together.

The Presbyterian students on the campus have formed the Westminister Fellowship, which is closely correlated with the First Presbyterian Church. Each Sunday evening the college group meets with the local organization for a snack supper followed by a program of singing and worship.

For the first time in several years the Westminister Fellowship has started holding regular meetings on the campus. On the first and third Tuesday of each month the group meets for a short devotional service and recreation.

One of the main projects of the year was the raising of money to support the work of the Synod of Tennessee Financial Objectives, which helps to finance various needy institutions. In December, the president and program chairman attended a four-day youth convention held at Alabama Polytechnic Institute. Members of the Westminister Fellowship also made plans to go to Chickasaw State Park for a retreat sponsored annually by the Synod of Tennessee.

The Baptist Student Union links the activities of its members with those of the local church. Through the efforts of the B.S.U. college students are able to continue their church affiliation even though they are away from home. This organization endeavors to deepen the spiritual lives of its members by sponsoring various religious activities throughout the year. Devotional services are held at 12:30 each Monday, Wednesday, and Friday in the chapel. Students of all denominations are invited to attend these inspirational meetings.

Highlights of this year's program have included a "get acquainted" party which introduced newcomers to the B.S.U.; a convention held in Johnson City to which five members representing APSC journeyed; the refreshment booth which served students during registration week at the first of school; and the Baptist Religious Emphasis Week with Dr. Allen West of Nashville as the speaker.

The Baptists are especially proud of their first veep, L. J. Hatcher, who has been selected as one of six summer missionaries sent out by the Baptist Students of Tennessee. The people of Jamaica will be fortunate in having this product of Austin Peay.

Composed of students who are affiliated with the Methodist Church, the M.S.M. seeks to make religion more meaningful not only to its members but also to the entire student body. Its aim is to provide students a means through which they may integrate education with religious training while attending Austin Peay State College. Through the M.S.M., which works closely with the local Methodist Youth Fellowship, the local church extends a welcoming hand to out-of-town students.

The M.S.M. rounded out the year with a program of balanced activities. Along with various other groups here at A.P., it supported the services devoted to "Religious Emphasis Week." During the month of February, two of its members attended a vocational guidance meeting held in Nashville, Tennessee. In addition to monthly meetings, which have featured several outstanding speakers, the M.S.M. calendar included such social events as a hayride, a square dance, and a skating party. Entering into the spirit of Homecoming, members of the M.S.M. pooled ideas and constructed a float for the parade. By combining spiritual enlightenment with fun and fellowship, the M.S.M. has had a most successful year.

The Galois Club, associated with Tennessee Academy of Science, Collegiate Division, was established in 1946 to develop an interest and an appreciation of the power and beauty which mathematics possesses.

One of the outstanding achievements of the club has always been the annual sponsorship of the Galois Mathematics Tournament, in which high school contestants throughout the state travel to APSC in the spring to compete for honors. In 1953, first place among the schools participating was given to Hillsboro. Second and third places were presented respectively to Clarksville in the geometry division; Ashland City in the algebra division and Clarksville in algebra division.

A checker and chess tournament, was inaugurated in the fall by the Galois Mathematics Club. Competition, open to any student enrolled in the college or to the faculty, was especially keen. Such an enthusiastic response was experienced that the club hopes to establish the contest as an annual event.

Like Austin Peay State College, the Galois Mathematics Club, because of its aspirations and accomplishments, is proud to take its place beside similar organizations of Tennessee.

The Home Economics Club, which is open to all students enrolled in the Home Economic classes, endeavors to prepare its members for the task of building the homes of tomorrow. In addition, this organization strives to promote social contacts on the campus, to improve both school and home life, to establish high standards for college students, and to provide an opportunity for its members to work out projects in Home Economics. Members of this group use their skill to contribute to the success of nearly every social function at Austin Peay.

The 1953-54 program included plans for a faculty tea, "Open House" in the attractively furnished Home Economics apartment for all the students, and the financing of a representative's trip to the Home Economics Convention held in Knoxville, Tennessee. Hard work and original ideas produced a Homecoming float of which the club could be proud—a birthday cake, representing our twenty-fifth anniversary, topped with human candles!

Through the Industrial Arts Club, all students who enjoy working with machinery, wood, and metals are given an opportunity to share their common interests. Students majoring or minoring in the field of industrial arts are encouraged to join the club, since it offers a broader, over-all perspective of the work carried on in classes. The purpose of the club is to foster student participation in the extra-curricular activities of the Industrial Arts Department and to promote a better understanding of the IA field. The monthly meetings present educational films, as well as prominent speakers in the field of industrial arts. Field trips also help to introduce club members to new information.

Members have been active in carrying out various projects during the year. They helped to repair toys for distribution at Christmas time and built a float for the Homecoming Parade. Representing the college's twenty-fifth anniversary, the exhibit demonstrated the originality of the group and received a well-deserved third place in the judging. The IA Club climaxed the year with an annual banquet.

Again this year, the Agriculture Club took honors in the Homecoming festivities. Their float won for them for the second consecutive year the much-coveted "First Place." Established to coordinate the efforts of all those students interested in the many phases of agriculture, the Ag Club enters into all activities on the campus. The agenda for 1953-54 included several social outings for club members and a square dance which was sponsored in cooperation with the Home Economics Club for the enjoyment of the student body.

The primary objective of the Ag Club is to encourage and acquaint its advocates with better and more advanced agricultural techniques. Through this organization students studying agriculture are prepared to face future problems and thus look forward to a more pleasant and profitable farm and home life.

THE IRIS QUEEN'S COURT

Pleasant memories of the Spring of 1954 at APSC are left within the hearts of all students; the Iris Ball, sponsored by the Student Council, was the high point of the spring social calendar.

Betty Rye Leech's selection as Queen of the Iris is a tribute from the entire student body for her vivacious personality, charm, and winning ways. When the students made their selection, they must have had in mind someone with a pleasing disposition, "Southern drawl," flaming red hair, sparkling eyes, and a comely figure, for such is the girl whom they chose. Betty, vice president of the Women's House Council, is a biology major; but her interests lie in other fields, too. She has appeared in two plays, "The Man Who Came To Dinner" and "The Skin of Our Teeth," and is a member of the Future Teachers of America, Beta Club, and Choir.

Sally B. Ramsey, 1953 Senior Class Queen, has combined physical education and English into a major interest. A member of Lambda Sigma Lambda and the Physical Education Majors Club, Sally served as president of the latter during her junior year.

Patty McReynolds, a business administration major and 1953 Valentine Queen, is a lively lass with blond hair and blue eyes. Her enthusiasm and personality shine through all that she attempts at APSC. A member of the Methodist Student Movement, the Business Club, the Future Teachers of America, the Omega Club, and the All State staff, Patty has been elected to fill a high position in the Women's House Council and to cheer the teams on to victory as one of APSC's cheerleaders.

Mary Mattingly, Secretary-Treasurer of the junior class, has been selected for the second straight year as an Iris Queen attendant. Mary, an elementary education major, was Sophomore Class Queen in '52, Junior Class Queen in '53, and last year was a candidate for "Miss Campus of Tennessee."

Sylvia Smith, another business administration major, has been selected twice consecutively to serve as Iris Queen attendant. Homecoming Queen attendant in '52, she has been a member of the Band, Choir, Beta Club, and Business Club. Her slender figure, dark hair and eyes, and friendly smile added the finishing touches to the court of the Iris Queen.

These nine seniors join that group of notable persons who, since 1948, have been recognized in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" at Austin Peay. Having distinguished themselves as intellectual and social leaders in campus life, they have been selected by the faculty and administration to fulfill this position.

To qualify, a student must have held at least one elective office for one year in some type of college organization recognized by the Administration; or must have been active in at least two organizations of the College for at least one year; or must have received one superlative or annual recognition voted by the students, instead of one year's active membership in a club, as described above; or must have received an award through some college organization recognized by the school.

The publication of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" was originated in 1934 with the idea of creating one national basis of recognition for college students.

Students become members without cost, and a certificate of recognition is awarded to them by the organization. In addition to the certificate of recognition, a placement service, conducted for the benefit of senior and graduate members, is available. The right to purchase and wear the key emblem of the organization is also presented to the participants.

Benton Adkins, president of the Methodist Student Movement, has combined a chemistry and biology major in preparation for Vanderbilt's medical school, where he will begin his studies in the fall. An active student, Benton has served on the FAREWELL AND HAIL staff for four years as co-sports editor and on the All State staff for his first two years as sports editor. His membership in the Men's Glee Club, Student Ministerial Association, and Student Council, and his service to the institution have awarded him membership in "Who's Who."

Tom Bayham, Jr., a mathematics major, is president of the Future Teachers of America, Galois Club has been fortunate to have Tom as one of its ardent supporters for the last three years; he served as vice president of the group in his junior year. A member of the business staff of the 1951 FAREWELL AND HAIL, Tom has been appreciated and respected by both students and faculty who elected him to membership in this honorary society.

President of the Men's House Council for '53-'54, Durward Harris has proved his ability and service to Austin Peay. Circulation manager and news editor for the All State, Durward may be better known as "Space Filler." The educational field will be fortunate in having this distributive science major among its folds. As a representative to the Student Council for his sophomore and junior years and a member of the Future Teachers of America, he demonstrated the characteristics which gained him recognition.

Business-minded Brown Harvey, Jr. has served as business manager for the FAREWELL AND HAIL for three of his four years at APSC. The trust of the students of the sophomore class was placed in his capable hands as they elected him as their president in 1951. Throughout his college career, Brown has been an active member of the Business Club. He was one of the modern-minded young men who took advantage of the new opportunity to learn Home Economics and became one of the first male Home Economics Club members. Seeing the qualities of leadership and service in Brown, the faculty could gladly list him among the other outstanding winners of the honor.

During her college career, Jo Ann O. Hoffman has served as club editor and assistant editor of the yearbook staff. As a history major, she was well qualified to edit the twenty-fifth anniversary edition of the FAREWELL AND HAIL. Because of her service to the All State staff as society and exchange editors, the band, and the school, the faculty had no difficulty in electing this lass to membership in the society.

Jim Johnson, 1954 Governor, has combined a double major in English and Biology. As vice president of his sophomore class, Jim proved his worth and was re-elected to fulfill the same capacity in his junior year. Vice president of the Phi Alpha Nu, feature editor of the All State, member of the Men's Glee Club, Choir, Men's House Council, and the Future Teachers of America, Jim proved to the student body that he was well qualified to lead their student government. He proved his qualities to the faculty, too, who recognized his service by electing him a member of "Who's Who."

Men's House Councilman, Harold Knight, represented APSC in the Tennessee Academy of Science as state vice president. Harold was vice president of the Galois Mathematics Club in 1952 and president of this organization in 1953-54. He helped originate the Eta Rho chapter of the Kappa Delta Pi and became a charter member of the group. On these qualifications and his scholastic standing, Harold was admitted to the honorary group.

Annelle Lyle, vice president of the M.E.N.C., is a music major. She has been a member of the band and choir during her four years, secretary of Galois Mathematics Club, Eta Rho chapter of the Kappa Delta Pi, and the band. Her service to APSC and outstanding scholarship led the faculty to elect Annelle to this honor.

Paul Sanders, a chemistry major, is preparing for dental school at U.T. in the fall. He has been co-sports editor of the 1953 and 1954 FAREWELL AND HAIL. During his junior year, Paul was a member of the All State staff, and this year is a member of the Arena Club. An enthusiastic student, Paul was a wise selection to represent APSC in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

LEON SANDIFER
Assistant Coach

The largest staff Austin Peay State College has ever had has been headed by Head Coach David B. Aaron, who has been at the helm of the Austin Peay Grid-iron Convoy for nine years.

R. Donovan Gary has been here since 1949, lending a strong hand of guidance to the backfield material. He came from Uncle Sam's Air Force, where he was a pilot of a different type, but he navigated the switch quite well.

Kenneth Cooper, who joined the ranks in 1951, is the maestro of the charging linemen. He came from the Baltimore Colts.

Coach Leon Sandifer, returning from a leave of absence, rounds out the list of athletic directors.

SEASON'S RECORD

The big "Red and White" of Austin Peay opened the 1953 season with a 21-13 victory over East Tennessee State College at Johnson City in a driving rainstorm. Back home at Clarksville they whalloped Henderson State for a 34-6 opening home game.

The trip to Florence, Alabama, brought slight disappointment as the Florence State men eked out a 14-13 advantage. Coach Aaron's men bounced back home to swamp the Delta State eleven 20-0 for their third win, and marched over Jacksonville State 47-16 the following week.

Carson-Newman slightly clogged homecoming happiness as they hussled a four point edge in beating A.P., 18-14. South Eastern Missouri beat the Governors 19-6, and Murray State won the final game of the 1953 Governor Football Season with a score of 33-13.

A HISTORY OF FOOTBALL AT AUSTIN PEAY

THE beginning of the sports program in those years which have become familiar to us as the depression years must of necessity have been a struggle. At that time the institution was a two-year teacher training Normal School. Not until 1939 was a third year granted by the legislature; and two years later, in the fall of 1941, Austin Peay State College became a full four-year institution for higher learning.

Some of the earliest football data show that the team of 1930 had a record of 3 wins, 4 losses, and 1 tie. That year Austin Peay was coached by Mr. Scott Alden, and his team met such teams as: Vanderbilt Frosh, Lambuth College, Murray State Frosh, U.T. Junior College, Tennessee Polytechnic Institute Frosh, Murfreesboro State Frosh, and Cumberland University.

In 1933 intercollegiate football was abandoned at Austin Peay Normal School, due to insufficient funds for such activities. Football was discontinued for several trying years until the fall of 1936, when Mr. Fred T. Brown was named Director of Athletics and Head Coach of the newly formed team which adapted the name of Austin Peay Normal School Terrors. The new team won 2, lost 5, and tied 0.

The team of '37 gave the fans some real entertainment and opened a new brand of football to Clarksville by 2 wins, and 6 losses in very closely contested games which were frequently played against highly rated teams.

The team of 1938 went by the title of Governors, a name that has stuck and been upheld by all subsequent teams. The team of '38 won 3, lost 5, and tied 1, defeating such teams as South Illinois, Martin College, and U.T. Junior College by respectable margins.

In 1939 the Governors scored 89 points to the opposition's 98, as the Red and White won 4 and lost 5. By this time Austin Peay was on the map as a fine contender of sports.

Football was discontinued during the war years, and the Red and White was curtailed for that period. Emerging with growing pains from the expansion program of becoming a four-year college, the Governors started off in 1946 under the direction of Coach David B. Aaron, by winning 5, and losing 4 against such teams as Cumberland University, Western Kentucky State, M.T.S.C., U.T. Junior College, Bethel College, and Vanderbilt Reserve. The Governor team racked up a total of 141 points to the opponents' 188.

In 1947 the Governors broke even, winning 3, losing 3, and tying 1. Austin Peay was on the gridiron band wagon again.

The 1948 squad went to war with its opponents and won 3 and lost 2 while it was gathering 258 points against 116 of the opponents.

Once again in 1949 the Governors rolled over eight teams while bowing to only two. They ran up a total of 236 points and suffered only 83 at the hands of the opposition which were Troy State, Jacksonville State, Union University, Athens State College, Arkansas A & M, Maryville College, and the Camp Campbell "Angels." The days of "breather" games were over!

A record of 5 wins, 2 losses, and 1 tie was mustered by the team of 1950, as they scored 160 points to their foes' 75. L. E. Oakley was elected to the first team on the Little All-American team, and Phil Krug received honorable mention. Six APSC griders were voted All V.S.A.C. that year.

A lag of winning ways hit APSC in 1951, and the team was able to muster only a single win and one tie, while losing 8.

The team of 1952 won 7, lost 2, and tied 1 for one of the best seasons witnessed at ole APSC, as they crushed such teams as Arkansas A & M, Delta State, Union University, Jacksonville State, Troy State, and Milliken.

GRIDIRON GLANCES — 1953

A lot of things are to be remembered about any football season; and the Campaign of 1953, as it was waged by the Governors of Austin Peay, is no exception. The record to be found in words and pictures on this page and the following pages of this section is of course incomplete. We have only attempted to point out a few highlights. Let your memory take it from there.

As we proceed, we wish to pay tribute not only to the men who represented us so well on the playing field but also to some of the many others who deserve credit for the success of the season.

The publicity director, William B. Clevenger, Jr., was always on hand to be certain that anything worthy of note which happened in the Governor camp was brought out for all to see.

One might also remember the cheerleaders exciting the "Big Red" to fight when they were behind and cheering them on when they were victory-bound.

Mitchell is off to the season's longest run.

Crunch!

Bodine's trained animals

The records show that the "men of Aaron," playing in the line, made plenty of space for the backs to charge through; and charge they did, averaging 217 yards on the ground. This figure was some fifty yards per game more than the opposition could manage against the defense displayed by the Governors.

All of the puffing and blowing was not on the field, however. For in the stands doing their best to enliven the team and to give it that extra boost which so often means victory instead of defeat was the cheering section.

And when I say four . . .

The first team-rough 'n ready!

What's your favorite memory concerning Homecoming? A float on which you so earnestly labored? The ole hometown band marching in the parade? Meeting an old friend or former classmate who found his way back for the festivities? Or could it be the bonfire, or maybe the snake dance, or perhaps the dance after the game?

June, is that John Ed's eight-ball?

The big game was the only sore spot in the ceremonies of the weekend for the Governors and their supporters. An uncooperative Carson-Newman eleven managed to eke out a narrow victory over the "Big Red;" but all in all, Homecoming was a happy occasion.

W'as inna poke?

Well? Who won?

On the way of compiling a season's record of four wins and four defeats, the Governors received 41 kicks and returned them 759 yards, averaging 18 yards per try. The Governors were forced to punt 46 times; their opposition returned the boots 603 yards for an average of 13 yards per try.

Part of the yardage gained on kicks was lost in the original distance of the boots, for in this department the opposition held a slight edge. Our opposition averaged 42 yards for 26 kickoffs and 36 yards for 53 punts while we averaged 41 yards for 33 kickoffs and 34 yards for 43 punts.

Don't hit him again

Hey Monk! Send up an S.O.S.

Hit somebody, Moose!

We realize that this year's Governor squad was a superior group of athletes. The boys on the team played hard and practiced hard. This team was a group often beset with injuries and loss of key personnel; however, regardless of what happened, they took their knocks without whimpering and proved to one and all that they were real men, worthy of wearing our school colors onto the fields of athletic endeavor.

For all the thrills you have given us and all the memories you have left with us, we wish to say "thank you," men of the 1953 football squad.

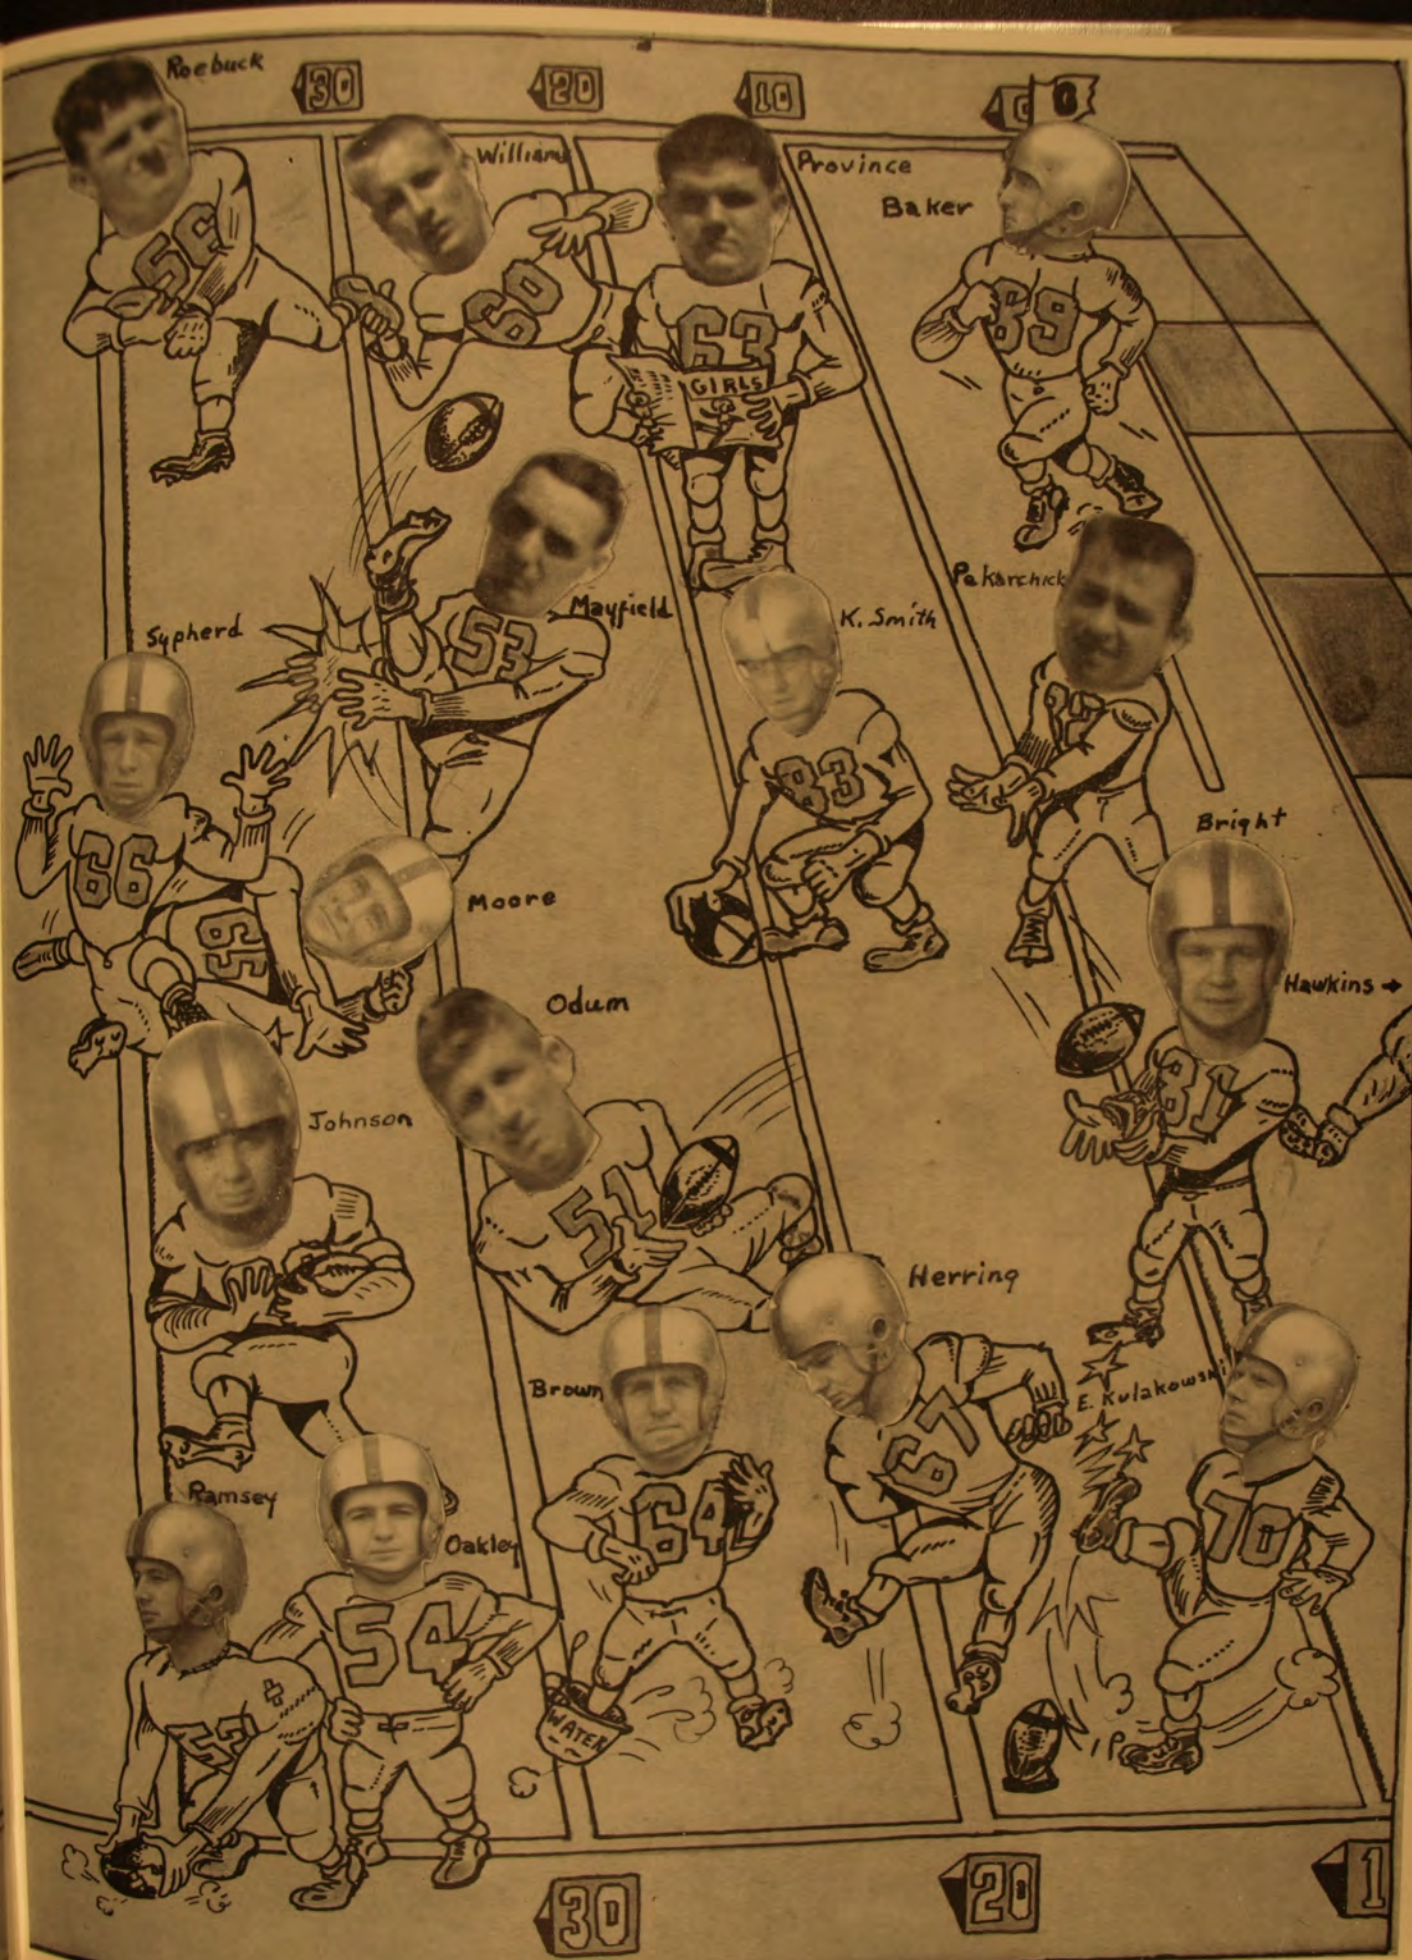

Where's Patty?

Look what's coming, bud.

COACH AARON

1953-54 BASKETBALL

RON CARNEY
Manager

Coach Aaron met the 1953-54 basketball season with a squad containing only four members from the previous year's cage crew. The above situation was brought about when the army stepped in to claim the services of Tom Morgan and Jackie Hunt, just prior to the opening of the season. The four holdovers were Earl Chance, Donnie Holmes, Freddie Harrison, and Gene Trotter. Bill Craig, a former Austin Peay player, returned from military service to add a fifth man with experience in the Aaron school to the squad. Men seeing their first action in Governor uniforms were Dickie Elliott, John Rendek, Jim Cummings, Glen Britt, Ken West, and Eddie Evans.

With so many newcomers to the squad it was only natural that the boys could not work nearly so well as a unit during the first games as they did later in the year after they had learned the peculiarities of their team-mates. All these boys are expected back next year, and we should be able to expect a fine season.

The season's record for the Governors showed more victories than defeats. Possessed with a team short in experience, APSC can only attribute its final record to tremendous hustle and squad morale which were evident in abundance at most any Governor games.

Leading the scoring parade for the Governors on a points per game level was Jim Cummings, a transfer from Vanderbilt who was ineligible in VSAC games, with a 22.08 average. Earl Chance and Dickie Elliott tied for the total points scored lead with 316 each.

Man, that's two points!

Shoot Earl.

Everyone please count Jim's arms.

Nope! Too far to the port.

Freddie Harrison—ALL V.S.A.C.

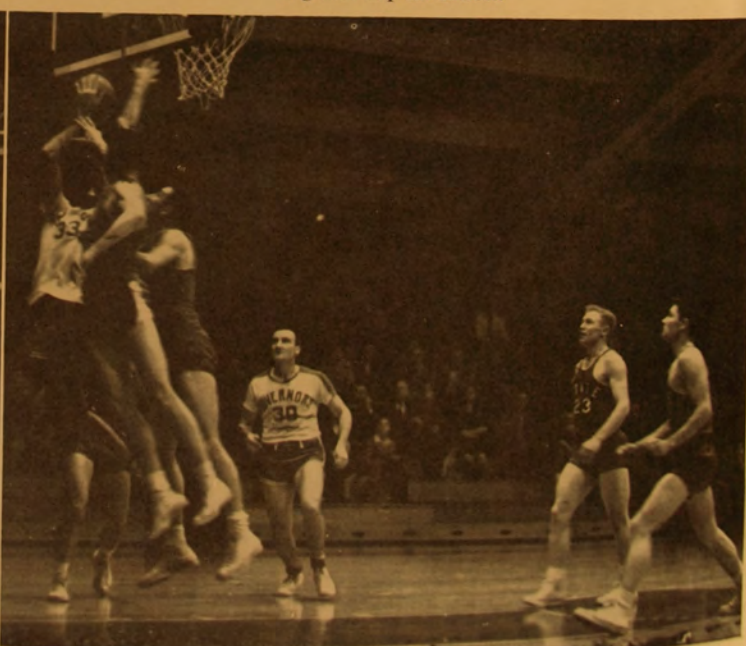

And it's Cummings again.

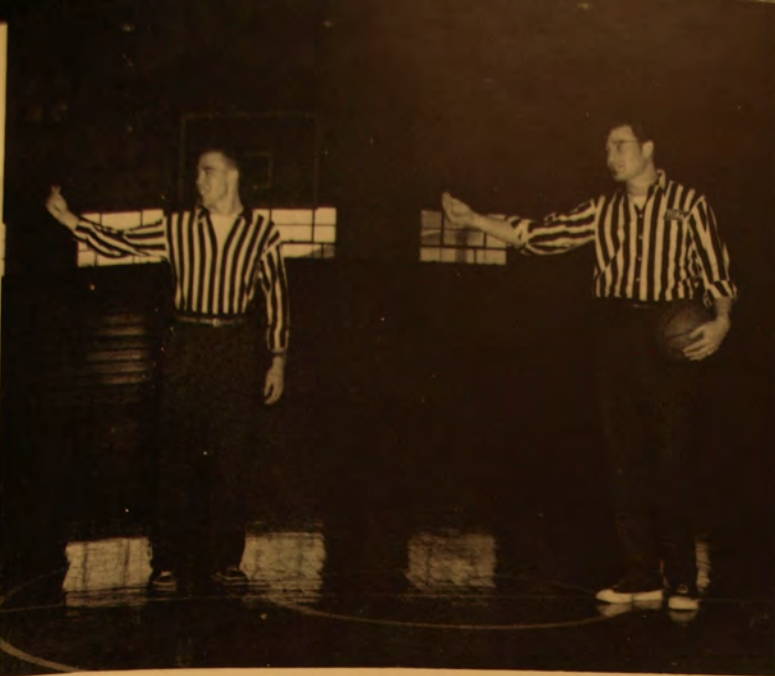

Well, don't just stand there. Shoot!

Freddie Harrison, forward for the Austin Peay quintet, was named to the All V.S.A.C. team this year. It was certainly a wise decision as Freddie is a boy who did all that could be asked of any ball player and did whatever was required well. Freddie tossed in 285 points in 26 games for an average of 10.96 points per game. He led the squad in foul try percentage as he hit 89 of 138 attempts for a percentage of .718.

Dig that hep-cat Elliott.

What's the skinny?

Perhaps his greatest achievement was on the backboards, for it was there that opponents found him particularly troublesome. Wherever Austin Peay was in control of the backboards Freddie was definitely a tremendous factor.

To Freddie Harrison, a fine fellow on or off the court, APSC extends congratulations for an honor well deserved.

O.K. Dickie. We saw how Goose shoots.

Dig that form!

Coach Gary

1953 Baseball Squad

The Austin Peay State College baseball team is blessed by the presence of a number of veteran performers from a 1953 squad which won eight games while losing only three. Among the returnees are Earl Chance, the steady fielding, second baseman; clutch-hitting Donnie Holmes at shortstop; reliable Paul Gosset at third base; Buddy Martin, who punctuated his .400 batting average with tremendous long drives; Jerry Roberson, a .417 hitting outfielder; and Ron Carney, who hit .350 in Governor games last year.

What was it Freddie?

The hurling corps seems to be hurt most by losses from last year as only left hander Manley Burchett is left from the 1953 mound brigade.

With the five newcomers as well as the old timers on deck, there is no reason not to expect a successful season in 1954 as the 1953 season proved to be.

Look closely and you can see the ball!

A big day at the Rawlins

Busy bodies

"Ceiling Unlimited" - - -

Abraham Lincoln once declared: "I have no other ambition so great as that of being truly esteemed of my fellow-men, by rendering myself worthy of their esteem."

Today, world problems are multiplied but opportunities are multiplied in equal number.

Standing at the threshold of a chosen vocation, no one can be worthy of esteem if he be satisfied with mediocrity. The well-earned happiness of Graduation Time is a treasure to be guarded and developed into achievements.

In this difficult day a confused world makes its report to the new Graduates in the language of aeronautics—"Ceiling Unlimited."
