

Senate cuts funds, freshman's plans blocked

"I want something for the whole student body," Jim Townsend explained as he reflected upon what has become a literal battle for the freshman to organize a block party for the student body.

The idea of the May 11 block party is about a month old, according to Townsend and there have been problems every step of the way.

"First I talked to some concerned students who had been involved in similar activities. They told me some of the things I had to do," he said.

Then the student looked to the USAB for support and found none because of what was termed economic difficulty.

"They said they had no money, meaning they couldn't sponsor it," Townsend explained. Looking elsewhere for sponsorship, the student found two head residents who agreed to help—Glenn Carter of Ellington Hall and Randy Beaudin of Killebrew Hall.

He explained the format of the party as recorded music with a DJ, prizes and refreshments.

The SGA senate became a barrier when, according to the student, he had to apply to the student fund for money to finance the party.

A request of $695 was presented after being recommended for passage by the finance board. "At the student meeting I told them what I planned," Townsend said.

"No activity of this type was on campus excluding Greek activity. I wanted to see something done for the student body," he explained.

"I ended up with $300, the senate was all split up...it was really confusing," he said. This left the student short $395 which could have effectively suppressed the party.

He explained the cuts by the senate destroyed many of the activities planned.

After the meeting, Vice-President Tony Marable explained what the senate did and expressed his opinion of the action.

"They debated about 45 minutes. The measure failed the first time and was reconsidered and passed for a sum of $300," Marable said.

"I felt the entire package as written should have been passed. I think the project was overdue—something everyone could enjoy," the vice-president said.

"I don't think the senate realizes the potential the party could have," he said.

SGA President-elect Michael A. McDaniel, who was present in the gallery, commented, "I am concerned with the inconsistency with which the proposals were approved. Some proposals that would benefit a few students were approved and a project designed to benefit the majority of the student body was denied."

Townsend said, "I was especially upset with the senators Holly Price, Gerald Jenkins and Shearon Weems."

"They showed—to try to show their power, not really try to give information. They have forgotten where their responsibility lies—with the majority of the students," Townsend explained.

In an effort to salvage the project the student went the next day to the administration for assistance.

He said that Dr. Bob Nettles helped to secure the security coverage of the project.

He also stated he will resubmit his request to the senate in hopes of a change of heart on the senate's part.

At this point, the student said the project is on. He plans free admission, but a $1 contribution to Special Olympics would qualify students for door prizes which will total over $1000. Coca-Cola will furnish refreshments.

A fraternity sorority competition is also planned. The sorority and fraternity with the highest percentage of membership present will receive a plaque.

According to the student the J.K. Ellington Graduation Block party is not a dead issue, but its future could be decided at this Thursday's senate meeting.

He has requested any students interested in the block party come to the meeting and voice their opinion.

Chronicle staff defends editorial, Tower position

By Joe Gillespie

Tony Durr, editor of the Leaf-Chronicle, denied that an editorial his paper printed concerning The Tower was equating the literary magazine with pornography.

"Our stance was that the majority of our readership would have considered two stories in The Tower pornographic. We were not saying one way or the other that The Tower was or was not pornographic," Durr said.

The editorial, which appeared in the Tuesday, April 28, 1981 edition of the Leaf-Chronicle, made numerous allusions to pornography and stated that "there are successful, published authors who draw the line at having their work included with pornography."

Warren Causey, editorial page editor of the Leaf-Chronicle, said that interpreting the editorial is "a matter of semantics."

"We did not call The Tower a pornographic publication. The reader must interpret the editorial. This is solely a case of semantics," Causey said.

Durr explained that editorial decisions for the Leaf-Chronicle are made by a three-man editorial board. Durr, Causey, and Luther Thigpen, publisher of the Leaf-Chronicle, are the three members of the board.

Durr and Causey both denied that the editorial was written in response to pressure from some influential alumni in the community.

"This editorial was written when we thought the best interests of the community would be served. Obviously, we attempt to take a stand on newsworthy events. To say that it was written because of outside pressures is not true," Durr said.

Causey, the writer of the editorial, refused to comment (cont. on page 2)

briefly

Positions are open

SGA President-elect Michael A. McDaniel will announce Monday that he will begin accepting applications for positions on the SGA executive cabinet and for student positions on University Standing Committees.

Petitions may be obtained beginning Monday at the information desk in the Student Center.

Drawing held

Sociology/Social Work Club members are offering a free dinner for two at the Stables.

Chances are 25 cents. Proceeds will be used for club projects. The drawing will be held on May 20 at noon.

Band to perform

The Jazz Collegians will present their annual Mother's Day concert Sunday, May 10 at 3 p.m. The concert will be held in the Clement auditorium.

Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Proceeds will be used to pay for albums the band recorded live at the Tennessee Musical Education Convention in Nashville. The band is directed by Dr. Aaron Schmidt.

Loan requests due

With the Spring quarter fast approaching its end in a few short weeks, the Woodward Library requests that students needing interlibrary loan materials for papers and projects due this quarter, submit their requests not later than the 8th of May. Interlibrary loan requests submitted after the 8th of May for assignments due by the quarter's end cannot be accepted because the library cannot assure timely delivery. It normally requires about two weeks to complete an interlibrary loan request.

Sociologists meet

There will be a regular meeting of the Sociology/Social Welfare Club on Wednesday, May 6 at 12 noon in LB-12.

ROTC plans events

The annual spring Run for Fun, sponsored by the ROTC department of Austin Peay State University, is scheduled for May 13 beginning at 3 p.m. course competition will be held over separate courses of one mile and three miles.

Individual awards will be presented to the top male and female finishers in each race. Individual T-shirts will be presented to the top ten male and female finishers in each race. Free coke will be provided to all participants. There is no registration fee.

Course registration will begin at 3 p.m. in front of the ROTC Army building. The actual run will start approximately 3:30 p.m. all APSU students and faculty are invited to participate.

on whether or not The Tower should reflect the morality of the Clarksville community.

"As to whether it (The Tower) should reflect the community, is an opinion I don't wish to address," Causey said.

The editorial stated that "money in the local community have considered The Tower a quality publication and will no longer do so." Durr and Causey said repeatedly that the editorial was written because most of their readers would consider portions of The Tower pornographic.

"As a newspaper editor, I believe in the First Amendment. By the same token, I believe any publication has a responsibility to its readership," Durr said.

Durr refused to comment on whether or not a newspaper has an obligation to protect the First Amendment whenever a local publication is attacked.

Durr also refused to define pornography, saying that "I cannot put into a sentence what pornography is."

"I've found pornography in places that I would have least expected it—in government publications pertaining to the Vietnam War and L.A. Calley, in research papers dealing with the Third Reich. I cannot put into a sentence what pornography is," Durr said.

"Pornography is like art. Different people define it differently," Causey added.

A local state legislator has stated that he will introduce a bill prohibiting state funds from being used by Austin Peay to publish a literary magazine. Durr and Causey refused to give the Leaf Chronicle's position on the proposal.

"We are not being evasive. We are being good editors. The editorial process is constantly evolving. We are blessed in Clarksville and the United States with the First Amendment, which gives me the right to express my opinions," Durr said.

Instructions for budget are pending

Sandra Bright, Austin Peay business manager, says that the budget, with the exception of some auxiliary departments, is about as complete as possible until the legislature adjourns, and the State Board of Regents issues budget instructions.

"We hope to get these instructions at a May 6 meeting of all the state college and university business officers," Bright said.

She explained that the State Board of Regents issues instruction for each school's budgets, according to the legislative and Board mandates.

"Last year they required that we cut travel expenses, and spent a certain amount on maintenance for the plant," Bright said, as she pointed out examples for budget instructions.

The actual deadline for a definite budget has not yet been set, but is usually about one month after the budget instructions are issued, Bright said.

"We can't wait until a month before deadline to start," Bright explained, "that's why we began budget hearings several months ago."

Bright said that after the budget hearings were nearly complete there was approximately a half-million dollars more in requests for money than the university expects to have next year.

"We've cut over $333,000 now, we still have to cut about $60,000 more," Bright said.

Eighty percent of the budget goes to salaries, Bright explained. "After you cut, and still leave departments any money to buy pencils and paper, you have to start talking about people."

Only three positions have been officially announced as terminated. Those are the positions are sports information director, media center director and executive assistant to the president.

Bob Adams, the budget director, and Bright reviewed each budget request individually, and together, as the cuts were made.

Bright commented, "It's not so simple. You have to consider how it will affect here and here and here, and make the best decision. We try to consider all the parts of the university that will be affected. We don't always succeed, but we try. It's tough. The needs are real."

Bright stated that she was not ready to make a recommendation to the president until after the budget instruction had been released and the university knew exactly how much money there was to work with.

Sawrey announces program revision

Austin Peay State University will expand its baccalaureate nursing program and reduce its associate degree program, Dr. James M. Sawrey, vice president for academic affairs, announced today.

"This is in line with national trends in nursing education," Sawrey said.

It also complies with the Tennessee Nurses Association indication that by 1985 a bachelor of science degree will be the requirement for being a professional nurse.

"The Community Advisory Committee on Nursing," has sanctioned the move toward expansion in the four-year program and reduction in the two-year program," Sawrey said.

"Austin Peay State University will continue to turn out an appropriate number of nurses for the size of the institution and will meet the need for nurses in the community," the vice president said.

"Our associate degree program will be phased out as we produce nurses in our four-year program," Sawrey added.

Between 36-40 students will be admitted into the associate degree program this fall. This will be the last class admitted to this program, and those admitted will graduate in the spring of 1983.

In addition, in the spring of 1983 a group of four-year nurses will be graduating from the expanded bachelor's program to assure the continued production of nurses for the community.

"We're turning out 45-50 nurses a year," Sawrey said, "and we will continue to average this figure over the next few years."

Sawrey also announced that Dr. Judith H. Wakim will serve as chairwoman of both the B.S.N. program and the A.D.N. program since Mrs. Mary G. Windham, chairwoman of the A.D.N. program, has submitted her resignation effective May 30 to accept the position of director of nursing at Jennie Stuart Hospital in Hopkinsville, Ky.

The vice president praised Windham for her long and faithful service to the nursing program and the university.

Windham was on the nursing staff originally brought together to administer the two-year program leading to the associate of arts degree in nursing.

After the program was established and eventually headed by Windham, the first nursing class was "capped" in the summer of 1971.

"We are so very fortunate to have a person such as Dr. Wakim with the professional qualifications to take over the associate degree program in addition to her duties and responsibilities with the bachelor's program," Sawrey said.

Pledges sponsor event

A bull riding contest and dance is being sponsored by the ATO pledge class May 12 at 8 p.m. at Showdowns, explained pledge class president Chris Tate.

Alpha Gamma Rho, Pi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Chi and Sigma Nu have been challenged according to Tate.

Each fraternity will have two representatives riding the mechanical bull at a speed of 6 1/2.

The highest total will win a keg of beer and their entrance fee back.

The event will feature a live DJ and will be open only to APSU students. There will be a 75¢ cover charge.

A women's competition is tentatively planned.

Two representatives from each sorority would ride the bull at a speed of 2.

Each would ride once, with an applause meter gauging the winner. The winning team would receive $40.

"We would like to invite all APSU student to come out to the dance and watch the competition," Tate said.

Nomination process queried

page 4 - The All State - May 6, 1981

Mr. and Madame Governors will be chosen today. These posts are comparable to the senior superlatives of high school days.

There are only two men running for Mr. Governor, which is a definite decrease in candidates for years past. Four women vie for the position of Madame Governor, still a small number for a graduating class filled with outstanding students.

Qualifications for Mr. and Madame Governor are kept to a bare minimum, yet still insures that the honoree is deserving.

A 3.0 grade point average and possession of an office in one organization on campus are the only stipulations. Any eligible candidate may pick up an application in the Student Government Office. One candidate voiced dislike over this matter of application. "It's an honor," the candidate said, "and you shouldn't have to nominate yourself. Someone, maybe faculty, should nominate students, like they do for the Drane Award."

The All State believes that a sensible way of getting people on the ballot, without the candidates placing themselves on the ballot, might result in a larger choice of nominees.

Some students who meet the qualifications for Mr. and Madame Governor are not really that outstanding in their contributions and activities at Austin Peay. Truly outstanding students are always in the eyes of faculty and administration.

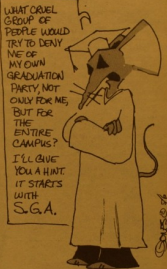

The All State maintains that this award should be voted upon by the students, so that the student body has some way of voicing their opinion about outstanding seniors.

However, the process through which the nominees are selected is humiliating to some deserving seniors.

This year's ballot is filled with deserving candidates. These people would have been placed on the ballot if a faculty/administration nomination process had been used.

There are other people, though, that are equally deserving of a chance to run for Mr. and Madame Governor. These people were either uninformed or too modest to nominate themselves.

The All State is glad Austin Peay has outstanding seniors who will step forward to be recognized for their accomplishments. We only wish it wasn't necessary for them to nominate themselves.

Letters policy

As in years past, The All State staff encourages student opinion on major or not so major issues on campus.

We strongly urge any student or faculty member who wishes to express his opinions to write to the editor of The All State.

Letters to the editor should be no longer than 300 words. They MUST be signed and a phone number indicated for verification purposes. No letter will be published unless verified.

Letters may be mailed to The All State, Box 8334, Clarksville, TN 37040, or brought to room 104 Ellington Hall on campus. They must be received by 4 p.m. Thursday to appear in the following issue.

Letters to the editor

Student responds to library story

Dear Editor:

In response to the rather lengthy proposal of my good friend M. Frenau, whose sense of virtue has indeed been overcome by a flowering compassion for his universal man: I, of necessity, take issue with his proffered pronouncements.

In the first instance, a coalescent committee of student and faculty is patently absurd. One the one extreme are those members, who, by their very positions have studied, researched and reasoned their way (many along the most treacherous of roads) and as a result would procure that which would serve their purient interests.

The students, assuming only those of quality would be chosen by the "mob-at-large" and further assuming, that the mob is cognizant of the existence of a Librarian, would likewise pursue interests of their own ill-conceived desires, viz., Classic College Outlines of Classic Literature, Encyclopedia, Classic Comics, and the like.

Further, the confederation of committees is found wanting in that there is no provision for direction. Through some strange manner, not set forth by Monsieur Frenau, quality scholarship will be obtained.

Perhaps with the intervention of the divine hand! Certainly enthusiasm from the mob is not likely—observe their past performance in any election.

More to the point is the question of those to be chosen by the "evergreen people." Shall those students on academic probation be among the elected?

What of those who reside outside of this province, shall they be afforded the same voice as the citizenry of the Province? Surely, this would be folly! Monsieur Frenau, whom would you exclude?

And by so excluding we might clearly see your "placement" colors. Would it not be true that the virtuous select would become the placement of the unthinking mob?

Where my good friend, in the virtue of the mob, but at the end of a club, fashioned in their recent emergence from subterranean caverns.

As noted in a previous address, a Pontifex Maximus is necessary to achieve the grail for the true millers of the mind. Further, this supreme Censor, when appointed, could not fall into the insidious trap of procuring those materials which have little or no socially redeeming values.

A duty that cannot be exercised by an oolochroy. Clearly, the duty of this Censor would include the protection and preservation of the purity of our intellectual souls from the stains of profane, or vicious purchases.

I await your awakening to the obvious dangers of the "mob."

Your obedient servant, & etc.

Sadowski defends Tower affiliates

Dear Editor:

I am very concerned about the reactions to the latest edition of The Tower. What is disturbing is not that there was criticism. It is legitimate to criticize any publication on its literary merit or even on its content. The problematic issues are that individuals' reputations are being attacked and critics have decided to politicize academic endeavors.

First, you would be hard pressed to find two people who have contributed as much to the Clarksville community as have Dick Giddie and Dave Till. Each has given much in the way of time, energy, and expertise to enhance the quality of life in our community. To cast aspersions about the integrity of either of these men borders on the slanderous. At the least, it is ridiculous.

The more important issue is that persons outside the university are attempting to censor academic freedom

Irwin to conduct three workshops

Hazel Irwin, office manager and accountant at Austin Peay State University, has been chosen by the Student Financial Assistance Training Program in Washington, D.C., to conduct three workshops in a series of workshops for fiscal officers.

She attended a training session in Washington in early March in preparation for the workshop materials.

Workshop curriculum is designed to focus on techniques for managing financial aid, the impact of recent changes in federal law and regulations, how to evaluate a financial aid operation and will highlight current issues facing fiscal officers with regard to student assistance.

Mrs. Irwin and a co-instructor are responsible for workshops being held at Kentucky State University, Tennessee State University and the University of South Carolina.

Career day joins students, employers

APSU's annual Career Day is set for May 13. Doug Barber, director of placement services, said that so far 25 companies from across Tennessee and Kentucky are signed up to participate in this year's program.

The purpose of Career Day, according to Barber, is "to educate students as to what career opportunities are available to them, as well as helping companies to let students know how to work towards a career with them."

The companies will be in the Joe Morgan University Center Ballroom between the hours of 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Tables will be set up with brochures and representatives will be there to talk to the students.

Barber said that although this day is primarily aimed at upperclassmen, all students are encouraged to take part in the event.

Barber also stressed the importance of registration through the placement office.

He said that during their first quarter as seniors, all students should come to the placement office to pick up a placement packet. "The packet consists of a personal data sheet, three reference forms, the Job Placement Manual, which helps in writing resumes, and a College Placement Annual, which gives general information about various companies," Barber explained.

The following companies will be present to talk to APSU students on Career Day.

Tn. State Dept. of Audit, Ft. Campbell Dependent Schools, First Trust & Savings Bank, The Varsity Company, Use Agri-Chemicals, Fidelity Union Life.

Josten's, Acme Boot, Lanier Business Products, T.V.A., Burroughs Corp., Jersey Miniere Zinc, Metropolitan Life.

Touche Ross & Co., FBI, Clay County School System, Aetna Life & Casualty.

Logan County School System, U.S. Air Force, Tn. Wildlife Resource Agency, WNGE-TV, Tn. Air National Guard, U.S. Marine Corps, IKG Industries.

Patrick Woliver, assistant professor of voice at Austin Peay State University, placed second in the national finals of the Young Artist's Competition held last week in Birmingham, Ala.

The event, sponsored biannually by the National Federation of Music Clubs, brought together Woliver and five other semi-finalists representing regions throughout the United States.

Woliver, who has been a member of the APSU music faculty for three years, is frequently heard throughout the state both as a recitalist and in opera.

Lambert appointed chairman

Dr. Don Lambert has been appointed chairman of the department of education at Austin Peay

State University effective immediately.

His appointment was announced by Dr. Carl

Stedman, dean of the College of Education and Human Services.

"Dr. Lambert has successfully served as acting chairman for two years and was the only person recommended by the department of education for the permanent position," Stedman said.

"Don has worked very hard as an acting chairman and I look forward to his leadership for at least another four years," Stedman added.

Lambert joined APSU as an associate professor in 1968. He was promoted to professor in 1973.

He holds bachelor's, master's and doctor's degrees from Auburn University.

under the guise of protecting community standards. Raising questions, confronting doubts, and seeking different perspectives are the major contributions of academic endeavors. To restrict such activities in any way is to ultimately jeopardize everything which is of value in seeking a higher education.

Finally, I would like to congratulate all the students who contributed to The Tower. All of us who publish anything are aware of its inherent risk—being subject to criticism. It is unfortunate that many of the contributors are novices in this area and unfamiliar with the pain of critiques. It is even more unfortunate that most of the criticism has been unconstructive and unwarranted. Don't let it keep you from trying again.

Pool water dirty

Dear Editor:

Due to several complaints that I and other students have in common, I write this letter to those responsible for the proper maintenance of the intramural department. For several weeks I have been using the facilities at the gymnasium and I have had hopes that the swimming pool would have been cleaned by now. I, continually, find the pool water so dirty and cloudy that visibility under the water is impossible. The hours that the swimming pool is open are so limited, I am sure that a small amount of time and effort can be put together for this needed project.

Would be very appreciative
Karen M. Brown

Perry thankful

Dear Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all those Austin Peay Students who participated in the election on April 29. The importance of voting is great and it is good to see so many students taking time to vote for those who are representing them and making many of the decisions which will affect their campus life. Also, I wish to extend a special thank you to all those who voted for me to be their next Executive Secretary.

Elections for class officers and senate members will be on May 6 and I hope that once again, students will take the initiative to vote for those who will be representing them in the Student Government Association.

Thanks again,

SMOOTHING IT OUT—Homer Hutchinson, a crystal and glass mender from Decatur, Ala., works on the craft he will display at the antique show at APSU next week.

Antiques shown at AP

The largest antique show ever to be held in Clarksville will take place on May 15-17 in the Dunn Center.

The event, which will be sponsored by the APSU Alumni Association, will benefit the alumni scholarship program. Fred Landis, director of alumni affairs, explained the association now funds 20 student scholarships. "This year," said Landis, "we had three openings for scholarship recipients and 175 people applied for them."

Landis continued to say that the antique show is part of a push to increase the size of the program significantly.

"We plan to have two or three major projects to raise money this year," Landis explained.

He said that the association had recently begun trying to raise money from events rather than from soliciting from alumni.

Fifty-one dealers representing 16 states will be showing their goods to the public from noon on Friday, May 15 until 6 p.m. on Sunday May 17. "These dealers were hand picked because of the quality of their merchandise," Landis explained.

Landis said that Sarah Jones, a well-known dealer in Murfreesboro assisted in coordinating the show.

Landis said that careful attention had been given to insure that there will be a balance of glassware, silver, furniture and jewelry as well as other items.

"We will have everything from $5000 diamond rings to a $30 crock sardine dish," Landis said.

In addition to the antique showing, the event will bring to APSU Homer Hutchinson, known as the glass grinder.

Hutchinson, from Decatur Ala., will be here to grind chips out of crystal and mend broken glass items.

Landis stressed that students will be admitted free with a current identification card.

"Students should feel free to walk through and browse at the show," Landis said.

Admission for the general public will be $2 per person.

SGA supports infirmary

By Cathy Alieup

Last Thursday's Student Government Association meeting saw the consideration of four student fund packages and the passage of one senate resolution.

The campus honor classes were granted $496 for a field trip and $750 was granted to assist in the financing of the Miss Black Clarksville Beauty Pageant.

A $600 request by the Athletic Trainers to attend a convention was tabled and a $695.50 request by Jim Townsend to finance a campus block party was trimmed to $300, then passed.

The senate then, in the words of SGA Vice-President Tony Marable, "took a stand on the infirmary issue."

Stating "Budget cuts have seriously endangered the existence of our student health service" and "without the service students would have to go off campus to seek more expensive medical assistance," the resolution endorsed "an adequate Student Health Service on campus."

Adequate was defined by the bill as "able to satisfy the requirements of the students of Austin Peay State University."

"Basic and preventive health care at low cost" was defined by the senate as requirements.

It was sponsored by Senators Brian Davis, Brad O'Shoney and Rick Glass.

"It reflects the general opinion of the students—especially the dorm students. That's who it affects mostly," Marable said.

He said that in a recent poll, 80 percent of those who responded favored on campus health care facilities.

Students unite for Tower

"Several state legislators have decided that something has to be done to prohibit free expression in the Tower, Austin Peay's literary magazine," said Jill Brinkley, an Austin Peay student, as she discussed for organized student disapproval of such a legislative move.

"Several students, here and on other campuses, feel that this is a flagrant violation of our First Amendment rights, and have decided that something must be done to keep this from happening," Brinkley continued.

The Tower has been in the news for the past several weeks. Controversy began when some alumni who had received the publication in the mail became upset and protested the literary magazine's content.

At this point, while the students are still on an organizational level, tentative plans have been set to gain student support through the circulation of petitions, letter campaigns, and personal visits to Nashville in order to discuss the matter face to face with legislators.

All students interested (in this matter) will be meeting Thursday, May 7, at 3 p.m. by the statue in the pedestrian mall area by the University Center. In case of rain, the student explained the meeting will move to the side room of Harvill Cafeteria.

Head librarian sought

Austin Peay is currently searching for a librarian to replace Robert Simmons. Simmons recently announced that he will resign his position.

A committee has been appointed by Dr. James Sawrey, vice president of academic affairs and Dr. Robert O. Riggs, president of Austin Peay, to locate another librarian.

Dr. Ellen Weed, professor of sociology, has been appointed chairperson. Dr. Clarence Ikard, Dr. David Snyder, Dr. Anthony Golden, Dr. Howard Winn, Dr. Chris Nusebaumer, Dr. Richard Yarbrough, Janie Gentry, Arthry Goldsmith, Ellen McMahon, are the faculty representatives. Jeff Beardmore and Clater Mottinger are student representatives.

"The position has been advertised. Closing day to apply is May 11. We are meeting next week to plan how to screen applicants and review dossiers," Dr. Ellen Weed said.

McShane lends Derby insight to Peay

During the hustle and bustle of Kentucky Derby weekend, let it be known that not everybody is concerned with $2 bets, handicaps, and long-lost hookies. Some people have a bona fide interest in the history of the "Run for the Roses."

Enter Kevin McShane—designated Austin Peay authority on the race and honorary All State representative to the Derby.

McShane, a senior history major from Hopkinsville, Ky., provided me with an from tee

to green

By Steve Harmon
Sports Editor

interesting overview of Louisville's spotlighted Saturday.

"The Derby was started in 1874 by Meriweather Lewis," related McShane. Lewis is a grandson of Meriweather Lewis the explorer and the founder of an electrical co-op in Hohenwald, Tenn.

Originally called the Louisville Jockey Club, Churchill Downs was named after the Churchill brothers of Louisville, original owners of the track site.

According to McShane, who viewed his sixth Derby at this year's 107th running, it is proper for Southerners to refrain from wearing white shoes" until after the Derby." However, McShane stated that used car salesmen were not bound by this formality.

Another Derby symbol, the wreath of roses which is blanketed over the winning horse, contains 500 red roses, according to McShane.

The annual riverboat race between the Cincinnati Delta Queen and the Belle of Louisville is another annual event which highlights the weekend on the Ohio River.

However, not only does McShane live for the Derby's past, but for its present as well.

McShane, along with his "promotions manager," Darryl "Spanky" Summers, organize a Clarksville to Louisville caravan every Derby weekend.

"This year we mailed out to 44 people in six different states," McShane said.

"It costs us $10 to get in the infield and we bring a tent and plenty of food," he related.

McShane also expanded on some of the more "modern" history of the Derby.

"People used to climb the infield flagpole and flash the crowd, but the track moved the pole out of the infield. It hasn't happened since the 102nd running," McShane snickered.

Last year's Anti-Iranian demonstration overshadowed a relatively well-behaved crowd that only provided about 100 disorderly conduct arrests.

Although McShane did not visit the cashier's window after the eighth of a scheduled ten race card (the Derby is always the eighth race), he is looking forward to many return trips.

"I've been there seven times and haven't seen a horse yet," McShane quipped.

Peay ousted in OVC baseball semis

By Steve Harmon

After building their title hopes on a doubleheader sweep from Murray State last week, the Austin Peay baseball team saw their visions of a conference championship explode in back to back heartbreaking losses.

In the double-elimination tournament, the Gova were slated to play defending OVC champion Western Kentucky at the Hilltoppers' Dene Field in Bowling Green on Friday.

APSU exploded for eight runs in the second inning as home runs by Robert McCutcheon, Greg Tubbs, and Gene Baker provided the bulk of the scoring.

Gova's 8-0 lead was short-lived, however.

Recalling a 3-1 April 5 setback at the hands of the Gova in the team's only meeting of the season, the Tupper proceeded to chip away at the lead.

Western knotted the score at 9-9 in the seventh inning as the Hilltoppers chased starter Clayton Dahl off the mound.

Greg Richards came in to slam the door for the final three innings as he held the conference's most productive hitting club to consecutive scoreless frames.

In the top of the ninth, first baseman Tony Lamb tipped a run scoring single to score Jackie Sholar, who had run for Gene Baker, from second base. Lamb's RBI proved to be the game winner as the Gova added two insurance runs to the final count to 12-9.

Entering the winner's bracket, Austin Peay was pitted against intra-state rival Middle Tennessee. The Blue Raiders boasted a 3-1 season's edge over the Gova entering the contest.

"It was a typical APSU-MTSU ballgame," viewed Governor head coach Joe Ellenburg. "It seemed like every run had the possibility of winning it."

With the score knotted at 4-4 in the eighth inning, MTSU hoped a two-out triple into centerfield to provide the game-winning tally.

"Middle's 6-4 win put them in the driver's seat," commented Ellenburg.

With the victory, MTSU advanced to the playoff finale, while Peay was sent reeling to the loser's bracket and a match-up with Eastern Kentucky for the right to play Middle in Sunday's championship game.

Behind David Brock's two-hit pitching, APSU rode a 41 advantage into the eighth inning of the EKV ballgame.

However, a base on balls and a hit batsman set the stage for two Colonel Run-scoring singles as Peay's lead dwindled to 4-3.

In the ninth inning, with ace reliever Stacey Higgins on the mound, Eastern used some sound baseball fundamentals to turn a base on balls into a game-tying run.

After the walk, Eastern sacrificed the runner to second base, before a ground ball moved him to third.

A Colonel base hit pushed the contest into extra innings where Eastern's John Pagello slammed a curve ball over the right field fence to win 5-4 and eliminate the Gova from the tournament.

CRUNCH—Governor outfielder Robert McCutcheon takes a cut at a pitch during the APSU-Belmont game at Governor Park last week. McCutcheon, a freshman from Paris, Tenn., could not provide enough power as the Gova dropped the non-conference game to the visiting Rebels.

Joanne Arnold sets OVC record

By Brian Bowen

The Austin Peay men and women track teams were in full stride this past weekend as they competed in the OVC Championship held at Murray State.

MTSU came away the overall winner in the men's division, followed by Murray St., Western Kentucky, Eastern Kentucky, Austin Peay, Akron and Morehead.

Tennessee Tech was not represented.

"Austin Peay hopes were stilled when they didn't score big in the Javelin throw," stated Coach Joey Haines. Norm Self finished third and Don Felder finished sixth. "We had to start off big to finish high," quoted Haines.

Ansel Young made it to the finals in the 100 meter dash, but a groin injury hampered him in the finals and he did not place. William McElroy was another let-down; he failed to qualify for the finals.

Inexperience hurt the Gova in the 440 as freshman LaRon Springer drew the ninth lane which he had never run in before.

Chris Bedard, who has been plagued by internal injuries the last week, was forced to drop out of the 10,000 meters race. The OVC is extremely strong in this event as the top five at the tournament qualified for the nationals.

There was a bright spot in the 440 relay for Austin Peay as Young, Premise McGlory, McElroy, and Billy Gunn finished second with a time of 40.5 seconds. It was the best time this year for the four as they needed a time of 40.1 to qualify for nationals.

Steve Brown broke his personal record in the high hurdles with a time of 14.3, finishing fourth over all. Barry Crawford finished third in the high jump with a leap of 6 feet, 10 inches.

In the women's division, Austin Peay also finished fifth behind modern one Murray State, Western Kentucky, Eastern Kentucky, MTSU, and ahead of Morehead, Akron and Tennessee Tech.

The women did well on Friday in qualifying as they had two to qualify in the 100 and 200 meter dashes and two in the high hurdles.

"We just run out of gas on Saturday," remarked Coach Haines. Austin Peay only had eight women competing, so they had to double up in several events.

Joanne Arnold set a new OVC record in the 100 meter hurdles with a time of 14.00, as her previous best was 14.44. In the preliminaries, Arnold had the second fastest times in the 100 and 200 meter runs.

A strained hamstring to Christina Barr hurt the women's chances in the sprint medley relay as they finished third. The team consisted of Kim Duncan, Barr, Arnold, and Lisa Schooler. The 400 meter relay team was comprised of Zetta Motley, Duncan, Barr, and Arnold.

Sheila Holt finished a surprising third place in the Heptathlon, which is seven events. It was the first time she has competed in this event.

Cheryl Harvey finished fifth for the women in the high jump.

The women will be competing in the State Collegiate at Vanderbilt this weekend. Coach Haines will be hoping to qualify Sheila Holt for nationals in the long jump her last chance.

Golfers slump to seventh in OVC

Sparked by Charles Bowles 204 total, Morehead State captured the 1981 OVC golf championship in Winchester, Ky. on April 27-28, the school's first conference title since 1977.

Eastern Kentucky's Dave Gaer posted a 206 total last spring en route to capturing the tournament medal as well as establishing a conference mark of his own.

Bowles fired rounds of 67-69-68 over the par 71 Winchester Country Club course to set the conference record with his nine under par total.

Morehead's 875 team total bested preseason favorite Western Kentucky's 877 mark. Murray State was third with a 880 total, which defending champion Eastern Kentucky finished fourth at 884. Austin Peay, who was fifth after 27 holes of play on the first day, gave way to Akron and Middle Tennessee as the Governors slipped to seventh place with a 901 total. Tennessee Tech rounded out the standings as the Eagles placed eighth with a 927 aggregate.

APSU was led by senior Glen Sze and freshman Brad Van Kirk as they totaled 221 each. Sze, a Toronto, Canada native, fired rounds of 72-73-76 while Van Kirk, who hails from Warsaw, Indiana, shot 76-71-74.

Brian Bowen carded rounds of 77-80-73-230, mark Patrick fired 79-79-75-233, while Steve Harmon shot 76-79-79-234 to round out the Governor effort.

Netters edged in OVC

By Brian Bowen

The Austin Peay men's tennis team traveled to Murray State this past weekend to compete in the OVC championship.

Murray State won the overall team championship as Austin Peay finished a disappointing second.

They were followed by MTSU, Eastern Kentucky, Western Kentucky, Morehead, Akron, and Tennessee Tech.

Hal Jolley won the number one singles title as he defeated Mate Ljungman from Murray State.

Jolley finished up 9-0 in the OVC and 25-16 overall at the number one singles position.

Jolley also combined with Don Carbone to finish second in the number two doubles division. Jolley became the first freshman in OVC history to win the OVC singles title.

Hartmut Junghans was the No. 6 singles champ for Austin Peay. Junghans finished up 9-0 in OVC competition.

Junghans and Brad Properjohn paired up to win the number three doubles title as they went undefeated in OVC competition 9-0 and 29-6 overall.

Losing in singles finals for Austin Peay were Kurt Williamson at the number four seed, and Paul Gaff at number five.

The men broke several school records this year as they recorded most wins in a season with 21. Properjohn and Junghans had most doubles victory in a season with 23.

Hal Jolley broke Fall and Spring season record of wins with 32.

Don Carbone had most wins in spring with 26. It is also the first Austin Peay tennis team to go undefeated in OVC regular season play.

"Murray played a great match under hostile conditions," remarked Coach Dennis Emery.
