

Black Christian Student Conference

Marable 'proud to be black, American'

"I was proud of where I came from," Tony Marable, Student Government Vice President said recently. "It was a very moving experience. It made me proud to be black—proud to be an American," Marable said.

Marable was speaking of his experiences at the recent National Black Christian Student Leadership Conference. Austin Peay's delegation to the Conference, in addition to Marable, was Mike McDonald (student) and advisors Roy Hayes and Fairy Caroland.

Marable said that the Austin Peay delegates brought back many rich experiences and honors for the University from the Atlanta meeting.

National dignitaries Andrew Young and Mrs. Martin Luther King, Jr. addressed the student leaders. Marable commented that in addition to their speeches, he met and conversed privately with both leaders. "They were an inspiration," Marable said. He explained in addition to those speakers, workshops were held.

"There were four workshops, so we attended one each. The workshop I attended dealt with The Third World Movement, with other workshops addressing other areas," Marable said.

The workshops were organized and placed under the direction of many of the leaders of the 1960's civil rights movement according to Marable.

"Dr. Benard Lafayette was there. James Bevel, who conceived the idea to march in Selma, Montgomery and Washington D.C., directed a program," Marable explained. He also noted white activist David Jensen, who worked closely with Martin Luther King, Jr. as did Lafayette and Bevel appeared.

Marable explained the purpose of the conference was to form a National Black Student organization.

"That creation was successful," Marable said, "and the Austin Peay delegation has secured a place in history as a part of it."

The purpose of the new organization will be to increase black awareness. "Political awareness, keeping in mind racial and sexual discrimination still exist, and to change the situation using methods based upon the teachings of Dr. King—those are our goals," Marable said.

He said the delegates learned from the experience. "We all have a long way to go," Marable said. "We are still not perfect... we must overcome obstacles. We still have a lot of work to do," he noted.

The delegate noted political awareness, recognition of past achievement and realization that hard work can make changes were emphasized. "Vote is a key word—we must improve voter participation and bring more black awareness to pertinent political issues," he stated.

"We must keep informed about world affairs. Many blacks choose to be ignorant about how they got the right to vote—they forget the past, are unaware, and take it for granted," he said.

"For instance," Marable explained, "fifteen or twenty years ago a white female reporter could not interview a black man at 11 p.m. in her room. It just wouldn't have been accepted," Marable explained.

Marable also noted because he was from Austin Peay, he got a special reception from the delegates. "I would say 60 percent of the people who attended the conference were from predominantly black schools," he stated. "When everyone found out I was from a predominantly white school, they were really surprised I had reached such a leadership position," Marable continued.

"You have to get respect to be a winner," he said, "and it all starts with academics."

Marable continued his leadership role at the conference. He was elected national treasurer of a large part of the Southeast region. Marable noted delegate Mike McDonald had a significant role in the leadership of the southeastern caucus at the conference.

Marable said he felt the trip should definitely be an annual event for APSU's black student leaders. He added his experiences there will be shared with the student body through a workshop or discussion group in the near future.

The student delegates were sponsored by the Student Government Association.

Frosh officers to serve '80-'81

Members of the freshman class elected their representatives for this academic year on Monday.

Ellen George from Clarksville was elected freshman class Vice President and Susan Taylor also from Clarksville was elected Secretary.

The students elected to senate positions of the freshman class are: Dee Dee Chinard, DeWayne Shepard, DeWayne Wilson, David Culvin, Brian Davis, Keith Norris, and Jeff Mayfield.

Also elected on Monday were Senators at Large: John Gannon, Christopher Reed, Timothy Hunter, Joy Yarbrough, and Sheila Kelly were elected to these positions.

Tony Marable, SGA Vice President commented that approximately 400 students voted in the elections. "This was a tremendous increase over last year's participation," Marable said.

Copy wanted

The Tower literary magazine will be soliciting manuscripts for publication as of this notice. The magazine will appear on a quarterly basis rather than annually as it has in the past. Poems, short stories, essays, critical work, photographs and any artwork reproducible in black and white will be considered for publication. Work may be submitted to The Tower, P.O. Box 8328, APSU. To be considered for publication, all work must be received by Nov. 19, 1980.

Complete cards

Students who are repeating courses this fall quarter-come to the Admissions and Records Office, Browning Building, to complete a Course Repetition Card.

The card should be completed by mid-term, Oct. 25, and left at the window in the Admissions and Records Office.

Only the last grade received for a repeated course counts in the grade-point average. The office needs the repeat card to assist in the administration of the policy.

ID required

The library is now enforcing the rule that all materials will be checked out with a valid ID. This includes students, faculty, and anyone else possessing Austin Peay identification.

Persons will no longer be allowed to simply sign the check-out card. "We need a machine-readable ID," Robert Simmons, director of the library, said.

CPA to speak

Local CPA Billy Wilson will address any interested persons tomorrow night at 8 p.m. in room 310 in the Claxton Building. This talk is sponsored by the Accounting Society and is open to everyone. Wilson will talk about the differences in working for a small CPA firm and a large one.

Baptists convene

Austin Peay's Baptist Student Union will host the BBSU State Convention at the First Baptist Church in Clarksville October 24-26. Pat Terry will perform in concert Friday at 9:30 p.m., and Bob Wakefield will be the featured speaker. The convention and its events are open to anyone wishing to attend.

Poe fills seat

Ann Crouch Poe of Hopkinsville was recently selected by the Austin Peay State University Alumni Association board of directors to fill a vacancy on the board.

Poe will fill a vacancy left open by Mike Northington who was elected vice president of the association earlier this year.

Poe worked for eight years as a teacher/librarian in Hopkinsville and now works as a real estate agent. She received a bachelor's degree from APSU in 1972.

Discount cards out soon

Students will find the Fall 1980 Student Discount card will be available within a few days, according to Student Government official Mike McDaniel.

McDaniel, who is Secretary of Student Relations, assumed the directorship of the program only a few weeks ago. He stated that an excess of thirty area businesses have agreed to participate in the student service program.

All businesses participating in the program will be listed on the card. They will also have an identifying poster displayed at the place of business. To use the card, simply present the card and a valid Austin Peay ID to the cashier.

The program, which has been in effect less than three years, is an effort to relieve students of some of the financial burdens of college.

"Many students feel a great burden financially and the Student Government Association of APSU would like to remedy some of the stress," McDaniel said. The program requires each registered student of APSU to receive at least a 10 percent discount on goods for the 1980-81 academic year from participating merchants.

According to McDaniel, most businesses which have participated in the program are renewing their contracts.

One business which is not renewing its contract with the SGA is P. N. Hirsch and Co. Department Stores. In a letter to the SGA, store manager Al Champagne expressed disappointment, not with the program, but some of the students who used the card.

"Unfortunately," wrote Champagne, "we had some uncomfortable situations arise due to the fact the students did not follow directions by presenting their ID and Discount Cards when first coming to the check-out counter."

"Also most students' attitudes were that they were entitled to, and we were obliged to, give them this discount rather than accepting it as an act of courtesy on our part," he continued.

Champagne concluded by saying, "All in all, it was an uncomfortable experience for us to say the least; and evidently not appreciated by the students."

This prompted McDaniel to urge students to "maintain the credibility of the program. Please don't abuse this privilege," he said.

The Student Relations Secretary stressed work will not cease on the program when the cards are issued. As new businesses are added, they will be publicized through The All State, McDaniel said.

Expense affects housing

According to Ken Moseley, director of student housing, there are fewer students living in the residence halls this quarter.

Moseley said that there are about 100 beds available in the dormitories. "This is about 60 less filled beds than last year," Moseley commented.

Moseley said that although it is really difficult to pinpoint the reason for the decline in student housing, he suggested two possible reasons. "Many students say that school is expensive and dormitory rent is becoming more expensive, so they must make a choice," Moseley said. Moseley also said that the cuts in financial aid have probably contributed to the decline.

Moseley continued that he is currently working on a study of the cancellations in dormitory applications. He said that he was interested in finding out how many of the students who cancelled their applications also did not complete registration.

Moseley said that he did not anticipate any housing problems for the winter quarter.

Cash for trash: review your priorities

Austin Peay's campus is one of the most beautiful in the state. Millions of dollars were pumped into the budget last year in the name of a "Master Plan" to renovate and beautify the campus.

The plan worked splendidly. After a quarter of mud and bulldozers, the landscape of the campus is now quite pleasing to the eye.

A new addition to the college decor was recently added. About six small white trash cans now adorn the area around the bowl between the Joe Morgan Student Center and the Woodward Library.

These small containers, which bear a resemblance to squirrel traps, were totally unnecessary. They are too small to hold much litter, and there were already large trash containers in front of the buildings surrounding the bowl.

One of these surrounding buildings is the Woodward Library. The library has weathered severe budget cuts for three consecutive years. In a two year period, Robert H. Simmons, director of the library said that the periodical budget has been cut $30,000. Book purchases have declined from 10-12,000 per year to this year's 5000.

Books are declining not only due to high inflation and less money in the budget, but because money is transferred from this fund to the periodical fund in order to keep subscriptions to current magazines.

"Every department has to cut back on their periodicals, if they want to order new periodicals, they must first cut back even more," Simmons explained.

Austin Peay is an institution of higher education. State money purchases trash cans, statues and digs up bowls to create more bowls, but the library budget must be cut.

Students do not learn from aesthetic influences learning begins with proper materials, primarily it takes challenging literature and professors. It is time to review our priorities for spending money.

letters to the editor

USAB wants student input

Dear Editor:

As a member of the Social Activities Board (USAB), I have heard a number of comments and complaints about the social events on campus.

The most recent event, which was the Hanneford Circus, did not break even, much less turn a profit. So why the Circus? It was a good opportunity for wholesome entertainment for the people of this area. There must be some activities that appeal to the whole community, because the USAB depends on their support, in addition to the students. But a large part of the problem of the turnout at the circus was lack of support from the students of Austin Peay. The students who attended found that they did enjoy the circus after all.

I have heard negative thoughts expressed, also, about the lack of good concerts. Besides the fact that the USAB does not have the funds for exceptional groups, and the Dunn Center is not the ideal place for sound quality, we just do not know what the students want. The ideas and input of the students for whom we work, we cannot plan events which will please them.

The USAB is here for the benefit of the student, and we need student input. There is always someone at the Information Desk in the University Center who can take suggestions to Tony Thompson, the Chairman of USAB, or to any other member. At the moment, we need new, interested members. The USAB is open to any student, and the meetings are set whenever needed, usually once a month. They are announced in The All State.

If you don't like the social events on campus, it's your own fault; there is no reason for your opinion to go unheard. If you have a complaint or suggestion about social events, tell the USAB, and get something done about it! But if you keep silent, should you have the right to complain?

Citation policy explained

Dear Editor:

It has been rumored that some students who have been given traffic citations have been holding them thinking that they do not have to be paid until the end of the quarter.

This, in fact, is not the case, as stipulated in recent issues of this newspaper. Citations are $5 for the first three days, excluding weekends and holidays, and then will automatically become $10.

This procedure, as previously mentioned, was initiated to insure a more rapid turn around into and through the general fund of the university, which is the destination of all traffic citation revenues.

If you have received a traffic citation and have not paid it, you should do so immediately. The fine may be paid at Public Safety anytime between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

In a previous issue, it was also stated that the Business Office would commence collection of fines on October 1, 1980. A computer program must be re-written to facilitate this transfer and it is anticipated that the collections by the Business Office will not take place about November 1, 1980. In the interim, pay your fines at Public Safety.

Traffic citations pay them in a three day period of time.

Sincerely,
William B. Singerhoff
Director of Public Safety

Graduation time angers senior

Dear Editor:

For those graduating seniors this year graduation has been scheduled for Friday, May 29, 1981 at 2 p.m. This time and date has been chosen by the commencement committee. But do they have the support of the senior class? I believe not.

Their reasons for the Friday afternoon graduation is so that the families can come into town for graduation and be back home at an early hour. Their reason is of them. Our relatives and friends have overlooked, unquestionably valid but I think they have overlooked the most important issue in their decision. This issue is will our family and friends be able to attend graduation at 2 p.m. on May 29.

The first problem with this is that family members and friends will have to take a day off work to attend graduation. This is a very inconsiderate request to ask of them. Our relatives and friends have an obligation to their employers and in many cases have already planned out their vacations.

Ku Klux Klan Tonight: an 1867 presentation

Editor's note: The following article does not necessarily reflect the views of The All State. Allen West is a graduate student at APSU.

By Allen West

Notwithstanding any disclaimer that might precede it, this article is not an expression of personal opinion on the KKK. In fact, the author is currently enrolled in one of Dr. Snyder's zoology classes and has no time for opinions. I offer for your personal another unpublished writing by the vaudelectorian of our great institution 100 years ago, Major W. D. Mooney, prefaced by a letter to the editor of the Nashville Tennessean (with permission):

To the Editor:

A recent letter to your paper mentioned that the Ku Klux Klan organized in Pulaski in 1865 as being a racist group. Anyone willing to read the history of the original Klan by W. B. Romaine, editor of the county paper in 1924, will see that the original Klan was dissolved in 1869 after Gen. Forrest received a promise from President Grant to establish civil law in the south.

Until then there had been no civil law since the war and the carpetbaggers ran wild. An organization calling itself the Ku Klux Klan was organized in Atlanta in 1915. There is absolutely no connection with the original Klan.

The people of Pulaski want this fact known.

Maxwell MacMaster
Pulaski, Tenn.

By Major W. D. Mooney (1938)

This will not deal . . .

This will not deal with the origin of the mystic Klan save just enough to fix time and place, nor will it enter into the purpose of that Order, its life and its death; it will speak quite briefly of its first parade and give an amusing incident connected with one of its initiations.

Many people think that the Klan had its origin in South Carolina; that is because Thomas Dixon featured it in his "Clansman," the scene being laid in South Carolina. But the Ku Klux Klan was really born in the town of Pulaski, Tennessee, in 1866, having its rise as a social club in the minds of some young lawyers who were seeking relief from the monotony of legal inactivity.

By 1867 the Klan had assumed that phase of its existence which made it known to the public, and on July 4th of that year when I, then a lad in my ninth year, went to market, I found the entire square almost covered with dodgers on which were printed, "Ku Klux Klan Tonight."

About nine o'clock that night, with several other small boys, I lay in a ditch on the Lamb's Ferry Road near the old covered bridge over Richland Creek and saw what seemed to us an army of the mounted men on horses covered with sheets ride into the town; the riders, too, were sheet shrouded. The column was moved entirely by the sounding of whistles which were blown by the leaders. They rode two abreast, and headed for the square. We lads followed and found from other groups of small boys that a like body of men had come in by each of the four turnpikes that led to the town. The whole body met on the square and then marched in an endless column for an hour or more. All of the white population of the town watched the procession and indulged in speculation as to what was going to happen. It seemed, however, to be only a numerical demonstration of the importance of the Invisible

'Sing Hallelujah' displays musical talent

By Carol Pickel

A diversity of talent and song was displayed to a full house Thursday night, Oct. 16, in the university center ballroom as a group of students and faculty presented a musical show of the cabaret variety.

"Sing Hallelujah" was conceived by George Mabry, professor of music and former director of entertainment at Oxydian. In addition to Mabry, the show featured faculty members Sharon Mabry and Pat Woliver, and students Kathy Bearden, Charlie King, Randy McGee, Loretta Robinson and Mary Wyatt. Accompaniment in the orchestra was provided by Anne Glass and Evelyn White on piano, Johnny Schmittou on percussion, and Mike Jahul on string bass.

The show began with the cast singing of celebration, along with the theme of the program, "Shout Hallelujah." This first portion lacked timing which caused the harmonies to be a bit off, but this was quickly eradicated as the performers warmed up to the general feeling of performing.

The songs performed covered the entire spectrum of music from Broadway to contemporary to country to gospel to rock. The production was interspersed with light banter, mostly by Mabry, whose cracks and comments lent just the right touch to break the program into its various segments featuring the different types of music.

Although the entire program was a delight, several performances stood out as particularly entertaining: Randy McGee's Neil Sedaka rendition of "Breaking Up Is Hard to Do," Loretta Robinson and Pat Woliver's duet, Mary Wyatt singing "Sweet Dreams," Charlie King vocalizing "You've Got a Friend," and Kathy Bearden belting out "Superman."

However, the two highlights of the show featured George Mabry. Accompanied by Mary Wyatt, Mabry performed an original composition entitled "Peay for You" which spoofed current events and circumstances concerning Austin Peay. And while the piece was funny, its satire got across the seriousness of problems concerning Austin Peay, such as financial impoundments and reduction of the number of faculty members.

The other segment of the show in which Mabry showed featured him as a preacher, with the rest of the performers as his choir. Featured also in this section was Sharon Mabry, who in white robe came down front to do a rousing performance of the tune Manhattan Transfer made popular several years back, "Operator." Mabry was dressed in a white suit and a black pompadour wig which carried off the proper comic effect.

Most of the performers were thoroughly entertaining. The variety of music proved to be "something for everyone" and provided an enjoyable night of musical entertainment sprinkled with humorous touches. As a first impression of the depth and scope of talent in the music department at Austin Peay, it couldn't have been a better example.

Season tickets available

Playhouse promises entertainment

Season tickets are still available for this year's AP Playhouse productions, Joe Filippo, speech and theatre chairman, said recently.

"If students really want to find good, inexpensive entertainment, this is the place for it—especially with the season we have this year," Filippo said.

This year's season will include a package of five shows, "mostly comedies," Filippo said, all produced by the AP Playhouse.

"We open our first show, The Male Animal, on Oct. 29 and run through Nov. 1. It's a funny show written by James Thurber and Elliott Nugent about college life, football, academics, and human relationships," Filippo explained. The Male Animal is directed by John Griffin.

The Mousetrap will be the second production running from Dec. 3 to Dec. 6. This suspenseful comedy written by Agatha Christie will be directed by Darrell Osborn.

Aristophanes' Lysistrata is the only major show scheduled for winter quarter, Filippo said. This show will be directed by Jim Elder.

Spring quarter will see the opening of two shows. April 8-11 the Playhouse will present a children's show to be directed by John Griffin. The title will be announced later, Filippo said.

Neil Simon's California Suite will be the last show of the season. To be directed by Filippo, the comedy will run May 12-16.

Filippo said getting season tickets is simple. "Come by the Speech and Theatre office between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. and talk to our secretary Sue Ball. Tickets are only $5 and we do accept checks."

Further information can be obtained by calling 648-7378.

Earwood reveals Homecoming plans

Homecoming 1980, one of the biggest annual events on the Austin Peay campus, is set for Nov. 8, according to Glenda Earwood, Director of Student Life.

The theme for this year's homecoming is "Red Fever Breakout." Activities recently outlined by Earwood include a parade, a Red and White women's basketball game, and the selection of a Homecoming Queen. These festivities will culminate on Saturday, Nov. 8, when Austin Peay plays host to Murray State University at 1:30 p.m. in the Municipal Stadium.

General elections for the selection of Homecoming Queen will be held from 9 to 4 p.m. Oct. 29 in the university center. The winner and her court will be announced at half-time of the football game on Saturday.

Leading the festivities will be a Red and White women's basketball game Thursday, Nov. 6, at 7 p.m. in the Dunn Center. The event is sponsored by Big Brothers of Clarksville and admission is $1. A pep rally will be held immediately following the game.

Residence halls, fraternities and religious organizations will be judged for decorations at 1:30 p.m. Friday, Nov. 7. The deadline for entry is 4:30 p.m. Friday, Oct. 31. Cash prizes will be awarded. Entry forms can be obtained from Glenda Earwood, north end of Ellington Hall.

The Homecoming Parade will begin at 10 a.m. on Saturday, Nov. 8. Starting on Drane Street, opposite Ellington Hall, the parade will wind through downtown Clarksville and return to Marion Street where it will disband. Further details and entry forms can be obtained from Glenda Earwood. All entries must be made by 4:30 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 31.

People who decorate floats and cars for competition in the parade will be awarded cash prizes, and winners will be announced just prior to or at half-time of the Homecoming game.

Earwood said a concert featuring the rock group Ambrosia has tentatively been set for Friday, Nov. 7, but that no final decision has been made.

When asked about her outlook on this year's Homecoming Earwood said, "I hope it's going to be bigger and better than ever before."

She also stressed that much of the success of Homecoming depends upon the students supporting the football team and getting "fired up" about the event taking place.

Senate passes resolution for change

By Cathy Allsup

Passing one resolution and approving two finance board requests, the Student Government Association

Senate enjoyed an early adjournment last Thursday night.

Senior class president Shearon Weems saw her

Empire, intended to terrorize the negro population, who watched from afar and with much fear.

One or two incidents worthy of mention took place as the riders left the town. Our group of boys took post near the Cave Spring on the Columbia Pike. From this spring and what was known as the Town Spring, most of Palaski got its water. When the cavalcade reached the Cave Spring they stopped and one of them beckoned to an old negro to hand him the bucket of water which he had in his hand; the rider took the bucket and apparently drank its contents; he then indicated by gestures that he wanted a second bucket, which went the same route as the other; but when he indicated his desire for a third bucket the old negro and several negro women who were at the spring fled with cries of terror.

In September of this same year another boy and I had gone in search of our family cows which pastured on the common. Said cows were supposed to "come up" about dusk but frequently did not. When this happened in our hour it was my task to go in search of the stray. On this particular occasion Bob and I joined forces and sought our cows together. We found them and started them homeward. On the outskirts of the town was a steep hill, locally known as the Old Fort, and near this was the ruin of a large brick house that had been destroyed by a cyclone five years before. In the ruins of this house the Klan held its initiations. Part of that ceremony consisted in placing the blindfolded candidate, who had been decorated with asses' ears before a mirror and having him repeat that couplet of Robert Burns:

"O wad some power the gillie gie us

To see ourselves as others see us."

Then the bandage was removed and the assembled clansmen, all veiled and shrouded, yelled with Plutonian laughter. If the candidate was acceptable he was welcomed into the Order; if not, he was told that he would be given the Supreme Test, which would prove his courage. He was then again blindfolded, led to the top of the Old Fort, placed in a flour barrel and given a shove to start him down the declivity.

On this particular night, Bob and I were following a road almost parallel to the path followed by the barrel. We were almost at the foot of the hill when we heard a noise, and turning our heads we saw a barrel start down grade. Despite the fact that the barrel had to travel about 400 yards, while we had but a short distance to go, the barrel and its contents reached the bottom before we did. It struck a little sapling, broke it down, and spilled the contents of the barrel, which burst when it collided with the sapling. The contents proved to be a man of the town, of rather unsavory reputation; he was in a semiconscious state, had many bumps and bruises, had lost a couple of teeth, and soon suffered a severe attack of nausea. We laid administered first aid as best we could and were eager to know why he was riding in a barrel. His one answer was, "Damn all Ku Klux and all supreme tests of courage, but for God's sake, boys, don't let anybody know I said so!"

resolution concerning the pay process of drop-add fees pass the body by voice vote.

The resolution would, if implemented by the administration, reduce the drop/add process to one line instead of the present two line system. "The present procedure for dropping or adding a class consists of paying a $5 fee at the Business Office and submitting a completed application to the Admissions and Records office," the senator stated.

The resolution demands the process be simplified by requiring the Admissions and Records office to act as an agent for the Business Office and collect the $5 fee along with the application for the Drop/Add procedure.

"I feel that this would make the drop/add procedure more efficient. Students would wait in one line rather than two for changing classes," Weems stated.

During debate, the Senator admitted both Dean Gentry, of the Office of Admissions and Records and Sandra Bright, Business Manager, didn't support the change. The senator stated Dean Gentry had expressed displeasure with his office handling money. She added Bright noted the present system made accounting easier.

After the meeting, SGA Vice-President Tony Marable also expressed some disappointment with the resolution. "It's a great idea but it shouldn't have come out of committee (Legislative Review) in its present form," the Vice-President stated. Marable's concern rested with the wording of the bill, not its intent.

In additional business, the Senate approved a $75 grant to Alpha Lambda Delta, a National Freshman Honor Society for use in paying the charter fee for the organization. They also approved a $324 grant to finance a bus to carry students to the APSU/MTSU football game.

Robert Overby and Jim Harker were approved and sworn in as senate members.

'Angry Red Spirit Train' to roll again

A major project and the filling of all posts on the executive cabinet has filled the agenda of the past few weeks for SGA President Duane McDowell.

The approval of funds for the rental of a bus assured the executive branch of the renewal of the Angry Red Spirit Train program. Highly successful last year, the Spirit Train is slated to roll on to MTSU Oct. 23. The $4 trip, which doesn't include a ticket, will be subsidized by the SGA.

The SGA will be taking reservations immediately. All reservations must be paid for in advance. The last day to withdraw from the trip, and receive a refund, will be the Thursday before the game on Saturday.

McDowell also has announced numerous presidential appointments.

Senior Kevin Wilson has been named chairman of the Student Fund Finance Board. The Finance/Busines major replaces Eddie Turply, who resigned the post upon leaving Austin Peay.

Four Associate Justices were appointed by the president. Annette Doris was appointed by McDowell after the recent interviews for vacancies on the Student Tribunal. Doris is a freshman. Citing his maturity, McDowell also appointed Larry Robinson. McDowell stated that he felt the experiences of the non-traditional student would add depth to the tribunal.

Clater Mottinger was appointed by the President on the basis of his obvious interest in the Tribunal. Mottinger, an unsuccessful candidate for Chief Justice in 1980, is also President of Sigma Chi Fraternity. The last opening was filled by the appointment of Cathy Allsup. McDowell cited Allsup's interest in publicizing the tribunal in the print media. Allsup is a member of Alpha Phi Sorority and is Organization's Editor of The All State.

The post of Secretary of Organizations was filled by Jeff Whitney. In addition to his SGA activities, Whitney is active in the Residence Hall Council. Lisa Snow was named Secretary of Communications.

Kathleen Kell was chosen to fill the post of Secretary of Legislative affairs. Kell, the former Vice-President of the Residence Hall Council, is active in the USAB and Kappa Delta Sorority.

Dawson Marching band expanding

It was only two weeks before Austin Peay's band was supposed to perform for the first time when Jay Dawson got a phone call from Dr. Solie Fott, chairperson of APSU's music department.

Austin Peay's former band director, Herbert Dregalla, had just resigned, and this left the APSU band without a director, just two weeks before Austin Peay's first football game of the 1980 season.

"When Dr. Fott called me I had never even thought about teaching at a University," said Dawson.

"I told him (Fott) that I would fill the vacancy for two weeks, until he could find someone else," said Dawson.

Dawson then said that after the two weeks were up, the positions was still not filled, and so he decided that he wanted to stay.

"The members of this band are really enthusiastic," he said.

When Dawson came to Austin Peay, there were only 35 band members, but after heavy recruiting by Dawson, the membership has expanded in number to 80.

Dawson attended Peabody College in Nashville, and is a native Nashvillian. Dawson taught in several high schools and also worked in Opryland's "I Hear America Singing" production.

He also played French horn in the Nashville Symphony for 12 years. And for the last three years he has been the Symphony's assistant conductor.

"This is the best group of people that I've ever worked with," said Dawson, referring to Austin Peay's band.

"They're a fun group of people to be with," Dawson said.

Homecoming reaches Utopia state?

By Bobby Jones

Well, you've heard about them. You've read about them. Now experience the feeling of the 1980-81 Homecoming Election Rules.

This year's rules are somewhat of a departure from previous year's efforts for a fair contest. With the shadow of last year's mockery hanging above our heads on The Election Board, we tried for a Utopia of simple rules and a new spirit.

The way it works is simple. Each class or official organization may sponsor a candidate. To do so they must submit a written request and a $5 fee to the Election Board at the Student Government Office between last Monday and noon Wednesday, Oct. 22. To be a candidate he/she must be a currently registered student with at least a 2.25 cumulative grade point average. Freshmen will be exempted from the GPA requirement.

All candidates or their designators must meet with the Election Board in room 313 in the University Center at 4 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 22. Failure to do so or to notify the Election Board shall result in the disqualification of the candidate for this election.

Elections will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 29 in the University Center lobby. The candidate receiving the highest number of votes will be declared Queen and the two receiving the next highest number of votes will comprise the court. If there is a tie for one of these positions then a run-off election will be held between the candidates involved at the same time as the General election on Friday, Oct. 31.

The candidates will not be announced officially until the Homecoming Parade and at that time only the court will be announced. No one other than the SGA President and the Election Board will know who the Queen will be (not even the Queen herself/himself itself) until halftime of the Homecoming football game.

Doesn't the suspense just kill you?

The official Homecoming Election Rules appear below.

1980-81 Homecoming Election Rules

I. In accordance with the constitution and by-laws of the Student Government Association of APSU, this election shall be held to determine the Homecoming Queen and her Court of APSU for the academic year, 1980-81. This election shall be held under the jurisdiction of the Election Board.

II. CANDIDACY

301 Each class may sponsor a candidate for Homecoming Queen.

302 Any organization recognized by the SGA may sponsor one candidate for Homecoming Queen by submitting to the Election Board a written request for candidacy along with a $5.00 fee. Such written requests may be submitted anytime between 8:00 a.m., Monday, October 13, 1980 and noon, Wednesday, October 22, 1980.

303 Every candidate for Homecoming Queen must be a currently registered, full time student (12 hours minimum) at Austin Peay State University.

304 Subsection 304 shall be disregarded in the event the candidate has not earned a GPA.

306 All candidates or their designators must meet with the Election Board in the conference room on the third floor of the University Center at 4:00 p.m., Wednesday, October 22, 1980. Failure to do so or to notify the Election Board shall result in disqualification of the candidate for this election.

III. CAMPAIGNING LIMITATIONS

301 All candidates must follow the "Regulations Governing the Displays of signs, posters, etc. on the campus of APSU."

302 Tampering with opponents campaign material shall result in disqualification of candidate.

303 No SGA materials may be used to further the campaign of any candidate.

304 There will be no active campaigning within 50 feet of the polls. Active campaigning consists of the presence of any candidate or their representative within the designated polling area (with the exception of their voting) and any printed materials in the same said area. Campaign materials within sight of the polling area will be removed before the polls open by the Election Board.

305 No audio or visual equipment will be allowed to be heard or seen within the voting area on election day.

IV. GENERAL ELECTION

401 The polls will open for voting at 9:00 a.m. and will close at 4:00 p.m. on Wednesday, October 29, 1980. All voting will be done in the University Center with three voting tables for students marked A-G, H-N, and O-Z located on the second floor lobby of the University Center.

402 The Current ID will be checked by the poll worker when the student votes. Every currently registered APSU student may vote in this election. No student will be allowed to vote without a validated ID card.

403 There will be no absentee ballots.

404 The candidate with the highest number of votes will be chosen as Homecoming Queen. The two candidates receiving the next highest number of votes will comprise the court.

405 In the case of a tie in the top three positions there will be a run-off election between the tied candidates, with the exception of a tie between the second and third place candidates if only two people are involved.

V. RUN-OFF ELECTION

501 The polls will open for the run-off election at 9:00 a.m. and will close at 4:00 p.m., Friday, October 31, 1980. The polls will be located in the University Center as in Section 401.

502 Eligibility to vote will be the same as in the General Election.

503 There will be no absentee ballots.

504 The candidate receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared the Homecoming Queen. The two candidates receiving the next highest number of votes will comprise the court. The person who is elected as the 1980 Homecoming Queen will be made public at the halftime (cont on page 11)

Citations given for improper parking

The Clarksville City Police have been recently issuing traffic citations for improper parking on some of the city streets on and around the campus. "These violations are safety violations whereby persons have been parking on the wrong side of the street, against the flow of traffic," William B.

Singerhoff, director of Public Safety said. Singerhoff continued that the potential for becoming involved in a traffic accident is greater with this type of parking violation.

Anyone who has been cited and desires to pay the fine without appearing in court should contact the City Court Clerk's office. Anyone desiring to appear in court should be present on the date indicated on the citation.

Failure to either pay the fine or appear in court could subject you to arrest.

"To avoid these types of violations, students should be sure to park on these streets on the same side as the flow of traffic, or direction of travel," Singerhoff said. These streets are any street marked with a name sign such as Drane Street; Marion Street; Henry Street; Eighth Street; and Robb Avenue. "When in doubt, park on the right side of the street," Singerhoff concluded.

ceremonies of the Homecoming football game, November 8, 1980. The remaining two members shall also participate in the half-time ceremonies.

505 There will be no write-in votes allowed during any run-off election. Ballots containing write-in votes will be disqualified.

506 If there is another tie, then there will be a second run-off election Monday, November 3, 1980.

VI. Poll workers shall be appointed by the Election Board. Only poll workers, voters, and election officials shall be allowed at the polls. Poll workers cannot wear campaign paraphernalia. Poll workers and other election officials shall wear identification badges at all times while on duty.

VII. COMPLAINTS

703 The Election Board Chair must be notified of any complaint concerning the general election by 10 p.m. October 29, 1980, and must receive a written statement of the complaint by midnight, October 30, 1980.

704 The Election Board Chair must be notified of any complaint concerning the run-off election by 10 p.m. October 31, 1980 and must receive a written statement of complaint by noon, November 1, 1980.

705 The Election Board Chair must be notified of any complaint concerning the second run-off election by 10 p.m. November 3, 1980 and must receive written statement of complaint by 12 noon November 4, 1980.

706 The complainant will be notified by the Election Board of its decision no later than 24 hours following receipt of the written statement of the complaint.

707 Should the complainant and the Election Board be unable to reach an agreement the complainant may appeal the decision of the Election Board to the Vice-President for Student Affairs.

VIII. The Election Board has the power to disqualify any candidate that fails to comply with any of the above regulations.

This proposal was unanimously approved by the Election Board at 7:15 p.m. October 6, 1980.

Freshman honor society forms

A grant from the SGA Student Fund will make possible the existence of Alpha Lambda Delta, a freshman honor society, according to Angela Alley, an officer in the organization.

"Alpha Lambda Delta is a freshman honor society open to the student who has earned a cumulative grade point average of 3.5," Alley stated. "The society's purpose is to encourage scholastic achievement and promote intelligent living," she continued.

The society will provide an opportunity for freshmen to become involved in the University as well as encouraging them to strive for good grades. "We also feel that ALD would be an asset to APSU as it strives to pave the way to the Laurel Wreath Society," Alley said.

The grant of $75 will be used to pay the charter fees to the National Society. According to Alley, the payment of this one-time fee will not only make the freshmen honor society possible for present students, but will benefit the incoming students in future years.

Grad date final

The 1981 Commencement Exercises will be held at 2 p.m. on Friday, May 29, 1981. Involved parties should contact Dr. Lewis B. Burton at 648-7333 for more details.

Letters

The second problem created by an afternoon graduation is for those families who live out of state. These family members will have to take two days off work in order to be in Clarksville by 2 p.m. However, these problems could be alleviated by an evening graduation.

In a recent conversation with Lewis Burton, head of Commencement Committee, he said that it was their responsibility to set a time. But is it their decision alone to make? Last year the students voted on a graduation time and date. Why weren't the graduating seniors polled again this year?

If you feel that the time for graduation should be changed and you would at least like to vote on a time please call Dr. Lewis Burton at 7333 and voice your opinion.

Dear Editor:

The Greek System is alive and well on the campus of Austin Peay State University and that includes Alpha Phi.

Recently, a rash of misinformation has been the cause of rumors of our chapter folding. This is simply not true. These rumors hurt us as well as hurting the Greek System as a whole.

The International Executive Office is aware of the situation and would like to assure everyone that there are no plans to close down the chapter. The Epsilon Omicron Chapter of Alpha Phi International is here to stay on the campus of Austin Peay State University.

Sincerely,

Pauline Treasky

Governors even record at 3-3

By Steve Harmon

The Austin Peay football team evened their record at 3-3 as they trounced the Nicholls State University Colonels 35-16 in front of 2,653 fans Saturday evening in Municipal Stadium.

The Governor offense racked up 511 total yards as quarterback Sonny Defillippi, ranked fourth nationally in the NCAA Division I-AA in total offense, ran for two touchdowns and passed for two more.

APSU head coach Watson Brown gave much of the credit to the offensive unit as they had many sustained drives and controlled the tempo of the game.

In first half action, Austin Peay opened the scoring as Ondra Woods scored his first of two touchdowns on the evening as he hauled in a one yard pass from Sonny Defillippi with 9:33 remaining in the first quarter. Ray Hampton's point after gave the Gavs a 7-0 lead.

After trading punts, placekicker Todd Morgan put the Colonels on the board with a 25 yard field goal, cutting the lead to 7-3.

At the 6:14 mark of the second period, Governor defensive back Michael Shelton had apparently stopped a Nicholls State drive when he intercepted a Tim Bailey pass. But, on the return he was stripped of the ball and the Colonels recovered at the 48 yard line in Austin Peay territory.

After a 34 yard run by tailback Bryan Jarvis, running back Mike Clark found paydirt from 14 yards out, giving the Colonels their only lead of the evening. Todd Morgan's PAT gave the visitors from Thibodaux, Louisiana a 10-7 advantage.

On the WJZM post game "Watson Brown Show," Coach Brown pointed out the frequent fumbles by Austin Peay as contributing to the close half time score. It was a Donald Brown fumble in the end zone that turned the ball over to the Colonels en route to their only touchdown of the game. Coach Brown had nothing but praise for his fullback, however, as the Twin City, Georgia native rushed 21 times for 136 yards.

After the NSU touchdown, the Governors moved the ball from their own 22 yard line to the Colonels 15 via a balanced rushing attack. At 1:21 of the second period, an illegal procedure penalty nullified a 15 yard TD pass from Defillippi to split end Steve Puthoff.

Faced with a first down and 15 yard situation at the NSU 30, senior tailback Cosmo Cochran picked up 13 yards to the NSU 7. From there, Sonny D. hit Ondra Woods for his second TD reception of the evening. Ray Hampton's PAT capped a 78 yard, 11 play drive and gave APSU a 14-10 advantage at the half.

In the second half, the Governors picked up the scoring once more as Sonny Defillippi scored from three yards out on a keeper as APSU posted their first points of the season in the third quarter. With the addition of Ray Hampton's third PAT, APSU held a 21-10 lead.

Seats available

Student groups wishing to purchase homecoming seats in a block, need to notify Glinda Chaffin, ticket manager, as soon as possible.

Chaffin said that arrangements would be made so that different groups and clubs could all sit together at the Nov. 8 homecoming game, but that representatives of each group need to contact her as soon as possible.

Individual students must present their student ID card at the University Center on Nov. 3-7 from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. to receive a homecoming game ticket.

This ID-received ticket is free of cost. Additional tickets may be purchased for $4 each. The ID-ticket exchange must be done on the specified dates. All tickets, for the public and Austin Peay students, will be $4 the days of the homecoming.

Chaffin said that the purpose of this system is to assure every student a seat at the homecoming game. "There are no general admission tickets to this game," Chaffin explained. "All seats are reserved. Last year the students thought this was a good idea. This way they are guaranteed a seat."

Tickets will be sold on a first come, first serve, basis. Block seating must be arranged ahead of time.

The ticket office is located on the west end of the Dunn Center. The phone number is 648-7761.

Attendance poor

Only 2,600 show up at Gavs game

By Ronnie Graves

I really screwed up on my upset of the week and hit the dust, but my total percentage is gradually rising. This past week I went 19-6 which is 76%. My season total stands at 63-23 for an improving 73.2%.

Those Crimson Tide of Alabama are really tough. They took the game straight to Tennessee and demolished the Vols 27-0. The Vols were held calling the shots

By Ronnie Graves
Sports Editor

to an incredible minus-two yards of total offense in the first half. Things didn't get much better for Tennessee in the second half either. They were only able to manage 59 yards for the entire game.

Give Watson Brown and the Angry Red a pat on the back. Brown and his troops nabbed their second straight victory as they crushed Nicholls State 35-16. Coach Brown wouldn't mind seeing a repeat of last year's season that saw the Gavs win five of their last six to earn a 7-4 mark. Saturday the Angry Red travel to Murfreesboro to play a winless Middle Tennessee squad that is coached by former APSU mentor Boots Donnelly. I am picking the Angry Red to win by an easy 11 points. If the Gavs get rolling they could win by as much as 24 or 28 points.

Alabama should stay undefeated as they play Southern Mississippi, who is also undefeated and has collected wins over such teams as Tulane, Mississippi and Mississippi State. Texas will have their toughest test of the season as they play at home against once-beaten Southern Methodist. The Longhorns will have a tough time, but will squeeze out a slim victory.

Tennessee lost to Alabama, but the Big Orange will fight back to defeat a very tough Pittsburgh team in Knoxville by a slim margin.

The Angry Red's victory over Nicholls State was not helped by fan support. A lowly sum of 2,600 people were on hand to watch the game, most of whom were probably students. What's wrong with Clarksville and the Fort Campbell area? The Gavs are playing their best ball of the season and nobody is there to see them. Austin Peay football is great entertainment for the whole family and it's not all that expensive compared to a larger school's admission.

Municipal Stadium holds 9,000 people and it really looks empty with 2,600 people in it. The players can't help but notice it, the fans that are at the game notice it and so do the visitors from the other schools. They probably go home laughing at APSU's attendance.

Governors

Nicholls State was held in check on their next possession, but the Governors mishandled the punt, giving the ball back to the Colonels deep in APSU territory at the 23 yard line.

From there, Bryon Jarvis carried four of the five plays as he scored from two yards out. Junior Butch Case, the backup quarterback, attempted a two pt. conversion, but was brought down by defensive end Mark Daniel and linebacker Johnny Walker as the Governors held on to a 21-16 lead.

At 12:28 of the fourth quarter Defilippis hit All-OVC split end Steve Puthoff on a 41 yard aerial as Puthoff was dragged down at the NSU five yard line. Defilippis took center Clinton Bell's snap and rolled around right end for a five yard TD jaunt, giving the Gove a comfortable 27-16 edge. Hampton's fourth straight PAT tacked one more point to the bulge.

On the ensuing kickoff, NSU's Byron Jarvis took Hampton's kick at the one yard line, ran to his right, then reversed field and cut up the left sideline near the Nicholls State bench. Freshman William McElroy, the Pulaski, Tennessee native who runs 100 yards in 9.5 seconds, made a touchdown saving tackle at the APSU 27 yard line.

From there, the Peay defense stiffened and Nicholls State turned the ball over on downs.

APSU drove to the NSU 23 yard line on the strength of a 38 yard pass play from Defilippis to Puthoff, but Ray Hampton's 40 yard field goal attempt was errant as Austin Peay was content with a 28-16 lead with 7:50 to play.

Ernest Dunsen spoiled the Colonels' chances for a come-back as he intercepted a long pass from reserve quarterback Gordon Falgout.

Each team traded punts, and then turnovers, as Sonny Defilippis' fumble was avenged by freshman Michael Shelton. With :48 on the clock, Shelton picked off a Nicholls State pass at the APSU 48 yard line and streaked down the sideline for a 62 yard touchdown return. Ray Hampton's PAT iced the cake as the Governors have now won two straight to reach the 500 level at 3-3.

Coach Watson Brown praised the Austin Peay offensive line as he stated "they must be playing well if we're picking up 511 yards."

Last week's OVC Back of the Week, Sonny Defilippis, also drew praise from Brown as he was 7 of 13 passing for 127 yards, two touchdowns and had 116 yards rushing on 26 attempts, which included two more touchdowns.

Looking ahead, the Governors will travel to Murfreesboro to tangle with Boots Donnelly's Blue Raiders next Saturday, October 25. "This is a big rivalry and it scares me," cautions Watson Brown. "Although they're 0-6, it's their Homecoming and you know their players will want this one. They've got everything to gain and nothing to lose," added Brown.

AGR wins Greek Olympic title

By Steve Harmon

The Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity emerged as Champions in the First Annual Budweiser Greek Olympics held Oct. 17-18.

Sponsored by Budweiser, the Interfraternity Council (IFC), and the Special Events Department of Austin Peay, the competition included representatives from the seven Greek letter fraternities on the APSU campus.

The AGR's tallied 73 points in outdistancing the 53 point total posted by Alpha Tau Omega. Rounding out the scoring were Kappa Alpha Psi, 43; Pi Kappa Alpha, 34; Omega Psi Phi, 28; Alpha Phi Alpha, 10; and Sigma Chi, 9.

Alpha Gamma Rho claimed victories in the three-legged race, friebae toss, and the chariot race. ATO won the greased egg toss with a distance of 68 1/2 feet.

"The competition was a tremendous success in promoting the growth of the Greek system here at Austin Peay," added Artie Manning. "I'm looking forward to a long standing tradition of enthusiasm in this series," he concluded.

Bargatze supervises first Gov practice

By Ronnie Graves

The 1980-81 Austin Peay basketball team started practice last Wednesday under the supervision of head coach Ron Bargatze.

The Governors are returning five players from last year's 8-19 squad. Seniors Michael Shunk, Tim Thomas, Andrew Burton, Roosevelt Sanders and sophomore Reggie Suddeth are the Governors returning with OVC experience.

Bargatze said he has 11 new faces on this year's team. Four of the new players are bidding for a starting job, they include: 6'9" freshman Cecil Felts from Dickson County, 6'7" freshman Dennis Palmer from Nashville's East High School, 6'3½" freshman Alvin Ingle from Madison, and 6'3" freshman Edger Johnson from Memphis Northside High School. Johnson played his last two seasons on Northsides State-AAA championship teams.

Bargatze said that he has had some pleasant surprises so far during practice, one being the emergence of senior leadership.

Sanders will be the Gove captain for the upcoming season. He was the teams leading scorer and rebounder last year. Sanders was chosen All-OVC last season and has been selected as a unanimous preseason All-OVC choice for this season.

Burton was this year's winner of the Mickey Fisher Award that goes to the player who performs the best during the preseason conditioning program.

Bargatze says that he is really happy with his seniors. "Michael Shunk has the perfect attitude and was runner-up for the Mickey Fisher Award. Tim Thomas came back 16 pounds lighter and should be much quicker. Roosevelt is the best example of a self made player that I've ever seen. He has improved every year I've seen him. He plays well because he is smart."

Bargatze said that this team can be much improved over last years team because of the size difference. "Last year we were lacking depth and size and we had one inside scoring threat, which was Roosevelt."

Bargatze said that this year his team will strive for consistency, but with new players it can be hard.

Bargatze said that he would like to see more student support. He has brought an organ into the Dunn Center just to create enthusiasm

Tournament set

The Intramural Recreations Department and Ideal Distributing Company, Charles Hand distributor, will sponsor the Men's Natural Light Racquetball Tournament. Dates for the tournament are set for Nov. 20-22.

Entries are open to the first 32 persons to sign up. The entry fee is $1 and the deadline for entry is Nov. 12. All entrants must go by the Intramural Office to sign up and pay fees.

A reminder for all students, the game room downstairs in the University Center still has three pool tournaments on their schedule. Oct. 30, is the date for a ladies' 8-ball tourney. Nov. 13, men's 9-ball and Nov. 20 will be the date for ladies 9-ball.

For more information contact Chris Catalano in the game room or call 648-7838.

Lady Gobs host

The Lady Gobs Invitational volleyball will be held Friday and Saturday in the Dunn Center.

Teams in the tournament include the host Lady Gobs, Vanderbilt, University of the South, Temple, Lambuth and Trevecca.

The Lady Gobs are trying to grab the top spot after finishing second last year.

Football and volleyball continue

There was a light schedule in touch football last week.

On Oct. 12, in the Co-Rec division, Co-Rec defeated the Pikes 20-8 and ATO was a forfeit winner over the Wizards.

Monday Oct. 13 in the Men's division All World blanked ATO 19-0; ROTC crushed Miller Hall 32-0; Miller Lights skunked the Projects 19-0 and Dazed and Confused slipped by Track and Thang 6-0.

The championship finals are set for tonight at 7:30. Teams competing in the finals will not be known until later.

Drew Simmons, Assistant Director of Intramural recreation, said that he would like to see as many people as possible at the finals of touch football.

Women's volleyball is getting started with a large 12-team field.

On Tuesday Oct. 14, Kappa Delta White defeated Sevier #1; Hoot Owls defeated Harned Angels; The Untouchables beat Chi Omega; Kappa Delta Green beat the Sevier Spikers; Blunt Beauties won by forfeit over Harvill Hall and the First Ladies defeated the Phi Bears.

Oct. 15, action saw the Phi Bears defeat Chi Omega; Blunt Beauties defeated the Sevier

Spikers; First Ladies beat Kappa Delta White; The Harned Angels won by forfeit of Harvill Hall;

Sevier #1 defeated The Untouchables by forfeit and Kappa Delta Green defeated the Hoot Owls.

LET GO!—Austin Peay quarterback Sonny Defilippis seems to be in a bit of trouble. Defilippis wasn't in much trouble during the Nicholls State game. He ran two touchdowns and threw for two more in leading the Angry Red to a 35-16 victory over the Colonels.
