Four Candidates Vie For Office Thursday

Ambassador Film To Be Shown Thursday

The Clarksville Community Ambassador Association will hold its annual public meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the audio-visual room in the McCord Building.

The meeting is open to all students and will consist of a 30-minute color film entitled "Passport to Understanding." This film, according to Charles M. Waters, president of the Association, explains the ambassador program from the acceptance of the appointment to the candidate's return to his own home town.

Several Austin Peay State College students have participated in the Community Ambassador program, the latest being Miss Sandra Rawls who spent last summer in India.

Students interested in the Community Ambassador program are invited to see the film and to talk with the officers of the Association. Applications for ambassadors will be taken next spring.

Student Body To Elect Treasurer And Little Gov

The Austin Peay State College students will go to the polls in the student center Thursday between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. to elect their candidate for treasurer and to vote on an official Little Governor emblem.

The separate office of treasurer is provided for in the new Associated Student Body Constitution which was adopted after the elections last spring of the present student body officers.

Four candidates filed their petitions for the office by the deadline set at noon last Friday. In the race are Jim McKindsey, a senior; Frances Ann Butler, a junior; Ronald Arvin, a junior; and Dale Kincheloe, a sophomore.

Jim McKindsey, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J.S. McKindsey of Nashville is a speech major and a marketing minor. While serving as president of Phi Mu Alpha, he is also a member of the Collegians, APSC Playhouse, Business Club, the college choir, the band and the golf team.

Frances Ann Butler is an English major and a political science minor. She is the daughter of Sgt. Maj. (Ret.) and Mrs. Robert J. Butler of Clarksville. Besides being the Ladies' Representative of the band, she also holds membership in the Interlingua Club, Newman Club and The All State. In addition, she is a majorette with the marching band and a saxophone player with the Concert Band.

Ronald Arvin, an English and history major, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Voris Arvin of Hopkinsville. He is the president of the Interlingua Club and the managing editor of The All State.

Dale Kincheloe is the son of Mrs. J.A. Kincheloe of Hardinsburg, Ky. Kincheloe is a pre-med student.

Council Sponsors Skating Party

Tomorrow night the Inter-Faith Council will sponsor a skating party at the Skateland Roller Rink on the Tintown Highway.

Transportation will be provided between 6:30 and 7 in front of Harned Hall for all those who need a ride. The party will last until 10 but transportation will be provided for the freshmen girls who must be back by 9.

The Inter-Faith Council, composed of one representative from each church affiliated club on campus, is one of the governing bodies set up under the Associated Student Body Constitution.

The purpose of the party is to acquaint the members of each group, bring closer unity among the groups and extend the hospitality of the church affiliated clubs to the student body as a whole.

APSC Initiates New Admissions Program

State Education Commissioner Howard Warr announced recently that the State Board of Education approved an experimental program to upgrade freshman classes at Austin Peay State College, Middle Tennessee State and Tennessee Tech.

The program had been drawn up at a meeting at Tennessee Tech on August 15. N.C. Beasley, the past registrar at Middle Tennessee State, was the chairman of the committee which was composed of 12 representatives from the three colleges.

Under this program, Austin Peay State College will grant admission only to those high school graduates of Tennessee who have achieved an average grade of C or higher in academic subjects (English, science, mathematics, social studies and foreign languages) in the tenth, eleventh and the first half of the twelfth grade or those students who achieve a score of 15 or higher on the ACT tests.

Admissions of other high school graduates is to be limited to some term other than the fall term. These students may wait until the winter quarter of 1965 or may choose to enter a special summer program set up by the college to help them meet the entrance qualifications for the fall. Students choosing the summer program will be required to take a minimum of 12 quarter hours within 3 quarters hours in English, mathematics, science, social science or foreign language and achieve a minimum grade point average of 1.0 on all courses attempted.

The summer program for prospective freshmen will not be accelerated as the usual summer courses are. Furthermore, the student-teacher ratio will be reduced so that the student will receive more individual attention to his particular problem.

This program is designed only to set entrance qualifications for Tennessee students. The problem of admission of out-of-state students will be studied at some future meeting.

Austin Peay State College was represented on the admissions committee by President Joe Morgan; F. G. Woodward, dean of the faculty; Earl Sexton, director of field activities; Tom K. Savage, dean of students; and M. P. Bowman, dean of admissions and registrar.

Tap Exchange Underway

There is a foreign tape exchange program underway in the Foreign Language Department. APSC students are making tapes in French, German and Spanish, and sending them to their respective countries. The tapes in turn are being answered and sent back to APSC.

Students interested in French, German or Spanish are invited to take part in the program. It is not necessary for a student to be enrolled in a language course to participate in this tape exchange.

Price Elected To State Office

Susan Price, a junior from Wilmington, N.C., and president of the Episcopal students on the Austin Peay State College campus, attended the fall executive meeting of the Tennessee Canterbury Association at Vanderbilt recently.

The board members met to plan the state TCA Conference to be held in February at the DuBoise Conference Center located in Monticello, Tenn. Miss Price was appointed TCA second vice-president and will hold this office until February.

Miss Price and Pam Langley also represented Austin Peay State College at an Episcopal College Girls Conference held in Monticello, earlier this month. Fifty girls from colleges throughout the state attended. The speakers for the conference were the Rt. Rev. William E. Sanders, Suffragan Bishop of Tennessee, and the Rev. Dr. John Gessell, St. Luke's Chapel, Sevanee.

Irwin Presents Paper To SAMLA

Dr. Edward E. Irwin, English Department, will represent APSC at the South Atlantic Modern Language Association Meeting in Atlanta, Ga., November 15. Dr. Irwin will present a paper entitled "The Limia Motif in the Classical Tradition," which is concerned with the use of folklore in Greek and Roman literature, and the same motif appearing in English literature.

Little Governors Coled Hillbillies

The question of adopting a new "Governor" has raised quite a stir among the students. Below are some of the opinions given in response to the question, "Which of the new Governors do you prefer and why is he your choice?"

Sue Smith, history, Erin Smith think it should be changed, prefer "C."

Martina Virginia Holman, history, St. Joseph: "I choose 'B' because it is the only one which doesn't look like a hillbilly. He doesn't think the symbol of a college should be an illiterate hillbilly."

Alice DeWitt, elementary education, Grimm Springs: "It is necessary to change the symbol, I like 'F'. He looks more like a governor giving an order."

Anna Aternathy, English, Clarksville: "I prefer 'F' because it is the only symbol that seems appropriate to represent our college. The other Governors look like they have been drinking too much moonshine."

Linda Reese, business, Waverly: "I think that they ought to change. I prefer 'B'."

Joanne Bradley, history, Springfield: "I personally don't like any of the 'Little Governors'. I think they look too ridiculous for a college emblem."

Archie Hickerson, math, Shiloh: "I really don't know about the one we have now but of these I prefer 'B'."

John Hughes, music, York, Penn.: "I like 'B' for the reason that it looks more distinguished. All of them have something hanging from their mouths except 'B' and 'F'. Of the two, I think 'B' looks more collegiate."

Bill Woosley, marketing, Hopkinsville, Ky.: "Yes, I think that we should change. I prefer 'F'."

Geneva Arrington, elementary education, Nunnally: "I prefer 'B'. I think the others are much too country-ish for a college. 'B' looks more distinguished."

Why Bypass Your Library?

From the moment students enter the portals of Austin Peay State College, they are forced to run the gauntlet of multi-colored cards, parking decals and I.D. cards. In addition, they must survive the avalanche of numbers created and designed to fit every occasion. In spite of the many necessary details, these searchers for the truth forge onward, alone, to tackle each new problem with vigor and fortitude. However, in their plunge through the fearsome halls of academic learning, they usually bypass the one maze they should first conquer -- the library.

The library is that intricate center of stored knowledge which most students know little or nothing about but which stands for one purpose and that is to serve the student. As unknown and mysterious as it may seem, this place has been set up to bring all available materials to the hands of those who want and must have added information in their various fields of study. However, in addition to catering to the scholar, the library also puts itself at the disposal of those who want to make use of the materials merely for their own enjoyment.

Besides the more commonly known services of providing books, records and a study area, the library also offers special benefits to all interested students and faculty members. One of these is the photoduplication process by which people may obtain Verifax copies of printed or typewritten material at 10 cents a page for the first copy and 2 cents a page for each additional copy. This is invaluable to the person who needs the material but does not have the time to copy it himself. Other useful aids are the numerous indexes that list books and periodicals that have been published. If the desired materials are not available in the APSC library, it is possible to borrow it from other libraries or to get photo-copies. More information on these and other services may be obtained from any member of the library staff or from a copy of the library guide available in the corridor leading to the library, at the circulation desk or at the reference desk.

Even four years of college are never enough for the person who wants to remain well-informed and to keep pace with the constant acquisition of new knowledge. Thus, the basic step in carrying on this necessary research is to learn how to use the library. Take advantage of this valuable opportunity now.

Dear Editor,

I wish to take this opportunity to express the gratitude of Circle K to all those who made the 1963 APSC Faculty-Circle K basketball game the success that it was.

To the faculty, we send a special thanks not only to those who played but also to those who cheered as well. The value of any school lies in the personal worth of the instructors of which it is composed. You have shown to all the true spirit of sportsmanship, good will, and student-faculty cooperation that makes APSC the biggest little college in Tennessee. Again many thanks on a victory well deserved.

Sincerely yours,
Fred Alsop, III
Circle K President

Letters To Editor

Dear APSC Coed,

There is no such organization on the Austin Peay State campus as a BMOG Club!

There are, in respect, numerous individuals attempting to organize such a club. These individuals are confronted by occasional harassment from such individuals as you — who are evidently either super-saturated with jealousy or are misled by not knowing the facts.

These few students who have taken the responsibility upon themselves to organize this club do propose that not only their eventual members but also the entire student body "LOOK NEAT AND PRESENTABLE AT ALL TIMES." Is this attempt to raise the standards of Austin Peay State College such a breach of justice?

I'm sure, fellow coed, that these individuals mentioned in your letter of November 12 were positively and explicitly students wanting to join the BMOG Club because the members wear 18 x 24 (feet) red and white signs on their backs to announce their candidacy.

These individuals have not "reared their ugly heads" to criticize anyone. Their goal is to raise the standards.

Granted, when preparations are being made to become a club on the APSC campus, every effort should be made to make favorable impressions and establish a feeling that the club is needed and wanted. I think that if some few are destroying the image that we're attempting to create, proper steps should be taken to see that it doesn't happen again! All that we're asking for is a chance to prove our value. Don't shoot us down before we have an opportunity to prove ourselves.

The goal of the BMOG is not to have just a select few as members, but to eventually spread and engulf the entire student body. A sister club might soon be organized, and there are no limitations as to the success and importance of these clubs on our campus.

So, APSC coed, will you give the boys a chance before you cut their throats? We need your help.

Respectfully yours,
Tommy Elliott

Dear Editor,

After reading the letter in this column last week pertaining to the BMOG Club, I must say that I am in complete agreement with the "APSC Coed" who was instrumental in bringing the truth about some of the members of this club to the attention of everyone here at APSC.

I believe if the members were to follow the rules and purposes of the club as stated by two of the officers in an earlier radio speech, the club could be a beneficial factor in furthering the cultural development of APSC students. I do not, however, believe that some of the present officers and members can possibly represent APSC as it truly should be represented. Some of these "good will promoters" are among some of the most ill-mannered people I have ever known. The term "loudmouth" perfectly describes those I speak of as they have proven it time after time.

I'm sure that I speak for people other than myself when I say that I don't particularly think some of these BMOG members have the qualifications necessary to represent "my school."

Sincerely,
Pat Beacom

Dear Editor,

On behalf of the Methodist Student Movement of Austin Peay State College, we would like to thank you for your publicity and support that you gave our hootenanny. The Wesley Foundation would also like to thank the faculty and students who helped make our hootenanny a success.

Respectfully yours,

Education Department

By Jan Leftwich

Have you noticed heads protruding from the windows of the Browning Building lately?

Students who pass the building occasionally see heads, shoulders and waving arms hanging from the second floor balcony window.

Dr. Harold Pryor, chairman of the Education Department and director of teacher education, declares that the whole Education Department is "hanging out the windows." Perhaps this is literally true.

The correct title for the department featured this week is the Education and Psychology Department -- Education Department for short. The title alone takes up needed space for the department's activities.

Eight full-time faculty members keep the complicated program running smoothly. They are Dr. Harold S. Pryor, professor of education; Dr. George E. Ackley, professor of psychology; Dr. David E. Denton, assistant professor of psychology; Dr. Elizabeth H. Stokes, professor of psychology; Dr. Fred A. Banger, professor of education; Dr. Ellis

B. Burns, assistant professor of education; and Mr. Bryan Crutcher, assistant professor of education.

The department uses the entire second floor for its classrooms, curriculum lab, audio-visual storage room, offices -- and its title.

The department offers opportunities for its students to learn various kinds of skills. The demonstration school, under the supervision of Dr. Pryor, has an enrollment of 1400 students. Education majors and students seeking teacher certification do student teaching at the "Dem" school and several other schools in the Clarksville City, the Robertson County and the Chestnut County school systems. In January, Fort Campbell schools will be added to the list.

A research project is now underway and under foot. It involves two groups of college students and a group of elementary school children. The idea is to determine the role of inexperienced teachers in teaching children how to read. The college students participating in the research program are volunteers from Education 212.

On the graduate level, three majors are offered. They are Curriculum and instruction, Administration and Supervision, and Guidance and Counseling.

Govs Host Vols

The Governors' opponents this week are the U-T Martin Volunteers for the final intercollegiate football contest for both schools.

The Govs wound up their first year in the Ohio Valley Conference last Saturday against Tennessee Tech and are for the first time playing the Vols as a non-conference foe.

UTMB will field a squad of 17 returning lettermen but are weakened by the loss of 15 squadmen including several renowned all-conference performers.

The Vol quarterback Billy Watson has been the ace passer and punter for the team this year and should be a prime target for Governor defenders.

The Govs will be looking for their first victory over UTMB in the current series of contests between the two schools. The Vols have won the first three games of the series by scores of 21-10, 13-7 and 14-7. Last year in a clash on their own gridiron, the Vols dealt the Govs a tough 16-0 defeat.

Bucs Praise Govs

A news release from East Tennessee last week was liberal with praise of the Governor squad they met a few days before. The news was that "the Buccaneers were very lucky to get out alive from their game with Austin Peay (State)."

They went on to praise the Governors' defense saying, "A dull edge was put on the Buc outback by a fired-up Governor defense." What the Bucs followers didn't know was that they were getting a taste of what all the opponents have experienced all year.

The Bucs' little All American quarterback, Jimmy Baker, was high on the praise of the Govs' defense. A statement after the game was a superb concoction of Governor desire when Baker said, "We just couldn't get going. Course, about half the time I was lying flat on my back and it's hard to operate from that position."

Though the Govs didn't win the ballgame, one Governor came out victorious. Carlton Platt outshined Jimmy Baker in the passing department. Platt connected on 9 of 14 passes for 131 yards while Baker only completed 6 or 17 passes for 114 yards.

Faculty Outwits Circle K

The brains of APSC, better known as the faculty, made it two in a row as they again beat the Circle K Club by a score of 51-43 last Wednesday night.

The faculty was led by two sure shot cage stars in "Clumsy" Cliff and "Dribbles" Snyder. Cliff shot a blazing 56 per cent of his shots for 17 points and recovered 12 rebounds while Snyder settled 50 per cent of his shots for 15 points and 11 rebounds.

For the losers, Fred Alsop and David Watson were high point men with 10 and 8 points respectively.

Trophies were presented following the game and the winners were as follows:

Foremost Sport — "Pebbles" Stone
Dirtiest Player — "Clumsy" Cliff
Best Cheerleader — Dean Mabel Mescham

The game provided fun for all but Thursday was a slow-down day for many of the participants as they were nursing battle wounds acquired from the previous night.

Governors Lose 28-13

Austin Peay State equalled its best offense output of the year Saturday afternoon, but bowed to rival Tennessee Tech by a 28-13 score at Cookeville.

Bill Dupes' Governors ground out 211 yards on the ground, their best rushing effort this season, and added 35 yards via the air-ways to match their 239 yard show against East Tennessee ten days ago -- BUT it wasn't enough as the Eagles powered their way for 356 yards.

APSC, winless in eight starts this season and loser of 21 straight over a three-year period tangles with U-T Martin Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in Clarksville's Municipal Stadium. The Gov-Vol clash precludes the season's finale against Fort Campbell on Thanksgiving Day.

A crowd of 3,500 fans turned out for what was probably the last game on Tech's Overall Field. A new stadium is expected to be ready for the Golden Eagles' 1964 campaign.

Tech scored the first time that it had the ball in the second half and Bob Robertson split the up-rights perfectly to give the Eagles' their margin of victory. APSC had scored in the second half on a one-yard plunge, by quarterback Carlton Platt and end Pete Bush converted to knot the count at 7-7 and that's the way it stood at halftime. Tech opened the day's scoring when quarterback Jim Ragland pitched a 42-yard scoring toss to end and captain Torrey Evans.

The Eagles, now 6-3 in the season and 3-3 in the Ohio Valley Conference, scored twice more to gain a 28-7 lead before Platt hit Gov halfback Arnold Huskey with a 17-yard scoring pass on the last play of the game. Platt's running attempt for the two-point conversion fell short and the Govs' bid for an upset failed once again.

Platt led all rushers for the day with 74 yards in 11 carries. He completed four of 11 passes for 38 yards and now has 609 yards on total offense. Huskey added 54 yards in 12 carries and Tim Chisholm ground out 47 yards in 11 efforts.

OVC rushing leader Ron Reeves led the Tech ground attack with 60 yards in 17 carries; however, Ragland, Evans and end Bobby Hille were the Eagle stars. Ragland hit on seven of 11 attempts for 125 yards and two TDs, while Evans caught the 20 TD passes and Hille snared the other five to set up the Tech markers.

Freshman fullback and line-backer Bobby Byrd continued to lead the Gov defense as he accounted for 13 individual tackles and 13 assists. He also gained 24 yards in only four rushing attempts.

Some people have read so much about the harmful effects of smoking that they have given up reading.

Back And Lineman Of Week

Arnold Huskey, a 5-9, 170 pound sophomore from Nashville was picked as the outstanding back in the Govs' game against Tennessee Tech last Saturday. He gained 54 yards in 12 carries and caught a 17-yard pass for APSC's second touchdown.

Tom Jones, a 6-3, 220 pound sophomore tackle from Pittsburg, Pa., has been chosen as the outstanding lineman for the second time in three weeks by the coaches. Jones made seven individual tackles and seven assists plus playing a great game offensively for the Governors.

Vols-Govs To Clash Here

By Garner Nabors

The U-T Martin Volunteers will finish their 1963 football season when they clash with the Austin Peay State Governors at the Clarksville Memorial Stadium Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

Including last week's game against Florence State, the Volunteers come on the gridiron with a 5-4-0 season record. The losses have been handed them by Arkansas State Teachers College, Middle Tennessee State, Murray State and Delta State.

In the series between the two colleges, the record stands at an even 8-8-2.

The Vols, under head coach Bob Carroll, have 17 lettermen returning including center Jerry Bethune from Portageville, Mo. who was honorable mention All-Volunteer State Athletic Conference in 1962.
