PUZZLED PEOPLE.—"You've got to be putting me on!" is this the routine for fall registration? To the amusement of freshmen and the disgust of uppermen, students find that registration is a hectic turmoil of going around in circles piecing the schedule puzzle together with times and credit hours.

3 faculty members exchange with Tennessee State teachers

By BARBARA WEST

Music, English and agriculture departments of APSU and Tennessee State University are cooperating in a faculty exchange program this year for the first time.

Dr. Herbert F. Stallworth, vice president for academic affairs, explained that the participating departments were chosen primarily because of interest expressed by the two faculties involved.

Participating APSU faculty members are Peter Cook, associate professor of music; Frank Hinton, assistant professor of agriculture; and William Barnett, instructor in English.

Donald Barrett, T.R. Wood and

J.W. Byrdson are TSU's contributions to the program.

At APSU Barrett will be teaching music appreciation and applied piano. T.R. Wood will teach classes in dairying and swine production, while Byrdson instructs classes in world literature.

Cook will be leading classes in music appreciation and applied piano at TSU. Hinton will teach animal science and marketing milk, and Barnett will be teaching world literature classes.

Last spring the state board of education and chief academic officers of the University of Tennessee at Nashville, Volunteer State Community College, Middle Tennessee State University and APSU agreed that a faculty exchange program with TSU would have good effect.

Dr. Wayne E. Stamper, who served as acting vice president for academic affairs, was primarily involved in the development of the exchange program with TSU.

Among the benefits predicted to flow from the program are improved communication between

Wheels of change spin new buildings, faculty, enrollment

The wheels of change are spinning strong this year at APSU as new buildings undergo construction, new faces join the faculty, courses are added to the curriculum and both enrollment and tuition continue to rise.

Construction on the first new building on campus in four years began in August at the corner of 8th and Joseph Streets. The $12.5 million Fine Arts and Drama Building, to house the art, speech and theatre departments, will be finished by the fall of 1973.

Final plans have been approved for the Winfield Dunn Health, Physical Education and Convocation Center.

Bids will be received Nov. 16 and construction is scheduled to begin in December. The new building, to be constructed at the former Howard Pettus Park, will cost $4.5 million.

A $130,000 renovation of McTeebalds Hall was completed this summer. Formerly a men's dorm, McTeebalds now houses the Center for Teachers, the nurse education department and offices for the athletic director and most of the coaching staff.

Twenty-nine new members have been appointed to the APSU faculty. Five others are returning from leaves of absence.

Heading the additions and promotions in the administration was the appointment of Herbert F. Stallworth as vice president for academic affairs.

New director of student financial aid is John Bratcher. Melburn Mayfield has been appointed vice president for development and field services. Replacing Mayfield as director of the Center for Teachers is Dr. John Cair.

Other new faces on the APSU campus include Dr. O. S. Luton, new university physician and Larry Lovvella, director of food services.

Expanded courses in black studies and a new major in regional planning add variety to the curriculum.

A record enrollment of 4,000-plus students was projected for the 1972 fall quarter. As enrollment has increased, so have fees. Registration and maintenance fees for the fall quarter increased $10 from spring. Out of state tuition rose from $160 to $240 a quarter.

Howard Baker slates address

Sen. Howard Baker will be addressing interested students in the University Center ballroom at 1:45 tomorrow afternoon.

Richard Gaia, APSU co-chairman for the Re-election of Baker Committee, stated that his address would be a major one.

Sen. Baker will arrive on campus at 1:15 p.m. where he will attend a closed press conference in the conference room of the University Center.

An informal reception in the ballroom will follow the Senator's speech. A question-and-answer session will take place at the reception.

Classes will not be officially dismissed.

SGA offices to be filled by freshmen

Petition forms for freshman class officers and senators are due in the SGA Office no later than noon Monday, October 3.

Each petition requires 50 signatures from members of the freshman class.

Candidates must meet with the election board in the University Center conference room at 5 p.m. Monday. Failure to attend this meeting or to notify the election board chairman will result in disqualification from elections.

Formal campaigning may begin at 6 p.m. Monday.

Polls will open for the general election at 8 a.m. and will close at 4:30 p.m. Monday, Oct. 16.

Polling precincts will be: University Center, Cross Hall, Rawlins Hall, Ellington Hall, Killebrew Hall, Sevier-Blount Hall, Harwood Hall and Harvill Hall.

If, for any office, no candidate obtains a majority, there will be a run-off election on Thursday, Oct. 19 between the two candidates with the most votes.

APSU newspaper earns 'A-plus' rating by NNS

THE ALL STATE begins its 43rd year of publication with excellent ratings from two national critique services for its second term of publication in the 1971-72 academic year.

The newspaper was awarded a rating of A-plus by National Newspaper Service (NNS) and First Class by Associated College Press (ACP).

A-plus is the highest rating awarded by NNS, and is given to a limited number of generally excellent newspapers which stand out for freshness, imagination and personality.

First Class represents "excellent" from ACP requiring a minimum of 3,200 points. THE ALL STATE scored 3,530 and also received Marks of Distinction in coverage and content, writing and editing and physical appearance.

Youth vote becomes candidates' concern

Throughout the country this summer different interest groups have been carrying on registration drives. All sorts of organizations have been involved: Allard Lowerstein's anti-Nixon "Registration Summer," labor union, the NAACP, the Washington-based "National Movement for a Student Vote," the U. S. Youth Council in New York and the Citizenship Fund names only a few. Clarksville has not been exempt from the registration drives. This past summer the Black Student Association, led by Milford Lucas along with Rev. John Cunningham of the Mt. Olive Baptist Church, organized a registration drive. They were aided by James DeBerry who heads the Political Activity Committee of the NAACP. They feel they accomplished something by going house to house urging people to register. They have been joined this fall by the Young Democrats and Young Republicans in this effort.

Entergetic candidates have been busy carrying on registration drives, courting the new 25 million eligible voters. These new voters are the reason for such enthusiasm by organizations and interest groups.

Since the 26th amendment, which lowered the voting age from 21 to 18, there have been various polls taken to find out just how much the young voters may effect this year's elections. The Democrats and Republicans both are claiming the bulk of the youth vote. Judging from the past Democratic and Republican conventions the youth vote may lean towards the Democrats since 23 per cent of the delegation was under 30 years of age compared to nine per cent at the Republican convention.

To many people, voting has seemed to be a waste of time. Voting for one candidate over another has been much like voting between cancer and polio. But this year there is a difference between the candidates running for office, a very big difference indeed.

Register and vote on November 7. But vote wisely; know the issues. The real power of the people is the power of the vote.

Letters to editor

Presidents welcome students

To New and Returning Students:
I am glad to have this opportunity to welcome all students to the campus of APSU.

Each fall I look forward with hope to a new academic year since it is a time to start new programs and modify the existing ones. At the beginning of the 1972-73 year, I believe that the students, faculty, staff and facilities are the best in the history of this institution and that they compare favorably with those to be found elsewhere.

It is my hope that the year will be a profitable and enjoyable one for each of you.

Sincerely yours,
Joe Morgan
President

Dear Students,

On behalf of the Student Government, Senate and the Executive Cabinet, I want to welcome you to Austin Peay State University. I hope your summer months have been profitable and enjoyable, and you're ready for a most exciting school year.

The SGA has worked extremely hard to provide new and progressive changes which we hope will benefit you the student. This year more than ever before we are concentrating our efforts to provide more and better services to the students. We have pledged ourselves to represent student interest not only on the campus level but the state level (Continued on Page 3, Col. 1)

The college scene

by VALARIE PHILLIPS

CLEMSON UNIVERSITY, The Clemson Tiger, Clemson, S. C. - Student government, in cooperation with the Office of Student Affairs, has created Clemson's first service for student absentee voters.

The program is designed to enable resident student voters to vote on campus in the upcoming national election with as little red tape involved as possible.

Students interested in obtaining an absentee ballot may pick up a ballot request form, fill out the necessary information and have it notarized by the student notary public on duty. The registrar then signs the request, officially designating the absentee voter as a student. The request ballot is then sent to the voter's home county.

In approximately seven days the absentee voter will receive a voting ballot in the mail. After casting his vote, the student then returns the ballot to the absentee voting service, where it is delivered. The necessary forms are filled out and the voter may drop the ballot in the mail box.

MEMPHIS STATE UNIVERSITY, The Helmsman, Memphis, Tenn. - Student Government Association president Brad Martin is seeking a seat in the state legislature in the November election.

In the Aug. 3 primary, Martin ran unopposed on the Republican ticket. His opponent in November is Jim Williams 40, of the Democratic party.

The theme for his fall campaign is one of a "personal candidate." Martin plans to use a grassroots type campaign and plans to canvass the whole district himself before the Nov. 7 elections.

UNIVERSITY OF NORTH IOWA, Northern Iowan, Cedar Falls, Iowa - Activity fee benefits have been extended to spouses of full-time married students at this fall.

Under the program, which was approved by the State Board of regents, spouses wishing to participate will pay a fee equal to one half of the full-time student activity fee.

Student involvement needed year round

Looking back over the past two fall quarters at Austin Peay we find that student activity, participation and interest seems to reach its zenith in the fall but rapidly thereafter expends itself in a burst of activity which decreases in scope as the quarter progresses.

It seems students are only able to act either in a state of frenzy with laddish, naive overtones, or descend to the doldrums and are active only in their passivity. Where is the middle ground between those two extremes where consistent interest and participation is maintained in an intelligent manner?

Take for instance the fall of 1970 when a group of SGA officers brought up the resolution to aid nine Kent State students being held on various riot charges. The resolution asked for the senate endorsement of a dance to raise money for legal aid. After heated debate the resolution was withdrawn and the rest of the year went by with scarcely a whisper about this formerly so controversial issue.

Then in the fall of 1971 a well-intentioned sophomore made a resolution asking for the song "Dixie" to be removed from the repertoire of the APSU chimes. The reason for this resolution was to answer protests to the effect that the song represented remnants of slavery. This "weighty" issue was the only one brought up that was resolved. Actually there was no other controversial issue.

Could this year bring forth the winter of our discontent? Judging from past experience it is doubtful. If, however, the presidential election arouses abnormal activity in the student body, this might be the rain that relieves the drought.

Editor defines letter policy

THE ALL STATE welcomes comment from readers both in our editorial statements and on other topics.

Students wishing to write letters must submit them by 5 p.m. Friday for publication the following Wednesday. The letters must be restricted to one subject, typed on a 60-space line and signed.

The General Policies of the Board of Student Publications prohibit the printing of unsigned letters, however names may be withheld upon request and will be held in the strictest confidence.

We reserve the right to edit or not publish any letter for reasons of taste or space limitations.

APSU appoints Bratcher as financial aid director

John Bratcher, former assistant director of student aid at Memphis State University, has been named director of student financial aid.

The position was formerly a part of the duties of the vice president for the development of field services.

"With the addition of Bratcher," said Dr. Joe Morgan, APSU president, "greater attention can be devoted to this area. This will also release more time for Melburn Mayfield, vice president for development and field services, to devote to the areas of development and student recruitment."

Bratcher's duties include applying for funds; preparing federal, state and university reports; awarding student aid funds in all university programs; and developing student aid policies.

Bratcher, 38, is a native of Clarkdale, Miss.

Czirr moves to become center head

Dr. John Czirr has been promoted from associate director to director of the Center for Teachers at APSU.

He replaces Melburn R. Mayfield, who became vice president for development and field services on July 1.

Czirr, 51, a native of Oswego, N.Y., came to APSU in 1971 from Syracuse University.

The Center for Teachers is a five-year pilot project designed to provide unique pre-service preparation for future high school teachers of chemistry, earth science, environmental science, mathematics and physics.

In addition, the $2.1 million project provides in-service assistance to all high school teachers and mathematics teachers in 21 school systems in the vicinity of APSU, both in Tennessee and Kentucky.

Operating on a grant of $1.36 million from the National Science Foundation, the remainder of the total cost of the center is being provided by APSU.

Dr. Czirr received his bachelor of science and master of science degrees from State University of New York at Oswego. He earned his doctor of education degree from the University of Buffalo.

USAB opens coffeehouse

Opening this Friday evening in the basement of Ellington Hall will be APSU's new coffeehouse.

The coffeehouse, sponsored by the USAB, will be open every Friday and Sunday from 7 p.m. until midnight.

Entertainment will vary from singing to poetry reading and one act plays.

Anyone on campus wishing to perform at the coffeehouse or willing to paint wall murals should contact Tommy Armistead or one of the other USAB members.

Entrance will be at the back door of Ellington and admission is free. Refreshments will be sold.

Plans for expansion of the 50-seat facility are in the making.

Greeks and clubs hold special days

Sept. 25 and 26 brought not only the first full days of classes for the fall quarter to the APSU campus, but also special events held in the University Center that have received high praise from campus leaders.

The events were Greek Day and Organizations Day.

"Greek Day," Sept. 25, was so named because of informalities tables located in the lobby of the student center that were manned by various members of APSU's Greek system.

These tables displayed the Greek letters associated with each fraternity and sorority, examples of the particular projects of each and statuettes of the organization's mascots, among other items.

"Greek Day" was the brainchild of the Student Government Association, particularly Vice President Mike "Tex" Fletcher. One of Fletcher's duties as vice president is the coordination of organizations.

"We had been planning Greek Day and Organizations Day since last spring," he said. "The idea was to help people understand some of the things concerning our Greek organizations and to give new students on campus a look at the many clubs at APSU."

Response to Greek Day was very favorable. Said Priscilla Garrett, president of Chi Omega, "Organizing Greek Day was definitely a good idea. I think it should be held at least every year, and possibly every quarter."

Nell Northington, president of Theta Phi Epsilon, said "we made our name known more. We talked to a good number of people about what the letters stood for. Overall, I would say that it was very successful."

Milford Lucius, president of newest fraternity, said, "Tex" and the rest of the SGA are to be congratulated on an outstanding job. It was very successful."

Alpha Tau Omega president, Bonnie Howard said he thinks

"Greek Day" should be held more often. "It was a wonderful idea," he said, "Tex" was great and I want to congratulate him for setting it up."

On Sept. 26, 21 social and business organizations were represented by tables. Organizations Day also played host to the two major political parties who were both well represented in the University Center.

Speaking for the Young Democrats, vice president Danny Williams said his organization handed out campaign literature for local and national candidates in the Nov. 7 elections. The club's membership was also increased through the drive, he said.

A spokesman for the Young Republicans, Richard Galt, said the Republicans saw "no need to recruit people, because those who want to work will come out."

as well. But no matter how hard we work, all our efforts are futile unless we receive the cooperation and support of the student body. I hope we will receive that support, for this year more than ever before we have the opportunity to build and develop all aspects of our university.

If I or any member of the Student Government Association can be of service to you, please feel free to notify us. Our purpose is to represent the students' best interest.

Sincerely yours,
Dwight Lamley

Dr. Luton joins staff of infirmary

Dr. O. S. Luton has accepted the position of university physician.

Luton came to APSU in July leaving a private practice in Erin.

He graduated from Vanderbilt University and received his M.D. degree from the University of Tennessee in Memphis in 1962. After serving his internship at Brooks Army Hospital in Texas, he began practicing medicine in Erin.

Dr. Luton's new infirmary office hours are 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. Monday-Friday. Nurses are on duty from 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday-Saturday and 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. on Sunday.

In addition, 24-hour emergency care is available.

LIGHT MY FIRE—Members of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity stand ready to "spark up" excitement and "extinguish" campus monotony with their renovated 1941 fire engine. Mechanically minded brothers spent the summer sandblasting, painting and tuning the engine.

With old fire engine

Pikes spark campus activities

No, there isn't a fire department on campus, but there is a fire truck.

The bright red 1941 Seagraves Pumper Fire Truck now seen frequently at APSU is owned and operated by the Eta Tau chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha, national social fraternity.

Tom Mink, president of the local chapter, said, "Our fire engine is especially useful for rushing new members into the chapter and for attracting girls on campus to join our little sister organization, the Pikesettes."

Along with their dalmatian mascot, Mitzie, the Pikes will use their fire engine to make appearances at all the home football games, for parades and for creating fun on campus.

Mink pointed out that even working on the fire engine is fun for those involved.

"Our pit crew, made up of some of our more mechanically minded brothers, keeps the engine in running condition while the rest of the fraternity and the hardworking Pikesettes keep it looking clean and shiny," he said. The Clarksville Fire Department assisted the Pikes in repairing the engine. Sandblasting and painting were done by the fraternity brothers.

During the summer, Dale DeMoss, Kent Grizzard, Bill Norman and Frank Savage spent many hours rebuilding the motor and frame of the truck.

Purchased from Leroy Baggett of Adams, Tenn., the fire engine was stored in a warehouse until repair work began.

Intended originally for use by the Adams-Cedar Hill Fire Department, the ex-navy fire engine was purchased in 1971 by the fraternity for its own use.

The truck features a 12 cylinder motor, a siren, the original tires and a solid brass pump. Brass nozzles were donated by the Ft. Campbell Fire Department.

The tradition of the Pike fire engine has now returned to Clarksville where it was begun by the Theta chapter.

The Theta chapter, now located in Memphis, was originally installed in Clarksville in 1878.

'Greeks' brew fall rush

Fraternities will begin their first rush of the academic year Oct. 16-21.

Applications for rush are available now at four campus locations. All full-time male students interested in joining a fraternity may pick up applications in the office of Doyt Redmond, director of men's affairs, the student center information desk, the post office counter and all fraternity houses. All applications must be turned in to Redmond's Office by Oct. 12. No formal rush fee will be charged.

Rush period, conducted by the Inter-Fraternity Council, will be highlighted by activities such as smokers. Alpha Tau Omega will hold a smoker Oct. 17; Pi Kappa Alpha, Oct. 18; Sigma Phi Epsilon, Oct. 19; and Kappa Sigma Phi, Oct. 20.

The week's activities will conclude Oct. 21 with parties held on "preference night."

Black pageant held

Peay claims 1st runner-up

By VALARIE PHILLIPS

Summer of '72 was a special one for Patricia Menfield, first runner-up in the Miss Black Tennessee Pageant held in June. Miss Menfield, a Junior English major, went to the state pageant in Nashville after being selected Miss Black Clarksville in April.

Contestants in the state pageant were judged on the basis of personality, poise, swimsuit and evening gown competitions and talent.

For her talent presentation, Miss Menfield performed a dance interpretation of the poem "Freedom" by Pauli Murray with background music from an album by Santana.

A large trophy, a Polaroid-Land camera and a 10-week modeling course were among the prizes Miss Menfield was awarded. Girls from Harned Hall sent her a special prize of a dozen long-stemmed red roses the day of the pageant.

As Miss Black Clarksville and first runner-up to Miss Black Tennessee, Miss Menfield's duties include representing Clarksville and assuming the duties of the winner if she is unable to perform them.

Early this summer, Miss Menfield and Opera Gail Watney, Miss Black Tennessee, attended a ball at the Nashville Palladium where they were the special guests of the evening.

Along with the pageant activities, Miss Menfield and the other contestants toured nightclubs where they were introduced, attended many private parties, as well as filming a television show, Soul of the City.

53 qualify for dean's list

A total of 53 students have been named to the Dean's List for the 1972 summer quarter.

In order to qualify for this list, a student must have earned at least 15 quarter hours with no grade lower than a "C." Also the student's final grade-point average for the quarter must be at least 3.65.

Those included on the list are: Joseph Ants, Ray Anderson, Carl Brinker, Michele Butts, Earl Cannon, William Chambers, Linda Cox, Shirley Casper, Emily Creed, Linda Partridge, Katherine Evans, Karen Gaffard, Nancy Gilly, Ellen Gorton, Joanne Hackman, Frances Hall, Lucy Halliburton, Sharon Hammer, Cathy Harvey, Joanne Holland, Verne Holt, John Hooper, Jo Jones, Bernhard Kross, Thomas Kucera, Sanjeev Long, Christine Masters, Elise McGee, Anne Mellick, Joseph Mory, Joanne Murray, Ann Niswender, Samuel Patrick, Jacqueline Porter, Larry Potter, Janice Putnam, Thomas Sahn, Gwendolyn Smith, Ruth Stephens, Debbie Sugg, Barbara Sykes, Lee Tarvin, Linda Thompson, Linda Van Housen, Frances Verste, Agnes Waddington, Billy Wallace, Martha Weckley, Charles Westman, Clarice White, Steven White, Deborah Wilkins, Dorothy Woodhouse.

Pottier, Lincoln perform in 'Ivy'

For the Love of Ivy, starring Sidney Pottier and Abbey Lincoln, will be shown Oct. 11 in the University Center Ballroom at 7:30 p.m.

Bessie Bridges and Nan Martin portray members of a suburban family who are shocked when their Negro housekeeper announces she is leaving for a secretarial job.

The teenage members of the family decide that male attention will convince her to stay. Thus Pottier, as a self-made businessman, finds his way onto the scene.

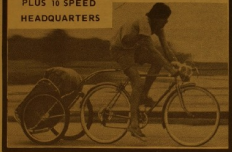

Directed by Daniel Mann, the film offers a background of New York City and a jazz-oriented musical score.

Saga offers varied plans for diners

Saga Food Service, a California-based firm, has been selected by a committee of students and faculty to direct APSU's food service program.

Larry Louisa has been appointed by Saga to serve as director.

Monday through Friday breakfast is served in the cafeteria from 7:40 a.m. and from 8-9 a.m. on Saturday and Sunday. Lunch is served from 11 a.m.-1 p.m. Monday through Friday and 12-1 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

On weekends dinner is served from 5-6 p.m. and 4:30-6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Individual meal costs are breakfast - $1.05; lunch - $1.26 and $1.52 for dinner.

The service also offers a multiple meal plan consisting of either 16, 15 or 12 meals. These plans are offered on either the quarterly or the annual basis.

Several features of this new dining program are unlimited seconds, periodic festive meals, special diet accommodations, gourmet or steak dinners and special treats during exam week.

Louisa states, "I am looking forward to meeting everyone but more than that to offer a quality food service program that the students can use."

TWO RIVERS MALL

We invited a few friends for dinner and they helped clean up the Genesee River.

With the aid of a few thousand pounds of microorganisms, we're helping to solve the water pollution problem in Rochester. Maybe the solution can help others.

What we did was to combine two processes in a way that gives us one of the most efficient water-purifying systems private industry has ever developed.

One process is called "activated sludge," developed by man to accelerate nature's microorganism adsorption. What this means is that, for the majority of wastes man can produce, there is an organism waiting somewhere that will happily assimilate it. And thrive on it.

The breakthrough came when Kodak scientists found a way to combine the activated sludge process with a trickling filter process and optimized the combination.

We tested our system in a pilot plant for five years.

(At Kodak, we were working on environmental improvement long before it made headlines.) And the pilot project worked so well, we built a ten-million-dollar plant that can purify 36-million gallons of water a day.

Governor Rockefeller called this "the biggest voluntary project undertaken by private industry in support of New York State's pure-water program."

Why did we do it? Partly because we're in business to make a profit—and clean water is vital to our business. But in furthering our own needs, we have helped further society's. And our business depends on society.

We hope our efforts to cope with water pollution will inspire others to do the same. And, we'd be happy to share our water-purifying information with them. We all need clean water. So we all have to work together.

Haskins accepts position to direct BSU activities

Dan D. Haskins Jr. of Nashville has been named director of the Baptist Student Union at APSU. Haskins, a graduate of Glencliff High School, Nashville, earned the B.S. degree in education from Tennessee Technological University.

He will receive his master of divinity degree from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary at Ft. Worth in December.

Haskins has attended the Army Chaplain's School, Ft. Hamilton, N.Y.

Saturday Drive Baptist Church in Nashville licensed Haskins to the gospel ministry in 1969 and ordained him the same year.

Assuming the post Sept. 15,

Haskins has planned new interests for the students of APSU. Included in the activities are a coffeehouse, The Listening Post, and the Forum, a discussion session of relevant issues.

"The concept of the exchange program between APSU and TSU is excellent in my judgment. A well-implemented exchange program can have many benefits for the students, faculty members and for the two institutions generally," said Stallworth.

Art graphics exhibited for sale

An exhibition and sale of original graphic art by contemporary and old master artists will be sponsored by the art department of APSU.

Arranged by the Ferdinand Roten Galleries of Baltimore, Md., the exhibition will be held Tuesday, Oct. 10, in the lobby of the University Center from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

The art department's portion of the proceeds will be given in scholarships to working art students.

Over 1,000 original etchings, lithographs and woodcuts by artist such as Picasso, Goya and Renoir will be included in the exhibition.

Works by contemporary American, European and Japanese printmakers will also be shown.

Prices start at $5 with the majority priced under $100.

Present at the exhibition will be a representative of the Roten Galleries to answer any questions the public may have regarding graphic art and printmaking.

Junior needed for senate post

Any junior wishing to fill a recent vacancy in the senate should attend a meeting tomorrow at 6 p.m. in the University Center Conference Room.

To qualify for this office, a candidate must have at least 90 hours and less than 144 hours and be classified as a junior for the next quarter. He must also have a minimum over-all grade point average of 2.0.

Upon acceptance the candidate must serve through spring quarter.

Club shows fall fashion

Fall fashions will be modeled by the Delta Pi chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota Tuesday, October 10 at 7:30 p.m. in the University Center Ballroom.

Tickets to the show are $1 and may be purchased from any Sigma Alpha Iota member or in the music department. Proceeds from the evening will be used to help finance music scholarships awarded by the fraternity, as well as other projects undertaken during the year.

Over 40 different outfits, furnished by Clarksville area clothes, will be shown during the course of the evening. Geared to all ages, the one-and-a-half hour show will climax in a complete Christmas wedding.

Sigma Alpha Iota is a professional women's music fraternity and is open to any music major or minor who has completed seven quarters of music.

Baptist Student Union plans retreat; Theta Phi Epsilon will hold car wash

PRE-MED CLUB—An organizational meeting of this club will be held tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in Room 101 of the McCord Building. Freshman pre-med majors are especially invited to attend.

THETA PHI EPSILON—This campus society will sponsor a car wash Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Whitley Car Wash, 812 Presidents Blvd. Tickets are $1 and may be purchased from any member.

STUDENTS INTERNATIONAL MEDITATION SOCIETY—This group will present an introductory lecture on transcendental meditation today at 7 p.m. All interested students should meet in Room 113 of the Claxton Building.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION—A freshman retreat to Jonathan Creek Camp on Kentucky Lake is being planned by this religious organization for Oct. 19-23. Quora Funderhake, philosophy department chairman, will be the featured speaker. Cost of the trip will be $4.50 with transportation provided free.

The Listening Post, a new column created by the BSU, will be open every Sunday from 9-10 p.m. The format will feature an open forum for conversation and entertainment.

Personal

The brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon have asked the student body to join in a moment of remembrance for Dan M. Vares, a classmate and brother, who was killed in an automobile accident a year ago this week.

Packets delete deferment cards

Beginning this quarter, IBM cards will no longer be put in the male students' computer packets whose enrollments may be certified to the local Selective Service boards.

Only male students holding II-S classifications when they register will have need of such forms. Those students who hold II-S deferments and who wish to have their enrollments certified to their local boards should obtain a printed form entitled Undergraduate Student Selective Service Certification.

These forms may be found in the wall rack outside the windows to the Admissions and Records Office. The top portion of the form should be completed and dropped in the in-coming mail box at the window.

Freshmen, sophomores, veterans and any other persons who are draft exempt will not have II-S deferments and need not complete the form.

New baseball set-up displeasing

This year a new system for selecting an Ohio Valley Conference baseball champion will go into effect.

But it seems no one is exactly thrilled with the set-up. And new Austin Peay State University baseball coach Joe Ellenburg is no exception.

The system is on a split schedule basis.

The OVC is halved into two divisions. The East is composed of Tennessee Tech, East Tennessee, Eastern Kentucky and Morehead and the West is made up of Austin Peay, Murray, Middle Tennessee and Western Kentucky. Each team will play 12 divisional games; six in the fall and six in the spring half of the schedule.

The team with the best divisional record, compiled from both fall and spring competition, will be the divisional champ. Then the divisional champs will meet in a playoff and thus, the OVC king is decided.

The OVC match was decided by divisional playoffs and a final championship playoff in past years. This system was abolished however, because many of the OVC teams were already out of school for the summer break when playoff time rolled around.

Ellenburg cites split slate faults

Ellenburg cites four distinctive reasons why he doesn't think the new split schedule is very strong.

(1) "We're having to compete against football. Not only are we competing against football itself," said Ellenburg, "but many football players are also baseball players."

(2) "The teams won't be the same in the fall and the spring," points out Ellenburg. "Some players will flunk out and you will have some players in the spring you don't have in the fall. You could sign a junior college player or recruit someone during the winter to play in the spring that didn't play in the fall."

(3) "All the schools don't start in the fall at the same time," commented Ellenburg. "In our case this year, we're about four weeks behind most of the other OVC schools."

(4) "It could be demoralizing to the teams that don't do well in the fall," said Ellenburg. "If you had a bad fall and lost five out of the six, or something like that, then there would be nothing to look forward to in the spring."

Ellenburg prefers a regular spring season schedule with all OVC teams included. Then take at least the top four teams of the regular season and have a double elimination tournament or playoff to determine the champion.

In Lipscomb Invitational

Harriers will have tough time

When the Austin Peay cross-country team travels to Nashville for the David Lipscomb Invitational meet Saturday, Gov head coach Ken Gunter figures his harriers will have a pretty tough time.

"We're about three or four weeks behind all those teams that we'll be running against up there," said Gunter. "We started school later than they did and they've gotten more practice in than we have."

The Governors will have the task of running against Florence State (Ala.), Vanderbilt, Middle Tennessee, Tennessee Tech, Southern Alabama and favored Harding College of Arkansas.

"We're in real bad shape," points out Gunter. "For our first two weeks of practice we pushed the boys real hard. We're real stiff and sore right now."

The Govs won their first meet of the year against David Lipscomb on the new APSU four-mile cross-country layout at Swan Lake Country Club. Austin Peay had a dual meet with OVC rival Tennessee Tech yesterday at Swan Lake.

"The Austin Peay track and cross-country program has never been successful," commented Gunter. "I think we have the best cross-country team Austin Peay has ever fielded. When we beat Lipscomb, we beat a good bunch

Head Austin Peay football coach Bill Dupes knows exactly what his Governors have to do when the Morehead State University Eagles swoop down to the Municipal Stadium Astro-Turf Saturday night.

"We know they probably have one of the league's best offenses," said Dupes in looking ahead to the contest. "We also know their defense isn't too good."

"So if our defense can contain their offense and come up with a big play or two, we could be in good shape," said Dupes.

The Govs defense will have the gigantic task of stopping Eagle quarterback David Schelke, the Ohio Valley Conference's total offense leader. Schelke, a junior, led the OVC in total offense last year.

Tailback Jim Johnson is the top running threat of the Morehead set backs. Other backs to watch are fullback Bill Carson and halfback Frank Jones.

"I think we deserve a better fate than what we've had so far," commented Dupes. "We haven't been playing bad football. We haven't gotten the big play and the other team has and that's what's beaten us."

Morehead is undefeated in the conference. The Eagles came from behind to tie Middle Tennessee 35-35 in their OVC opener and did the comeback trick again Saturday night to down Murray 27-24.

The Eagles dropped their first two outings of the year, getting belted 26-7 in the opener by Xavier and coming out on the short end of a 27-23 score with Marshall.

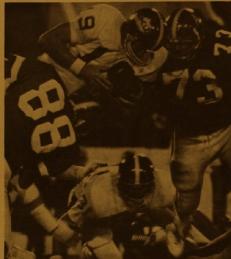

The Gov "pullyphone" offense, a Dupes' rendition of the wishbone, will again try to get started Saturday. This game the original engineer of the offense, sophomore quarterback Rick Christophel, may be at the throttle. Christophel, a converted defensive back, was switched to the quarterback spot in spring practice. He worked both during the spring and all fall as the key man in the offense. But the week of the Govs' season premier at Troy, the Reading, Ohio, native suffered a shoulder separation.

Christophel will get the strap removed from his right shoulder and arm today and will immediately start working out.

"He's still a question mark," said Dupes about Rick's possibilities of quarterbacking Saturday. "However, he'll definitely be doing our punting."

Guard Dale Woosley, who sustained a knee injury in the Troy game, will be back in action for the first time in three weeks Saturday.

The Governors will take an 0-2 conference mark and 0-3 over all standard into Saturday's game.

CAUGHT BY THE WEBB—Eastern Kentucky quarterback Jeff McCarthy gets caught up by the Webb... the clutches of Tom Webb III, Governor defensive end. Eastern handed Austin Peay its second consecutive Ohio Valley Conference loss, 21-6 Saturday night.

Neilson is working to better Governor intramural program

Bob Neilson is a man with many goals, but his immediate conquest is that of building the Austin Peay State University intramural program from what it has been in the past into one of the finest of the area universities.

"I've always felt that the APSU intramural program didn't offer enough for the students," revealed Neilson. "We want to offer something for every student. We want the program to be something for every student. We want the program to be something to keep students on campus during the weekend."

Neilson is the first full-time director of the APSU intramural program. The university administration created the new position last year and offered the position to Neilson June 1 of this year.

Neilson spent five weeks without salary, preparing a 12-page intramural handbook during the summer. The handbook contains descriptions of the 11 individual activities, eligibility rules, and facts and figures concerning the updated program. The 11 sports on the intramural agenda for the 1972-73 year include flag football, cross-country, tennis and a hole-in-one contest in the fall; basketball, free-throw contest, swimming and volleyball in the winter; and volleyball, softball, track and frisbee in the spring.

Neilson hopes to at least double the activities by next year.

Four new coaches to tutor Gov athletes

Four new coaches joined the ranks of Austin Peay State University athletics during the summer months.

COLIN STEWART

EKU clubbers rode bicycles to grid contest

Eighteen Circle K Club members from Eastern Kentucky University took shifts in riding a bicycle from Richmond, Ky., to Clarksville for the APSU-Eastern football game held Saturday night.

The bike ride, according to President Tom Wardell from Lexington, Ky., was staged to raise money for a multiple sclerosis campaign. The club will receive money from sponsors, businesses and industries, for the miles traveled.

The 27-mile jaunt began on Friday at 9:30 a.m. (CUT) and ended Saturday at 11:30 a.m. Sixty-six miles were covered by the first riders from Richmond to Russell Springs, Ky. The second six-man team cycled 32 miles to Bowling Green, Ky., and the final 79 miles were covered by another team.

The list of new Gov tutors includes Dr. Joe Ellenburg, Dr. Ken Gunter, Bernie Marrero and Colin Stewart.

Ellenburg, a native of Sportsburg, S. C., has taken over Governor baseball fortunes. Ellenburg was assistant coach at Gardner-Webb College in Boiling Springs, N. C., before coming to Austin Peay.

The 32-year-old Ellenburg was chosen out of upwards of 100 applicants for the position vacated by Tom Wonderling, now head coach of Miami's Florida International University.

Gunter, an all-american athlete in both football and track while attending Florence (Ala.) State University from 1958-60, has acquired the post of head track and cross-country coach. Gunter also earned his doctorate at the University of Alabama.

Marrero, only 23 years old, has inherited the most talented group of tennis players in the history of Austin Peay.

A native of Canal Zone, Panama, Marrero resided in Puerto Rico until he moved into the Clarksville area in 1966. Marrero graduated from Ft. Campbell High School in 1967 and then grazed the APSU tennis courts for four years.

Colin Stewart, a highly successful coach at Anderson High School in Cincinnati, Ohio, has joined the Gov basketball staff.

Anderson High's teams totaled 27 wins against 21 losses during Stewart's tenure. In addition to six years of coaching experience, Stewart was the East coach in an Ohio all-star high school basketball game.

working under head football coach Bill Dupes this season. The foursome includes Harold (Red) Roberts, the former APSU little All-American pass-catching wizard, John Carney, a defensive standout for Vanderbilt's Commodores for three seasons; Dick Brown and William Workman.

Gov golfers have shot at Sewanee Invitational

Austin Peay golf coach Walton Smith, Jr., thinks his Governors may have a good chance at winning the Sewanee Invitational golf tournament this weekend.

"We're looking forward to the tournament," commented Smith. "It's been quite a while since an Austin Peay golf team has won a tournament but we have a shot at it this week."

Dampened Govs dive into diamond race at Murray

The recent fall rains have dampened progress for first-year head Austin Peay baseball coach Joe Ellenburg. The wet weather has been timed so that the Govs have been washed out of all four scheduled exhibition games prior to yesterday's practice doubleheader at David Lipscomb.

But ready or not, the Govs will dive into Ohio Valley Conference competition Saturday trekking to Murray, Ky., to face the Racers in a 1 p.m. doubleheader.

The Gov fall slate one half of a new split OVC schedule (see APSU Closeup), will consist of six games in the form of three doubleheaders.

"Nobody has established themselves in a position yet," said Ellenburg. "We don't even have a good idea of what kind of talent we have as of yet. The rainouts have really hurt. You can't tell a lot from a few intrasquad games."

"We don't have a lot of experience," points out Ellenburg. "We're just hoping some of our younger boys will come through for us."

Ellenburg says that his pitching staff will be a "critical factor" in the success of the Govs. Mike Ramsey is the only proven Gov hurler that Ellenburg has back. The big senior flamethrower is expected to get the starting nod for Saturday's OVC encounter with Murray.

Gov golfers have shot

The Gov linksmen are concluding their qualifying rounds this afternoon to decide the six golfers that will represent APSU in the tourney.

APSU finished second out of eight teams last year in the Sewanee affair. Ten teams will be entered in the University of the South hosted tourney Friday and Saturday.

The Gov golfers placed 16th out of 22 teams in the prestigious All-Dixie Classic in Pine Mountain, Ga., that concluded Sunday.

Seven out of last year's top 10 NCAA teams were entered in the $4 hole tournament. Wake Forest defending national champion, was the winning team with a total of 904.

Austin Peay had a 987 tally for the three days. Chuck Jones was the top Governor with a 236 total followed by Mike Carn (229), Bruce Wallace (240), Terry Gray (242), Bob Cartwright (246) and Jimmy Hodges (250).
