S. I. U. Offers Credit For Speech Activities

CARBONDALE, Ill. (I-P.)—Probably the first school in the country to give academic credit for off-campus speaking engagements is Southern Illinois University, where a new Student Speakers Bureau has been organized. Students of speech as well as others well-informed on particular subjects will work under direction of the agency in filling requests for programs.

Before becoming a member of the bureau, the student lecturer not only must be well informed on his subject, but also be trained in the most effective delivery of his material. Academic credit is determined by the number of engagements filled by the speakers.

Dr. Paul Hunsinger, assistant professor of speech, organized the bureau and handles program requests. In describing the purposes of the new bureau and the experience it provides he says, "In a way, the bureau is an outlet for the talents of the students, and also a means of providing programs for fraternal, cultural, social, civic and religious organizations in the area."

"Arsenic and Old Lace" Tickets Go On Sale First Of November

Tickets will go on sale the first of November for "Arsenic and Old Lace," which will be presented in Wadell auditorium on November 13 and 14.

"Arsenic and Old Lace" tells the story of the mad Brewster family and their cellar full of corpses. The original New York production of this hilarious comedy, in which Boris Karloff and Josephine Hull starred, ran for three and a half years to become one of the theatre's long-run champions. It has since been presented with great success all over the world.

When Jonathan Brewster (Hayden Ryle) discovers that his privately unequalled record of twelve murders has been tied by his two trouble old sons, (Charles King, Barbara Darrall), professional pride demands that he find some way of recapturing his lead. His potential victim for the honored position of his thirteenth victim is his brother Mortimer (Dick Bat-

New Gym To Be Ready By Spring

The new Physical Education Building will be ready for use early in 1952, it was announced recently by President H. H. Harvill.

In addition to a large basketball court, the new building will include two practice courts, rooms for all Health and Physical Education classes, offices for faculty members of the P. E. Department, dressing rooms, and shower facilities. There will be a large attic storage area for equipment over the classrooms.

The gymnasium will have a seating capacity of 3,000. Total cost for the building is estimated at approximately $400,000.

A new wing is being added to the Boy's Dormitory, and should be ready for occupancy in the summer of 1952.

The new wing will include twenty-four rooms for occupants, and a study room for each six boys. Study rooms will contain several desks, tables, and reading lamps.

Another feature of the building program on campus is the remodeling of Calvin and Robb Halls.

Bob Kendrick Heads Alumni Association For Coming Year

Bob Kendrick, Nashville, Tennessee, has been elected president of the Austin Peay Alumni Association for 1952.

Officers who were elected at the Alumni business meeting Saturday, October 20, are Mrs. Sam Waters, vice-president, and Mrs. Harold S. Pryor, Secretary-Treasurer. They succeed Mrs. C. H. Moore and Charles Waters, retiring officers.

Highlighting the Homecoming festivities was a parade Saturday afternoon. Leading the parade was the Austin Peay Band followed by eleven colorful floats, a number of decorated cars, and buses from Clarksville High School, Howell School, and Dover High School.

The Junior Class was awarded first prize in the float contest. Their float featured a large dial telephone, and carried the slogan "Union's Line Is Dead."

Second prize went to the Agricultural Club, whose float carried the theme "Plow Buds Under."

The Seniors came in third, with their slogan "Beat Up Union" on their float.

Car winners were Frank McMillin, first; Men's Ole Club, second; and Bill Wallace, third.

Parris Florist placed first in the window decorating contest. Perkins and Miller was awarded second prize, while Good-Wilson Drugs tied with Rankin's and Duplex Cafe for third.

Another highlight of Homecoming was the coronation of Kathryn Gordon, Clarksville, Miss., as Homecoming Queen. The coronation ceremony was held at the halftime ceremony. Miss Gordon, a senior, is majoring in Physical Education.

Attendants to the queen were Jane Harter Seel, senior, Clarksville; Carrie Hadley, junior, Clarksville; Grace Sanders, sophomore, Hickory Point, and Joan Burke, freshman, Nashville.

Each queen wore a white formal, and carried a bouquet of red carnations.

Plans For Seating Arrangement Debated

Plans for a new seating arrangement at football games are now under discussion at Austin Peay.

It has been suggested that the students, cheerleaders, and band members occupy seats on the East side of the field, in the fall of 1952. The following advantages for the new arrangement have been pointed out:

1) Students will have better seats on the opposite side, nearer the fifty-yard line.

2) The crowd would be able to see and hear the cheering section and band much better than at present.

3) There would be more good seats available for sale to outsiders.

In many larger universities and colleges, this arrangement is being used.

No definite action has yet been taken, but students are asked to write and mail their views to the Student Council. Ideas or suggestions they might have for the plan.

Blood Bank To Be Here Oct. 29, 30

The Red Cross Blood Bank will be in Clarksville Monday and Tuesday, October 29 and 30, at the First Presbyterian Church.

Students who wish to donate blood are asked to come Monday between the hours of 1 o'clock and 6 o'clock, or Tuesday from 10 o'clock to 4 o'clock.

The church is located at the corner of Main and Third Street.

Junior Float Wins First Prize

Carrie Hadley, Junior class queen, riders aboard the prize winning float in Austin Peay's Homecoming parade. The float featured a large dial telephone and carried out the theme, "Union's line is dead."

College Qualification Tests Now Available

Applications for the December 13, 1951 and the April 30, 1952 administrations of the College Qualification Test are now available at Selective Service System local boards throughout the country.

Eligible students who intend to offer this test on either date should apply at once to the nearest selective Service local board for an application and a bulletin of information.

Following instructions in the bulletin, the student should fill out an application and mail it immediately in the envelope provided. Applications for the December 13 test must be postmarked no later than mid-night, November 5, 1951.

According to Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the College Qualification Test, the student should fill out an application and mail it immediately in the envelope provided. Applications for the December 13 test must be postmarked no later than mid-night, November 5, 1951.

Students Compile Dating Handbook

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (I-P.)—Sixty or more college spend both time and money on week-ends at women's colleges, a group of Yale students have now compiled a handbook to help the young man when he dates a college girl.

The book is called "Going Places" and is a guide to Eastern women's colleges. There is a map of each campus, important buildings, numbers, details about curfew, as well as a critique of nearby restaurants and night clubs. George P. Craighead, 36, of Detroit, Mich., is editor of the "Xale" which prepared the handbook. They plan to sell for one dollar to college men throughout the East. "Information about each women's college comes directly from the college officials," he explained, but added that his board did not stop there. About 40 college girls from the 20 colleges of the "Xale" made facts about their own campus to aid visiting men.

Of the 26 colleges outlined, 19 are real schools, the twentieth is mythical. The editors have created a non-existent woman's college located on a non-existent hill in New Hampshire. Life there is easy. The regulations, laws, and the editors are hoping that the 19 other colleges may follow suit.

February 16 Date For Teacher Exam

PRINCETON, N. Y.—The National Teacher Examinations, prepared and administered annually by Educational Testing Service, will be given at 200 testing centers throughout the United States on Saturday, February 16, 1952.

At the one-day testing session a candidate may take the Common Examinations, which include tests in Professional Information, General Culture, English Expression, and Non-verbal Reasoning; and one or two of nine Optional Examinations, designed to demonstrate mastery of subject matter to be taught. The college which a candidate is attending, or the school system in which he is seeking employment, will advise him whether he should take the National Teacher Examinations, and which of the Optional Examinations to select.

Application forms, and a Bulletin of Information describing registration procedure and containing sample test questions, may be obtained from College officials, school superintendents, or directly from the National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, P. O. Box 952, Princeton, New Jersey. Completed applications, accompanied by proper examination fees, will be accepted by the ETS office during November, December, and in January so long as they are received before January 18, 1952.

Miss Meacham Attends Conference

Miss Mabel Meacham recently attended a meeting of the Tennessee Association of Deans of Women in Memphis, Tennessee.

While there, she took part in the panel discussion on Orientation of Freshmen Women. Guidance workers from all over Tennessee attended the meeting which was held in the Peabody Hotel. Miss Lucille Schair of DePaul University was the principal speaker.

Men's Glee Club Attends M. T. E. A.

The Men's Glee Club attended the Middle Tennessee Education Association in Nashville last Friday, where they presented a musical.

Their program included the following selections: "Dixie," "A Lullaby Lullaby," "Right Back," "A-Roving," "Away to Rio," "Erica," "There's Nothing Like A Dame," and "Columbia Medley." The group is under the direction of Dr. Charles Gary and Mr. William J. Hurt, and has twenty-five members.

Homecoming

Austin Peay's 1951 Homecoming was one of the largest and best in the history of our college.

Although the event took place approximately four weeks earlier than usual, classes and committees pitched in and worked hard to make every minute count in the short time they had for planning. Everything from the bonfire to the after-game dance went off smoothly and according to schedule.

Each and every student and faculty member who had a part in Homecoming is to be commended for the fine job he did. The float committees, who turned out some of the cleverest and most original ideas we've ever seen, should especially be given credit.

Homecoming 1951 was a complete success, and one that will long be remembered by students and alumni.

Blood Bank

Next Monday and Tuesday, October 29 and 30, the Red Cross Blood Bank will again be at the First Presbyterian Church on Main St.

In the past, students of Austin Peay have been willing donors, and many times have helped to supply almost half the quota for Clarksville. For several months, however, this area has fallen short of its quota. Let's don't let that happen again. Go down anytime Monday between 1 and 6 o'clock, or Tuesday between 10 o'clock and 4 o'clock and donate a pint of blood.

Remember: It is not only our patriotic duty to donate blood but a privilege to give to those who are fighting for our freedom.

Seating Arrangement

On page one of this issue, is a short article which presents a plan for a new student seating arrangement at football games. At present, students are occupying sections E, F, and G on the west side of the field. Visitors who come to the games and sit at the far end of the stadium say they cannot hear the band and cheerleaders.

If the new seating arrangement is adopted, it will hold advantages for both the students and visitors. By sitting on the east side of the field, students could get better seats, possibly on the 50-yard line. They might occupy two sections they wished. If this was done, spectators on the opposite side could hear the band and yell much better, and could also see card tricks the cheering section might wish to perform. In addition, it would leave more reserved seats available for sale to visitors.

This arrangement is now being used in many of the larger colleges and universities in the United States.

The plan is still under discussion at Austin Peay. It has been suggested that we try it during the fall of 1952, and if it proves satisfactory, we can continue it. If not, we can change back to the west side.

Students are asked to consider the matter and voice their opinions on both sides. Any suggestions may be reported to the student council members, and will be given full consideration.

If the plan meets with the student body's approval, it is very probable that it will go into effect next fall.

"This is the last time I can ask you, Fredo — How about a date this weekend?"

You Asked For It

by Alley and Powell

This is a jury-room secret that has come into circulation in some mysterious way.

"Look here," said one of the jurors, after they had retired, "if I understand right, the plaintiff doesn't ask damages for blighted affections or anything of that sort, but only wants to get back what he's spent on presents, pleasure trips, and so forth."

"That is so," agreed the foreman. "Well, then, I vote we don't give him a penny," said the other juror. "If all the fun he had with that girl didn't cover the amount he expended, it must be his own fault. Gentlemen, I courted that girl once myself."

A young lady sat next to a distinguished bishop at a church dinner. She was somewhat modest and different, and was rather awed by the bishop's presence. For some time she hesitated to speak to him, waiting for what she considered to be a favorable opportunity. Finally, seeing some bananas passed, she turned to him and said: "I beg your pardon; but are you fond of bananas?"

The bishop was slightly deaf and leaning forward replied: "What did you say?" "I said," repeated the young lady blushing, "are you fond of bananas?"

The bishop thought for a moment, and then said: "If you want my honest opinion, I have always preferred the old-fashioned nightstick."

Miss Ward: "If you make another mistake in grammar, I'm going to kiss you."
Football Player: "You ain't neither."

Two mosquitoes once lit on the faces of two peroxidized creatures. "Why didn't you come, you?" they replied. "We're just dumb. We're just seeing the game from the bleachers."

"Nozin!" he said, "is right, because you are thinking of smoking a pipe as actually smoking a pipe. There is a difference you know."

"No, I can draw no difference."

"The difference lies in what a pipe smoker may symbolize as opposed to what smoking a pipe actually symbolizes." (For other than my six readers — symbol — "stand for")

"How gay" I said. "Shall we dance." We danced, he brushed aside a tear and I lit a pipe, symbolizing smoking a pipe.

"I have recovered sufficiently to continue with pipe smoking in particular," he stated. I puffed on mine. "A real smoker of pipes," he continued, "smokes a pipe, usually made of briar or meerschaum containing tobacco, opium or what have you." I could plainly see this was dull. "A pipe smoker as I see him quite possibly owns no pipe at all." I threw mine away. "What he actually owns," he continued, "or if you like, uses, is SAM."

"I get it now," was my clever reply. "Some one named SAM smokes for him." He brushed aside a second tear.

"SAM," he droned, "to you would most likely stand for Smoking A Meerschaum. Just an ordinary smoker of pipes would probably only Smoke A Meerschaum or briar or anything. But a true pipe smoker is only a term for a person who symbolizes someone using SAM in another way." I probed around in my ear with a pipe cleaner. It came out the other ear.

"The man who is a pipe smoker but actually doesn't smoke at all is the man who has only one head."

"Before you get on heads," I stopped him short, "how about SAM and the pipe?" He was trying to confuse me; it was very clear.

"Well, to understand a man with one head is exactly the same thing as understanding a pipe smoker, which is just another name for a man who uses SAM."

"I see what you are driving at now," I declared. "A man with two heads could not be a pipe smoker, even though he smoked a pipe, and he could not use SAM."

"Excellent! Excellent!" he cried.

"But where do the different heads come from? I've never seen but one on a man at a time."

"One is all he can wear at a time, but he swaps to suit his needs."

"I see clearly," I said, so I gugged at an eye.

"Get this and you will get a fair idea about my pipe smoker and SAM and one head," he said. I got it, right in the neck from a transit mosquito. A man is a pipe smoker, with one head and SAM if he can avoid today those things he blundered yesterday, by developing an hypothesis (theory), test its validity and profit by it.

"SAM — SAM — SAM — D — D — D — I yelled.

In a calm voice he said. "Science-Art-Mathematics."

I spun the chamber, snapped the trigger, and lost at Russian Roulette.

"He's a pipe smoker but he doesn't smoke at all."

A friend made the statement recently, which smacked rather strongly of paradox.

At low ebb, anything which obviously contradicts itself should haunt some little nerve ending until it sends out an investigating party, which is just what happened. The ensuing investigation went something like this:

"I fail to get the significance."

"Fails," he said, "is right, because you are thinking of smoking a pipe as actually smoking a pipe. There is a difference you know."

"No, I can draw no difference."

"The difference lies in what a pipe smoker may symbolize as opposed to what smoking a pipe actually symbolizes." (For other than my six readers — symbol — "stand for")

AP Blasts Union University In Homecoming Tilt

John Hancock does a flying somersault over the backs of four other members of the cheering squad.

This was only one of the many stunts performed by the cheerleaders at the Union game.

Only My Opinion

By LARRY GATES

Now that the world series is fairly over a couple of weeks, we can all start going back to classes. The teachers are bound to know it is over by now. My underdog favorite didn't win but they sure did better than a lot of people thought they would. We'll get them yet—just wait until next year! That playoff game for the National League pennant was one of a lot of people will never forget, especially the group looking at TV in the lobby of the men's dorm that day. Even after the game was over, I don't believe anyone even left the room for five minutes. Number 1 Giant believer for that day and the series must have been Old Bone. Another one was Dr. Grize.

Cheering

Very good for the first half of the MTSC game but what happened after that? It was mostly the yelling of the cheerleaders and band in the second half. That's not enough noise. Now the Homecoming game was more as it should be. Congratulations again due to the fine performance of our cheerleaders—Their acrobatic stunts were tops.

Homecoming

It was good to see so many Grade return for the celebration which turned out in big fashion and proved a wonderful success. The festive planning committee certainly deserve a fine complement—their job was very well done.

Queens

And they surely were! Compliments to the 5 beautiful Queens. They were all mighty pretty. The

Bulldogs Fall 56-0 To Gov Gridders

The Govs, win hungry, after a row of defeats to open their season, opened up last week-end ball blast, and trounced the Union University Bulldogs 56-0. It was all Austin Peay from about midway of the first quarter to the final gun.

Eight touchdowns were pushed across and the scoring was evenly divided among seven players, the only player scoring twice being left halfback Debrushinski. Although scoring only one touchdown, Dick Hayes led the point parade—thanks to his talented toe which accounted for a 1,000 per centage with 8 PATs. After a mediocre first half with Debrushinski doing all the scoring the Govs left the field with only a 14-0 lead.

In less than a couple of minutes of the third period, the Govs had stretched their lead to 24-0 due to a fine run by right halfback Gordon Potter. "Mink" Lewis, converted quarterback and halfback playing fullback for the first time in two years, bulled through the middle of the line for the second score of the third period. Then a couple of minutes later, "Red" Houston went over for a PAT. Score 34-0. Hayes' PAT was again good to put the Govs out in front 34-0. Hayes made his 6-point for the first time in this third quarter. The longest run of the night, a fine 78 yard sprint by Bobby Smith, came on the last play of the third quarter, a few minutes later. Early in the last quarter Smith again got in the clear only to have the ball suddenly fall from his grasp. From there Sam Tinnon, a freshman left halfback, took over and following two 15 yard runs around score for the night.

Although outclassed, Union produced one of the standout performers for the game in their offensive halfback, Fearnot.

Robb Hall Rodents Are Rarin' To Go!

By Lynn Canady

For the past few weeks the topic for campus chatter has been football, but the men living in Robb Hall have been forgetting this subject for a few minutes each night and have begun to organize their basketball team.

Although there are less than a dozen occupants in the dormitory, Coach Frank McMillan thinks the prospects for a good team are most encouraging. Last year the Robb Hall Rats lost only one game in intramurals and that defeat was brought about by only one point.

Members of the Rat family who have already begun practice are Johnny Turner, Bill Jackson, Carole DePriest, Ralph Shelton, James Bowker, Vivian Higgins, Edward Witherspoon, Bruce Barton, and James Higgins.

Many feel that several more boys will be needed to have a winning team, but when the intramurals begin this winter let's see if the Robb Hall Rats don't prove the old adage that "great things can come in small packages."

Plans and arrangements are under consideration for changing the name of the Robb Hall Rats to the Robb Hall Rodents since funds were appropriated to paint not only the balls of one of the oldest buildings on the campus, but also the rooms.

Just Plain Bull

The APCS campus has settled down to a steady pace, now that Homecoming has passed, but the gossipers have been busy buzzing.

We're shootin' the bull this time about the MSM hayride. On October 14th, a lovely moonlit night, two truck-loads of lads and lassies forked books and academic subjects and took the extra curricular activity of the Methodist Student Movement's hayride. Among the ladies and bachelors present were: PATSY SHORT, JIM MILES, WANDA SMITH, ZOOT PARKER, MARTHA VAN CLEVE, JACK MILLER, MARY ALICE SOUTHERLAND, and SHEP MOORE. DON DON C. and SYLVIA B. have funt Ask that hogtoper boy she is hantling now.

Have you heard about BENTON ADKINS being in the girls' dorm at Devil Lipscomb? Well, it isn't as scandalous as it sounds, but ask him about it. It's fun to see him blush as he tells of his blow to blow encounter in GLORIA'S dorm. He merely stated, "I was sure glad to get out of there!" There are a lot of fellows who are being enjoyed being in your place, Benton!

If you want to see ETHEL SISK take off in third gear, just call her "HITTE!" Wonder why it makes her so mad?

Now, we must apologize to our patient readers, who have been able to get near JOHN HANCOCK to see how he keeps the girls "tired." DONNA RAE ALTFATHER is keeping him rather busy. Watch out girls, MARTHA V. is still casting her eyes in John's direction. (The line forms in the rear, girls!) While we're on the subject, does studying biology on the front lawn prove beneficial, Donna?

Cute little PAT WEBB came through this week-end with flying colors! We saw her in that black convertible which marks our favorite character, SCULLY.

ANNE GARY and TOMMY BAYNARD are taking that "plem" in their eyes, and it looks as if it might be serious. They went to the MTSC game before, were seen at the MSM hayride, and—come to think of it, where you see one, you are likely to see the other! CHARLENE LEIGHTON and JIMMY ODUM are beginning to fall into that category, too.

Guys watch! LINDA WEAKLEY and BOBBY NORRIS have secret admirers. (For the right price we'll unveil the kashful set.)

Religious Groups

By James Nolan

The religious groups on the campus have become quite active since the beginning of school.

A Newman Club was recently formed by the Catholic students. Their first meeting was held Sunday night, October 14, in the Science building.

About 20 members met with Father William Barclay to make plans for the coming year. A committee composed of Dorothy Ann Keel, George Hoffman, Pedro Barriento, and Armando Garcia was appointed to draw up a constitution.

Officers will be elected at the next meeting, which is set tentatively for the first Thursday night in each month.

The Methodist Student Movement enjoyed its hayride recently. They left from the little gym at 6:30 and rode to Cogoboa Scout Camp where they had a warmer toast, and campfire.

About forty members and their guests attended. Chaplains Miss Ruth Garrison, Fred Reese, and Dr. and Mrs. George Grise.

BSU students get together and built a very clever float which they entered in the homecoming parade. The group is still holding devotions in Stewart 14 each Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at 12:30. All students are invited to be present.

Officers for the coming year were elected recently by the Westminster Fellowship.

Jesse Fovle is serving as president and Elizabeth Rudolph as vice-president. Arthur Bond was elected secretary and Donna Alfthfusser, treasurer. Kathleen Murchison serves as program chairman, and Dean P. G. Woodward is faculty sponsor.

The fellowship meets each Sunday night at the First Presbyterian Church for supper and a worship program. All students are invited to attend.

The game was a tough one for the home team to lose since they were "keyed" up and hungry for a victory. Krup, Ladd, Smithson, and Baltpoor were fine performers on the line while Hays, Clamard, Dredushenko, and Petter looked good in the backfield.

back, I'll jump across the gully." So he jumped, and sure enough, he made it across.

And so the moral to this tale is: A Little Bull Goes A Long Way."

Club Activities

Joe Baker, sophomore Pre-Engineering student, has been elected to serve as president of the Ocala Club for the coming year. Harold Knight, Waverly, was chosen vice-president, and Gus Barby of Charlotte will serve as secretary-treasurer.

The club is now making plans for the coming meeting of the Tennessee Academy of Science on November 9 and 10. The Science and Math Departments of Austin Peay will be hosts.

The Business Club met recently and elected the following officers: Phil Krup, president; Don Cunningham, vice-president; and N. O. Williams, secretary. Mr. Ryke serves as sponsor.

New officers for the Alpha, Beta and Omega Clubs at Harned Hall were elected at a recent meeting.

Alpha Club officers are Martha Bratton, president; Carolyn Nolan, vice-president; Peggy Davis, secretary; and Mary Lu Goodlett, treasurer.

The Beta Club has chosen Patsy Short to serve as president, Norma Bishop as vice-president, and Billy Turbow as Secretary-Treasurer.

The Industrial Education Club entertained prospective and honorary members, recently with a hamburger and coke party in the Student Center.

Bill Yardell, president, opened the meeting with a brief talk presenting the purpose of the organization, Dean Woodward, Dr. Collins and Mr. Wallace also gave short talks.

Opportunity for membership in the club was presented by Frank McMillan, Treasurer. About 40 guests were present.

Hugh Davis Named President of IRC

The International Relations Club has joined with the Political Science Club this year under the co-sponsorship of Dr. Wentworth Morris, professor of history, and B. J. Browning, instructor in social studies.

The main activity of the club consists of regular meetings for discussing modern world problems.

The new officers of the club are: Hugh Davis Jr., President, Jimmy Fowler, Vice-President, and Mrs. Annette Gaenther, Secretary-Treasurer.

At the first meeting, Dr. Morris gave a talk on, "Three Months Ago and Today in Korea."

A campus wit recently informed us that he has a new definition for "football season." Quoth he, "Football season is the only time a guy can walk around with a blonde on our arm and a blanket on the other without arousing suspicion."

FOOTBALL PLAYER: Shall we sit in the parlor?
 AP COED: No, I'm tired. Let's go out and play tennis.
