Korean Veterans May Enroll Soon 'For On-The-Farm-Training Classes Here'

Korean veterans may soon enroll for institutional on-farm-training at Austin Peay State College, the dean's office has announced.

Plans are being completed to offer the training to Korean veterans following the approval of a contract between the Veterans Administration and the Tennessee State Department of Education. Approval of the plan was announced in a joint statement by Kenneth B. Craft, Manager of the VA Region Office, and Dr. Quill E. Cope, State Commissioner of Education. Action is already being taken to complete the complement of farm supervisors employed by the Department of Education to approve individual farm programs throughout the State, Dr. Cope stated.

The contract now makes it possible for Tennessee veterans to participate in the farm training program provided by Congress in the Veterans Readjustment Assistance Act of 1952, Public Law 550, 82nd Congress.

Boards of Education in all counties of the State and Montgomery County have been notified of the required procedure to offer the training.

Korean veterans in this area should apply at Austin Peay State College, the dean said. They may see or telephone T. Eason Hendricks, telephone 2941, Albert O. Miller, phone 3211, or the dean's office, 9420, for further information concerning enrollment.

Before a veteran enters into training he must file application with the Office of the County Superintendent of Education, or in Montgomery County, with Austin Peay State College. His application should be accompanied by a photostatic or certified copy of his Report of Separation for military service and a copy of his farm training program with appropriate documents.

Veterans are urged to contact Austin Peay State College or the Office of the County Superintendent in their home county for complete details of enrollment.

Representatives of the government agencies and the service organizations agreed that since individual approval of each training program is necessary under the law, considerable time will be required to accomplish approval of all training programs throughout the state, but it was pointed out that the delay in approving program will not reduce veterans' enrollment. It is anticipated that farm training for Korean veterans will begin in many counties within the next few weeks.

'Soph Sabbatical' To Be 1953 Title Of Gov Gaieties

Tryouts were held recently for the college musical review, The Governor Gaieties of 1953, to be held in the Waddell Auditorium on May 5 and 6 at 8 o'clock p.m.

The title of the year's "Gaieties" is "Sophomore Sabbatical", an original script written jointly by Barbara Darnell and Dr. Charles Gary. Original music for the production is by Dr. Gary, Stanley Lane, and New Becker. Colorful sets and costumes are being designed by Marjorie Ann Smith and Barbara Darnell. The choreography is under the direction of Marion Bruner; and the orchestra accompaniment will be by the Campus Kids.

"Sophomore Sabbatical" opens on campus where the hero finds himself disgusted with college and college coeds. He joins the Navy and tours the world looking for the ideal girl. He sees his visit to five different countries, France, Spain, Arabia, a South Sea island, and Lower Richmond, but his search is in vain. The last act finds him back on the A. P. S. C. campus with his dream girl who has been here all the time.

Under the co-direction of Dr. Charles L. Gary and Wilbur P. Hargis, the production is sponsored by the Music Department.

Both performances will be open to the public.

Alabama String Quartet To Appear In Waddell Auditorium Tonight

The distinguished artists who comprise the University of Alabama String Quartet will use an invaluable collection of instruments when they play here on April 14th at Waddell Auditorium under the auspices of Clarksville Concert Association.

Orson Gades, the leader of the organization, was recently presented with the priceless Stradivarius violin, made in 1714, which he has used in concert ever since he was first violinist of the famous New York Philharmonic Orchestra.

The remarkable carrying power and tonal beauty of this instrument was commented upon when Mr. Gades played in the huge outdoor bowl of the National Music Camp at Interlochen, Michigan, last summer. He serves as conductor and head of the violin department at this nationally known summer music camp.

Matching the Strad in quality is the silver-voiced Nicholas Amati belonging to Emily Searcy, second violinist of the ensemble. It is one of the finest examples of this celebrated master, who is known as the teacher of Stradivari.

The Viola used by Henry Barrett is a modern instrument, constructed of the finest wood to the exact dimension of the Gaspard da Salo viola played by Louis Bailly of the beloved Finsley String Quartet. It has the deep alto quality so desirable in the delicate tonal balance of the quartet.

A beautiful cello made by the Italian Prossenda in 1840 completes the ensemble. It is played by Margaret Christy, who has had wide experience in quartet playing in New York and elsewhere.

A program of exceptional interest has been selected by the quartet, includes a Beethoven quartet (12 minor opus 59 No. 2), Smetana quartet "From my Life", Londonderry Air, and Molly on the Shore by Purcell.

'Skin Of Our Teeth' Being Prepared; Showings On May 5-6 In Waddell

The cast was chosen last week for the spring quarter play, "The Skin of Our Teeth", to be presented in Waddell Auditorium on April and at 8:00 p.m.

"The Skin of Our Teeth", a three-act comedy-drama by Thornton Wilder, won the Pulitzer Prize for the year 1942. The story tells about George Arbuthnot, his wife and two children, and their general utility maid, Lily Sabina, all of Excelsior, New Jersey. George Arbuthnot is John Doe or John Q. Public to you—the average American at grips with a destiny, some times sour, sometimes sweet. The Arbuthnots have survived fire, flood, pestilence, the seven-year locusts, the key sea, the black box and the double feature, a dozen wars and as many depressions. They run many a gamut, are as durable as raditors and look upon the future with a disarming optimism. Alternately bewitched, befuddled and becalmed, they are the stuff of which heroes are made—heroes and buffoons. They are the true offspring of Adam and Eve, victims of all the ills that flesh is heir to. They have survived a thousand calamities by the skin of their teeth. Here is a tribute to their indextinguishability.

The students chosen for parts in the production are: George Arbuthnot, Hayden Jolly; Maggie Arbuthnot, Mayme Pearl Ryker; Henry, Paul Sanders; Gladys, Sara Wagner; Sabina, Betty Ryker; Leech, Mr. Fitzpatrick, Lynn Canady; Fortune Teller, Barbara Darnell; Announcer, Jim Johnson; Dinosaurs, Imogene Carolyn; Mammoth, Jewell Sadler; Telegraph Boy, Doyle Stover; Doctor, Newt Becker; Homer, Joe Miller; Mr. Tremayne, Lynn Siles; Hester, Vivian Baggett; Fred Bailey, Frank Hargis; Miss E. Newley, Kathleen Murchison; and Miss T. Muse, Lisa Thornton. Some of the students will double in minor roles.

The play will be under the direction of Wilbur P. Hunt, professor of Speech.

Avalon To Be Scene Of Annual Iris Ball

"Sailing, sailing, over the bounding main."

Sailing and dancing over the waters of the Cumberland is what the students who attend the Iris Ball this year will be doing.

The annual Iris Ball will be held on the excursion steamer, "The Avalon," on April 22, from 8 until 10 o'clock. As in the past, the dance will be formal, but it will be a "no flower" occasion.

The steamer, a four-deck steel boat, has a large dance floor which can accommodate 1500 people and an eight-piece orchestra which travels with them. This is the second year the steamer has been on the Cumberland River. Before that it toured the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers for several years.

This year's Iris Queen is Kathleen Murchison. Her attendants will be Grace Fure, Lisa Thornton, Mary Mattingly, and Sylvia Smith.

Future Teachers Attend Convention

The members of Future Teachers of the State attended a state conference held last week at Middle Tennessee State College in Murfreesboro.

The main topic of discussion at the conference was "The Future of a Future Teacher." The students attended various workshops and discussion groups. A banquet was held in the evening where the students listened to two distinguished speakers, Dr. Quill E. Cope, Commissioner of Education for the state of Tennessee, and Dr. Robert Sakis, Field Secretary of the Defense Commission, National Education Association.

Those who attended are: Tom Bayham, Jean Workman, Ann Hargis, Newley, Kathleen Murchison, and Miss T. Muse, Lisa Thornton. Some of the students will double in minor roles.

The students were accompanied by Miss Willie Stevens and Dr. Hargis. They will get representation for Austin Peay State in the Grinnell publication.

Student Council Suggests Point System; To Be Voted On In Officers Election

Student Anthology To Be Published Third Week In May

The third annual issue of The Tower, an anthology of student writings, will be published some time in the second week before the end of the quarter.

The anthology, compiled by Charles M. Waters, Dr. George W. Russell and Dr. George C. Orton, is composed of creative writing by the students of Austin Peay State College. It includes poems, stories, themes, essays, and sketches.

All articles submitted are edited and judged by the student English committee, Barbara Darnell, Jim Johnson, and Bill Swain, who are chosen for originality and good writing ability.

Each year complimentary copies of The Tower are sent to all the state colleges in Tennessee; and a copy is sent to Grinnell College in Iowa where an anthology of college student writings has all over the nation is compiled and published annually. No selections have been chosen from The Tower's first two publications for this anthology, but it is hoped that the third issue will be the charm. So all budding writers and poets on the campus are urged to contribute to this year's issue. Who knows, maybe it will be your literary work that will get representation for Austin Peay State in the Grinnell publication.

The Student Council, in a recent meeting, decided to establish on this campus a point system, in the belief that there are a large number of students on the campus who are very capable but who are not participating in work in administrative positions.

The purpose of this system would be to relieve those who now hold several offices of some of their duties, as well as to give other students a chance to hold responsible positions. The council believes that if a student holds only one office and does the duties of that office well, he has aided himself and the school better than if he held several offices simultaneously, and had to divide his time between them. With this principle in mind, the council established a system based on a maximum of fifteen points, and each student is urged to carry a minimum of two points.

This system is based on the following values: president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, student body, 15 points; editor of the All State, 6 points; co-editor of the All State, 6 points; business manager of the All State, 6 points; editor of the annual, 6 points; assistant editor of the annual, 6 points; club presidents and vice-presidents, 2 points; members of the Student Council (to be decided) members of a campus club or organization, 2 points.

The point system is to be voted on in the next election, probably at the same time as the election for student body officers. Each student will be given a ballot marked FOR THE POINT (Continued on Page 4)

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick Bibler

"Just forget about tenure for a while — it comes as a result of being a good teacher."

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:
Since I received the last edition of the All State, I have not been able to sleep. At night when I go to bed and close my eyes, all I can see is that poor, dear Mr. Charles Waters around his neck. Oh, sir, I cannot tell you how distressed I was to learn of this tragedy. Not only that, but I have been worried sick about Benton Adkins. How does the poor child get home each afternoon? Surely he doesn't walk all the way to Hickory Point.

Never in my life have I had anything to upset me so, as all the terrible things that are happening at your college. I was shocked to learn what Mr. Bently is planning to do. Personally, he never struck me as being the occulting type. Neither can I understand why Dr. Morrie wanted to become a female. He seemed to have enough trouble with women without becoming one. I hope this shan't prove to be too frustrating to him or her.

I had always thought that the one sane faculty member at your school was Dr. George Gray, but now I am not so sure. Of all the ridiculous things I have ever heard, it is his story about not seeing a space ship 60 ft. in diameter and 14 ft. high. I really shouldn't say this, but I believe the whole thing was a publicity stunt. You know how these Ph.D.s are.

The only cheerful feature I saw in your paper was the write up of Mr. Jack Hurri's wedding. Bless his heart, the poor fellow has been needing female companionship for a long, long time.

I am so nervous that my physician advised me to take a complete rest, so I am moving to the country next week. I have bought a 7-acre farm near Sango. Incidentally, do you think I could get this Oriselle fellow to do a little playing for me?

Sincerely,
A Faithful Reader

What's Wrong With AFSC

The teachers are afraid of the deans; the deans are afraid of the president; the president is afraid of the governor; the governor is afraid of the parents; and the parents are afraid of the children; the children—hang it; the children aren't afraid of anybody.

semsly, Wednesday, April 22.

Who will make these speeches? Well, these orations will be delivered by the cream of the freshman, sophomore, and junior classes. The planks of their platforms will cover everything from criticisms of the administration to dreams of their duties as the representatives of the student body.

Following the speeches will be the election, taking place on Friday, April 24, between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. In the event there are three or more candidates and none receives a majority, a second election will be held between the two top candidates.

Also on this date the students will be asked to vote on the revision of the constitution and the establishment of a point system. Remember, exercise your democratic rights—vote for the candidate of your choice on April 24!

Intercollegiate Notes

A survey of scholarship men at Wesleyan University indicates that the Honor Roll requirement is a "deterrent to participation in extra-curricular affairs," as well as a cause of an over-emphasis on marks for their own sake.

Questionnaires were distributed to the scholarship men in the Classes of 1943 through 1953, in an effort to re-evaluate the scholarship awards here. The study was conducted by the joint cooperation of the Faculty Committee on Scholarships and the Alumni Council.

Over-emphasis on marks was repeatedly mentioned. Men from various classes wrote that their basic attitude toward studies changed from trying to understand a subject to merely achieving a good mark. In some cases the scholarship holders stated that they had altered their course of study, away from their real interests, in order to raise their averages with easier courses.

Referring to recently published data which revealed that students majoring in education did not compare too favorably with those in other major fields in their performance on the Selective Service College Qualification Test, Dr. Henry Chauncey, president of Educational Testing Service, indicated in his annual report released here that substantial restructuring of the teaching job itself, to make it more challenging and more remunerative, is necessary in order to attract a larger proportion of very able individuals into the teaching field.

Another finding of the Selective Service College Qualification Testing program mentioned by Dr. Chauncey was the wide variability among colleges and universities in percent of students who passed the test, indicating that the standards of higher education among institutions of higher education with respect to the general academic calibre of their student bodies.

There will be no spring practice in 1953 for the football squads of the Ivy Group of colleges. This was disclosed recently with brief announcement of the meeting of the presidents of Brown, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Yale and Princeton.

"On the matter of spring football practice, no action was taken," said the announcement. "The present position of the Group was reaffirmed. The presidents also reaffirmed the present policy of the eight institutions which rules against participation by athletes of the schools in post-season charity games."

In the realm of eligibility, the Ivy Group agreed to add the following paragraph to the existing agreement: "In no case shall a student play in a ninth semester or thereafter." "The matter of eligibility for one reason or another does not qualify for his degree in the regulation eight semesters, or who refrains from competition for a semester, or who refrains from competition for a semester or year while remaining in college, will not be eligible to compete after eight semesters in college."

Thanks For April Fool Frolic

Last week we, the editors and staffers of ALL STATE hit bonfires under the pointed eaves of our campus, and in some cases, our elders and betters. (In SOME CASES we said now!)

This Puckish frolic went under the heading of our "April Fool Edition". Well, whatever the name of it — it was us a fine chance to claim Editorial "lese majeste". In the matter of poking out our tongues at our friends and belabouring authority over the head with Touchstone's bladder.

This week our inner sanctum is suffused with a perfect glow of brotherly love and trust; those whom we wallowed so good and truly got up after the first shock and are to be seen skipping gaily about corridor and campus, snapping their fingers and chanting:

"Bucks and stimes may break my bones. But names will never hurt!"

Thank whatever gods guard foolish editors — for nobody is going to sue!

Those who got stuck with the Editorial half-pipe can be certain sure of one thing — we were doing it. And today we wear the sardonic smile of the young bride who draws her pin out of the well-made cake. The thing came out CLEAN. For which we say "Thank you and bless you — you're made of the right stuff, kids!"

Religious Emphasis Week

Last week as the International news scene flickered with luridly and the passions of man pulled hither and yon, filling between uneasy Peace and More-War, the campus at Austin Peay was offering a small, but none-the-less welcome oasis of calm and restful meditation before the great sorrows and greater glories of Easter burst upon the world anew.

Students took time out to pray together, listen, and talk together in preparation for the beautiful mysteries of the Easter Season, when man has reminded himself that two thousand years of that magnificent demonstration by Christ of the immortality of the human soul, with its unquestionable portion in His own Divinity.

They did this in that brotherly atmosphere of inter-denominational activity which sets our country above all others in the march towards true freedom of man. Local ministers of different faiths gave of their time and effort to help make Religious Emphasis Week a memorable, worthwhile spiritual exercise.

As young people into whose hands the torch of liberty will eventually fall, we are, even in this season of our youth, giving much of our time to the coming responsibility of this priceless heritage. That we must guard it with our lives, we know. That we must use its flames to light us in the ways of Truth and Peace, we are solemnly sure. But how to do this in a world where chaos and darkness seem to reign? What is required of us, and who will help?

It is sadly borne in upon us that there are many today who speak with the tongues of men and of angels, yet point with seasoned guile in the direction of destruction. All seems to be in a state of confusion in our world, and through this we are sometimes thrown into a state of depression wherein it seems man's mind is utterly incapable of dealing with man's problems. To those who hope to know Christ and exercise His doctrine of love, this should appear as an almost unpardonable sin. Let us take a little thought before we fall into it.

It is hard for us to believe that in the work-a-day world we can and must live in the glorious life if life is to have any meaning or any peace for us. The mantle of Elijah fell upon the shoulders of Christ, and he is in turn on that first Easter offered it to each of us. He says, "You too are the son of man, and of My Father in Heaven, even as I." We are not to shrug it off for lack of a place, or time, to wear it. The place to wear it is HERE, wherever we find our niche in this world, troubled world — the TIME to wear it is NOW.

There was never in our history a better time. It is time the Christian, the Christ-follower, the God-lover reasoned to himself "There is that man who belongs to me, the Author of my being, and in whose life himself is to be found — therefore part of me is even as He — DIVINE. Let my prayer be that I come to recognize this within myself, and so live as to be worthy of it, then may I love and humility and awe, to worship and hold ever precious unto Him that same Divinity which is in each and every one of my brothers."

In so doing we shall certainly come to understand the Easter Message we shall certainly be able to say that we live the "religious life," we shall certainly draw nearer to God, as last week our religious leaders exhorted us to do.

Professors Participate In Conventions; Bowman And Stevens Elected To Offices

Joseph T. Sutton, assistant professor of education at Austin Peay State College, attended the annual convention of the International Council for Exceptional Children held in Boston last week.

Sutton, who teaches psychology at Austin Peay State, was particularly interested in teacher education for exceptional children. He attended a session of the council studying this phase and one discussing mentally retarded children. The council is of particular interest to Sutton since this summer the college will offer a graduate course in the education of the exceptional child.

Mrs. Alice Cochran of Greenwood Elementary School will also attend the council meeting.

Miss Willie Stevens, associate professor of education at Austin Peay State College, has been elected secretary-treasurer of the Tennessee Branch of the National Association for Student Teaching.

The Tennessee Branch of the national organization was formed last week when members of the association met in Nashville. Miss Stevens has been a member of the national organization for a number of years.

The association is for the exchange of ideas on teaching and for the improvement of student teaching in the institutions of higher education throughout the nation.

AP Faculty Members Evaluate Ga. College

Teachers and students of Georgia Teachers College told a committee of visiting educators last week exactly what they think of their college.

For the students the report to the committee was oral. But for the faculty, they were written as well as spoken and were the product of nearly two years of intensive evaluation of the college by its own faculty.

The teachers did a preliminary evaluation of their college in the year 1951-52 took note of institutional weaknesses and then went to work to improve all faults before preparing a final self-appraisal this year for study by the visiting committee.

The visitors' report accepted any body else's word for things necessarily but will check thoroughly to determine whether the local teachers and students see the college as outsiders may see it.

Committee members made an on-the-spot resume and later prepared a detailed report for submission to the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education which is sponsoring similar investigation programs for 247 other member colleges.

Heading the visiting committee was Dr. Charles E. Smith, president of Troy State Teachers College as chairman and Dr. Felix G. Woodward, dean of instruction at Austin Peay State College, Clarksville, Tenn., as co-chairman.

They were assisted by Dr. Robert H. Ervin, dean of instruction and Dr. Claude M. Ivis, director of the laboratory school both of Troy and Miss Mabel McEachern, dean of women and Dr. Haskell C. Phillips, professor of biology both of Austin Peay. Dr. Ivis graduate of Piedmont College and the University of Georgia, who was principal at Moultrie High School.

Campus Chatter

"Spring is sprung,
The grass is fit.
I wonder where
The sweethearts is."
Looks like spring hasn't turned dove yet enough, anyway, good.
Or maybe the ground hasn't turned yet. It's practically nonexistent.

We were able to dig up this bit.
It seems that Wilfred Gray used to get to school fifteen minutes early, but was always ten minutes late to Mr. Bond's Physics class.
His punctuality should increase now since Wanda saw him with his Dover girl.

With the coming of spring, we've noticed an increase in the number of couples that stroll the campus, sit on the benches of the front lawn, and block traffic in the halls and on the walks. Some of these old and new couples seen together lately are: Jack Uffelman and Loraine Gilliam; Nancy Slate and Joe Minor; Mal Langston and Nancy Bass; Betty Ann Vogle and Wayne Hall; Marjorie Smith and Stanley (Northern army) Lane; Lisa Thornton and Hayden Jolly;
Tina Morgan and Amy Yates;
Kathleen Murchison and Dawson
Durrett; Lekoy Smith and Betty
Eve Leach; Nina Marble and Rod
Mitchell; and Dave Johnston and Kale Leatherman.

Who was the chick in the red Dodge that was seen around the campus recently? How 'bout it Oscar?

Jimmy Miles has been going to Russellville a lot lately to see a certain girl. We hear he got stood up Wednesday night.

What's this we hear about Austin Peay and Rutherford Boyd having new names—Sweet Peay? and a "Bloodie"? Wonder who christened these charming fellows? Could it be Flippy, could it?

It is true that Jerry Hutz and Addie Perry got married last Saturday.

Guess the Dennis Sanders-Betty
Hunter affair is getting serious.
We understand that they are seen every afternoon in the lobby of the girl's dorm.

Mary Alice Southerland and Betty Jo Curtis are spending this week in the boy's dorm. They say they're staying with Mrs. Sutton.

The latest craze around school seems to be bubble-blowing especially in the case of Jack Uffelman.
If you don't believe us just drop in the Student Center some time.

Some body finally wised-up and tore the gate by the girl's dorm down. Orchids to them! We always thought it was kind of silly anyhow.

Have all you seen Willard
Blankenship with his new girl?
Her name is Mary.

Our vote this week for "Cutest guy on the campus" goes to John Martin. Right?

Suzanne McWilliams has been a looking pretty and since Bobby T.
isn't around anymore.

We overheard Rebecca Morrison talking about some guy named Larry. Who's he?

Officers for 1953-1954 were elected. Cernel Williams of Pleasant View, Tennessee, was elected president. Also, plans were made for an annual club party to be held later in the spring quarter.

Monte Davis, local magician, entertained the members of the club with various feats of magic following the business sessions.

Governors Lose To Florence State 9-1

The Governors of Austin Peay lost the opener of the current baseball season to the Florence State Lions by a count of 9-1. Florence batters held the Governors to only three hits, while the Lion stickmen pounded out six hits off three A.P. hurlers.

Donnie Holmes was the big man at the plate for the Red, and White, knocking out two of the Governors' hits. Jimmy Cartwright garnered the third hit off Florence. Coach Don Gary started Tom Morgan, who gave way to Jim Young in the fifth, and finished with Manley Burdett.

Austin Peay's only run came in the fifth inning when Jimmy Cartwright was hit by a pitched ball and then stole second base. On a fly out he went to third and then scored on a single by Robert Gloger.

Six hits and four errors accounted for the run in the first inning, three in the fifth, three in the sixth and two in the seventh.

Campus Chatter

This column got word the other day that a former AP student, Dennis Harris, has graduated from OCS and is now an ensign.

If nothing comes up before this goes to print we will have set a new record. We haven't received news of any newly engaged couples around. What's matter with you kids?

As we stated before, dirt is very scarce, so we'd better run for now.

Only My Opinion

BY RAY BAKER

Spring has sprung and the sports lover's fancy has turned to baseball. On the local scene the Gops have fielded a nine for the first time since 1951. The team has been hampered by bad weather, lack of a suitable place to work out and has only two lettermen returning from the '51 squad. Let's look at these bad conditions one by one. The new baseball diamond across from the Memorial Gym will be ready for use in a few days and when fully completed, it should be one of the best college fields in these parts. The lack of returning lettermen has been offset by the crop of newcomers and from what I've seen and heard there's potentially a powerful team among them. As for the weather, well, you know Clarksville. The Governors have several home games scheduled to be played on the old field and this brings up that old question of students and faculty attendance of sports events. These games will be played in the afternoon of weekdays so quite a few of the students should be able to attend even if only for a couple of innings. Another thing, the majority of the men on the team are guys who didn't play any other major sport. Why not come out and watch them prove that the football and basketball players aren't the only good athletes on the campus?

the Ohio Valley Conference has been postponed until next December because league officials said it is too late to make football schedules for next fall. Rumor has it that the main reason is that Western Kentucky doesn't want the conference to have its full eight team membership.

Since Western is the only nationally rated basketball team in the OVC the addition of two new schools would mean Western will have to play at least fourteen games within the conference on a home and home basis. This would keep Western from playing more schools that have big basketball names thus cutting down on national recognition and larger gate receipts. Ah, the mighty dollar! Sounds logical though!

Ed Kulakowski has signed a try-out contract with the professional Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League, becoming the third Governor grid star to be contacted by the pros. The others were Waldo Binkley, giant Gey tackle in 1950 and Ron Clary, former Vandy star and linebacker for A. P. in 1951. Congratulations and good luck Ed!

COLUMB APPLAUSES LINE: To the members of Coaches Cooper and Gary's Physical Ed. classes for "volunteering" to chunk rocks off the new baseball field.

FINAL SHOT OF DRIVEL: What this college needs is a Coke machine that WORKS EVERY TIME!
