Financial Facts

by Susan Ikord

Every school that participates in any federal financial aid program must set standards for the renewal and retention of aid which all students are required to meet in order to receive assistance. These standards must be maintained in order to comply with guidelines set forth by the department of education regarding satisfactory progress on the part of the student.

The two main criteria used in determining satisfactory progress are whether the student has received a 0.00 grade point average for a quarter, and whether the student has dropped below the status upon which the financial aid award was originally based twice within six quarters.

A student who receives a 0.00 GPA for a quarter automatically has their aid revoked for the following quarter. There is no time limitation on this. For example, a student may receive a 0.00 GPA fall quarter of one year.

Even if he or she does not return to school until the following fall quarter, the student will not receive any aid through the financial aid office until they attend one quarter, paying their own way, and both make a 1.5 GPA and complete the number of hours upon their original award was based (which is usually 12 or more hours).

A student who drops below their original award status the first time will be sent a letter detailing the standards for retention of aid. This is the way the SFAO notifies the student that he or she is in jeopardy of losing their aid. When a student drops below the original award status a second time, they are sent a letter notifying them that their aid has been revoked for the following quarter.

The student must then attend one quarter, paying their own way, and complete the number of hours upon which their award was originally based, before the aid can be restored.

Withdrawing from all courses for the quarter is construed in the same way as dropping below the original award status, so if a student is receiving financial aid and withdraws from school, he or she is still half-way toward violating the aid retention policy.

Any student who has their aid revoked is entitled to appeal that decision, either by speaking with the director of student financial aid, or attending the Academic Standards Appeals Committee meeting, which convenes during the week between registration and late registration at the beginning of each quarter.

Every consideration is made for the students who have a legitimate excuse for violating the aid retention policy. These standards appear in the APSU catalog, the financial aid handbook, and on the back of the award letter which each student receives notifying them of their financial aid award.

Anytime a student has a question concerning this policy, they should check with the financial aid office.

Miller submits resignation

by Steve Harmon

Dr. Joseph T. Miller, Associate Professor of Health and Physical Education at Austin Peay State University, formally submitted his letter of resignation to university President Robert O. Riggs on March 30 because of "departmental guidance problems."

Miller's resignation culminated nearly four years of service to the university and was to be effective immediately.

"I left for personal reasons," Miller said, after refusing to elaborate on the circumstances surrounding his resignation which came only three weeks into the spring academic term.

Miller indicated that he would be entering private business as a co-owner and Vice-President of Finance for J&J Emergency Medical Consultants along with former APSU head trainer Jeff Daniel and Mike Howell.

"After having been in higher education for seventeen-plus years, I thought it best to drop out," Miller said.

He came to Austin Peay during the 1978-79 academic year and implemented the Health Care Management program into the university's Health discipline.

Miller went on to give his best wishes to Austin Peay for the future and added that he had no regrets in leaving.

"My main concern always has been, and always will be for the students at Austin Peay," Miller said.

"Dr. Riggs and Dr. James Sawrey, vice president for academic affairs were extremely supportive of my resignation," Miller related of his March 30 meeting with the two APSU administrators, "and I appreciate that."

Dr. Joe Brown, chairman of the university's Health and Physical Education department, was quick to state any mention of program eliminations within the department.

"Contrary to rumors, none of the programs are being eliminated," Brown said.

"It's ridiculous for people to say that. We've divided the workload among the members of the department," Brown said in response to Miller's exodus after the start of the term.

"He told the administration he was quitting on March 30 and I had to fill his teaching vacancy on March 31," Brown said.

When asked about the reason(s) for Miller's resignation, Brown responded: "If he (Miller) doesn't want to tell you why, then it is to do so."

University President Riggs refused to cite specific reasons for Miller's resignation, but praised Miller for his work at Austin Peay.

"Joe did a good job in putting together the Health Care Management program and I wish him luck in the future," Riggs said.

Board approves increase

Tuition costs rise again

Another blow has been dealt towards Austin Peay State University students. The State Board of Regents approved an increase in tuition. The increase to be effective this summer will raise tuition here 10 percent for in-state undergraduates and 15 percent for out-of-state and graduate students.

The increases will be as follows:

IN-STATE:	Present	Increase	Total
Full-time undergraduate	$218	$22	$240
Part-time undergraduate $21/hour	$2/hour	$2/hour	$23/hour
Graduate	$275	$41	$316
OUT-OF-STATE:
Full-time undergraduate	$728	$109	$837
Part-time undergraduate $65/hour	$10/hour	$75/hour
Graduate	$785	$118	$903

Regents Chancellor Roy S. Nicks explained, "While we remain committed to keeping student costs as low as possible the increases were built into the 1982-83 appropriation recommendations by the higher education commission and the Governor now being considered by the General Assembly. The increases are entirely necessary to offset rising campus costs."

The increases were authorized by the State Board of Regents in a regular session March 19 at Cleveland State Community College in Cleveland, Tennessee.

The Board approved the increases with hesitation and only one member voting no to the increase.

The increase in tuition and fees are also placed on Tennessee's 16 state universities and community colleges.

Along with APSU, East Tennessee State University, Tennessee State University and Tennessee Technological University were also affected by the SBR increases.

Memphis State tuition will increase 15 percent for in-state undergraduates and graduates and in-state law school students.

Students receiving financial aid will be hit hard with both tuition increases and financial aid cutbacks. This one-two combination will hurt a lot of students who will be forced to seek finances elsewhere.

SUNTAN MAMA—Linda Dollar, an Austin Peay co-ed, is pictured lying on a towel. Several years ago, many towels were used for drying wet skin, but this ritual became archaic with the invention of the bikini, even if the one Dollar is wearing doesn't match.

Greek honor society receives charter

by Robert Boswell

Austin Peay State University recently gained a new honor and service society. The Austin Peay chapter of the Gamma Beta Phi Society received its charter last month at the society's national convention in Ashville, North Carolina.

Donna Anderson, reporter for Gamma Beta Phi said that the Society's Vice President, Sheila Garrison, and Secretary, Jackie White attended the March 26-28 convention. "We received our charter then and expect our induction to be held May 3," Anderson said.

"We have 86 charter members right now, and I believe that is the largest organization on campus," Anderson said. "Gamma Beta Phi is an honor and service society, but we will most likely lean more toward stressing service than anything else."

Anderson added that Gamma Beta Phi does not require its members to be majoring in any specific course of study. "It is open to students of any major just as long as they meet the grade requirements."

She added that all members in the Society must be in the upper 20 percent of their class.

Anderson pointed out participation in this years "Clean-up Clarksville" campaign as one way the society will be of service to host a bloodmobile, and plans are also underway for the promotion of a "teacher appreciation day."

Dean Burney is currently advisor for Gamma Beta Phi, and Evie Ravenhorst was also an advisor for the society until her dismissal last week by university President Robert O. Riggs. Anderson believes that the society will be a success at APSU. She said that, "I think it will work out real well and I am very excited about working with it."

Anderson added that the society will meet Wednesday, April 14 at 3 p.m. in the Claxton Building and that all persons eligible for membership who are interested in becoming a member of the society are encouraged to attend. Any persons wishing to obtain more information on Gamma Beta Phi may do so by contacting the chapter President, Rick Collier at P.O. Box 6296 or the secretary, Jackie White at P.O. Box 8151.

Reagan's budget apathetic to the student's needs

The budget reductions in student financial aid proposed by President Ronald Reagan in his 1983-84 budget are inimical and indifferent to student incentive. The cuts Reagan has proposed will reduce Pell Grants, College Work Study and the Supplemental Educational Opportunity grants by millions of dollars.

These cuts will have ominous effects on thousands of students seeking higher education across the nation. Despite the 15-20% increase in college costs, the president sees fit to reduce the only viable source of funds available for thousands of needy students.

The largest federally funded financial aid program, Pell Grants, will be reduced and one million students will feel the crunch. A 22% decrease is expected in the Pell Grants awards if Reagan's measures are approved by Congress.

President Reagan's indifference toward the needs of so many cannot go unchecked. Students' need for financial assistance cannot be calculated solely on a dollar and cents criterion. In our ever changing society the demand for intelligent, resourceful, professional people is a prerequisite for a better tomorrow. Students remain a valuable asset and resource. Short-circuiting their aspirations will only have negative effects.

The All State emphatically urges students in all campuses to rally and articulate their concerns. Our staunch opposition to these changes must reverberate within the halls of Congress. Working together with financial aid directors, students must write their elected officials and make their concerns known.

Nursing club seeks members

Dear Editor:

The Austin Peay State Nursing Association (APNSA) is a club on campus open to not only current nursing students, but to pre-majors as well.

Pre-nursing majors are encouraged to attend our meetings and become involved. This is an excellent opportunity for the students to learn what nursing is all about before they get into it.

The association meets once a month and participates in various activities on campus and in the community. Improving the profession and improving upon themselves as future nurses are major concerns of the association.

Activities for April include Spring Gathering '82 in Nashville. Wilma Sue Bishop from ETSU will present sessions on "Preparing for the Big One: State Board Test Pool Exam." Students who have attended before say it helps on a variety of tests including the big one.

APNSA members will be walking in the March of Dimes WALK-AMERICA. For more information on this and the April APNSA meeting, the 20th at 6 p.m. in room 120 of the nursing building.

There will be a business meeting followed by a presentation entitled, "Ethics in Nursing" given by Rebecca Culpepper.

Culpepper is assistant professor, nursing administration director of continuing education at Vanderbilt University School of Nursing and Vanderbilt University Medical Center Hospital Nursing Services.

Thank you,
APNSA

Greeks urge support

Dear Editor:

I am currently considering joining the fraternity of Phi Beta Sigma, which will hopefully become chartered on this campus this spring.

I am concerned that due to past problems dealing with other fraternities, that the Student Government Association—which must approve our being chartered—will not be willing to support our group. I sincerely hope that this will not be the case, but I feel that an encouraging word from you would be helpful.

Your cooperation might prove helpful in encouraging the SGA, along with the school administration, to give our fraternity a chance.

Thank you,
Jeffery Allen Craig

Letters Policy

The All State staffs of the past have consistently provided their respective readerships with the opportunity to make public comments, suggestions, criticisms and even complaints by making use of the "Letters to the Editor" column and this year's staff intends to do the same.

All letters which are to be considered for publication must be in The All State office by the Saturday before the Wednesday printing. All letters should be signed and the author's phone number should be given.

Letters must be less than 300 words long. No letter will be published which even vaguely implies advertisement or campaign. Space to be used for such purposes in The All State must be purchased at campus advertisement rates.

Letters which the staff considers to be offensive, abusive or libelous will be subject to editing. The author will be consulted in cases where drastic editing of the submitted letter is considered necessary.

Ravenhorst praised

Dear Editor:

We would just like to congratulate Evie Ravenhorst for doing such a great job this year. She has helped Alpha Phi and the greek system tremendously. Evie has really worked hard on trying to improve Austin Peay's greek system. Ma. Ravenhorst is great working with students. She is always there when we need her. Evie is a great student director and we look forward to working with her in the coming years.

Sincerely,
The Sisters of Alpha Phi

New Editorial Policy

The All State, in an effort to voice opinions of others, is devising a new policy. All students and faculty members of Austin Peay are urged to submit editorial writings to The All State.

Editorials should be from 300 to 500 words long and every submitted work will be considered by our editorial staff before publication. Authors should include their name and telephone numbers with editorials.

Regents propose budget amendments

by Claudia Robinson

Several amendments affecting State Board of Regents schools were included in the state budget passed by the Senate April 1.

Among the amendments is the provision for a full seven percent salary increase for state and higher education employees, instead of the condition seven percent the governor recommended which included dental insurance.

In the original budget the governor stipulated that five percent would come from the state and the remaining two percent must come from payroll cost reductions at each school or government agency.

The Senate amendment, however, allow the schools and agencies to fund the increase from other sources.

Another Senate amendment would delay until at least Oct. 1, 1982 all capital outlay projects for 1982-83, including three SBR schools.

The governor had asked for $2.8 million to renovate Brown Hall at ETSU and $2.3 million to renovate Matthews-Daniels at Tennessee Tech in order to bring them up to fire and safety standards. Another $2.3 million had been requested for renovations at TSU to provide more space for the biology department.

The State Building Commission, however, Friday approved $81,000 for preplanning the ETSU renovation to come from the SBC Preplanning Fund. The funds also will have to be approved by Bill Samson, director of finance and administration.

The Senate also voted to appropriate $100,000 for preplanning additions to the Fogelman College of Business at Memphis State, instead of the $6.4 million requested by the governor for the actual construction.

Another $75,000 was approved for preplanning campus expansion at Motlow State Community College for which the governor requested $3.2 million. The SBC also approved at its Friday meeting taking the $75,000 from its preplanning fund, with the approval of Samson.

Other budget cuts that concern SBR schools are: $28,000 for preplanning the renovation of the Heiman Street property adjacent to TSU, which is being transferred from the Department of Corrections. The property's buildings will be used to house general services and agriculture research;

The carryover of preplanning funds for Roane's State Oak Ridge campus; $50,000 for the Institute of African Affairs at TSU; $20,000 to continue the Dietetic Technology program at Roane State, subject to Samson's approval;

The establishment of a Geographic Information System to be funded by state agencies using its services. The funding would go through the MTSU-TSU Center for Urban and Public Affairs.

A Conference Committee will meet this week to reconcile the House and Senate versions of the budget.

The House Budget does not allow for alternate funding of the two percent the delay of capital outlay projects, preplanning of the Heiman Street property or the Fogelman Building, of the LANDSAT funds.

Lewis builds Ft. Campbell center

by Don Carlson

Most people who have the opportunity to visit the sprawling Fort Campbell military complex stand there at the corner of Chaffee Road and Ohio Avenue like a group of old Army sergeants waiting out their last few days before retirement.

These are the old 1940 mobilization barracks that comprise the Fort Campbell APSU Center. From the outside, they are old, weatherbeaten, waiting for a coat of paint that will never come. But look closer, inside building 238 and some of the others. There is a change, subtle yet urgent. This can be attributed to the efforts of one man, who took it upon himself to find "hidden ways" to get things done in the military system of priorities. This man is Dr.

Willard L. Lewis, director of the center.

"He's not the typical administrator," said Julie Jordan, coordinator of Missions and Records, "He doesn't sit in his office letting his subordinates do the dirty work."

Within the last year the population of the center has risen from 3000 to more than 3500. With this rise in the number of students, the center found itself short on classroom space. Lewis made a survey, trying to find space where none seemed to exist. Needing the space, and after securing the approval of the Headquarters, Lewis contacted the facilities engineers.

Previously the working arrangement between these two agencies had not been the greatest. "He was able to restore good working relations," said Jordan. But knowing the problem of priorities and labor, Lewis decided to push on even further. He secured the supplies, then recruited the volunteer labor to make the necessary changes to the buildings. And then he put himself to work, alongside everyone else. He became a familiar sight in his red and gray sweatshirt. Pounding nails, slapping paint, anything that had to be done. Now the interior of these old buildings have a shiny new look.

It is quite difficult to try and see the man, Jordan said he was always out of his office, trying to visit the many labs and classrooms scattered around Fort Campbell.

Lewis is doing a tremendous job reacquainting the civilian and military population of the post with all that is authorized in the rich, viable educational program offered by the center.

Govs tabbed as conference favorites

APSU netters gaining momentum

After four years of building a foundation for his Austin Peay tennis program, Dennis Emery likes what he sees.

The APSU netters held off challenges from Middle Tennessee, Eastern Kentucky, defending OVC champion Murray State and Western Kentucky on the Governor courts this past weekend to top off a clean sweep of the conference seeding matches.

Entering the April 30-May 1 OVC championships at Richmond, Ky., the Governors and their unblemished conference record appear as the team to beat.

Or do they?

"I definitely won't say we're the team to beat," Emery said modestly.

"Our team and Murray are pretty even," he compared of the Governors' sternest challenger.

Based on the Racers' 54 victory earlier in the spring and Austin Peay's 63 revenge win last weekend, Emery's reservations may be valid.

But don't tell his players that.

"We're the best team in the conference," a confident Hal Jolley, the Govs no. 1 player, stated.

"We're better than last year," Jolley continued, "and we have an advantage because we don't have to play the OVC at Murray."

Austin Peay had breezed through the OVC seeding matches last year, much the same as this season, only to fall to Murray State in the OVC championships on the Racers courts.

However, the Govs won't have to face that obstacle this year as Eastern Kentucky plays host to the conference tournament.

Emery's road to the top of the OVC seeding ladder hasn't been one rung of success after another though.

Three consecutive fifth-place OVC finishes in 1978, '79 and '80 kept the program mired in mediocrity before last season's runner-up showing solidified the club as a contender.

"Coach (Johnny) Miller has been so supportive," Emery said of the APSU Athletic Director, "even when we were building."

Emery is a firm believer in recruiting high school athletes as opposed to gaining short-term success with junior college transfers.

"You can take short cuts in building a program," Emery said, "but we didn't do that. It takes three or four years to build a base and I think we're at that stage of our program now."

In his fifth year at the APSU helm, Emery, a 1977 graduate of Carson-Newman (Tenn.) College, sees this year's squad as one of his best.

Jolley, a sophomore from Detroit, returns to defend his OVC singles championship at the no. 1 spot for the Govs, while freshman Carlos Claverie of Caracas, Venezuela plays no. 2.

Oak Ridge, Tenn. senior Greg Carter is at no. 3; junior Brad Properjohn of Perth, Australia plays no. 4; Hartmut Jungbahn, a Caracas sophomore, is at no. 5; while freshmen Kurt Angel of Clarksville High, Myles Van Urk of New Zealand and Peter Owen of Melbourne, Australia divide time between the no. 6 spot.

"Potentially, this is the best team I've had here—if we can get consistent at the no. 6 spot," Emery observed.

"My goal when I came here five years ago was to win the conference and get the team into the Top 20," Emery said.

"I think we've reached a point now where we can compete each year for the OVC," he viewed.

"As far as the Top 20—we're just outside of that," Emery said of his squad that owns a 15-8 dual match record of which five losses were against Top 20 teams.

As far as the top of the Ohio Valley Conference goes, there is little doubt that the Govs are in the rankings.

Entry blanks for the Second Annual Michelob Jaycee Golf Tournament on April 24-25 at Swan Lake golf course are available at any local pro shop.

The $30 entry fee includes greens fees for 36 holes.

Govs claim regular season OVC title

by Donna Holder

Austin Peay's men's tennis team has captured the regular season tennis title for 1982 in the Ohio Valley Conference.

Coach Dennis Emery says that he's naturally proud of that accomplishment, but now his and the team's main goal is to win the OVC crown at the conference tournament.

APSU will participate in the tournament April 30-May 1 at Richmond, Kentucky. The fact that these matches will not be held at Murray State University this year is very important.

According to Hartmut Jungbahn, a sophomore from Venezuela and the number five player on the team, "The fact that we are playing the tournament in a neutral clearly makes us the favorite to win. It's nearly impossible to win at Murray. We played the tournament there last year and came in second to Murray; this year, we're at another school and we have a great chance to win."

"I feel like we have a strong team—a team where we have men who can step in for others if an injury occurs—although we cannot claim the title yet, I am really excited about our chances of winning," Emery said.

Hal Jolley, the squad's number one player, said that he is pretty confident about his team and their playing. "We've played well all season, and although I cannot predict the season's final standings, I really feel like we have a great chance to win the top four positions at least, and also the team title."

He added to what Jungbahn said concerning the importance of the fact that the tournament finals will be held at a neutral school. "It's a clear advantage to be playing at Richmond and not at Murray," Jolley said.

Austin Peay's netters remained busy over the Easter break; they met Eastern Kentucky University on Friday, and the Govs walked away with a 7-2 win.

Saturday morning, the men took on rival Murray and emerged a 6-3 winner. Later that afternoon, APSU beat Western Kentucky University by a score of 9-0.

STRING MUSIC—APSU netter Hartmut Jungbahn follows through on a forehand during last week's OVC action on the Governor courts. Jungbahn, a sophomore Business Administration major from Caracas, Venezuela, plays no. five singles for the Govs.

Lady Gov net squad preps for OVC

by Steve Harmon

As the Ohio Valley Conference women's tennis championships on April 16-17 at Murray (Ky.) State University draw near, Austin Peay head coach Arlene Ignico is looking for more than a team OVC title.

"I'm looking for individual gains from my players," said the Clearwater, Fla. native who is in her third season at the helm of the Lady Govs.

"Realistically, we won't win the OVC," Ignico said, in view of such established programs as those of Murray State, Morehead State and Middle Tennessee.

While Austin Peay competes at the NCAA Division II level, all the other OVC schools are Division I members.

"I think Sherry Harrison has a good shot at winning the no. 1 singles title," Ignico said of her top player.

Harrison, a senior from Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, was the OVC champion as a sophomore in 1980.

"Of course I'm biased," Ignico admitted, "but after talking to the other league coaches, everyone thinks Sherry has a good shot at winning (the OVC)."

Although Harrison owns a 3-5 dual match record, she is coming off a tournament championship at UT-Martin on March 26-27. She defeated the no. 1 player from East Tennessee and Western Kentucky in straight sets en route to the crown.

Besides the experience Harrison lends at the top spot, the Lady Govs boast only one other upperclassman-senior Mary Squire at no. 3 singles.

"It's going to be tough to win (at the OVC) with three freshmen and a sophomore," Ignico noted.

Complimenting Harrison and Squire will be sophomore Sandy Cross at no. 2 singles and freshmen Jill Marshall, Cynthia McGuffee and Bethany Reynolds at numbers 4, 5 and 6, respectively.

However, Cross has a nagging knee injury and is questionable for this weekend.

"If Sandy can play, I think we'll do well," Ignico said of the 1980 Clarksville High graduate.

Ignico labeled Middle Tennessee and Morehead State as the journey favorites.

On May 1, APSU will host the Division II state championships. The next stop will be the Div. II regionals on May 13-14 at UT-Martin.

HOPEFUL TITLEIST—Sherry Harrison shows the form that could regain the Ohio Valley Conference women's tennis singles title for the Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio senior. Harrison won the crown two years ago as a sophomore and is regarded as a strong challenger on April 16-17 at the OVC Championships in Murray, Ky.

Budweiser. KING OF BEERS. ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

by Teddy Moore

Hal Jolley, the Governor's top singles player, defeated the University of Georgia's All-American John Mangan by a 7-6, 7-5 count in straight sets last week in Athens, Ga.

Although APSU lost the match to the no. 3 nationally ranked Bulldogs, Jolley's upset on the UGA indoor courts was the result of a "solid performance" according to APSU coach Dennis Emery.

Lady Gows toll Tiger bells

by Steve Harmon

A pair of Austin Peay relay teams and an individual performer turned in outings good enough to qualify for the NCAA Division II nationals as the Lady Gows turned in "a good solid performance" at the Tigerbelle Invitational in Nashville on April 10, according to track coach Joey Haines.

"We ran really well,"

Haines said. "The Lady Gow 400 meter relay team of Kim Summerous, Marvella Williams, Pat Avery and Joanne Arnold finished second at 47.19 to earn

Haines' praise as "one of the top three or four relay squads in the country."

Peay's mile relay squad of Williams, Avery, Arnold and Alicia Loyd ran a school-record 3:52.0 to finish third.

Arnold was the lone APSU titleist as the Nashville senior stepped in a 18'11" long jump to edge the 18'7 1/4" posted by her teammate Summerous. Both Arnold and Summerous have qualified for the national tournament, to be hosted by APSU, in the long jump.

Tomorrow evening, the Lady Gows host defending OVC champion Murray State in Municipal Stadium.

Field events start at 4 p.m. while the running begins at 6 p.m. Coach Haines encourages all APSU students to take advantage of the free admission with a valid ID card.

"Murray is the heavy favorite to win the OVC, but we may surprise them on Thursday," Haines said. "I think a good crowd will help us," he added.

However, Haines put his fingers on the key to his Lady Gows' success tomorrow.

"Mary Johnson has got to run well to offset Murray's strength in the distance events," Haines analyzed of his sprint-dominated team. "A lot will depend on that."

Saturday afternoon, the Governor men's and women's squads will be entered in the Vanderbilt Invitational in Nashville.

"I'm expecting some good finishes at Vandy," Haines said. "I think most of the events will be between us and Western Kentucky," he viewed of the 12-team field.

The Governor men will be trying to rebound from a subpar performance at the Dogwood Relays in Knoxville last weekend.

"I'm disappointed in the men in that we didn't run super," Haines said, "but against that type of competition, you have to run super just to compete."

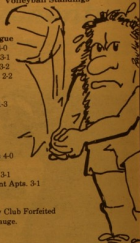

Teams from the Big Ten, Southeastern and Mid-American conferences, as well as some of the top eastern independents were on the University of Tennessee's campus to make things tough for the Gows.

APSU diamond crew drops seventh in row

by Steve Harmon

Tell Austin Peay State University head baseball coach Joe Baxter that there's no such thing as snow in April in Tennessee and he'll tell you differently.

After the Gavs dropped both games of an OVC twinbill Saturday afternoon to the Murray State Racers (11-7, 5-4) in Murray, Ky., Baxter has seen his team's losing streak snowball to seven consecutive losses.

Say it ain't so, Joe.

"We're too up and down right now," Baxter said of his 10-17 (.04 in OVC) Gavs.

"Our hitting is good," he said of his team's near .300 batting average, "and our defense good, but the pitching is not what I'd hoped for."

A case in point is sophomore Clayton Dahl.

Dahl topped the APSU hurlers last spring with a 6-1 record, but to date, has managed only one victory in six decisions this year, including a seven-run shelling he received from Murray Saturday in the opener in only two-thirds of an inning.

"Clayton's been pitching hurt," Baxter said of his trumped ace. "It's been a tough year for him."

Seniors Keith Gilliam, David Brock and disabled junior Stacey Higgins have had their problems on the mound this spring, as well.

However, Baxter hasn't written 1982 off just yet.

"We're still looking for that elusive first (OVC) win," Baxter said.

"Although we've lost seven straight games, four of them have been by one run," he viewed—"That tells me we're young and don't know how to win yet."

This week, the Gavs play seven games, including a home doubleheader yesterday against Murray State (results unavailable at presstime).

Today, APSU travels to Indiana State-Evansville before returning home tomorrow for a 7 p.m. contest with Belmont College at Northwest High School.

Sunday, the Governors host ISU-Evansville in a 1 p.m. twinbill at Governor Park.

HIT IT—Governor third-sacker Fred Dillon waits for a throw from left field in action earlier this season.

Peay linksmen edged by UT-Martin

A young UT-Martin golf squad shunned the wintry playing conditions at Ft. Campbell's Cole Park as the Pacers fashioned a solid five-over-par 293 team total to clip the 303 total posted by Austin Peay in a dual match last Wednesday.

Freshman Jim Melton of Jackson's Old Hickory Academy carded a two-under-par 70 over the 6637 yard layout to win the medal.

Steve Harmon fired a 74 to lead the Governors, while Rodney Dill (75), Brad Van Kirk (75), Paul Ilg (79) and Brad Germany (81) added support.

"They've got some good young players," APSU coach Mike Keliher said of the Pacers.

"(UTM coach) Grover Page has got to be pleased with the way his kids played today," Keliher added.

APSU had a return engagement with UT-

Martin on Monday at the Wenkey County Country Club as Arkansas State joined them in a triangular match.

UTM won the event with a 307 aggregate as APSU (315) and Arkansas State (324) trailed.

Harmon's 76 paced the Gavs, while Dill and Van Kirk earned rounds of 78 and 79, respectively.

This weekend, the Gavs travel to Sewanee, Tenn.
