Grow with Austin Peay State College

CLARKSVILLE, TENNESSEE, OCTOBER 2, 1953

VOLUME 24

Frosh Week Opens 25th Year At AP

Nine Additions To Teaching Staff Make Present Faculty Largest Ever

Nine new faculty members have been added to the teaching staff here at Austin Peay State College.

President Harvill stated that when the college held its first registration September 23, 1929, the faculty members totaled 17. The new faculty members will raise the total to 61.

Of the new members five will work on the college campus and four will join the staff of the practice school at New Providence.

The new members and their departments are: Miss Hazel Ann Burdard, home economics; Dr. Don B. Clark, social studies; Miss Jane Gardner Flier, library; John Martin Rawls, biology; and Dr. Tom Kent Savage, education, and joining the college staff at the practice school, Mrs. Arlie Houn Hunt, Mrs. Irene Adams Proctor, and Dr. William H. Sanford.

Miss Burdard, a native of Madison, Mo., received her Bachelor of Science degree from Virginia Polytechnic Institute and a Master of Science degree from the University of Tennessee. She was a member of the Marine Corps for two years. She will succeed Miss Lee Riddell, resigned.

Dr. Clark comes from Lincoln Memorial University at Harrogate, Tenn. He received his Master of Arts degree from Vanderbilt University and his Ph.D. from New York University. At Lincoln he headed the department of history and geography.

Miss Proctor received her Bachelor of Science and Master of Arts degrees from Peabody College. She comes here from Furman University where she was assistant librarian.

Rawls, a native of Adams, Tenn., received his Bachelor of Science and Master of Arts degrees from Peabody College. He will replace Floyd M. Ford who is taking a leave of absence to work on his Ph.D. He served in the Air Force during World War II.

Dr. Savage will be a new addition to the education department. He is a native of Linden, Tenn. He received his Bachelor of Science from Milligan College and his Master of Science and Doctor of Education degrees from the University of Tennessee. He is a veteran of World War II and served three and a half years in North Africa and the China-Burma-India theater.

Mrs. Hunt, critic teacher at the practice school, is a native of the Woodlawn community and received her Bachelor of Science degree at Austin Peay State and at present is working on her masters degree at the college.

Mrs. Fine, critic teacher for the seventh grade, is a native of Palmyra. She received both her bachelors and masters degrees from Austin Peay State and did graduate work at Northwestern University. Last year she taught at the demonstration school and at Austin Peay State.

Mrs. Proctor will be librarian at the demonstration school there replacing Joe Black who is now principal of Roosevelt School. Proctor received her bachelors degree from Austin Peay State and her masters from Peabody. She has had eight years experience as a teacher.

Sanford, critic teacher for the ninth grade, is a native of Port Royal, Tenn. He received his bachelors degree from Austin Peay State and is now working on his masters degree at the college. He is a veteran with three and a half years service in the armed forces. He taught at Charlotte High School last year.

Critic teachers at the demonstration school teach their respective grades, and in addition, train student teachers from the college.

Ford On Fellowship At Vanderbilt Univ.

Dr. Ford, instructor in biology at Austin Peay State College, has been granted a two-year research fellowship at Vanderbilt University.

Dr. Ford, who enrolled at Vanderbilt September 28, to begin his research work which will lead to his Ph.D. degree, has been granted a leave of two years from Austin Peay State College.

At Vanderbilt Mr. Ford will do research in some biological problem leading to the advanced degree. His fellowship was granted through the university by the Carnegie Foundation.

Mr. Ford received his B. S. degree from the University of Tennessee and his M.A. degree from George Peabody College for Teachers. He attended Austin Peay State College for three years before entering the University of Tennessee.

Before joining the college faculty last year, Mr. Ford taught science at Joe Byrns High School in Robertson County.

Concert Association Brings To Campus Four New Programs

The Clarksville Concert Association, under the sponsorship of Austin Peay State College, has started the year with four programs already planned for presentation here.

It will be remembered that last year the Concert Association was responsible for bringing to the college such entertainment as the Don Cosack Dancers and Chorists, and Lillian Kalir, noted young pianist.

This year the Association's four programs include Marguerite McCelland, soprano; Michel Astro and the Longines Symphonies; Blanche Tarjus, violinist from France; and Orlando de Almeida, Brazilian pianist.

In assembly last week, Dr. Charles Gary, associate professor of music, pointed out that the student identification activities admitted any student of Austin Peay State College free to these programs. So every student is urged to take advantage of this opportunity to hear some of the world's best music.

Work Begins On College Yearbook

Work has already begun on the 1953-54 FAREWELL, and HAIL with John Hoffmann, editor and Brown Harvey as business manager.

As this is the twenty-fifth year of the college, the annual will carry the Silver Anniversary theme. It is to be bigger and better than ever, with approximately 120 pages. The cover will be silver and red.

Many of last year's staff will be back and twenty-six freshmen have volunteered their services. This is the largest turn out of freshmen the annual has ever had. The program staff will be named at a later date.

The price again this year is $2.75.

Everyone is urged to have his picture made, sign his subscription blank, and start making suggestions. Remember, it's your annual and with your help it will be the best ever.

Summer Dean's List

Twenty-two Austin Peay students have qualified for the Summer Quarter Dean's List.

To be eligible for the Dean's List a student must meet the following qualifications:

(1) To have earned not less than thirty quarter hours credit for the quarter with no grade lower than "C".

(2) Must have attained an average of 2.65 out of a possible 3.0.

Those who received this honor are: Louise Ann, Dickson; Francis Akbar, Tupper; Conn, Betty M. Bailey, P. Campbell; Mary Virginia Carter, McLeansboro, Ill.; Mable Overman, Crockett; John Grove, Ky.; Helen Pave, Ellettsville, Ky.; Anne Fortson, Clarksville; Ruth Pette, Greenbrier; and Bill M. Heaton, Clarksville; Jane Hinton, Guthrie, Ky.

Joe Ann Hoffman, P. Campbell; Leola Kent, Clarksville, 2.65; Jean Lipscomb, Cooperstown; Albert J. Michum, Erin; Mary B. Moore, Henderson, Ky.; Mildred Moore, Kingston, Tenn.; Virginia H. Price, Olmstead, Ky.; Margaret Rich, Huntington; Virginia Choate, Brooksville, Ky.; Nancy Glen Smith, Dover; Martha Ann Clark, Springfield; and Judy Young, Clarksville.

Freshmen Of 1953 Flood Campus

Two freshmen are seen checking in with Dot Roach, secretary to Dean of Instruction, as they begin the long, grueling process of registration.

Harvill Welcomes AP Newcomers

Students of Austin Peay State College,

I want to take this opportunity to welcome you to the Austin Peay State College for the 1953-54 college year. This is the twenty-fifth year of this institution as a state college. The Austin Peay State College is not the first institution of higher learning to be established on these grounds. For more than a century a college or university has occupied this campus.

You have better facilities than any previous students have been privileged to occupy and use. You will be under the direction of an excellently trained faculty. They have the experience and desire to give you the very best of instruction. Their responsibilities are your opportunities. I urge you to make the most of your opportunities.

You are, I am sure, ambitious to do the very best that you can in life. Society is calling for future leaders. The call is to you. Make all that you do at Austin Peay State College count toward a better way of life for you and your associates. You have no right to become a personality less than you are capable of being.

Let us make 1953-54 a year of good scholarship and splendid fellowship.

Sincerely,
Halbert Harvill
President

Grise To Appear On WSM Program

Dr. George C. Grise, professor of English at Austin Peay State College, will appear on a weekly radio program over Nashville's WSM beginning Tuesday, September 29.

The 15-minute program, which will be heard each Tuesday evening at 6:15, will be entitled "Tall Tales" and will feature a historical or legendary tale with a musical theme carried out by a ballad singer.

Dr. Grise will sing the ballads used on the program. The music will be authentic folk music; however, the lyrics may be altered to suit the program, he pointed out.

The script for the programs will be written by Bill Woodley of the Nashville Tennessee, and the show will be produced by Marjorie Choate, Nashville, Tenn. The program has been scheduled for a run of 13 weeks beginning with Tuesday's broadcast.

A record number of freshmen enrolled last week as Austin Peay began its twenty-fifth year as a state college.

The three day orientation program was designed to acquaint the freshmen with the college and the college with the freshmen.

The program began Monday with an assembly at which President Halbert Harvill welcomed the newcomers. Following the president's welcome, Jim Johnson, president of the Student Council, welcomed the freshmen on behalf of the student body.

After the assembly, the freshmen moved to the Memorial Building to begin a testing program which lasted throughout the day. Tuesday was spent in counseling the freshmen and helping them select a course of study, in preparation for registration which was held on Wednesday.

Returning to help with the orientation were a number of upper classmen. Among them were Jim Johnson, Tommy Bayham, Miss Ann Miller, Miss Anne Carney Gary, Mrs. Dot Nolen, Miss Jane Hinton, Miss Suzanne McWilliams, Miss Jo Ann Hoffman, Miss Ernie Berry, and Miss Mary Dudley McClinton.

'53-'54 Applications Now Available For Deferment Tests

Applications for the November 19, 1953 and the April 22, 1954 administrations of the College Qualification Test are now available at Selective Service System local boards throughout the country.

Students who intend to take this test on either date should apply at once to the nearest Selective Service local board for an application and a bulletin of information.

Following instructions in the bulletin, the student should fill out his application and mail it immediately in the envelope provided to SELECTIVE SERVICE EXAMINING SECTION Educational Testing Service, P.O. Box 586, Princeton, New Jersey. Applications for the November 19 test must be postmarked no later than midnight, November 2, 1953.

Pre-Law Students Now Being Offered Law School Tests

The Law School Admission Test required of applicants for admission to a number of leading American law schools, will be given at more than 100 centers throughout the United States on the dates of November 14, 1953, February 26, April 10, and August 7, 1954.

A candidate must make a separate application for admission to each law school of his choice and should inquire of each whether it will take the Law School Admission Test and when. Since many law schools select prospective students during the spring preceding their entrance, candidates for admission to next year's classes are advised ordinarily to take either the November or the February test, if possible.

Applications and applications for the test should be obtained four to six weeks in advance of the desired testing date from Law School Admission Test, Educational Testing Service, P.O. Box 592, Princeton, N.J. Complete applications should be received at least ten days before the desired testing date in order to allow ETS time to complete necessary testing arrangements for each candidate.

Freshmen Recipe

Stop and take a deep breath, freshmen, registration and the long week of orientation tests are over, and you have become part of that national multitude know as college students.

You are on the threshold of a new and different part of your life, a part which you have never experienced before, but a part which in later years, you will look back on and remember with a great deal of pleasure — if you make it that way.

You should not look on college merely as a place for studies and work — nor merely as a place for play. A healthy cupful of both, well-mixed, can make a delicious menu for the year.

You have probably already been saying, "High school was never like this!" And, you're right. There is a big difference, and, wonderful one. Most of your life up to now has been directed by someone other than yourself. Now you have come face to face with major decisions which you must make on your own.

It's a wonderful feeling to know that at last you are really "standing on your own two feet!" It is also dangerous. Don't let that feeling of power go overboard. There will be labs and dances, books and football games, clubs and bull sessions, classes and parties, dates and excitement galore. Your first big decision will be learning to mix these activities so well that the flavor of neither will over-shadow the other.

If you learn to follow this good recipe your college experiences will turn out the socially-compotent and well-rounded individual you want to be.

Campus Silhouette

Like tall skyscrapers, the college buildings stand sparkling skyscrapers against a background of baby-blue sky and feathery clouds on the campus of Austin Peay State College. In the foreground of the enchantment is spread a group of trees reaching toward Heaven as if to form a ladder upward. The cloud forms a perfect mat for energetic students who desire to stretch out on the grass and study for that "English exam. Yes—here we find peace and contentment plus progressive advantages and modern ideas and materials. Present time.

Like any other college or university, it offers many projections into the future for those who wish to better themselves by attending college and preparing themselves for the future.

It widens the mind and broadens the views as if every student were a minute speck in a rotating device and every time it revolves it becomes wider and wider. It is like this at our Alma Mater.

With extensive research and laboratory study, we enrich our deficient brains with crops of healthy seeds and work toward cultivating and reaping bountiful crops. It is this period of planning and enriching that we are in at the present time.

A full and rich production means careful planning, arduous work and a desire to attain the goal that is suspended at the top step of the ladder of educational success. That is why each freshman should plan his or her curriculum with the most accurate skill with perfection in mind. It is the deciding and preparing that furnish the fuel for progressive study and work. It is here that each freshman needs help in making the decisions of his own betterment.

That is why we welcome Freshman to the Campus of A. P. S. C. where they will receive the aid so necessary to them at this time. So, to the Freshman — we welcome you and beg your confidence in seeking advice.

Then the silhouette of A. P. S. C. will shine brightly from day to day with these — The Future of America — knocking at the door.

Letters
To The Editor

At the beginning of every fall quarter, delightfully written letters are placed in the ALL STATE to the freshmen who are entering Austin Peay State College relating to them how happy everyone is to receive them and expressing the hope that they will grow to like the college as much as the college likes them.

Sincerely and earnestly we remind the freshmen, as well as ourselves, of the peace and delights of college life, then we sit back with a satisfied smile thinking we have completed our duty toward welcoming the newcomers.

We put on our best "toothpaste" smile and shout, "Glad to have you here," and then walk away with an old friend. Do we grasp a new arm and say, "Come along, I'd like you to meet some of the gang?" Some of us, yes, but too few! Too many of us are satisfied to let another fellow's "flowery words" of welcome do our job for us.

I believe that, like the poor old dove bird, we are progressing backwards when we compose write-ups and speeches of cordiality and then fail to follow them up with action.

The average "frosh" will grant a smile to your hollow words, but inside he is thinking, "Oh, yeah?" So come on, fellow upperclassmen, let's show this new batch of campuses that Austin Peay State College has hospitality plus in the best old Southern tradition.

An Upperclassman

Freshmen Welcomed
To Join AP Clubs

The campus of Austin Peay State College offers many varied and interesting clubs which are open to all freshmen. The following article gives many points of information about these clubs so that all Austin Peay State newcomers may have the necessary facts for planning to become members of some of these organizations.

The Student Council's purposes are to aid in internal administration of the college to give students actual practice in a democratic form of government and to develop in the students, self-discipline and social responsibility.

The officers are elected by the student body in a representative manner. The members of the Council, two representatives for each class, are elected by the student body.

The Student Council officers for this year are: Jim Johnson, president; Robert Lewis, vice-president; and Ann Miller, secretary-treasurer.

The ALL STATE, the campus newspaper, is a student publication under the direction of Charles M. Waters, director of journalism.

Everyone interested in journalistic work, circulation, photography, or cartooning, is encouraged to join this group. The staff of the ALL STATE, besides the barg work, has fun too. Last year the staff took the staff member took second prize in the Homecoming Parade.

Editing the annual, the other campus publication, is the FAREWELL and HAIL staff. As with the ALL STATE there is plenty of work, but there is social life also. Any student with creative ability, art, selling, or typing is urged to find out more about becoming a member of the annual staff.

Harned Hall, the girls' dormitory, has three active social clubs, Alpha, Beta, and Omega. These clubs are open to all girls who are residents of the dorm.

The college has four religious clubs. They are the Baptist Student Union, the Westminster Fellowship, the Methodist Student Movement and the Newman Club. All these clubs participate in programs, devotionals, hayrides, picnics, and other activities which offer Christian fellowship for their members.

The Men's Council and the Women's Council are composed of representatives from the dormitories who assist in making rules and regulations governing the dormitory residents.

The Future Teachers of America is the only professional organization on campus. It enrolls as members, students who are enrolled in elementary or secondary education.

The Austin Peay State College Concert Band and "A Cappella" Choir are open to all students who are interested in music. Membership in the band or choir also offers one credit per quarter.

Lambda Sigma Lambda is the name of the English Club. It was newly formed last year. Any student who is interested in literature, languages, speech, or dramatics is urged to join.

The Student Ministerial Association is comprised of the student ministers of the college. They sponsor Religious Emphasis Week and other such projects during the year.

For those who are interested in military service, there is the Cadet Club. Annually this club sponsors a math tournament open to high schools of the surrounding area.

The Veterans' Club was newly reorganized last year. All men of the college who hold an honorable discharge from the United States Armed Forces are eligible for membership.

Other campus clubs are: The Business Club, composed of majors in business administration and education; the Art Club, open to art students; the M.E.C. N.C. for music majors; the Science Club; the Home Economics Club; the International Relations Club; and the Industrial Arts Club.

By Durward Harris

I'm a country boy, and I guess if you want to press the point, I'm proud of it. Not that I stress the point by wearing rocks in my shoes (nor in my head for that matter), it's just that I get quite a case of nostalgia when I see a new crop of plow hands come in to Austin Peay every year. This year's group is not unlike any other group that I've had the opportunity to observe since 1950.

When you see a guy with a permanent sungrin walking with a long stride like he's crossing cornfields, don't laugh. Mac. There was a guy named Lincoln who was like that and he did all right for himself and a few million other people. Of course, you don't have to be born in a log cabin, or be President, or be assassinated to have it. All you do is take one kid, some hard work, a lot of freedom, some psychology applied at the right places with the flat of the hand, and a lot of country — mix well for a few years, and you've got it. It's nothing spectacular to look at. In fact, it's been laughed at by those who haven't been one of them. That's what that dick hasn't lived? Well, that's a matter of opinion. I'll grant you he wasn't at the last grand ball of the sultan. In the first place, he couldn't meet the required dress standards of the upper crust. Then on the other hand, he's got some ideas about that walking stuff some people call dancing. No, he hasn't lived it by living you mean drinking champagne from the ladies' slippers at 4 A.M. on the banks of the Seine. Those, hours are too late for anything except maybe fox-hunting. But the guy has lived, you can bet on that. Maybe he hasn't covered too much of this rugged world in doing it, but he's lived in a sense that many third ulcerated businessmen would give a cool million before taxes to live.

Steady, George has big feet. It's a result of going barfooted every summer until not so long ago. Besides the big feet, he had the pleasure of letting mud ooze through his toes and having his big toe in a bandage at least once in the time of his life. George has footed off the advantage of a quick change when the old swimming hole is reached, not to mention the fact that it added to the top speed in a footrace. Shinning up a sapling is twice as easy when the shoes are off, and if there's a squirrel up there some of the best apple in the neighborhood, what's a feller worrying about big feet for. After all that's years away. Corry? Maybe. But you'll find that he couldn't have it any other way even if he could change it.

Something else he wouldn't change, thank you, is the work that he has done, whether it be hoeing corn on the back forty or chopping wood in the back yard. What makes this part permanent in his fond memories? Well, it's that, you say. Maybe it's the feeling of happiness when the work is completed that makes it a fond memory. Or maybe it's the knowledge that Saturday night will come and there's always something at the county seat, even if it is a ten-year-old Western. Living? Maybe not in terms of a guy who habitates the Cafe de la Mer Fleur. But our guy with the French handle usually winds up with ulcers trying desperately to enjoy life. (He has such a good time it kills him, you know, that's a good one.) Nobody was ever tipped off, and if happiness is not for us, even in our sea flower cafe. You know, don't you, country boy? You know what a fishing trip by a gurgling stream will do for a feller or sitting in the twilight watching fireflies.

Toad, that Joe may be from the sticks, but look awhile before you judge. He's got stuff that you don't see on the surface, but in the showdown when things get tough he's your boy. So, glad to have you aboard country boy. We'll be seeing a lot of you from now till '57.

JUST HINTIN'

A poet once said about fall: "The melancholy days are come, the saddest of the year, Of wailing winds, and naked woods, and meadows brown and star."

All I can say is that guy must have never gone to college. I suppose some few of us are still sad from leaving home, but we'll get over it. All those who went to the freshman mixer last Monday night sure got a big dose of homesick medicine. Who could think about home with all that going on?

We might try to catch up on the whereabouts, marital status, etc., of a few of our friends from last year. On August 22, Wilmond Corbin became Mr. Bill Wallace. They are both former students. Henry Bell and Sarah Jane Daveport took the fatal step sometime this summer. August 27 was the big day for Marjorie Smith and Stanley Lane. Sue Thompson and Phil Krug walked down the aisle in August. It was a June wedding for Mary Kirkland and Don Simpson. The 21st of September was the day for Tom Morgan and Amy Yates. Weddings in the making for fall are Martha Hayes and Merwin, O. L., Bourne, Nancy Slate and Joe Minor, Dorothy Ann Keel and Dr. Curtis Paesani, Nancy Winters and Hugh Kayser.

We lost a few students to places other than Dan Cupid's business. Joe Tate and Jimmy Clardy transferred to U.T. Max Daugherty left us for Memphis State. Arthur Bond goes to Vanderbilt to do medical work. One hunk of man who will really be missed (by all the girls, that is) is Preston Blanchard. We hear he's going to Northwestern College in Louisiana. Uncle Sam caught up with Leon Vaughn. Sue Bryant is going to Scarritt in Nashville. She won a scholarship there.

(Editor's Note: Austin Peay State College has had a long and historical past. We, the editors, felt that the students of the college should know more about their Alma Mater, so the idea for this feature was born. We would also like to give credit to Dean F. G. Woodward's article which appeared in the CLARKSVILLE LEAF - CHRONICLE, May 19, 1953, which was used as reference material for a large portion of this article.)

Covington, Tenn. Sue Berry is an English teacher at White Bluff and Edna June Head is teaching in Guthrie, Ky.

We'll miss all these people but from the looks of the newcomers we won't have much time for sorrow. I've been very proud of myself this week. I can tell almost every freshman football player. There seems to be something vaguely different about them. Haven't learned all their names yet, but I understand Dale Province prefers to be called "Pats." Overheard in Cafeteria — "We've got new dishes—smaller!" Passing by — "Yes, that professor speaks to me. I haven't had any changes under him." In student center — "I'm overloading my schedule this quarter. I've got eight and one third hours." (How bout that Kulo?)

Have noticed a few couples already. Pat Murphy and Bob Agerton are continuing their school romance. Martha Ann Wright and Joe Kendrick from Belmont, N.C., seem happy to have each other around. We're sure a lot of the old standards will be around. Tom Rayburn and Anne Garry and Patty McCreynolds and John Hancock were seen on the campus during freshman week.

Might as well inform you boys that all these freshman girls aren't available. Barbara Sheppard and Shirley Garrett have fellows back home. Maybe their minds could be changed, though.

One final word. I thoroughly enjoyed the freshman mixer the other night. My vote goes for having more of these "Rock hops." Say one every two or three weeks. They aren't much trouble and they sure are fun. What's your opinion?

Gotta run now and get in on a game of "Pony express." In case you haven't learned that game yet, it's post-office with a little horsing around.

Beclaus He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

"Go jump in the lake," squaled Sheedy's maidmaid with baled breast, "You look simply canby with that messy hair. Better get your hooks into Wildroot Cream-Oil, America's favorite hair tonic. Keese hair combed with no trace of greasiness. Removes loose, ugly dead-dandruff. Relieves annoying dryness. Contains lanolin. Non-alcoholic. I shall never see you again until you start using it." Paul creased 39¢ and bought Wildroot Cream-Oil. Now he's the crab-apple of his eye. So what you waiting for? Hurry and get a bottle or handy tube at any solvent goods counter. And note: don't you visit your barber, ask for Wildroot Cream-Oil on your hair. Then you'll be the best catch on campus.

Red And White Drowns Buccaneers

The big RED and WHITE of Austin Peay opened the 1953 grid season with a 21 to 13 victory over the Buccaneers of East Tennessee State College at Johnson City. A driving rainstorm was the setting for the third gridiron meeting of the two schools, and two ready-to-go football teams supplied the action before a small crowd of drenched fans.

The GOVERNORS started the fireworks immediately after kicking off to the Buccaneers when "Red" Mitchell, Gov. halfback, plucked an East Tenn. pitchout from the O zone and loped across the goal line. This came with 39 seconds of the game gone. Bobby "Monk" Lewis converted and the Govs led 7-0. East Tenn. came roaring back to score with Buddy Sabulsky, bucking over from the one. Hal Morrison's attempt to convert failed and the Govs still held the lead. Bob Brown recovered an East Tenn. fumble on the Buc ten and Bobby Lewis scored from the two. The extra-point try by Lewis was blocked. The Buccaneers came back strong and tied the score late in the second canto via a 36 yard pass from Wilson to Hal Morrison. Morrison converted and the score was deadlocked 13-13.

The Govs took the lead once more in the third stanza when an East Tenn. back was caught in the end zone by the Big Red forward wall, and Austin Peay went ahead 16-13.

The Gov. final score came as the result of Ed Kulakowski's jarring tackle of a Buc ballcarrier behind the goal line. The blow caused the halfback to fumble and Oscar Odum fell for the tally. The conversion try was not good and the Govs led 21-13. The game ended with no further threat from the Buccaneers.

AP Governors Stomp Henderson in First Home Appearance

The Austin Peay Governors opened their home season Saturday night with a powerful 34-6 victory over the Henderson State College "Reddies" of Arkadelphia, Ark. The Governors took the opening kick off and without relinquishing the ball drove for a score with Johnny Martin carrying for the tally. Oscar Odum converted and the Govs led 7-0 with five minutes of the game gone. Henderson State roared and climaxed a sustained drive with a score. The attempt to convert failed and A.P. led 7-6. In the second quarter the Govs scored after a 63 yard sustained drive with Martin carrying it over. Bobby Lewis failed to convert and the score stood 13-6. A few plays later Ed Kulakowski blocked a Henderson kick and recovered the ball on the Henderson side. Bobby Lewis bucked across on the first play and again converted.

Three minutes were gone in the second half when Red Mitchell ran 75 brilliant yards on a punt return for the Govs fourth touchdown. Lewis converted. Charley Oakley scored the final A.P. touchdown in the fourth quarter on a quarterback sneak. Lewis kicked his third PAT.

TWICE AS MANY AWARDS THIS YEAR

MAKE $25!

WRITE A LUCKY STRIKE JINGLE

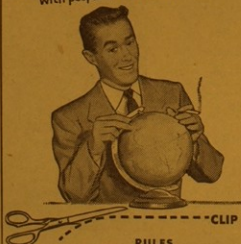

based on the fact that LUCKIES TASTE BETTER!*

From well-known towns to parts unknown,
Most any place you go—
It's Lucky Strike for better taste
With people in the know!

Easiest $25 you ever made. Sit right down and write a 4-line jingle based on the fact that Luckies taste better. That's all there is to it. More awards than ever before!

Read the jingles on this page. Write original ones just like them—or better! Write as many as you want. There's no limit to the number of awards you can receive. If we pick one of your jingles, we'll pay you $25 for the right to use it, together with your name, in Lucky Strike advertising.

Remember: Read all the rules and tips carefully. To be on the safe side, clip them out and keep them handy. Act now. Get started today.

RULES

1. Write your Lucky Strike jingle on a plain piece of paper or post card and send it to Happy-Go-Lucky, P.O. Box 47, New York 46, N.Y. Be sure that your name, address, college and class are included—and that they are legible.
2. Base your jingle on any qualities of Luckies. "Luckies taste better," is only one. (See "Tips.")
3. Every student of any college, university or post-graduate school may submit jingles.
4. You may submit as many jingles as you like. Remember, you are eligible to receive more than one $25 award.

*TIPS

To earn an award you are not limited to "Luckies taste better." Use any other sales points on Lucky Strike, such as the following:

Lucky Strike Means Fine Tobacco
Luckies taste cleaner, fresher, smoother
So round, so firm, so fully packed
So free and easy on the draw
Be Happy—Go Lucky
Buy Luckies by the carton
Luckies give you deep-down smoking enjoyment

My meals, folks say, are flavorful—
They're seasoned perfectly.
For better taste, it's Luckies, though.
That win the cheers—not me!
