

COMP required for seniors

Graduating seniors will be required this year to take an ACT College Outcomes Measurement Project (COMP) before receiving their diplomas. Failure to take the COMP may result in postponement of graduation.

The COMP is a measurement of students' ability to send and receive information, define and solve problems, identify the values of society and self, identify the institutions found in society, to understand the impact of technology on culture, and to understand the impact of art on society.

The test will be administered on three different dates. Seniors can take the test on April 7, 8, or 9 at either 9 a.m. or 1 p.m.

Dr. James Sawrey, Vice President for Academic Affairs, says that the test was implemented under instructions from the State Board of Regents.

"Last year Austin Peay, along with Columbia State Community College, was designated as a pilot program. Last year we attempted to use a random sample. It did not work—only 50 of the 150 randomly selected seniors showed up. This year we made the COMP mandatory," Sawrey said.

The Board of Regents Chancellor appointed a committee to assess general core programs and evaluate their effectiveness. The purpose was not to determine who should and who should not graduate. It simply evaluates the general core requirements," Sawrey said.

Sawrey cautioned that COMP scores will not affect the awarding of diplomas. He said that test scores will not be recorded on transcripts.

"The test is fun to take. We want to encourage students to do as good as possible—do good for old Austin Peay," Sawrey said.

Austin Peay Week set for next week

By Mary Kay Hinton

"Everybody's rolling," according to Brian Davis, coordinator of Austin Peay Week.

Davis and his associate, Amy Perry, are in charge of coordinating the week of April 8-14, which the Student Government Association and Mayor Ted Croser of Clarksville have christened "Austin Peay Week."

The week is an effort on the part of the SGA to bring the campus and community together, Davis stated.

The one blip spot for the week, Davis said, was the cancellation of Seniors Day. The Student Government has decided to postpone Seniors Day until next fall. The reasoning behind this movement included a time factor, and approaching seniors earlier in their last year of high school, Davis explained.

He added that a large-scale event was being planned in coordination with Mr. Dick Littleton, director of university school relations.

The Austin Peay Movie Festival has been affirmed and scheduled for Wednesday, April 8 from 11 a.m. until 11 p.m. The cost for admission will be 98 cents, with passes out allowed with the ticket stub.

Five movies will be shown continuously during this time period. The Graduate, The Producers, The Odd Couple, The Pink Panther Strikes Again and The Marx Brother Film Festival are the chosen films.

Also on the opening day of the Austin Peay Week, the Jazz Collegians will perform in the bowl between the university center and the library. Their concert is set for 11:30 a.m. until 1 p.m.

The Austin Peay Clarksville history exhibits will be displayed three times during Austin Peay Week. Their showing will be presented at the Trahern Building, the University Center and Two Rivers Mall. These exhibits were constructed by the Clarksville/Montgomery County Historical Society and the Phi Alpha Theta Historical Fraternity.

Four of the area high schools will participate in the inter-high school Olympics to be held Sunday, April 12 from 1 to 5 p.m. Clarksville, Northwest, Northeast and Montgomery Central High Schools will compete on the intramural field, with all proceeds going to Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Clarksville. This event has been coordinated by Jeff Shelton and Jerald Jerkins, Austin Peay students.

The debate to be held Tuesday, April 14 from 1:30 until 3 p.m. will include a serious topic and two humorous topics. Tim Miller, students, and adversaries will debate the mandatory housing issue for Austin Peay. The two humorous topics have not yet been selected. This event will be held in the university center.

Various radio stations will entertain the campus community during Austin Peay Week. WKVL will broadcast from campus on Wednesday, April 8 from 1 to 2 p.m. They will also be on hand for the inter-high school Olympics. During Carnival Day, KQ101 will transmit from the university from noon until 3 p.m.

Carnival day booths will be operated by the religious organizations on campus. The dunking machine, a favorite according to Davis, will be manned by the Wesley Foundation, with Rev. Fairy Caroland as the first victim.

Along with finals for the AP 500 tricycle race, the Austin Peay Band, under the direction of Jay Dawson, will perform during half-time of the Red and White Football game. "Mr. Dawson is very enthusiastic about appearing," Perry said.

There are still several projects in the planning stages, Davis said. A night at the Works for AP students is being considered and Perry is trying to organize a scavenger hunt for all on-campus organizations. Anyone interested in contributing to these events is asked to contact the SGA office.

Reagan shot

The president should be back to his normal physical routine within 2 1/2 to 3 months, according to Dr. Dennis O'Leary of George Washington University Hospital. "If he had to make a major decision tomorrow, he could," the doctor stated.

These comments ended an afternoon of tension for the American public in response to the shooting of President Ronald Reagan. The 70-year-old Reagan was shot with a .38 calibre handgun from approximately ten feet. The bullet hit his rib and then lodged into the President's lung. It was one of half a dozen shots fired.

According to the U.S. Secret Service, John W. Hinkley, Jr., is being held in connection with the incident. The Evergreen, Colo. man in his mid-twenties was arrested at the scene of the shooting, the Washington D.C. Hilton.

Cheerleaders tryout

Tryouts for 1981-82 APSU cheerleaders will be held on Thursday, April 30 at 3 p.m. in the Dunn Center. Practice sessions will be conducted in the Dunn Center beginning April 13. Cheerleaders must have a minimum 2.0 cumulative GPA, be able to lead cheers, and be enthusiastic about Austin Peay athletics! For more information, contact Denise Watson (7874), Elaine Buckner (6111) or Glenda Earwood (7451).

Pageant planned

Applications are now being accepted for the Annual Miss Tennessee World-America Pageant to be staged at the Holiday Inn-Briley Parkway in Nashville on August 1, 1981 at 7:30 p.m.

All girls interested please apply to Ms. Connie Clark Harrison, State Director, 108 Wallace Road T10, Nashville, Tennessee, 37211. Telephone (615) 833-5183.

Women's week off

Women's Week, which according to Director of Student Life Glenda Earwood, was originally intended to begin with the onset of Austin Peay Week, has been cancelled.

Earwood explained that lack of interest and participation were important factors in the decision to cancel the program. Adding to the cancellation decision were the demands of time and effort included in sponsorship of the program.

Council hosts banquet

The Austin Peay Panhellenic Council hosted the annual Panhellenic scholarship banquet last Sunday evening.

The 7:30 p.m. event honored Chi Omega for having the highest combined grade point average of the three panhellenic sororities on campus (Alpha Phi, Chi Omega, Kappa Delta).

Chi Omega's Laura White was named the outstanding Greek senior woman during the program.

Installation of officers also was part of the program. Sandy Raymer (Alpha Phi) was installed as president, Tammy Ward (Chi Omega) as vice-president, and Sonya may (Kappa Delta) was installed as secretary-treasurer.

Seniors face real world

Placement helps graduates

By Ken Knapp

About two months from now, when spring quarter is finished, most of Austin Peay's 613 seniors the one's graduating will be faced with the "real world."

It is the purpose of the Placement Services program to help graduates find a job in this "real world."

Douglas Barber, associate director of placement and university services, said that placement registration for this year's graduates of Austin Peay is past due.

"They (seniors planning to graduate) should start registering for placement the first quarter of their senior year," said Barber.

Barber explained that to register for placement, seniors must obtain a transcript of their grades and write a resume and bring them both to the Office of Placement Services, located at the Emerald Hills Alumni Center.

Seniors must also fill out a personal data sheet, similar to the personal data sheets distributed by employers of various companies, and an authorization form that allows the release of placement credentials.

These forms will be kept on file in the Placement Office with three reference forms.

"It is very important for seniors to bring their files over (to the placement office) if they want a job," Barber said. "It makes things go smoother if they have their files already here so I don't have to remind them."

Barber said that Placement Services has direct contact with employers. "We are like a referral service, but we are strictly for the students of Austin Peay. This makes us more efficient," he said.

Barber's statement is illustrated by the fact that 87 percent of the 1980 graduating class at Austin Peay located jobs within three months after commencement.

Barber said that there is no cut-off date for a graduate who may need a job.

"As long as you graduate from Austin Peay, you can come back any time and use the alumni services," Barber said.

"A lot of jobs are geared strictly for alumni for future employment that may need extra experience. A job may be open for someone who has two year's teaching experience, and we'll (Placement Services) try to contact an Austin Peay alumni to see if he's interested," he said.

Barber also said that recruiters from different companies come to Austin Peay looking for students.

"Companies from all over come to Austin Peay on Career Day," said Barber. "Career Day is open to all students, but is really geared toward the seniors."

Barber noted that many students find jobs by setting up interviews, and "I think seniors should know how easy it is to get an interview with a company."

Trahern may undergo changes

By Ronald T. Ogburn

Dr. Ivan Joe Filippo of the Speech and Theatre department is anxiously awaiting approval to initiate modifications in the Trahern Auditorium. The aforementioned modifications pertain to the acoustics of the auditorium.

When the Trahern Building was constructed seven years ago, plans were drawn to correct the acoustical deficiencies of the auditorium. Approximately $8,000 of the fund allocated for the building and maintenance was placed in capital outlay. The department had planned to supplement the cost of the necessary corrections.

However, the state did not know that plans had been made to augment the monies in capital outlay, and confiscated the $8,000.

In aid of the Theatre department, Dean William Ellis sent a letter to Mr. Norman Johnson, vice chancellor of facilities development, asking for permission and funding for the correction of the acoustics in the auditorium.

Filippo said he hoped Johnson would approve the proposal for the corrections needed in the auditorium. If Johnson gives his approval, approximately $11,000 will be needed to install "reflective and acoustical absorbent panels." The panels will be strategically mounted around the auditorium to minimize distractions from air ducts, as well as reflect and improve the audibility of speakers.

These approaches should take care of the problems, "but it would take $11,000 to do it," Dr. Filippo commented. This is only a guess, depending on labor," Filippa added.

"If Johnson say no, then we're back where we started, at the beginning. We've lived with the problem for seven years; it's been with us all along," he continued.

Johnson recently visited APSU to inspect the Trahern auditorium, which is employed for class use as well as theatrical productions. The department is awaiting his reply. If Johnson approved the modifications the work could begin as early as this spring. Filippa spoke with optimism in regard to Johnson's answer. "He didn't say yes, but he didn't say no."

Southern child discussed

Lecture series set

The Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Clarksville will sponsor a lecture series this month.

The series, funded by the Tennessee Committee for the Humanities, will center on the topic of "The Child, Coping with Change in the South: A Literary View."

Martha Pedigo, President of the Board of Directors for the group said that this project was chosen because of its application to the humanities and also because it is a matter of public concern.

The lecture-discussion series will begin on April 2 with the topic of "The Adolescent's View of the South." On April 9 "The Child and Human Relations" will be discussed and on April 16 the topic for discussion will be "Child-Adult Conflicts."

Professors from Austin Peay, headed by Dr. Charles Holt of the English Department, will conduct the lecture portions of the events. John Turner, assistant professor of English and Charles Waters, associate professor of English will also lecture during the series. The series will feature the works of authors such as William Faulkner, Flannery

O'Connor, Thomas Wolfe, and others.

"Each lecture will run approximately 45 minutes and will be held in the Public Library," Pedigo explained. She continued that a panel of four will respond to each lecture and reflect their own experiences concerning the topics.

"We hope to bring out universal thoughts and ideas and discuss how the writers have depicted the child going through change," Pedigo said.

The lecture-discussion series will begin each night at 7 p.m. Admission is free to the public.

Tragedy results on campus

Unauthorized firearms threaten all

A student brings a pistol into a fraternity house and accidentally kills himself. Police charge a student with possessing a shotgun. A dormitory resident is accused of shooting at fraternity pledges after an air-rifle is found in his room. All of these incidents occurred at Austin Peay in the last month.

In Austin Peay becoming an armed camp? University regulations prohibit the possession of firearms on campus. Some students are violating these regulations, however, and tragedy has already resulted.

Guns are symptoms, not causes. Whenever students find it necessary to go armed, there must be a reason. Is it for protection? While Austin Peay is certainly not insulated from the violence that is so pervasive in our society, the campus is still a relatively safe place.

Are students bringing guns to Austin Peay to go hunting or target practicing? If so they could leave their arms with the Public Safety department in accordance with regulations.

The All State does not know why students are bringing guns to school with them. It is a question that begs the imagination, and we do not have the answer.

What we do know is that this newspaper unequivocally condemns the unauthorized possession of firearms on campus. We expect the Public Safety department to enforce the gun prohibition. We urge any student keeping a firearm in his dorm room to take it home or dispose of it in a proper manner. We plead with everyone to quit going armed at this university.

One life has already been lost. All the regulations, prohibitions, and editorials in the world cannot alter that fact. Yet tragedy can be averted in the future if students will realize the stupidity and danger of illegally possessing firearms.

Housing issue is chaotic

Confusion, confusion. Confusion seems to reek from the office of housing on Austin Peay's campus.

The topic creating such a stir is mandatory housing. Wild rumors of required dormitory living are simply not true. In all probability, mandatory housing would affect no one who is on campus at the present time. Only freshmen, less than 21 years of age, who do not and will not be living in the Clarksville area with a legal guardian will be required to live on campus.

The All State finds the fuss rather amazing.

The number of students actually affected is minimal and these students are not the ones letting off steam. We must, however, admit that the principle of requiring an 18 year old to live in a certain place is a bit unsettling.

To use an extremely trite, but effective cliché, "If they're old enough to fight a war, surely they're old enough to decide where they want to live." Mandatory housing infringes on the rights of the affected students. These rights are infringed upon in almost all universities.

Letters policy

As in years past, The All State staff encourages student opinion on major or not major issues on campus.

We strongly urge any student or faculty member who wishes to express his opinions to write to the editor of The All State.

Letters to the editor should be no longer than 300 words. They MUST be signed and a phone number indicated for verification purposes. No letter will be published unless verified.

Letters may be mailed to The All State, Box 8334, Clarksville, TN 37040, or brought to room 104 Ellington Hall on campus. They must be received by 4 p.m. Thursday to appear in the following issue.

Letters to the editor—Charity walk-a-thon planned

Dear Editor:

On March 19th, the Tennessee Association of Christian Student Leaders (TACSL) began a statewide effort to bring to the attention of all Tennesseans, the senseless acts of bloodshed and fate of twenty murdered and two missing children in Atlanta. We consider Atlanta's problems America's problem, and our conscience should reflect such support to all affected directly or indirectly to the crisis in Atlanta.

In keeping with the principles of nonviolent social change as taught by Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., the Tennessee Association of Christian Student Leaders is calling on children, students and adults of good will to participate in the state Moratorium on Murder March Walk-A-Thon For Life in Clarksville, Tennessee, which will start at the Dunn Center at Austin Peay State University on May 3, 1981, at 1:00 p.m.

The purpose of the state Walk-A-Thon For Life is: 1) To demonstrate state support for the efforts made by local police and government officials to bring the epidemic to justice. 2) To raise funds for on-going investigation and for the families of the murdered children. 3) To develop a positive self-concept in youth through an assertive nonviolent event, breaking the "pressure cooker" syndrome which causes parents and children to direct their aggression inward and upon each other. The Tennessee Association of Christian Student Leaders and the State Walk-A-Thon For Life will provide a positive outlet for persons concerned with the plight of poor and neglected young people in America. 4) To bring to the attention of state officials and its concerned citizens to recognize the potential for violence in America and to candidly address the cause-effect of such behavior, and establishing resources to competently but realistically resolve crisis-oriented activities. 5) To provide an opportunity for concerned individuals, black, white, red, and yellow, to join together and demonstrate concern for this national crisis of violence directed toward our youth.

Citizens from around the state will be joining in the May 3rd State Walk-A-Thon For Life in Clarksville, Tennessee at the Dunn Center of Austin Peay at 1:00 p.m. Several National Figures have been invited to participate in this most memorable event.

TACSL also encourages participants to initiate fund-raising activities for the Atlanta APB Investigation Fund. A special transferable funds account has been established between Northern Bank of Tennessee (Tennessee's oldest bank in Clarksville) and the city of Atlanta in order for all Pledges to be deposited on May 3, 1981. We would also ask that green ribbons be worn (significant of "life") until all the murders have been solved, and the culprits brought to justice. Citizens are saddened by the deaths but also concerned about destruction that these murders are causing the living children of Atlanta, and this nation, both black and white. TACSL is calling upon the nation to join in "Saving the Youth of America."

Students to rate advisement

"Taking an unnecessary course? Among the many problems that face students at APSU, one that is frustrating, confusing and expensive is taking courses you don't need," Holly Price, chairperson of the Student Government Association faculty relations committee stated.

Her response was in explanation to a poll the SGA senate member has created to present to the student body.

"The faculty relations committee of SGA has decided to investigate student academic advisement. It seems that the guilt falls on the student as well as the faculty," she stated. But Price concluded that whether the problem is due to the students' irresponsibility or lack of proper faculty advisement is still a question to be fully answered.

The senior class secretary appealed to the students to take the poll seriously. "Please take the time to fill out the questions and maybe, together the students and faculty can come to a solution regarding advisement at Austin Peay," she said.

Return the survey to the SGA office or to Holly Price, APSU box 5728.

SGA takes action, Marable wants concern

By Cathy Allison

Approval of the Student Government Association executive election rules, the passage of two student fund packages, and the approval of two associate justices occupied the SGA senate last Thursday night.

The election rules set the election of executive officers for Wednesday, April 29. Petitions are to be available this Friday.

The regulation concerning the petitions led senator David Colvin to question that section of the rules based on his knowledge that petitions were already being circulated for some executive offices.

SGA Vice-President Tony Marable explained the premature petitions were the result of confusion concerning the election board and the dates for the election. He later stated those who obtained early petitions would in no way receive preferential treatment. He added the rules were concrete and should insure a smooth election.

Two basic grants totaling over $1000 were also approved. The first was in the amount of $353, which will serve to send Artie Manning, of the APSU Intramural Department, to the National Intramural Recreational Sports Association National Conference. The conference will focus on specific areas of student participation in intramural recreation.

This includes programming, student workers, security, special events, and innovations in directing recreational facilities with group and personal interactions. "It involved the total scope of intramurals and special events programming," Manning said.

The second proposal totaling $663 will be used to finance the cost of Austin Peay Week. The majority of the money, explained project director Senator Brian Davis, will finance the "Great Austin Peay Home Revival" (a series of movies), the AP 500 Tricycle Race, the Inner High School Olympics, Carnival Day and printing costs for posters and programs.

Mike McDaniel conducted presidential action for the ailing SGA President Duane McDowell. McDaniel announced the replacement of election board chairperson Bobby Jones with the appointment Stephanie McNichols. Jones was removed as chair for "inactivity" according to McDaniel.

The body approved without question the appointment of Jim Greer and Dederick Yeargin as associate justices on the student tribunal. Vice President Marable later criticized the senate for not questioning the new justices.

"I never like the body just to sit there and not ask questions. I feel the senate didn't show much concern or interest" (in the appointments), Marable stated. "They (the senate) are supposed to screen people. I don't think they acted responsibly. It doesn't sit too well," he continued.

He added his criticism in no way reflected on either

Greer or Yeargin. He said that they were good choices but the senate hadn't questioned them to find out if they were qualified.

The next SGA senate meeting will be tomorrow at 6:30 p.m. in room 313 of the University Center.

Housing

Perhaps Austin Peay must conform to the style of all other universities, but why must this university start with a debatable and negative issue?

Austin Peay Week includes a debate on the subject of mandatory housing on Tuesday, April 14 from 1:30 until 3 p.m. This debate will be held in the university center.

The All State encourages every student interested in this subject to attend the debate. For once, both sides of the issue will be presented at the same time. With proponents and opponents gathered together, perhaps the confusion and rumors will be resolved.

ODK initiates Robin Beard, expands circle

Robin Beard, a Tennessee Republican to the United States House of Representatives, will be initiated into the Austin Peay circle of Omicron Delta Kappa when the local circle sponsors the Tennessee/Kentucky Regional Leadership Conference on April 4.

In addition, according to Clater Mottinger, President of the local circle, 12 APSU undergraduates will also be initiated. Dr. Edward Irwin will be this year's faculty initiate.

The choice of Austin Peay as the conference sight is quite an honor for the young circle according to Mottinger. This is the first conference Austin Peay has hosted.

In addition to Beard, Mayor Ted Crozier, Judge William O. Beach, Ben Kimbro (vice-chairman of the Tennessee Valley Bancorp) and other state and local dignitaries are expected to attend the conference luncheon. Kimbro is also a 1980 alumni initiate of ODK, the president said.

"Leadership in the 80's" will be the theme of the conference, which has led Clarksville's city government to declare April 4 "Omicron Delta Kappa Conference Day."

The conference, which has been in the making for three months, will host approximately 30 people from colleges and universities in Tennessee and Kentucky. Plans began when the local chapter requested to host the meeting, Mottinger said.

Then, he explained, with the endorsement and assistance of Dr. Sid Bontwell (regional director) and the student regional director, APSU's circle made plans for and formulated the conference.

"Dr. Riggs, Dr. Boehme, and the whole administration have been most helpful," he stated. "I think this is a good opportunity for Austin Peay and the Austin Peay circle of ODK to become more recognized," Mottinger said.

He continued, "It (the conference) is a large undertaking for a young chapter... to host something like this takes a lot of work."

Mottinger explained the circle is moving ahead in other areas also. Member Duane McDowell has been selected to compete for the position of student regional director. The position spans a one year period and numbers in its duties assisting the regional director in visiting circles, to play a role in next year's national conference (which will be held at the University of Kentucky) and other tasks, Mottinger explained.

ODK is a national honor/leadership society open to juniors and seniors. A 3.0 GPA is required, as well as well-rounded participation in all phases of campus life. Advisors for the circle are Dr. Billy Thompson and Malcolm Glass.

Caps and gowns, invitations now available

David Collier, manager of the university center bookstore, has announced that graduation invitations and gowns can be picked up at the UC bookstore starting the first week of April.

"This year the gowns have come in earlier than before."

Contributing to the rumor is the fact that students do not know that they do not have to be fitted for gowns, Collier explained. The gowns are ordered in stock sizes—one size fits all. Collier went on to say that the reason graduation gowns are not sold until the first week of April is due to employee shortages. "We wait until the main thrust from registration is over because we can't handle the flow of students and seniors wanting to pick up their gowns with ease."

Responding to the rumor that caps and gowns would not arrive in time for the graduation ceremony Collier said, "I don't know how the rumor started. I have been here seven years and this is the first time this has happened." Collier added.

Miller rescues AP golf program

According to Leaf-Chronicle Sports Editor Tim Ghianni, the Austin Peay golf program "has apparently landed in the bunker."

In the March 24 issue, Ghianni pointed at the budget cuts which have plagued spring sports, most notably golf, as a contributing factor.

The Governor golf squad, which was scheduled to host the Governor Invitational last week and the Mid-South Intercollegiate in early April, is currently looking at only a two-tournament schedule for the remainder of the spring season.

Two years ago, under the tutelage of Sherwin Clift, the APSU golfers were crowned as OVC and Tennessee Intercollegiate Champions, as well as winning a few other tournaments en route to a Top Twenty ranking in Golf World magazine.

The fiery athletic director is quick to stifle the many rumors that Austin Peay's golf program has passed its zenith.

"We'll come up with the money to get the program going again," Miller assured. "I know it's at rock bottom now, but it won't stay that way. We've had too good of a program over the years," he said.

To date, Miller has entered the APSU squad in the April 16-18 Sewanee Intercollegiate in preparation for the OVC championship at the end of April. He is also in contact with Vanderbilt, David Lipscomb, and several other area schools in an effort to organize a "mini-tournament" before the Sewanee date. Miller is expected to dig into Governor's club funds to finance the spring season and has added, "we will have a golf program next year."

Whether that program will be supported with athletic grants remains to be seen, but one thing is for certain—Miller has "blasted the golf program out of the bunker"—at least for the time being.

The All State staff would like to welcome Harry Turpley as a sports reporter. Harry is a freshman from Hendersonville and a member of the APSU golf team.

Three tournament victories last season, to go along with high finishes against many of the top collegiate squads in the country, emphasized Austin Peay's prominence on a national level.

Today, the scholarship golfer at Austin Peay is an endangered species.

To add fuel to the fire, first year golf coach Steve Hylton formally submitted his letter of resignation to athletic director Johnny Miller last Thursday, citing personal reasons for his exit.

Enter "coach" Johnny Miller—one in the same.

The former Clarksville High grid coach will direct the Gobs in an interim role for the remainder of the season. He will shoulder a heavy economic burden, however.

"There's $155 left in recruiting money, $32.35 left in travel and $14.92 left in supplies," said Miller. "There's not much left," he underestimated.

Baseball team rolls, wins eight of 10 games

By Steve Harmon

"This was the most frustrating afternoon that I've had this season," quipped a solemn Joe Ellenberg after his Governor baseball team split a doubleheader with Bradley University of the Missouri Valley Conference last Monday afternoon at Governor Park.

"We were fortunate in salvaging a split," reasoned Ellenberg, as the veteran skipper made note of several missed signs and other such "cardinal sins" of baseball. Governor ace Keith Gilliam watched his record slip to 3-3 in the opener as the Spartanburg, South Carolina junior gave up three first inning runs en route to a 5-3 Peay setback.

APSU gained a split of the intersectional twinbill as Governor basketball-turned-baseball star Alvin Ingle picked up his second relief victory of the season, rescuing freshman right-hander Bobby Smith in a controversial last inning victory.

After Peay had pounded out a 5-1 cushion in the second inning, the Braves bats came alive as the visitors retaliated to gain a 7-4 advantage after freshman centerfield Greg Tubbs displayed a single into a triple, giving Bradley the edge.

However, Tubbs redeemed himself in the next inning as the rookie lashed a two-run double to right field. Switch-hitting third sacker Matt Arminio, batting from the right side, dropped a base hit over first base, driving home Tubbs and giving Peay a 9-7 lead in the last frame.

Bradley rallied to send Braves to second and third in the next inning, with only one out, where the men in blue suddenly became recognized. The reason—they called the game because of darkness.

The bottom line of the decision is that the team who was leading in the previous complete inning is the victor. In this case, Peay had rallied to a 9-7 lead at the end of six complete frames, clinching their eighth victory in the last 10 outings and running the Gobs overall record to 13-10.

Rounding out last week's action, Governor stopper Stacy Higgins overcame a 5-2 deficit to down Vanderbilt's Commodores last Tuesday afternoon at Governor Park. Austin Peay has an unblemished 2-0 mark against Southeastern Conference foes this season.

Wednesday, Peay dropped an 8-5 decision to NAIA power David Lipscomb College in Nashville.

APSU played host to George Williams College of Chicago on Thursday afternoon.

Senior Greg Richards blanked the visitors as the Gobs plated four runners en route to a 4-0 white-washing, Peay's first shutout of the young season.

In the nightcap, Matt Arminio blasted a home run over the right centerfield wall, knotting the score at 2-2 in the fourth inning.

Greg Tubbs followed with another four-bagger, giving Peay a 4-3 win. Alvin Ingle was awarded the victory in a relief role.

The Governors kicked off a successful weekend of baseball as they stole 8-4 and 17-8 decisions from visiting North Alabama on Friday.

Gene Baker and Jeff Hawn cracked round-trippers for the Gobs as David Brock notched the victory as the junior from Walters State went the distance.

Rusty Dyer collected three hits in the second game, one a homer, as Stacy Higgins was the winning pitcher.

Brown leads APSU

By Harry Tarpley

Austin Peay trackman Steve Brown led the Governors to an impressive fourth place finish in the decathlon event at the University of Florida relays on March 27 and 28.

Brown, a sophomore, finished with a personal high of 6,884 points just 166 points shy of the winning mark of 7,050.

Coach Joey Haines says that he believes that his decathlon standout has a good chance at a trip to the NCAA. Haines pointed out, "If Steve continues to improve at his present rate, he will be able to reach the NCAA even though it's his first year of the competition in the event.

The required points for the national meet are approximately 7,400, and the track mentor looks to the events of the shotput and the discus throw as the areas in which Brown needs the most improvement.

However, Coach Haines stresses the point that Brown is already "world class" in the remaining eight events.

The APSU sprinters also fared well at the relays. In the University II Division, the Governors, paced by freshmen William McElroy, Anselm Young, Prentiss McGlory and senior Billy Gunn, brought home a first place finish in the 440 meter relay with a time of 40.7 seconds.

This win was coupled by a second place finish in the sprint medley, in which Peay's time-one minute and 27.2 seconds—was edged out only by Southern University. The sprinters in the medley included freshmen William McElroy and Anselm Young, along with frosh LaRon Springer and senior Dennis Barrett.

The Govs' next event is at Louisville on April 3-4. Both the men's and women's teams will compete.

Herschel—the insurance man?

Athens, Ga. (CH)—Looks like Herschel Walker's stuck with football . . . for the time being, anyway.

The University of Georgia freshman football sensation won't be allowed to sell insurance on a commission basis while in college, according to a recent National Collegiate Athletic Association ruling.

Two Georgia alumni had offered to set Walker up in his own insurance agency. Georgia Football Coach Vince Dooley was unsure of the plan's legality, however, and sought an NCAA ruling.

As many expected, the ruling body of major college sports rejected the idea, saying it would be allowing Walker to cash in on the fame created by his college gridiron exploits and would thus amount to being paid to play.

The NCAA did say Walker could work for an insurance company on a strict salary basis, if he drew the same size paycheck as other employees performing similar duties.

Both Walker and the Georgia alumni, who had hoped to make their star running back enough money to make a $2 million Canadian Football League offer less attractive, did not seem very interested in the salary plan.

Sonny Harris added a home run to Peay's 15 hit attack. Friday afternoon, Peay knocked off OVC power Western Kentucky, 9-1, in Bowling Green.

Clayton Dahl scattered seven hits in what Ellensburg termed, "our most solid win of the season." Ralph Harper led the hit parade with a 2 for 3 afternoon and 3 RBI's.

Tomorrow night has been proclaimed "Fraternity Night" by Peay head coach Joe Ellensburg.

"The frat with the most brothers in attendance will receive an autographed baseball for their trophy case from the Governor team" joked Ellensburg.

The game against Tennessee State is slated for 7 p.m. at Clarksville High School.

Harper ripped out two hits and three runs belted in during Peay's 9-1 victory over Western Kentucky last Sunday, warranting his second consecutive Budweiser recognition.

Harper carries a 3.97 GPA as a chemistry major in the pre-dentistry program.

Govs split matches

By Brian Bowen

The Austin Peay men's and women's tennis team were in full swing this past week as the women lost to Memphis State, Mississippi University for Women and Vanderbilt. The men beat Western Kentucky 7 to 2, then lost to Murray State 5 to 4.

In the women's action, Sherry Harrison and Mary Squire defeated Vanderbilt's number one doubles team of Jan Maxey and Liz Jamieson 6-2, 3-6, 6-2. The team of Maxey and Jamieson are ranked top in the state in Division I doubles.

The women will be playing their biggest match of the season in Division II against UT-Martin at home this Thursday at 2 p.m.

The men's team trounced Western Kentucky on Friday, defeating the Hilltoppers 7 to 2.

However, the Govs were beaten by Murray State 5 to 4 at Murray. Austin Peay is picked to finish first and Murray State second in the conference.

Winners for Austin Peay were third seed Don Carbone, Brad Propper, John seeded fifth, and Hartmut Yungban, sixth seed. Propperjohn and Yungban combined to win the third seed in the doubles competition, also.

Coach Dennis Emery credited Murray State for having a "large vocal crowd." "It was a close match. All our guys played hard and hustled through the entire match," quoted Emery.

The Govs will play Murray State this Saturday at home. It will be the first OVC match for the Govs.

Defilippis and Puthoff still negotiating

By Steve Harmon

Savannah, Georgia native Sonny Defilippis doesn't seem to mind the frigid winters of northern Tennessee.

After negotiations with the Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League (CFL) were broken off, Defilippis has been contacted by another professional team—the Packers of chilly Green Bay, Wisconsin in the National Football League (NFL).

"Baby" Ray, a southern regional scout for Green Bay recently visited Clarksville in an effort to evaluate the talents of Defilippis and Peay's sure-handed receiver Steve Puthoff.

Ray had the OVC's Offensive Player of the Year, Defilippis, and All OVC wide out Puthoff run a number of 40 yard dashes before having Puthoff run some pass patterns for the rifle-armed Defilippis.

"It was just a basic workout," said Puthoff, a native Cincinnati. "He took our height and measurements and then watched us work out for about 20 minutes."

Currently, Puthoff is negotiating through an agent in Cincinnati, while Defilippis is being represented by a Clarksville attorney.

Regardless of any formal offers, both Defilippis and Puthoff have expressed an interest in trying out with a club as free agents.

Wherever the two Peay stars' professional aspirations may take them, one thing is for certain—playing in Municipal Stadium will be paradise when compared to the frozen tundra of Green Bay's Lambeau Field.

Peay inks Hoosier duo

By Steve Harmon

Ron Bargarze and his assistant coaches have announced the signings of two Jeffersonville (Ind.) High School stars to basketball grants-in-aid with Austin Peay.

Ron Lee, a 6-foot-4, 185-pounder and 5-foot-11, 170 pound teammate Phil Caldwell became the first signings of the recruiting season as Bargarze inked the Hoosiers on Sunday afternoon.

"Coaches (Howard) Jackson and (Walt) Ayers deserve the credit," said Bargarze, although the head coach had the honor of inking the recruits. Former Gov. cager Jerry Stephenson also was commended by Bargarze. Stephenson is a native of Jeffersonville and is currently working in the community action program there.

The two prepsters led Jeffersonville to a 22-2 record, before being upset early in the state tournament.

Caldwell directed the Jeffersonville offense while Lee used his 7-foot, 1/2 inch high jump ability to drop in 13 points and grab 11 rebounds per game.

Bargarze plans to use Lee as primarily a wing player and acknowledges that Lee will have a shot at a starting position right away.

"He can play just about any position on the court," Bargarze praised Lee.

Likewise, the scrappy Caldwell will be given a long hard look as a possible starter. With the loss of two-year starter Michael Shamick at the point position, the guys will need to find a sparkplug.

Bargarze was not the only Governor head coach interested in Lee's services. Peay track coach Joey Haines is drooling over the thought of having Lee and his 7-foot plus jumps tally points for the APSU track team. This spring, Lee will be a favorite in the high jump and the 110 meter hurdles at the state high school championship.

Bargarze is expected to sign three more recruits in the near future. Last week, the Peay director scouted the Florida AAU tryouts in search of two inside players to compliment Miami of Ohio transfer Lenny Manning, who will be eligible for the beginning of next season. Bargarze refers to Manning as "the only man who has a position locked up," based on the 6-foot-6 strongman's dominance in the APSU scrimmages.

As many as 14 recruits are expected to visit the Austin Peay campus this week. Bargarze is looking for a "sewer," particularly, along with two front line players.
