

'Club of the year' awards revealed

Officers serve on a planning committee.

Studying together at a BSU retreat.

BSU is 'best-all-around';

Phi Alpha Theta also cited

Choosing "the club of the year" is an event which, until this year, was performed by THE ALL STATE. This year, however, the officers of the ASB were asked to do it, since they worked more closely with the clubs and organizations than did the newspaper.

For willingness to aid the ASB in sponsoring campuswide projects, the ASB officers picked the following organizations to be recognized: the "A" Club, AP Playhouse, Circle K Club, Industrial Arts Club and the Panhellenic Council.

Phi Alpha Theta is recognized by the student body officers for its outstanding contributions to the academic atmosphere of the campus.

The club has performed such projects as sending nine packages of clothing to a number of earthquake-stricken families in Greece after its February earthquake; inviting such dignitaries as Stuart Wesson Rockwell, Gerard Gausman, Dr. Raphael Demos, Dr. Hendrick Pohris and Dr. Charles Delsol to speak at their various functions.

Phi Alpha Theta also took advantage of the many members of the history department who are authorities on various subjects to speak at their meetings. Among the speakers were Dr. Wentworth Morris, professors John T. A. Koumoudides, John H. Thwait and Dr. J. Milton Henry.

Commended for initiating projects which will hopefully become part of APSC's annual social program are: Circle K for Carminas, Panhellenic Council for Barfield and the "A" Club for "A Day."

Other projects commended by the ASB were the student directory published by Alpha Kappa Psi, the flagpole beautification carried out by the Veterans Club, the scholarships given to incoming freshmen and the student-faculty basketball game, both sponsored by the Circle K Club. The club chosen as the best-all-around club of the year is the BSU. The name of the BSU will (Continued on Page 8, Col. 1)

Ellis to head grad division

Dr. William Ellis, associate professor of biology, has been named director of the graduate division at APSC, effective September 1.

President Joe Morgan made the announcement yesterday. Dr. Ellis, a native of Robertson County, holds the B.S. and M.A. in Education degrees from APSC, and the Ph.D. from the University of Tennessee.

According to President Morgan, Dr. Ellis will continue to do some teaching in addition to the duties of his new position.

Married to the former Miss Agnes Burney, Dr. and Mrs. Ellis reside in Blount Hall, where Mrs. Ellis is dormitory supervisor.

The new director holds full membership in Sigma Xi, a national honorary science fraternity. He is also listed in Who's Who in American Education; a member of the executive of the Tennessee Academy of Science; regional director of the Tennessee Junior Academy of Science; and is to be listed in the 11th edition of American Men of Science.

Operation Support

Deason to receive project funds

Miss Mildred Deason, who plans to leave for Viet Nam this summer to develop the recreation program for American troops, who have something extra to take along with her.

That something extra is approximately $200, which is the remains of the Operation Support project of last fall quarter.

When the project was concluded, those working on the drive agreed to have this amount until spring quarter, possibly continuing the project then.

But spring quarter came quickly and no plans had been made for the use of this money. Since the purpose of the project was to benefit as directly as possible the American troops in Viet Nam, Miss Deason will use this money to help in the expansion of her recreation program.

Draft status forms available

All male students who are subject to Selective Service and who desire that their class ranks as of June 2 be forwarded to the Selective Service Board should pick up a printed form and submit a signed request before leaving the campus at the end of the quarter.

A supply of the printed forms, prepared in triplicate, may be found on a desk in the foyer of the Browning (Administration)

Building opposite the placement bulletin board.

Print data in all pertinent blanks, with ball point pen, and drop the set (all three sheets) in the slotted wooden box on the desk.

Austin Peay State College will follow the policy of releasing such pertinent data to the Selective Service Board only upon signed request of the students, so requests must be signed.

Today proclaimed 'James Larkin Day' by ASB

Letters hit publication's irresponsibility, blame ASB officers for election apathy

(Editor's Note: Freedom of the press does not preclude responsible journalism and a concern for good taste.)

We feel that the following letters adequately express the student indignation at the lack of this responsibility and good taste shown by the editors of the "Inclination" (incorporating the "Candidate" so much that it is no longer a candidate for anything but a companying editorial would seem superfluous.)

Dear Editor,

After having read the preposterous and ludicrous publication entitled "Inclination," I came to the following conclusion:

1. The authors of this publication represent a very small minority. They have banded together in an effort to voice their dissonance. I do not question their right to disagree with everyone, but I do question their methods.

Perhaps APCB could use another weekly publication besides THE ALL STATE. However, I hope the day never comes when such a publication as "The Inclination" exists as that second newspaper.

The contents of such a publication, which included some 100 grammatical and typographical errors, would not be the ideal type of publication to have around.

2. The biggest gripe that Mr. Tucker had was the fact that our student government does not work. Perhaps he would like to change the policy of the majority ruling the minority to read as the minority rules the majority.

This way he could then railroad his own bizarre ideas through the ASB. Since his ideas and suggestions have not been well received by the ASB Senate, he says that student government does not work.

The All State is the official newspaper of Austin Peay State College. It is published every Wednesday during the academic year, except for post-examination periods and holidays, under the general management of Sherwin Clift, director of public information. Photography is under the direction of Gerald Tenney, college photographer.

3. In reference to Mr. Holcomb's article on the "absurd and boring" Awards Day program, the only thing I found which was boring was the time spent in reading his article. How anyone has the nerve to cut down anyone for achievement is beyond me.

It seems to me that he owes those students an apology. It takes enormous amounts of time, energy and fortitude to achieve a 3.95 average. It is revealing that so much work is defaced by so few.

Phil Chadwick

In error

Dear Editor,

Under false pretenses, the names of Wanda Webb and Diane Harris were published in a newsletter, "Inclination," which was presented to the student body and faculty at the Awards Day assembly.

We were given the job of proofreading this publication but weren't afforded the opportunity. We were as appalled as anyone at the newsletter.

We were embarrassed by the errors in English and the choice of quoted literature. Also, we disagree with many ideas presented in the articles.

We advocate free student expression when this expression is a thoughtful analysis of campus issues, but we object to biased criticism which offers no alternatives for improvement.

Wanda Webb
Diane Harris

'Yellow' journalism

Dear Editor,

After reading through the mass-pelled words in the first issue of "Inclination," we find it very hard to decide whether to laugh, become depressed, or disregard it entirely.

The cover color certainly complements the "yellow journalism" contained therein.

Perhaps we are prejudiced, but we feel there is little evaluation which can apply to the publication. Mr. Tucker, we really feel sorry for you if you have no friends among the administration or faculty.

Most of the students do have faculty members and administrators who are also friends. We feel that, contrary to Mr. Tucker's allusions otherwise, the administration of the college should be carried on by capable, mature adults.

There is a distinct difference between political disagreeing and deliberately attacking someone who is an administrative policy. Let's not kid ourselves; more is gained from attacking than demanding.

There is a faction on our campus whose sole purpose seems to be to completely undermine every principle our school was founded on.

By the publication of "Inclination," it is easier than ever to see that there is a distinct difference in good criticism and common garbage. At least the editors could have ironed out the very roughest spots in their publication.

The first two pages were nothing new, but the article on Awards Day was a slap in the face to every person who spent four long, work-filled years earning a small symbolic award. How could it be so damaging to sit for one hour and see friends and classmates receive daily won rewards?

If the writer of that article really believed that all those people thought of during the past four years was the "glory" of Awards Day, he must be more naive than we thought.

As for the "rules from the hills" that we don't have to play by, it might be smart to realize that we are not playing at all. The administration "devours" very few who ask for something after having looked at it from all viewpoints.

False interpretation

Dear Editor,

In the publication that was recently published, the "Inclination," I would like to say this concerning my "bit part."

The article I wrote on page seven was the only article of which I had any connection, and the day of the publication the answer to my question was knowledgeably answered by reputable sources.

I would like to say to those who took an antagonistic stand against me because of the articles written, that I was in no way adjusted with them. Thank you very much.

Ray Radford

Ambivalent stand

Dear Editor,

Students, we are again faced with another publication of controversial nature. This publication, which consists of personal opinion, complains that events such as the Iris Ball and Valentine dances are what the Student Government bases its achievements.

Yet, the same person who wrote the article in the "Inclination" wrote one in THE ALL STATE praising Cariculus and the Iris Ball as being a large success.

The Iris Ball has been in progress longer than the present government officials. Thus, these officials don't base their responsibilities, or popularity, on these events. There have been annual events brought down to these leaders for the enjoyment of the college.

They ask if Awards Day is really necessary. To those who didn't receive awards probably not; but if you have an interest

EDITORIAL

In retrospect

June marks graduation and the end of the academic school year.

It is also the month in which the new editorial staff will take over.

So in this, our last issue of the 1965-66 school year, we, the editors of THE ALL STATE, would like to express our appreciation for being able to serve the campus community through our student newspaper.

The traditions and image of Austin Peay State are not considered just as contributions of single classes meted out in yearly blocks of time.

Rather, the college is continuing, blending memories and ideals together over the years.

It is for this reason that THE ALL STATE should serve the purposes of the college and not those of the individual editors. We hope we have been successful in following this ideal.

To the many people — students, faculty, administrators and alumni — who have shown an interest in helping us develop a genuine student newspaper, we extend a thank-you.

We want to thank also the many Clarksville merchants who have helped finance THE ALL STATE through their advertisements.

To the new editorial staff to be named later this week we extend the challenge of continuing to develop THE ALL STATE as an active and vital part of the college community.

in your school, you should like to see what type of people it is building to help lead in the world of tomorrow.

I can't help but wonder what kind of averages the people have who wrote the "Inclination" have.

An article was written on sex as the individual in Greenwich Village sees it. It is nice to know that these people think of sex. I have my opinion; I'm sure you have yours. But, we don't need quotes from articles to help us formulate that opinion.

I am for the freedom of the press, but why abuse the privilege?

In closing, I would like to say the college is here for the students, not the students for the college. If people feel so strongly against this college, I guess that we aren't the only fish in the sea of education.

Ralph W. Souders

ASB at fault

Dear Editor:

Blame for recent class election apathy lies with ASB officers largely because they failed to hold assemblies for campaign speeches, stating that it is customary for class officers to call them. Examining difficulties one class president (only one who tried) encountered, this custom is questionable.

The obvious meeting site is the auditorium. Permission must be obtained from Dr. Cowan, Mr. Mays and Miss Meacham. Mays said he would grant permission if Miss Meacham was in agreement. She could not be contacted and next day left with all ASB officers for a four-day vacation. Since there was no conflict with Mays and since Miss Meacham's activity calendar showed that date open, plans were made to hold the meeting in the auditorium Tuesday, the student center being the alternative meeting place. Confusion grew when ASB president Richardson, who returned ahead of the rest, stated that he thought class assemblies were not being allowed. Confusion was not cleared up until Monday (elections were Wednesday).

When Miss Meacham was consulted, it was discovered that the auditorium would be in use. The student center must be scheduled ahead of time. Miss Meacham's office, he was in conference and was not contacted until late evening—too late to plan and publicize a Tuesday assembly.

What was wrong? (1) There was poor communication between ASB officers as Richardson's statement shows; (2) if at least one ASB officer with authority had been contacted before; (3) plans to schedule events had remained here during the convention, a place could have been selected without the fatal delay; (3) plans to allow assemblies should have been announced earlier; (4) class officers should have been informed of available meeting places and times; and (5) valuable time was lost running from building to building asking various people's permission. The ASB officers should have authority to schedule such events in one stroke.

Lack of maturity

Dear Editor,

The ludicrous document distributed on campus May 18 serves to show the lack of intellectual and social maturity of the publishers.

While some of their complaints may have been in order, regardless of how foolishly presented, the final page of publication certainly offset any benefits that might have been gained in the previous pages.

Student opinion is necessary and good for all schools, but let us here at Austin Peay State pre-

Commencement

Tradition has its humor

by JIM PHILLIPS

Tradition comes to life again as the time for the Farewell and Hall and graduation ceremonies nears.

Until the class of 1965 graduated, the Farewell and Hall and graduation ceremonies were held on separate days. The Farewell and Hall ceremony was conducted in the bowl in front of the student center and the graduation ceremony in the gymnasium.

In 1963, the Farewell and Hall ceremony was moved to the stadium. The graduates marched into their assigned spots, each with his candle, to form the letters APSC.

In the early days of the college, when there were very few graduates, only the letters AP

The rush is on

Register now for summer school

Summer classes will begin June 10th; registration will commence June 9th. All students planning to enroll at APSC should take steps now to facilitate admission, thereby avoiding the usual last minute rush on Dean Bowman's office.

Between 12:40 and 12:50 p.m., each currently enrolled student may secure two copies of the IEM registration for summer of 1966 cards, and submit them to the admissions office for stamping. Admission to the registration room will be controlled by the alphabetic listing on the front cover of the summer schedule, except for seniors, who may pick up certification forms at the card bank desk, and certify 144 hours of credit as of June 1966. Then they will be allowed to register at 8 a.m.

At all convenient, persons registering for the second summer quarter only are requested to register June 9, 1966. Another registration period will be held from 7 to 7:50 a.m., Monday, July 18, for students unable to comply with the June 9th registration date.

Students are to secure a green application for admission form and a readmission permit for fall of 1966 card from the front desk in the admissions office. All students must file a new application for admission form for the fall quarter of 1966. Most departments are expanding their summer programs this year in order to prepare for next year's influx of students. Graduate courses are readily available with the exception of a few minor departments.

Whenver something is mentioned about Farewell and Hall, one of the first things that is said is, "It never rains on the day of Farewell and Hall."

One of our deans, in 1964, even went so far as to raise his arms toward the heavens and exclaim, "The gods are always with us." But—you guessed it—the week of graduation of 1964 is now referred to as "the week of the floods."

Even though Farewell and Hall is an established tradition at APSC, it never ceases to change, in some respect, every year.

This year the two ceremonies will be combined and will take place on June 3rd to climax final exam week for all and four years of hard work for many.

FLEETING GLANCE — For many seniors, the next few weeks will be their last opportunity to contemplate the campus. Farewell and Hall ceremonies will take place at 7:20 p.m. July 3, just preceding graduation. (Photo by Gerald Tenney)

1-day drive is for aid of student in need

James Larkin, an APSC student from McWen, was involved in a head-on collision several weeks ago.

In the accident, Larkin's arm and one leg were broken. These and other injuries will hospitalize him for at least three months.

He has no family and no means of financing the surgery, hospital fees and other expenses resulting from the accident.

Larkin is quite dependent and would deeply appreciate any remembrance.

THE ALL STATE would like to encourage all students to remember him with cards, letters or visits. May 26 will be his birthday and a good time to write him. His address is B-205, Vanderbilt Hospital, Nashville, Tenn.

The ASB will sponsor a fundraising campaign for Larkin, and has proclaimed today Jimmy Larkin Day.

Club corner

The Omega Club recognized the following newly elected officers at a second picnic held in Pecos Park last night: president, Mary Ellen Mason; vice-president, Martha Penick; secretary, Chloé Beasley; treasurer, Caroline Vint; historian, Cheryl Byrd; Panhellenic Council representatives, Bernice Aderholdt and Ann Davis.

Miss Doyce Ann Griffen, sponsor, was presented a gift for her services.

Quarterly reports and club officer results are overdue in the ASB office. These reports should be turned in immediately.

The Panhellenic Council had a dinner in honor of the Greek-letter club sponsors last Thursday at Charlie's Steak House. The advisers are Mrs. Agnes Ellis, Alpha-Beta; Mrs. Evelyn Blair, Delta; Miss Mary Chalmers, Epsilon; and Miss Doyce Ann Griffen, Omega sponsor.

Dean Mabel Meacham and Miss Griffen were presented gifts from the council. Miss Griffen is also the sponsor of the Panhellenic Council.

Election of officers for 1966-67 of Phi Mu Alpha, men's music fraternity, had placed Marion Crow in the presidency. Other officers are: Bob Hodges, vice-president; Joe McCaskey, secretary; Doug Buckner, treasurer; alumni secretary, Roger Bunch; Ed Thornton, warren.

The officers for 1966-67 of Epsilon Psi Tau (Industrial arts) are as follows: president, Bill Swartz; vice-president, Calvin Waller; and secretary-treasurer, Bob Bell.

With ASB Senators

Student court interviews

Today through Friday the student court, headed by Bill Arrington, will hold interviews with all ASB Representatives individually or in groups to establish ASB structure and procedure.

Theatre clan banquet marks final meeting

The applause has died, the curtains are closed, the props are put aside, but not the excitement of the season is reduced.

The AP Playhouse will hold a banquet tonight at the Plaza Restaurant at 7. The second annual MSA awards will be presented to reward the year's most valuable player, the year's most promising newcomer, the best actor and best actress.

The Playhouse will present its annual report and discuss activities for the coming year, including the choice of plays to be presented next season.

Officers for 1966-67 will be recognized. These are Richard Brown, president; Julia Leiford, vice-president; Edna Harrison, secretary-treasurer; Gary Baitrey, historian; Wanda Garrett and Hank McKinney, ASB representatives.

Alpha Psi Omega, the national initiate fraternity, will also initiate new members. These initiates, who have attained membership by work on various casts and production crews, are: Richard Brown, Edna Harrison, Hank McKinney, Billy St. John, Diane Hansler and Walter C. Grey.

plain ASB structure and procedure.

The main purpose of these meetings is to increase student body representation without increasing the size of the council. Representatives will receive notices in their mailboxes, indicating the hours of student court sessions, and are expected to comply.

All clubs must make the proper revisions to their respective constitutions as laid down by the ASB prior to the fall quarter, or they will be placed on probation.

At the last ASB meeting the student representatives unanimously voted to install a Parliamentarian who will be chosen by the ASB President with executive board approval. This action will severely tighten senate procedure of which all representatives should be aware.

Color films of band are shot for TV

WSM-TV made a color film and sound tape of APSC band last Wednesday.

This material will be used in the station's story on the APSC recording made for Kendor Music Publishing Co. The college band was selected as an outstanding college band in the United States and recorded three pieces to be used as advertising for the DeWolfe, N. Y. company.

Curriculum changes offer 2 new departments and majors

Several changes have been made in the curriculum since the publication of the 1966-67 college catalogue.

Effective July 9, any one of the following courses in philosophy may be substituted for English 203 or 202 in satisfying the core requirements for the B.A. or B.S. degree: Philosophy 201—Introduction to Philosophy; Philosophy 202—Logic; Philosophy 203—ethics. Donald M. Nicksa, associate professor of philosophy, will head the department of philosophy, which is a new addition to the curricula.

Physics prof has poem in May journal

Melburn R. Mayfield, chairman of the department of physics, has had an article published in "Physics Today," the monthly journal of the American Institute of Physics.

The title of the professor's work is "The Brownian Movement or What's a Heaven For?" or "The Anti-Brownian Movement or What's the Hell For?"

First written as a philosophical paper, the three page article consists mainly of a poem written in the style of "Locksley Hall." In the introduction, Mayfield claims that the work is a recently discovered manuscript of Robert Browning.

The poem is a collection of humorous thoughts and comments on particle physics and antimatter. The May issue of "Physics Today," in which it appears, is in the library.

TMTA selects 2 from APSC

Two members of the Austin Peay State College mathematics department were elected to offices in the Tennessee Mathematics Teachers Association at the annual meeting in Memphis on May 14.

Dr. William Stokes, mathematics department chairman, was elected president of the organization for the 1966-67 year. George L. Brotherton, assistant professor of mathematics at APSC, was named to a two-year term as editor of the TMTA Bulletin, the official publication of the organization.

Professor Brotherton has served for several years as APSC center chairman for the annual mathematics contest.

All of them

Physics majors receive assistantships

All of the senior physics majors have received graduate assistantships in their field. The

double major, having specialized also in mathematics.

Ezell, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ezell, Clarksville, has been awarded an assistantship at the University of Georgia. He is the president of Del Square Psi physics honor society and a member of a national physics honor society, Sigma Pi Sigma.

A member of the ASB Senate and president of the senior class, Ezell has served as an officer of the junior class and the Circle K. He was elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

A Woodrow Wilson Fellowship to the University of Florida has been awarded Miller, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis H. Miller, Cummingham.

Past treasurer and present secretary of Del Square Psi, he has been a member of Sigma Pi Sigma, Alpha Mu Gamma, foreign language honor society, and the Laurel Wreath Society.

Miller has held several scholarships including the Harvard physics scholarship (two years). He was recently chosen a member of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Phelps, recipient of an assistantship at the University of Arkansas Graduate Institute of Technology, is the son of Mrs. Pauline S. Phelps. A member of Del Square Psi, he has represented the society as a member of the ASB Senate.

Annual publication banquet acknowledges student effort

The annual publications banquet will be held before the end of spring quarter.

Those attending will be THE ALL STATE staff, Farewell & Hall, Tower, members of the newly formed Board of Publications, administrative officials and numerous guests.

It is hoped that the 1966 Farewell & Hall will arrive in time to be welcomed by those in attendance.

Awards will be given to staff members of the three official student publications by respective editors.

Staffs will be notified of the time and place of the banquet. Editor-in-chief of THE ALL STATE for her second year, Miss Mildred Woods of Nashville, praises the work of her staff highly.

"With Buster Yates as sports editor, Kaye Phillips as editorial page editor and Vicki Keith as managing editor, work on our publication has far surpassed that of the preceding year."

Both the Tower and the Farewell & Hall are expected to arrive from the publishers this week.

Bob Hammer, yearbook editor, has included many new features in this year's edition of the Farewell & Hall.

According to the editor of the Tower, Suzanne Swette, more manuscripts were received this year than ever before.

Marlene Hoffman will serve Sigma Alpha Iota, (Women's music fraternity), as president during the academic year of 1966-67. The position of vice-president will be held by Judy Sosa; corresponding secretary held by Linda Wood, recording secretary by Dee Claybrook; treasurer by Jeri Scofield; chaplain by Jill Thompson; and sergeant-at-arms by Phyllis Paday.

Student Wives Club's newly elected officers for 1966-67 include Betty Thayer, who will serve as president; Sue Carlee, as vice-president; Shirley Van Hooser, as secretary-treasurer; Patil Darrell, as reporter; June Miller, as hospitality chairman; independent council representatives are Sue Carlee and Shirley Van Hooser. Mrs. Robbie Morgan will continue in her sponsorship of the club.

Governette officers were elected recently for the academic year 1966-67. Those elected are: Carol Hamilton, president; Lorna Stewart, vice-president; Jan Wallace, secretary-treasurer; Beverly Brazzell and Susan Lawrence, ASB representative.

The Agriculture Club held its annual spring outing Saturday at Paris Landing, Kentucky Lake. The "ski party" was an all day affair for members of the club and their guests.

'A Day' is a day to remember

GIRLS WIN OUT — In the tug of war contest Monday, the girls beat the boys "hands down." This was only one event among many held at the second annual spring quarter "A Day."

A senior art show, featuring the work of Dianne Harris and Wanda Webb, will be on display until Friday from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. in the Truhen Art Gallery.

Tower manuscripts are available for those who submitted them and may be picked up this week from Malcolm S. Glass, advisor to the publication.

Phi Alpha Theta hosts Dr. Delzell at banquet

Dr. Charles Delzell, professor of history at Vanderbilt University, was the guest speaker Friday night at the Phi Alpha Theta banquet.

Prior to the address by Dr. Delzell, Charles Sims, chapter president, presented President Morgan with an honorary membership in the society and pledged the support, cooperation and understanding of the chapter in his difficult task of administering Austin Peay State College.

Dr. Wentworth S. Morris, founder and emeritus adviser of the Theta-Delta Chapter, cited Charles Sims as the junior who had contributed the most to the chapter during the academic year 1965-66 and presented him with an award.

The first annual award to a faculty member for outstanding contribution to the chapter was presented to John A. Koussoulikos, chapter adviser, and assistant professor of history.

group.

Volunteers are being signed in room 208, Ellington Hall and Harned Hall, room 210.

Savage had this to say about the governor's race. "The governor's college should most certainly help decide who will lead our state for the next four years. Mr. Ellington did an exceptionally fine job during his last term and I am sure enthusiasm of students such as these here at APSC will insure his re-election this term."

The group has plans for speeches, parties and mass campaigning for this summer. Volunteers are needed for their hometowns throughout the state for a seminar in campaign management.

Mail concerning the local organization should be mailed to box 4319, APSC.

Commenting on this appointment Ellington said, "With young men such as Jim Savage leading our volunteers, we can look forward to a successful campaign and a greater future for Tennessee and Tennesseeans."

3 scholarships awarded

Three scholarships have been awarded for the 1966-67 academic year to boys seeking a major in agriculture at Austin Peay State College.

Those receiving the scholarships awarded by the Springfield Production Credit Association are Bill Wyatt, Montgomery County; Leroy Collier, Humphries County; and Johnny Dandel, Dickson County.

Each year the Springfield Production Credit Association sponsors three $200 scholarships in beginning freshmen reared on farms, who plan to major in the field of agriculture at APSC. Each scholarship runs for a period of four years for a total value of $800.

The winners were chosen on the basis of their activities in agriculture programs while enrolled in high school, their high school averages, their determination to pursue an agriculture program and a statement on why they are interested in the field of agriculture.

Six APSC students now hold these scholarships. They are Phillip Butler, Lucian Connell, James Ireland, Charles Powers, Ronnie Swift and Jackie Waynick.

2 senior recitals scheduled

Two senior recitals have been scheduled for these last weeks of the quarter. These recitals are in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the bachelor of science degree in music education.

Martha Sue Freeman performed last Sunday at 3 p.m. A student of Dr. Charles H. Ball, Miss Freeman sang three groups of songs.

The first group included "Blissful Believers" by Bach and two old German songs arranged by Ralph Vaughn Williams. Four pieces by Shumann were next. These were "Der Nussbaum," "Aus dem Märchen der Rosen," "Deinagelicht" and "Der Sannmann."

English compositions concluded Miss Freeman's recital. She sang "Babalu" by Warlock, "Tired" and "Hands, Eyes and Heart" by Ralph Vaughn Williams and "When I Bring to You Colored Toys" by John Alden Carpenter.

The second recital, that of Dennis A. Noon, is planned for 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Clement auditorium. Noon, a clarinetist, studies under Dr. Aaron Schmidt.

Noon will play "Prelude and Fugue" by Sol B. Cohen and Darius Milhaud's "Sonatine." He will be assisted by Anne Glass, pianist.

Jeri Ann Scaffidi, flute, and Mickey Fisher, oboe, will join Noon in a trio by Beethoven Langens.

New sport on campus

Although they will not receive a letter for being outstanding performers, two boys in Ellington Hall have shown a remarkable degree of proficiency in a "sport" which is new to APSC and the OVC. In fact, these two boys, Mike Crosby and Al Hill, participate in a sport which usually is not classified as a sport. Hill and Crosby, as occupants of Ellington Hall know, seem to be experts in a sporting event known as mental telepathy. Actually, they are flawless enough to be termed All-OVC.

In past years, less athletic students have been active in such events as top-spinning, piling people in phone booths and similar affairs; however, Crosby and Hill, who are veterans of their racket, have accrued a following which is innumerable. Although they have practiced their sport since seventh grade when they were classmates at Greenwood Junior High School here in Clarksville, they have not had spectators until about a month ago.

The two Clarksvillians were not able to continue their hobby through high school because Hill's father, who is stationed at Ft. Campbell, was sent to Germany. While Hill was coming back to the states last August Crosby was going to Germany because his father was being transferred. Crosby came to APSC winter quarter after attending the University of Maryland in Germany during the fall. The trips to Europe and back accounted for Hill and Crosby calling each other immigrant. Now, Hill (Immigrant No. 1) and Crosby (Immigrant No. 2), have trouble studying or even sleeping in their rooms because of the people who want to see them use mental telepathy.

Austin Peay State's track team will converge on Ft. Campbell this Saturday for the final competition of the spring. The Governors will be entered in the Ft. Campbell Invitational for the fourth straight year.

Last year the scarlet and white finished seventh in a field of 14 as they accumulated 11 points. Southern Illinois won the affair with a team total of 75 1/2 points. Other top squads, such as Tennessee A&I, Murray State, Eastern Kentucky and the Southern California Striders, were entered in the competition last year.

Terry Schultz, one of three lettermen on this year's contingent, is the only returnee who placed in last year's event. Schultz, Mr. Do-everything from Beloit, Wis., took fifth place in the hurdles. Former Gov. grout Tom Hinkle and Risto Alavonani also captured points in the meet.

APSC's hopes will rest with Schultz, who competes in as many as five events, Jeff Fisher, the Gov's fine weighman, and the relay teams.

Fisher inks junior college standout

Bob Stinnett, one of the nation's top basketball junior college prospects, has signed an Ohio Valley Conference grant-in-aid with APSC.

Stinnett, 6-5, 170-pound guard from Cocoa, Fla., came to terms with the Governors' head coach, George Fisher, recently. Stinnett performed two years with Brevard Junior College, Cocoa, Fla.

"Of all the people we looked at this year, he was our No. 1 choice," Fisher says of Stinnett. "He had offers from 15 major colleges and 25 smaller colleges, and he narrowed the choice to West Virginia, Minnesota and APSC before signing with us," Fisher declares.

"Through a couple of our alumni we were able to get Bob to visit our campus. We feel very fortunate in being able to obtain his services," Fisher concludes. Stinnett, scored 1,005 points during his career at Brevard, averaging 19.9 points per outing. His team compiled 19-4 and 23-6 records during the two years. An All-stater at Cocoa High, Stinnett was named all-divisional, all-state and all-regional while at Brevard.

During his stay at the Florida junior college, Stinnett hit 56 per cent of his field goals, 91 per cent of his free throws and averaged 12 assists per contest.

Governettes selected for next fall

Thirty-one coeds have been selected as new Governettes for the coming year. These girls will join the returning members of the famed precision drill team.

The girls were chosen May 17 by Dr. Aaron Schmidt, director of bands. This season climaxed two days of drill and testing.

The new Governettes are: Kay Alcock, Janice Alali, Elaine Alcock, Rita Barrow, Cheryl Byrd, Nancy J. Crews, Harriette Croucher, Joanne Evans, Gigi

Giglio, Frances Godre, Jess Hollis, Harriet Huey, Melanie Johnston, Pat Ledwith, Patricia Ann Lynch, Jeri Ledbetter, Mary Ellen Mason, Mary Ann Meredith, Barbara McIntyre, Caroline McMahon, Beth Fowell.

Governors falter in OVC

A combination of misfortunes and extremely stiff opposition proved too much for APSC last weekend as the Governors could not manage to finish higher than sixth in the Ohio Valley Conference championships at Eastern Kentucky University.

The Gov linkmen finished in sixth place, three strokes out and completed their season by firing an aggregate total of 613 strokes to finish right behind Western Kentucky and East Tennessee, both of which fired team totals of 612. Eastern Kentucky fired 610 to nail down third place by a very narrow margin.

Middle Tennessee and Murray State were far ahead of the rest of the field as the two schools shot 591 and 593, respectively. The Blue Raiders were led by Bob Wolfe who shot a two-day total of 73-68-141 to top the individual award.

The tennis squad managed to score one point, good enough for seventh place, on the effort of Ronnie Rice. Rice won a singles match against John Dobbs of Tennessee Tech in the first round. Rice eventually lost to Andrew Cole of Murray.

On the cinders the Govs were not able to make the finals in any event.

Sports - a good year for the Governors!

THE BIG PICTURE — From September to May, through wins and losses, APSC's scarlet and white have made commendable performances in all sports. In all types of intercollegiate competition the Govs compiled a commendable record. Highlights included a second place finish in the OVC in football and first place in the Tennessee

Intercollegiate Golf Championship. On campus, intramurals were in the spotlight as powder puff football, boys' football, boys' and girls' basketball and volleyball and even canoe races took place. (Photos by Gerald Tenney)

OVC shows better in track than SEC

A comparison of the best times resulting in the Southeastern and Ohio Valley Conference meets shows that the OVC holds better times in nine of the 16 events which are held in both conferences.

The OVC has better time in all the dashes and the mile relay in the running events. The loop of which APSC is a member also has the best distances in four of seven field events.

The results:

	OVC	SEC
100 yard dash	9.4	9.5
220 yard dash	20.8	21.3
440 yard dash	47.4	47.7
880 yard dash	1:51.8	1:52.1
mile run	4:11.7	4:05.0
120 hurdles	14.2	13.4
440 hurdles	41.2	41.0
mile relay	3:12.0	3:14.5
javelin	189-6	220-11
broad jump	24-5 1/2	23-8 1/2
shot put	55-5 3/4	52-8 1/2
discus	156-6	154-0
pole vault	15-0	15-6
high jump	6-6	6-4

Aaron announces cage schedule

APSC athletic director Dave Aaron has announced a basketball schedule which will include 22 regular season games and the Ohio Valley Conference holiday tournament for the 1966-67 cage season.

The season begins December 1 when the cagers will entertain Bethel. The slate includes newcomers Bethel, Ballarmine and Carson-Newman to the scarlet and white opponents.

Their act, which has many persons wondering if it is rigged, consists of Hill telling Crosby, by "brain waves," numbers of cards, dates of different years and even words chosen at random out of any book.

The amazing thing is that there is no foolishness on either boy's part. Crosby has gone to the end of the hallway and told interested bystanders what Hill, who remains in his room, is thinking. To prove there is no trick Crosby has also gone into the closet and shut the door behind himself while Hill remained seated in his room.

The project for which the club is most commended is its drive to raise money for a new BSU building. All the money was collected by the members of the club. This $8,000 structure is scheduled for completion in the very near future.

The BSU has several members who participate in the Summer Missionaries Program, which they do for so pay. The club also participates in many student retreats as well as conventions, choir tours and conferences.

The club also sponsored campus-wide hayrides, pizza suppers and movies.

Jim Phillips recently stated concerning the function of the club, "Even though the BSU is not primarily a service club, we feel that our service to the campus is through the spiritual enrichment of the students, and through this, we hope to attain a better all-around student environment and consequently a better school."

The above awards and recognitions are based on the quarterly reports which were turned in to the ASB office.

Society donates volumes; is 2nd annual presentation

The Theta-Delta Chapter of Phi Alpha Theta presented the two-volume set, "A History of Civilization," second edition, by Arthur J. May, to the library. This is the second annual presentation to the library collection made by the chapter.

Last year Phi Alpha Theta took cognizance of the need for building the library collection and decided to assume as one of its projects the selection and presentation of books which will add to the quality of the collection in the area of history.

The number of titles presented each year varies because of the funds available and the cost of the titles selected. Each title given to the library carries a bookplate identifying the donor.

When accepting this gift to the library, Miss Givens, librarian, expressed her appreciation for this addition to the collection, Phi Alpha Theta and Del Square Psi are two of the campus organizations which annually present books to the library, she said.

"Projects such as these are valuable because they reflect group and individual interest in the library collection. No good academic library collection can be built without interest and support from friends to the college. History has proved that," stated Miss Givens.

Choir, brass to perform

Two APSC musical organizations, the choir and a brass ensemble, will present a combined spring concert Sunday at 4 p.m. in the Clement auditorium.

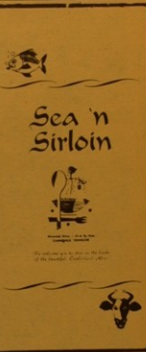

The brass ensemble, directed by Prof. Willis H. Hackman, is composed of Steve Ennis, Bob Hodges, John Hughes and Dave Christopher, trumpets; Jeff Wolf, Dick Weaver, trombones; and Jim Hughey, tuba.

This ensemble will open Sunday's performance with a 17th century intrada by Melchior Franck and a motet for antiphonal brass quartet, "Antiphony No. 1," by Heinrich Schutz.

"They That Sow in Tears," a cantata written by Johann Ludwig Bach, is the college choir's first number. Soloists will be Barbara Hendershot, Linda Wood, Beth Powell, George Cavannah, Don McCall, Roger Bunch and Ralph Mackenzie. Bill Carpenter, organ, and Theodore Atsalis, bassoon, are the instrumentalists.

The organization, under the direction of Dr. Charles H. Ball, will present six choral songs. These songs are poems of Shelley set to music by Ralph Vaughan Williams.

After the choir performs, the brass ensemble will complete the concert with two contemporary works, "Morning Music" by Richard Wurz and the three movements of Herbert Vicens's "Suite for Brass Instruments."
