A smooth machine composed of Binkley, Jones and Quarrels, set up and scored the only touchdown of the contest and gave Austin Peay their 6-0 win over Bethel.

With the ball on their own 10 yard line, Bethel dropped back in punt formation to let Harold Belen kick them out of another one of their many holes.

When the ball was snapped to the left side, the Governor line broke through like bullets going through tissue paper. Waldo Binkley blocked the kick and the ball bounded over the goal line. Both Quarrels and Jones were pursuing the ball until Belen decided he too would like to recover it. Had it been anywhere except in a football game, James Quarrels would have been convicted of manslaughter for the way he hit Belen in the form of a block. Jones then fell on the ball for the touchdown.

The remainder of the ball game consisted of Finley, Ruble, and Morton making lengthy gains only to lose ground after the officials got finished with the piskins.

Just before the end of the game, George Morton intercepted a Bethel pass on the 33 and demonstrated a beautiful rendition of how "Red" Grange used to do it.

Elaine and Bethel were impressive ground gainers for the Corporals. Finley and Ruble sparked the Governors' backfield while Binkley and Scott were the standouts in the line.

Dr. Michelson Speaks On British Crisis

Dr. Donald Michelson, professor of history at Austin Peay, told the student body of Great Britain's economic crisis in an address in Chapel Wednesday, October 22.

The speaker pointed out that Britain's economic condition can greatly affect that of the United States in the future. After World War II, the inflation in our country postponed British prosperity for some time, explained Dr. Michelson. Now America, through her lend lease and loans, has an investment in Britain, he pointed out.

The possible solution for British problems were given: longer work hours and less pay; food allowance reduced one-third; imports decreased about 40 per cent; exports and profits increased; reduction of armaments; and socialization of her industries. This program is being followed by the present British government, he indicated.

Dr. Michelson expressed his confidence that Britain would pull out of this crisis in true British tradition. "The British are a remarkable people," he declared. "They have always accomplished reforms in an orderly manner without violence. The progress made thus far in their economic struggle indicates that the crisis is not deep but is on the road to recovery. In this game of world economics," he said, "my money is on Britain."

Clarksville Joins Civic Music Association

Members of the Clarksville's newly formed Civic Music Association will hear nationally known vocalists, instrumentalists, and musical groups this winter.

Throughout the college tickets were sold last week, for the four programs which will be given. Dates and an announcement of location and time was given Saturday, November 1. With each ticket purchased, a ballot was marked indicating which types of concerts the person desired to hear.

It is hoped that a large enough group will purchase tickets in advance for the four programs, so that the program presented instead of only three. Students of APSOC and all people in this area are welcome. Clarksville's first Civic Music Season.

Campus Clubs Encourage Student Activity

Clubs for the development of many interests and skills have been organized on the Austin Peay campus. Possibly you are unaware of just what groups are organizing this winter. They need your talents, and you need the opportunity for training, friendship, and try they afford. Are you musically inclined? If the choir, led by Guy L. Hague, meets at 19:00 a.m. on Wednesday and Friday, The Band, sponsored by Charles S. Gary, practices at 4:00 p.m. Wednesday and Friday. Both groups meet in the music room.

If any Bernhards or Barrymores are enrolled this year, the Campus Players are interested. Membership is by election and try-out before the old membership. In case your talent is not known, observe the club, have had experience in editorial work and business management.

The Women's Athletic Association has been one of the most active clubs for the past few years. Various sports, such as volleyball, basketball, tennis, and badminton are participated in by W. A. A. members.

The Students Christian Union, a non-denominational group which emphasizes the activities of a campus Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., invites all college students to become affiliated with it.

Reaching a better understanding of international conditions and our place as world citizens is the aim of the International Relations Club. Supervised by the Social Science De-

J. NILE PEACHER

In the outdoor bowl back of the auditorium an election was held recently to choose the new vice-president of the student body. On Wednesday, October 15, each candidate and his campaign manager spoke to the A. P. S. C. electorate.

Walton Griffin was introduced by his manager, "Rock" Shedd. Griffin, who is a junior and a manager of the football team, pledged to do all he could toward the betterment of A. P. S. C. He is known by the large majority of the students as he is busy in upper class activities, veteran activities, and in caring for the team and their equipment. Griffin ended his few remarks by saying, "Your vote and influence will certainly be appreciated."

John L. Sullivan spoke next in favor of Nile Peacher, a junior, who is majoring in pre-law. Sullivan said, partments' Dr. D. D. Michelson, L. R. C. is sponsored by the Carnegie Endowment, which sends worthwhile books for the club's use.

All education students should be interested in the Future Teachers of America, the student branch of N. E. A. It's program is directed toward giving the future teachers contact with their national professional organization.

Another club for teachers-to-be is the Student Branch of Association for Childhood Education. Elementary teachers will be greatly aided by being in touch with this national group.

"Farewell and Hail," the college annual, is published each year by students and is issued near the end of spring quarter. Any of you who have had experience in editorial work and business management.

Saving the feature (?) attraction until the last, let me mention your scholastic paper, the "ALL-STATE." Persons interested in learning to write for this paper should have a look at English 207-208, News Paper Writing. If you did not take that course this fall, plan to begin this winter quarter.

These are your clubs. As a student of Austin Peay, it is your privilege and responsibility to add to the prestige and development of your school by working with fellow students and teachers in the organization that appeals to you most. It's fun too!

With the expectation that it will be the biggest ever, Austin Peay State College is planning to celebrate homecoming Saturday, November 15, as it has done for alumni from far and near. The initial event, a mammoth parade, involving the college band and floats sponsored by various school organizations will begin at 2:30 p.m., calling attention to the game that night to be played in the Municipal Stadium between the Governors and U. T. Junior College. Based on past performances, both teams have been rated about equal. An alumni banquet will be held in the cafeteria at 6:00 p.m., with Alumni President Judge N. A. Link presiding. Tickets will be on sale at one dollar a plate. A general invitation is being extended to all former members of the College whether they graduated or not. Graduate graduates of the 1948 Class are being given a special invitation. A dance will be given in the social room of Harned Hall following the game.

Many groups within the College are at work on plans for homecoming. The Alumni Committee, composed of Mr. Woodward, Mr. Leavelle, Miss Givens, Mrs. Ladd, and Mr. Moffitt, have charge of invitations and the banquet program. A larger committee, with Mr. Phillips as chairman, and composed of members of the Student Council, officers of the various classes, faculty sponsors, members of the Social Committee, managers of the football team, and captains of the football team, are at work on the details of the parade and the dance which follows the game.

Chairmen of all county units of the Alumni Association are being asked to urge a large attendance from their counties. All former students, graduates from the Senior College, graduates from the Junior College, and those who have ever attended the College at any time, are invited to all events of homecoming. Because the alumni office doesn't yet have the up-to-date address of all alumni, additional invitations will not be received by all who have attended the college. Chairmen of county units are being asked to issue invitations.

Students Hear Address On Fire Prevention

"Chaperone your cigarette, it ought not to go out alone," Leon McGilton, state agent for the American Insurance Company, told the students and faculty in an address on fire prevention Wednesday, October 8. He was introduced by Walter Smith, a local insurance agent. The speaker admonished that fire prevention should be a year-round, one only, but 82 weeks in the year. "Fires under control are of great service to man, but fires out of control, a great hazard," he declared. Three elements were shown to be essential for fire: heat, fuel, and oxygen. A good safety match, a fire alarm, a home, school, or other building is the presence of fire extinguisher, blanket, or anything which can be shut off one or more of these elements, the speaker pointed out.

Mr. McGilton informed the assembly that one of the 16,000 who perish annually by fire, 92 per cent of the casualties are due to carelessness. The majority of the forest fire hazards also result from not being careful, he said.

HERE AND THERE

The whole town is talking about the grand school spirit shown at the Bethel game. We believe we are safe in saying that the enthusiasm shown for the team and the school was greater than it has been at any time since the post war revival of sports at the College. Only about 100 students were able to make the trip, but this small crowd made more noise and did more cheering than the usual stadium full at the home games. Enthusiasm is contagious, so the people of Clarksville are properly exposed to it. Entire student body and the all football teams are not invincible, we hope that some of the people of Clarksville will be a little more appreciative of the efforts of the Governors.

Out at the Murfreesboro game the other night it was brought to our attention that the provisions for handling players injured during the game are sadly inadequate. Necessary facilities are on hand for treating minor injuries; but when a player is seriously hurt, too often he must lie in pain until someone goes the long distance to the nearest telephone and calls an ambulance. In the past, these delays have taken 30 to 40 minutes while hospital facilities are within reach in from five to ten minutes. Couldn't a telephone be installed at the stadium? Or better still, why not have an ambulance stand by during games? We feel that something can be done along this line. What do you think?

Congratulations to Nile Peacher on his election to the Student Council vice presidency. He is a sincere worker and is anxious to get more students interested in extra curricular activities. Let's get behind him and get some more activities started here on the campus. So little has happened of late that we of the All State staff have had trouble finding enough news to fill this small paper. Get busy and give us work to do. We love it.

Glancing through the calendar we were rather surprised to note that for Christmas holidays this year we are given only six school days. This short vacation does not compare favorably with the holiday period granted by other colleges in the surrounding territory. We believe the Christmas vacation should be at least two weeks in order to allow both faculty and students to spend some time at home with friends and relatives before returning to school. As it is at present, one of our state students spend most of their vacation traveling to and from their homes. We realize that schedules have already been made up for this year and that it is probably too late to change now, but let's hope for a change next year. Is that asking too much?

To find out what most of our readers like to read in the All State we conducted a poll of several students. The results while they confirmed our suspicions, were nevertheless a little disappointing. We believe college students should be a little more serious minded. The gossip page is fun and we hope everyone enjoys it, but we encourage you to read the editorial page. We do not say that the editorials are good, but it is their purpose to reflect the feelings and opinions of the student body. Editorials are the voice of the newspaper. We urge you to read them and to offer criticism and suggestions. Show some interest in the school and its activities. Let's hear from some of you.

CHAPEL IMPROVEMENTS

Last summer, the administration experimented with a new arrangement for chapel time. Instead of the two, one-half hour chapel meetings each week, one, one-hour meeting was held. This was considered a great improvement for two reasons. In the first place, students had to go to chapel only once a week, allowing them more time to use as they pleased. Second, with more time for chapel, the programs could be made much better.

Again this fall, the one hour, one time a week chapel is being held. You who complain about having to go once a week should look back to last year, when chapel was held twice a week, or even farther back to the "old days", when students were required to be present at chapel three times a week.

Another improvement is allowing each student to choose his chapel seat at the beginning of the quarter. Prior to last summer, each student was given a certain place to sit, whether he liked it or not.

The administration is doing all it can to make chapel pleasing, interesting and beneficial; the rest is up to the students. Without wholehearted support from everyone of you, without your interest and cooperation, even the best planned programs can not succeed.

APOLOGY

We of the All State regret that because of an error, Mr. Henry's name was omitted from the list of new teachers appearing in our first issue. We would like to take this opportunity to welcome Mr. Milton J. Henry, professor of history.

Will You Co-Operate?

The 1947-48 school year is already well underway here on the Austin Peay State College campus. As yet, we have had very few social functions, but is hoped that this will soon be remedied. Any club or organization hesitating to sponsor the first entertainment because it fears the humdrum which a failure will bring. However, the Greek letter clubs of Harned Hall have formed and each plans something for the near future, perhaps in the next few weeks.

Friendliness has always been an outstanding quality of Austin Peay students. Let us hope that the increased number of students and their different interests will not in any way affect that policy. Once we lose that spirit, we have lost a quality that makes for greatness; it cannot be replaced by growth or reason. There are many large, impersonal schools and there are many unhappy students in those schools also. Our school must not allow itself to become impersonal; it will grow, it is growing and it is up to us and to each succeeding group of students to recognize and appreciate that friendly attitude. The best way to preserve that attitude is not to form cliques, but to attend and contribute to all social affairs, and to know and speak to as many students as we can. College years are the best years of our lives, because during them we form lasting friendships—best ones we make friends is to be friendly yourself.

So when any class or club announces a dance or picnic, plan to go. Maybe you'll say, "Oh, I don't know anybody," or "Whom can I ask to go?" If everyone took that attitude, no one would go, so let's all of us be there. It's up to you—the student body!

Will you cooperate?

Inquiring Reporter

Which part of the ALL-STATE do you enjoy the most? The least?

Robert Stophel: Peay Pickers, Knight in Calvin Hall the most—state news the least.

Marthanne Anderson: Gossip the best, editorials the least.

Leslie Gower: Peay Pickers the best; sports the least.

Geneva Blackwell: Gossip the most; don't read anything else.

Lucy Chester: I enjoy the articles I write, of course.

Peggy Douglas: I'll leave it to your own dirty opinion!

Josephine Duke: Peay Pickers; I enjoy least the state news.

Nile Peacher: Why, I enjoy the whole paper!

Uncle Bill Sez

"If you can't go to college, go to Austin Peay."

When I was a senior in the local high school many years ago, the number of times that I heard that remark! When someone would ask, "Bill, where are you going to college?", I would tell them, "Austin Peay, it's a good school." They would invariably reply, "Oh well, if you can't go to college, go to Austin Peay." Well, being the old patient cuss that I am, I eventually thought to myself that one of these days these darn words will awaken from their deep slumber to the fact that Austin Peay is a good school and a valuable asset to this area.

School began this year and old Uncle Bill thought he'd heard something in the air underneath an oak tree near the place where the Castle Building used to stand say, "Uncle Bill, this is it. This is the year in which the students are going to be proud of Austin Peay. This is the year in which the students will not be ashamed to shout to the high heavens that they go to Austin Peay. This is the year in which school spirit will develop to its highest point..."

Uncle Bill has been prowling around the campus all this fall in hopes of reaching a realization of some of his dreams. This year is the beginning of that dream. The construction of the Science Building, the large and promising group of students, numbering close to 500, an up-and-coming athletic association, not to mention the addition of a group of faculty members who have already proven themselves to be a valuable asset to the College, are all adding to his hopes.

Well, Old Bill is an old man and has tasted disappointment many times; so all that he can do now is to keep that spark alive and know that one of these days folks will wake up and realize that Austin Peay is hard to beat as a college in which to obtain an education and to gain friendship with some of the best young people in the world.

Sully Says

CROOKED

Jesie James and his notorious brother, Frank, are now officiating football games in this section of the country. At least Austin Peay would have been better off if they had been calling the game at McKean, Tennessee not too many moons ago.

It's difficult to win a ball game when you gain fifteen yards and end up right where you began.

SACRED SOIL

Seemed as though any soil within thirty yards of the Bethel goal was sacred and was not to be trod on by the Governors. Every time the Governors got on the untouchable turf, the officials took over for a seventeen yard penalty. Yes, not fifteen but seventeen yards. I could hardly wait until I got home to look up the new rule change but I've yet to find any mis-cue that calls for such a penalty.

ROBBER

At one time during the game James Finley had every reason to jump up and down and scream: "I have been robbed." He had just made a nice gain and not one, but two whistles had blown when a Bethel man snatched the ball from Finley, and ran some fifty yards for what the officials first termed a touchdown. Since it seemed hopeless that Bethel would score, the officials held to their decision for many minutes before bringing the ball back and putting it in play, where it had been stolen.

Something should be done about this type officiating. Being robbed is one thing, but being railroaded is another.

Austin Peay, 33-0

Briggs Injures Kneecap

Middle Tennessee State College continued their win streak by downing Austin Peay 33-0 with an array of flashy backs.

Austin Peay received the opening kickoff on its own 16 yard line and advanced to the Raiders one yard line. With a first down on the one, fullback Tom Lincoln fumbled and Bain of the Raiders recovered.

Ten plays later the Raiders scored Burkitt to Brandon with Prince converting. Peay failed to threaten for the remainder of the test.

Again in the second quarter M. T. S. C. led by Burkitt, Nesbitt, and McCoy advanced to the Peay five where McCoy plunged for the second score. Prince again converted.

At the opening of the second half, Nesbitt and McCoy and this time aided by "Shorty" Adams moved from their own 36 to the Governors' three yard line. Nesbitt doing the honors this time, the score advanced to 20-0.

Nesbitt and Beck each contributed another touchdown and that was the score and the ball game.

Cresson Briggs, who had played an outstanding offensive game for the Governors, received an injured kneecap late in the game. The injury will keep Briggs out of the lineup for the remainder of the season.

Pat Martin, defensive center, was also injured. Martin suffered a slight concussion but is back in the lineup and raring to go.

Nile Peacher

"I've known Nile Peacher for a number of years as student and friend—he is well known by you and knows what you want done and how you want it done."

"Mr. President, faculty members, and students: I have six planks in my platform," Nile Peacher said to the assembled group. "First I pledge my close consideration of each proposal submitted to me, if I am elected, and to cooperate fully with our president, Frank Miller. My platform includes betterment of the student room, the increase and improvement of student activities, closer cooperation between students and faculty, and increase of support for football and basketball. These are the improvements and policies for which I will work."

Each student was then given a ballot on which were printed the names of the two candidates. A few minutes were provided for consideration of the speakers and marking of the secret ballot. The slips were folded and collected. Frank Miller and his assistants counted the votes for each candidate. Late Wednesday afternoon Austin Peay students looked with pride to the announcement of Joseph Nile Peacher as their duly elected representative. The votes received by Walton Griffin were 60; those received by Peacher, 152.

If you wish to appear agreeable in society you must consent to be taught many things which you already know.

Tests. Humph! They're just nuisances, that's all. And aren't teachers inconsiderate to give them in fact they kept everybody so busy that the dirt this time is rather light and crumbly.

Harned Hall is in an uproar every night after supper. There's always a mad rush to see if we hear Bach or "boogie." (Most of the time it's "boogie.") Often we hear the "billie" voices of PORKY ROBERTS, CARL TON STEVENS, TONY HOSTETTLER, and "SUNSET" CARSON. The harmony is usually furnished by EVA CLARK, NANCY DOWLEN, AMANDA MCCULLOUGH, and BARBARA MITCHEM with "TRIX" ROBERTS tickling the ivories.

At the same time this goes on inside, an exciting ping-pong game is raging outside. There we see "EDDIE" WATT, EARLINE WESTERMAN, EDITH HAMLET, and JEAN MARKHAM holding up the banner for the girls, while JAMES RICHARDSON, PAUL MOODY, and FRED WILEY try their hardest to win.

They tell us CHARLENE BOUNE has become very fond of Nashville. That CATIGNONY boy is cute, isn't he?

On Friday night all is quiet because HOMER BELL—or was it BEN FENDLEY? has come for MARTHA WEATHERSPOON and was that GEORGE MORTON going out with JACKIE FAIN? Speaking of JACKIE FAIN, doesn't it seem that she's playing the field? Saw her recently with LEO BABULA too. NICK SEBASTIAN and MARY LOU FELTS were alone.

CHRISTINE PRICE is dissatisfied with A. P. S. C. she wants to go to Waverly to cheer for the Waverly "Possums" and Coach Moore.

You should see RICHARD LEVENS eyes light up when JOAN CHERRY comes into view. He can't be blamed for that!

Wonder why "PIE WEE" SETTLERS never has a date anymore. Could it be that the "Arm" is slipping?

The TAYLOR-CHESTER affair still seems to be running smoothly, as does the HUNTER and QUARLES team.

There are a few people who should get wise to themselves. We mean the perpetual cafeteria line-cutters. They know who we mean, and they're fast becoming very unpopular. If it continues, names will be printed in this column next issue. Bridge playing is going full force. Saw MARGARET PAGE, GEORGE FISHER, EVELYN BELL, and LEON GARRETT enjoying a friendly game on the campus.

Chaperoning (?) MARTHA McDANIEL and BILLY ROYSTER were GINNY DALTON and J. D. JONES. But we couldn't decide who was chaperoning, though.

While PAT MARTIN was in the Infirmary, he had lots of company, but somehow he seemed more interested in LOUISA HEWITT than anyone else.

Still having a good time in the Dorm are CECILE LACY, "MONA" HAMILTON and ANNETTE POPE. Saw "GAB-GAB" MILES at McKay Hall and the other night shining up the old cow bell. A cute couple up at that game was SARAH HOWSER and HENDRICKS FOX.

"BUTCH" YOUNG really gets around, doesn't he?—PRICE, BUSH, and COWAN.

Just wanna remind you of the big Homecoming Day, Saturday, November 13. There'll be fun for all including a parade, banquet, dance, and a good football game with the Governors playing U. T. Junior College. Be here, kids, and help put this thing over.

See Ya soon.

BULLETIN

All socially minded students should begin getting out their party clothes. A notice from the Dean's office tells us that every organization on the campus is to plan some social function for this quarter.

This is a real chance for some of us to shine; so start thinking about the kind of entertainment you'd like to have and make social life at the college fun for everyone.

Attention Chapel Committee . . . This is a patriotic and democratic loving institution? Right? How many times were America and The Star Spangled Banner sung in chapel last year? Why, you can count the times on one hand. How many times was that spine tingling martial air of DIXIE sung? Now we must bow our heads in shame not one time was it . . . I admire Lincoln for one thing after the War Between the States . . .

In the White House the Victory Ball was in full swing and he stopped the band and told them to "play DIXIE boys. It's a part of us." Because without Dixie we could not have won the last three wars. The boys of Dixie were at San Juan Hill, the Argonne Forest and last of all the blood of Dixie's gallant sons stain the world.

... The verdict I rest with you. . . Stoppel the general do flunky of the campus seems to have made a first down with the Supply store but was thrown for a loss when Mary Lee refused to ride in a vehicular monstrosity which he sported on the campus, it was later learned that a future date has voiced her objections to the new rules of the girls' dorm. . . It is also rumored in official circles that Jewel Harper said that he got to first base with his girl, but she caught him stealing second.

We are still trying to work up a romance between E. C. Pullen and Martha Ellis. . . I believe Byron Phry did some literary research work recently, do I stand corrected? . . . Miss Meacham is worried about holding her History of the South
