Student concerns to be given priority in new Morgan plan

Student-oriented advancements have been rated as top priority here according to an outline submitted to the Commission for Coordination of Higher Education in the State of Tennessee by Dr. Joe Morgan, APSU president.

"It was only while reviewing the suggestions our faculty offered for the outline that I realized those categorized as being the most immediate for an advancing university were also those things which most directly affected the student," Morgan said in an interview Friday.

"Financial support is always uppermost in the thinking of those individuals directly involved in the administrative tasks of operating a university.

"For this reason, we are forced to place procedure changes in various categories of priority.

"We are indeed fortunate to have faculty members who belong to the school of thought which allows us to place student interest at the head of the list," Morgan continued.

The development and improvement of teaching and non-teaching faculty, procedures and methods is an example of the suggestions made to the commission.

The suggestion to increase library holdings and improve student personnel programs will mean greater opportunity for the individual.

The improved student personnel program has already begun to materialize in the form of various appointments over the last five months.

The reorganization of the university into two colleges, two schools and a division of applied arts and sciences falls under this category of improved student personnel programs.

Other improvements along these lines include a division in the Office of Admissions and Registrar.

These two functions, currently headed by Dean M. P. Bowman, will be included under the dean of students and the dean of faculties, respectively.

An admissions officer will head that faculty.

Dean Bowman will retire as Dean of Admissions and Registrar after this academic year.

Curricular changes include the strengthening of present undergraduate programs, expansion of the present programs and development of new programs.

The development of degree programs leading to the Ed.S and the Ed. D. (Doctor of Education) is also high on the priority list, as is the establishment of the schools of industrial and medical technology.

"There is no way of accurately predicting the productivity of students who graduate from Austin Peay State University, but if the suggestions made by our faculty members are approved by the commission and the state board of education, we will at least be in a position of offering one of the finest and diverse educations to our graduating classes.

McGee switches ASB machinery into gear

With what was probably the smoothest running freshman orientation in the Ohio Valley Conference, Austin Peay State University's Associated Student Body began putting into effect its aims and objectives for the 1968-69 school year.

"Student government is only as effective as the student body will allow it to be," said ASB President Butch McGee in an interview at prestime.

"I cannot stress too strongly the importance of student participation in on-campus activities," McGee continued.

"My office is open to students as much of the day as is possible and all of the officers join with me in encouraging students to voice their likes and dislikes so we can achieve a more successful student-oriented government."

At their first meeting of the year last week, the student senate acted on several measures in keeping with McGee's promise of effective student government.

Rules for this year homecoming festivities were set and several appointments were approved.

Wade Mitchell's appointment as treasurer and the appointment of Buster Yates as executive assistant were both approved as were the nomination for the student arbiter justices for the student tribunal.

Also receiving approval was the appointment of a student welfare committee whose first act will be to check into the possibility of extending dorm hours for women.

"During the elections for ASB officers last spring, the candidates for president presented various ideas in their platforms which I think are good for the student body."

"I have tried," McGee said, "to incorporate the best of these ideas into my projected program."

"Of course, laying the ground work for action on many of these issues requires time, and, consequently, much of what we

Paper's 39th year

Veteran staff mans weekly publication

THE ALL STATE begins its 39th year of publication with an experienced staff and with recognition by the National Newspaper Service as an A-plus honor-rated publication.

Walter Kikendall, a Clarksville native and a senior, will serve as editorial editor and handle the duties of advertising manager.

According to N.S. Patterson, National Newspaper Service director, A-plus is "special excellent" and only about five percent may attain the special top grade award. The rating was the second in a row for the newspaper.

In addition, THE ALL STATE has been selected for "All-Columbian" honors in the category of news stories.

Only four newspapers in the college-university division were granted this designation. The schools were selected by the Board of Judges of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association at Columbia University.

Other colleges and universities named in the news stories category were Santa Rosa Junior College, Santa Rosa, Calif.; San Bernardino Valley College, San Bernardino, Calif.; and Stephens College, Columbia, Mo.

"We are extremely proud of these awards," said Bibb, "but at the same time, we don't want to become so ratings-conscious as to lose sight of our true objective, which is to put together a newspaper which will speak for the students of Austin Peay State University."

"The staff will make every effort to do this through our editorials, with what we hope will be better campus-wide coverage by our reporters, and by encouraging the students to submit letters-to-the-editor for publication."

Registration notes

Regards of what freshman and transfer students may think, registration was complicated with a minimum of confusion. The most serious bottleneck involved the identification cards. The photographer's room and packet distribution room were unfortunately located at the same end of the same upstairs hallway in the Browning Building. Three tables nearly filled the hall where two lines of registrants were supposed to gather, and the confusion was compounded by the presence of typists, money changers and file clerks. The solution to this problem is obvious, and Dean of Students Charles N. Boehms has assured us that corrective measures will be taken.

The new type identification cards are improved in most ways, but have one serious defect. Improvements include the quality of the color photographs, the plastic protective coverings and the rapidity with which the cards were returned. For the first time in recent years, students were able to present ID cards for identification purposes even during the first few days after registration. The smaller photographs will, however, be much harder for gate keepers at campus events to identify as photographs of the card holders.

Also for the first time all university students, including part-time students, were required to have identification cards. Some part-time students may complain of the cost involved, but the elimination of red tape involved in cashing checks and borrowing books from the library is well worth the $1.25 fee. In addition the billfold-size identification card is much handier and easier to keep track of than the fee cards required of part-time students in the past.

We were glad to see the continued improvement of flow patterns and reduction in the number of cards and forms to be filled out. If a few minor improvements could now be made, then perhaps the whole process could be stabilized, and registrants would not be required to learn a new procedure each quarter.

Greetings from ASB office

To the students of Austin Peay State University:

I hope you have all survived the confusion of the last two weeks! This is my first opportunity to welcome all of you since school began.

During last year's election campaign many promises were made by all the candidates. This year it is my hope to make all these promises a reality. We have worked straight through the summer planning and shaping the forthcoming year around your desires.

I think you will notice, if you have not already, the tremendous enthusiasm of this year's ASB. We are going out all this year to bring you the best of everything. We hope you are as enthusiastic as we are!

I would like to remind you that ASB meetings are open to all students.

Sincerely,
John A. McGee
President, ASB

Policy on letters to the editor

We solicit letters from both students and faculty. Letters expressing opposition to our editorial stands will be appreciated for we recognize that dissent from established policy is prerequisite to any change. Letters expressing approval of our stands will also be appreciated for thereby we will know that our words are not falling on closed ears. Also, letters may comment on topics not previously the subject of editorials.

Letters should be founded on facts, not rumors, and should not be libelous, adulatory, malicious, obscene or vulgar. They should not ridicule any religious or minority groups, human infirmities or the like. They should be concise, of less than 250 words and typed double-spaced on a 60-space line. Letters which do not meet these standards may be withheld from publication or shortened at the editor's discretion. Letters must be submitted to the Public Information Office by 3 p.m. on Thursday in order to be published the following Wednesday.

All letters must be signed. An unsigned letter is usually a shout from a mob, too often of ill purpose or without reason. Occasionally special circumstances may warrant withholding of a name from publication upon signed request from the author.

If limitations of space prevent publication of all acceptable letters, copies of unprinted letters will be posted on the bulletin board outside the Public Information Office.

Register this week

Nov. 5, 1968, is the date for the election of President of the United States. This Saturday, Oct. 5, is the last date for Tennessee to register to vote in this election. The deadline has already passed in Kentucky.

This year across the nation young people have been expressing their political opinions both through and outside the established system. It seems to us that the traditional system is still potentially an effective vehicle for change. Tragically a very low percentage of these young people, who are so politically oriented, are registered to vote. The results of a Collegiate Civitan Club survey last year showed that APSU students, by approximately a 3-4-1 margin, favored lowering the voting age to 18. We would think that all those who felt this way and who are now of age would take the time to register.

We urge registration this week by all students who will be 21 years of age by November 5 and who are within commuting distance of their county seats.

Montgomery County residents who wish to register should visit the voter registration office in the courthouse. The office is at ground level on the Congress Street side of the building and is open daily from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

What of the future?

President Joe Morgan and Dean of Faculty William Ellis both made statements during the summer concerning the growth and development of Austin Peay State University over the next 12 years. Both statements contain much that is good, but in one area there seems to be a basic conflict.

Dr. Morgan's statement is practical, based upon the facts of life for a state-appointed institution which can not control its rate of growth. He speaks of needed expansion to meet an enrollment which may reach 8300 students by 1980. President Morgan says it will probably be necessary to increase class size and to use video tape to teach a large number of sections of the same subject. It may thus be necessary to begin a system of mass education at APSU.

Dr. Morgan also speaks of expansion of the graduate program. Because of the larger student-faculty ratio already mentioned, the temptation will be great to use graduate students in the teaching of a greater percentage of classes. This is an unfortunate possibility and could well mean a lowering of the quality of undergraduate education.

Dr. Ellis also says that such steps will be necessary, but he also speaks of the need to reach the whole community of students, the less than average student, the poorly motivated student. Especially among the Negro population, he says, may be found intelligent but educationally deprived students.

Dr. Ellis says that it is no longer enough to treat all students alike. It is necessary to give special help to the underprivileged. The remedial reading program will need to be expanded. It may be necessary to initiate preliminary courses in some areas.

Are these ideals reconcilable with the methods of mass education? Is it possible to increase the number of students per section and to begin the use of televised lectures, yet maintain the close faculty-student relationship that exists today and means so much to us?

Whatever the answer to these questions, an awesome task awaits the leaders of this university as they face the problems inherent in rapid expansion. President Morgan, Dean Ellis and the rest of the administration together with student leaders will be severely burdened. We have confidence in the leaders of this school. If these problems are solvable, we are certain that the present administration is capable of providing the strength, vigor and leadership.

On most other points we applaud the statements. According to Dr. Morgan, new programs will be established in business, industrial technology, nursing and other health sciences, social work, secretarial work, and vocational and technical training. Expansion is envisioned for the library and for the political science and philosophy departments.

Welcome from Dr. Morgan

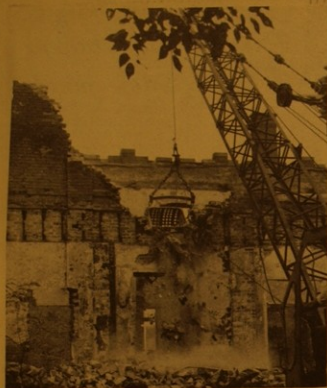

To: Students of Austin Peay State University

I extend to both the new and the returning students a hearty welcome. We have the largest and potentially the most capable student body in the history of the institution.

The faculty is the strongest ever assembled here. The physical facilities are more nearly adequate than at any time in the past.

I hope for you a most successful year.

Sincerely yours,
Joe Morgan
President

Destruction...

After being gutted by fire early this summer, the old student union building was labeled a loss. The structure was later demolished and cleared, bringing an end to one of the oldest buildings on campus.

...brings improvement.

With the hulk of the old student union building gone, the interior campus takes on a more spacious, uncluttered appearance. The view is facing north from behind the Clements Fine Arts Building, with the new University Center on the left and Harned Hall in the background.

For physics program

APSU receives 3-year grant

The first installment of a three-year, $162,000 federal grant for the preparation of high school teachers of physics has been received at Austin Peay State University, according to Dr. Joe Morgan, president.

The National Science Foundation informed Dr. Morgan that a grant of $60,830, funding for the first year, is being made immediately available for support of "Physics: The Program for Teachers."

The grant is under the direction of M.R. Mayfield, professor and chairman of the department of physics.

This pilot program supported by NSF will allow the addition of new faculty, staff, apparatus and facilities within the physics department for experimental work in secondary physics education.

New and entirely different from and existing physics program at other colleges and universities, the program was inaugurated at the outset of this quarter.

"Realizing the need and importance of the Program for Teachers, we had planned to begin on a limited scale regardless of additional funds," Dr. Morgan said. "We can now move rapidly and fully into the program with the assistance from the National Science Foundation."

Forms available for 'Who's Who'

Any graduating senior who thinks there is a remote possibility that he or she may qualify as a candidate for WHO'S WHO is urged to obtain a form from the front service counter of the Admissions Office.

The completed form must be returned to the office not later than 9 a.m. tomorrow.

The initial screening factor is that the undergraduate senior student have at least a 2.0 grade point average.

If in doubt, submit the data sheet anyway.

Foundation."

"There is an alarming shortage of qualified high school teachers throughout the United States," Mayfield said. "One of the major reasons for this shortage appears to be the fact that the colleges and universities have for many years required their prospective teachers to take the same courses that prospective research physicists must take."

"It is entirely obvious that a great deal of difference exists between the needs of a high school teacher and those of a research physicist; the APSU department of physics recognizes this difference and proposes to provide the prospective teacher with the knowledge and the skills which will qualify him for successful teaching in the best school system in the nation," Mayfield concluded.

The students who have elected the Program for Teachers will follow the same basic general curriculum, including the professional education courses, that all other prospective teachers follow. In addition they will take one year of calculus and one year of introductory physics as prerequisites for the special courses which comprise the Program for Teachers.

Courses added to the curriculum include Physics 430-431 (Current Courses in Physics), Physics 432-433 (Current Ideas in Physics) and Physics 434-435.

ALL'S NOT LOST—One bright spot in a thus far lackluster football season is featured twirler Stephanie Stevenson, a freshman from Hopkinsville, Ky. New campus telephone system will offer added services, reduced cost

Been wondering about that recently filled 18-inch wide ditch that seems to cross and re-cross the campus at a half-dozen different places?

Well, it's all part of the installation of a new campus telephone system known as CENTREX.

The system, which is being installed by South Central Bell, should be in service sometime within the next calendar year.

When in operation, CENTREX will offer dormitory students a considerably lower cost for telephone privileges than is now available.

According to APSU President Joe Morgan, "Seventy-five to 80 per cent of all dormitory rooms on campus will be furnished with telephones."

"The remainder of the rooms will not have telephones in them," he continued, "so that those students who do not want telephone service will not be forced to pay for it unnecessarily."

Although the fee has not definitely been set, it will be approximately $10 per quarter.

In addition to the extended phone service for resident students, the CENTREX system will handle all telephones on the APSU campus.

Symphony tickets go on sale today

Representatives of the Nashville Symphony Guild will be in the University Center today from 10 a.m. - 3 p.m. selling student season tickets at a special rate of $5.

At the same time, members of the faculty and staff may order season tickets at a discount of 12 1/2 per cent.

The season tickets cover seven pairs of concert - a Monday night series and a Tuesday night series.

All offices will be assigned new telephone numbers, and may be contacted from any on-campus phone by dialing only the last four digits of the number; it will be unnecessary to dial the prefix to the number.

However, off-campus numbers may be reached by dialing the number as usual.

A second floor will be added to part of the old library in the Browning Building to house the complex mechanical apparatus of CENTREX.

'68 yearbook earns rating of 'excellent'

The 1968 Farewell & Hall, APSU's yearbook, has been awarded the score of A in the 1968 annual contest of National School Yearbook Association for school and college yearbooks.

The A rating represents "excellent," according to N.S. Patterson, director of NSYA.

Critiques are done by expert judges and the service offers full suggestions for future improvements.

Carole Anne Sisco Smith edited the 1968 yearbook, while Fred Landis and Stephanie Fisher served as associate editor and advertising manager respectively.

Photography for the yearbook is under the supervision of Gerald L. Tenney, director of photographic services, and Sherwin Clift, director of public information, serves as adviser.

Post office personnel compile notice rules

The University Post Office has taken on the responsibility for placing all communications and notices in student post boxes.

In order for this service to be carried out, post office personnel have compiled the following rules:

(1) No notices will be placed in the boxes before 10 a.m. The primary function of the post office is the distribution of U.S. Mail. The area must be left clear for this function until 10 a.m. Monday through Friday. No notices will be distributed to boxes on Saturday.

(2) Each office, club or department will be responsible for having the correct box number on all communications.

(3) It is suggested that notices pertaining to meetings be brought to the post office at least 24 hours in advance. Most students check their boxes early in the day; therefore, club notices should go in the boxes the day before.

(4) Those waiting until the last minute should not expect immediate distribution. The post office personnel will cooperate in every way but notices will be placed in boxes on a first come first serve basis.

(5) Offices that have mail to be metered should not wait to bring notices for boxes with their mail. They can bring notices any time after 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Young Democrats to hold convention

The Tennessee State Young Democratic Club will hold its 1968 convention in Nashville's Andrew Jackson Hotel this Saturday.

The convention will be highlighted by an appearance of the Democratic vice-presidential candidate, Edmund Muskie, of Maine.

Also present will be the five Democratic congressmen of Tennessee.

A luncheon will be held for the delegates in the afternoon followed by a dinner that evening.

Those wishing to attend the convention may contact Jerry Gene Jordan, Room 114, Miller Hall.

Individual expenses for the group leaving Clarksville at 10 a.m. Saturday will be $10.

SOCK IT TO 'EM—The first week of the school year provided plenty of getting-acquainted social gatherings, and the registration dance provided a fine opportunity for steppin' out and showin' off a little bit, as this energetic couple demonstrates.

As part of series

'Othello' here in January

The APSU Committee on Visiting Speakers and Artists has slated its first in a series of lectures and performances to be given on campus during the 1968-69 school year.

Dr. Thomas W. Cowan, committee chairman, announced last week that the National Shakespearean Company of New York has been scheduled to present the Shakespearean drama, "Othello," at APSU on Jan. 18, 1969.

The play is expected to be educational and follows the committee's theme of education in programs.

Dr. Cowan also said that the committee will work in cooperation with the Clarksville Community Concert Association to provide students with a wide variety of entertainment.

Funds for this program will be taken from the committee's annual budget, thus, making the school and the student a part of the concert association's programs.

Other types of performances or lectures to be held at APSU as a part of the committee's schedule will be announced later.

No change for student deferments

The Tennessee State Selective Service Headquarters has informed the APSU Admissions Office that there are no basic changes in selective service deferments for undergraduate students.

Nov. 1 has again been set as the deadline for the mailing of authorized certificates of enrollment.

M.P. Bowman, dean of admissions, has informed THE ALL STATE of his intentions to mail all signed certificates in acceptable order by Oct. 23. This will enable most local boards to reclassify eligible registrants from 1-A to II-S by Nov. 10.

The state headquarters also advised Bowman that he could assure all 1-A classified students they need not be concerned of their classification provided they make normal educational progress and are enrolled as full-time students.

An example of "normal progress" is that a male student who graduated from high school in May or June of 1967 should have earned at least 45 quarter hours of credit by Sept. 1 of this year.

A 1966 high school graduate would need 90 hours, a 1965 graduate would need 135 hours and have definite plans to complete the requirements for his degree not later than August, 1969.

All selective service registrants are requested to decline making any individual requests to the Admissions Office with reference to mailing their certificate earlier than Oct. 23.

"However," Bowman added, "should a registrant receive an order to report for induction, he should bring the letter to my office immediately and appropriate data will be forwarded to the local board at once."

Christian Athletes meet tonight at 7

APSU's newly organized chapter of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes will have its first meeting tonight at 7 o'clock in the University Center.

Larry Negron is president of the group, which started activities last May, and George Fisher, head basketball coach, is the faculty adviser.

Alpha Kappa Psi plans rush period

With the onset of the new fall quarter, Alpha Kappa Psi, a professional business fraternity, is once again conducting its annual fall rush period.

Smokers will be held next Tuesday and Oct. 14. Pledge period will run from Oct. 21 until Nov. 22. All qualified male business majors will be further notified by mail.

The fraternity has two big dances planned for this quarter. The first will be Oct. 16 with the music being provided by the Feminine Complex. One week later a dance featuring the Lemonade Charade will be held.

Teacher exam dates announced

The National Teachers Examinations for prospective teachers will be administered at APSU on Nov. 9, according to Dr. George E. Ackley, Jr., chairman of the psychology department.

The deadline for applicants to submit their registrations for these tests to the Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N. J., is Oct. 18.

For any applications received from Oct. 19-25, there will be a $3 penalty fee charged for late registration.

Any applications received after Oct. 25 will not be processed for the individuals to take the test on Nov. 9, but will be scheduled to take the test on Feb. 1, 1969.

Bulletin of information describing registration procedures and containing registration forms may be obtained from the offices of Dr. Tom K. Savage, dean of the College of Education, and Dr. Ackley or directly from the National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, Box 911, Princeton, N.J. 08540.

At the one-day test session, a candidate may take the Common Examinations, which include tests in professional education and general education, and one of the thirteen Teaching Area Examinations which are designed to evaluate his understanding of the subject matter and methods applicable to the area he may be assigned to teach.

Each candidate will receive an admission ticket advising him of the exact location of the center to which he should report, Dr. Ackley advised.

Candidates for the Common Examinations will report at 8:30 a.m. on Nov. 9, and should finish at approximately 12:25 p.m., Ackley said.

The Teaching Area Examinations will begin at 1:30 p.m., and should finish at approximately 4:15 p.m.

SNEA calls meeting for tomorrow

The Student National Education Association (SNEA) has set its organizational meeting for tomorrow night at 7 o'clock in the lecture room of the Claxton Building.

SNEA is a pre-professional association for college and university students preparing to teach in all phases of education. It is an integral part of the National Education Association, a voluntary, independent and non-governmental professional association.

Local SNEA officers for this year are Thelma Boswell, president; Don Layton, vice-president; Willie Ann Edwards, secretary; and Dianne Sexton, treasurer.

Any interested student who can't attend the organizational meeting, but who desires to join is asked to contact either the president (Box 7058) or the secretary (Box 8271).

Debaters prepare for season

With a better than a 53 percent winning average in its initial season last year, APSU's debate squad has begun preparations for 1968-69.

"I always like to refer to last year's squad as extremely lucky," cautioned Miss Linda Jackson, instructor in the speech department and the team's coach.

"Considering that no one on the team had any experience in debate, I was especially pleased with the outcome of the season."

Three of the original squad members along with three persons participating in individual events have returned. Although the squad's plans are tentative pending the amount of money appropriated, nine tournaments are being scheduled. Last year APSU was represented at six tournaments.

Four of the 1968 - 69 tournaments will be attended in Tennessee and include: Memphis State University, MTSU, Carson-Newman College, and Freed-Hardman College.

Others include the Virginia

Intermont, Bristol, Va.; Murray State University, Kentucky; Bellemine College, Louisville, Ky.; Arkansas State University, Jonesboro; and the United States Penitentiary Tournament in Atlanta.

The squad will also host the Tennessee High School Speech and Drama League when it meets on the APSU campus in March.

"We are looking for at least 10 new squad members," Miss Jackson stressed.

Dean of students lists uses for new identification cards

All APSU students are required to have identification cards according to a release from Charles N. Boehms, Dean of Students.

Both full-time and part-time students will find the I.D. card a necessity when cashing checks anywhere on campus, transacting financial matters with the Business Office and for checking out materials from the library whether for use within (records, reserve books) and outside the building.

Full-time students will also use their I.D. card as an admission ticket to football games and other activities on campus.

The University Center games room will require the student to show his card in order for the student to use the equipment.

A lost I.D. card must be reported to the office of the Dean of Students immediately at which time a temporary card will be issued.

Replacement cards will be made each Tuesday morning from 9-11 in the Photographic Services Office, Browning 201.

"Appointments will be made only through the Dean of Students' Office," Boehms concluded.

2:30 P.M. BLUES—Anyone unlucky enough to be saddled with a late afternoon registration assignment found very little except closed courses, frustration and a good case of the blues. This coed hadn't broken down and started crying yet, but the list of closed courses on the big board was enough to bring tears.

Creative writers hope to form club

Interested in writing? There is now the possibility of a creative writing club being formed in the English department.

The club's fate will depend on the number of students who want to participate in this informal-type club. Interested students are urged to contact Malcolm Glass, associate professor of English.

McGee stressed attendance of the student body at the ASB meetings which are held every other Thursday beginning tomorrow evening at 7 p.m. in the University Center Conference Room.

There've been some changes made

Now that the dust has settled from the confusion of another fall registration (although the dust was a little late settling for a few of us who neglected to submit a readmission form last spring!), attention may be shifted to the year ahead. This could be labeled the "Year of Changes" as there are several changes which have either taken place or will in the near future.

One of the most important changes for this year is the addition of a freshman football team. Under the tutelage of head coach Jim Scroggins and assistants Andy Toombs and Pete Bush the frosh are hoping for a successful initial season in their five game schedule. The coaching staff should have some fine material to work with since these footballers are generally considered to be the finest group that APSU has ever recruited.

Toombs also serves as the track coach and intramural director, replacing the departed Max Mayer. Chuck Babcock, a star cross-country and track performer last year, assumes the coaching duties of the cross-country squad.

Along with the new school year comes new hope for a more successful sports program at APSU this year. As a whole the team records were far from impressive in the 1967-68 period. Only freshman basketball (11-4) and golf (15-2) were able to post winning records. The linkages of coach Sherwin Clift were third in the nation.

The other squads were composed mainly of underclassmen so improvement can be anticipated for that reason alone. In any event it should be an interesting year.

Moose calls OVC tilts

Eastern 28, APSU 7 — The Maroons, led by All-American candidate Jim Guice, will have more than enough power to down the hapless Gosh. Eastern is strong both offensively and defensively and should repeat as conference champions.

Western 21, ETSU 17 — For anyone who wants to pick an upset, East Tennessee would be a good choice. The Buccaneers pushed Eastern to the wire before falling 23-20. Western is a proven winner, however, and figures to come out on top.

Chattanooga 30, MTSU 14 — The Mocs are a versatile outfit, just ask Austin Peay head coach Bill Dupes. The passing and running of quarterback Roger Catrino will prove to be the undoing of the Blue Raiders.

Murray 27, Morehead 13 — Morehead lost its first game of the season which was no surprise. The ease with which Murray's Racers disposed of Tennessee Tech was. Bill Ferguson's charges will remain undefeated in league play.

Arkansas St. 21, TTU 6 — The Golden Eagles might just keep their perfect record (0-2) in tact. State beat the OVC school 15-7 last season and could make it two in a row.

Murray stops Gov frosh in opener

Utilizing a second-string varsity quarterback, the Murray State freshman footballers parlayed a flurry of APSU miscues into an early 17-0 lead and held on to beat the Governor rookies 24-6.

Matt Haug, sophomore field general for The Thoroughbreds, led MSU to two first quarter touchdowns and a 37-yard field goal before retiring to the sidelines.

Haug scored once himself and hit three of four pass attempts for 33 yards during the first period. Another rusty reserve, halfback James Brown, scored on a one-yard plunge after Murray had recovered the pigskin three feet from the APSU goal line.

After recovering from early jitters the Gov yearlings held the Racers in check except for a 88-yard run by MSU halfback George Petrush late in the contest.

Gov quarterback Terry Ray of Portland guided APSU on several sustained drives, only to see them interrupted by penalties. The sizzle and white were assessed 113 yards on 12 penalties while Murray had only 4 infractions for 52 yards.

Billy Locklear caught a Ray aerial for 23 yards and APSU's only score. Back Chip Danenbauer and Ed Bob Darby each had six tackles and four assists to spearhead the Governor defense.

Governors face title-minded Eastern in Saturday contest

Football will fill the air this Saturday when the Maroons of Eastern Kentucky meet APSU's fledgling Governors in an afternoon game at Municipal Stadium.

The Kentuckians are currently ranked second in the nation in small college football polls so will naturally be heavy favorites.

One reason for Eastern's recently-acquired football dominance is the "Guice-Roy" combination.

Little All-American candidate Jim Guice comprises half the winning combination while Ohio Valley Conference Coach of the Year Roy Kidd is the other.

The 6-6, 185-pound Guice is generally considered the league's premier signal caller and with considerable justification.

Although injured for part of last year, Guice found time to launch 221 aerial attempts and connect on 127 for a hefty 57.5 completion percentage.

He also managed to ring the TD bell 13 times during the year.

Reserve quarterback Tim Speaks proved to be adequate when called upon. Playing the whole game against APSU, he led Eastern to a 37-0 rout of the Gosh.

Operating behind one of the finest offensive lines in the conference, a crop of running backs provide enough lanes to keep opposing defenses honest.

Still, the Maroons strong suit is passing.

So for the current season the Easterners have added yet another quarterback to their squad. He's Bill March, a junior, GOVS ON DEFENSE—Three APSU defenders gang up to stop Topper reserve fullback Jim Schmidt after a short gain. The defense wasn't too effective on every play as Western amassed 369 yards rushing for the afternoon.

Western Hilltoppers smash young APSU contingent in 42-0 victory

by BILLY BIGGER

Charging through the line with what seemed like reckless abandon, the Western Kentucky Hilltoppers annihilated Austin Peay State 42-0 Saturday in Bowling Green, Ky.

Playing before 10,000 fans in their new L. T. Smith Stadium, Western rolled up 19 points in the first quarter to put the game out of reach.

Not only did the WKU offense look awesome in rolling up 488 yards total offense, but its defense completely halted the Gosh attack.

For instance: Last week's total offense leader Rodney Collins put the ball in the air only five times, completed one and had two intercepted while carrying the ball six times for a minus 50 yards.

Dennis Dyer came off the bench and did somewhat better. He hit six of 13 with only one interception; however, he lost 49 yards in ten carries.

Ronnie Hackney, APSU's leading rusher, amassed 36 yards in 13 carries. Harold Roberts, who snared 12 passes last week, latched on to only five aerials for 77 yards.

Time after time the Hilltoppers were in the APSU backfield barely after the ball carriers could get their hands on the ball.

The Western offense didn't provide all the scoring. The Hilltoppers scored a safety, returned the free kick after the safety for 68 yards and a touchdown and recovered a mis-handled punt in the endzone for yet another TD.

Moore Out

Dickey Moore, Western's All-American Candidate sat out the game in street clothes but was hardly missed. Isaac Brown picked up 117 yards in 16 carries, Johnny Vance added 80 yards in six carries while Bill Rose collected 59 yards in four attempts.

There were a couple of bright spots for the Gosh during the long evening. Defensive back Howell Platt picked off two passes to establish a career record for pass interceptions with 12.

who threw five passes in the opening game of the year, a 63-0 massacre of Hillsdale (Mich.).

To the disappointment of other OVC schools, March completed all five for 94 yards and one six-pointer.

Defensively EKV is nearly as overwhelming, as it attested by the fact that Hillsdale could manage but 63 set yards for the entire game. Junior Teddy Taylor, a '67 all-OVC pick, anchors the defensive line from his middle guard slot.

Right defensive halfback Bob Webb lends savvy to the secondary defense. The 6-0 junior swiped five enemy passes a year ago to pace Eastern in that statistic.

Other Eastern stars include John Tazel, who played in the shadow of All-American Aaron Mohr last year, and Fred Troike, who delights in placing opposing defensive linemen flat on their backs.

The Governors of coach Bill Dupes hope to combine with the pass-catch combination of Rodney Collins and Harold (Red) Roberts. Collins is an efficient passer when given time to throw while Roberts seems to attract the football like flies to honey.

The APSU defense is anchored by Doug Pittenger at middle guard. Other Gov stickouts include Donny Holland, a freshman who is currently pacing the team in individual tackles, interception artist Howell Platt, defensive safety Larry Negron, tackle Tom McDonald and end Jim Ogden.

Joining Collins in the backfield will likely be Ronnie Simpson and Ronnie Fuqua at the halfback positions while dependable Ronnie Hackney will open at fullback.

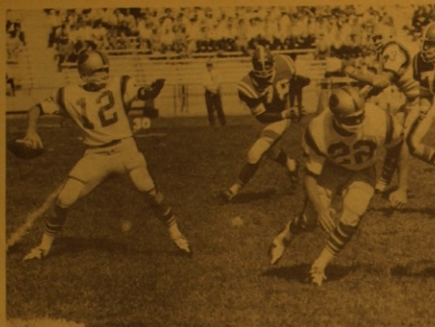

A shakeup in the offensive line could be in the making as it was not overly impressive in last week's loss to powerful Western.

...complete a pass to Harold Roberts for 10 yards and a first down, just ahead of getting hit by onrushing tackle Terry Thompson of the Hilltoppers.

Chattanooga drops Govs 41-13 in opening game

In the opening game of the year for each squad, Chattanooga's highly-touted Moccasins caught fire early in the game to topple the rebuilding Governors of Austin Peay State by a 41-13 score.

Chattanooga wasted little time in putting points on the scoreboard, tallying seven points the first time they gained possession of the football.

After only four minutes and 17 seconds of the game, nifty quarterback Roger Catarino capped a 61-yard drive with a 14-yard TD jaunt.

Before the game was over, Catarino had amassed two touchdowns passing and one rushing and finished as the evening's leading rusher.

Two bright spots for APSU were the passing of Rodney Collins and the receiving of Harold (Red) Roberts.

Collins hit on 15 of 31 aerial attempts for 222 yards and two touchdowns. His total offense total of 225 yards led the Ohio Valley Conference that week.

Roberts hauled in 12 of those passes for 155 yards and one tally. His yardage total eclipsed the old total of 124 set by Ronnie Parson against Southeast Missouri in 1966.

Harriers face tough Western

By DON CUSTER

The APSU cross-country team, taking on one of the toughest schedules in the school's history, meets Western Kentucky tomorrow.

Chuck Babcock, a former runner at APSU, is the new coach and has put new life into the young sport at the university.

Babcock, who ran cross-country and track four years, is finishing his B.S. requirements. He will enter graduate school in the spring.

"We have eight duel meets, one invitational and two conference meets this fall and the boys are real anxious to get started. We have been working twice-a-day and are making good progress," Babcock indicated.

The Govs have been running at 6 a.m. and again at 2:30 p.m. each day. "We run seven miles in the morning and work on both speed and distance in the afternoon sessions," Babcock stated.

Eight runners reported to Babcock when the fall quarter began and five of them are experienced in university division cross-country.

"Billy Sundy and Ron Morton have shown the best effort and time thus far," Babcock said.

"The freshmen will come along in time but it is difficult for them to make the change from high school to college running," he added.

The boys who comprise the

Intramural football slated for fall quarter agenda

Tired of sitting around on Monday and Thursday night? Then why not play football—or watch.

According to intramural director Andy Toombs, there will be intramural football this fall for the first time in several years. During winter there are both boys' and girls' intramural basketball and now football has been added to the agenda during the fall.

There are a few rules concerning organization of the teams. To be eligible the roster must have at least eight players but with a maximum of 15. Also, there is an entrance fee of $2.

Anyone interested may receive further information by going to room 320, Cross Hall from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. or sept. 18, Ball Village at 12 noon.

Team rosters may also be submitted to the above rooms. The games will be of the touch or flag variety and should prove to be interesting for all.

Collins back home at quarterback

By BILL FARMER

Grid fans of Austin Peay State have at least one bright spot in the Governor line-up this year.

Rodney Collins, the Governors' fine converted quarterback, has the potential to lead APSU's finest offense in some years.

Playing at quarterback in his high school days, Rodney was Class "B" Back of the Year in Hawkinsville, Ga. During his senior year, he made the Georgia AHSU squad.

Coming to Clarksville, Collins found that head coach Bill Dupes had a veritable army of quarterbacks.

The gifted Georgian griddier was therefore switched to halfback and defensive safety duties for his first two years.

RODNEY COLLINS

Commenting on the change, Collins said:

"While playing safety, I learned to think like a safety man; this is a big help now that I am back at quarterback."

Last spring brought graduation and the departure of veteran signal caller Carl Williams. This left a seemingly unfillable void in the Governor backfield.

Collins was again called on to make a major position change. Rodney proved beyond a doubt that he could handle the job.

In the season's opener with the University of Chattanooga, Collins led the offense to a total of 320 yards, personally accounting for 225 yards. Although APSU took the short end of the 41-13 decision, Rodney's total offense proved to be the best in the Ohio Valley Conference that week.

Collins believes that the youthful squad will improve on a weekly basis:

"We are going to win some ball games this year, and we should experience game-to-game progress."

"The team that wins the OVC this year will have to beat Eastern. They are a tough as Chattanooga," ventures the health and physical education major.

"Student support goes as the team goes; when we have a winning team, it's there; but when we lose a couple of games, it sometimes gives out. We had real good support against Chattanooga."

Rodney and his pretty young wife, Wanda, reside in APSU's new married student complex, Emerald Hills. His interest include all sports—football, basketball and baseball in particular.

Upon graduation, Rodney plans to pursue a coaching career.
