Austin Peay State College

VOLUME 35 — NO. 4 CLARKSVILLE, TENNESSEE, TUESDAY, OCT. 20, 1964

Enrollment at all-time high

A record enrollment of 2,389 students entered Austin Peay State College this fall according to figures released from M. P. Bowman, dean of admissions.

The enrollment figures, confirmed by President Joe Morgan, represent an increase of 161 students over last year's fall enrollment of 2,228.

A review of the enrollment figures from the preceding four years shows a definite trend of continuing steady growth at APSC.

The first of two progress tests to be given this quarter will be given Thursday at 5:15 p.m. Each freshman is required to take this test and should check the freshman English bulletin board on the second floor of the Clement building to find his room assignment.

In 1960 the total enrollment was 1,850; 1,979 in 1961; 2,118 in 1962; and 2,228 last year.

Of the 2,389 students, 2,233 are resident students and 156 are studying at extension centers.

Regular day students total 1,803. A breakdown of the 2,233 residence students shows 1,490 men and 743 women. By classification, there are 987 freshmen, 675 sophomores, 394 juniors, 323 seniors and 54 graduate students.

Be in 'Playboy'

Second play "readings" will be held in classroom C-51 (left of the stage) from 4 to 5 p.m. and from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. on October 19 and 20.

The play is The Playboy of the Western World by J. M. Synge. There are parts for five women and six men. There are several small parts very good for the beginner in the theater.

Scripts will be on loan at Dr. Mays' office C-102c.

Class meetings will be held tomorrow at 4 p.m. for the purpose of discussing homecoming activities and electing candidates for homecoming queen.

Seniors will meet in the cafeteria, juniors in the audio visual room of the McCord building, sophomores in the student center and freshmen in the auditorium of the Clement building.

Students will be granted instructional absences to attend their class meetings.

The following Wednesday, October 21, voting for the homecoming queen will take place in the student center from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Contemplation

Food service under control

Any grievances about campus food service? Fret no more. . . A food service committee has recently been appointed by President Morgan to serve for the 1964-65 academic year.

It is the responsibility of the committee to suggest ways and means for continuing adequate food service and to consider and make appropriate suggestions relative to complaints about the food service.

Those appointed to the committee are: Larry Richardson, David Satterfield, Seldon Sieds, Mary Smith, Susan Price, John Foy, Martha Murdock, Dr. Sims, Dean Meacham, Mr. Shasteen and Dean Savage.

Open house for English majors

There will be an open house for all English majors on October 27 at the home of Mrs. William O. Beach, 7 Thayer Lane.

This will be an informal social gathering to give students a chance for discussion and exchange of ideas with other English majors.

Faculty members will also be present to join in the discussion. This will be the first of a series of similar gatherings which will be held at different faculty members' homes. All English majors regardless of classification are invited.

All those who wish to attend should meet in front of Harned Hall at 7:30 next Tuesday night.

Transportation will be provided for those who do not have cars. Anyone desiring further information should contact Mr. Glass in the English department.

Morgan, Bibb attend meeting

MORGAN

BIBB

President Joe Morgan and Dr. Leon Bibb, chairman of the industrial arts department, are attending a college design seminar in Atlanta, Ga.

The two-day seminar began yesterday and will conclude today.

In view of the building program currently in progress and the long-range planning, the seminar has special interest to APSC.

The program will cover such aspects of college design as the library, the dormitory, the science building and equipment teaching aids.

Cast makes ready for performance

APSC deserves B+

By JUDY DIAS

"Austin Peay State should be given a B-plus on its accomplishments," reports John Willson, dean of the School of Arts and Sciences, Louisiana Polytechnic, to F. G. Woodward, APSC dean of the faculty.

This statement is in reference to the remarkable progress APSC has made in fulfilling the recommendations of the faculty study committee and the visiting committee of the Southern Association in their reports of April, 1963. Their reports ended an exhaustive self-study by the institution.

Of the 130 recommended improvements and/or changes reported, 126 of these were made by a faculty study committee composed of APSC faculty members. Only six additional recommendations were made by the visiting committee of the Southern Association headed by Dean Willson.

By Sept. 1, 1964, 50 recommendations had been completed with progress had been made on 23; no significant attention had been taken on 57.

Among the areas in which no action has been taken according to Woodward are:

1. No student government has been formed.
2. No faculty senate to represent the whole faculty in participation with the administration in formulation of educational policy has been initiated.
3. Nothing significant has been done about improving the care of buildings and grounds.
4. No appointment of an associate academic dean, who would be director of graduate study, has been made.
5. No steps to minimize fire hazards in Roake Hall and the student center have been taken.
6. Classes at Fort Campbell Extension School have been curtailed.

Dean Woodward suggested lack of money and disagreement by the administration with the recommendations brought by the self-study as possible reasons for no action on these matters.

CURTAIN TIME TOMORROW — The Glass Menagerie by Tennessee Williams begins tomorrow and runs through Friday in the auditorium of Clement building. Members of the AP Playhouse are busily preparing for opening night. Sponsored by the AP Playhouse, the production deals with a southern tale whose veneer of southern culture has been shattered. Curtain time is 8 p.m. General admission is $1. Student admission is 50 cents. (Staff photo by Bill Williams)

That was the week that was!

Between Monday and Friday of last week the world changed and history was made in a series of unexpected events.

On Tuesday a Russian "space bus" landed with three passengers aboard after 24 hours in space.

On Wednesday Presidential Aide Walter W. Jenkins resigned and entered a hospital after his arrest on a morals charge.

On Thursday Nikita Khrushchev fell from power as boss of the Soviet Union. Great Britain elected Labor and Harold Wilson.

On Friday Red China exploded its first atomic bomb.

Taken all together it was such a week that the Yanks and Cards had a hard time getting off the sports pages.

There has hardly been a week in recent months filled with as many history making events as the week of Oct. 12-16, 1964.

Each event of the week will have a distinct place in the annals of our times, but there is also something to be said for the events being taken collectively.

On Tuesday the Russians successfully landed a "space bus" and on Thursday the Central Committee of the Communist Party successfully forced Nikita Sergeyevich Khrushchev out of power. What has this to say in regard to our relationship with the U.S.S.R.? What of the peaceful co-existence policy that the United States and the Soviet Union have advocated since the early days of Khrushchev's government?

Top Soviet officials have released statements to the effect that Russian foreign policy would not be drastically altered, particularly with regard to the United States. This must mean then that a rather moderate relationship will continue - that we will eye each other cautiously and at the same time be feverently aware of the growing power in Red China.

Whether Khrushchev was retired because of his handling or mishandling of the agricultural situation in Russia, or his downgrading of Stalin which had led to a bitter ideological argument with Red China and a loosening of Kremlin control over East European satellites is of little importance; for probably these factors as well as others led Brezhnev and Kosygin to whisper "Nikita must go."

At any rate, turmoil exists in the government at Moscow and only time will show who will arise as the No. 1 power.

Mao's bomb which was exploded on Friday has set nerves on edge throughout the world. Some feel that perhaps Red China's nuclear explosion may have more "political bark than scientific bite," for surely she may now join the upper echelon of the nuclear powers. In light of this event President Johnson assured nations which do not seek national nuclear weapons of strong support from the United States if they need it against some threat of nuclear blackmail.

On the U.S. political scene, the resignation and hospitalization of presidential aide Walter Jenkins came as quite a surprise. Even President Johnson appeared somewhat taken back and Barry Goldwater, after issuing conflicting statements regarding the matter, has not pressed the issue.

All in all, the events of this week will take time to settle in the minds of the world.

F.A.B.

"Were it left to me to decide whether we should have a government without newspapers, or newspapers without a government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter."

—THOMAS JEFFERSON.

Campus communications

From the ASB president's desk. . .

I feel that ASPC has been hindered in campus communications because assembly, which had been mandatory each week, has been dropped from the schedule. At the present, we are recovering from the void that has been left by the absence of our weekly assemblies.

On several occasions this year, the lack of direct communications has hampered our work; the forming of an ASB senate and the freshman election are two such incidents. I believe that in due time this problem can be corrected.

To start the communication wheel turning will require the cooperation and participation of everyone on campus. Recently, we (ASB) have erected an activities bulletin board in the lobby of the student center. This board will be officially coordinated with Dean Mescham's activity calendar.

Also, the bulletin board to the left of the front entrance of the student center will be reserved for ASB notices and posters. I urge each student to carefully read these boards in the student center and the Browning building. These boards will supplement The All State and other news media and contribute greatly to communication with the student. Even though these announcements are posted, unless each student does his part by checking every day, our effort will be fruitless.

If any organization would like to have their activities listed on these bulletin boards, please see Dean Mescham and the ASB officers, and let us improve our campus communications.

Club Corner

To members of the faculty and staff:

The College Women's Club is sponsoring a swim night for all members of the faculty and staff and their families. The college pool will be open each Friday night from 7 - 8:30 for these groups.

Due to a conflicting schedule, the Agriculture Club meeting date has been changed from the second Thursday night of each month to the first Thursday night, at 7 p.m. in the McCord building, room 13.

There will be a Home Economics Club meeting tonight in the home economics department. The meeting will begin at 5 and all members are urged to attend. Food will be prepared at the meeting for the bake sale scheduled for Wednesday morning in front of the home economics department.

The PEM Club will meet Thursday, October 22, at 6:30 p.m. in the gym. Orders for PEM jackets will be taken. All members please be there.

The PEM Club is going to post a list in the gym for those interested in signing up for a tennis tournament. All interested in participating should sign this list immediately.

In order for the tournament to be staged, 30 people will be needed to sign the list. To defer costs of the tournament a small entry fee will be charged.

The Tri Beta Club will meet Thursday night at 7 in McCord 217. Following the meeting there will be a surprise.

The Newman Club will meet Thursday night at 7 on the second floor in the Browning Building. All members please be present.

Campus curiosities

By Jan Leftwich

High wire weeper

What is he doing up there looking in the window? one coed asked the other.

I don't know but he's sort of cute was the reply.

Both stood on the sidewalk looking up at a soldier swinging gently from his tangled parachute lines behind Harned Hall. He is still dangling.

This curious comrade looks like a Fort Campbell soldier, but he has been AWOL for months and the MPs have not come for him. The campus cops have not removed him, either. He is a strange little fellow, this soldier.

Only five inches tall and all alone he swings in his faded army greens. Hardly anyone notices him. It is because he shrank when he got wet.

Sometime this summer he got into his present predicament. It was not by design that he made his unfortunate landing.

Now most of his chute is torn away. He was not sanforized and is a pint-sized soldier because of it.

There is not much consolation in the pleasure of watching the shades of night go up and down in Harned Hall.

He is near sighted, too.

"What to do" bit

Sound familiar?

"Well what can we do tonight?"

"I dunno. Nothing ever happens around here. Even The All State reporters are desperate."

"There's always the movies."

"We've seen the movie already, and I'm tired of doing nothing but going to the show. Besides..."

"What about bowling?"

"That's out—you know what they charge as I was about to tell you..."

"What about just riding around in your car?"

"I'm kinda low on gas. See, that's just what I've been trying to tell you—I'm low on cash, too. I've got all of 58 cents."

"Oh."

That bit of dialogue and other expressions of frustration and despair seem familiar to the APSC student. You begin to think that that reporter suffering with "Interview Blues," that like nothing is happening, like no scene.

But such a deplorable situation is soon to be ended. The dilemma is about to be erased. There will soon be a solution to the "what to do" bit. There will be a scene, and it's going to start swinging next week. A scene that is the end is about to begin.

Check next week's All State for all the info.

To the students:

We are proud of the way you are supporting our mighty Gavs this year. The game at Western Kentucky was a wonderful example of your enthusiasm and good school spirit.

The cheerleaders wish to thank each of you for your splendid support.

We hope to see you at Middle Tennessee as we cheer the Gavs on to victory!

APSC Cheerleaders

TIMELY QUOTES

The Goldwater party does offer you a choice—or characteristically several. You can choose between the unquestionable disaster of the candidate's initial statements, or the probable catastrophe of one of his later clarifications.

—Senator Humphrey.

Barry Goldwater seems to be running against the Supreme Court, the TVA, my father and Secretary of Defense McNamara.

—Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr.

All of us in public life sometimes lend our names to movements that later we wished we'd taken a little more time to find out about.

—Senator Goldwater, when told he lent his name to a front group of the John Birch society five years ago.

I wish the opposition party would accept the term Socialist party because, like it or not, this is the road they are on.

—Senator Goldwater.

Despite primitives and politics

Savage's cowlick survives ravages

"THEY DESERVE THE BEST" — Tom K. Savage, dean of students, gets it for them when he can.

In 1942 Dean Savage joined the Air Force Signal Corps. At an isolated outpost on the India-Burma border what remained of his "excessive timidity" began to disappear. The Naga Hills "were rough and lonely, with primitive to semi-primitive natives."

The dean explains that he lost some of his timidity earlier when he became involved in politics in Perry County. He was justice of the peace, an elected office.

Dean Savage was graduated from Linden High School in Linden, Tenn. He received the A. B. degree from Milligan College in Tennessee.

One Room Schoolhouse

Teaching in a one room school house familiarized Dean Savage with the ups and downs of students from the first grader on up to the graduate.

Later he taught Math, English, Latin and French in high school. In 1940 he was appointed Superintendent of Perry County Schools.

After his marriage in 1941 he went into the Air Force. When he came out in 1946, with his head intact and his hair awry, he returned to the office of superintendent.

He received the M.S. in Ed. from the University of Tennessee and taught for three years, 1949 to 1952, as principal of Central Grammar School in Union City.

With the Ed. D. degree from U. T. tucked under his arm, Dean Savage came to Austin Peay State. He brought his head full of experiences and his heart full of concern along with that unruly cowlick.

From associate professor he was promoted to professor. In 1957 he was appointed dean of students.

Finds What's Lost

As dean he is directly involved with almost every student on campus. A listing of his duties covers such diverse topics as discipline, housing, orientation, morale and morals and "anything else that gets lost, found, or upset."

Counseling is another of Dean Savage's duties. He loves every minute of it, especially when he can help along some romance or patch up a quarrel. As dean of students he gets into the swing of campus life as no other can.

If he has a solution in mind his hand goes through his hair. It is a familiar signal to students. His eagerness to help people, especially students, stems in part from his own college experience during the depression years. His greatest desire was to go to college. "I wanted nothing else," he recalls.

Broke "all I had was the desire to go" — Dean Savage went through the hard way.

"But that fits me better for my job here," he smiles. "I love my job and the college. These students are the best anywhere. They deserve better facilities."

Although he has a hobby — I am a voracious reader," he declares — he spends most of his time trying to improve the buildings for student housing and recreation.

His most recent success is the new men's dormitory. There are plans in the blue print stage for a new student union. In the future there is a project for two new dormitories.

Cowlick With Personality

Whether Dean Savage is reprimanding or reminding students, what the head hunters left is a display rack for that cowlick with personality.

Girls sprinkle sparkle, win applause

Flag spinners, twirlers perform at half-time

A splash of color and a swirl of flags marks the half-time contribution of the twirlers and spinners in the band.

Four girls sparkle in black when they twirl to the band's tempo.

Cookie Mathews, an elementary education major, twirled last year with the band. She plays the oboe during concert season. Cookie says she is a long way from home — Starkie, Fla. — but she keeps busy and is not dressed in black because she feels that way.

Brenda Wooten, from Clarksville, is a health and P. E. major and a history minor. She was a flag spinner last year. The clarinet is her instrument when the baton can not entertain. Both Brenda and Cookie are sophomores.

Second Half of Quarter

Nettie Shurtz, a junior art education major and a health and P. E. minor, is also from Clarksville. She twirled for a year and was a flag spinner for a year. In the concert band Nettie plays the tenor saxophone.

Mary Lee Smith is captain of the quartet. She is a junior elementary education major and an English minor. Mary is from Tullahoma, Tenn. She has twirled for two years with the band. Besides leading her group in half-time entertainment, Mary helps lead the student body. She is secretary of the A.S.R.

Flags Flash in Red

Six girls flash their flags in red on the football field.

Connie Eatherly is captain of the group. She is from Madison, Tenn., and is a psychology and music major. She was a flag spinner for two years with the band. She has played the trumpet with the concert band for three years. Connie is a second quarter senior.

Jimmie Lee Bell, a third quarter senior, majors in mathematics and minors in psychology.

She is from Dickson, Tenn. For two years she has worked in the band on the flag routines. In concert season she has played the bass clarinet for three years.

Farwell and Hall Girls

Betty Pope from Kingsport, Tenn., is a health and P. E. major and a psychology minor. She works on the Farwell and Hall when she is not busy with her routine. This is Betty's first year as a flag spinner. She plays clarinet in the concert band. Betty is a sophomore.

Charlotte Dill is also a staff worker on the Farwell and Hall. She majors in psychology and music. Murfreesboro is Charlotte's hometown. She has played the French horn for two years in the concert band. As a second quarter senior Charlotte is almost ready to leave, but before she goes she is planning to get in a few more half-time spins on her flag. She transferred from Middle Tennessee State College her sophomore year.

Becky Wood is a junior counselor in the freshman dorm. She is from Paris, Tenn. Becky plays the flute in the concert band and has had to promise not to waste her freshman girls next quarter with her practicing. In her spare time she works on the Farwell and Hall. Becky is a sophomore.

More Excitement

Faye Crockrell, an elementary education major, is from Dover, Tenn. She, too, is a junior counselor for the freshmen in Harold Hall. Faye is a second quarter junior. Flag spinning is fun, she says, but she's getting ready for her wedding at the end of this quarter. Nothing could be more exciting than that, her freshmen girls declare.

People wishing to get their refund for Kingston Trio tickets may check by the business office where their name will be checked and money will be refunded.

DON STEVENSON

"From rags to riches"

"From Rags to Riches" could well be the APSC song of the year. After a 1-9 record in 1963 the Govs have roared back this fall compiling impressive wins over Eastern Kentucky, Murray State and Carson-Newman. A 6-6 deadlock was gained with defending OVC champ Western Kentucky.

APSC still has a tough slate remaining. In coming weeks the Govs will face successive foes Middle Tennessee, East Tennessee, Tennessee Tech, U-T Martin and Fort Campbell.

The tilt with Middle Tennessee is a crucial test for the Govs and a win will make visions of APSC taking the OVC crown more of a reality. Middle Tennessee has a fine offensive punch and is paced by quarterback Teddy Morris.

Tough second half

The second half of the season gives the Govs no opportunity for rest. The outcome of these games will no doubt determine the OVC champ.

After the clash with Middle Tennessee the Govs return home for an afternoon game with East Tennessee. The Bucs will bring a powerful attack to Clarksville and one which proved most effective in a 16-9 conquest over Western Kentucky.

The homecoming battle with Tennessee Tech concludes action for this year against OVC teams. The Golden Eagles have never lost to APSC in the six game series and Tech could well wreck Gov plans for copping the OVC crown.

A non-conference game with U-T Martin follows the clash with Tech. The Vols from Martin have a fine squad this year and a 0-0 tie with Middle Tennessee proves that the Govs can expect trouble.

The annual charity bowl brings 1964 Governor football to a close. APSC will be meeting a talented squad from Fort Campbell in the Thanksgiving tilt.

The last word

----- This has been a year of firsts for the Govs. The 26-0 victory over Eastern Kentucky marked the Govs' first win over the Maroons and over an OVC team. The APSC win over Murray snapped the Racers' domination of the series. Murray had won all five previous meetings before falling 26-10 to APSC. The tie with Western was another first as the Govs had never beaten or tied the Hilltoppers.

----- Last week versatile half-back Tim Chilcutt became the second APSC player to be tabbed OVC player of the week. Quarterback Carlton Platt received the honor earlier for his sterling performance against Murray State. Sophomore tackle Calvin Walter was the first Gov this fall to be named OVC lineman of the week. Walter received the selection for his fine defensive effort in the 26-0 opening win over Eastern Kentucky.

Morehead nips Govs 14-13

hold OVC lead

The Morehead Eagles, determined to hold their first place in the OVC, nipped APSC 14-13 Saturday.

A homecoming crowd of 8,000 came to life in the fourth quarter when the Eagles rallied to score the two big touchdowns.

PARSON

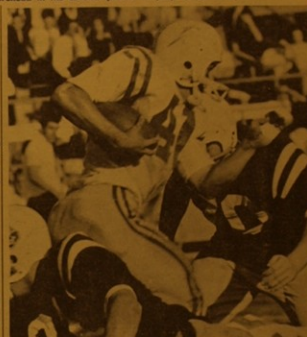

BUSH

Recovering a fumble on the APSC 20-yard-line the Eagles made good the break when Jack Smith, a sterling end, tied the game on a nine yard pass from Mike Gottfried. Tally Johnson boosted the extra point giving the Eagles the slim one-point margin.

Carlton Platt connected on a four-yard pass to end Pete Bush in the second quarter to give the Govs the first score of the game. Sophomore and Ronnie Parson added the extra point.

The Govs' second touchdown came on a drive that covered 72 yards in 12 plays. The third quarter tally was scored by Tommy Bigham on a four yard plunge.

Ogles and Hand give punch to Govs' offense

Few athletes can lay equal claim to the distinction held by sophomore Ray Hand, a native of Clarksville. Hand has thrilled hometown fans with outstanding play this fall.

"Due to a year's experience and our ability to use more players effectively, the team's offense has greatly improved."

"I really enjoy playing ball here at APSC." Hand returned when asked how he felt about playing with the Govs. Married to the former Lucy Jo McCutcheon, the Hands have two daughters, Kim and Elizabeth.

The remark was that of likeable sophomore fullback John Ogles. Although Pine Bluff, Ark., is John's hometown he played his high school ball at nearby Gallatin, Tenn.

RAY HAND

JOHN OGLES

Hand was selected to several all state teams in 1961. One of the most sought-after athletes from Clarksville, the personable fullback decided upon attending the University of Tennessee. During spring practice Hand suffered a back injury that was the primary reason for his leaving the school.

A three-sport performer at Gallatin High, John participated in football, track and wrestling. Later he prepped at Castle Heights.

With a major in business administration Hand plans to continue to manage his car lot after graduation. APSC can count on two more big years of fine effort from the dedicated athlete.

Last season as a freshman, Ogles picked up 277 yards in 57 carries for a 4.9 average. With a major in chemistry and a minor in marketing John is at present undecided about his future plans. His activities at APSC include a Club and the chemistry club.

Morehead

Late in the third quarter a fumble on the APSC 44-yard-line set up the Eagles' first score. The drive required six plays with Tally Johnson hit paydirt and added the extra point.

Sophomore fullback John Ogles was the Govs' leading rusher gaining 48 yards in 15 attempts. Thomas Gray paced the Morehead attack with 25 yards in five carries.

The loss was the Govs' first in the OVC this season. APSC still holds third position behind Morehead and Middle Tennessee, both undefeated in OVC competition.

Officers announced, talent presented

The outcome of the freshman class election and the selection of the outstanding freshman girl and boy were announced Wednesday night as the antics of freshman week drew to a close with a talent show in the gym.

Freshman class officers include Doug Wise, president; Marty Darnell, vice-president; Irene Powell, secretary-treasurer; and Norma Clark, senate representative.

Honors for outstanding freshman girl and boy went to Juli Crain and Willard Sanders.

The Hickory Hill Singers, a local folk singing group, opened the program and were followed by an array of freshman talent. Phil Prove, emcee for the evening, kept the program moving with introductory comments dispersed here and there.

First place in the talent show went to vocalist Judy Gilman who was accompanied at the piano by Irene Powell.

The Four Freshman Plus One, an instrumental group, took second place honors. The group was composed of Rick Hutton on trumpet, Tom Rheam on piano, Joe McCaskey on bass, Harry Tidwell on saxophone and Bob Correll on drums.

Irene Powell, Joy Mann and Virginia Sale received third place for their singing.

Dean Meacham, Dr. Ellis and Cookie Abernathy served as judges for the talent show.

Graduate fellowships available

The National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council has been called upon to advise the National Science Foundation in the selection of candidates for the Foundation's program of graduate and regular postdoctoral fellowships. Committees of outstanding scientists appointed by the Academy-Research Council will evaluate applications of all candidates. Final selection will be made by the Foundation, with awards to be announced on March 15, 1965.

Fellowships will be awarded for study in the mathematical, physical, medical, biological and engineering sciences; also in anthropology, economics (excluding business administration), geography, the history and philosophy of science (not including social work). They are open to college seniors, graduate students working toward a degree, postdoctoral students, and others with equivalent training and experience. All applicants must be citizens of the United States and will be judged solely on the basis of ability.

Applicants for the graduate awards will be required to take the Graduate Board Examinations designed to test scientific aptitude and achievement. The examinations, administered by the Educational Testing Service, will be given on January 16, 1965, at designated centers throughout the United States and certain foreign countries.

The annual stipends for graduate Fellows are as follows: $2400 for the first level; $2600 for the intermediate level; and $2800 for the terminal level. The annual stipend for postdoctoral Fellows is $3500. Limited allowances will also be provided to apply toward tuition, laboratory fees and travel.

Further information and application materials may be obtained from the Fellowship Office, National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council, 2101 Constitution Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20418. The deadline for the receipt of applications for graduate fellowships is December 11, 1964, and for regular postdoctoral fellowships, December 14, 1964.
