

The ALL STATE

"The Friendliest Campus In The South"

AUSTIN PEAY STATE COLLEGE, CLARKSVILLE, TENN., SEPT. 25, 1962 VOL. 33 — NO. 1

Testing Starts Quarter

Most of the 1962-63 freshmen at APSC got their first taste of college life during freshman week with cramming, testing, counseling and social activities.

Montgomery County and Fort Campbell students began their head-searching Thursday before last. Other students arrived on campus last Monday and began marking Tuesday morning after being welcomed by Earl Sexton, acting president, and Rodger Bowman, student body president.

Social activities included a picnic Tuesday night at Pettus Park, a mixer Thursday in the gym and the Carson-Newman vs. APSC football game (there) Saturday night. A faculty-student reception is slated for this Thursday in the recreation room; a dance in the gymnasium will follow.

Freshmen were counseled on curriculum choices, majors and minors Wednesday. They registered Thursday. Upperclassmen, who had pre-registered for this quarter, completed their arrangements Friday.

Now that freshmen (and others) have survived testing and registration, plus ID pictures, it is now time for physical examinations, yearbook pictures—and classes.

Physical Plant Expanded

APSC has been expanding its physical facilities as enrollment has been increasing.

Major recent construction work includes Blount Hall and the Clement Fine Arts Building annex.

Blount Hall, a new dormitory for women students, was ready for occupancy last week. Housing 108 women, it cost about $350,000, including furnishings.

The Clement annex, 19,000-square-foot addition to the Clement Building which was used for classes last year, cost about $290,000 including equipment.

There have been smaller items such as an annex to the Industrial Arts Building, renovation of the Ellington Hall recreation room to provide room space for 18 men, conversion of Robb Hall to housing for men students, extensive painting and minor repairs in Harrod and Ellington halls, repairs and improvements in grounds and driveways.

Also, the former boardwalk between the Browning and Clement buildings to the driveway is now concrete.

Gels IA Award

Michael Lee, Clarksville, has been awarded an Epitaph Pi Tau scholarship to APSC for 1962-63. The scholarship, donated to Epitaph Pi Tau by the "Big Ten Club," will be used to pursue a B. S. in Industrial Arts Education. The "Big Ten Club" is no longer in existence.

Lee, who was graduated from Clarksville High School this past academic year, carried an overall 2.77 average. He accumulated a total of 1360 hours of industrial tool design instruction during his junior and senior years. He carried a average in industrial tool design at CHS.

The announcement of the scholarship was made by David Ussery, president of Epitaph Pi Tau, and confirmed by Dr. Leon Bibb, professor of industrial arts at APSC. Epitaph Pi Tau is a national honor fraternity in industrial arts open to those students who maintain a 2.75 grade point ratio in industrial arts.

Sexton Sits In For Morgan

Earl Sexton, formerly field director of Austin Peay State College, became acting president September 1; he will serve until the first of 1963, when Joe Morgan, state commissioner of education, will assume his duties as president.

Halbert Harvill, president of APSC since 1946, retired as president on August 31. He had been associated with APSC since its opening in 1929.

He and Mrs. Harvill now live at 136 North Meadow Circle. The Morgans are living in the President's Home on campus; he will commute to Nashville and his commissioner duties until the next gubernatorial administration takes office.

Morgan stated, upon his appointment by the Tennessee Board of Education in May, "I would hope to continue to develop the program of Austin Peay State as has been carried on during President Harvill's administration. I am looking forward to working with the faculty, student body, the people of Clarksville and Montgomery County and the surrounding area."

Harvill worked to increase physical plant facilities, improve faculty personnel, increase employees' salaries and increase the College's accreditation. Under his administration the enrollment boomed from 253 in 1945-46 to 1979 last fall, with an expected enrollment over this Fall Quarter.

Mrs. Harvill, secretary to Business Manager R. C. Shattuck, was replaced by Miss Betty Heitsley, formerly chief clerk in the Business Office.

Morgan is a native of Henry County; he attended Murray State College, Ky. and Peabody. He became commissioner of education in 1959 after serving as acting commissioner several months. He and his wife have three children.

Harvill has expressed his pleasure in being president of APSC and his sadness in leaving.

Statement Of Policy

"The All State" is the student-published newspaper of Austin Peay State College. It will be edited this year by Roy Rogers Price during the fall quarter and Nancy Apple the winter and spring quarters.

The college paper has advanced steadily since its first publication in 1930. Among this year's improvements are: Use of the offset printing process, enabling better reproduction of pictures; change from publication every other week to publication each week; addition to masthead at top of front page.

In order for publication of a paper to be worthwhile, news events of students (and faculty) must be well-reported. The paper has a reporting staff -- but additional (non-staff) help is needed for good news coverage. In order for the many campus organizations to be well-reported, it is important that someone in each group be responsible for informing the paper of upcoming events as soon as possible.

Plans of upcoming activities is, so far as clubs and the newspaper are concerned, of utmost importance. It is lamentable that clubs should put out newsletters, put up posters, put notices in boxes, make personal contacts and take other actions to get good attendance at their meetings or activities -- yet not even tell the campus newspaper about the plans in advance. That's comparable to working yourself to death for something you could have had for nothing.

This editor wants news while it is news and not when it has become history. No one need tell the editor or a reporter about something which happened several weeks ago (and could have been printed several weeks ago, had we known) and expect it to be printed. We have a large wastebasket in the office and we don't mind using it. This is a newspaper and not an overdue memorandum.

Many persons at Austin Peay State College apparently neither do know or don't care about the importance of a deadline. A lot of work goes into this paper; in order to get it out at all, especially on a weekly basis, we must have rigid observance of deadlines. A list of deadline dates for the quarter will be posted on the bulletin board outside "The All State" office for the benefit of non-staff members. Deadlines vary according to the nature of the news. A good rule to remember, however, is that news should be turned in no later than the day after it happened or was planned.

Non-staff contributions to the paper should be placed in "The All State" faculty box near the business office, in "The All State" office, in the editor's distribution box -- or they may be given to the editor or a staff member personally.

Suggestions concerning improvement of the paper are always welcomed from anyone.

To Student Body:

Advance registration and the record number of applications from freshmen and transfer students indicate that we have here in the Fall of 1952 the largest student body in our history. To this great group of students, both new and returning, I am pleased to extend a warm welcome to our campus community.

Whether freshmen, upperclassmen or graduate students, I hope that your college experience will be filled with challenging, profitable enterprise. The kinds of values sought by you and the kind of education that you seek will determine the future of our nation in an impending jet and atom civilization. In fact, our survival as a free democratic people could well be at stake.

Austin Peay State College is growing rapidly, yet orderly. With excellent facilities which we are constantly increasing and with a competent and dedicated faculty we are providing for you a superior educational environment. We sincerely desire that you make the most of your opportunity.

Again we bid you welcome and wish for you a happy and successful college experience.

Earl E. Sexton, Acting President

Fellow Students:

It is a great pleasure for me to welcome you to Austin Peay State for the beginning of another school year.

For most of you this is at least your second year at APSC and I am very happy to see your familiar faces. To those of you who are here for the first time, may I say welcome; we are very glad to have you as members of the Austin Peay State student body.

I have one request to make -- let's all work together to make this our most unforgettable year at APSC.

Sincerely yours,

Roger Bowman
Student Body President

ANOTHER YEAR, ANOTHER DOLLAR

With today's entry I begin my ninth year of writing columns in your school newspaper for the makers of Marlboro Cigarettes.

Nine years, I believe you will agree, is a long time. In fact, it took only a little longer than nine years to dig the Suez Canal, and you know what a gigantic undertaking that was! To be sure, the work would have gone more rapidly had the shovel been invented at that time, but, as we all know, the shovel was not invented until 1946 by Walter R. Shovel of Cleveland, Ohio. Before Mr. Shovel's discovery in 1946, all digging was done with sugar toms—a method unquestionably dainty but hardly what one would call rapid. There were, incidentally, many effects made to speed up digging before Mr. Shovel's breakthrough—notably an attempt in 1912 by the immortal Thomas Alva Edison to dig with the phonograph, but the only thing that happened was that he got his horn full of sand. This so depressed Mr. Edison that he fell into a fit of melancholy from which he did not emerge until two years later when his friend William Wordsworth, the eminent nature poet, cheered him up by imitating a duck for four and a half hours.

But I digress. For nine years, I say, I have been writing this column for the makers of Marlboro Cigarettes, and for nine years they have been paying me money. You are shocked. You think that anyone who has tasted Marlboro's unparalleled flavor, who has enjoyed Marlboro's filter, who has revelled in Marlboro's jolly red and white pack or box should be more than willing to write about Marlboro without a penny's compensation. You are wrong.

Compensation is the very foundation stone of the American Way of Life. Whether you love your work or hate it, our system absolutely requires that you be paid for it. For example, I have a friend named Rex Glee, a veterinarian by profession, who simply adores to worm dogs. I mean you can call him up and say, "Hey, Rex, let's go bowl a few lines," or "Hey, Rex, let's go flatten some pennies on the railroad tracks," and he will always reply, "No, thanks. I better stay here in case somebody wants a dog wormed." I mean there is not one thing in the whole world you can name that Rex likes better than worming a dog. But even so, Rex always sends a bill for worming your dog because in his wisdom he knows that to do otherwise would be to rend, possibly irreparably, the fabric of democracy.

"I better stay in case somebody wants a dog wormed."

It's the same with me and Marlboro Cigarettes. I think Marlboro's flavor represents the pinnacle of the tobaccoist's art. I think Marlboro's filter represents the pinnacle of the filter-maker's art. I think that Marlboro's pack and box represent the pinnacle of the packager's art. I think Marlboro is a pleasure and a treasure, and I fairly burst with pride that I have been chosen to speak for Marlboro on your campus. All the same, I want my money every week. And the makers of Marlboro understand this full well. They don't like it, but they understand it.

In the columns which follow this opening installment, I will turn the hot white light of truth on the pressing problems of campus life—the many and varied dilemmas which beset the undergraduate—burning questions like "Should Chaucer classrooms be converted to parking garages?" and "Should professors be given a saliva test?" and "Should foreign exchange students be held for ransom?"

And in these columns, while grappling with the crises that vex campus America, I will make occasional brief mention of Marlboro Cigarettes. If I do not, the makers will not give me any money.

The makers of Marlboro will bring you this unencensored, free-style column 26 times throughout the school year. During this period it is not unlikely that Old Max will step on some toes—principally ours—but we think it's all in fun and we hope you will too.

Sideline Views

By ED FREDETTE

Well, football fans, the time has once again rolled around for us to bring out our thermos jugs, blankets and warm clothes and hear the ever-familiar sounds of heads hitting and shoulder pads knocking.

What do you say we start this season out right? Let's show the Goves we are behind them 100 per cent. Our presence, yelling, cheering, laughing and crying will help, so what do you say—let's let the Goves know their student body is behind them. I am sure, with our support and interest, we can help gain a winner for Austin Peay State.

Art Van Tone and his worthy staff have assured us this year they are equipped with speed, strength and depth which are essential for a good team.

Two Coaches Added

Gordon Schultz has been named assistant football coach and Dr. Marion T. Carr tennis coach for this year.

This completes the new athletic set-up that began last spring when David B. Aaron, long-time basketball coach, relinquished his duties to devote more time to directing the athletic department and health and physical education division.

Schultz, a native of Milwaukee, thus becomes the third member of the football coaching staff joining head coach Art Van Tone and assistant Leon Garrett. Schultz will handle the ends and assist Garrett next spring with the Governor track squad.

Dr. Carr replaces Van Tone as tennis coach and is serving as assistant professor of health education at APSC. His appointment will give Van Tone more time to devote to recruiting in the spring.

Schultz, an alumnus of Wisconsin State College at LaCrosse, was an outstanding high school and collegiate football and track star earning all-state honors in football at South Division High School in Milwaukee and later lettering four years at Wisconsin State where he participated in two CIFAA Bowl contests. He also lettered three years in track at Wisconsin State as a discus thrower with his best distance being 146 feet. While in the Army in Japan, he served as head coach of the IX Corps football team that posted a 7-2-1 record. While in Japan, Schultz served as the battalion athletic and recreation NCO, was named to the All-Far East football team and won 11 of 12 boxing matches.

Upon his return to the states, Schultz produced a 19-95 football record in three seasons as head coach at Valders High School in Wisconsin. He also produced two state high school discus champions and received his M.S. degree from Wisconsin State as a result of attending summer sessions.

Other coaching staff members are: George Fisher, head basketball coach; Fred Overton, freshman basketball coach; Leon Sandifer, baseball coach; and Sherwin Clift, golf coach.

"The Rev. Gilbert Kuyper of Knox Presbyterian Church, St. Paul, announced the topic of his Sunday sermon on the church bulletin board: 'What on Earth Are You Doing for Heaven's Sake?'" — Frieda Menger, Duluth (Minn.) Publicity.

Third Try Next

The APSC football squad, winless in its first two outings, will attempt to get into the victory column when they travel to Martin Saturday night to tangle the U-T Martin Vols.

Game time is slated for 8 p.m. (CST) at the College Field Stadium on the U-T campus.

Coach Art Van Tone's youthful Governors opened the season in a driving rainstorm at Murfreesboro and came away a 28-0 loser at the hands of Middle Tennessee State, the Ohio Valley Conference pre-season favorite. Saturday night the Goves found the going "a bit tough" at Carson-Newman and dropped a 21-0 decision to the Eagles of the Volunteer State Athletic Conference.

Both contests were similar in that the Goves could not generate any noticeable offense and the defense, well-played at times, left the opposing loose for long gains.

Twirlers Get Scholarships

Two of the top 10 twirlers in the nation have been awarded scholarships as the featured twirlers with the APSC band this year, according to Dr. Aaron Schmidt, director of bands.

The two young ladies are Pamela Howard, Hialeah, Fla., and Sharon Miller, Columbus, Ga. Miss Howard has been a student of Bill Allen, one of the country's leading baton twirling instructors.

She was graduated from Hialeah Senior High School, where she served as head majorette.

Miss Miller was graduated from Baker High School in Columbus and served as majorette, head majorette and solo twirler.
