Homecoming Great Success

Miss Nancy Williams, Homecoming Queen for 1961, was crowned at halftime of the Austin Peay State - Troy State football game.

Miss Williams, a senior majoring in elementary education, hails from Nashville and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Williams of that city. The lovely blond reigned at all activities during the Homecoming weekend.

According to Sherwin Clift, director of alumni relations, Homecoming 1961 was a complete success and was the best-attended in the history of Austin Peay State.

"The Alumni Association," said Clift, "is flattered over the response we have received from the alumni. I would like to thank the students who took part in making Homecoming a success, the faculty, the administration and the downtown merchants."

Pep Squad Is Being Formed

Want to join the APSC Pep Squad? Contact either Mrs. Hancock in the President's Office or Sherwin Clift in the Publicity Department of the Brewning Administration Building. Although plans are in the infant stage, your response will determine the organization and effectiveness of the Squad.

The Queen's court, composed of the class attendants, was as follows: Miss Nancy English, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. English of Clarksville, senior class; Miss Joyce Keatts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Keatts of Clarksville, junior class; Miss Kay Ray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ray of Hopkinsville, sophomore class; Miss Mary Dodson, daughter of Mrs. G. E. Dodson of Nashville, freshman class.

Homecoming festivities were many and varied, with the activities being geared to the (Continued on Page 3)

APSC Play Chosen

John G. Griffin, speech and drama instructor at APSC, has chosen Who Was That Lady I Saw You With? (a comedy by Norman Krassa) as the first production of the Playhouse for the 1961-62 season.

The play will be presented the third weekend in November.

Headed the cast are Billy St. John, Jackie Sabo and Warren Chaney, portraying the characters played by Tony Curtis, Janet Leigh and Dean Martin in the movie version of the play.

obtained from college officials, school superintendents or directly from the National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N. J. Completed applications, accompanied by proper examination fees, will be accepted by the ETS office during November, December and before January 12, 1962.

Eleven Eye Fellowships

Eleven seniors at Austin Peay State College have been nominated by various members of the faculty for Woodrow Wilson Fellowships, according to Dr. Preston Hubbard, campus representative of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation.

These seniors are William Wilkinson, Raymond Stone, James Shoemaker, Gary Wallace, Riley Darrell, Danny Neal Bates, Nancy English, Judy Harter, Edward Chester, John Campbell and Melvina Warrick.

William Grasty, instructor in economics, who graduated last year from Austin Peay State College, was also nominated.

The Woodrow Wilson Fellowship Foundation is underwritten by the Association of American Universities, the Carnegie Cor-

John Pickrell, Doug Batson, Gency Wall, Laura Swift, Joery Borthwick and Terry Fulbright are now practicing teaching at the Byrns L. Darden Demonstration School in New Providence.

They are teaching both vocal and instrumental music at the college during the Fall and Winter Quarters.

In-Service Math Held

The Math Department is currently operating an in-service institute for high school mathematics teachers.

Twenty teachers from the surrounding area are enrolled and attend the match courses on Saturday mornings. The institute, sponsored by the National Science Foundation, is working with a grant of $380.

The Math Club is presently conducting two projects. The one already in progress is a survey

Teacher Exams To Be Given

The National Teacher Examinations, prepared and administered annually by Educational Testing Service, will be given at more than 200 testing centers throughout the United States on Saturday, February 10, 1962.

At the one-day testing session a candidate may take the common examinations, which include tests in professional information, general culture, English expression, and non verbal reasoning; and one or two of 13 optional examinations designed to demonstrate mastery of subject matter to be taught. The college which a candidate is attending, or the school system in which he is seeking employment, will advise him whether he should take the National Teacher Examinations and which of the optional examinations to select.

The second project being planned is for upperclassmen to help underclassmen with their courses at certain designated times. If successful, this program could be of real help to incoming students.

Gentry Cites Sudan Stay

On October 18 Glenn Gentry spoke about his stay in the Sudan.

He presented many social facts about the country, including a party given by the highest official there. He also spoke of the religious background of the underdeveloped country.

Gentry showed some slides of the people and their country.

Gentry, of the Business Department, was in the Sudan for two years as an education consultant for the establishment of business schools.

Gentry commented that one can not really understand the Sudanese unless he knows about Sudan history, religion and government. He pointed out various facts concerning these matters.

The northern part of Sudan is Islam, he said, and the southern part is pagan and Christian. The Christian religion ruled in Sudan after 200, he said, but Islam later took over easily.

He said that the Sudan has great problems of discrimination, although their newspapers carry little information about it. Most of the people, he said, just ignore the subject. There is much discrimination between the Arabs and Jews, he said, and quite great discrimination between the northern Arabs and the southern Negroes.

Assembly for November 1 is set aside for class meetings.

Copies Needed

The APSC Library needs copies of some past issues of The All State in order to complete its file.

Those copies needed are numbers 5, 8, 10, 12, 13 and 14 of Volume 2 (1931-32). Anyone having one of those copies may turn it in to the library.

Self-Study Begins

Dean F. G. Woodward has announced that Austin Peay State College is beginning a college-wide institutional self-study to determine the needs of the College in all phases of its program and to chart the course of the institution during the next nine years.

The study will be both a status study and a projective study, identifying strengths and weaknesses in curriculum, staff organization, personnel services, facilities and financial resources.

Reports of the study will be made to the State Board of Education and also to the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education, two agencies which accredit the educational program of the College.

The study will involve the faculty, the administrative officers and students of the College and will culminate with visiting committees from the accrediting agencies arriving on the campus in March 1963.

Coming Events

- Nov. 4, ETSC there.
- Nov. 11, Florence State there.
- Nov. 13, Meeting of Christian County alumni of APSC, Christian County High School.
- Nov. 13, Next issue of The All State.

Brown Attends Meet

Floyd Brown, of the Biology Department at Austin Peay State College, attended a symposium October 20 and 21 at the Missouri Botanical Gardens, St. Louis.

The annual symposium is sponsored by the Gardens and the National Science Foundation. This year's subject was "The Population Concept In Systematics."

Mr. Brown attended the symposium three previous times since the first one was held six years ago. The last time he had attended was year before last.

Work Accomplishes The Goal

The Homecoming festivities of October 27 and 28 were apparently great success. This success was made possible by the efforts of a great number of students. The All State would like to take this opportunity to recognize that students at APSC will work and work hard when they have something to work for.

This does not, of course, include everyone, as there were, as usual, many who did nothing to make Homecoming a success. Whether or the Homecoming game results in a football victory or not, APSC students should consider it their duty to put the college's best foot forward for the local townspeople.

It took a lot of work this year, as in past years, to make Homecoming the great success it was. Among those workers were many who worked in the background without receiving the credit they deserved. Perhaps they shall never be recognized specifically for their part; but one thing we know—without someone to do the background work, it does no good to make even the best of plans.

It is frequently easier to do something when you have been selected to a position than when you are merely a member of the organization. The higher a person's position, the higher his general recognition of responsibility. However, it is the feeling of this editor that everyone, regardless of rank in an organization, have pretty well the same great responsibility. The president of a club or class is the leader; but without followers he has no life to lead.

It is a sad commentary on life that everyone wants to be a chief and no one wants to be an Indian. Although this is not completely true, and let us be thankful that it isn't, there are many instances where a person is quite dependable unless he is in one of those top positions.

There are, to be sure, a lot of people who promise to help decorate a car or float, or to perform some other action in carrying out a group's purpose, then fail to do anything. These people hurt the group's morale, certainly, and they look down on those who actually are involved, by hampering the capabilities of the others. But most of all, perhaps, they hurt themselves. Extracurricular activities are an essential part of collegiate life. There is no one on this campus who studies all the time. That leisure time is better used in some wholesome active extracurricular activities than in goofing off somewhere.

So, once again and with emphasis—those who worked on Homecoming activities have a great right to feel proud of their accomplishments.

Keep Student Center Clean

Elsewhere on this page may be found a "Letter to the Editor." This editor feels that the letter is well taken. While I have not had much time to spend in the Student Center, I can well see how the situation mentioned in the letter might be quite frequent.

It is ordinary for a student to depart from a place where he has been eating or drinking something and leave the paper, cups, bottles or other things behind instead of putting them in their proper places.

Maybe some students at this college are too shy to walk over to the bottle rack or the trash container. Maybe some of them are just too lazy. Maybe some of them don't see how they can take a five-minute class in 10 minutes if they take a few seconds to clear the table they're at.

Maybe some of them get a thrill out of being messy. Perhaps some of them feel the college should bear the money it's getting from students, although the state is paying more for each student's education than the student is.

We feel that students could take a little better care of the Student Center, just as we feel they could take better care of everything they come in contact with at this college, whether in the dormitories, in classrooms or outside.

Peace Corps Needs Volunteers

Anyone interested in the Peace Corps program is encouraged to contact Dr. Fred Binger of the Education Department. The world situation today seems on the brink of disaster. In these dangerous times, we need outstanding leaders to lead the way. Here you are. We need young people who are willing to try to help the foreign people instead of looking down their noses at the foreigners' simple lives.

A new addition to the contemporary shelf of the APSC library is The Hill Ford's Mountains of Gilead.

Mr. Ford, a native of Troy, Ala., grew up in Nashville and graduated from Vanderbilt University. He received his master's degree in English from the University of Florida. In 1959 Mr. Ford was awarded an Atlantic Grant to help him complete his first novel.

It is a story of a festival time in Hills County in West Tennessee. All of Southern Tennessee is watching the parade. Starkey Eye is the center of attraction when he jumps from an accession balloon in a parachute.

This year the festival is overshadowed by Gratt Starkey's marriage the next day to a rich Miss Phillips. Gratt Starkey is a brilliant, handsome, and charming young man. He is not in love with the girl he is about to marry. But his father, who is a wealthy businessman, believes that he has killed his daughter. No second marriage is possible for him. He has killed his daughter; the Mc-

Cutcheon's ancestors had lived and prospered in Hills County for generations. Tom is made by his tradition to accept the role of looking after his honor with the family's only legacy.

Mountains of Gilead can be added to the growing collection of books which witness the impact of Southern tradition.

Homecoming, 1962, is a thing of the past. Mr. Cliff is being a nervous breakdown and all members of his staff now wear helmets and shin guards as protection against flying stapling machines, typewriters, etc. It's not easy to be Director of Alumni Relations during Homecoming.

Let's now ask for the Director of Alumni Relations following Homecoming. This year, praise the powers that be, we've had a very good mistake of having Betty Dickerson drive one of the convertibles at the Homecoming parade. Last year, flying low, she personally provided an extra entrance to the Homecoming parade. But we love ya, Betty.

The famous marching Govenors, Dr. Schmidt's Light Brigade, and up to their ears in Homecoming Day. They marched from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. Congratulations to Dr. Schmidt and his group that gets better each year.

If you innocently ask at the post office for a 12¢ cent stamp and Paul Marzella snaps your head off, then you're not heart broken. Chances are that he's just worried about his elementary statistics grade. Elementary statistics is a hard grade. I have never tried to find the deviation of a score of 436 with a mean of 127. Now I ask you.

Laura Swift, the poor man's Laura Callis, was just a little slow on the uptake when a fire drill at the dormitories demonstrated that she was a fire drill at the dormitories that particular day to make his regular inspection. "Nuff said, except this, in all seriousness, such a fire drill is unusual for Laura. That's what puts the humor in the situation.

All he needs is one large gold earring. And from the size of his eye stretched out before him of crime and greed, it is just a minute.

Life just one long grand parade. Seniors realize that true statement is. You stare at that little Jew and four years of your life stretched out before you. And to beat it all, you just sit stupid.

Now, Audition is now teaching a course in Student-Grabbing 400, held in the Student Center from 10 to 4 daily.

One can tell the exact hour of the day by the time the chimneys are playing; for example, "Star-Bat" rings out at 4 p. m., "Lil' bedstroom" at high noon, etc. We hear the 20th hour has struck when we hear "The Fly" brouching across campus.

Nancy Ann Ryard recently made a trip to Indiana for the week-end. It was a very nice trip to have a plane north for the week-end.

After a couple of weeks of excellent assembly conduct, it is returned to the infatigable Staff Wednesday morning, October 10. I may be a little late, but I cannot see why grown men and women have to behave like refugees from a madhouse.

Around The Campus

By JACK GREEN

Here we are again, well into a new quarter and a new school year. To all those that make it welcome back. To those that didn't, send us some pictures from a vacation.

How about that freshman class! When the bell rings, it looks as if someone stirred an anti-kick vigorously with a stick. They're made their own noise, though they now wear dirty sneakers and you can't tell them from the upperclassmen.

Any comments about our new roads around campus? It's rather pleasant being able to drive without worrying about hitting a submerged VW. Sort of takes the adventure out of riding around the Student Center though, doesn't it?

Man, these new TV shows are going. Can you imagine a rash of new shows that are going to appear now that the TV firms want "The College and the Kid" series. The scripts from these new shows may become required reading to all of the "Doo-bee-bee." Did you hear about the English professor that discouraged the watching of E. Hemingway's life story on one of the weekly departmental lectures?

The entire class faded him and watched the show. You guessed it. They smiled knowingly at him during the next two weeks of lecture.

Was anyone besides myself present in the Student Center Thursday last when the Big Boy came tripping in decked out in his Jamaica shorts, pajama top, shower shoes and chin prowl? When he entered, it was like watching a one-stroke tennis match, heads turned. This may have set off educational institutions all over the world. Go to General Sherman!

If you entered said student center, you were probably blinded by an unidentified brilliant light.

Go to General Sherman!

To the Editor:

It is a pleasure to watch Austin Peay State grow in the literal sense of the word. Those of us who have been around last year know how much work has been accomplished during the summer.

This expansion of Austin Peay State will make it possible for us to get even better instruction.

However, much could be improved in regard to our comfort. We, the students, could get with more consideration. I'm sure every student daily and every day, we agree that the tables are so disorderly and covered with napkins, cups and paper that the sight of it at times is rather disgusting.

Then on the question arises, "We, the students, want to continue like this or we are capable of eliminating this mess." I'm certain it can be done.

I'm convinced that if every student would try to just pick up his own cup before he leaves the Student Center, it might again become a place to relax and to enjoy a cup of coffee.

Not always is it laudable to abstain from action until we are reminded from the outside. It is our privilege to use our initiative to make the staff at Austin Peay State an even more enjoyable and lasting experience. So let's use it!

Khrushchev and his hundred-megaton bomb — if Nikita decides to drop that thing, we may have someone in orbit before we have planned on it — all of us. Anyone want to buy a slightly used teddy bear?

If the college ever finds itself in financial straits and their budget needs a lift, they might try footling a loan from the rebellious class. Judging from the cars some of them drive, they must be here for families. Surely they are not going to work for a living. (That green glint shining from my left eye is pure envy, gentlemen.) Mr. G. would find that new-look, spiral binding, producing an entirely new trend at the place — watching the movie.

Know the Word; Help Yourself

This week we begin a new game, vocabulary building.

Readers are asked to help with their own education and, at the same time, have a little fun. They are asked either to supply from present knowledge or to look up in a good dictionary each of the following words or terms, being sure that, whenever possible, they have both a common definition and a specialized one.

They are reminded that familiarity with such a word as democracy, for example, does not necessarily mean they have a clear understanding of the several senses of the word. In short, our readers are urged to study the derivations of words as well as their definitions.

This first list comes from the History Department. It contains expressions that any decently educated person should know. Subsequent editions to The All State will contain similar lists from people in other large subject areas or academic disciplines of the college.

The list is as follows: democracy, autocracy, plutocracy, republic, monopoly, oligarchy, monopolistic competition, cartel, aristocracy, coop detail, cultural lag, miscegenation, diplomacy, supply and demand, marginal producer, mass production, guild, feudal, fiat, papacy.

A copy of the word lists used in each issue will be available at the reference desk in the library.

One of the questions that could most easily be answered about Eddie Sexton is "Why was he chosen Man of the Month?"

First, Eddie is a person who definitely is seriously concerned with the social and moral standing of Austin Peay State College. On the subject of school spirit here Eddie related, "The school spirit seems to have become better since my freshman year. You can have school spirit about studies by being proud of the studies in your major department. When you think of school spirit in that respect, then you can say it has improved."

Something that would make everyone feel a part of the College is a phase of improvement that Eddie would like to see begun. Furthermore he added that the College needed "anything that will sell students together in order to prevent cliques."

All colleges have moral standards which are either acceptable or unsatisfactory to the public. When asked his opinion about the moral standards here, Eddie stated that the people he was associated with were pretty solid characters. In other words, an instructor can have the room while giving a test, and no person with any moral character would attempt to cheat.

Secondly, Eddie is an active and typical sport-minded person. His main interest lies in tennis, and for the past two years he has been on the tennis team. However, he has varying interests in other sports and is very much in favor of a program being organized that would be composed of sports in which more people could participate.

Eddie, a senior from Clarksville, is majoring in both physics and math. This year he is vice-president of the Circle K Club and secretary - treasurer of the Del Square Psi. He commented that he would like to be a college instructor because "they don't ever look like they do any work."

Covering a few miscellaneous items, Eddie stated that his pet peeve in general was hanging teachers who constantly complained about his handwriting. Being more specific, he added that the characteristic he disliked most about girls was conceit. The trip Eddie took to Florida last summer influenced him in saying that if he had all the money he could ever want, he would buy a house on the ocean, with tennis courts, naturally.

Eddie made the comment that he felt honored in being chosen "Man of the Month." I think we have reason to feel equally honored in having someone so outstanding to fill the position.

FOOTBALL GOVS At Best; E. Ky. Swift

HARDWOOD SEASON APPROACHES

Each passing day brings the hardwood season opener nearer and nearer.

Coch Dave Aaron has his candidates for the 1961-62 edition of the Governor squad practicing every afternoon. Certainly looking such veterans and stars as Jim Stewart, Bob Bradley, Roger Davis, Jim Henderson and Fred Overton cannot go unnoticed.

However, one of the largest problems that faces a college basketball team is pretty much in capable hands. The task of cleaning the boards for the Govs is up to Wilt Celisla. Big Walt did a very good job last season on the boards and got his share of the points.

The high scoring Jim Beshears is back for his final year of college competition. Beshears broke the all-time scoring record for Eastern Kentucky players last year. He can play either the guard or forward position well.

Captain Tom Darrah is likely to be the mainstay of the club. From his guard position Darrah handles the ball well and performs adequately as a playmaker. His shooting eye won't hurt the chances for victory either.

With the starting team undecided yet, Lavern Gibbs, Webb Cate, David Hunstinger, John Briggsman, Bobby and Jackie Winters, Jim Sarge, Bob De Mier, Blakey Bradley, and Henry Murray are all in contention for a starting role at the first five.

Last year's team won the regional NCAA basketball crown here at the home court. If this year's team can get that kind of extra effort that it takes to have a championship team, then the Govs might be in the money again.

Last but not least, the freshman team's year is highly regarded. Coach Aaron has brought back former star Ken Gerards to handle the freshman team. These boys will be the ones to furnish the team with its future stars.

THE HALFWAY MARK

The halfway point of the season was reached before the Eastern Kentucky game October 21.

The Austin Peay State Governors stopped a 1-4 record before that game, the one victory being over conference foe Carson-Newman.

The road ahead was then blocked by always tough Eastern Kentucky, homecoming for Troy State, ETSC, Florence State, and last but certainly not least, the Fort Campbell team on Thanksgiving afternoon.

At the start of the season the last four teams on the schedule were figured to be weak and the Governors would have an easy time defeating them. However, the opposition has been more than expected. Troy State has been especially tough, just being barely edged by tough Jax State 22-21. APSG led to Jacksonville by the score of 21-6. Florence State has a jared-up single wing type of offense. They are said to be much smoother with this type of formation than was Jacksonville.

The Troy State and Fort Campbell games were expected to be thrilling ones to watch. Both teams have a wide open offense which is good for the fans. These are the last two home games of the season for the home force.

With any luck at all, we should win the last few games, doing no worse than three out of four.

TROY STATE FOR HOME COMING

Always tough Troy State furnished the opposition here on the Homecoming game.

Rated lowly at the first of the season, Troy has come on strong here of late. In their counter with the only mutual opponent to date, they fared much better than did the Govs.

The road ahead was then blocked by always tough Eastern Kentucky, homecoming for Troy State, ETSC, Florence State, and last but certainly not least, the Fort Campbell team on Thanksgiving afternoon.

Troy's left halfback is the sparkplug of the team. Although small, 145 pounds, the professional teams are already watching him with interest.

Just Tennessee hasn't won a game to date but has played good hard nose football each game. They will be a worthy opponent. Florence State plays the single wing type offense and will be tough. But the Jacksonville game will help out on this type effort.

Fort Campbell will be in town on Thanksgiving afternoon for the Charity Bowl contest. The servicemen always thrill the crowd with their wide open play.

Soccer Spreads

By GEORGE P. LANTZ

The sport of soccer is spreading more than ever to the shores of the United States and various VSAC teams now play this international sport.

The game of soccer is a team game of glory or individuality can bring success in this sport. The team is composed of 11 men with a goalkeeper. The goalkeeper can use his hands. The goalkeeper can put many a punter to shame with his 6 to 70 yard kicks.

But the country where soccer is still king is Brazil. Soccer, otherwise known as "futebol" in Brazil, is the national pastime of the Brazilians. In their national pastime, the "futebol" stadium is filled with thousands of fans. Fans and has held that during many international games. The stadium of Sao Paulo is a small one. It only holds 60,000.

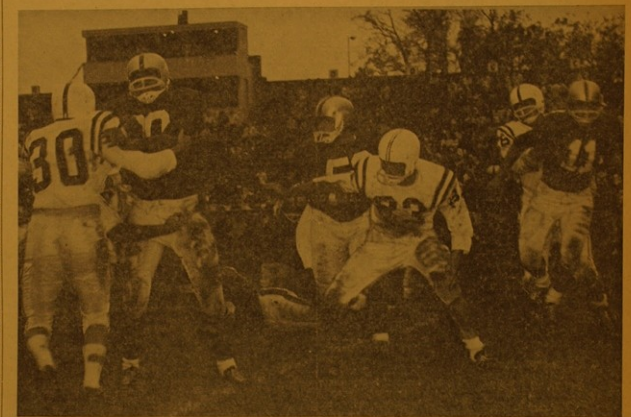

During one of their countless games, one cannot help but feel the nervousness, the excitement, the enthusiasm as the fans scream, yell, clap, stamp their feet, throw firecrackers and jump three feet higher at the judges time their favorite team and players to victory.

In this championship country, one head stands above the rest as the king of kings: Pelé. Probably no one reading this article has ever met the of this person but he is the best of the world has. This little 5'7", 150 lb. 21-year-old is internationally recognized as the outstanding soccer player of the world. The rich soccer team of Real Madrid of Madrid, Spain, offered $100,000 for him. Pelé has great skills and gave $15,000 just for his opinion, but Pelé remained in Brazil giving the world his pinpoint passing and perfect timing.

The Govs, 1-5 for the season, displayed the finest football of the season October 21, despite losing 21-7 to Eastern Kentucky. Austin Peay State spotted Eastern three touchdowns within a six minute and 32 second time period in the first quarter and then played the Maroons off their feet during the duration of the ball game.

APSG opened with a 6-1 defense but quickly switched into a variation of the 5-4 to get some outside support to halt Eastern pitches after the Maroons had scored three times.

So swift was the Eastern scoring spree that some of the fans had not completely settled into their seats before the first seven went up on the board. A 37 yard pitch-run to halfback Jimmy Chittum set up the initial score. William Goedge carried it over with 9:06 left and tackle Dave Hatfield added the point after.

A recovered fumble paved the way for the second score two minutes later. Quarterback Tony Latham hit Goedge with a 25 yard pass for the score and a 13-0 lead as the extra point was wide.

Eastern moved 64 yards in six plays for its third touchdown. A 25 yard sweep by Chittum resulted in the score. Latham bootlegged the two point extra.

From this point on most of the game was played with APSG in control although the Govs staged a great goal line stand moments later to halt the final Eastern bid. The Maroons had a first and goal on the two yard line. Three plays netted one yard and on fourth down Latham pitched out wide and Gov end Wayne Brewer dropped on the fumble at the 11 yard line.

come as Brazil is. Pelé is playing under $20,000 a year, an equivalent of $150,000 in the U. S.

ty, one of 14 during the afternoon, Parker came right back with a 13 yarder for another first at the two yard line. Another penalty put it out on the seven and after Donnelly got one yard, the quarter-end and the Govs' hopes of scoring in the third stanza ended. Two incomplete passes left the Govs with a fourth and six. A pass interference penalty put the ball on the one for another fourth down try, but APSG was off-side on the ensuing play and the ball was moved back out to the six from where Donnelly took it over on a great individual effort. Ralph Grant kicked the extra point with 14:44 left.

A 15 yard penalty killed another drive midway the stanza and a pass interception halted the final bid.

Goal was the Govs' top grand game with 73 yards in five carries and Donnelly had 54 in 16 plus 10 individual tackles, high for the half ball.

Cliff Sims, seven receptions and eight tackles, and Donnelly were instrumental in stopping the Eastern wide staff after the first quarter.

The efforts of the Govs in the final three quarters were the best of the season. Although Eastern gained 176 yards rushing, 133 of it came in the first quarter.

The 122 yards in penalties hurt the Govs at crucial times throughout the contest. Most came on offenses and motion violations.

MENC Third In State

Figures revealed this summer show that the APSC MENC chapter 225 of 1960-1961 was the largest in the state of Tennessee for the third straight year and was the largest chapter in the central South, which includes Tennessee, Kentucky, Arkansas, Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana.

Besides sponsoring many successful dances for the student body throughout the year, the MENC entrant has been the first runner-up for the last two years. Officers of the organization are: President Billy Murphy; Vice President Charles Winn; Secretary Geney Wall; Treasurer Judy Eastridge; Sergeant-at-Arms John Pickrell.

Dr. Stokes Fires Banquet

Members of the Education Department have made several visits this past summer and early fall to various meetings.

Dr. Elizabeth Stokes, assistant professor of education at Austin Peay State, attended a dinner meeting October 6 at Tennessee Polytechnic Institute. Dr. Stokes was one of two principal speakers at the educational banquet. The meeting was for school teachers around the Cookeville area.

Dr. Stokes attended the annual meeting of the American Psychological Association in New York City. It was held August 31 to September 6.

Dr. George Achley, assistant professor of education at APSC, recently attended an educational meeting at Springfield High school, Springfield. He returned to speak to several classes at Greenwood Junior High in Clarksville. He spoke about mental health in high school.

Dr. Harold Pryor, head of the Education Department, visited Europe this past August and September. He studied European methods and policies in the field of education and psychology. He visited England, Italy, Germany, Holland and Belgium.

Dr. Tom Savage, assistant professor of education and dean of students at Austin Peay State, spoke at the Camden High School, he spoke to the teachers of Benton County Schools about necessary concepts and social studies instruction in line with world conditions today.

Melissa McCoy, James McKindsey, Ronald Miller, Billy Murphy, Judy Lee Murphy, Barbara Nichols, Peggy Oliver, Frank Patton, James Phillips, John Pickrell, Frederick Relata, Jerry Scott, Rodney Slen, Ann Smith, Lester Solomon, Joyce Stephens, Leonard Stone, Betty Lu Strassburg, Douglas Tidwell, Brenda Tucker, J. Home Ec Club Meets

The Home Economics Club met October 19 in the living room of the department to plan a car entry for the Homecoming parade. Viola Harrison and Mildred Sue Martin were placed in charge.

On November 11, girls from all over the state will go to Nashville to attend a Home Economics Workshop at David Lipscomb College. The APSC club will send nine delegates and a sponsor.

The club discussed the possibility of a "Fall Fashion Show."

APSC Team Wins At Dunbar

The foursome of Jack Collins, Bill Baggett, George Faber and Dave Aaron captured the Scramble Foursome Tournament at the Dunbar Club October 22 with a brilliant 41.

The team of Don Sargent, Bob Anderson, Tommy Elam and Lew Padine was second with a 41.

A student was studying the merits of a local eatery. "What's the difference between the blue-plate special and the white-plate special?" he asked the waiter.

"The white-plate special is 5 cents extra," he replied.

"Is the food any better on the white-plate special?" the crafty student asked.

"No, but we have to wash the plates."

Baptists Send Betty

Miss Betty Ratcliff, a senior at Austin Peay State, represented the Baptists on campus at the B-SU Convention in Chattanooga, October 27-28.

Miss Ratcliff served as convener for a seminar. Quinine Harper, Middle Tennessee Regional Representative, gave a report of the nominating committee.

Previously, on October 30, the Baptist Student Union met for a discussion group at the home of Frances Hancock. Mrs. Floyd Brown's father, R. E. Berchett, is the author of the book, Chart and Compass for Christian Living. Before the discussion there was a winter road.

During October 27-27 the Baptists emphasized summer missions. On October 28 Bob McGhee, former president of the B-SU, gave a talk at the vesper service. From October 30 to November 2 the Baptists emphasized making APSC exchange students feel at home.

"Our 5-year-old son likes to put on dresses and walk around the house in them; should we be concerned about him?"

"Not necessarily - He's probably sent a mother wearing pants most of the day and is just making a natural inference."

Art Club Planned

Tentative plans are now being made to organize an Art Club on the campus of Austin Peay State College.

This announcement was made by Charles Young, head of the Fine Arts Department, according to Mr. Young this proposed organization will be composed of interested students majoring or minoring in art.

The first meeting has been scheduled for Wednesday, November 1 at the home of Lewis Barton. If any changes in the date are made, it will be announced and a new date given.

Frat Has Roast

The Gamma Theta Upsilon geographical fraternity held a winter roast on October 19 at the home of Professor Harry Law, fraternity sponsor.

About 20 students enjoyed the outing.

APSC Grad At Martin

Billy K. Edwards, who was graduated from Austin Peay State in 1960, has now obtained a position as laboratory instructor in chemistry at the University of Tennessee, Martin Branch.

A native of Hohenwald, he taught chemistry at Clarksville High School last year.

Newman Club Meets In Gym

The local Newman Club met on October 20 in the gymnasium. The discussion centered on the topic, "Catholics On Campus."

Circle K S'Heart

Trudy Lynn Rice, freshman from Lebanon, has been selected Circle K Sweetheart for the year.

The election was made, as it is done annually, just prior to the Homecoming activities. She displayed the club emblem in the club's Homecoming car.

Miss Rice was chosen from four candidates for the year-long honor. Sweethearts of most other campus groups are chosen for the Homecoming parade only.

She is a feature writer for The All State and is an art major.

The Circle K, headed by David Mason, is continuing plans for its annual Christmas Tournament.

Methodist Speaker Goode

Betty Ruth Goode spoke to the Methodist Student Movement on Tuesday, October 17.

Her topic was on the opportunities for Christian service. Miss Goode emphasized the need for new workers for Christ. She concluded with a film entitled "Make All Things New."

The executive council met and appointed new members of the publicity committee. Jane Duffell, Carl Hart and Betty Berry are to assist Roy Rogers Price and Carol Brinkerhoff. Local members of the MSM were selected to attend a workshop November 10 and 11 in Nashville. Those members are Martha Young, local group president; Harold Phillips, treasurer; Fay Shearson, for program activities; Albert Coke, for worship; and Carl Hart for evangelism.

Harold Phillips was chosen captain of the group's bowling team, soon to begin intramural competition with other campus teams.

Library Cites Workers

Even though many students usually perform the services of the APSC Library needs to be introduced to the students on this campus.

Professionally trained librarians usually perform the services these student workers do successfully. Some of these students work behind the scenes; others meet the public; but all perform an excellent service to the school and to its students. This opportunity is taken to introduce these members of the staff who have worked in the library at least one quarter prior to the Fall Quarter.

Karen Gowan, a sophomore from LaVerge, works in the acquisitions department. She is in charge of acquiring all serial publications for the library.

Jo Anne Dinsmore, a sophomore from Palmora, works in the cataloging department preparing government documents for the shelves.

Phyllis Elliot, junior, Oak Grove, Ky.; Martha Varble, senior, Russellville, Ky.; and Loretta Wheatley, sophomore, Camden, also work in the cataloging department preparing books for circulation.

The Old Times

"A man who throws up a bluff doesn't always hit the target."

Ruth Fuller, a sophomore from Hopkinsville, Ky., works in the library office as secretary.

The staff members met with the public work in the circulation department, of which Mrs. Sara Morrow is the head. Nancy Ann Barry, a senior from Clarksville,

Erin Hears Law

Professor Harry Law delivered the Ladies' Night address on October 17 to the Erin Rotter Club, of which he is president.

Mr. Law spoke on the topic "Law in Action" at the annual affair. He was accompanied by his wife and the past district governor, Dean M. P. Bowman and Mrs. Bowman.

The Business Club meets twice a month, on the second and fourth Monday. All business majors and minors are eligible for membership.

The Business Club plans recreational activities for its members. A movie is planned this year for fund-raising.

Sponsors for the Business Club are Mrs. Gerald Ladd and J. F. Burge.

The officers of the club are President C. A. Thomas; Vice-President Lawrence Edwin Baggett; Secretary Linda Robinson; Treasurer Martha Younger; Reporter Betty Jo Coleman; Student Council Representative Jean Hargrove.

Peace Meet Held

Dr. Fred A. Bunger, associate professor of education at Austin Peay State College, attended the regional meeting of the Peace Corps Conference in Cincinnati, October 30-31.

Bunger is the Peace Corps representative for Austin Peay State College and attended the conference intending to keep abreast of the Peace Corps for the benefit of faculty, student body and administration.

The conference was held to inform persons in colleges and in industry of the purpose of the Corps.

Gregg Polvin, assistant chief of recruitment, was in charge of the conference. Sargent Sargent Jr., director of the Peace Corps and brother-in-law of President Kennedy, spoke to the group at a banquet, expressing the need for high quality people.

Qualifications for Peace Corps applicants are as follows: must be 18 years or over, married couples without dependent children may apply, parents' approval is necessary for those under 21.

Four months after the beginning of the program, 276 persons are enrolled in the Corps overseas and 280 are in training in this country. At the present the Corps anticipates 15 projects in individual one thousand people by June of 1963.

As many of the people in the Peace Corps are sent to Africa and the Middle East, they must undergo a 26-day training program in Puerto Rico, simulating conditions that exist in the Middle East.

Those interested in the program should contact Dr. Fred Bunger at the Browsing Administration Building.

Dr. Fred Bunger

Dr. Aaron Schmidt, director of bands, Austin Peay State College, has been appointed a member of the National Advisory Board of music educators.

The board is composed of nearly 100 music educators and band directors from high schools and colleges across the nation, who will meet "by proxy" to consider common problems and to pool professional resources for the benefit of music educators everywhere.

G. Lebane Corporation, Kenosha, Wis., a leading manufacturer of musical instruments, is sponsor of the group.

The board "convened" in October by answering the first of a series of questionnaires dealing with some of the outstanding problems in the field of music education.

Completed questionnaires will be screened at Lebane and the results and information they contain condensed and made available to music educators everywhere for their consideration and use. A face-to-face meeting of the board is projected for some time in the future.

Law Joins Council

Harry L. Law Sr., professor of geography at Austin Peay State College, was elected by the Clarksville City Council recently to fill the unexpired term of a councilman who resigned in order to be city-county civil defense director.

Law has been a member of the local City Council before. The Council elected him by acclamation to serve the 10th Ward of Clarksville.

The city charter has previously contained provisions that made it difficult for city councilmen to also be engaged in a publicly-employed profession. However, as Mrs. Morrow's assistant and supervises the work of the other members of this department.

Circle K Scores

The Circle K Club sponsored a dance October 14. Although most of the students were off campus that weekend, the dance was turned a success. The Apogees, a rock and roll combo, were featured.

Students Up Foreign Lab

More students are taking advantage of the Foreign Language Department than ever before.

Dr. Joseph Thomas, head of the department, stated that 120 are now engaged in the study of a foreign language. The larger number of students are taking Spanish, with German and French second and third, in that order.

Dr. Thomas also spoke highly of the language laboratory, which is a boon for oral practice of foreign languages. The lab, which is two years old, enables students to compare their pronunciation with that of a model.

Dr. Thomas feels that the time is ripe for the formation of a foreign language club. Films of interest are available and the department has the funds for such a project. Those interested in this may speak with Dr. Thomas.
