CLARKSVILLE, TENNESSEE, APRIL 28, 1960

NUMBER 14

Laura Swift Chosen 'Miss Hat and Cane'

Laura Swift, center, was chosen "Miss Hat and Cane" in the April 21 beauty pageant at Austin Peay. Joyce Hutson, left, was First Maid and Marty Chambliss, right, was Second Maid. The pageant was the college's second.

Laura Swift, sophomore, was crowned the winner of the annual Austin Peay State College Beauty Pageant, conducted in the Clement Building Friday, April 21.

Miss Swift is a music major from Clarksville, and will be known as "Miss Hat and Cane."

The winner of the competition was previously called Miss Austin Peay State College, but due to a conflict with another award given at the college the title was changed this year and all subsequent winners will be known as "Miss Hat and Cane."

Miss Swift will represent Austin Peay State College in the Miss Tennessee Beauty Pageant to be held at Jackson, Tennessee.

Joyce Hutson, representing M. E.M.C., was chosen first maid and Marty Chambliss, sponsored by the Circle K, was the second maid. Miss Swift's sponsor was the Phi Mu Alpha Fraternity.

Miss Hutson and Miss Chambliss, as well as Miss Swift, were picked from six semi-finalists. The other three semi-finalists and their sponsors were: Diane Elert, English Club, Patsy Foster, Aqua Belles, and Martha Younger, Omega Club.

Miss Swift was crowned by last year's winner, Danni Wink, who finished ninth, of a field of forty, in last year's judging for the Miss Tennessee title.

The other contestants and their sponsors were: Jane Blackford, Business Club, Marty Brown, Circle K, Gloria Clevenger, Omega Club, Ann Consperry, McKee-Hall, Judy Graves, Alpha Club, Ann Mullins, M.S.M., Gayle Scott, Business Club and Martha Varble, Beta Club.

Student Council, Betty Ratcliff was in charge of this year's presentation.

Master of ceremonies was Don Alsop, an Austin Peay graduate, and entertainment was furnished by Larry Womack, vocalist, Ernest Nichols, piano, and Paul Garrison, drums.

Home Ec. Day Held At AP

Home Economics Day was held at Austin Peay April 13 for high school senior girls and their home economics teachers.

A Sub-District meeting of Future Homemakers was held on the college campus that night.

A panel was held to discuss opportunities in home economics. Phylla Rawlings Hach, WJZM home economist, led the panel. Mrs. Hach has done "Kitchen Kolls" at Clarksville since 1957 and on WSM television from 1952 to 1955. She wrote a cookbook of that title, and has received various awards for her work.

Others on the panel were Mary Katherine Nolen, home demonstration agent in Centerville and a former APSC student, Mrs. Joe Trahern, Jr., and Mrs. Ann Swift Corlew, home economics teacher at Greenwood Junior High School.

Students from the middle Tennessee area and a part of Kentucky attended. Home Economics Day is to be held later at other colleges, but Austin Peay had its early because of the Tennessee Home Economics Association convention in Chattanooga April 22, 23, and 24. Theme of the convention will be "A Look Into the Future." April 17 to 24 has been proclaimed Tennessee Home Economics Week by Governor Ellington.

English Club Sponsors Contest

The English Department and the English Club are sponsoring an essay contest to determine the recipient of the Tower Scholarship. This contest will be held April 29 in the Clement Fine Arts Building at 1 p.m.

There is a possibility that two scholarships will be awarded, but there will be one for sure.

All high school seniors who would accept a scholarship to Austin Peay and stay four years as an English major are eligible to compete. The essays which will be written without specific preparation will be judged by the English Department staff.

The purpose of this contest is to give the seniors an opportunity to demonstrate their capabilities and to achieve for themselves an award of $200 to be applied against their fees.

At the present time, there are two students on the campus who are recipients of the Tower scholarship. They are Sheila Bowman and Roy Rogers Price.

Former Student Completes Course

QUANTICO, Va. (PHNOC) — Among 36 Second Lieutenants who completed the 30-week officers' basic course at the Marine Corps Schools in Quantico, Va., April 7, was Reginald E. Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. Armstrong of 1303 Rosemont, Amarillo, Texas.

He is a graduate of Austin Peay State College, in Clarksville, Tennessee.

The course includes indoor classes in personnel administration, first aid, map reading, weapons, field sanitation and leadership techniques.

In field, practical map reading, live firing of weapons, drills and ceremonies, and the practical aspects of communications and employment of supporting weapons are applied.

The basic course is compulsory for all newly commissioned Marine officers, including former enlisted men, college graduates or graduates of the U. S. Naval Academy.

APSC To Have Writers' Workshop

The only writers' conference in the state of Tennessee will be held this summer at Austin Peay State College. Called the "Cumberland Writers' Workshop," it will run from July 18-29 and will feature conferences with nationally known writers.

Among the leaders of the workshop will be Harry Harrison Kroll, head of the English Department of the University of Tennessee, Martin Branch, author of some two dozen novels, 300 short stories and 100 poems. Among his better known books are I Was a Sharecropper and Cable in the Cotton, which was made into a movie starring Bette Davis.

Also appearing will be Thomas D. Mahry, a Clarksville native now living on a farm near Allen, Kentucky. Mahry, a former librarian of Fisk University, head of the Museum of Modern Art in New York, and member of the staff of the Iowa State University Writers' Workshop. He is best known as a short story writer. His story "The Indian Feather" won the first place in the 1954 O. Henry short story awards. His most recent book is written in conjunction with Ward Dornier and is entitled The White Hound Dog.

Dr. A. L. Crabb of Nashville and Peabody College will also be featured. Dr. Crabb is a native Kentuckian who has made Civil War Nashville and Chattanooga the scenes of most of his eleven novels. He is the author of numerous short stories and articles and is much in demand as a public speaker. Dinner at Belmont and Peace at Bowling Green are among his better known works.

It is expected that other established writers will be added to the list as plans for the workshop progress.

Attendance at the workshop is open to anyone above high school age who is interested in improving his abilities as a writer. Inquiries as to fees, accommodations, etc. should be directed to Dr. George C. Grise, Austin Peay State College, the director of the Cumberland Writers' Workshop.

All State To Give Trophy

Continuing an award which was initiated last year, the ALL STATE will award a trophy this year to the club on campus which has contributed the most outstanding services to the college.

Clubs who are eligible for this award and who wish to compete for it must turn in their lists of accomplishments no later than May 15, 1960. The ALL STATE Trophy Committee, composed of the ALL STATE sponsor and editor and the Dean of Students, will judge the lists.

Last year, the Circle K Club won the award for its outstanding service to the college. Other clubs that participated in the competition were: The English Club, the M.E.N.C., P.E.M. and the Science Clubs.

The trophy, with the name of the winning club on it, will be displayed in the corridor of the library.

Harvill Gets Own Portrait In Assembly Program

A portrait was presented to Herbert Harvill, president of Austin Peay State College, April 13.

The portrait was presented by the Circle K Club, college service club for men students, for the President's "distinguished service to public education in Tennessee, and particularly because of his record as President of Austin Peay State College."

Charles T. Young, head of the college's Art Department and a worker with the Circle K, painted the portrait.

Evans Harvill, a son of the president, unveiled the portrait before the large group of college students.

Sherwin Clift, Circle K president, spoke of some of President Harvill's accomplishments, including classroom teacher in rural schools, high school principal, superintendent, college instructor, dean-registrar, state commissioner of education, and college president.

Harvill twice interrupted his educational career to serve during both world wars for a total of six years active service, retiring at the end of the Second World War with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel.

He has been president of Austin Peay since 1946. Buildings built during his administration include the Browning Administration and Library Building, Mrs. H. M. Reynolds Hall, Memorial Health and Physical Education Building, Catherine Evans Harvill Cafeteria, Maintenance Building, and the Clements Fine Arts Building.

Two new dormitories, as well as housing for married students, are now being constructed. Old buildings have been renovated and redecorated, and campus size has been increased by purchase of nearby property for future use.

Read and Tell

By MARY NELL KIMBLE

Peasat Mountala, a mathematics major from Baghdad, Iraq, has presented the Austin Peay State College library a copy of the Koran or The Holy Quran, Text, Translation and Commentary by Abdullah Yusuf Ali.

The Koran is the sacred writings of the Moslems. The name Koran means "the reading" or "That which is to be read." The Koran, consisting of verses grouped into 114 chapters or suras is about the size of the New Testament. It directs the lives of Moslems throughout the world. For many years it has served as the principal textbook in Moslem schools.

In this particular version the English interpretation is presented in a column beside the Arabic text. It was the author's purpose not just to substitute one word for another, but to give the fullest possible expression to give the fullest meaning that he could understand from the Arabic text. The rhythmic music and cadence of the original is reflected in the English interpretation.

There are also short notes at the bottom of each page called a running commentary. It is possible to read these and get a general view of the contents.

This copy of the Koran is a welcome addition to the Austin Peay State College library which is always happy to receive gifts. A philanthropic fund called BOOKS, AUSTIN PEAY STATE COLLEGE, has been set up. Anyone, or any group, may make contributions for the purchase of titles for the students and faculty at Austin Peay. Specific titles may be suggested with the gift. Each title will bear a gift plate designating the name of the donor. Donations can be presented in memory or in honor of any group or person. The gift plate will record this. Gifts may be presented in person or checks mailed to the college. Checks should be made out and mailed to BOOKS, AUSTIN PEAY STATE COLLEGE.

On contributing a book to the library, one person helps not only himself but as many people as will read the book each year. The increased knowledge it will engender can be never ending.

Math Tests Slated For Austin Peay

The fourth annual high school mathematics contest is to begin at various testing centers April 29.

The state is divided into three regions: the Middle Tennessee re-

Instructors Floyd Ford and Charles Boehms, and Rosemary Oakes, Beverly Nichols, and Charlie Mays left the Austin Peay campus Tuesday, April 19, to attend a meeting in New Orleans, Louisiana.

This meeting actually involved two meetings, that of the Association of Southeastern Biologists and the Southeastern Regional Beta Beta Beta Convention. The former is an association for biology professors, teachers, and researchers and the latter is a national honor society for students.

Representing this school at Loyola were Rosemary Oakes, Beverly Nichols, present historian; Charles Mays, president-elect; and Charles Boehms, faculty advisor of the Tri-Beta at Austin Peay. Floyd Ford attended the Association meeting. The meeting was held April 21 through 23.

Schmidt Replaced
By G. A. Saucier

Aaron Schmidt, assistant professor of music at Austin Peay has received a grant-in-aid for advanced study from Austin Peay. Schmidt has been granted a leave of absence for the spring and summer quarters to complete the dissertation for his Doctorate Degree. He will remain in Clarksville until the first of June when he will enter the University of Nebraska in Lincoln, Nebraska. He will rejoin the teaching staff at Austin Peay August 1, 1960.

Gene A. Saucier, Shreveport, La., is taking Schmidt's place at Austin Peay. He received his B. M. and M. M. degrees from the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, and has served on the junior faculty of that institution.

Saucier has been band and choral director at Madeira High School, Madeira, Ohio, and choral director of the Holy Trinity Church, Shreveport. From 1955 to 1958 he was an instructor at Western State College, Gunnison, Ohio; in 1958 he became choir director of the St. Pius X Church, Shreveport.

gion is headed by James Stack of Austin Peay State College's mathematics faculty. Middle Tennessee is further divided into seven testing centers; center is headed by George Broderson, also of the AFSC math faculty.

The local testing center is at Austin Peay. This will be the tenth annual math contest for Austin Peay, which started the contest in 1951 before it became statewide.

Testing areas will be first year algebra, second year algebra, plane geometry, and comprehensive. The test will be given in two parts, one to determine local winners and one to determine state winners.

State winners will be announced May 14 at the meeting of the Tennessee Mathematics Teachers Association.

Sixteen schools from this testing center have indicated a desire to participate in the contest. Over 1,000 students are expected to be in the contests throughout middle Tennessee.

A certificate of merit will be awarded winners of first, second, and third places in each testing center in each of the four divisions.

In the region, for each division of the contest, a certificate of distinction will be awarded the top three winners and a certificate of achievement will be awarded the fourth through tenth place winners.

On the state level, shield-type plaques will go to the top three contestants in each division, as well as to their schools. Mathematics books are to be donated to the libraries of the schools of the top three state winners in each division.

Capps Next
Math Head

John Capps is the next president of Austin Peay's Mathematics Club.

He was elected for 1960-61 at the April 18 club meeting.

Other new officers are vice-president Benny Collins and secretary-treasurer Emily Grant.

McGhee To Serve
As B.S.U. Head

Bob McGhee will serve another year as president of the Baptist Student Union. Carey Lee is the new vice-president, and Nancy Burney is the new secretary.

Other new officers are Paul Dickens, enlistment chairman, Skip Gary and Janelle Mason, social co-chairmen, Martha Pate Jackson, devotional chairman, Betty Ratcliff, publicity chairman, Dot Galbraith, missions chairman, Alice Burton, Sunday School and Training Union chairman, Buddy Solomon, music chairman, David Mason, town student representative, Larry Epperson, pianist, and Junior Shoemaker and Martha Varble, co-chairmen of extra curricular activities.

Faculty sponsors are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brown again. Joseph C. Hough, Jr., is again the pastor adviser.

The Rev. Paul Turner spoke to the group at its installation banquet April 14.

Rev. Turner said the word is a "Roaring Camp." When Jesus came into the world, change occurred. Women are no longer bought and sold, there are laws against overworking children, and slavery has been abolished. Changes continue to be made, he said. War is still a threat, but man wants peace. Jesus, he said, brought a relationship that helps people live with others.

The presence of God in one's life won't let him remain as he is, said Turner. God will fill the gap in one's life.

People try so much to change others, he said. Instead, they should tackle themselves, with God's aid.

A skit preceded the officer installation and talk. The installation of officers was a candle-lighting ceremony.

Governors Shock University of Notre Dame

Right now Austin Peay's Baseball Coach Leon Sandifer is probably glad that one of his players pulled a leg muscle. Jerry Vaughn, centerfielder for the Gobs, pulled a leg muscle last week so Sandifer replaced him with a pitcher called Ronnie Bibb who had a reputation as being a good hitting hurler.

Sandifer's move played off, and how. The Governors thoroughly defeated the University of Notre Dame at Austin Peay 6-4, and it was a deep homerun in left field which Bibb poked in the third inning with a teammate on base that actually won the game, April 22.

For Austin Peay it was a great win. The Irish had been picked in a pre-season coaches' poll as the number two team in the Midwest and number nine in the nation. Notre Dame had the majority of last year's team back with the exception of the centerfielder and second baseman. The whole pitching staff returned, and almost every one of them attempted to stem the Gobs' batting assault. For the last three years, Notre Dame has participated in the NCAA playoffs.

Before being taken into camp by the determined Governors, Notre Dame was riding a nine-game winning streak. They had beaten the University of Illinois, Memphis, Lipscomb and Arkansas State.

The victory set Austin Peay's season slate at 7-2 and the Big Red battles UTMB at Martin Monday.

Ken Connelly, freshman right-hander from Chattanooga, hurled a brilliant game and allowed only five hits and fanned eight batters.

"It's a mess, isn't he?" was Sandifer's statement - question after the ballgame. "Connelly showed a lot of courage and poise for a freshman. The fact that we were playing such a powerful ballclub didn't awe him a bit."

Sandifer also had some kind words to say about third sacker Jim Stewart, catcher David Mason and first baseman John Biggerman. "Stewart, Mason and Biggerman did a fine job for us. Their defensive work gave our whole team a lot of confidence."

"We had several stars yesterday," Sandifer commented. "But all in all I think it was a complete team effort. Everyone did a good job."

Austin Peay practically demoralized Notre Dame in the first inning when the Gobs scored four runs off pitcher Jim Hannon, the starting Irish pitcher. Hannon walked five, gave up two hits and made a wild pitch which resulted in the four runs.

With Gerald Lyle on board, Bibb stepped up to the plate and planted his homer in left field, and that iced the game down for Austin Peay.

Notre Dame picked up a run in the fourth inning on a homer by John Carretta, they picked up another in the sixth, and then Frank Finnegan blasted one in the ninth with a man on to account for the final two runs.

Mason, Lyle and Vaughn led the Gobs' batting attack. Mason had 1-3, Lyle 2-3 and Vaughn 2-4.

Before the game was over, Notre Dame had used three pitchers.

APSC Golfers Defeat Lipscomb

Austin Peay Golf Team tripped David Lipscomb at Nashville 12½ to 51 to pick its first golf victory of the season, April 12.

Last year the golfers won only one match during a six match schedule. Friday, the golf team travels to Bowling Green, Ky., to play Western Kentucky.

Phil Cleveland APSC, was the low medalist of the day for both Austin Peay and David Lipscomb with his 77 for the par 71 course.

Other results: Cleveland (AP) beat Ferguson (Lipscomb) 24-14; Bill Hutchinson (Lipscomb) beat Doc Sargent (AP) 24-14; Bill Fain (AP) beat Frank Outlier (Lipscomb) 2-1; Fred Alexander (AP) beat Jack Amos (Lipscomb) 2-4; Austin Peay - Lipscomb tied at 14-14 in the first foursome; Austin Peay beat Lipscomb 3-0 in the second foursome.
