the image of a college

A college is a gathering place for those who want to learn. College is a place of opportunity where one has the chance to develop his intellectual interests and abilities under favorable conditions with fellow learners, teaching scholars, classrooms, laboratories and a library. Encompassed within a college is purpose, spirit, experience, beauty and memories while preparing for the future. Austin Peay State College is a state-supported multipurpose senior college with a graduate division. Named for one of Tennessee's great governors, APSC, founded in 1927, has an enrollment of 2,471 students which come from 32 states of the union, several foreign countries and 70 of the 95 counties in Tennessee. Conveniently located in Clarksville, Tenn., one of the state's fastest growing cities with a metropolitan population of approximately 35,000, the college enrollment has nearly doubled during the past six years. Simultaneously, millions of dollars have been spent on the physical plant and instructional staff additions.

AUSTIN PEAY

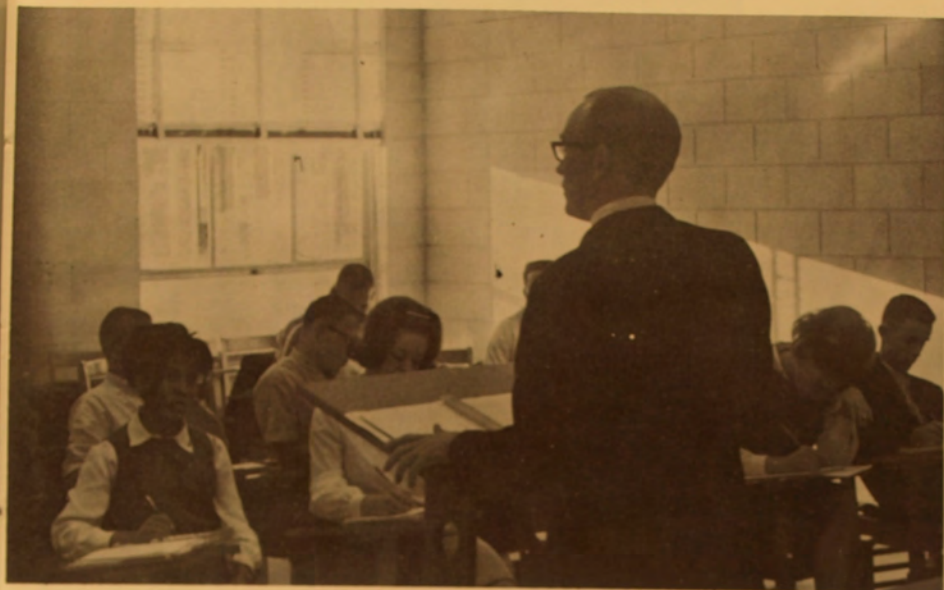

STATE COLLEGE

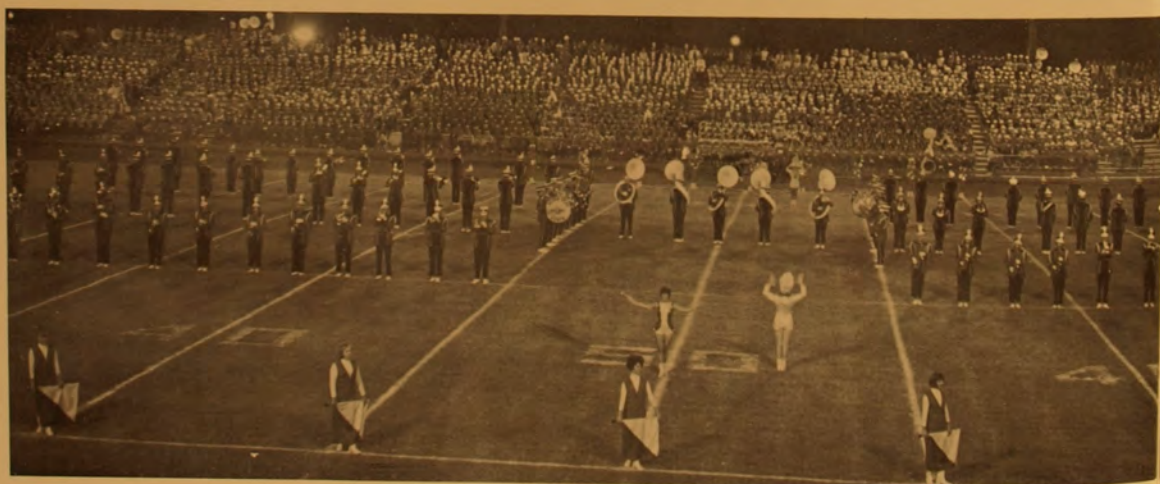

Our youth of today must be better educated and trained to meet the challenges of this complex age. APSC's purpose or objective is to meet this need by producing educated men and women. Culture may be obtained in many ways: vicariously through the masterpieces of visual and literary art;

its purpose

or first person through personal contact and the interaction of personalities—student to professor, friend to friend, or boy to girl. The APSC student is given the opportunity to widen his interests and develop an inquiring mind, to learn to think imaginatively, communicate thought effectively, make sound judgments and choose wisely among moral, spiritual and aesthetic values and to be prepared to enter a chosen vocation with the desire to take a responsible part in the wide society in which we live.

Enthusiastic loyalty is college spirit. It is contagious; it can be displayed in many forms. The spirit to live, to shout, to cry, to give or just to watch are only a few of the forms of college spirit. It can be ignited by a bonfire, magnified during homecoming week and pitched to its zenith during an athletic contest. It can be toned to religious activity, a Christmas party or day-to-day college living. College life is exciting, and often very electrifying. Each student has the opportunity to choose the direction of his spirit as long as it does not damage the welfare of the institution and others. Spirit is important in the development of personal and social maturity; it is necessary for an active college community; it is the release of tension, among others.

The climate of a campus, both the academic and the social atmosphere in which a student lives, works and plays, is a vital part of the college experience. To one who has the privilege to attend college, there's nothing quite like it. Events are not always enjoyable, but sometimes, displeasing and sorrowful. Regardless of the situation, insight is gained by the student. Experience is living away from home, meeting your roommate, gaining new friends, struggling through registration, learning how to study properly and learning self-discipline. Realizations evolve in the mind of the student with each new endeavor, but he quickly begins to recognize his strengths and weaknesses. Sometimes he conquers; sometimes he fails to meet the challenge. APSC strives to provide the setting for experience, which produces a graduate with knowledge, skill and technique.

its experience

Beauty is a quality which gives pleasure to the senses, to the mind and to the soul. It is sometimes indescribable. Buildings, whether designed to fit the Greek era or the modern architectural age, beautify the campus grounds. Lovely coeds attract the attention of handsome males; a sterling performance by the marching band and Governettes brings plaudit; a well-executed sports play excites the fans; and the successful completion of a scientific experiment is beautiful to the students involved. An appreciation of beauty and the wise selection of aesthetic values is one of the foremost purposes of APSC.

Memorable moments of college living linger for a lifetime. APSC's largest freshman class in history engulfed the campus in late September for orientation prior to registration. Upperclassmen returned to renew old friendships, and to find crowded dormitories and limited parking space.

its memories Homecoming week and the finest football season in history provided thrills during the fall quarter. Ole Man Winter strutted during the winter quarter; however, the spring quarter brought sun bathing instead of sledding. Regardless of the season, activity in and out of the classroom set the stage for lasting memories.

Her past distinguished, her present dynamic—her progress is unlimited. During the 1965-66 academic year, we have seen the completion of a 32-unit married housing complex. Construction began on a $1.4 million library, a student union building to cost one million, an $800,000 women's residence hall, a $450,000 men's dormitory and a $600,000 classroom building to house the departments of education, business and agriculture. Additional building is slated in the long-range campus development plan. Brick and mortar do not make an alma mater, but it provides the facilities for administrators and professors to prepare us for our future.

College life has infinite variety. College life embraces all of the tribulations that would beset a small city, which we collectively are. Fascination surrounds student life from freshman orientation until graduation. Following the experiences come the memories. There's nothing quite like the opening of a new college year. Old friends are back and new ones are on the threshold. Aside from the pursuit of knowledge, there are dorm life, receptions, informal dances and formal balls, parties, field trips, entertainment, art exhibits, theatrical performances, athletic contests, homecoming, beauty pageants, organizational work and campus politics. Lighthearted minds become sober to participate in religious activities and to lend a helping hand to our soldiers in foreign fields. Campus life is an important part of learning, growing and living at APSC.

Frosh learn quickly the traditions of their college at reception

Questioning John Elliott about his madras pants is Dean M. P. Bowman.

Each autumn brings the opening of a new school year and a new year of campus life. Of the record number 2,471 students enrolling, 1,009 were freshmen.

Freshmen tests and orientation periods captivated the major portion of the opening week, September 20-25. Registration, the freshmen talent show, faculty-student receptions, dances, parties and church socials accounted for the remainder of the students' leisure time.

Assuming adult responsibility in such a gay situation posed difficulty for the incoming frosh.

Four stags grow weary as other freshmen take intermission break.

Decision of courses is vital during week of registration.

Waiting and long lines typify registration.

Confusion and frustration usually reigns on registration day. Despite this year's shortcomings, it was generally agreed that on the whole registration procedures were a definite improvement over the past year.

Simplification of pulling class cards, registration steps and the initiation of the $2 fee for changing a course decreased waiting periods and long, long lines.

The addition of several student assistants also improved the flow of traffic in the Memorial Health Building.

Final official enrollment figures showed a record 2,471 students, a slight increase over the 1964 fall quarter figure. A breakdown shows 1,564 men and 907 women. By classification, there were 1,009 freshmen, 640 sophomores, 405 juniors, 328 seniors, 67 graduate students and 22 special students.

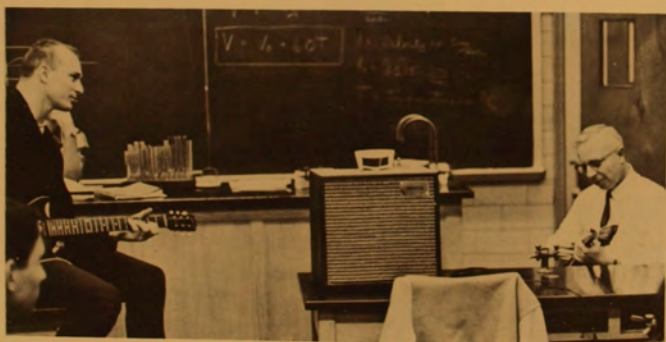

Fast-working clerks soothe registration pains.

Diligent students return to the classroom after the summer break vowing to raise their grade-point averages.

The eagerness to discuss, research and understand continues until the rekindled attitude sometimes loses its enthusiasm in the daily routine.

Swept aside, partially at least, by numerous campus activities, the student must learn to budget his valuable time between both classwork and activity to develop into the all-around person.

An atmosphere of spirit and gaiety is built around sports

College spirit, enjoyed by "Joe College" and "Betty Coed," will be treasured for years and years as many an APSC alumnus will tell you. The unequalled spirit reaches its peak on a crisp, fall afternoon while viewing a gridiron spectacle, or on a bleak, winter night watching a cage attraction.

The big sound of the marching band pumps adrenaline and brings fever-pitched emotion to the throngs gathered at an athletic contest.

International flavor was added when the touring University of Mexico basketball team visited several APSC classes following a game with the Governors' quintet.

Homecoming celebration attracts largest crowd in APSC history

Floats . . . parades . . . bonfires . . . pep rallies . . . most of all, a certain spirit of loyalty to our alma mater which is unparalleled throughout the year. We're speaking, of course, of homecoming.

"The Sound of Victory" was the 1965 homecoming theme and each unit in the parade and dormitory was decorated around a song title.

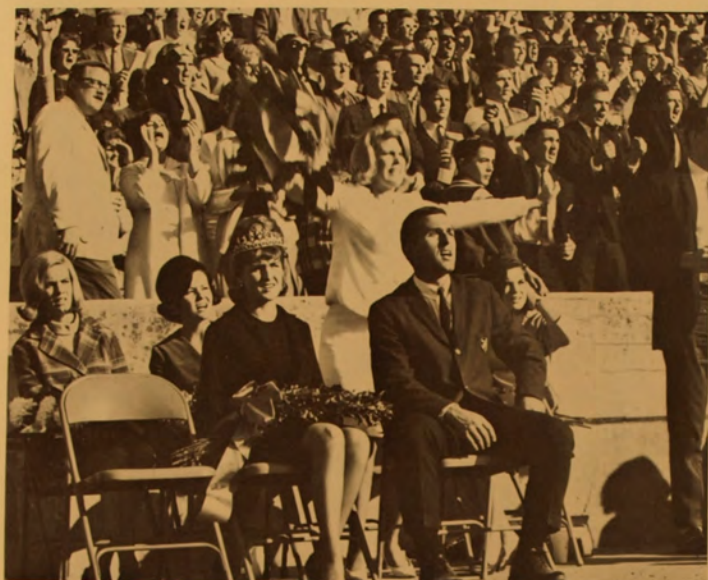

With the aid of the finest football record in history, and the much-publicized "Game of the Year" in the OVC; a record-breaking 11,000 students, faculty, alumni, friends and fans overflowed Municipal Stadium.

In the wake of student protests in colleges and universities across the country to the Viet Nam crisis, APSC students showed their maturity by organizing "Operation Support."

Vicki Keith, managing editor of the campus weekly, and Larry Richardson, ASB president, spearheaded a campaign to assist soldiers from the 101st Airborne Division at nearby Ft. Campbell, Ky., who were in Viet Nam.

Through student drives donations were raised from Clarksville citizens, faculty members, and a dance and unique football game between freshmen and upperclassmen.

Exhibits, concerts and drama productions were increasingly popular with the student body this year as the departments of art, music and speech and theatre broadened their areas.

The AP Playhouse presented "Ghosts," "The Solid Gold Cadillac" and "Antigone" during the fall and winter quarters, and attendance grew greatly due to the caliber of the productions.

Musically, the Clarksville Community Concert series presented the Nashville Symphony Orchestra, the Golden Curtain Quartet and the Don Shirley Trio. The New York Brass Quintet directed a clinic and staged a concert under the sponsorship of the department of music.

The Trahern Gallery, which periodically displays varied works, showed a collection of faculty-owned pieces of art in December.

Coeds trade formality for comfort by shedding shoes at Valentine Dance.

Valentine dance, 'Best Dressed' highlight mid-winter socials

Only one girl-ask-boy dance exists at APSC, and this is the traditional Valentine dance. Sponsored by the Panhellenic Council and the four Greek-letter social clubs, it is in honor of the King and Queen of Hearts. Andrea Durick was chosen queen and Bill Arrington king.

Fashions and charming coeds accompanied the February 23 dinner at the college cafeteria for the annual "Best Dressed" contest. Sponsored by The All State, Miss Sheryl Mallory was selected the best dressed coed before a large audience.

The first phase begins on the proposed $850,000 women's dormitory.

Completion of the $1.4 million library is expected by November 1.

A $440,000 men's residence hall is slated for opening September 1.

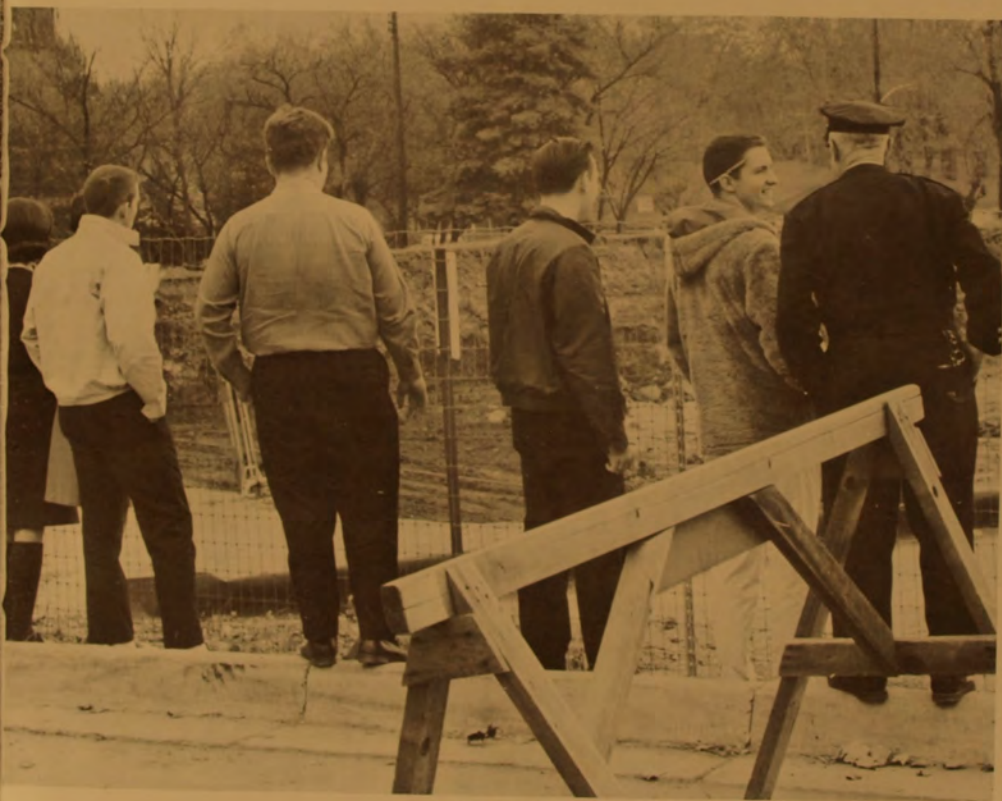

Gigantic building program hampered by sub-freezing temperatures

Ole Man Winter crept into the massive construction scene, and for a three-week period hampered APSC's unprecedented building program. Sunny skies soon made it possible to pour concrete again, and the familiar snow battles subsided.

A 32-apartment married complex costing $340,000 was completed in December; however, furious work continues on a $1.4 million library, an $850,000 women's dormitory and a $440,000 men's residence hall. Completion of the three-story, 77,000 square foot library is expected by November 1, while the dormitories should be ready for occupancy this fall.

Still, a one million dollar student union building and a $600,000 classroom are on the drawing boards.

Circle K-Faculty basketball game provides more thrill than skill

A mad scramble prevails over "lost" contact lens.

Revenge-minded faculty members swept to a 63-40 victory in the annual Circle K-Faculty "basketball" game. With three coaches leading the scoring, the faculty avenged last year's close loss.

Sponsored by the Circle K Club, a service organization, the proceeds from the game are placed in the club's scholarship fund for high school seniors in the college's immediate service area.

Weekends set off happy hours and closeness not soon forgotten

Amidst all the hurry of a weekend, there is still time for a couple to have a quiet moment together. Rachel Duke, a native of White Bluff, and Willie Simmons, Ashland City, depict a typical date night at APSC.

Couples may attend many of the numerous activities on the campus together, but occasionally they may want to escape the campus proper for an entertaining evening.

Women's dormitory hours vary according to classification and scholastic standing, but Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday evenings are usually considered "date nights."

Exemplifying the southern tradition, our college has a number of belles and beaux to which we may point with pride. Following the pattern for its naming, the top superlatives are appropriately titled Governor and First Lady, which are the most outstanding seniors in the eyes of the students. The Bachelor of Ugliness and Miss APSC represent the best personalities, while the Iris Queen, Homecoming Queen and the King and Queen of Hearts reign over their respective activities. Miss Hat and Cane represents the college annually in the Miss Tennessee pageant; the Best Dressed Girl typifies the fashion of the day. Additionally, beauties are chosen to grace the pages. Popular vote is the usual manner of selection.

Leaders and guides, some with the exuberance of youth, some with dignity of age, introduce the student to Austin Peay State College—its educational facilities and many specialized services. Yet, still others must supervise. Theirs is the task of drafting administrative policy, setting goals, strengthening the standards and maintaining the college.

The administration, together with the faculty and student body, form the modern college. It is the administration which is responsible for efficiency and effectiveness as the faculty and students become involved in scholarly pursuits. The administrative positions require personnel with self-confidence, inspiration and the ability to make and finalize decisions. It is the ultimate purpose of both the student and adult administrators to maintain and improve APSC.

Governor

FRANK G. CLEMENT
Governor of Tennessee

Much of the current growth of Austin Peay State College can be attributed to the efforts of Governor Frank G. Clement and the State Board of Education. Truly one of the greatest education governors of Tennessee, his position of sponsoring programs to meet the growing educational needs in this state has revolutionized higher education in Tennessee.

President Joe Morgan oversees college expansion program

Joe Morgan, former state commissioner of education, has directed great advancements, not only in the growth of the physical plant, but also in the quality and quantity of instruction since assuming duties as fourth president on Jan. 1, 1963.

During his relatively short time on the campus, Morgan has formulated a long-range campus developmental plan which includes an unprecedented building program that will cost $12 million and more than double the facilities and enrollment in the next few years.

His warm personality, hard work and devotion have influenced all areas of college life.

Long-time deans coordinate academic affairs, maintain quality

Deans F. G. Woodward and M. P. Bowman have served this institution for 37 and 20 years respectively.

Woodward, the chief officer of academic affairs, is responsible for curriculum and instruction and academic standards, while Bowman controls admission to the undergraduate division and keeps permanent academic records.

Associated Student Body plans far-ranging campus activities

Each APSC student has a voice in college affairs; this voice is the Associated Student Body. A member in good standing of the Southern Universities Student Government Association, the ASB consists of three branches: legislative, executive and judicial.

Proposed to provide students with the opportunity to direct activities of their own in an orderly and direct manner, the ASB has conquered many organizational, student and social problems during its three years of operation. In 1963 the present student government system replaced the outdated Student Council.

Officers of the ASB are elected by student popular vote; while the legislative branch, the Senate, embraces a membership drawn from the classes, dormitory councils, honor societies, departmental clubs and other chartered campus organizations.

Larry Richardson served the ASB as president for the second consecutive year and supervised numerous projects; the main one being 'Operation Support,' a highly successful drive for troops in Viet Nam.

WSGC aids behavior policy-making, encourages scholarship

Governing body for the women's dormitories on campus is the Women's Student Government Council. Its purpose is to assist the faculty and administration in setting policies and regulations to maintain standards of behavior necessary for the welfare of all women students.

WSGC consists of the officers of Harvill Hall and Blount Hall, the president of Harned Hall, three junior representatives and one freshman representative.

Its most worthy project is the sponsorship of a rotating plaque which is awarded each academic quarter to the dormitory with the highest over-all scholastic average.

The pursuit of learning, and in it the pursuit of excellence, is the basic reason a college exists. The curricula of the college are routes to intellectual maturity and a means to the development of ideas, insights, values and competencies which form a permanent personal capacity for thought and action. Accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, APSC offers instruction in 19 departments. Degrees granted are the bachelor of arts, bachelor of science, bachelor of science in education and the master of arts in education on the graduate level. Self-exploration and mental enrichment take place at APSC daily—encouraged, perpetrated, initiated by classes, instructors and professors. The teachers prod, pry, inquire and inform to encourage academic excellence.

Frank D. Hinton, assistant professor, and James D. Hamilton, departmental chairman, show majors a prize-winner in poultry husbandry class.

Examining equipment is Hamilton, who has been at APSC since 1945.

Combining applied training with study and research, the department of agriculture offers a wide variety of curricula concerning nearly every phase of the agriculture industry.

Between lectures, majors and minors are taken regularly on field trips to the college-owned farm, where they receive information on the operation and maintenance of the farm.

Agriculture students may choose from the curricula of general agriculture, commercial agriculture or the two-year pre-professional program for the purpose of transferring.

Primary areas of study include agricultural engineering, animal husbandry, agronomy, horticulture and agricultural economics.

Agriculture judging teams have won numerous national and regional contests.

At the college farm, Hamilton explains fine points of egg-grading equipment.

Phillip Missick, senior, works in plaster sculpture class with Olen L. Bryant, assistant professor.

Lewis B. Burton, acting chairman, conducts art education class. Listening attentively are James Tramill and Marcia Seay.

Enthusiastic students use front campus for pictorial drawing.

Oil painting students get expert advice from Maynard R. Coiner, assistant professor.

Art student may pursue one of three areas for major study

General fine arts, advertising design and art education are the three areas in which a student may pursue a major in the department of fine arts.

Within the curricula, students can plan for careers in painting, sculpture and the graphic arts; or advertising layout, package design, commercial illustration and fashions; or, still a career in the teaching of art.

Each art major is required to have a one-man show of his work preceding graduation.

Creativity is exemplified by Wanda Webb in wood sculpture.

Biology grows rapidly as result of increased science emphasis

Today's increased emphasis on science has helped boost the department of biology tremendously. It is one of the college's fastest-growing departments.

Under the chairmanship of Dr. Haskell C. Phillips, 24 courses are offered on the graduate level in addition to the wider selection for undergraduates.

A distributive major of 72-75 quarter hours is advised for the prospective science teacher, who will be certified to teach biology, chemistry, physics and general science.

Taking advantage of the outdoors to key trees in Biology 101 are David H. Snyder, assistant professor, and students.

Charles N. Boehms, assistant professor, shows vertebrate collection used in field zoology to Dr. Floyd M. Ford, professor.

Dr. Haskell C. Phillips, graduate of Iowa State, makes a point to students concerning anatomy and physiology.

Closely supervising a freshman lab are Dr. Marvin M. Provo and Billy D. Cole.

Studying plant life in the college greenhouse are Dr. William Ellis and Floyd L. Brown, botanists.

College's largest department, Business, trains in six fields

Reviewing latest business practices is Glenn S. Gentry, chairman of the department of business.

Miss Cliffie Spilman, associate professor, conducts office machines class.

Largest in terms of students and graduates, the department of business is divided into six separate fields to satisfy the needs of more students.

These fields include business administration, accounting, marketing, business education, secretarial and an accelerated secretarial program.

Under the leadership of Glenn S. Gentry, chairman of the department, courses are added, deleted and altered to meet the changing demands of the business world. A course in data processing was added during the winter quarter.

Standing at the entrance of the renovated Business Building are Christoph Nussbaumer, Mrs. Dorothy Carpenter and Peter Condiles.

ASB Secretary Bernie Aderholdt types under the watchful eyes of Dr. Christine Stroop and Mrs. Gerda Ladd.

Experimentation by the college student in the chemistry laboratory has been depicted many, many times. This portrayal is quite just, and is a credit to the department.

Majors in chemistry are required to complete 10 hours of college level mathematics in conjunction with their chemistry.

Dr. Harry L. McLeod is completing his second year as chairman of the department. He succeeded the late Dr. George M. Rawlins, Jr.

Two freshmen gain laboratory assistance in general chemistry from Dr. Durward S. Harris, associate professor.

Explaining new text in Economics 202 is Roland L. East, associate professor.

Confronting our society today are numerous economic problems; consequently, the department of economics attempts to acquaint the student with these problems and help him solve, or, at least, partially solve them.

Roland L. East and D. R. Frazier, both associate professors, came to APSC in the fall.

Thirty-six quarter hours are required for a major, along with three specified mathematics courses.

D. R. Frazier, associate professor, and East formulate plans for the ensuing quarter.

The querying young minds of Mike Petrone and Nancy Cloud are reassured by Frazier.

Pipe-smoking Dr. Fred A. Bungler, professor, gets comments about exam.

Department of Education strives to meet qualified teacher demands

Meeting the ever increasing need for well-qualified teachers keeps the department of education extremely busy.

Students who are enrolled in teacher education are required to complete a 36 quarter hour sequence in professional education, of which 15 hours are student teaching and seminar.

Twenty courses are offered on the graduate division level, all in keeping with present-day educational trends.

Mrs. Frances L. Moore, associate professor, and Mrs. Elsie P. Oakley, assistant professor, compare grading methods.

Bunger and Dr. Ellis B. Burns, associate professor, review a student teacher's lesson plan.

Constantly seeking fellowships and assistantships for graduates is Dr. Harold S. Pryor, director of teacher education and departmental chairman.

Irwin to replace Sims as English Department chairman

Listening about one of Frances Butler's experiences in Greece are Richard Covington and Dr. Joe A. Sutfin, both associate professors.

Major programs available in the field of English include a departmental major leading to the degree of bachelor of arts or to the degree of bachelor of science.

The department urges those who wish to pursue graduate study with the aim of entering college teaching to elect the bachelor of arts degree.

Dr. Edward E. Irwin will succeed Dr. James H. Sims as departmental chairman this summer. Sims is leaving for a position with the University of Oklahoma.

Dr. James H. Sims shows Dr. Edward E. Irwin the changes in the revised "Freshman English Syllabus."

Hayden Jolly, Jr., joins newcomers Patrick C. O'Shee and Paul W. Hughes in post-class session.

Daniel D. Michalek, assistant professor, and two students inspect rock collection used in geology courses.

Ruling a specific map of Tennessee is Dr. Robert K. Wibking, chairman of the department.

Geography, Geology gain popularity with addition of courses

The increased interest in the department of geography and geology has been spearheaded by departmental chairman Dr. Robert K. Wibking, a graduate of the University of Nebraska.

Geology has been added to the curriculum and graduate courses now number eight within the department.

A distributive major with emphasis on geography can be pursued in addition to other majors and a minor. Eighty-one hours credit is necessary for the distributive major.

In order to adjust to the pressures of society, one's environment, one's culture and in one's relations with other people, a basic understanding and appreciation of the principles of physical and mental health are essential.

Within the department of health, actually joined with physical education, courses are designed to help the student to form such an understanding and appreciation.

A minor in health with the endorsement to teach health in grades 7-12 is offered.

Health promotes understanding and appreciation for adjustment

Varied and interesting careers available in Home Economics

For those young women who choose home economics as their major, a large and varied number of interesting careers are available.

Coeds may follow one of three curricula. These include general, non-vocational and vocational home economics. Students in the latter curriculum can complete their first two years here and, under a cooperative plan, transfer to the University of Tennessee for the completion of a degree.

Many recent APSC graduates hold responsible positions in the area.

Supervising metal work in Machine Shop 351 is Richard E. Gannaway, associate professor.

Engineering Drawing 116 is only one of many required courses for majors.

Graduates who have majored in industrial arts have several career choices, including teaching of industrial arts, industry and private business.

In addition to the regular curriculum, the department offers a curriculum in industrial preparation, which includes a major in industrial arts and a minor in business.

Under the direction of Dr. Leon Bibb, a University of Missouri graduate, the department has one of the best equipped plants in the southern region.

Industrial Arts provides for teaching, industry, business

Fourfold basic training program offered in Library Science

A program of basic training is offered in the department of library science that proves beneficial to various groups. Only a minor is offered, however.

Students who desire positions as librarians, teachers who want to become better acquainted with the functioning of the library, school administrators who seek better understanding of the relation of the library to the function of the school system, and students who plan to attend graduate school in library science benefit from the program.

Department of Mathematics combines practical with abstract

Using the ancient abacus in Mathematics 212 are James T. Stack, associate professor, and George L. Brotherton, assistant professor.

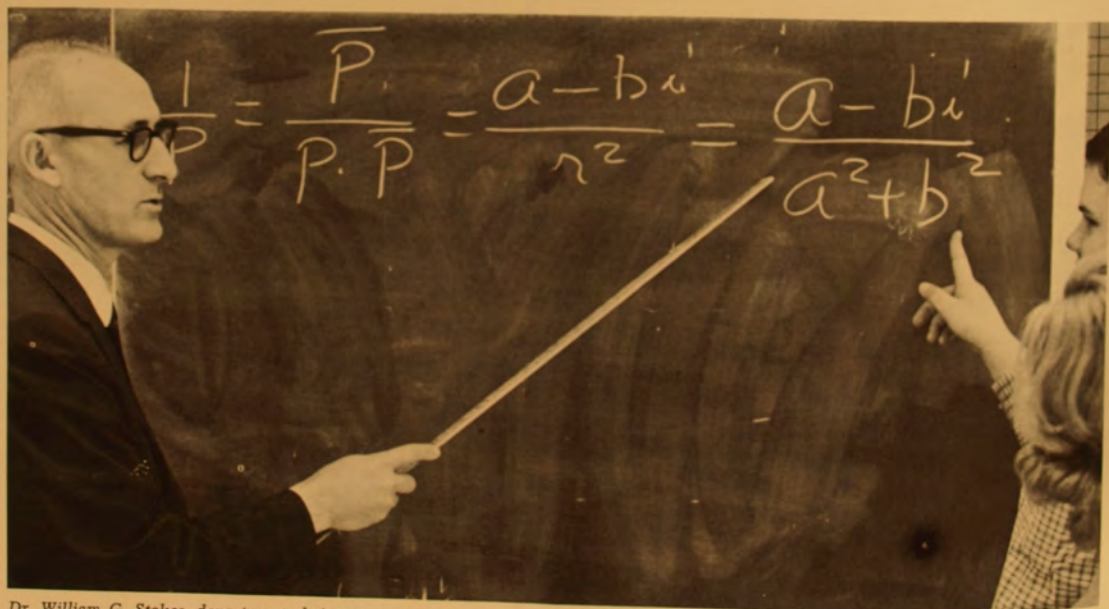

Extensive courses in all phases of mathematics are offered in the department of mathematics for the student wishing to major in this field.

For the student desiring only a light study in this field, a course, Fundamental Concepts of Mathematics, is designed for the general education program.

Numerous courses in basic mathematics, algebra, trigonometry, engineering problems, calculus and geometry are offered. Twenty-four subjects are taught for graduate division study.

Noting winter quarter math class changes are Neil M. Ross, Mrs. Mildred Heaton and James M. F. Brown, all instructors.

Dr. William G. Stokes, department chairman, interprets trigonometry equation at conclusion of class period.

German students use tape recorder to improve pronunciations under Miss Catherine Pages' instruction.

Streamlined air transportation and the complex society in which we live have brought about the need to speak more than one language.

A major in French and a minor in German can be pursued in the department of modern languages.

Dr. Joseph V. Thomas, who holds the Ph.D. from Ohio State, is chairman of the department. His knowledge and understanding of languages has brought about an expanded department in recent years.

In deep thought, Dr. Joseph V. Thomas, chairman of department, and Miss Pages study French grammar text.

Physical Education participation is required to encourage fitness

Participation in physical education activity courses is required of all students during the freshman and sophomore years. Students may choose from a list of 28 activity courses.

David B. Aaron, who is serving his 21st year as chairman of the department, also serves as director of athletics for the college's seven intercollegiate sports.

Men majors are required to take a combination of health education and physical education courses totaling 56 hours. Women are required to complete 52 quarter hours.

Laurel Wreath Society stresses high academic scholarship, achievement

The Laurel Wreath Society, founded in 1960, represents the highest in academic scholarship and achievement on the campus. Only those students who have maintained a minimum 3.65 average for three consecutive quarters are eligible for membership. This scholastic average must be maintained in order for one to remain in the society.

The name, Laurel Wreath, symbolizes academic achievement, and members proudly wear their symbol, a gold wreath pin.

Balancing the mental gymnastics of the educational game, the college sponsors seven intercollegiate teams and an intramural program. A member of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Ohio Valley Conference, the college fields athletic teams in football, basketball, baseball, track and field, golf, tennis and cross-country. Nicknamed the Governors, each squad displays skills in their respective sport in the pursuit of athletic excellence, which demands physical courage, stamina, speed and endurance. Moreover, conduct in performance, sportsmanship and fair play are equally important, and its validity is evidenced by the attitudes and mores of APSC's department of athletics and its coaches, staff members and players.

Chapter Two of Austin Peay State College's story-book football reversal was completed when the 1965 Governors posted the finest gridiron record in the 36-year history of the institution with an 8-1 mark.

The 1964 contingent started the rise to national football prominence by presenting head coach Bill Dupes and his staff with an 8-1-1 season. The 1964 winning season was the first since 1952, as Gov grid teams had won only six games in five years while losing 34.

Derailed by eventual Ohio Valley Conference champion Middle Tennessee 24-20 in the classic of all OVC games before 11,000 homecoming fans, APSC finished in the loop's runner-up spot for the second straight year.

APSC scored 280 points in nine games for a lusty 31.1 average per outing to top the conference in scoring offense. Not to be denied, the scoring defense was the best in the league also, allowing 118 points for a 13.1 average.

Ground-conscious, the Govs easily led the OVC with 2,142 yards for a 238.0 average per tilt. APSC finished second in total offense with 352.7. On total defense, the scarlet and white was the loop's best, allowing 249.9 per game. The rushing defense was second best with a stubborn 96.4 average.

Record 7 players honored on coaches' All-OVC twinkle team

Quarterback Rodney Rogers (14) has his jersey ripped by Middle Tennessee's Steve Edging (29).

Turnstiles continued to click with paying customers as APSC drew an estimated 54,700 in nine contests. Five home games attracted approximately 33,800 spectators.

Individually, seven were named to the annual All-OVC twinkle squad, and three others landed berths on the second unit. The first teamers were junior Ronnie Parson, end; junior Tommy Dobbs, guard; junior John Ogles, fullback; senior defensive tackle Tommy Dillard; junior linebacker Bobby Byrd; junior defensive back Andy Toombs; and senior defensive back Tim Chilcutt. Senior defensive ends Claude Clements and Larry Black and senior tackle Tom Jones were on the conference's second unit.

Chilcutt, 5-10, 165-pound deluxe halfback, earned a position on the Associated Press Little All-American team for the second straight year. At the season's end, Chilcutt, Dillard and Jones inked pro pacts with the Houston Oilers of the American Football League. Parson was drafted in the red-shirt round by the San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League and the Oakland Raiders of the AFL.

OVC final statistics revealed that Parson was the conference's leading scorer with 71 points. Ogles was sixth with 42, end Pete Bush ninth with 39 and Chilcutt 11th with 36 tallies.

Senior quarterback Rodney Rogers amassed 1,203 yards on total offense, good for fourth in the OVC, while Ogles was seventh with 1,017 yards. Rogers passed for 833 yards, ninth best, and back-up signal-caller Aubrey Flag was 12th with 182.

George White (61), All-OVC Bobby Byrd (32) and Bob Fletcher (87) prepare to unload on the Blue Raiders' Bill Robertson (40).

APSC, Middle Tennessee duel called all-time OVC classic

Defensive halfback Tommy Bigham (41) hauls down Middle Tennessee's flanker Jerry Smith (85) after a 17-yard pass completion.

Record-breaking Ogles set a new school standard by rushing for 1,017 yards, which placed him second in the OVC. Rogers was ninth with 370 yards via the turf, senior Arnold Huskey 10th with 345 and Chilcutt 13th with 316 yards. This foursome, known as the "Governors' Cabinet," was the best-balanced backfield in the conference.

Chilcutt ran away with the OVC punt return title as he returned 30 kicks for 502 yards and an amazing 16.7 yards per return. He was the league's second-best in kickoff returns with 258 yards. Toombs intercepted six passes to place second in this category, while Parson was the loop's fourth-best punter with a 37.3 average.

ASPC began the season on a weird note. Surprise Eastern Kentucky reeled off 28 points in a nightmarish fourth quarter to defeat the Gavs 35-30. Six days later, OVC commissioner Art Guepe granted the Gavs a 1-0 forfeit by virtue of the fact that the Maroons had inadvertently used an ineligible player in the season opener.

Propelled by the Eastern reversal, APSC whacked Murray State 23-6 to move again into contention for the OVC crown. Rogers established a new school mark in total offense by running and passing 229 yards. Parson booted a 42-yard field goal, his second of the young season, to give APSC a 3-0 halftime advantage. Three Rogers' TD passes sealed the verdict in the final 30 minutes.

Two-time Little All-American halfback Tim Chilcutt (22) eludes a Raider tackler for a three-yard pickup.

Joyful Middle Tennessee supporters begin controversy with goal post antics.

Stepping out of the conference for the first time, Dupes' boys manhandled Southeast Missouri 50-7 in the home opener at Municipal Stadium. Drawing first blood, APSC led 7-0 at the quarter stop only to see the visitors tie the count early in the second quarter.

Evidently maddened by SEMO's tying score, APSC cracked the game apart on the strength of Chilcutt's 53-yard touchdown from scrimmage and 82-yard pay-dirt punt return.

A 91-yard pass interception by 235-pound captain Dillard just before halftime gave APSC the spark it needed to maul Western Kentucky 38-6 in the fourth game. The billed rushing duel between the Hilltoppers' Dickie Moore and Ogles never materialized as Ogles gained 93 yards in 25 carries to Moore's 38 in 14.

APSC ran its seasonal mark to 5-0 by downing stubborn Morehead State 26-21. Commanding a 13-7 lead at intermission, APSC scored on the first play from scrimmage in the third quarter. Huskey's 43-yard burst made the count 20-7, and a pass interception in the final stanza by sophomore guard Phil Farinella iced the contest.

Publicized as the "OVC Game of the Year," unbeaten APSC and Middle Tennessee met with the conference leadership, and possibly the crown, at stake.

Trailing 10-0 at halftime, the Gobs stormed to a 20-10 lead in an 8:13 stretch during the third quarter only to see it vanish under the brilliant throwing of Raider quarterback Teddy Morris in the final stanza.

Last-ditch drives of 99 and 76 yards spelled defeat for the Gobs. The winning TD came with only 2:03 left to give Middle Tennessee a 24-20 win.

11 seniors conclude career in 49-0 romp over U-T Martin

Snapping back from the Middle Tennessee defeat, APSC built up a 21-0 lead over big, rugged East Tennessee, and coasted to a 21-7 triumph. Ogles gained 128 rushing, Huskey added 100 yards in only eight carries, Rogers managed 55 and Chilcutt 42 in an awesome display of ground power.

APSC built up a comfortable 23-0 lead in three quarters before whipping Tennessee Tech 23-12 in the OVC finale. The Golden Eagles managed only 68 yards rushing against the stout Gov defense. Parson set a new OVC record with a 45-yard field goal, his fourth of the campaign.

Eleven seniors closed their career in the season-ending 49-0 shellacking of UT-Martin. APSC rolled up 31 first downs and 490 yards on total offense, while the Vols were held to a meager 73 yards running and passing.

Cigar-puffing Jim Lane, defensive coach, and offensive coach Jerry Flatt watch APSC-UT-Martin action intently.

Speedy Tim Chilcutt (22) is thwarted, but APSC shellacked UT-Martin 49-0 in the season finale.

UT-Martin quarterback Allan Cox (10) braces for the oncoming Tom Jones (76) and All-OVCer Tommy Dillard (72).

Senior back Jim Scroggins (21) intercepted three passes to earn top OVC defensive honors in the win over East Tennessee.

Junior John Ogles (30) set a career rushing mark of 1,878 yards against UT-Martin. He gained 147 yards against the Vols and 1,017 during the nine-game schedule.

Govs make shambles of record section by breaking 39 marks

Graduate assistant coach Jim Michael is recognized amid players in special assembly to pay tribute to the 1965 squad and staff.

Thirty-nine individual and team records were either shattered or tied by the 1965 squad. Last year in compiling the 8-1-1 slate, the Govs either broke or tied 30 marks. This season's marks are more impressive considering the nine-game schedule instead of the usual 10.

A breakdown on the record book assault shows (1) team offense and defense (eight broken); (2) individual career (10 broken, one tied); (3) individual single season (12 broken, one tied); and (4) individual single game (six broken, one tied).

Chilcutt personally accounted for breaking nine marks, six of which are all-time career highs. The versatile lad's name appears in the record section 13 times.

Ogles and Parson each cracked six school standards and tied one apiece. Rogers accounted for four new marks, and halfbacks Huskey and Jim Scroggins and tackle Dillard each set a new record. Toombs equalled one mark.

Bull-like Ogles has picked up 1,878 yards rushing in three years to eclipse the career record, and he still has his final season ahead of him.

Captain for the 1966 club, Byrd topped the defense for the third straight year with 59 individual tackles and 75 assists. Other top defensive stars and their tackles and assists were linebacker George White 41-37, Black 36-36, Toombs 30-38, Farinella 29-31, Mike Riddle 28-42, Bigham 28-17, Clements 27-23, Bob Fletcher 24-26, Dillard 21-27 and Billy Joe Jeans 20-21.

Team-wise, APSC made shambles of the record section by piling up 161 first downs, 117 by rushing. The Govs threw 18 touchdown passes and averaged 114.7 per game via the air route.

Happy regulars get a "breather" while enjoying watching the reserves complete the massacre of UT-Martin.

Low score wins in cross country

Newest sport to join the intercollegiate ranks at Austin Peay State College is cross-country. Although APSC ran in the Ohio Valley Conference meet in 1964, this fall's harriers were the first to run a regular season schedule.

Coach Max Mayes and his squad suffered a winless season in four outings, although the frosh-dominated runners did finish fourth in a nine-team field in the Union University Invitational. The Gobs ran last in the Tennessee Intercollegiate Athletic Conference and OVC meets.

Terry Womack was the top Gov finisher in the OVC meet with a 24:07 time over the rugged, hilly four-mile course at Morehead, Ky. Ron Morton was not far behind in the fourth annual meet, which was captured by Eastern Kentucky, with a 24:19 time.

Top seasonal times for the harriers were Morton (22:18), Ray Metzgar (22:35), Chuck Babcock (22:37), Womack (23:03), Robert Halliburton (23:37) and Bob Engler (24:47).

Taking an early lead, Ron Morton (10) is closely pursued by two David Lipscomb runners.

With hand on chest, Gov cross-country coach Max Mayes nervously awaits the final tabulation in the second Lipscomb meet.

Diminutive Dennis Snyder, smallest man in the OVC, and Tommy Head performed the crowd-pleasing dunk act at the end of each warmup.

Gene Wilkerson (30) and Tommy Head are ready to race Transylvania players to the loose ball in the 90-66 opening win.

Two overtime losses, a couple of one-point defeats and a pair of closing-minute heartbreakers kept Austin Peay State College from a winning season during the 1965-66 campaign. The final tally showed a 7-14 overall mark, and a share of sixth place in the Ohio Valley Conference with a 3-11 league mark.

In his fourth year at the helm of the varsity, coach George Fisher suffered through his second straight losing season after two winning ones.

Inexperience could be blamed for the close defeats as the Governors won only one of seven real close battles.

Despite the losing season, APSC showed a 5-5 record in the friendly confines of Memorial Gymnasium. On the road the Governors could muster only a 2-9 record.

Eight individuals carried the burden during the 21-game schedule. These include 6-5 Virgil McElfresh and 6-4 Gene Wilkerson, both seniors; junior college transfers 6-6 Tommy Head and 5-9 Dennis Snyder; juniors 6-3 Hal Jackson, 6-4 Melvin Van Hooser and 6-3 footballer Andy Toombs; and 6-6 sophomore Bob Burnett.

APSC opened the season with back-to-back triumphs over Transylvania (90-66) and Union University (82-79), the latter being the only close game won by the scarlet and white.

Closing pre-holiday play, the Govs traveled to Texas and split a pair, losing to Lamar Tech (108-81) and upsetting Pan American (74-63).

Sharp-shooter Hal Jackson (24) pumps a jump over Western Kentucky's Wayne Chapman and Dwight Smith (35).

Hooking Tommy Head (14) scored 21 points and grabbed 21 rebounds, but to no avail as OVC champion Western Kentucky won 94-67.

OVC officials got their first look at the Gavs in the league's annual holiday tournament, and the squad nearly pulled off a tremendous upset before bowing 86-85 to defending OVC champion Eastern Kentucky. Head and Snyder were named to the 10-man all-tourney team by a vote of the news media.

The new year brought quick disaster as Eastern Kentucky and Morehead State beat APSC in the final minute, and the first OVC road trip saw East Tennessee whip the Gavs 86-82 in overtime.

Disheartened players rose to the occasion, however, and dropped Tennessee Tech 83-77 at Cookeville for the season's top win.

Inclement weather forced postponement of the Western Kentucky tilt, and when the snow melted so had some of the Gavs' momentum. Carrying a 5-5 record, APSC proceeded to drop their next seven engagements against conference opposition and UT-Martin, whom APSC had manhandled earlier 99-84.

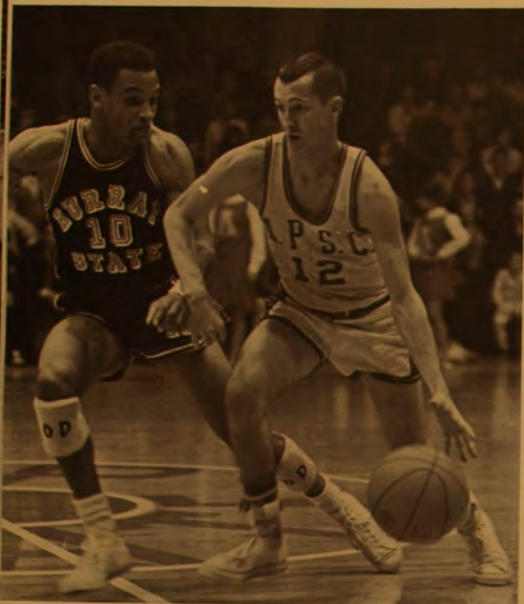

Fisher stuck with a seniorless group in the final four games, and the Governors trounced East Tennessee (95-76) and Middle Tennessee (97-91) before losing an overtime struggle to Murray State (80-73).

Holding a five-point lead on several occasions, APSC scared OVC champion Western Kentucky before bowing to the nation's No. 10 team by a 76-63 margin in the season finale.

Squad tops OVC in free throw accuracy, No. 2 in country

Junior Melvin Van Hooser (42) reaches for the basketball in the 108-69 exhibition victory over the touring University of Mexico.

Hitting free throws with amazing regularity, APSC finished atop the OVC in this category and No. 2 in the nation with a sparkling .783 percentage. Snyder (.833), Head (.803) and Jackson (.773) finished fourth, seventh and 10th in the OVC in free throw accuracy.

Head topped the squad in scoring with 382 points for an 18.2 average, and led all rebounders with 212 and a 10.1 average. Scoringwise, he ranked No. 5 in the OVC, and he finished 10th in rebounding.

Playmaker Snyder was 10th among league scorers with 340 markers for a 16.2 average, while Jackson's 13.8 average on 289 points was good for 19th position. Snyder led the team in field goal marksmanship with a .471 percentage, seventh in the OVC, while Head's .435 was good for 17th position.

Other top scorers include Van Hooser (8.6), Wilkerson (8.4), Toombs (5.6), McElfresh (5.4) and Burnett (5.2). Jackson for the second straight year came up with the season's top scoring effort by dumping in 30 in the triumph over Middle Tennessee. He also had the OVC high by connecting on 19 of 21 attempts at the charity stripe against UT-Martin. Top rebound effort was turned in by Head in the initial Western Kentucky encounter. The Clarksville lad pulled down 21 ricochets.

Expected to bolster the attack for the 1966-67 season are sophomores-to-be 6-2 Charlie Moore (19.2), 6-3 Holly Heaberlin (16.5), 5-10 Tris Kington (11.8) and 6-7 Terry Young (10.7). This yearling quartet led the baby Govs to a 10-9 frosh tab this year.

Slow start proves critical to diamond nine over-all record

Rightfielder Mike Dixon receives handshake after a fifth-inning circuit clout in the 6-5 victory over Murray State.

Close defeats at the season's outset and waning moments hurt considerably, as the 1965 Austin Peay State College baseball club finished 5-12 over-all and 4-8 in Ohio Valley Conference Western Division play.

Veteran coach Leon Sandifer experienced the worst season of his 14-year career at APSC. He still commands a winning 107-100 lifetime record, however.

APSC tagged one of the few losses on OVC champion Murray State's record, a come-from-behind 6-5 triumph.

For the second straight year, weak hitting was a big contributing factor to a losing season. APSC batted only .224, as compared to opponents' .267 mark.

Individually, senior leftfielder Don Climer was tabbed All-OVC Western Division for the second time, and also named the squad's most valuable. Junior second baseman Fiore DeCosty also made the league's glitter team. Climer batted .250 and led the team in doubles, while DeCosty hit only .210 but led the squad in six departments.

Outfielder-pitcher Dave Small (.346) and shortstop Jack Darke (.343) topped the batting department. Other averages included Tommy Elliott (.278), Mike Dixon (.231), Mike Wheeler (.226), Denny Reft (.222) and Mort Paisley (.209).

Hurling records included Bob Story (1-0), Bill DeCicco (1-2), Small (1-2), hard-luck Bill Wilhoite (2-6) and injured Dwight Work (0-2), 1964 All-OVC choice.

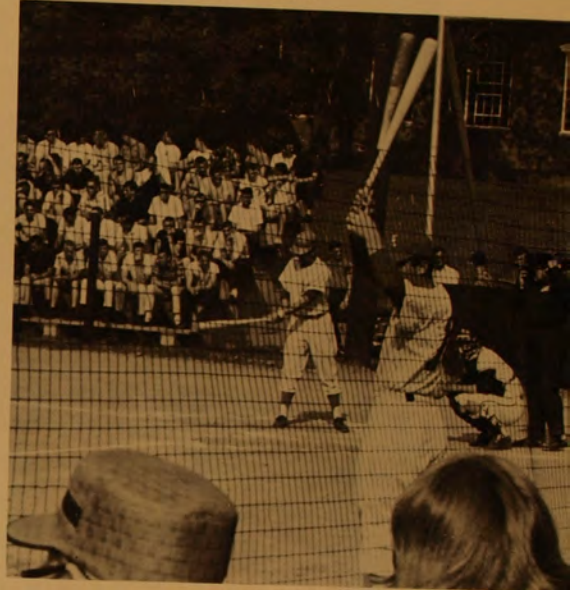

Shortstop Quentin Osborne attempts to elude tag at third base in the 5-0 loss to Murray State.

Freshman Jimmy Smith, Tennessee Intercollegiate sixth place finisher, gives body support to putt in Western Kentucky tie, while Bruce McColl holds flagstick.

Playing their toughest schedule in history, coach Sherwin Clift's 1965 Austin Peay State College golf squad posted a 10-6-1 seasonal record.

Starting slowly, the linksmen finished the season strong by winning five of their last six matches. A perennial winner, the golf team holds a 41-24-1 five-year record under Clift's leadership.

Half of the team's defeats came at the hands of Middle Tennessee, NCAA College Division champion, and runner-up Southern Illinois. APSC placed the only blemish on Western Kentucky's record in two years by tying the eventual Ohio Valley Conference champions 13½-13½.

APSC fired a creditable aggregate team total of 606 in the OVC, but finished 15 strokes off the winning pace for fifth position. The Governors shot 643 in the Tennessee Intercollegiate, finishing fourth and only four strokes out of second.

Junior A. B. Sisco, the team's most valuable for the second straight year, fashioned a 68 for the season's low round.

Winning two of three non-conference matches, the 1965 Austin Peay State College tennis edition dropped all four Ohio Valley Conference matches, however, to finish 2-5.

Under the direction of first-year coach Fred Overton, the netters showed improved play toward the season's end, but still finished in the cellar for the fourth consecutive year in OVC tournament play. Despite the Gobs' poor showing, the seasonal record was the best since the 1960 campaign.

Frosh Doug Thornhill manned the No. 1 position, while David Balthrop and Ron Frey played the No. 2 and No. 3 spots respectively. This trio posted identical 3-5 won-lost singles records.

Rounding out the squad were Garvin Claiborne (No. 4), Gary Loveless (No. 5) and Rocky Cobb and Jim Roe, who split the No. 6 position.

Both Gov victories came at the expense of Kentucky Wesleyan, while two close losses to Tennessee Tech severely hampered the chances of winning a season.

Record-breaking Finnish star Risto Alavuotunki prepares to unleash javelin in Fort Campbell Invitational.

Record-smashing performances by Risto Alavuotunki, a native of Kuusamo, Finland, highlighted the 1965 Austin Peay State College track and field season.

The Finnish star whipped the spear 239 feet, 5½ inches for a new school mark, cracked the Ohio Valley Conference standard with a 222-9½ toss and erased the Tennessee Intercollegiate Athletic Conference record with a 234-10 heave.

Teamwise, the Governors managed only a 2-5 seasonal record under the tutorship of Gordon Schultz. However, the cindermen pulled a big surprise in the seasonal finale by stopping Cumberland College (Ky.) and the University of Louisville in a triangular affair.

APSC finished fourth in the TIAC meet by scoring 33 points to champion Middle Tennessee's 80. The Gobs managed seventh place in the OVC with 14 points, and a like place among 14 teams in the Fort Campbell Invitational.

Other Gov individual record-breakers besides Alavuotunki were: shot put—Jeff Fisher (50-0), discus—Fisher (134-11½), and triple jump—George Fort (42-2½). Tom Hinkle, captain and most valuable, cracked the record for most points in a career by an individual performer. He scored 87 points to complete his varsity competition with 296 points.

Following Hinkle, TIAC mile and two-mile king, in the scoring column were Terry Schultz (71½), Fisher (68), Fort (49), Alavuotunki (48), Gary Swinonos (32), Riley Holliday (30), John Carpenter (29½), and Jim Rohrbacher (26).

Girls' intramural basketball attracted widespread campus attention.

A profitable diversion for spare moments is offered through a varied intramural program for both boys and girls.

Whether touch football or table tennis for the men, or volleyball or basketball for the women, the key is participation to supplement the academic aspect of the college.

Boys' basketball is the most popular among the students, and this year's program saw a whopping 32 teams entered into eight separate leagues.

Champions of the respective leagues were Trashmen (OVC), Tanks (SEC), Redeyes (SWC), 69'ers (ACC), Beasts (Big Ten), Supremes (Big Eight), Mustangs (Missouri Valley) and Jake's Jerks (Ivy League).

Mike Jenkins topped the Redeyes in the championship game with 22 points, while Pete Bush and Tim Chilcutt chipped in with 18 and 16 respectively. The Mustangs, 65-54 losers, were led by Carl Dyer with 19 and Fred Goetz 15.

Various types of organizations are a part of the total educational activities at APSC. By choice, if they meet the necessary standards, students may belong to a number of campus organizations. These include student publications, professional and honor societies, service organizations, departmental clubs, religious organizations, musical groups and Greek letter social clubs. Goals and standards are the proclaimed aims of the majority of campus organizations. In fact, they are a trading ground for friendship, brotherhood and a deeper, richer understanding of human relations. Regardless of the nature and purpose of the organization, it can function well with the proper student leadership. It is in this manner that the large number of organizations compliment not only each other, but also the educational activities of APSC.

Staff produces largest Farewell & Hail in history for students

The 1966 edition of the FAREWELL AND HAIL is the largest in the history of the institution. The official APSC yearbook contains 272 pages, additional four-color photography, blue-text division pages, depth in photography and copy, plus increased emphasis on the academic phase of college life.

Advised by Sherwin Clift, director of public information, the 1965 FAREWELL AND HAIL received a First Class rating. It is felt by the staff and adviser that this 1966 edition has All-American qualities.

Serving as editor-in-chief of the FAREWELL AND HAIL was Robert Hammer, a junior from Nashville. Dorris Bryant staffed the position of associate editor, while Linda English was advertising manager.

Gerald L. Tenney, formerly editor of a daily newspaper, was employed in September as college photographer, and he and Clift gave the necessary guidance for the publication.

An energetic staff of 20 students, however, was primarily responsible for the yearbook.

Creative writing and original art stressed by The Tower

An anthology of student writings and art published during the spring quarter constitutes The Tower.

Purposed to promote and stimulate interest in creative writing, the 1966 edition was headed by Suzanne Sweatt, a graduate student and a former editor-in-chief of the FAREWELL AND HAIL.

Published since 1951, cash prizes are awarded in each of four categories—poetry, short story, essay and art.

Advisers for the literary magazine for the second consecutive year were Charles M. Waters and Malcolm Glass of the department of English.

Addition of journalism class boosts award-winning newspaper

BUSTER YATES

Striving to maintain its lofty national rankings, The All State received a boost during the academic year with the addition of a journalism course for the campus weekly's staff members.

Taught by Sherwin Clift, director of public information and newspaper adviser, the class provides college credit for students working on the eight-page tabloid.

Editorial positions were staffed by Mildred Woods, editor-in-chief; Vicki Keith, managing editor; Kaye Phillips, editorial page editor; and Buster Yates, sports editor. Darlene McGeehan served in the capacity of advertising manager.

The voice of the students, the newspaper keeps the college community abreast of timely happenings, official rulings and opinions which affect the college.

Giving reporters assignments, writing, re-writing, preparing layouts, working with the photographers and supervising the paste-up for the offset press keep the editors constantly busy.

Two Greek-letter clubs merged this year to form Alpha-Beta, one of the four women's social clubs on campus. Formerly, the dormitory clubs operated separately as Alpha and Beta.

Purposed to promote and sponsor better campus social life, Alpha-Beta pledged 16 girls during the winter quarter.

Officers include Beverly Bennett, president; Donna Hutcheson, vice-president; Faye Sullivan, secretary-treasurer; and Carolyn Schwind, Panhellenic representative.

Delta participates in variety of planned social activities

Serving as civic workers, designing an entry for the homecoming parade or sharing in the responsibility of sponsoring the Valentine Dance were a few of Delta's 1965-66 activities.

Twenty-three new members were added to the club by virtue of "rush" week.

Susan Lawrence served the organization as president; Margie Allmon assisted as vice-president; Ann Pearson staffed the secretary-treasurer post; and Burma Vaughn served as Panhellenic representative.

Attempting to live by their motto, "Deeds, Not Words," the Epsilons tried many programs during the school year to stimulate higher scholarship, better fellowship and a cooperative spirit among the women on campus.

The club added 19 pledges to their membership roll, and planned a breakfast in cooperation with the Panhellenic Council for pledges of the four Greek-letter clubs.

Officers were Lou Winn, president; Jane Mandt, vice-president; Andrea Durick, secretary-treasurer; and Mary Cooper, Panhellenic representative.

Omegas complete most successful year, initiate 'Barn Fest'

The Omegas, led by president Bernie Aderholdt, completed the most successful year of the four Greek-letter clubs.

Pledging 25 girls, the largest number of the four, Omega initiated the idea for a "Barn Fest" staged by the Panhellenic Council during the spring quarter. The group also enjoyed pool-side parties and slumber parties, and took the lead in major campus activities.

Other officers were Linda Lumpkin, vice-president; Judy Keys, secretary-treasurer; and Lenore Easley, Panhellenic representative.

Alpha Kappa Psi, honorary business fraternity, is one of the youngest professional and honor societies on the campus; yet, it is one of the most active.

Their most noteworthy project was the publishing of a student directory, which includes both home and campus addresses of all full-time students, and addresses of faculty and administration members.

To insure that its members will strive for scholarship, a $200 scholarship is awarded annually to the junior member with the highest grade-point average.

Gamma Iota chapter of Alpha Mu Gamma, national collegiate foreign language honor society, received its charter during the academic year. Twelve charter members were installed into the society, which is sponsored by Dr. Joseph Thomas.

Membership requirements of the newest honor society include two and one-half quarters of elementary college work in four-credit-hour courses in one language; and must have earned two A's in four-hour courses or three A's in three-hour courses.

Each member has the opportunity to win one of three Marea Goddard scholarships each year.

Lectures, films highlight Chi Epsilon Mu regular meetings

Lectures and films dealing with chemistry and occupations within the field highlight Chi Epsilon Mu monthly meetings. The national chemistry society, completing its second full year on the APSC campus, has refreshments after each meeting and a spring quarter picnic to enhance fellowship.

Membership is divided into two categories: members and associate members. Requirements for an active member are that he must be a chemistry major who has been at this college at least three quarters. An associate member may be anyone who is interested in the objectives of the organization.

Local Delta Tau Alpha chapter is still a leader on national scene

A charter member of Delta Tau Alpha, national agriculture honor society, the APSC chapter has been a leader in, and was responsible for the establishment of, the national honor society.

Membership is limited to students who have completed 24 quarter hours credit in agriculture courses with a minimum average of 3.0 and with an over-all average of 2.4 in all courses completed.

Purposes of the society are to promote and recognize high standards of scholarship, leadership and character among agriculture students, and to advance the profession of agriculture.

Beta Eta of Epsilon Pi Tau was established on the APSC campus April 11, 1959. The national honorary fraternity for industrial arts majors has as its purpose the promotion of outstanding scholastic achievement in industrial arts education. It also encourages leadership and high professional standards.

Membership is extended to all industrial arts majors who are classified as third quarter sophomores or above, and possess at least a grade-point average of 2.75 in industrial arts. Due to the high standards, 1965-66 membership was very low.

Gamma Theta Upsilon livens programs with interesting speakers

Interesting speakers, both visiting and local, improved attendance at the monthly meetings of Gamma Theta Upsilon, national honorary geography fraternity.

Edward Castellani of Hibbs & Johnson Architects spoke on city planning, and Richard Jones, formerly a student at the University of Madrid, led discussions of foreign people, to name a few.

Membership in the Gamma Alpha chapter is open to students who are completing or have completed 12 quarter hours of geography and have maintained a scholastic average of 2.6 or above.

The local Theta Delta chapter of Phi Alpha Theta, national honorary history fraternity, was instrumental in the installation of a new chapter at Tennessee Technological University.

Dr. Wentworth S. Morris, chairman of the department of history, and president William Shelton were invited by Dr. Donald Hoffman, national secretary-treasurer, to perform the honors at the Cookeville institution. Dr. Morris was instrumental in founding a chapter at the University of Minnesota also.

Guest speakers were numerous at monthly meetings as the fraternity concluded its fifth year on the APSC campus.

Named the "most outstanding club" on campus for the past seven years, the Circle K Club is practically a shoo-in for honors an eighth time.

Sponsored by the Clarksville Kiwanis Club, 45 male students are selected annually on the basis of evidence of good citizenship, leadership, scholarship and initiative.

The club awards six scholarships each year with the major portion of the proceeds coming from a holiday high school basketball tournament. Another means of revenue is the sale of APSC sweat shirts.

Student Wives Club presents interesting monthly meetings

The Student Wives Club is one of the most active organizations on campus. As its name implies, the organization is composed of the wives of students attending APSC.

Eleven new members were welcomed into the club this year. Regular monthly meetings are held and interesting programs are presented. For example, a make-up demonstration was performed by Mrs. Patricia Maples of the Merle Norman Studios.

Highlighting the year is the club's float entry in the homecoming parade.

Formation of a chapter of College Young Democrats was completed in October, and the organization proved to be a "doing" organization.

Membership drives were held at the outset of the winter and spring quarters.

Debates on current issues were conducted through the cooperation of the weekly campus newspaper. In addition, the organization planned campaign seminars and social activities, and attended the state convention in Knoxville.

A huge fund-raising dinner featuring a prominent speaker was to cap the spring quarter's activities.

Successful 'A' Day celebration again staged by letter club

Egg-throwing contests, three-legged races, greased-pig-catching contests and a faculty-student pie-throwing contest highlighted the second annual "A" Day celebration sponsored by the "A" Club.

Composed of varsity athletic letter winners in the intercollegiate sports of football, basketball, golf, baseball, track and field, tennis and cross-country, the "A" Club's brain storm extravaganza was a huge success again this year.

Fund-raising projects included selling corsages at homecoming, and providing foam cushions for football and basketball customers.

Known for its excellent float-building for APSC homecomings, the Agriculture Club's 1965 entry "Bits and Pieces" could do no better than third in the highly competitive club division.

Open to all students who are interested in agriculture and enrolled in a minimum of one agriculture course, the club meets regularly to conduct business, hear speakers and view films.

Aims of the club are to develop closer relations; to study rural and other problems; and to give its members an opportunity to discuss and solve problems together.

Industrial Arts Club visits plants to broaden experience

Composed of industrial arts majors and minors, the Industrial Arts Club, like the Agriculture Club, prides itself in building outstanding homecoming floats from year to year.

This year's entry, however, placed second to the magnificent AP Playhouse's float.

Field trips to industrial concerns and observation of the operations of such a plant are of major interest to Industrial Arts Club members.

Monthly meetings are spiced by the presentation of movies, slides and industrial arts works related to industrial education.

Composed of students interested in modern foreign languages and cultures, the Interlingua Club has worked to bring varied programs on other nations to APSC.

The club's chief project this year was to join the Phi Alpha Theta and Alpha Mu Gamma in sponsoring the visit of Gerald Gaussen, counselor of the French Embassy in Washington, D.C.

In addition, the club promoted other programs including speakers on foreign countries, Christmas caroling in foreign languages and folk dancing in an effort to make the study of foreign languages more meaningful and interesting.

Four plays were produced by the AP Playhouse during the year including "Ghosts," "Solid Gold Cadillac," "Antigone" and "Twelfth Night."

In addition, the Playhouse, which is composed of students genuinely interested in theatre and dramatic productions, sponsored five feature movies for the benefit of the student body.

Donating the opening night's proceeds of "Solid Gold Cadillac" to the March of Dimes, the Playhouse also constructed the huge container for gifts during the Operation Support campaign for troops in Viet Nam.

A series of one-act plays was produced by the Playhouse in addition to the four major productions.

MENC reorganizes, hopes to achieve status it once enjoyed

Reorganization of student chapter 325 of the Music Educators National Conference was completed, and the club hopes to become more active in campus affairs as it once was.

At one time one of the largest chapters in the central south, the aim of the organization is providing its members with the opportunities to become acquainted with leaders in the music profession.

Once the highlight of the club's year was an annual spring dance based on a popular song.

Reorganized on Veterans Day last year, the Veterans Club culminated a two-year project by placing steel poles and chains to encircle the flagpole on the front campus. The club also acquired a huge new flag and was responsible for sodding the flagpole area.

The huge flag was flown at all home athletic contests, and was raised by members of the Veterans Club.

All veterans who have served on active military duty for the United States, and who have received an honorable discharge for such services, are eligible for membership.

$85,000 Baptist Student Union building set for summer opening

An $85,000 Baptist Student Union building is under construction, and should be completed by late summer. The modern, split-level structure will include a lounge, recreational area, library, prayer room, offices, devotional area, classrooms, kitchen, workroom, storage area and director's apartment.

The structure, largest BSU building in the state, will provide better accommodations for its expanding membership. Presently, there are 750 Baptist students enrolled at APSC.

Named the most outstanding religious club on the campus for the past two years, BSU contributes greatly to the religious and social aspects of the students lives.

Enlarged choirs stress literary as well as musical value

"Vocal music is as literary an art as poetry," says Dr. Charles H. Ball, director of the College Choir. Boasting an enlarged membership due to an increase in music majors and interest of non-music majors, the Choir numbers 130.

Presenting concerts each quarter, the annual Christmas concert was the best attended.

An outgrowth of the Madrigals, the Chamber Choir is in its second year of existence. The group sings folk songs, contemporary literature of all kinds, and any music that is suitable for a small group.

Ensembles introduce contemporary sounds in concert

Contributing to the cultural life of APSC are the Collegians, the Brass Choir and the Clarinet Choir. Each musical group serves a specific purpose for the department of music.

The Collegians, instrumental ensemble, serve as host annually to the Mid-South Jazz Festival. This stage group also serves as a public relations tool by performing at high school assemblies throughout the area.

Presenting concerts and special programs, the Brass Choir is composed of students interested in playing and performing literature for the complete brass family.

The Clarinet Choir is composed of students interested in playing and performing expressively for the clarinet family.

The Concert Band and the College Orchestra are two musical performing organizations with completely different personnel.

Members of the College Orchestra are selected from the student body and performers in the areas surrounding Clarksville. The group performs only once during the year on the APSC campus.

High-level-ability students comprise the Concert Band, which made a winter tour through Middle Tennessee and a spring trek into Alabama.

Marching Band and Governettes is one of nation's largest Truly one of the great marching bands in the country, the 1965-66 Marching Governors and Governettes numbered 186.

The colorful unit, directed by Dr. Aaron Schmidt, consisted of 110 playing pieces, 50 Governettes, nine twirlers, five flag-spinners, eight Ohio Valley Conference flag-bearers, two field commanders and two feature twirlers.

Featured as the guest band at the Middle Tennessee Marching Festival in Columbia, the contingent also performed for all home and many away gridiron spectacles. Numerous parades were also on the fall marching season agenda.

A scholar is always a student, and the highest aim of any student is to become a scholar. It is in his role of student that he attends the college and its classes; it is the perfection of this role that will bring him academic success. The college does not claim that it will make the student an educated man or woman. It does claim that it will give the student the opportunity to construct his own education and to acquire the means of making self-education the rewarding enterprise of a lifetime. It is for the student that this book was created; it is by academic class that the student appears on the following pages.

12 teaching majors offered in expanding Graduate Division

Suzanne Mitchell Sweatt confers with F. G. Woodward, acting dean of the Division of Graduate Studies, concerning admission to the program.

Twelve teaching majors are offered in five curricula for those pursuing the Master of Arts in Education degree.

Majors include administration and supervision, curriculum and instruction, biology, business, counseling and guidance, English, health and physical education, history, mathematics, music, science and social science.

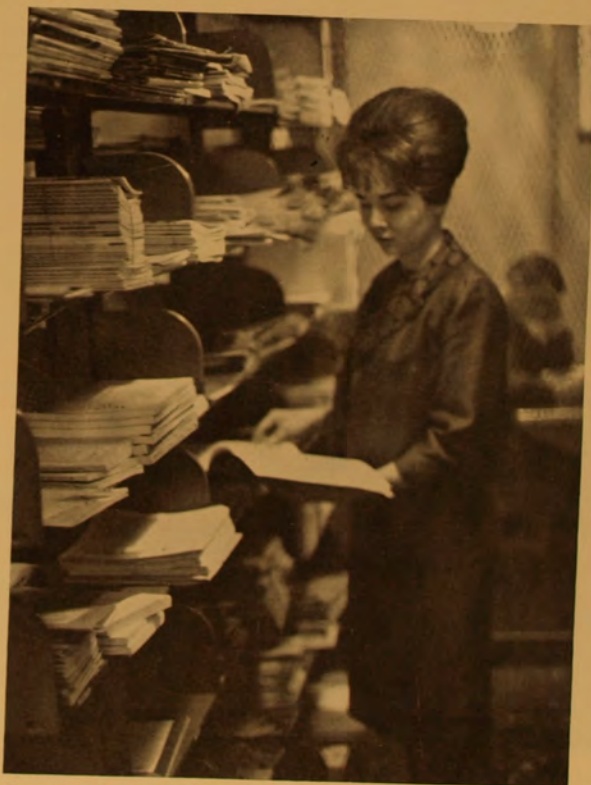

A number of graduate assistantships are available for superior students.

Dr. George E. Ackley, Jr., professor of psychology, checks research data with Henry McCaslin, graduate assistant.

Biology graduate assistants Howard Yarbrough, Eugene Wofford and Floyd Scott lend laboratory assistance to two undergraduate coeds.

Numerous hours are spent in research in the library. Linda Robinson Lyle depicts the research scene.

Dr. Floyd M. Ford, class sponsor, has the "world in his hands" prior to the homecoming parade.

An unidentified faculty member greets a friend of a graduating senior.

Student teacher Patty Paris receives lesson plan assistance from Dr. Ellis B. Burns, associate professor of education.

Traditions become memories when the senior receives his diploma and becomes an alumnus. Suddenly, ideal theories learned in the classroom meet reality.

For those in teacher education, student teaching was a high point. For those not planning to follow the teaching profession, added research was a necessity. All eagerly await the challenges of tomorrow.

Crossarmed Jim Phillips, 1965 FAREWELL & HAIL editor, awaits his winter quarter registration appointment.

RANDY VAN SICKLE
President

Career-thinking juniors led by Van Sickle; class hopes to meet the challenges of 1967

Basketballer Dennis Snyder and a coed friend scan the Student Center lobby bulletin board.

Receiving a helping hand, President Randy Van Sickle supervises the early stages of the class float.

As the student enters his junior year, he has a more serious purpose. The pieces of the puzzle begin to fit.

Concentrating more on his major, the junior begins to strive toward his goal—a degree. He must decide whether or not to change his major.

Many assume heavier roles as leaders of the various campus organizations. The coed decides to wait or make the engagement announcement. Decisions are many; determination is great.

Gaping Vicki Keith spots the photographer, but Tim Tague and Beverly Bennett are busily engaged in a card game.

Ralph Brewer glances through a magazine in the Student Center, while Bill Webb sits in a daze.

Lela Wade and Lenore Easley smilingly approve a portion of the class float entry.

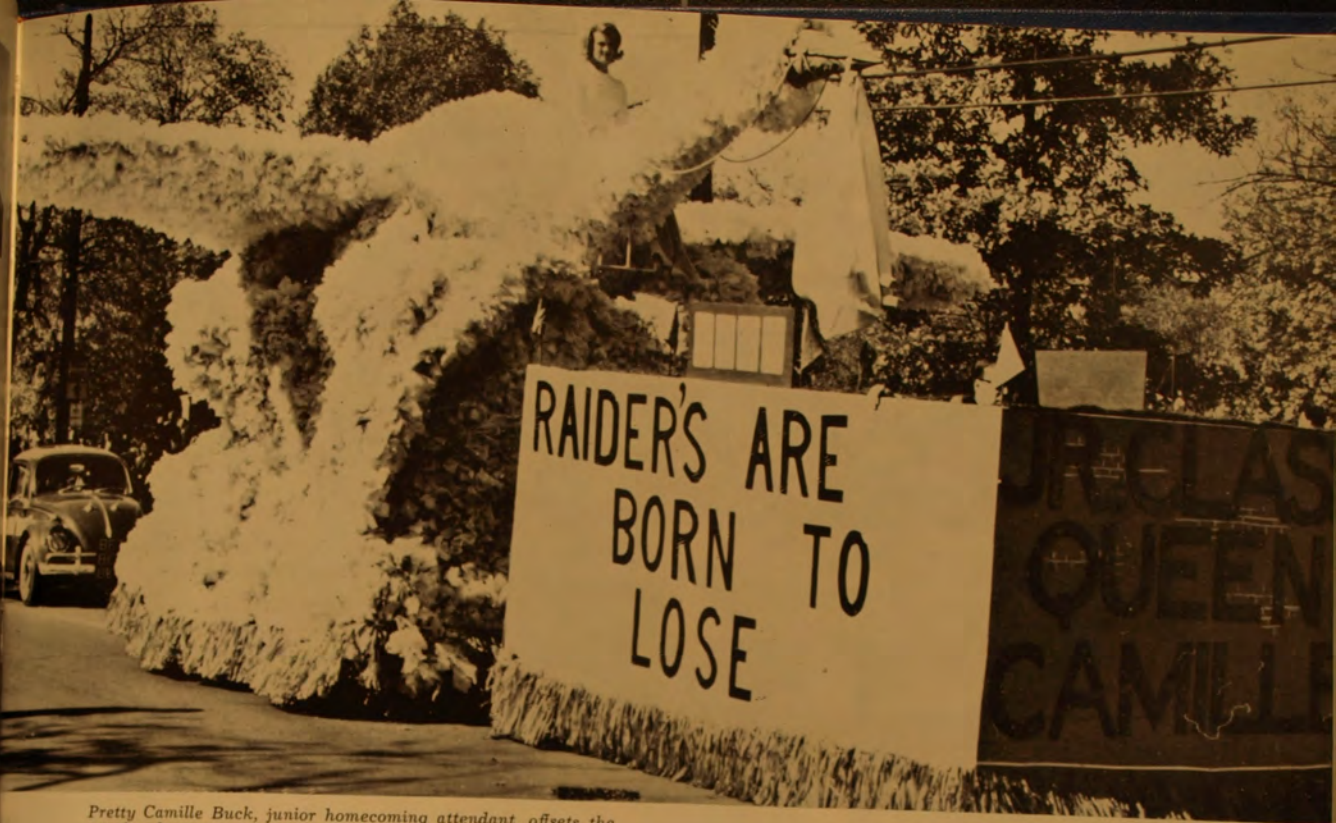

Caught in the act of escaping the dormitory is Mary Jo Jones, daughter of the dorm supervisor.

Relaxing with a cigarette, Jerry Russell casually prepares for his next class.

Pretty Camille Buck, junior homecoming attendant, offsets the misplaced apostrophe on the lead vehicle.

William "Teddy" Wootton is the object of a Judy Keys' fixed gaze.

Wonder and doubt is for the junior, and surprises are frequent. It's the final time for "wait till next year."

The junior strives to be independent, but next year he'll probably wish for that 1966 senior to be dependent upon. Still, however, he must provide the leadership for underclassmen.

During the winter quarter he rebels, seeks change and may write numerous letters to the editor. The emergence of Spring soothes his discontent, however, and he'll soon be thinking of his final checkout in the Registrar's Office.

Hurrying to meet the 3 p.m. post office deadline is Donald "Jake" Gamble.

Wise directs class for second year; sophomores join fun and responsibility in campus life

DOUG WISE
President

Commanding "all" the answers, the sophomore feels that he's attained the height of college sophistication. After all, he's no longer a freshman.

On the surface he displays a nonchalant air. He feels he has the right to be radical, no need to conform. His opinions forming, his voice is now heard. He feels a sense of authority.

He's reaching the halfway point. The end result will be new maturity and new poise.

Engineer Margaret Sullivan, sophomore homecoming attendant, pleads for an APSC victory.

Following a night of exam-cramming, Vivian Kramer catches a few winks in the Clement auditorium.

Carl Williams, footballer, is on the receiving end of a huge snowball from Dianne Crowell.

Marilyn Vaughan beautifies the construction equipment, which works to complete the $1.4 million library building.

DAVID TUCKER
President

Tucker organizes Freshman
Council; float entry captures

Greeting freshmen at the annual Faculty-Student Reception are administrative officials and ASB officers.

Asking "all" the questions, the freshman has leaped from the "know-it-all" high school senior to a perplexing college atmosphere.

He assumes new roles in making the adjustment to college life. His new life makes new tomorrows and forgotten yesterdays.

"Firsts" are numerous, yet he can hardly wait until he's a sophomore to park his car on campus. His No. 1 ambition is to be a sophomore so that he can tantalize freshmen at Truth Court.

Larry Hughes, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Pam Singleton, Hopkinsville, Ky., receive "Most Outstanding Freshmen" plaques from ASB President Larry Richardson.

Blonde Gayle McCaffrey, freshman homecoming attendant, sits atop float in downtown parade.

Hard-working Bill Green and William Choate add touches to would-be footballers on float entry.

A moment of "truth" is exemplified at the ASB-sponsored Truth Court.

Sisco typifies a day in the life of an APSC student

Variety marks the day of each APSC student. A. B. Sisco, senior from Hohenwald, typifies a day in the life of a college student. An excellent student and athlete, he will enter medical school this fall.

Sisco goes through shaving routine as day begins, while Tim Tague combs hair.

Skipping breakfast, Sisco, a chemistry major, hurries through a laboratory formula.

The 21-year-old biology minor listens attentively to lecture by Floyd L. Brown, biology assistant professor.

Going through the cafeteria slide, Sisco manages time for a wholesome lunch.

Harvey Blanck, Jr., assistant profesor, reviews chemistry exam with Sisco.

A girl enters the picture as pretty Linda Lumpkin and Sisco enjoy the outdoors between classes.

Sisco, APSC's star golfer, and teammate Larry Hughes hit some practice shots in the late afternoon.

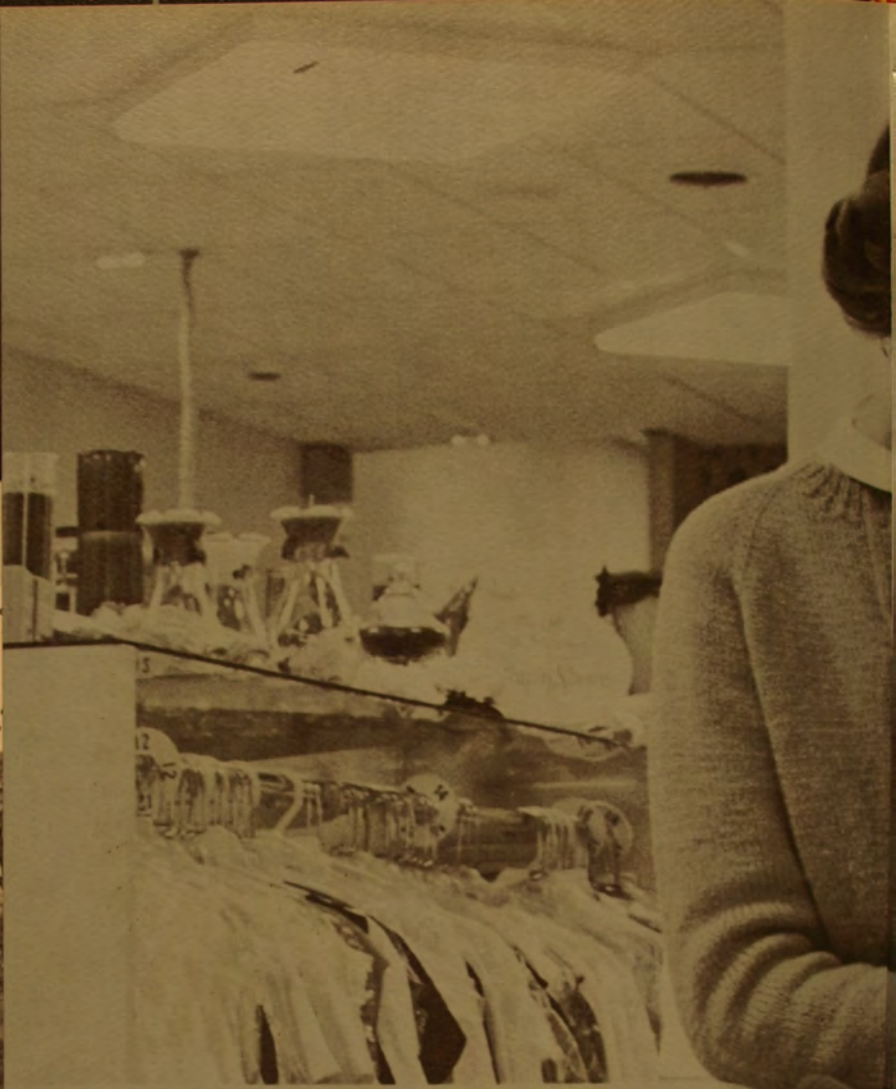

It's been a full day as evidenced by the senior falling asleep in his dormitory room.

Already accepted to medical school, Sisco thumbs through some journals in the library during the evening.

The way to tell about a product or service to the greatest number of people in the shortest time at the lowest cost per message has been found to be — advertising! This yearbook provides space for firms in the local area to "sell" their product or service to the students, faculty and administration, staff, alumni and parents who come in contact with this volume. Each reader is encouraged to patronize our advertisers. During the summer months the advertising manager contacts as many establishments and agencies as humanly possible. Explaining rates and circulation, preparing art work and layout, the advertising manager is an important link between the college and the community. Our supporters help us; and in turn, we feel that we help our supporters.

'66 SENIORS... ALUMNI...

We trust that you have enjoyed this edition of the FAREWELL & HAIL and that these pages have brought to your mind many of the pleasant experiences which you had as a student at the College.

Wouldn't you like to remain a part of the college family by becoming a member of the Austin Peay State College Alumni Association?

Your membership dues of $3 (single) and $5 (family) will bring you each edition of The All State, the weekly campus newspaper, and the APSC Alumni News. In addition, you will be helping to keep eight deserving students in college through our alumni scholarship program. But most of all your membership will be indicative of your interest in the progress of your college.

During the past six years, the active membership has increased from 295 members to over 800 paid-up members. Is your name on the active alumni list? Won't you help yourself and Austin Peay State by becoming a member of the Association during the 1966-67 alumni year?

Specifications

The 1966 FAREWELL AND HAIL was printed in Nashville, Tenn., by Benson Printing Co. The book is a combination of letterpress and offset. The paper is 90 pound enamel. Copy type faces include Textype for the body;

Garamond Bold for capitals; 24 pt. Garamond Bold for all narrative heads; italic light face for captions. The cover was produced by the Durand Manufacturing Co., Chicago, Ill. This is the 21st volume of the FAREWELL AND HAIL and contains 272 pages.

Acknowledgments

Growth in academic areas, physical facilities and increased enrollment at Austin Peay State College called for the largest yearbook in history. The 1966 FAREWELL AND HAIL contains 56 more pages than last year's edition, which had been the largest. An estimated 1,000 photographs appear in the book.

Countless people helped make this the most complete yearbook in APSC history. W. A. Benson, Jr., of Benson Printing Co., planted ideas for the book, and assisted in supplying the latest yearbook trends. Dan Eadie, Benson Printing Co., provided expert advice concerning the art work, and Wayne Johnson, an APSC graduate in Benson's art department, also provided necessary assistance.

The work done by the previous staffs, and especially the 1965 staff, spurred our staff to greater heights and higher ambitions.

Credit is also due to Gene Washer, sports editor and photographer of the Clarksville Leaf-Chronicle, for spring sports photographs and scattered pix throughout the book. Class portraits were handled by Togue Uchida of Bing & Togue Studios, Nashville, Tenn.

Thanks go out to a great staff and to all the students for making our story.

This would not be a complete acknowledgment or justified without mentioning the long hours and great service of Gerald Tenney, employed at the beginning of the academic year as the college's first full-time photographer. He worked diligently to fulfill requests, and most often with new ideas and improvement.

Finally, plaudit is in order for Sherwin Clift, yearbook adviser. With his many responsibilities, he still gave many hours of his time and energy to see that a quality book to fit the image of the institution was produced. Mrs. Kay Gee, Public Information Office secretary, is due thanks for typing much of the manuscript.

Letter From The Editor

"No good work whatever can be perfect . . .," John Ruskin once stated. This statement could be debated at great length, I suppose, but our goal at the outset of the year was to produce the most nearly perfect yearbook ever published at Austin Peay State College. I join the staff in feeling that we accomplished our goal, and we greatly anticipate the results of the rating services to which we belong.

Our goal to produce the biggest and best FAREWELL AND HAIL in history was greatly enhanced with the addition of Gerald Tenney as director of photographic services, and Dorris Bryant, associate editor.

The bright balloon of high hopes and dreams were sometimes deflated by the lull of daily routine, slowing down the work and dulling the sharp edge of excitement and enthusiasm.

For any corporation, winning team or organization, willing participation is vital. I feel that our staff had great potential, and it was my job to convert this talent into its proper channels. Sometimes, we were triumphant; at times, we failed. Yet, in the final analysis, the product of workmanship held in your hands, I feel, is good work.

As our 1966 FAREWELL AND HAIL staff and I reminisce over the year, we recall the cooperation on the part of the students, faculty, administration and outside agencies. In an attempt to produce the 1965-66 academic year in photos and copy for present and future enjoyment, I say thanks to a lot of understanding people.
