

Candidates prepare to win SGA offices

Elections for the 1973-74 executive officers of the Student Government Association will be held Monday, April 23.

Petitions, available in the SGA office beginning 8 a.m. April 9, are due back in the SGA office with 100 signatures no later than noon April 16.

The officers of president, vice president, secretary and chief justice will be included in the election.

The president of the SGA is granted a performance scholarship of $100 per quarter. Besides presiding over SGA meetings, his duties include appointing members to the Cabinet, Student Tribunal and standing committees and serving as liaison between SGA and faculty and administration.

As speaker of the SGA Senate, the vice president is given a performance scholarship of $115 a quarter, the same as that of the secretary. The chief justice receives a scholarship equal to that of the SGA president.

All candidates must meet with the Election Board in the University Center conference room April 16 at 5 p.m.

Formal campaigning will begin at 6 p.m. April 16. Voting polls will be in the eight student dormitories and the University Center. The polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on election day.

If no candidate receives a majority, a run-off will be held Thursday, April 24, between the candidates in that race receiving the first and second highest number of votes.

Awards Day honors Gavs

A special assembly for Austin Peay State University's championship basketball squad will be held Tuesday, April 10, at 3:30 p.m. in Memorial Gymnasium. Tuesday classes, 1:05-4:50 p.m., will be dismissed for the ceremonies.

APSU students, faculty and staff, plus the general public, are invited to attend, according to David Watson, director of the University Center, who is in charge of arrangements.

The Gavs, who captured their first Ohio Valley Conference cage championship, will receive the league championship trophy from Art Guep, conference commissioner.

George Fisher, director of athletics, will serve as emcee. "Laker Kelly (head coach) will also receive the 'OVC Coach of the Year' award," Fisher said.

B.J. Thomas sings tonight for concert

Raindrops of music fall tonight in the APSU gym when B. J. Thomas appears in concert. Red Snappa and the Boogie Chillun will begin the 8 p.m. show.

Advance tickets are $3.50 and can be purchased at New's Record Shop, The Sound Shop, Tapes and Threads and the University Center information desk. Tickets will be $4 at the door.

Hailing from Houston, Tex., B. J. Thomas has had an amazing to sing since the age of 14. While in high school, he sang with a group known as the Triumphs, who later became a popular group in the Houston area.

Sequel Records signed B. J. Thomas in 1966 and released his first million seller, "I'm So Lonesome I Could Cry."

Thomas was chosen by Burt Bacharach and Hal David to sing their tune, "Raindrops. Keep Falling on My Head," in the Paul Newman film, Hombre. Cassidy and the Sundance Kid, "Raindrops" has sold over three million copies and won the coveted Oscar for the "Best Song of the Year." The "Raindrops" album became his first million-selling album.

Keeping with his hit-making style Thomas followed with "I Just Can't Help Believing," "Must of All" and "No Love at All." Other hits include "The Eyes of a New York Woman" and "Hooked on a Feeling."

MUSIC MAN — B. J. Thomas will appear tonight at 8 in the APSU gym. Tickets are $3.50 in advance and $4 at the door.

Bobby Wall resigns director's position

Bobby Wall, director of housing and security, has submitted his resignation to the University effective April 30, according to Dr. Charles Boehms, vice president for student affairs.

Wall, who has been director of housing and security since July 1970, is joining First Metropolitan Corporation of Clarksville as vice president of construction.

Under Wall, security has been expanded to include new measures such as a campaign to curb dorm thefts through Operation ID and special equipment.

The position will not be filled until July 1, 1973 stated Boehms. During the interim period, Doyt Redmond, director of men's affairs, will assume supervisory responsibility over security and Arnold Quarles, director of student services, over housing.

Security officers will be assigned greater responsibilities and duties. Students should direct any suggestions during this period to Boehms or Redmond.

Fletcher sings at Waterhole zlic Fletcher, well-known and despised Nashville musician, will appear at the Waterhole Friday night, April 6, at 8:30.

Zlich will play the guitar and sing such infamous songs as "Margaret on Your Cadaver," "Wouldn't You Rather Be Alive?" and "Neurophobic Rag." Zlich's most recent claim to fame was the production of his musical comedy, The Labotomy, performed at Clamity Jane's in Nashville.

JAZZING IT UP — Austin Peay's Collegians strike up a tune during their performance at the Mid-South Jazz Festival. Sponsored by APSU's Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, the three-day festival featured bands from area colleges.

Sorority gets national nod

Twenty-five members of the Theta Phi Epsilon sorority became pledges of Alpha Phi Fraternity in a ceremony held March 31.

Members of the Memphis State chapter performed the formal pledging ceremony in which the pledges were presented pins and ribbons.

Also attending were Sharon Mosley, MSU chapter advisor; Judy Kay Meade, director of extension; and Caroline Kent, district alumnae chairman.

Saella Dillard and Karen Boyd were also pledged as alumni.

The day ended with an informal dinner at Bonanza.

Members of Theta Phi Epsilon submitted their petition March 21 to the national fraternity following a visit March 7 from Miss Meade.

APSU's Epsilon Omicron chapter is only the second chapter to be formed in Tennessee.

Formal installation will be held May 18, 19 and 20.

Federal cuts hurt student assistance

These are days of belt-tightening. Not only are many houseswives forced on meager austerity budgets, but the college student, too, is faced with increased costs not only of meat but in education. President Nixon, as part of his projected budget designed to reduce government expenditures and government centralization, has gutted several specified federal funding for many programs and has adopted revenue-sharing in their place.

Theoretically money is still available; but most states, including Tennessee, already have committed the funds to purposes other than, in many cases, social efforts. This is a cute way by President Nixon of concealing fundamental slashing of HEW and HUD budgets in a maze of statistics, figures, and local-state priorities which have been accustomed to allowing Washington "Sugar Daddies" to handle welfare funds and now the states are either unwilling or unable to accept the burden themselves.

So, education loans, scholarships and assistances which have allowed thousands to obtain an otherwise impossible education are being phased out as the states drop the welfare ball the federal government has coaxed them to accept.

To Austin Peay students, this is of more than political importance; it is rapidly becoming or will become of vital concern for many. According to John Bratcher, director of student financial aid, the EOG program that provides grants to needy students has been cut one hundred percent by the White House. Monetarily, this means $65,000 which has helped 105 students this year.

The NDSL program that loans money to students to attend college is also feeling the hatchet. Two-thirds of the funds for this program which has aided 260 students at APSU this year has been slashed.

On the surface Nixon has proposed an increase of funds for such programs as these but has made the requirements to obtain financial help so stringent as to virtually close the door to many students for such aid.

The state board work scholarships has been subject to attrition as well. No new funds will be available from the state of Tennessee though APSU itself will attempt to aid as many students as possible. Nevertheless, probably no new applicants will be accepted and even some of those presently on the program may be dropped.

It appears that education is no longer a top priority either at national or state levels which is suicidal for an advanced, technological nation. An austere year for needy students seems inevitable.

CLEMSON UNIVERSITY, The Clemson Tiger, Clemson, S.C.—Women at Clemson may now obtain oral contraceptives at Redfern Health Center. At gynecology clinics, women are examined and given counseling about contraceptives.

Compared to the cost of being treated by a private gynecologist, the cost of treatment at Redfern is very low. The examination is $4 and the pills cost $1 each month.

At the Clemson Health Center, however, there is no charge for contraceptive methods. The clinic, which has been in existence since October, provides the student with counseling and an examination before a decision is reached about the method to be used.

MEMPHIS STATE UNIVERSITY, Helmsman, Memphis, Ta.—This summer Memphis State University will offer two new programs for studying abroad. The first program will be a "floating university" which will give students an opportunity to earn academic credit while abroad ship and on tour in Europe.

MSU faculty members will teach courses aboard the Italian Lines flagship S.S. Michelangelo during the trip from New York to Naples, Italy. This trip will last for two weeks and will feature visits to Rome, Florence, Venice and the Alps.

The second program will be an extension campus of the University of Guayaquil, Mexico, in which an integrated travel-study program will be conducted. Approximately 120 students will be enrolled in the 30 courses offered. The program is open to graduating high school seniors, high school graduates, college students and special students of all ages who have been admitted to MSU.

UNIVERSITY OF MIAMI, Miami Hurricane, Coral Gables, Fla.—Now for a limited time only the University of Miami (UM) Housing Office is offering key mates. In an effort to increase togetherness on campus, the UM has provided a selected group of students with key mates.

According to director of housing for UM, it is "nothing to get excited about." Frequently the lock to a student's room will wear out and several keys will open his door and may do so. Now the resident assistant, the graduate assistant, the juniors, the housing officer, you, your roommate and your key mate will share the same key. Don't you see the togetherness in all of this?

Letters to editor

Student criticizes society

Dear Editor:

This morning I did something I haven't done in two years. I shaved.

I never before realized how absurd an act that was. Blood seeping out of tiny fissures put in my face by the latest of the "Fuzz Blade" Syndrome" technicians, the two bladed razor. Maybe I should sue, as the ads say something like "fewer nicks and cuts than with the conventional razor." Considering it's the most nicks and cuts I've had in two years, wouldn't that be "false advertising"?

But I have nothing against that particular razor or company, it's the foolishness of the whole act. Whether you do it with stainless steel, platinum or chromium edged blades, injectors or technics, straight razors or flints it's just plain ridiculous.

Society frowns upon so-called "unnatural acts," mainly those having to do with sex, living style or length of hair, but what is more "unnatural" than shaving the hair off your face or legs or underarms or whatever?

And what about masochism? (Use the dictionary.) We think the Chinese are crazy because they stick pins in each other to relieve headaches. But could someone please tell me what pouring raw alcohol over open wounds is if it is not masochistic?

I shaved for a job interview with a so-called "progressive and open-minded" firm that doesn't like beads on its employees (even though many of its "customers" are trying their darndest to grow hair out of their kneecaps). I think they have the crazy notion that some of its customers will get funny ideas about the firm if its employees persist in growing that evil stuff all over their faces.

Oh, great heroes of Western civilization—Moses, Santa Claus, Lincoln, Robert E. Lee, et al—where would we be had it not been for you and your beards? Oh, yes, you too, King of Kings, better shave before you come back. You might end up stoned.

But I'm not trying to say it's right or wrong to shave, I'm just saying it's one of those ridiculous forms of fashion that society must suffer through. Sir, the next time you put a razor next to your vulgar vein, Madame, the next time you take the top off your kneecap while shaving your legs, just ask yourself, "Why am I doing this?"

Sincerely,
Alan L. Mayor

14 compete in Hat and Cane

The annual Miss Hat and Cane Pageant, an official preliminary to the Miss Tennessee Pageant, will be held April 10 and 11 at 7:30 p.m. in the Clement Auditorium. There are fourteen contestants and each will be judged in evening gown, swim suit and talent competition.

Frank Prince, of radio station WABD will serve as Master of Ceremonies for the two night event. All entertainment is centered around this year's theme of "Love."

The winner of the Miss Hat and Cane Pageant will receive a trophy, flowers and an award of $200. The four runners-up will also receive a trophy. The winner will represent Austin Peay at the Miss Tennessee Pageant which will be held in Jackson during the second week of June.

Dean Deason said that he have had some good representation from Austin Peay at the Miss Tennessee Pageants in the past. In 1972, Viva Smith won a special talent award for her singing. In 1971, Barbara Oscarson won a special talent award as a flutist. In 1970, Debra Kesler was voted Miss Congeniality. These girls have given the University very favorable public attention, Dean Deason said.

To be eligible, the contestant must be between the ages of 18-28, single and have never been married. She must be enrolled in APSU as a full-time student for at least the quarter preceding the pageant and the quarter in which the pageant is held. The contestant must be sponsored by a campus group.

The contestants can also be seen on April 9 at 12:00 the "Noon Show" on Channel 4, WSM.

The fourteen contestants and their sponsors are as follows: Gay Arnold, Alpha Tau Omega; Lisa Brewer, Harned Hall; Donna Cogdill, Chi Omega; Rosanna Coppedge, Phi Mu Alpha; Sandra Flowers, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Phyllis Hunter, Wesley Foundation; Susan King, Theta Phi Epsilon; Suzanne Langford, Theta Phi Epsilon; Kay Nelms, Circle K; Susan

Price, Pi Kappa Alpha; Jackie Stack, Kappa Delta; Susan Thomason, Kappa Delta; Carolyn Tue, Baptist Student Union; Katy Winters, Chi Omega.

Tickets for the pageant can be purchased at the University Center Information Desk or at the door.

Paper earns 'First Class'

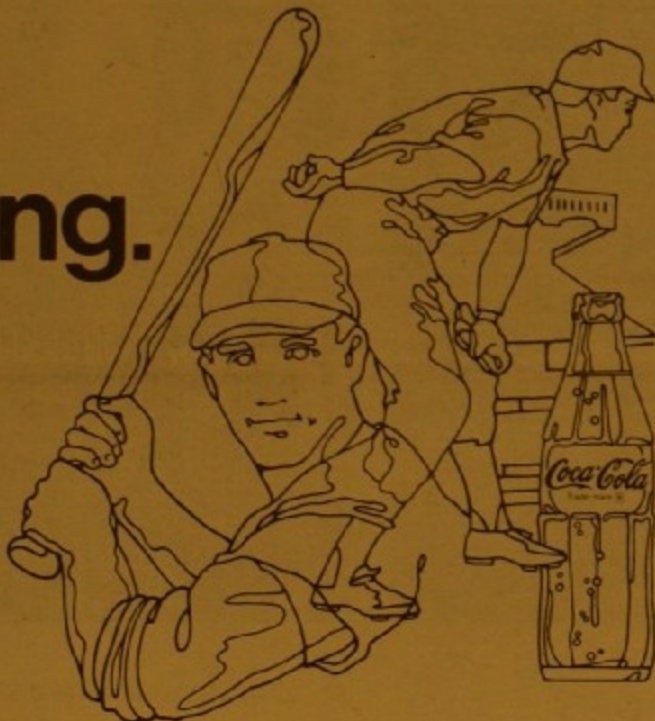

THE ALL STATE has been awarded a First Class rating by the Associated Collegiate Press (ACP) for the fall 1972 quarter.

First Class represents "excellent" from ACP. THE ALL STATE also received marks of distinction in coverage and content and photography.

A First Class rating is the highest given on a point system alone. The highest rating a paper can achieve in the ACP system is All-American, which requires marks of distinction in four of five specified areas.

Andrew Holt addresses STEA state convention

Under the theme of "New Dimension in Education," the Student Tennessee Education Association (STEA) and the Future Teachers of America (FTA) will hold their annual conventions at APSU this Friday and Saturday respectively.

As many as 1,000 students are expected to participate in the two-day meeting, according to Mrs. Charlene Collier, STEA-FTA consultant and director of professional relations for the Tennessee Education Association.

The FTA is a high school organization and the STEA is a college organization, both drawing membership from students preparing to teach. Dr. Andrew Holt, president emeritus of the University of Tennessee, will address the STEA at the 1 p.m. Friday luncheon at Highland Hill.

Jacalyn Gunter, STEA president at APSU, and Ann Yimou, STEA state representative at UT Chattanooga, will preside at the general sessions.

Seventeen group meetings are planned, dealing with such topics as special education, early childhood education, public school law, student-teacher relationships and various subject areas and teaching methods.

Registration will be held from 8-10 a.m. in the University Center both days.

Teacher attends math conference

Dr. Leon McQueen, assistant professor of mathematics, recently attended the Regional Conference on Linear Groups held in Tempe, Ariz., March 26-30.

Dr. McQueen was selected to attend because his doctoral dissertation was in this area of mathematical research.

The conference was sponsored by the National Science Foundation in an effort to stimulate research activity.

A series of lectures and informal discussions were the agenda for the conference.

Teachers hear Stedman paper

An Austin Peay State University professor's paper was presented at the National Science Teachers Association annual convention held last Saturday in Detroit, Mich.

Dr. Carl Stedman, associate professor of science education, presented "One Approach to Relevant Science Courses for Preservice Elementary Teachers" as part of a symposium on improving science education for future elementary teachers.

Students borrow curriculum tapes

Six tapes recording the Ad Hoc committee open hearings concerning the restructuring of the core curriculum are now available to students and faculty.

These tapes, approximately one hour of proceedings on each, may be obtained from the reserve desk in the library to be used there anytime. They may be borrowed on overnight loan from 9 p.m. to 9 a.m.

Students and faculty are invited to submit reactions to these hearings and make suggestions pertinent to the core study to the office of the vice president for academic affairs during the next two weeks.

The Ad Hoc committee wishes to thank those faculty and students who participated in the core study hearings.

14 schools participate in contest

One hundred and seventy-seven junior high and high school students representing 14 schools will participate in the 17th annual Tennessee Mathematics Teachers Association (TMTA) math contest on Tuesday, April 16, at Austin Peay State University.

Testing will be administered by the APSU Galois Math Club in the University Center at 9:30 a.m.

Divisions for testing and number of participants include geometry (50), Algebra I (45), Algebra II (42) and comprehensive (40).

Participating high schools include Clarksville Academy, Clarksville, Dickson, East Robertson, Greenbrier, Jo Byrnes, Montgomery Central, Northwest, Springfield, Waverly Central and Todd County Central (Ky.).

Greenwood Annex and New Providence, both from Clarksville, and Springfield are the three competing junior high schools.

Registration will begin at 8:15 a.m. in the University Center, and Dwight Lampley, president of the Student Government Association, will welcome the group at 9:30 a.m.

THE ALL STATE recently completed its fourth annual spring sports poll of the coaches of the Ohio Valley Conference. The coaches were asked to predict the finish of each team in its respective sport. The OVC baseball coaches predicted the finish of the four teams in his division only.

Western Kentucky was picked to finish first in both teams and track. Western is the only school picked to win championships in two sports.

Middle Tennessee is tabbed to win the golf title while Murray State is the projected winner of the OVC Western Division and Tennessee Tech is picked to take the Eastern crown.

East Tennessee was the golf championship last spring with Middle Tennessee second but the coaches predict a reversal of events. Middle garnered six first place votes.

Western's pick to win the track title came as no surprise. The Hilltoppers have dominated the OVC track scene for the past decade and have won the championship nine straight times.

The Hilltoppers are also picked to take the top tennis spot. WKU has won the net title three straight years, four out of the last five years, and 14 of the OVC's 25 championships.

Austin Peay is picked second in the tennis competition, receiving two first place votes. APSU is also a second place pick in the Western Division baseball race.

Tracksters take perfect slate into weekend Southwesterns

By RICKY BENTLEY

Austin Peay's track team will hope to keep up their early season momentum as they head into this weekend's Southwestern Relays in Lafayette, La.

The Governors, of first year head coach Ken Gunter, have won all three of their 1972 dual meets and have broken seven school records in the process.

Freshman spearhead Anthony Carter is responsible for three individual records and a part of another new mark. The Mobile, Ala., native, who finished fifth in the long jump in the recent NCAA Indoor Championships, has broken records in the 100 yard dash (.99.6), 220 yard dash (21.6) and long jump (25.7%). He teamed with Elton Pridel, Robert Elizer and Eddie Richardson to crack the 440-yard relay record (.42.1).

Other school records have been set by David Reintjes, Pete Reed and Rusty Beard. Reintjes has set new standards in the three-mile run (twice this season with his latest time being 14:40.0). Reed blitzed the 120 high hurdle mark with a clocking of 1:34.90 while Big Beard hurled the discus 144.10% for a new record.

Carter has accumulated 49 points to lead the team. In addition to his records, he has the best season triple jump (.43%) to date.

The Southwestern Relays will be Friday and Saturday.

17 team field entered for Mid-South Golf Classic

Illinois State University and Middle Tennessee State University are the co-favorites to take home top honors in this weekend's fifth annual Mid-South Intercollegiate Golf Classic.

The location of this year's tournament, hosted once again by Austin Peay, will be the new 6,000 yard Creek Park (Tenn.) layout near Pikeville, Tenn.

A field of 17 teams includes Austin Peay, Belmont, Carson-Newman, Christian Brothers, Cumberland (Ky.), David Lipscomb, Eastern Kentucky, Indiana State, Indiana State, Middle Tennessee, the University of the South, Southwestern, Tennessee Tech, Tusculum, UT Chattanooga, UT Martin and Vanderbilt.

Illinois State is the defending champ of the 36-hole tournament. Middle Tennessee is a three time winner of the Classic taking titles in 1960-71.

Austin Peay's Mike Carn will be defending a piece of the individual championship. Carn and Illinois State's D. A. Wehring were last year's co-champs. Wehring will also be back this year.

Darkhorses to win the team championship includes Austin Peay, Eastern Kentucky, Indiana State, Tennessee Tech and UT Martin.

Top bets to give Wehring and Carn a run for individual honors are Middle Tennessee's Harry Nesbitt, Jim Hurt and Mark Wheaton, Tennessee Tech's Bobby Barber and Sam Young, APSU's John Ignacio and Bruce Wallace, Eastern Kentucky's Ron Trey, Indiana State's Gary Miller, UT Martin's Gary Baker, Rick Sharp and Randy Sharp and Illinois State's Gary Ostrogo.

The Governors placed in a tie for ninth with Vanderbilt in last year's Mid-South Classic. This weekend's action will be APSU's first of the spring.

Murray State University's Thornburghs took a giant step towards capturing the Ohio Valley Conference Western Division championship by thumping Austin Peay 13-7 in a rain-shortened Sunday afternoon of baseball on the APSU field.

The two teams were slated to battle in two seven inning games. But because of an afternoon shower, only five innings of the game were completed. But five innings are all that we needed to count as a game.

The win boosted Murray's loop record to 6-1. The Governors are in second place with a 3-4 mark while Western Kentucky and Middle Tennessee rest in the cellar with 3-5 workbooks.

The Governors will try to get back on the winning track Saturday when they travel to Murfreesboro for a very important twin-bill with Middle Tennessee's Blue Raiders. Both games are a must if Austin Peay is to have a shot at the divisional crown. The Govs cannot afford another loss and must get some help from Western and Middle in knocking off Murray.

The Govs will go to Tennessee Tech Sunday for a double-header. However, the games will not count on the Western Division record. Next Wednesday will find the baseballers in a make-up contest at Nashville's Belmont College.

In Saturday's game, Murray jumped out to a three run lead in the top of the first on the strength of a three-run home run by Steve Barrett.

However, the Governors countered with six runs in their portion of the first frame. APSU belted out four doubles, two singles and a home run in that wild first inning. The key blow was a three run homer by shortstop Doug Savage.

Murray regained the lead by chalking up two runs in the second inning and three in the third to go ahead 9-7. Austin Peay battled back to tie in the fourth when Rob Rickett doubled home Kevin Spee. But a five run outburst by Murray in the fifth led the win.

Rickett swatted two doubles to lead the Gov battlers. Spee and Jim Davis cracked a double and single each while Larry Boels collected two singles.

Spee is the leading hitter with a .396 average followed closely by Davis (.373) and Rickett (.368). All three are hitting over .400 this spring.

Netters host 'Cats tomorrow

Austin Peay's tennis team will try to push their season record over the 500 mark tomorrow afternoon when they host a tough Kentucky Wildcat squad on the APSU tennis courts.

The Governors had their first two matches of the year to Alabama and Memphis State. However, the Govs came back to down Indiana State 6-3 Friday and shot past Northern Illinois 4-4 Saturday in an indoor match. Jorge Jimenez of San Jose, Costa Rica, has the best win-loss record of any Governors with a 7-1 mark. Jimenez is currently APSU's number three player.

Australian Noel Phillips has a 6-2 record playing in the number one position. Manuel Losada also has a winning record posting four victories against three losses.

In double competition, two teams have 6-2 records, Phillips and Jimenez form one of the duos while Pancho Sanhueza and Losada make up the other team.

Losada and Lawrence Weiss went undefeated in last week's singles matches while the doubles team of Sanhueza and Losada were not beaten.

The Governors will open Ohio Valley Conference play with highly regarded Murray State on the Racers' home court Friday. The Gov netters will then meet Western Kentucky Saturday in Murray before hosting Memphis State Monday and returning to Murray to face Northern Illinois Tuesday.
