The Lettermen Returning For Concert

The Lettermen - Bob, Tony, Jim

March 6 Deadline For Entering Miss Hat And Cane Nominees

The contestant's name and the academic probation and must $3 entry fee for the 1964 "Miss Hat and Cane" beauty pageant. Entries as a fulltime student this must be submitted by the sponsor.

soring organization or club by Friday, March 6, to either Dean Mabel Meacham or Mrs. Trudy Brotherton (Box 5304).

The pageant will be held April 9 and 10 and will include three divisions. The first is the formal division followed by the swimsuit division. A three to five minute talent number will be the third. Contestants will be judged on personality, beauty, poise, figure and performance.

Qualifications for entry are Wednesday afternoon, February 26, approximately 45 superiors on social probation during visiting teachers from the following current year, must not be on (Continued on Page 2 Col. 4)

Registration Procedure Changes

Dean M. P. Bowman requested a committee of the officers of the Associated Student Body serve in an advisory capacity to provide a new system of scheduling registration appointment hours.

The committee met with Dean Bowman Tuesday, February 11, and the following system was planned for the Spring Quarter.

1. Early registration appointments will be given only to students who provide evidence of hardship circumstances which necessitate special hours, etc. Written applications with supporting evidence of hardship circumstances must be presented by all students expecting early appointments.

2. The alphabetical system of scheduling registration appointment hours will be discontinued, and a system of drawing will be substituted.

3. Students will pick up their IBM registration packets during the last days of examinations and secure their appointments to register cards upon presenting their ID cards. It is at this time that the clerk will draw the student his registration appointment card.

The new system is essentially the same as being currently used by the University of Tennessee.

Show To Be In Gym On March 19 At 8

The Lettermen, who appeared at Austin Peay State College last May before more than 700 students and adults, will make a return performance at the College Thursday, March 19, at 8 p.m. in the Memorial Gymnasium. Price of tickets is $2 in advance and $2.50 at the door.

Individually, Tony Butala, Jim Pike and Bob Engerman form the group known as The Lettermen. They boast one of the freshest vocal blends of any group in the entertainment field, and the sound has brought them almost instantaneous success.

Last year's appearance at the college was hailed by many as the most successful concert on campus and prompted their return this year.

Among their most popular recordings have been "The Way You Look Tonight," "When I Fall in Love," "Come Back Silly Girl" and "Valley High." Their albums have been among the best sellers also.

On stage The Lettermen devote most of their show to singing, but when they are not singing, they are joking with each other and playing instruments.

The Lettermen sing a wide variety of songs ranging from folk and ballads to pop songs. They are enjoyed by both young and old alike.

Tickets to the Lettermen Concert are now on sale in the Student Center at the college or can be purchased at the Student Council Office at Clarksville High School and Greenwood Junior High.

Correction

Inadvertently, the name of Henry McCaslin, president of the Associated Student Body, was not listed as a member of the student union committee in a recent issue of The All State.

The newspaper staff immediately recognized the oversight and wishes to let you, the students, know that McCaslin is your representative on this important planning committee.

Better To Give Than To Receive

"It is better to give than to receive" is a saying that we have all heard many, many times. This applies to anything we undertake.

The most recent example of this motto being put into use was demonstrated by more than 100 students from Austin Peay State College last night.

These volunteers gave approximately three hours of their time to canvassing the homes of Clarksville and Montgomery County in the annual Montgomery County Heart Fund Drive.

However, this is not the first time that the students of the College have given of their time to help the people of Clarksville. For the past few years they have been very generous in giving of their time to conducting the house-to-house campaign in the Cancer Drive sponsored by the city.

The undertaking of these two projects shows that the students of Austin Peay State College, even though they are not permanent residents of Clarksville, feel that they are part of the community and want to take part in the various activities of Clarksville.

Too many times these drives are taken for granted and those who volunteer for them are not given much credit or recognition for their splendid help and co-operation.

To the students who were involved in setting up the areas to be canvassed and getting the volunteers together, a very special recognition and praise for their efforts are extended. To each of the students who took part in the drive in any way, a special thanks is also extended.

You, the volunteers, did not have to give of your time, yet you chose to do so and the people of the College and the city of Clarksville are proud and happy to have you as partial residents of the city. Your help and co-operation are deeply appreciated and you are to be commended for it.

Yes, it is better to give than to receive.

A. P. Playhouse To Hold Readings

Readings for The Austin Peay Playhouse spring production, "Arms and the Man," will be held Wednesday, March 18 from 3 to 4:30 and 7 to 8:30 p.m. in Clement Auditorium. Three women and four men will be cast.

"Arms and the Man," by George Bernard Shaw, is a satire on war and the professional fighting man. Since its first production in 1894, it has been a favorite in the English-speaking stage.

Plans for set construction are underway and rehearsals are scheduled to begin on Friday, March 20.

Interested persons should see Dr. David Mays or John G. Griffin, department of speech. Dr. Mays will be directing the upcoming production.

Ramblings Of A Fool Duty Is Essence Of Freedom

By RONALD ARVIN

At the college level, most students become acutely concerned with personal freedom. They become embroiled in family arguments because they insist that their parents allow them to be independent and to live their own lives (financed, of course, by their parents).

It is important for young people to seek freedom for, in this struggle, many come to know the essence of freedom for the first time. Having known it, they can no longer be satisfied with a world without freedom. As with Walt Whitman states in Notes Left Over, "...most people entirely misunderstand Freedom."

"It's the degraded or undeveloped ... and even to too many others ... the thought of freedom is a thought of escaping from law — which, of course, is impossible." The businessman wants freedom from controls, Youth and adults want freedom from moral restraints, Republicans want freedom from Democratic rule and Democrats want freedom from Republican rule. The Negro wants freedom from discrimination, and the student wants freedom from parental control.

Freedom is not an escape from the responsibilities of life. Quite the contrary, it is a recognition and acceptance of them. Living with freedom is not an easy venture. In addition to a great deal of objectivity in judgment, it requires patience to seek out and apply the essence of freedom. How much is too much parental control? Doesn't social relationship, if not parental relationship, require consideration on our part? Does freedom to attend a public supported college also carry with it the freedom to dictate whimsical changes to the college administration?

We in America are surrounded with freedoms which are unimaginable in any other part of the world. It remains for us to recognize these freedoms and the responsibilities which go with them. Freedom without responsibilities is license. Many have yet to learn that responsibility is not the antonym of freedom, rather it is the complement. Responsibility defines freedom and gives it meaning and direction.

Freedom is not entirely within ourselves or our environment. It is the knowing and acknowledgment of the essence of freedom within both. We must strive through education to gain a deeper understanding of ourselves and the world in order to acquire the essence of a life of fruitful bondage.

Greek Family Meeting Adopted By Harned Hall

Yesterday was Heart Monday, but the girls of Harned Hall have made it Heart Year.

Through the self-help assistance program, the family of Lucas Rigas in Greece was able to purchase a cow last year which has raised the standard of living for them.

Both survivors of a village which the Nazis put to the torch, Lucas and Vassiliki have an eight year old son, Penelope, and a six year old daughter, Penelope.

Until the family was adopted by the coeds of Harned Hall, total lack of capital prevented the family from doing for themselves. Their annual income was only $240, and their only shelter was a barn.

Now they own a cow and the income has been raised by $80. Although they still live in a barn, they hope to own a small plot of land and a small house at the end of the next three years. With the help of the Harned Hall coeds and a favorable economy, the family will become self-sustaining.

Life has been made much brighter for the family through the kindness of the residents of Harned Hall.

Long-Range Expansion Plan Draws Praise From Students

By JUDY TROTTER and SAMMY MCINTOSH

With the proposed expansion being announced in the last issue of The All State, many students at Austin Peay State College have been expressing their opinions on the plan.

This week's question, therefore, was "What is your opinion of the APSC long-range planning program as it appeared in the February 25 issue of The All State?" The following are some of the student's answers.

Clifford Adkins, freshman, history, Portland, Tenn.: "The expansion of Austin Peay State has been needed for some time and I hope it can be completed sooner than expected. This expansion should make APSC one of the leading campuses in the south."

Charles McWhorter, sophomore, biology, Cunningham: "It is a very good project which will be very beneficial to the student attending APSC, and also for the city of Clarksville. With the right supervision and cooperation of the people of this state, the project should be completed by the set date."

Dale Dresskill, junior, mathematics, Minden, La.: "I have

What type are you? A romantic personality who swoons at the idea of travel in Europe, the adventurer who thrills at the bold and free carnivals of Spain and Mexico or a connoisseur?

Whatever your delight, the modern language department has something for everyone. The department has a small staff, but it is large in world outreach. Three languages are taught in the department—Spanish, French and German. The two most responsible are Dr. Joseph V. Thomas, professor of modern languages and chairman of the department, and John W. Welker, assistant professor of modern language.

Dr. Thomas' office is a less-than-romantic cubicle in the language laboratory. With a little imagination and the help of some vivid posters, the lab and his office has been transformed into a travel bureau eager to whisk the romantic and adventurous away. There is only one qualification—the student must be able to read a foreign language.

The stack of magazines inside the lab door are written in everything but English. Volumes of poetry, classics and mysteriously titled books appear around the walls of the lab. It is exciting but uncomfortable to see so many strange words.

The cool blue mountain scene on the posters in the hall of the Clement Building is designed to snare the student's attention. Romantic names of European countries are dashed liberally across the bulletin board. "Travel, attend summer language schools in France," "Study in Mexico," "Jobs Abroad," "Such fascinating places!

The gourmets may feel they are being left out of all the excitement. Just return to the inner office bulletin board. It carries an article especially designed for the connoisseurs. "How to eat in a different language." How is that for a beginning!

The students who are not taking a foreign language still benefit from the department. They can enjoy the aesthetic value of the colorful posters. In addition, the department has been quite active in sponsoring culture trips. One is a trip to Nashville to see a French play and the other is a trip to New Orleans between quarters.

By TONY BOEHMS

Team Effort

Wins Games

As the curtain fell on one of the brightest seasons scored by a Governor ball club, the season's effort was summed up in the Govs' 76-75 victory over Western Kentucky.

Much of this year's success can be credited to the outstanding tutelage of coach George Fisher. Fisher, in his second season as head basketball coach at APSC, has well shown his ability to inspire young men to do the job to the best of their abilities.

The Governors, picked for the cellar of the OVC, comprised an unbelievable 7-7 conference record, leaving the Govs a sure bet to finish in the top four teams in the league.

Since the game at Eastern Kentucky on January 9, the entire appearance of the Gov squad has changed.

"We assigned certain scoring areas for the players and they were not to shoot unless they were in that area," was one of Fisher's explanations for the late season surge.

Also, the head man said that, "We tried to get every man to play at least five minutes without a foul." This theory is amplified by the final statistics which show that the Governors had 181 more free throw attempts than their opponents this year and caused their opponents to commit 97 more fouls.

Fisher attributes the success of this year's team to each and every member of the squad. The attitude of some of the people not getting to play regularly has helped to boost the moral of the men in action.

"Without this team effort," the head coach pointed out, "you cannot have a good organization of any kind."

Fisher sighted a recent game in which one of the so called "bench-warmers" (Darke) went into the game and provided the spark to win the game but, at the same time, didn't score a point.

"The hardest job this year was to convince the boys that they could compete in the OVC. This really came when they played Eastern (Kentucky) into an overtime at Eastern," was how one of the OVC's best coaches summed up a successful season.

Frosh Find Range

Another outstanding coaching job and team effort was demonstrated by the freshman squad.

The young team wound up the season with five consecutive wins which began just after a loss to the Kentucky Wesleyan frosh in an overtime contest by a 105-100 score.

"Coach L. J. Sanders did a fine job with the boys this year and hard work could not be better exemplified than the yearlings' showing against one of the finest frosh teams in the country last Thursday when they defeated the Western Kentucky frosh 84-71," was Fisher's appraisal of this year's freshman team.

The squad was led by three outstanding players in Melvin Van Hooser, Benny Morgan and Hal Jackson, who accounted for almost 60 points per game. This is an average of 20 points per man.

An unusual hero of this year's frosh team was Ronnie Cowles who held his own with some of the big men on the opposing squads.

Tourney Ends Thursday

This week the champions of the Intramural league round robin tournament will be crowned.

The finals for both the consolation and championship games are set for Thursday night.

Trophies will be given to each of the players of the winning and runner-up teams of the championship tourney and to the winners of the consolation game.

These trophies will be on display in the Memorial Health Building until game time Thursday night.

The Last Word

---- Doug Stamper boosted his career total to 1195 points in Thursday's victory over Western to move into second place in the all time scorers at APSC for a three year career.

---- Freshman coach L. J. Sanders, called one of the most efficient basketball players in the 58-59 season at APSC, was elected Governor at the college for the year 1959.

STAMPER HITS WINNING BUCKET - Billy Hutton, photographer for The All State, caught APSC's Doug Stamper as he fired the winning bucket in the Gov's comeback victory over Western Kentucky last Thursday night. ## Win Last Three For 7-7 Record In Conference

The Austin Peay State College Governors closed out their first season in the Ohio Valley Conference with three victories to finish with a 14-9 overall record and a 7-7 mark in the OVC.

Tabbed by many for the cellar in the conference, the Governors of head coach, George Fisher, astounded everyone with their lofty finish.

In their last three games the Govs defeated Morehead State in overtime 88-83, Eastern Kentucky 77-67 and Western Kentucky 76-75.

The victory over Western Kentucky has been the topic of conversation at the college since the sound of the final horn. Doug Stamper, almost a shoe-in for all OVC honors, hit a 15 foot jump shot with two seconds showing on the scoreboard clock to give the Govs the greatest comeback victory in the history of the college.

Trailing by 11 (73-62) with 2:06 showing on the clock, the Govs roared back to come within one point (75-74) with 19 seconds left in the contest. Stamper dribbled around to his left and then back to his right at the head of the free throw circle and let go with the biggest basket of his career.

The heroics of Stamper took most of the glitter off of the performance of Western's Darel Carrier who broke two APSC gymnasium records and tied a third.

Carrier scored 42 points to erase the old mark of Jim Beshears in 1961. He also broke the gymnasium mark for field goals from WK by 13 points, 84-71. The Hilltoppers had only suffered one defeat prior to the encounter with APSC while winning 14.

Leading the baby Gobs were Benny Morgan with 26, Hal Jackson 19, Ronnie Cowles and Mel VanHooser with 16 each.

The frosh wound up their season with a record of 8-9 winning their last five in a row.

Cager Of Week

Statistics

STAMPER

Doug Stamper has been selected for the final cager of the week this year for his performance in last week's games. Stamper led all scorers in the game against Eastern Kentucky with 31 points and led the Governors with 18 in 76-75 victory over Western Kentucky. Stamper scored a dramatic 15 foot jump shot with two seconds remaining in the contest to insure the Governors of a very successful debut in the Ohio Valley Conference.
