Carnicus keeps rolling

Plans progress for production

SKITS NOW IN REHEARSAL STAGE — This group of girls comprise just one of many groups now hard at work preparing for the upcoming Carnicus weekend. Such skits will be presented Thursday and Friday, May 12 and 13, while the Iris Ball will afford the Saturday night climax.

The weekend of Carnicus, terminating with the Iris Ball, is scheduled for May 12, 13 and 14.

The first activity to take place is the first show of Carnicus. This will begin at 7:30 p.m. on the 12th.

On Friday afternoon, May 13, the water show is scheduled. It will consist of canoe racing and water skiing by the students and faculty.

At 5 p.m., the cafeteria will sponsor a buffet supper for all students. It will feature "all you can eat for $1."

The second show of Carnicus will begin at 7:30 that night; and following the show, there will be a dance.

The weekend will be climaxed by the Iris Ball on Saturday night. Approximately 75 students have entered Carnicus to date. Eight acts have been organized. Some of these are songs and dance routine from "West Side Story," a skit from "Zorba the Greek" and several folkloric groups. Although it is too late for group entries, individuals will still be welcomed to join one of the acts which are already organized.

Those students who wish to enter the water events scheduled for Friday afternoon may pick up the required form at the student center.

Carnicus is being sponsored by the Circle K Club and is directed by Paul Dinello.

2-legged calf judging is among various activities

Dunking machine, kissing booth and calf judging—these will be just a few of the attractions at Barnfest.

The event, sponsored by the Panhellenic Council, will be held in Memorial Gymnasium Friday, 8 p.m. to 11:45 p.m. All clubs on campus have been invited to enter a booth for the event. These will be judged and the winning club will be awarded a prize.

Barnfest will also enable clubs to bring money into their treasuries. Ten per cent of the proceeds will go to the Panhellenic Council and the remainder will be kept by the clubs.

Of special interest will be Randy VanSickle's A-go-go Club. Dates may go there for dancing.

A kissing booth, calf judging (leg guessing) and weight guessing will be displayed in the Barnfest.

Square dancing and cakewalks will live the recreation room during the Friday night activities.

Additional attractions include a puppet show and throwing darts at pictures of the faculty.

With an admission fee of 15 cents, the Panhellenic Council promises that "Barnfest will be a carnival of fun for everyone."

Another top rating

Newspaper receives an 'A'

"You have an above-average newspaper that, besides merely reporting what's going on, presents and imaginative and thoughtful portrait of Austin Peay State College."

This was one of the comments made by a National Newspaper Service Judge, THE ALL STATE received an A rating from this critique service, in comparison to a B plus for the same term last year.

Three newspapers from the fall and winter quarters are selected by the newspaper staff, sent in to be reviewed and commented on by the judging panel.

Special approval was made concerning the new "flag," or name-plate, on the front page, which was changed to a more modernistic style last quarter. Buster Yates' sports section was cited as containing "some of the best coverage this judge has seen this year."

The editorial page, edited by Kaye Phillips, received particular approval. It was declared to be a varied, thought-provoking page.

In addition to praise, criticism is also offered as well as suggestions for improvement.

Many of these suggestions are acted upon by the newspaper staff, which helps in keeping the campus newspaper up to date concerning the latest trends in style and technique.

Tuesday night

German consul plans APSC talk

Dr. Heinrich Pohrs, consul of the Federal Republic of Germany will be the guest Tuesday evening of the department of history and the Theta Delta Chapter of the Phi Alpha Theta.

He will deliver a speech at 7:30 p.m. in room 106 of the Clement Building. His topic will be "Germany and Her Role in the European Economic Integration."

Dr. Pohrs attended high school in Upper Bavaria and Berlin and was then drafted into military service in May 1941.

He fought in Russia during World War II and was discharged from active service as Second Lieutenant in April 1944.

After receiving the Doctor of Laws Degree from the University of Munich, he joined the Foreign Office in 1952.

His positions in the Foreign Service include: Embassy in Madrid, Spain, 1955-56; Consulate General in Calcutta, India, 1956-58; Foreign Office in Bonn, 1958-62; Embassy in Copenhagen, Denmark, 1962-65; and he is presently Consul in Atlanta.

The Tuesday night lecture will be open to the public.

Dorm applications due now

Priority reservations for women's residence halls for the fall quarter will be accepted by the dean of students until May 20.

In submitting applications, women should indicate their classification as of the fall quarter and attach the required deposit.

All below the rank of sophomore will be assigned to Harrod Hall; sophomores will be assigned to Blount Hall; juniors and seniors will be assigned to the new residence hall now under construction.

Space is assured for all who make reservations before the May 20 deadline. Advance reservations from new students are running far ahead of last year's requests.

Blanks may be secured from the dean of students or at the desks of the women's residence halls.

Class elections scheduled

Class officer elections will be held in class meetings on May 11. Officers to be selected are the presidents, vice-presidents, secretary-treasurers and student senate representatives of next year's three upper classes.

The qualifications for these offices are that each candidate must be a member of that class for which he seeks an office, must have an overall average of 2.0, must be enrolled in at least 12 quarter hours and must be in good standing with the college.

A petition of 50 names must be filed in the ASB office on or before noon May 5. Petitions may be secured there now.

President-elect applauded

THE WINNER — Surrounded by supporters, Jags Gamble, voted ASB president in a recent runoff election, is congratulated. Gamble and Bill Arrington competed in the runoff ballot, which drew 1090 voters. The final tabulation was: Arrington, 439; Gamble, 651. (Photos by Gerald Tenney)

"It looks great on paper, but it will never get off the drawing board."

5 bid dates have come to nought

Another deadline. Will the plans be ready?

The progress being made on the new library building is readily apparent, but where is the new student union building that is to sit across the bowl from the library?

Investigation shows that it quite literally has not "gotten off the drawing board" yet. In fact, for the fifth time the architects, Hibbs and Johnson, of Clarksville, have failed to meet the deadline for submitting the plans for the student union, as the following outline of events shows.

On Jan. 31, 1963, an advisory committee was appointed to make a study on the need for a student union. A report of the committee's recommendations was submitted in August, 1964, to Pres. Joe Morgan, who accepted it with minor suggestions and then forwarded it to Hibbs and Johnson with instructions to proceed with the preliminary plans in keeping with the suggestions of the report.

The preliminary drawings were submitted in the spring of 1965 to Tom K. Savage, dean of students, who submitted them to the ASB Senate and provided copies for their consideration. The Senate approved with the recommendation that the total building be completed as drawn, the additional funds to be secured from a "student use" fee.

The architects were notified of the college acceptance of the drawings and were instructed to proceed with the detailed drawings and specifications.

In November, 1965, Pres. Morgan and Dean Savage were called in by Hibbs and Johnson to approve final changes on the arrangement of the snack bar. At that time they were told that this change was all that remained.

This should have made it possible to submit the plans in mid-January, 1966, for a February bid date.

Having failed to meet this deadline, the firm was then asked by the administration to meet a deadline in time for a March 22 or 24 bid date. It was not met.

Since then, alternate bid dates of April 28, May 5 and May 12 have been offered by the administration. They, too, were not met.

The architects now advise that the delay has been occasioned by the engineering firm (William B. Thompson, Mechanical Engineers, Memphis) which they engaged to handle the mechanical (heating, air-conditioning, etc.) portion.

The administration had no reason to suspect that the engineering phase had not been kept current with the architects' plans.

The architects have now set the deadline for May 14, which would probably make the bid date sometime in June.

"I am embarrassed when a student asks when construction will start, for I have been forced to answer, 'I do not know,'" stated Dean Savage. "I feel that the students have been patient beyond reasonable limits and I can appreciate the intensity of their concern at the present time."

We agree that the students have been forced into an unpleasant wait for the much-needed student union.

They should have every reason to expect that the May 14 deadline be met by Hibbs and Johnson. And it would seem that the architects would want to stave off the rising feeling of discontent among the students brought on by these consistent delays.

Something to praise

Two notes of commendation on the election: First, in general the printed posters for the various candidates showed more thought and creativity than in the past.

While the object of a campaign is obviously not to be aesthetically-pleasing, it is nevertheless gratifying that several candidates were able to create printed posters that were persuasive and at the same time original and interesting.

Also in the past two quarters, we have spent a good deal of space on the editorial page bombasting the multitude of nonvoters on our campus. Once again, in this election a large percentage of the voters did not turn out.

However, a large group of students did vote--the largest number yet in a campus election. It is these students who show interest and responsibility toward their government who are usually ignored.

So we would like to take this opportunity to commend the 889 students who turned out for the general election and the 1090 who voted in the runoff.

A sizeable step forward

It has recently been made evident that a change in dorm hours may occur next month. Senior girls might be given 1 a.m. permission on Saturdays for the month of May.

Albeit a gradual step, it is a step in the right direction. Regardless of the furor of "change the dorm hours" campaigners, a quiet but definite move has been made toward progress.

And, we hope, it is only the beginning.

From the ASB president's desk:

Records were broken last week in a flourishing display of campaign antics and a crusade by 10 energetic candidates. Everyone agrees that the ASB campaign was the most heated one in years and that the campus really came to life for a change.

Now there are two questions that the outgoing Associated Student Body officers are pondering and almost hesitant to ask: 1. Will those candidates, who failed to acquire their desired offices, continue their determination and enthusiastic display of interest that was shown during the campaign? 2. Will the zeal of those who promoted the candidates of their choice continue throughout this quarter and promote the affairs of student government next year? If the answer is "no," then there will be a terrific deficit in student government affairs next year.

Approximately 1100 students proved that there was an interest in student government. Half of the student enrollment exhibited an interest in their leaders and they should now band together for the promotion of common goals.

Congratulations to Jake, Andy, Clisay and John and best wishes for a progressive year in student government. L. R.

Letter to the editor

Dear Editor,

After several weeks of reading THE ALL STATE, I have come to the conclusion that our editorial page has become a center for complaints. The complaints are becoming a joke to many students (myself included). Every time the paper comes out, many are known to open it up to see who wrote the letters and then turn to read something else. I do not believe this is a lack of interest in student affairs, but a lack of interest in the constant griping of the few who are the self-proclaimed saviors of the under-privileged female on this campus.

I believe the students of this institution have more to concern themselves with than the hours of the women's dormitories. There needs to be created on this campus some sort of an intellectual atmosphere that is characteristic of most institutions of higher learning.

At the present there is none on the campus of Austin Peay State College to speak of, nor will there be as long as we run around with petitions such as the one dealing with the hours of the women's dormitories. Problems such as this are not the concerns of most institutions, the ASB or any other organization except the Women's Student Government Council and the women who reside in the dormitories.

If we are going to have a committee for voicing student opinion, why not let it be one that works with the ASB, the WSGC, and the administration. It would be of far more importance to

Banners furlled, voices stilled as election ends

POLITICAL EXUBERANCE — A bit of the voter's enthusiasm was apparent Thursday as the two political camps vied for attention just before voting tabulations. The enthusiasm did not a voting trend, however. The runoff election boasted more voters than ever before, including Tuesday's election preceding this one.

Different goals cited

Preparation climaxed June 3

by BETTY PARIS

Traditions become memories when the senior receives his diploma and becomes an alumnus. Suddenly, ideal theories learned in the classroom meet reality. For the AFSCA seniors, June 3 is the day of climax for four or more years of preparation.

As the seniors leave, each has a different goal, career ambition or dream to pursue.

The past four years of hard work, exams, quarter projects, interesting and/or boring classes, hoping for good grades, getting some bad grades and the better aspects of college social life have all been a part of the preparation for launching a career.

Of the seniors, some plan to further their education, either here or elsewhere; others will go into a professional field.

For some, wedding plans are on the agenda; others will be the prominent businessmen of the near future, while the majority of the graduates plan to teach.

Some of the individual seniors interviewed were: Larry Richardson, president of the ASB, Richardson plans to go to the University of Utah to do graduate work in biology.

Upon completion of this degree, (Continued on Page 8, Col. 1)

by RAMONA LUMPKIN

The fanfare is over. Banners no longer blow in the breeze and the voices which screamed, "Vote! Vote! Vote!" are silent. A stranger walking on campus now would find it hard to believe the enthusiastic uproar of only a week ago.

One dean was heard to remark last Thursday, "I can't believe it. I left here on Tuesday, and it was so peaceful!"

Peace reigned again, but none of the AFSC students will forget the exciting week of speeches, debates, posters, bands, parties, campaign buttons and pandemonium.

The fact that so many students took such an active interest in the future of their student government speaks well for our student body.

Throughout election week students made remarks such as "I think it's great that so many people really care who the new officers will be," and "I wish AFSC could stay like this all the time."

The big difference on campus was the fact that so many students showed they did care about our college and took an active part in proving it.

The candidates elected are well qualified; it is probable that those who lost would also have proved competent leaders.

Perhaps this is what made the campaign so heated—the fact that more than one person running for each office seemed to be suited for the duties.

If the enthusiasm and participation evident throughout the election can be sustained in the following year, Austin Peay State will progress toward a dynamic team of students and leaders capable of putting our school on the move.

The key word is team-work, among both the leaders and the (Continued on Page 8, Col. 3)

Sun safety

Style file

by CISSY WILLIAMS

Since summer is so near, many girls are venturing out into the sun to get an early start on a tan. This is a good idea if you are careful. The sun at this time of year is much stronger than some realize.

The cool wind and the cloudiness that sometimes accompany the sun's rays hide the visible effects of the sun.

Exposure should be done in moderation. The first couple of days, it is wise to stay out only for half an hour or so, depending on how cloudy it is. If the sun is out in full force, then 30 minutes is enough.

The sun is hottest and strongest between the hours of 10 and two. This seems to be the time when most girls go out into the sun so a good deal of caution should be used.

Sun lotion should always be used. If only to keep the sun from drying out the skin. The wind and sun have a tendency to chap and (Continued on Page 5, Col. 3)

Winter quarter dean's list

Seventy-four students attending Austin Peay State in the winter quarter have been named to the dean's list, according to an announcement from the office of M. P. Bowman, dean of admissions and registrar of the college. This is an increase of 20 over last year's winter quarter.

In order to qualify for the dean's list, a student must be enrolled in at least 15 quarter hours and finish with no grade below "C." Also, a quality point ratio of at least 3.65 must have been obtained.

"Venezuelan Painting Today" is being presented this week in the Travern Gallery.

Promoted by the Neumann Foundation, Caracas, Venezuela, and the Tennessee Partners of the Alliance, the show was visited by Nancy P. Kefauver, the state department's adviser on fine arts, and her special assistant, Miss Carol Harford.

The TPA program includes educational, business and various private groups in North and South America in cooperation to work on common economic and social problems and to provide a cultural interchange between the two continents.

Having just completed a tour of German galleries, the show is representative of the many tendencies of contemporary Venezuelan art.

Geometric configurations, figurative painting and abstract expressionistic works are included in the show.

MTSBOA rates high school bands

Fifty-nine junior high and senior high school bands completed the three-day 27th annual Middle Tennessee School Band and Orchestra Association festival here Friday.

The contest which judges concert and sight reading ability for senior high schools, but only concert performance for junior highs, was staged at Austin Peay State College.

Each band competed against a national standard, and not directly against each other. A composite of judges' opinions determined the official ratings of (A—excellent), (B—good), (C—fair) and (D—poor).

Official ratings are as follows:

Junior High School (Concert Performance)—A ratings: Bailey, Murfreesboro Central, Hillwood, Columbia Whitthorne and East Nashville. B ratings: Murfreesboro City School, Madison and Neely Bond, Hendersonville, Peabody, Covert and Maplewood. C ratings: Manchester, Clarksville Greenwood, Wharton, Washington Orchestra and Washington.

Senior High (Concert Performance)—A ratings: Ashland City, Lewis County, Tennessee School for the Blind, Stewart County, Hillwood, Hendersonville, Stratford, Waverly, Cohn, Franklin, Lenoir City and Columbia.

B ratings: West End, Covert and Waverly Belmont; Peabody Orchestra, Meigs, Lafayette, Mt. Pleasant, Pulaski, Dondson, Murfreesboro Central (second unit), DuPont, Lawrenceburg, McMinnville, Springfield, Madison, Dickson, Lebanon, Shelbyville, Two Rivers, Knoxville, Cameron, East Nashville, Murfreesboro Central (first unit).

C ratings: Cumberland, Greenbrier, McEwen, Smyrna, Portland, Memphis, Sparta and Clarksville.

Senior High School (Sight Reading)—A ratings: Ashland City, Peabody Orchestra, Lewis County, Stewart County, Murfreesboro Central (second unit), McEwen, Stratford, Waverly, Cohn, Franklin, Knoxville, Lenoir City, Columbia, Murfreesboro Central (first unit) and Clarksville.

B ratings: Meigs, Lafayette, Greenbrier, Donelson, DuPont, Lawrenceburg, McMinnville, Springfield, Memphis, Dickson, Lebanon, Cameron and East Nashville.

C ratings: Mt. Pleasant, Cumberland, Pulaski, Hendersonville, Smyrna, Portland, Madison, Shelbyville, Two Rivers and Hillsboro.

THREE LOST SOULS—Wandering merrily through the maze of campus construction, three weary young musicians take a break from the band competition held here last week. The junior high school competition, in which these girls performed, took place Wednesday.

Governette tryouts on agenda

If you become sunburned, then wait until the redness is gone before attempting to get any more sun.

Sunburn is and can be an extremely serious burn. If you happen to get badly sunburned, a cooling, soothing lotion can help to ease the soreness and pain.

Scratching a sunburn can also be dangerous, for the inflamed skin can become infected.

work toward a common goal than trying to split the student body, the ASB and the administration on every issue that comes up. I believe that it is time for the students to wake up and think for themselves; after all, we do not need a committee to voice an opinion if we can speak for ourselves. I hate to see our great potential wasted.

If we would all work and support the school, I'm sure we would see a growth in the intensity of all sorts of rules. When we begin to accept the responsibility placed upon us as students at this college, we will be treated as adults with respect and trust. Kathy Cummins

The tryouts are tentatively scheduled for 4:30 p.m. on May 10 and May 12 in the gymnasium. There are no strict requirements as such, explained Dr. Schmidt, who has directed the Governettes for 10 years. "The basic qualification is a strong rhythmic sense."

The number of new girls that will be selected as Governettes is not yet known, since this will depend on the number of old members that return next fall.

After the new members are selected, they will be measured for uniforms and may register for one hour credit fall quarter.

The team will practice on Mondays, 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.; Tuesdays and Thursdays from 3 to 4:15 p.m.; and meet on Fridays at 4 p.m. to practice with the band. Susan Lawrence, an experienced Governette, said, "It's a lot of hard work, but once you get out on the field you never regret it." She added that she was "proud to be a part of the Governettes."

She explained that the Governettes performed at all the home football games and at several away games, and also marched in parades at homecoming and Christmas.

Jean Durham, who has been a Governette for two years, said that she also loved the activities. "You're more than just a fan—you're part of the game."

Jean agreed that it is hard work, but stated that it is worth it when "you're out on the field and you hear the announcer say, 'Now here are the famous Governettes!'"

Judy Keys expressed that being a member of the Governettes is time-consuming but satisfying. She stated, "You can enjoy a game more, as anything is enjoyed more, by participating."

A win and a tie against Middle Tennessee on the baseball diamond Saturday were enough to put the scarlet and white in the No. 1 position in the Western Division in the Ohio Valley Conference. The Governors 2-1 record places them above Western Kentucky and Murray, both of which have won half of their conference contests. Middle Tennessee is on the bottom with a 2-3 slate.

The Governors appear to be the most improved team among the Western Division squads. Murray has been the divisional and league champion for the three years that APSC has been in the league. However, it appears that the Racers do not have the strength of their recent successful seasons.

On the other hand, the Governors are supposedly building but seemed to have arrived sooner than expected, Leon Sandifer, who had accumulated a 107-100 record at the helm since coming to Clarksville, attributes the success to better pitching and hitting.

Troubles, troubles

A few APSC players had their troubles Saturday. Don Rogers, freshman third baseman from Hixson, was the leading batter for the Gobs before Saturday's contests. He had also gone all season without committing an error. However, the Blue Raiders jinxed him as he was hitless in four times at bat and committed his first error in the field.

Philip Sleigh thought he was out on a long fly ball in the sixth inning when the scarlet and white scored two runs to go ahead of MTSU. However, the catcher had tipped his bat and he was awarded first base to set the stage for Ed Sneed's pinch bunt. Sneed's bunt was somewhat remarkable considering that it came after the former Clarksville High star had two strikes on him. The bunt took the Raiders by surprise and Sneed was credited with a base hit and driving in the run that tied the score.

Pro scouts visit

George Digsby and Shakey Kain, major league scouts for the Boston Red Sox and Chicago Cubs, respectively, were present at Saturday's ball games. After the first contest got into the late stage Digsby made several comments about no one wanting to win the game. He referred to the times that either the Gobs or MTSU had one or two men on base and were not able to score.

Thinclads host Sewanee Saturday

Austin Peay State College, coasting along in first place in the OVC Western Division, will travel to Kentucky Wesleyan Saturday for a double-header.

Leon Sandifer, who has coached the Governors to a 5-2 record thus far this campaign, will have a wide choice of men to start in Saturday's contests. Recent games have pointed out the strength of the scarlet and whites' bench as several men have delivered instrumental hits.

Sandifer will probably start the same combination he has employed in recent tilts. This group is composed of Don Cherry, the Gobs' leading hitter with a .368 mark, at first base, Flore DeCosty at second, Rodney Rogers at short and Don Rogers at third.

In the outfield Jack Darke will be in left, Dave Small in right and Philip Sleigh in center. Behind the plate Sandifer will use either L. C. Nolen or Willard Ross.

Bill Estep, Ron Masterson, Bill

Wilhoite and Joey Watts provide ample ability as starting hurlers and Rudy Sleigh is a capable reliever.

Mix Mayes' thinclads will host Sewanee in an attempt to maintain a winning record. The thinclads, who lost to Middle Tennessee Saturday, have been improving with each meet. Led by Terry Schultz, Jeff Fisher and Bob Nelson, the Gobs have already won four individual records.

On the golf links, coach Sherwin Cliff will take his charges to Chattanooga Friday for a dual match in a tuneup for the Murray Invitational next week. This week's match will be a return match for the Governors, who beat Chattanooga when they came to Clarksville April 5.

Cliff's traveling squad will be composed of A. B. Sisco, Jimmy Barber, Fred Pitts and Jimmy Smith with the remaining two spots to be filled by either Al Bandister, Danny Daniel or Larry Hughes.

Powder puff football today

POWDER PUFF PRACTICE — Freshman and upper class girls have been practicing for tonight's contest.

APSC's powder puff football game, sponsored by the A Club, will be held tonight in Municipal Stadium at 7:30. The tilt will pit the freshman girls against the upper class coeds.

The upperclassmen, coached by Tim Gilcutt and Tom Jones, will have such standouts as Ramona Lumpkin and Dusty McClain to lead them in their attempt to defeat the yearlings.

Tommy Bigham, junior half-back from Cleveland, and Phillip "Flip" Partinella, junior guard from Winter Haven, Fla., will counter with Jody Irwin, Teresa Crawford, Sharon Swearingin and Shirley Myers in their backfield. There will be no admission charge as the A Club is assuming all expenses in the hope that many students will attend.

There is a chance that some members of the APSC band will be on hand to provide musical entertainment.

Govs defeat Blue Raiders in 12 innings

Austin Peay State and Middle Tennessee collaborated Saturday to give baseball fans everything they could ask for in a baseball contest as the Governors downed the Blue Raiders 7-6.

The tilt, which lasted 12 innings, contained every type of offensive and defensive play imaginable.

The game started quickly with APSC using only four pitches to retire the Blue Raiders in the first frame. However, the tempo slowed down and seemed to drag, for Gov fans, until the fifth inning when the scarlet and white caught fire to come from a 5-0 deficit to score four runs.

Deve Small had the big hit of the inning, a two-run homer. The Govs scored twice more in the sixth, using one hit and some shoddy fielding by MTSU to take a one-run lead.

In the seventh Bill Wilhoite relieved Ronnie Musterson after Musterson had walked one man. Wilhoite went on to retire the side, but not before the Raiders had scored to throw the game into extra innings.

John Finney held the Govs hitless from the seventh frame until the 12th when L. C. Nolan got a base hit after Don Rogers grounded out. Wilhoite moved Nolan to third with his first base hit of the season and Flore DeCory ended the marathon affair with a tremendous drive to right field.

In the second contest play was called after six innings of play with the score tied 3-3. The Governors had a chance to win it as they had the bases loaded and two out. However, Philip Sleight was called out on a disputed third strike. The game will be played from the beginning of the seventh frame when the Govs go to Middle Tennessee May 2.

MTSU defeats APSC in track meet, 85-59

"We did as well as could be expected," commented Max Mayes, youthful APSC track coach, who also plays football, took two firsts in the century run and 220 yard dash to place second among the point-getters for the Governors.

Ron Morton, freshman distance runner, set a school record for the three mile run with a time of 16:06.3.

Although the scarlet and white lost by 36 points they did make a good showing. Terry Schultz, Mr. Do-everything, was once again high-point man as he captured one third, two seconds and a tie for first in the high hurdles to account for 11 points. The Wisconsin lad accumulated 17 points in the meet against David Lipcomb.

Bob Neilson, freshman sprinter who also plays football, took two firsts in the century run and 220 yard dash to place second among the point-getters for the Governors.

Ron Morton, freshman distance runner, set a school record for the three mile run with a time of 16:06.3.

4-3 victory

Netters capture narrow decision over Wesleyan

The Governor tennis team, now holding a 2-3 record, captured a narrow 4-3 victory over Kentucky Wesleyan Saturday.

"Although the kids played hard they could have beaten Wesleyan much worse," commented coach Fred Overton, now in his second year as tennis manager.

This victory gives the scarlet and white the same number of victories they accumulated all of last year. There are still five dual matches left on the regular season slate this campaign.

Saturday's match saw the Govs capture four of five singles matches to record their winning points. James Lucas lost in three long sets to Maury Schaefer while Jon Kessell, David Balthrop, Ron Frey and Brenda Marshall won their matches. Marshall, a freshman coach from Clarksville, met her first female opponent in Mary Bastin.

APSC lost both doubles matches in the abbreviated affair.

The results:
Maury Schaefer (KW) beat James Lucas (AP) 6-6, 5-7, 6-1;
Jon Kessell (AP) beat Tom Jenkins (WK) 6-2, 6-2; David

Balthrop (AP) beat Jackie Stearnman (KW) 6-3, 6-2; Ron Frey (AP) beat Dick Akers (KW) 6-1, 6-1; Brenda Marshall (AP) beat Mary Bastin (KW) 6-3, 1-6, 7-5; Schaefer - Jenkins (KW) beat Kessell - Frey (AP) 6-2, 6-3; Stearnman-Akers (KW) beat Balthrop-Rick Zwicknagel (AP) 7-5,
